Picnic and Barbecue Here on July Fourth

At a meeting of the business men of Lorraine Monday morning, it was decided that Lorraine should sponsor a basket picnic and barbecue on the Fourth of July.

Everybody in the surrounding country is invited to attend this affair and bring along a basket filled with something good to eat and spread it with others who will be here.

Lorraine will furnish the barbecue, pickles, bread and coffee.

Tell your friends about it and come have a good time with us. A full day of entertainment will be provided. At least two good speakers will be secured for the morning program and the afternoon program will consist of speaking, musical skits and baseball games, all of which will be free to the public. The speaking and musical program will be held under the tabernacle and the dinner will also be served there.

The following men were appointed on the various committees to put the entertainment over in good shape: W. O. Kinnison and C. J. Hutchins, finance committee; Lester Jarratt, T. J. Piguet and V. H. Wimberley, barbecue committee; Marvin Martin, J. W. King, C. H. Manly and Wade Preston, table committee; T. R. Bennett and Henry Neill, water committee; W. J. Coon and A. Callahan, advertising committee; W. O. Kinnison, W. J. Coon and J. E. Mann, bread, coffee and pickles committee; concessions for the day were turned over to the baseball team.

Lorraine is expecting a large crowd of her friends to be here next Monday to help celebrate the Independence of our country. Lorraine wants to show her appreciation for the business she has enjoyed and her citizens want to see everybody here on that day enjoy the free entertainment and barbecue.

Protracted Meeting—Annual protracted meeting of the Church of Christ will begin Sunday at 11 o'clock at the church and later services will be held at the tabernacle. Evangelist E. B. Wallace will do the preaching. Those who heard him last July will vouch for his ability as a gospel preacher. Old-time congregational singing will be a feature of the entire series of meetings. Everybody is invited to attend the meeting and render such assistance as conscience will permit.

Masonic Officials Publicly Installed—Officers for the Lorraine Lodge No. 1021, A. F. & M. were installed at a public installation ceremony Friday night. The following officers were installed for the ensuing year: W. J. Brian, Worshipful Master; G. B. Tartt, senior warden; T. R. Bennett, treasurer; C. B. McClenney, secretary; Frank Crownover, senior deacon; L. E. Crutcher, junior deacon; Rev. A. C. Hardin, chaplain; C. F. Glass, senior steward; F. J. Piguet, tiler.

Some of our members, who are usually present for Sunday school, were absent last Sunday. Your places were vacant and you were greatly missed. We'll be expecting you next Sunday.

Miss Willie Faye Hall led the song service and D. H. Bryant favored us with a special violin number with Mrs. Lester Jarratt at the piano.

Rev. Hardin used as the scripture lesson at the 11 o'clock hour the 28th chapter of Matthew, beginning at the 16th verse, and reading the remainder of the chapter. He then spoke to us on the subject of missions. He read and quoted from memory much scripture that brought to our minds anew the importance of missions. Rev. Hardin preached again at the evening hour, but threatening weather kept quite a number of us from attending that service.

The Nelson's Entertain—On Monday evening, June 24th, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Nelson entertained with a party honoring visitors from Austin.

MAN
"and every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things."—Paul

Man boasts much about his wonderful achievements, and they have been and are wonderful. He struts about with his thumbs in the armpits of his vest and tells about the things he has mastered. But he never says anything about having mastered himself, which is the greatest and most important undertaking that it is possible for him to accomplish—if it is possible.

Man has mastered the winds and the air to a degree. He has matched one natural law against another in order to overcome still a third. He flies through the air at a rate no bird ever dreamed of, and takes a cargo with him.

He has mastered the sea to the extent of driving monster vessels through its raging waters at the speed of a passenger train, taking with them men and women enough to populate a good-sized town and freight enough to furnish houses and supply food for them for sometime. But he has not mastered the sea nor the winds to the extent of having them obey him when he says "Peace be Still."

He has measured the distance from this to the other worlds so far away that light, traveling at the rate of 186,000 miles a second takes hundreds of years to reach this planet.

He has weighed the earth and the moon, and other planets, ascertained the rapidity of their movements and discovered the nature of the various materials comprising their masses.

He has contrived implements and instruments with which he can foretell the weather to a marvelous degree a short time in advance. Also others by which he has been enabled to augment a hundred-fold production of crops, food and manufactured goods.

He has, by patient experiment and assiduous application, found remedies for the healing of many ills which were, for so many centuries, incurable, and the outlook is that he soon will find remedies for the others. But even in this, as much as he dislikes to acknowledge it he is utterly helpless as to others of his ailments.

Yes, this same wonderful, mighty, intellectual giant stands absolutely helpless before little germs so small that he cannot see them without the aid of a microscope, and germs so diminutive that they cannot be seen even with that instrument, but he knows they are there.

Great is man, wonderfully great, amazingly masterful—pitifully helpless. He sweeps the heavens with his telescope and searches out the remote corners of the universe, so to speak, but there is much still for him to do.

He tames wild beasts—lions, tigers, elephants and others, as well as reptiles and insects. But himself he has not yet mastered. He allows his innate selfishness and brutish instincts, his passions, anger, jealousy, hate, envy, to cause him to slay even his brother. Then, wonderful to relate, he manifests God-like attributes to the extent of risking his life in an effort to save that of a little baby.

Man certainly is a curious combination of qualities and attributes, good and bad, glorious and depraved, tender and terrible.

Folly and Power
Power in the hands of a fool is more dangerous than it is in the hands of a tyrant, who is not a fool. While the intelligent tyrant may persecute and oppress those whom he dislikes, or even the people generally, under his authority, the fool, as a rule, is both fool and tyrant. The fool with power, whether of authority or of physical strength, is a menace to all about him. Ignorance is always active, and being ignorance, it is always dangerous.

While it is helpless when confronted with intelligence, when at liberty to use its power it is as cruel as it is helpless. Yet men have always craved power, physical, governmental, financial, commercial, social. They think much less of being qualified to use it than of getting it.

The bigger the fool, the more power he wants and the less capacity he has for using it the more determined he is to have it.

Were men as anxious to master themselves as they are to master others, the world would quickly experience a wonderful transformation.

So-called world conquerors, who have succeeded in mastering thousands, even millions, of others failed utterly in mastering themselves. They have put their feet on the necks of other men and forced them to call them master, but they were very far from being real masters of themselves.

Often we hear the admonition: "Know Thyself." Bearing upon the same thought is Pope's line, "The proper study of mankind is man." The admonition should be more than an admonition, it should be an adjuration. But instead of "know thyself" it should be "master thyself."

Man already knows himself, he knows his weaknesses, his every frailty, every tendency. The trouble with him, he doesn't act on what he knows. Man knows which are his favorite, useless, expensive and injurious habits. He knows as well as he knows his existence what constitutes his most alluring temptations to wrongdoing. He knows which habit he shall forsake last and which is his "darling sin." It is not that he does not know himself, but that he will not master himself, that brings about his suffering and sorrow.

Man refuses happiness because he can not attain it in his own way. It always is within his reach, but he wants to get it in a way that it cannot be had. He is like the little child that throws down his toys and cries for the moon. If he had the moon he would want the rainbow. Yes, he is like his daddy and his daddy is like him.

The Apostle Paul says: "That which I do, I allow not, for what I would, that do I not, but what I hate, that do I." Truth is not a compromiser. Good refuses to recognize evil. There can be no friendship between right and wrong.

F. B. W.

Let's Deflate Hokum.

In 1865 it was proposed to John Stuart Mill that he should run for Parliament. He answered that he was willing to do so, provided the voters understood he would not make any election speeches or put up one cent, and that, if elected, he would support such national issues as appealed to his best judgment and do nothing for the local interests of his district.

He says in his autobiography that "a well known literary man was heard to say that the Almighty Himself would have no chance of being elected on such a program."

Nevertheless, Mill's candidacy made remarkable progress, and just before the election he agreed to appear at a few meetings in order to answer questions.

In one of his earlier books he had made the remark that the "working classes, though differing from those of some other countries, in being ashamed of lying, are yet generally liars."

Some opponent put this on a placard and at a meeting of working men Mill was asked whether he had written and published it. He promptly answered: "I did."

What followed is so remarkable that I quote it verbatim: "Scarcely were these two words out of my mouth when vehement applause sounded through the whole meeting. It was evident that the working people were so accustomed to expect equivocation and evasion from those who sought their suffrages, that when they found, instead of that, a direct avowal of what was likely to be disagreeable to them, instead of being affronted they concluded at once that this was a person whom they could trust."

"The first working man who spoke after the incident said that the working classes had no desire not to be told of their faults; they wanted friends, not flatterers. . . . And to this the meeting heartily responded."

It has long been my conviction that politics has not kept up with popular intelligence, that the people are sick of hokum and the politicians have not found it out.

I believe we are at a point in this country when men can be elected to office, as Mill was elected in London, by courageously telling the truth.

I admit I have not much evidence to support this conviction. But I certainly should like to see it tried out.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR
By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.
Alcohol, Pro and Con

The propagandists are at work—some, condemning, some pleading for alcohol. The family doctor should be a good, honest judge, with absolutely nothing up his sleeve in the way of political crookedness. He should be the capable, honest adviser of his patrons who look to him in all things medical.

Alcohol compounds are extremely useful and convenient as medicine. No honest, capable physician will deny that. But ALL true physicians are against alcoholics as beverages. Whiskey is a good servant—a bad master. No true physician with the welfare of his people at heart will recommend intemperance in anything.

I am against propagandists who will stoop to falsehood in order to carry out their designs. For instance, the fellow who declares that alcohol is not a stimulant, but a depressant; that it will stop a heart of respiratory apparatus rather than revive it; I've had 38 years of experience and I know better.

Many hundred times I have revived my aged patient when near collapse with whiskey, combined with milk and eggs. It was most convenient and usually acceptable to the invalid. I might have used strychnia, but I liked the effect of the alcoholic better. Why not use the one most simple, convenient, and yet reliable?

All stimulants paralyze and depress in overdose, and the alcoholic stimulant is no exception; but why use an overdose? It is the overdose after all that does harm. But when any one tells me that whiskey in normal dose is never a stimulant but a depressant, then I am suspicious of both his scientific knowledge and his sincerity of purpose—he has an axe to grind. Our blessings should and must be used as such.

THUMB TRAVELERS MUST GET UNDER THEIR SHARE OF THE LOAD, —BRABHAM

Visiting Evangelist Addresses Lions Upon Conditions In America Today

The "thumb traveler" who is ever present along the highways of Texas today is by no means the only group of Americans perfectly satisfied to have the other fellow carry the load and pay the expense of perpetuating this government and this citizenship. Dr. Tom W. Brabham, Fort Worth college president, told members of the Lions Club Friday. Dr. Brabham is conducting a revival meeting at the tabernacle.

"We have these fellows in every organization that I know anything about, including the churches," Dr. Brabham charged. "There is existing in your city today a group who are perfectly satisfied for the church, the Lions club and all other organizations here to carry the load and pay the bills in order that they might profit without any responsibility. Such a condition must be eliminated from our society before the dawn of that day when America shall have returned to normalcy again."

Passing the buck is a great hobby with this group of citizens, the speaker explained. "If it had not been for you these conditions would not have been, is being hurled continuously at those who are assuming responsibility and doing all they can to carry on the affairs of our social and economic life." In this connection Dr. Brabham declared that he did not agree with the citizen who charged the economic condition of America today to President Hoover. "I have come to believe that the president has done everything within his power to lead us out of this most acute situation," he said.

"The men and the institutions who are destined to come out of this era of depression successfully are those who are staying undaunted and determined to carry their full share of the responsibilities incurred," he declared. "It is the fellow bent upon shifting his part of the load to shoulders of others who will lose ultimately."

The speaker outlined that community life is founded upon three institutions. These are the church, the school and the home. It is imperative that all three of these be made stronger and more influential for the better environs of life, as America looks about for the dawn of better times, he said.

TURNING THE SPOTLIGHT ON MEMBERS COLORADO'S PRIZE WINNING H. S. BAND

By I. C. EURFAULTZ
Hello, West Texans! It is now May 13th, which is also Friday. At 8:30 A. M. you and I enter the San Diego Chamber of Commerce Convention hall, in which men and women from various parts of the United States have gathered for the Broadway of America convention of 1932. The recently elected mayor addressed the audience as "Ladies and Highwaymen." Then he proceeds to welcome the delegates and otherwise make his visitors feel at home. Another gentleman talks only for a few moments. He is of the Irish type, and his years have been many. But there is still the smile of self-confidence and with emotion and seriousness, deviates to mention a tragedy which has startled the nation: "We have read in late issues of the daily news that the body of an infant has been found after a period of anxiety and country-wide searching. The past year has been known as the time of unemployment but I now state that we should put to work enough of the unemployed at the task of building scaffolds sufficient to punish kidnapers and thereby insure our innocent children of their rights of liberty and life!" Needless to say, the applause is not short. However, we have assembled for the purpose of discussing improvements in methods of attracting tourists to use and get the most possible service and pleasure from the Broadway of America. Minutes of last year's convention are read, and then other business is handled. There is a short recess during which time the officials appoint committees for various duties of the coming year. The Texas delegates are numerous, and the State of wide-open spaces often receives mention in connection with the names of new and reappointed committees.

There is no definite program arrangement concerning entertainment at the convention luncheon that you and I attend immediately following adjournment for the first day. A San Diegoan, Holbrook by name, is toastmaster, and after one or two local artists have performed, he asks for visiting talent to step forth. From Lordsburg, New Mexico, there has come a man who is a singing mayor. This gentleman is unusually different to most gifted vocalists when requested to sing, he is always glad to do so without hesitancy. Following Mr. Roencke's baritone solo, a duet is announced and when it fails to materialize, the announcer advises his friends have left their music back in Arkansas. Mr. Hurley, another San Diego citizen, promptly states that his songs have no music at all, but he sings in a rich mellow tenor, "I Live Down by the Winegar Works."

The S. S. Virginia offers a tour of inspection to all the convention delegates. Most of us Texans have been inland so long a time that we thrill to just get on board the large passenger steamer, stroll along the decks, pass through one after another of its many compartments of varying uses and each exquisitely furnished; then to return again to earth and decide that this is the year of trying to exist rather than to wish for the comfort and luxury of a cruise to anywhere.

We step into a motor-boat which is to take us for a trip along the water-front and interesting points within the harbor of more than twenty square miles. A middle-aged gentleman of Scotch lineage tells us that to our left the massive warehouses are resting upon land which has been reclaimed from the sea. And further south, he points out the foreign settlement built upon slender-like poles. Several small children play dangerously close to the top of loosely constructed fences enclosing the rude, buildings and their walkways of plank. Back of that settlement, is seen the large canneries. Our Scotch friend advises that by all means we should visit the canning industries, provided we desire to know how fish are put up, and also provided that we wish to never eat canned fish again. Circling to west and then north, our boat passes between many of Uncle Sam's battleships. Our talkative Scotchman, (he is so free with his tongue we are almost convinced he is of some other nationality) tells us that this ship or that ship is mother to a certain number of smaller ships. To us West Texans, who have had little or no ocean-going language this is interesting. He also says "have a small, sturdily built, raft boat which we see milling around with wire cable and crane attachment is fishing for something of value. Our guide is a bit harsh in his statement of how something of value could have been thrown overboard by careless repairmen. Not changing his chief subject, he points out to us that the Pacific fleet steamers are now entering the harbor's gate. They file through in majestic splendor, and their resulting waves rock our little motor-boat as it continues near one huge log raft, containing five million feet of Douglas fir lumber from Oregon. A brief stop is made at the Naval Station and we return to the pier, passing close to a submarine which is partly exposed. Our Scotch friend points out the location of the subma-

The Schedule
Thursday, June 30—Methodists vs. Masons.
Friday, July 1—Baptists vs. Fire Boys.

Monday, July 4th—Double header nine inning games, starting promptly at 3 o'clock in East Side Park. An adult admission of 25 cents will be charged. Masons vs. Baptists and Methodists vs. Fire Boys. There will be no Tuesday game.

Thursday, July 7—Baptist vs. Masons.
Friday, July 8—Fire Boys vs. Masons.

What fans describe as the most spectacular game of the series was staged Tuesday afternoon at Eastside Park, with the Masons and Fire Boys the contenders. The game was unusual and of particular interest in more ways than one. The battle was called after the 12th inning with eight runs credited to each club.

The Masons promised much as the battle was joined. Taking the bat the fraternal aggregation made eight runs. Swats that carried the ball to the park fence were frequent when "Emmer" Watson, Big Jim Cantidill, Tom Coker and others of that ilk put something of the Babe Ruth force into slugs at the ball. It was evident that the fraternalists were going to run over the fire department squad at will. And by the way, this was more pronounced as the firemen sought to defend their record at the bat. It was the old story, three up and three down.

But the Masons were not to score again. The Fire Boys made three runs in the second, one in the fourth and one in the fifth. The Masons were hopeful of holding their antagonists to a scoring ratio of 8-5 as the seventh and final inning was begun. But the fire department evidently heard an alarm. The game back fighting larger than ever and effected three runs, tying the score. The game will be played over at a time yet to be determined by Col. Adams, commissioner, and managers of the two clubs.

Deadlock that for two weeks has held the Baptist and Fire Boys on an even keel for first place in percentage standing was broken during the week and the latter are now on top with a total of 663 to 615 for the Baptists. The Baptists were pushed back to second place Thursday afternoon when they dropped game to the Masonic club. The score was 10-2. The Fire Boys defeated the Methodists Friday 2-1. Monday the Baptists took their Methodist opponents to another cleaning. The score was 9-1.

Fans are again reminded of the double-header game to be played at Eastside Park on July Fourth. The four league teams are to supply an afternoon of thrills, beginning at 3 o'clock. A small admission charge of 25 cents to aid in paying expenses of operating the club, will be made. Children under 12 admitted free.

The fourth of July games will go for full nine innings, instead of the usual seven, as heretofore.

Candidates Address Voters At Loraine In First Co. Rally

Candidates for precinct, county and district office made their first debut from the platform for 1932 Monday night in a community gathering held at the Methodist tabernacle at Loraine. The meeting was sponsored by the Loraine base ball club, with Judge O. E. Stephenson, presiding in the chair.

The "home boys" as the chair described Loraine precinct candidates, were the first to speak. These included Otis Muns, Floyd Coffee and Art Davis, candidates for public weigher, and Frank Crownover, Lee May and Frank Beights, candidates for county commissioner. Other candidates introduced as follows: H. L. Templeton, for county clerk; J. H. Ballard and Bert Smith, for district clerk; E. L. Latham, for tax assessor; J. B. Holt, H. C. Doss and Clyde Smith, for tax collector; Dell Barber, for county attorney, Will H. Scott of Sweetwater, for representative of 117th district; George H. Mahon, for district attorney; Jas. T. Brooks of Big Spring and A. S. Manzey of Sweetwater, for district judge.

Brief announcement of the candidacies of Tom F. Hunter for governor and R. E. Thomason for congressman were made by visiting friends of the candidates.

At conclusion of the speech making program, an auction sale was in order. Judge Manzey presided at the block. A total of $20.68 was realized from the sale of boxes and this fund is being used by the ball club to provide uniforms for its players.

'Girls Doing Too Much Flirting at the Depot,' Warned Record of 21 Years Ago

The ever growing diversion of Colorado girls to congregate at the Texas & Pacific passenger station as trains were scheduled to arrive for the purpose of flirting with men "they never expected to see again" was considered with alarm by The Record for June 30, 1911, in a pointed editorial warning written for the special benefit of Colorado mothers.

"The practice of Colorado girls meeting the trains to flirt with trainmen and traveling salesmen has become so pronounced as to be laughing stock all along the line from Fort Worth to El Paso," the editor charged. "The girl population of Colorado can always be counted on as being at the depot when the night train pulls in.

"Innocent girls who go to the station regularly, meeting men they never expect to see again can do nothing but impress the men they flirt with that they are fishing for attention. Girls, it is best to stay away from the railway station. If you don't believe it, ask your mother," the editor concluded.

A suit of considerable interest at Colorado had been filed in the district court at Ft. Worth that week. The three daughters of the late A. J. Roe had filed petition making their mother defendant in a cause demanding division of the Roe estate, estimated at $1,000,000. Previous to filing suit, the daughters alleged they had been induced to sign waiver, converting ownership of the estate to their mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tufts, Jr.

Base ball games in which the women were pitted against their male contemporaries was popular then as now. "The Boston Bloomers," then famed as a women ball club, was scheduled to engage the Colorado High Flyers on July 4th.

Colorado stores, offices, the banks and other places of business were to be closed for the Fourth. Among the attractions advertised was an athletic contest at the public playground.

Jackrabbits were depredating on crops in this and adjoining counties. So numerous had the pests become in some localities that farmers and ranchers were organizing to stage drives to save the crops.

Considerable interest had developed in challenge by P. S. Keiper, dealer in E. M. F. motor cars, for an endurance race to Abilene. The challenge was announced after A. J. Herrington had sold a new Rambler car to Judge K. H. Looney and claims were advanced by his proud owner that he had just returned from an endurance run of over 350 miles to points on a cross-country without any trouble on even a "L. tire." Any car in Mitchell county was open for competition, and hill climbing and sand pulling contests were to be included in the race to Abilene and return.

W. C. Clark, living on the Charlie May ranch near Spade, along with other citizens, were clamoring for hands to do farm and ranch work. The man who happened to be out of employment was offered special inducements to confer with them.

MITCHELL COUNTY FARM NOTES

There is a bright spot in the poultry outlook for this winter, declares E. N. Holmgren, A. & M. poultry specialist, who was here Thursday. It is this: Last year there were five million cases of eggs on cold storage at this time of the year; the five year average is five million cases; this year there are only 3 million cases on cold storage.
Production of poultry is way below the average and many hens been sold off of farms. The fact though that fewer eggs are going into storage means that more eggs are being forced on the present market, which lowers the price. This means better prices though in the Fall: How high they will go depends on the employment situation and the ability of people to buy eggs.
One of the best caponizing meetings of the season was held at W. W. Hester's, northwest of Cuthbert Friday. Thirty cockerels were caponized and a number of people learned to do the work.
Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. Cornett, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. Madison, Mrs. Albert Erwin, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Will Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Towe, Mrs. Minnie McCarty, B. V. Lloyd, Mrs. Harry Pond, Mrs. Homer Lewis and Mrs. Ray Crowder.
C. B. Palmer, who caponized 17 cockerels without losing any, says he is going to caponize all the rest of his cockerels. C. H. Hudson says they lost one out of thirty and they want to get 25 to 50 more capons this year.
A Loraine farmer gives this information on skip row planting of cotton. He says in 1928, the boll worm year, he had 65 acres, half of which was flat broke, and half double-bedded. His neighbor had forty acres, which was flat broke and planted on the two-row-skip-one plan. The 65 acres of every row cotton made 9 bales; the 40 acres of skip-row cotton made 21 bales. (Names will be furnished on request).
In 1930, this same man planted a part of his crop skip-row and he says it almost doubled the every-row cotton. His uncle, near Ballinger, checked it and he says the skip-row cotton will pay off three years out of five.
Coccidiosis, a dreaded disease of poultry and turkeys, has wiped out more than 100,000 turkeys during the past few weeks in Central Texas. A case was found in Cedar Bend community this week.

RAIL TRANSPORTATION IS EFFICIENT AND ECONOMICAL

● THE RAILROAD is the most efficient and the most economical transportation agency the human mind has ever devised.
The ability of commercial trucks to operate with various charges for their services has been because they are not required to carry all kinds and classes of freight. The truck can choose its field and is privileged to reject that which it cannot handle, either because it is not equipped for such heavy service or the rates are too low to be profitable. The truck CANNOT DISCRIMINATE but must accept all freight offered it.
In 1930 the shippers of Texas paid the railroads $225,223,142 in freight charges. If the same volume and character of traffic had been carried by trucks it would have cost the shippers, according to the best available data on trucking costs, $100,000,000, or four-times as much.
What will be the effect on the shippers of Texas if only the traffic which the trucks cannot handle is left to the railroads? If traffic paying the higher rate is taken from the railroads by the trucks, it will be necessary for the rail carriers to increase their rates on the low grade traffic or go out of business. The total transportation bill will be greatly increased.
The railroad rate structure is a composite designed for the purpose of enabling the free movement of ALL ARTICLES OF COMMERCE, making it possible to bring even the cheapest commodities into general use and distribution. Were it not for the low rates made available by the railroads on many low grade commodities and raw materials, their distribution and use would be impossible and all commerce and industry would be seriously affected.
● THE RAILROADS CANNOT SUBSIST ON LOW GRADE TRAFFIC ALONE.

Mr. Treadwell was Hot . . .

but His Motor Wasn't!

CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY.
Gentlemen:
"During my recent vacation I had occasion to give Germ Processed Oil a real test, driving some 1,600 miles, temperature from 105 degrees to 111 degrees. The car never previously stayed as cool, and drove nicer, and I attribute it to no other cause than the use of Germ Processed Oil. Yours truly,
"T. P. TREADWELL."
Although Mr. Treadwell is Chief of the Fire Department at Fort Collins, Colorado, he must have been pretty hot in weather like that!
But in spite of 105 to 111-degree weather, his motor didn't heat up! Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil withstands heat better because Conoco's exclusive, patented Germ Process gives it extra "oiliness" other oils don't have. That extra oiliness reduces motor operating temperatures. It guards against thinning out caused by heat and crankcase dilution. It gives Germ Processed Oil more stability.
And, no matter how hot the weather, the Hidden Quart stays up in your motor and never drains away. It's always on duty when you start, cutting down costly wear during the starting period, when almost half of all motor wear occurs.
For Summer, for Winter, any time—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is a better oil for your car. Change now at any Conoco Red Triangle station.

Palace Theatre Has Interesting Program Billed During Week

Greta Garbo, who may always be remembered for something different, appears as a platinum-blonde café singer in her latest screen characterization as Zara in "As You Desire Me."

The new Garbo picture, which is now showing at the Palace Theatre, (Thursday and Friday, June 30 and July 1st), is a filmation of the New York dramatic hit by the noted Italian playwright, Luigi Pirandello.

The star is supported by Melvyn Douglas, who made his film debut opposite Gloria Swanson in "Tonight or Never"; the celebrated character actor, Erich Von Stroheim; Owen Moore, Hedda Hopper, Raftaia Ottiano, Warburton Gamble, Albert Conti, William Ricciardi and Robert Vargo.

This picture is said to be the most absorbing, intriguing and romantic drama in which the fascinating Swedish actress has yet been seen.

Saturday, July 2nd for matinee and night performance the greatest of outdoor stars will be here again, Buck Jones, in "Riding For Justice" with Mary Moran supporting him. It is one of Jones' best and a Western work-a-day.

In a fight scene in this picture, Jones was so badly injured, that he went a month in bed with two broken ribs. In the course of action, Eugene and Jones were engaged in a terrific fight and the former was to pick up a heavy chair and throw it with all his might at Buck, who was to dodge it. Unfortunately, the chair dodged too late and the chair hit him in the ribs, and down he went for the well-known count.

Barbara Stanwyck in "So Big" is to be the attraction at the Palace for Sunday matinee and Monday July 2 and 4, and from advance accounts it seems extremely likely that the coming of this particular picture will stand out as one of the really big events of the present season.

In addition to Barbara Stanwyck, a very comely and talented young lady whose name alone is "plenty box office," as show people say, there is George Brent as leading man; Dickie Moore, five year old and already a screen star; Bettie Davis in the cast too, along with Mae Madison and Harrie Abright and Robert Warwick, Arthur Stone, Earle Fox, Alan Hale, Dorothy Peterson and about twenty more, making up one of the strongest casts ever assembled by a Hollywood studio.

As announced last week, there is to be no Tuesday and Wednesday show at the Palace theatre during the summer months. Kindly bear this in mind.

Charles Bickford, appearing with Tallulah Bankhead in Paramount's "Thunder Below" which comes to the Palace next Thursday and Friday, July 7 and 8, has enough iron in the fire, as the saying goes, to keep a dozen men busy. To him, acting is an enjoyable vocation with alluring cultural qualities.

Tallulah Bankhead, starring in "Thunder Below" was named after the famous Tallulah Falls in Georgia. It is an Indian name, meaning "love maiden."

BONUS ARMY CONTINGENTS PASS THROUGH COLORADO ENROUTE TO WASHINGTON

Freight Train and Motor Car Transportation Employed By War Veterans

Moving in two contingents, one atop a long string of box cars going to make up a fast red ball freight train on the Texas & Pacific, and the other a motor caravan made up of about 80 trucks and automobiles, some of which were of ancient vintage and unique design, the California bonus army passed through Colorado Friday and Saturday of last week enroute to Washington.

The marchers, said by officials of the army to have been twelve hundred strong, stopped in Sweetwater Friday and Saturday to replenish food supplies and obtain gasoline and oil for the motor division. Trek to Washington was resumed Sunday morning with Ranger as the next scheduled stop.

Abilene city officials acted to have the marchers pass up that city Sunday. C. L. Johnson, Abilene police commissioner, came to Sweetwater Saturday and proposed with Royal W. Robertson, broken-necked teamster who was in command of the motor division of the army, to pay one-half the cost of filling gasoline tanks at Sweetwater, on condition that no stop be made in Abilene. This was agreed to.

A small contingent of the army stopped here Saturday and gave an open air show on Walnut street. Speakers explained motives prompting the ex-service men to continue their march upon the National capital, even after congress voted down proposal to pay the bonus.

"We are not asking the government to give us one penny, but our only demand is that we be paid that which is justly due us for services already rendered," and army officer said. "At conclusion of the World War every veteran was promised one dollar a day extra for services on this side and $1.25 a day extra for services abroad during the years of 1917 and 1918. We need the money and feel that the government for whom we gave our all should pay."

THAT 'SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN' FELT BY COLORADO LAWYER

The "thrill that comes one in a life time" was being experienced by Judge C. H. Earnest Monday morning as he walked from the postoffice lobby displaying notice received from the county clerk of Scurry county. The local attorney and land owner had been cited to appear before the Scurry county commissioners court on July 5 to show cause why his property values, as rendered for taxes, should not be lowered.

The judge admitted that he no doubt was experiencing that "something new under the sun," so often referred to as unique was described. "This is the first time I have ever received such a notice," he said through a broad smile.

Judge Earnest has been a property owner in this and other West Texas counties for many years. He owns 2,100 acres of improved farm lands in Scurry county, on which the commissioners' court has seen fit to reduce assessed valuation.

Have We Lost Our Backbone? By Albert T. Reid

Declaration of Independence

The King has established a direct tyranny. He has refused his Assent to Laws. He has obstructed the Administration of Justice. He has made Judges dependent on his will alone. He has kept armies among us in times of Peace. He has imposed taxes on us without our consent. He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coast and destroyed the lives of our people. He has excited domestic insurrection among us. We therefore do hereby solemnly protest, that we never will acquiesce in these assertions of his power over us, and we hereby declare that we are united in the most barbarous ages. We pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our Sacred Honor.

Young America—Uncle Sam, that's what gangsters are doing. Are they stronger than the King?
