Les Akers, the East Texas sage, comments on love and marriage. He says: "Yes, sir, I had a letter not long ago from an East Texas bachelor and among other things he says: 'I sometimes yearn for the peace and comfort of married life.'"

"Well brother, you ain't got nuthin on a lot of the married fellers. I ain't posin as a male Dorothy Dix but I know enuff about this love and marriage bizness to know there ain't many men ever disappointed or wrecked in love. It is marriage that gets them down. Too many married men gets to the point where their love ain't exactly dead, but it is terribly weak. One reason for that may be that the average husband don't do enuff home practice in the gentle art of petting. But the general run of men is very reasonable in some things about marriage. For example he don't expect his bride to give up all her girlhood ways at once. He is willing for her to go on in taking an allowance from her father just as if nuthin had happened. And lots of girls who think they are getting a model husband finds out later that he is a sports model.

"From time to time I have read a lot of that certain—and sometimes uncertain—thing we call love. But after you read all the different meanings you don't know no more than you did to start with. About as good a definition of love as anything else is that it is what makes a woman want to scratch a man's eyes out when he let em linger too long on another woman.

"There is different degrees of love too because in some it is deep and abiding while in others it is shallow and fleeting. With some fellers it grows so thin and cold that by the time their wife is forty they are ready and anxious to trade her for two twenties. It's the same way with a heap of our present day youngsters. When one of these young men of present day ideas of catch-as-catch-can in love affairs goes away for the week-end he carries a half dozen engagement rings with him. Here of late it seems that the marriage style is for a lot of folks to marry for money, some for spite, and a few marry for love. Every now and then you finds a couple that marries for keeps. See where a California woman left her husband six times and in each case returned to him in less than a week. Now, if that ain't enuff to discourage the average husband, I don't know what it would take. This must be a funny type of woman, who is neither old fashion or modern.

"The old-time wife divorces her hers. This California woman would not do nothin definite either way. Speakin of this husband and wife bizness, reminds me of redin where a writer says the average wife ain't broad-minded enuff in regard to her husband don't just as he pleases. Well, we had one wife in our neighborhood who was very liberal and broad-minded about her hubby. She wanted him to feel perfectly free to do as he pleased. Now she is busy tryin to locate him and the woman re run off with. And maybe the reason so many thousand husbands and wives are gettin "free" at Reno is because they have been entirely too free for sometime past.

"One of my nabors the other day showed me a new book of 400 pages all of which was about men. Its final conclusion, as far as I could tell, was that men in general is just about the most useless and worthless things in the world. I'll bet there won't be many married wimen to read the book because there ain't none of them has to wade thru 400 pages of a book to find out the short comings and bad points of men. Wimen in general may not know much about politicks or bizness but they know plenty about men. I heard a feller a while back say he did not believe his wife could tell a lie. Well, mine sure can—the very minute it gets out of my mouth.

"Most every husband the is a "second-story" man. If his wife doesn't believe the first one, he tells her a second one. Speakin of husbands, I heard a very prominent woman complain about husbands and well, that is really natural and neppering old and gloomy at home. Necessary because the average husband wears hisself out trin to be young and spry while he is out with strangers.

"One of these writers who is supposed to be a love expert says that love is like a baseball game. Well, it may be, but I ain't never heard of a love affair being called on account of darkness. This thing called love is a funny bizness too. As an example, a man will keep on and keep on chasin-a girls until she finally catches him. One of the big troubles about a feller when he is in love is that he thinks there ain't nuthin good enuff for the girl except hisself. There is always plenty of love at first sight but where thrub comes in is to make it hold out in an endurance contest. And in this love bizness there is lots of cases where a clingin vine turns out to be poison ivy.

"In this modern age "heart balm" has put neckin on a payin basis, and its well for the gent who has both a foxy disposition and a fat pocket book to watch his step. Well, it may be true that love can move mountains, but you can do it a whole lot quicker with a steam shovel. But there ain't nothin more helpful to love than knowin the art of cookin a good meal and keepin the house clean and comfortable. This remind me of seein where Miss Ura Goode married a man named Cook over in Louisiana the other day. We extend our good wishes and sincerely hope Mrs. Ura Goode Cook will live up to her name. The once great and noble gift of good cooks and good cookin is getting to be lost-art. It is getting to where it is just as hard a job to find a real good cook as it would be to sell Gandhi a bathin suit.

"It is even a hard matter for a woman who is both rich and beautiful to marry a man these days who is a good cook. Folks in these days of gad-about is so little in the kitchen they don't know what it is all about. In a whole lot of modern kitchens the butter is so strong it could walk over to the coffee and say "how do you do?" But there wouldn't be any danger of the two havin any trouble in most cases because the coffee would be too weak to answer. That reminds me of a sign I saw in a restaurant a while back. It said, "Don't make fun of our coffee, you may be old and weak yourself some day." I sometimes wonder if the indigestion medicine makers don't own stock in most of the public eatin places.

"So, in spite of all the programs and plans that has been offered lately, I don't think there is any of em that would be half so good for East Texas as a return of old fashion religion, smokehouses, good home cookin, and the "until death do us part" style of love."

Government Tax Imposed On Bank Checks And Safety Deposit Boxes Is Discussed

The federal tax on bank checks, safety deposit boxes, along with the tax on motor trucks, went into effect Tuesday morning. Among the important points seen in the revenue bills, affecting banking, the following is to be considered:

Part 6, section 351, sub-section of the new law reads that "there is hereby imposed a tax of two cents upon each of the following instruments, presented for payment on or after the 15th day after the date of the enactment of this act and before July 1, 1934: checks, drafts, or orders for the payment of money, drawn upon any bank, banker, trust company; such tax to be paid by the maker or drawer.

"Every person paying any of the instruments mentioned in sub-section A as drawer, of such instrument shall collect the amount of the tax imposed under such sub-section by charging such amount against deposits to the credit of the maker or drawer of such instrument, and shall on or before the last day of each month make a return, under oath, for the preceding month and pay such taxes to the collector of the district in which his principal place of business is located or if he has no principal place of business in the United States, to the collector at Baltimore, Maryland. Such returns shall contain such information and be made in such manner as the commissioner, with the approval of the secretary may by regulations prescribe.

"(a) There is hereby imposed a tax equivalent to 10 per centum of the amount collected on or after the fifteenth day after the date of the enactment of this act for the use after such date of any safe deposit box, such tax to be paid by the person paying for the use of the safe deposit box.

DEPRESSION HISTORY WORTH KNOWING

"Efforts to inject a little confidence into the average business man meets with response: But this depression is different! We grant that some depressions have been—different and much worse, but let's look at the record:

1837—A great land boom collapse, farms sold for 2 per cent of their values and banks suspended specie payments. This was followed by two years of prosperity.

1841—Many industries were shut down entirely. Unemployment was the greatest ever known and several states even repudiated their bonds. The next twelve years were prosperous.

1857—Every bank in the United States suspended payments in cash and industry stopped almost entirely. Property values fell 25 to 75 per cent. The sub-treasury in Wall Street was stormed and only saved by Federal troops. Business improved steadily for the next three years.

1873—Following the failure of Jay Cooke & Company, then the biggest banking house in the United States, the Stock Exchange closed for eight days. Commodity prices sank to low levels and pig irons could not be sold for any price five years of prosperity followed.

1893—Reading, Atchinson, Topeka & Santa Fe, Erie, Union Pacific, and Northern Pacific failed for a combined loss of $2,400,000,000. Union Pacific sold for as low as $4 a share. As high as 250 per cent was offered for call money with no money available. Six years of prosperity followed.

1921—Because Europe was off the gold basis following the war, pessimists said: "Prosperity can never return." The following eight years were the most prosperous in history.

1932—This is 1932 and they have been saying exactly the same thing that they said eleven years ago. Those who laid constructive plans and worked them out intelligently, during previous depressions, have made fortunes as the inevitable improvement expanded business values. The same thing will happen again."

TURNING THE SPOTLIGHT ON MEMBERS COLORADO'S PRIZE WINNING H. S. BAND

By I. C. EURFAULTZ
(By special correspondent and not to be reproduced without special permission of the author.)

Hello, West Texans! You are now with us in Phoenix, Arizona, which has derived its name from a bird of mythology. The city's population is 48,000. No large factories are located here, and the manufactured products made locally are those used within the trade area. Entertaining winter guests is an important source of income for Phoenix. It also serves as a wholesale and retail distributing point. Citrus fruits, lettuce, cantaloupes, cotton and alfalfa are the chief agricultural products of this district.

The motorcade is complimented with a banquet in which all the food was grown within the Phoenix trade section. One of the short speeches of this hour is given by Mr. Rinn of the "AAA," and he states that all points of interest along the Broadway should be marked by neat and serviceable signs directing the tourists to detour and visit places which have either historical or scenic attractions. Communities failing to do so deprive themselves of additional tourist outgo which should be converted into community income. Another speaker declares that Arkansas and Texas dip their cattle, but Arizona dips her tourists too often on the highways. Personally, your correspondent believes the remark to have been made in a joking manner. However, if Arizona or any other state wishes to take exceptions, then they should instruct their engineers to be stingy with dips if proper drainage can be obtained with fewer of them. Another incident in connection with this banquet is the fun-producing of that McMinville quartet. We have previously spoken of them, but have not told you that they did have a manager. It seems that the manager has found other duties to perform, but still the quartet has five members. A pianist of exceptional ability has been added, but due to their being no piano near the quartette tonight they must sing unaccompanied by their latest find, a favorite of the Colorado musicians. There is no need of giving you any names, because once your writer swears to keeping a secret, he never mentions it again. But back to the quartette, now they arise to sing a number, and receive much applause when they have completed. Now they remain standing and we wonder why such action on their part. Instantly, they have started again, and the tune is similar to "The Eyes of Texas" but much to our amazement we find that they are singing "I'm Working on the Railroad." There are enough Texans to soon change the words, and when the quartette is robbed of their tune and cannot join in because they are from Tennessee and do not know the words of "The Eyes of Texas" there is nothing for them to do but suggest we all sing "America."

It is now time for us to begin another day of travel, and we are thankful that it is the last of our westward journey. The cars move at good speed for two hours, and we do not leave the county of Maricopa in which Mesa, Tempe, Phoenix and Gila Bend are located. The latter is our first stop of today. This town is so named due to a ninety degree bend made here in the Gila river. This was so designated by freighters in 1870 when Indians were giving trouble. Arizona history tells of the Oatman massacre, which took place near this town of Gila Bend. Farming country near here is similar in appearance and products to that close to Phoenix. One large irrigation company owns and farms 85,000 acres through irrigation from the Gila River. The motorcade is warmly received, and as usual, Colorado, Texas, is given much publicity through a varied quantity of pamphlets tossed here and there by the left hand of Jimmie Green, who has managed somehow to say very little, which is really out of the ordinary for the smiling Irishman.

Leaving Gila Bend, we have a level country for an hour's drive, and then enter mountains. The roads continue paved and wind round and round, corkscrew fashion, from bottom to top and then down to bottom again, and so on until we strike another level stretch and soon stop for lunch at Yuma, Arizona. Here, we are allotted parking space in the center of an extremely wide main street. Boy Scouts stand guard over the cars, while we scatter to various places for refreshments consisting of good food and drinks. No, do not get the wrong impression; the water in Yuma tastes splendid when made into soft drinks, and just adding a bit of ice it makes a delightful refreshment with nothing more required. The inspection officers have come from the Colorado River and after inspecting our baggage, they give us clearances, which will prevent us being delayed some time at the regular station. The entire motorcade considers this a favor indeed. The name Yuma was derived from an Indian word, meaning "Smoke." The Indian word was incorrectly pronounced as Yuma by early settlers when smoke from camp fires indicated they were nearing the Colorado River. The city's population is 5,000, and its industries include mining, agriculture, stock feeding, and tourist entertaining. Prison Hill Ruins and Laguna Dam are of special interest to the visitors, and in addition to being geographically the southern gateway of Arizona and California, the city is known as the "Sunshine Capital of the United States." We have seen the sun many times, but here it is in evidence more than in many places we have been. Straw hats should be in demand for only two or three months during the year, if most of the days are like this one. It is early afternoon when we cross the desert, but the weather is not excessively hot. Sand dunes of varying height appear to run vertically from the highway in rows sim-

TOM HUNTER TO ADDRESS MITCHELL COUNTY VOTERS THURSDAY NIGHT, JUN. 30

Wichita Falls Candidate For Governor Invites Citizens Attend This Rally

Tom F. Hunter, prominent Wichita Falls attorney and candidate for governor, is to address Mitchell county voters here on the night of Thursday, June 30, according to information received this week from Hunter headquarters by The Record. The address is to be delivered at the court house, unless changed to a different location.
 The candidate is making an intensified campaign throughout Texas. He carries his own loud-speaking system that is easily set up, making it possible for all to hear everything the speaker might say.
 "I am sure that the voters of your section would be interested in my plan for taking 70 per cent of the ad valorem tax off real estate, both farm and city," Mr. Hunter states in his letter. "They will be glad to learn that I am advocating the exemption of up to $3,000 of assessed valuation on farm and city homesteads. They will be gratified to learn that I am for a reduction in utility rates and a greater tax on utilities according to their profits."

Telephone friends in FT. WORTH
 60c
 after 3:30 p. m.
 (Station-to-station rate)
 Few people like to write letters. Before you realize it, weeks and months have slipped by... friends (and families, too) have drifted apart. And it really isn't necessary, now-a-days, when long distance telephoning is so easy, so pleasant, and so inexpensive.
 Suppose tonight you'd lift your receiver and ask "long distance" to connect you with the telephone of some out-of-town friend or relative whose voice you'd like to hear. Can't you imagine their thrill of surprise... the pleasure you'd both get from an actual conversation. (Chances are they'd forget all about that letter you've owed so long.)
 Rates are low... especially if you call "station-to-station" after 3:30 p. m. Here are some examples:

From	To	For
Colorado	Dallas	70c
Colorado	San Antonio	70c
Colorado	San Angelo	35c

(Station-to-station rate after 3:30 p. m.)
 "Miss Long Distance" will be glad to give you the rate to any other point, whether you wish to place a call or not. Ask for the night "station-to-station" rate. Night rates apply from 3:30 p. m. to 4:30 a. m.

are to be played at Eastside park. To assist in paying expenses of the city league an admission charge of 25 cents will be charged adults. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted free.

A fast game was played on the cotton yard diamond on Westside, last Sunday afternoon, when County Line, a team of Bryant's, Thompson's, Spark's and two other families provided splendid competition for the Col-Tex Oilers.

Pitchers had a nice day of it. D. Thompson for County Line struck out six opponents, while Lee Dorn was fanning four of the visitors. Seven hits were allowed; three off Thompson and four from Dorn. Each twirler walked a man. Errors were in prominence, there being 3 produced by each team.

The final score was 4 to 1 in favor of the Col-Tex Oilers, who will play again next Sunday in Chalk oil field.

Another non-league game arranged for Sunday afternoon to complete a double-header card, was staged between the Fire Boys and China Grove. Swatters from the Scurry county village held the locals to only two runs, while making one score for their own account.

The Masons have emerged from the cellar, after having been pushed from that position by the Methodists. The latter is now credited with 363 points in the league standing, with 154 points for the Masons. One of the most unevenly matched games of the series was staged Monday afternoon when the Masons drobbed the Methodists 20 to 8.

The Lions club second team defeated the B. W. P. club team Wednesday afternoon 26 to 11 in a spectacular mound battle at Eastside park. The women were outplayed through most of the seven innings. This was the second engagement staged by these clubs during the season.

Another non-league battle was staged Wednesday afternoon at Westside park, when the Col-Tex Oilers defeated the Baptist team 7 to 6.

Interest is growing with each city league game and the big double-header scheduled to wind-up the first half of the season on July 4th, is awaited with interest. These games

Construction Work Begins On Colorado's New High School Building 21 Years Ago

Colorado was feeling "chesty," to quote The Record, as construction work on the district's new high school building was started twenty-one years ago. After several weeks of delay, due to preliminaries and the assembling of materials, the contractor that week began work on what was described as "the beginning of one of West Texas' most modern school houses."

This building, now the junior high school at East Fourth and Cedar streets, continued in use as a high school until the present high school plant was erected a few years ago.

Snyder Brothers had sold their extensive El Paso county ranch properties that week. Neal Starke of New York City had purchased the holdings at a consideration said to be $45,000, and he and Mrs. Starke were moving to Van Horn to take over management of the ranch.

Mrs. A. B. Maxwell, well known Colorado citizen, had died Wednesday morning. She was a sister of Geo. and Chas. Goodwin, among the pioneer citizens of Mitchell county. George Goodwin, now living at Mission, has been spending a visit with relatives in the county during the past several days.

Plans for a big Fourth of July celebration at Colorado were being worked out. Several thousand West Texans were expected to celebrate National Independence Day here.

W. E. Bostwick and Miss Hattie Hoffman were married Sunday morning at that week at the home of Mrs. H. B. Smoot, with Rev. Holmes Nichols, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating. Bostwick was a member of The Record staff.

Irate parents were unsuccessful in attempt to stop plans of an Ira scuple to merge into wedlock Tuesday night. They were T. A. Wimberley and Miss Viola Humphrey of Dunn. They met secretly by appointment on the Sulphur creek bridge at Dunn and rushed to Colorado, where Judge A. J. Coe, performed the wedding ceremony. His efforts to obtain a federal building here and determined fight for every interest of his constituency at Washington will not be overlooked, they state.

Leaving Washington he will visit his home in El Paso for a time before launching his campaign. It is very probable that several Coloradans will attend the San Angelo meeting.

MITCHELL COUNTY FARM NOTES

Five more hogs were killed the "A. & M. Way" last week and are being sugar cured under cold storage. J. M. Hamerick killed two; R. L. Gale, two; and Wiley Fornwalt, one.

With a new kind of grasshopper poison spreader, one man can equal the work of three men sowing the poison by hand. Plans may be obtained from the county agent.

J. R. Henderson caponized 12 light Brahmans last Thursday. Leonard Young of Carr caponized about a dozen Silver Laced Wyandottes. He says if they turn out all right he plans to have a big bunch next year.

The market on most kinds of farm produce continues down, but the market on capons jumped up a cent this week. They are now quoted at 13 cents per pound.

On the present market it will take around five sales of cotton to bring $100. Seventy-seven capons, averaging ten pounds each, will bring the same money. Which will yield the most profit?

The market report of an Oklahoma farm paper says they expect the hog market to pick up slightly during the summer.

Hoppers were starting into the fields in the Carr community last week.

Thomason Expected To Open Up At San Angelo This Month

Hon. R. E. Thomason of El Paso, congressman for this Texas district, is to open his campaign for re-election to the second term at San Angelo at an early date, probably the last of the present month, according to information received by his friends at Colorado.

Mr. Thomason expects to visit Colorado and as many other towns and cities in his district of 38 counties as he finds possible. Colorado supporters of him have already set themselves on record as declaring that Thomason will carry Mitchell county overwhelmingly in the July Democratic primary election. His efforts to obtain a federal building here and determined fight for every interest of his constituency at Washington will not be overlooked, they state.

Leaving Washington he will visit his home in El Paso for a time before launching his campaign. It is very probable that several Coloradans will attend the San Angelo meeting.

FINAL RUSH LAUNCHED BY CANDIDATES AFTER ENROLLING ON BALLOT

Candidates for district, county and precinct offices have this week launched aggressively into final lap of the Democratic primary election campaign, after having gotten the technicality of getting their names on the ballot out of the way. Most of the aspirants previously announcing for political preferment had been enrolled prior to Saturday night, dead line for meeting this requirement of the election laws.

That candidates realize there are but four more weeks of campaigning until voters march to the ballot box to speak their preference, is evidenced here and at other points of the county. There is considerably more handshaking and interrogations as to the health and happiness of members of the family than at any time since candidates started to canvass several weeks ago.

Local candidates will, no doubt, shun the stump this election year. To date no speaking schedules have been announced and it is probable that none are in prospect. Competition has developed in the race for practically every public office and the rush for votes is going to continue at high pitch until end of the campaign. Then, there will be the run-off, coming along one month later.

OLTON—County commissioners have cut Lamb county valuations 10 per cent and reduced salaries of all county employees from 10 to 20 per cent.

BROWNSVILLE—Robert Stilwell blind since two, led the graduating class at Brownsville Junior college this month and will enter the University of Texas this fall.

TIME
8 O'Clock Sunday Morning, June 26th, C.S.T.

Speaking of time immediately preceding the destruction of modern "Christendom" the Bible declares that men's hearts would fail them for fear and for apprehension because of those things which they see coming on earth.—Luke 21:26.

Never before have the people of America had more grounds for such fear than right now. Today, everywhere, distress and perplexity are daily increasing and hope waning. The questions in every thinking person's mind are: When will the depression end? How long before the millions now out of work can be given jobs? Can the politicians and big business men stem the tide that grows more ominous as the months pass?

If you have had enough of men's guesses; if you have had your fill of disappointment peering around corners for the prosperity that doesn't come, and you want to hear the truth, then tune in on WFAA in Dallas at the time stated and hear Judge Rutherford, eminent Bible scholar, author and radio lecturer, prove that relief is near! permanent, certain deliverance for the people of all nations!

The Way of Life by BRUCE BARTON

FASTER THAN RADIO

An unpleasant rumor began to circulate about a certain man. Such stories are an unsolved mystery. How do they start? What is the magic which spreads them, magic more deadly than lightning, faster than radio?

You hear the tale in New York; you climb into an airplane and as you climb down in San Francisco you hear a voice exclaim: "What do you know about So and So?"

If the victim is famous and of enviable reputation, the broadcasting is twice as rapid. In the instance referred to this was the case. Here are the comments of the first three men who hastened to tell me the story:

Number One: "It just shows that you never can tell. Who'd think that old X would be up to such tricks?"

Number Two: "I was terribly shocked. What in the world could he have been thinking about?"

Both these broadcasters, you see, assumed at once that the man was guilty.

Number Three spoke with honest indignation. "I've known X for years. You can't make me believe that he ever did anything crooked. I don't care what the story is, I simply will not believe it."

The full facts came out a few weeks later and proved X an innocent victim. But the damage had been done.

There was a wise preacher in my boyhood who would say to the Sunday school: "Never believe what you hear and only half of what you see."

Much of what our eyes tell us is untrue. I see the sun move every day around the earth but, it does not move. I see that my cane, when I thrust it into the water, is crooked. But it is not crooked.

Eyes are notorious deceivers. And as for the ears, they need to be policed every minute by tolerance and sympathy and common sense.

Mr. X, of whom I have spoken, had lived an upright life for forty years. Surely, this should have counted in his favor. Surely, the answer of all his acquaintances should have been: "He's all right. He cannot have done it. We deny this libel."

The discouraging thing was that two out of three seemed to be secretly pleased that another good man had gone wrong.
