THOMASON RETURNS FROM WASHINGTON TO CAMPAIGN FOR 2ND ELECTIVE TERM

Congressman Speaks Here On Tuesday Night At The Palace Theatre

Hon. R. E. Thomason of El Paso, congressman from the 10th Texas district, came back home to West Texas Tuesday to campaign briefly for election to the second elective term. Mr. Thomason arrived here on the Sunshine Special at 8:15 and following greetings by several friends who met him at the station and at his hotel, was escorted to the Palace theatre where his opening campaign address was delivered.

Col. C. M. Adams was in charge of the meeting. He introduced Judge Chas. C. Thompson, who in turn presented Mrs. J. G. Merritt. Following a brief address, in which Congressman Thomason was lauded, Mrs. Merritt presented him to the crowd that had assembled.

"I have seen more smiles since crossing Red River into Texas and since arriving in this city a few moments ago than during the eight months I have spent in Washington," Mr. Thomason declared after reviewing the reception accorded him upon arrival here. He launched immediately into giving an account of his stewardship since taking the oath of office last January and insisted that his candidacy for the second term was based upon his own merits.

"This is truly a Democratic year," the speaker stated after briefly reviewing the Chicago convention and its nominees for president and vice president. "Franklin D. Roosevelt is among the truly great men to have been placed before the American people and his running mate, our own John Garner is one of the most rugged, most honorable and most courageous American statesmen this republic has ever produced. I know they will carry our ticket through to success in the November election, because I have faith in the American people."

Brabham Concludes Campaign at First Methodist Church

Revival conducted at the tabernacle by Dr. Tom Brabham of Fort Worth was closed Sunday night after two weeks. The services were held under the auspices of the First Methodist church. Sam J. Smith directed the choir and orchestra.

"We may never know just how much good has been accomplished during these series of meetings," Dr. Brabham stated during the last service. "I am confident that the church has been greatly benefited. The meeting is now in the hands of God and if you and myself have done our best, all is well."

FORCASTS ON COTTON PRODUCTION FOR 1932 ALREADY BEING MADE

Mitchell county will harvest a 40,000-bale cotton crop this fall, on condition we have another general rain within the next few weeks, farmers keep the crop well cultivated and losses from insect infestation are not large, is the forecast of W. Dorn, manager of the Farmers Gin Company.

The cotton forecast given The Record Friday by Mr. Dorn is the first one to be received this year. There are several other estimates here who annually give out estimates on the crop yield. Since Dorn has started the guessing, other estimates may reasonably be expected soon.

CALHOUN IS SPEAKER

Clem Calhoun of Amarillo, candidate for attorney general, who spoke here Saturday night.

OPPONENT FLAYS RECORD OF JAMES V. ALLRED IN ADDRESS SATURDAY NIGHT

Clem Calhoun Speaks Here In Interest of Candidacy Attorney General

The record of Jimmie Allred as attorney general was attacked in an address delivered here Saturday night by Clem Calhoun, Amarillo attorney who is opposing the incumbent for reelection. Mr. Calhoun arrived at 8 o'clock from the west and after speaking here continued east to Abilene where he spent the night.

Traveling in an automobile equipped with a public address system, the former spectacular district attorney who went to Borger a few years ago to clean up that town, spoke from the street near the City National bank corner. He was introduced by R. H. Ratliff, local attorney.

Several of the major activities sponsored by the attorney general's department since Mr. Allred was inducted into office were portrayed by Calhoun. These were described as "unlawyerlike, unfair in many instances and wholly unbecoming to the dignity of this great office."

Calhoun reviewed briefly his own record as an attorney in West Texas. After the war he opened a law office at Pecos and after a time accepted appointment as assistant district attorney. Later he went to El Paso and from there moved to Hamilton. He was appointed district attorney by the governor and later elected. It was while serving as State's attorney of the Abilene district that Governor Dan Moody sent Calhoun of Borger to clean out the "Bad lands" there after the district attorney had been assassinated. Resigning at Borger after restoration of law and order Calhoun opened a law office in Amarillo.

Roosevelt-Garner Club Proposed By Local Democrats

Organization of a Roosevelt-Garner club for Mitchell county is proposed by Judge R. H. Looney and other local democrats. Petitions seeking endorsement of such a club were being circulated here this week. Call for the meeting is for a date immediately following the July 23 primary election.

The National convention in session at Chicago last week nominated one of the strongest tickets the party has ever offered the American people, Judge Looney declared Tuesday afternoon.

F. M. BURNS, PIONEER BANK AND COMMERCIAL LEADER, DIES FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Distinguished Citizen Resided At Colorado 50 Years; Burial Saturday

Funeral rites for F. M. Burns, 82, late pioneer banker and merchant of Colorado, were conducted Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the family residence, Chestnut and East Fourth streets. The Rev. Dick O'Brien, pastor of First Baptist church, assisted by Rev. W. M. Elliott, pastor of First Presbyterian church, officiated. Burial was in I. O. O. F. cemetery beside the grave of Mrs. Burns, who preceded him in death several years ago.

The Masonic fraternity, of which Mr. Burns had been an honored member for 52 years, took charge of the remains following religious services at the home. Col. C. M. Adams, life long friend and associate of deceased, directed the impressive rites attending burial of the body.

The rites were attended by many friends of Mr. Burns from this and other sections of Texas. Death came at 4:10 o'clock Friday afternoon, following a lingering illness.

Mr. Burns was born on a farm in Fairfield county, South Carolina, July 2, 1850, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion T. Burns. He was one of a family of thirteen children. He grew to manhood on his father's plantation. In January, 1874, while in his 23rd year, he came to Texas, settling at Athens. His only capital was $6 in cash that he had brought with him from his native State.

Within a few days Mr. Burns had obtained employment on a farm near Athens. There he worked six months and resigned to accept appointment as deputy sheriff. He filled this office for 18 months and went to work as a salesman in a dry goods store. It was here that he developed the ambition to engage in the mercantile business and it was only nine months later when he opened a small retail shop on his own account.

He was successful as a merchant from the start. After operating his business at Athens for several months, he opened a store at Canton, Van Zandt county, in 1878. Mr. Burns continued in business there

BAPTISTS ENJOY PLAY AT BARBECUE PROGRAM THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Annual picnic sponsored by the adult department, First Baptist church, given Thursday afternoon at Ruedick park, was very much enjoyed by the large number of local citizens attending. Amusing contests, in some of which the men were pitted against the women, supplied a never ending source of laughter.

Among the special guests were pastors, Sunday school superintendents and other officials of other churches. A barbecue dinner, prepared and served under supervision of experts in the culinary art, was big feature of the program.

The program was concluded at 8 o'clock in order to afford those desiring so to attend revival at the tabernacle.

OLIVER CUNNINGHAM ON VISIT TO MITCHELL CO.

Oliver Cunningham of Abilene, State Senator from the 24th district, was in Colorado Saturday greeting the voters in interest of his candidacy for re-election. Mr. Cunningham stated he expected to return to Mitchell county within the next few days and spend several days.

GOVERNOR VISITS HERE

DESTINY OF PLAIN PEOPLE IN HANDS OF MACHINE, IS CHARGED BY TOM HUNTER

Candidate For Governor Pays Respects To Combines In Address At Colorado

Charging that destiny of the plain people of Texas was in hands of huge financial combines, organized for sole purpose of taking excessive profits out of the State at expense of consumer, Tom Hunter, Wichita Falls candidate for governor, pleaded for adoption of a platform permitting "the people to take charge," in his address delivered here Thursday night.

Mr. Hunter arrived here at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon from Wichita Falls. He spoke from an improvised platform on Walnut street, opposite entrance to the Colorado hotel. A representative number of citizens, including several farmers, attended the rally. He was introduced by Bill Cooper, personal friend of the candidate for many years. W. M. Wade and Horace Wade of Sweetwater, life long friends of the candidate, occupied seats on the platform.

Abolition of the State ad valorem tax and equitable distribution to insure that all pay in proportion to their ability under a new and blended tax system was propounded. State control of public utilities was strongly advocated.

That there are instances of record in which the small property tax payer, including small home owners, were paying from 84 to 132 times as much taxes in proportion to capital invested than the big interests was charged by the speaker. Such condition must be remedied if the plain people are to survive and evade

RANGE CATTLE TAKE UP INTEMPERATE DIVERSION OF DRINKING CRUDE OIL

"Pop" Snyder, Colorado cattleman, is worried over the intemperate frame of mind prevalent among some of his range cattle. To his chagrin Mr. Snyder has recently found that some of the animals have taken up the diversion of drinking crude oil.

"First time I ever heard of such a thing," Snyder stated Friday morning. "I have lost a few cattle from waste oil, but heretofore the animals have gotten into pools from pipe line leakage and the oil, after taking the hair off them, finally caused them to die."

Snyder said there was no question that the cattle were drinking crude oil. They are getting the petroleum from pipe line leaks in his Howard county ranch.

GOVERNOR ROSS STERLING WAS VISITOR IN COLORADO ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Chief Executive Speaks Here In Support of Candidacy For Second Term

Governor Ross Sterling, who for several weeks has been campaigning for election to the second term, paid a brief visit to Colorado Thursday afternoon. The chief executive was scheduled to deliver an address at 4 o'clock from in front of the Colorado hotel. He was brought here from Sweetwater by a group of friends. He was to have spoken in Sweetwater Thursday night.

The governor is advocating a revision of the tax system now in force in Texas, with special reference to relieving the burden being carried by the land owner and home owner. His record in having brought the State's financial status out of overwhelming debt to a cash basis during the depressed condition that has attended his administration is being cited by friends here and throughout the State as sufficient reason for voters to return him to the governor's office.

The woman's Sterling club, organized Friday of last week, cooperating with other Sterling supporters here, was responsible for bringing the governor to Colorado.

COLORADOANS NOW PAY NEW HIGH MAIL RATES ON 1ST CLASS MATTER

Colorado Wednesday experienced another wave of "Hoover prosperity" as enunciated by congress in recent passage of the sweeping tax bill. The three cent postage on first class matter became effective on that date.

The tax law effects all first class matter, including air mail. Letters and other first class matter, including that for local delivery at the Colorado postoffice and for delivery or collection by rural route or star carriers, must now carry three cents, instead of the two cent charge previously in effect.

Letters in business reply envelopes too, are required to carry the new three cent stamp now, plus one cent additional for each letter. A three cent increase in postage for air mail letters has brought the total up to eight cents for the first ounce and 13 cents for each additional ounce.

FUTURE FARMERS WILL ENTER CISCO MEETING OPENING AUGUST 8TH

The Future Farmers chapter is to send several teams to annual encampment at Cisco August 8, 9, and 10, Doyle Williams, director of the agriculture vocational department in the high school, stated Tuesday. Plans for entering judging teams in the encampment were worked out at a meeting of the chapter Saturday night.

In addition to competing in the judging events, Colorado Future Farmers have organized a base ball club to compete in athletic contests at the encampment. The boys are to hold practice games every Saturday from now until the Cisco meeting.

JUDGE PIERSON SPENDS VISIT IN CITY TUESDAY

Judge William Pierson of Hunt county, associate justice of the supreme court of Texas, spent a few hours in Colorado Tuesday in interest of his candidacy for re-election. While in the city Judge Pierson enjoyed a visit with A. E. Maddin, an intimate friend of the jurist for many years.

STANDS ON RECORD

Jimmie Allred, Attorney General, defended his record in address delivered at Colorado Wednesday afternoon.

'BIG BUSINESS OUT AFTER ALLRED,' CANDIDATE SAYS IN ADDRESS AT COLORADO

Youthful Attorney General Speaks From Street In Business Section

Jimmie Allred turned his guns upon the Mellon and Morgan interests here Wednesday afternoon as the attorney general spoke in interest of his candidacy for re-election to the second term. Mr. Allred addressed a number of local citizens from an improvised platform at Walnut and East Second streets.

"These and other big corporations are out to destroy me because I have insisted that the anti-trust laws of this State be respected," General Allred charged. "I promised the people of Texas during my campaign two years ago that if elected to this great office the attorney general's department would demand that every corporation doing business in Texas respect the laws that you and I are called upon to obey."

The general declared that during his incumbency in office more cases had been filed than ever before in the history of Texas during a similar length of time. More than 500 cases affecting validity of operation of motor buses alone had been filed, he said.

Mr. Allred called attention to the famous Red River toll bridge row. The State had contracted to pay owners of this structure $165,000. The attorney general, believing such procedure illegal, filed suit and won the case. Allred claimed that his attention to violation of the Texas fee system laws were saving the tax payers of the State a million dollars annually.

Referring to another candidate, who is seeking the democratic nomination for attorney general, Allred charged that the major oil companies and other big interests, who did not approve of his methods in demanding they obey the laws of Texas were responsible. "Somebody is spending huge sums of money to defeat me in this campaign and if it is not the special interests whom I have opposed and shall continue to oppose, I wonder who it is?"

WHO WANTS TO 'SWAP' CANS FOR VEGETABLES

Several local citizens have taken advantage of suggestion to exchange cans for vegetables on a fifty-fifty basis. Many farmers are yet interested in such a plan. If interested call at the Chamber of Commerce. You buy the cans, the farmer supplies the vegetables and does the work. You get half.

TAXPAYERS MASS MEETING CALLED TO CONVENE FOR COMBATTING BOND BURDEN

County Judge Joins In Fight To Have Special Session Enact Needed Bill

The Texas property owner, including the small home owner, has about come to the place in his experiences with ever increasing ad valorem tax burdens that relief must be demanded, Judge A. F. King declared Tuesday afternoon in issuing call for a county-wide mass meeting of taxpayers here Friday night to request that Governor Sterling call a special session of the legislature to enact relief legislation.

During the past several weeks scores of county officials and other citizens, representing every section of Texas, have besought the governor that he call the legislature into special session to consider taking the road bond tax out of ad valorem assessments and put the expense into a gasoline tax, where it rightfully belongs. King attended a State-wide meeting in Dallas last week at which time such a request was requested.

"The tax on our farms and homes to retire these road bonds is inequitable and unfair and should be taken from the backs of these people and charged to the interests using our public highways," Judge King said.

The county judge urged that every citizen of the county attend the meeting, to be called at the tabernacle Friday night at 8 o'clock. Similar meetings are being held in many counties of the State, he said.

Governor Sterling recently declined to consider appeal that the special session be called, promising that he might consider the matter at some time during the Fall.

SEVERAL HUNDRED ARE PRESENT FOR CHURCH HOME COMING JUBILEE

Initial home coming program, sponsored by the Spade Baptist church last Sunday, was of such outstanding success that members of the congregation have determined to make the jubilee an annual affair. Rev. A. D. Leach, pastor, stated Tuesday that several hundred people, many of whom came from other parts of the State, were present.

The only two remaining charter members, Grandma King of Colorado and Mrs. Faulkner of Sweetwater, were present. The church was organized in 1901 with three charter members. One of them, Mr. Faulkner, has since died. Grandma King, active in church affairs at 95 years, is the oldest citizen of Mitchell county.

"It was a great day for our church and the Spade community," Rev. Mr. Leach said. "The program was greatly enjoyed, but the fellowship of neighbors and church members of other days was even more appreciated."

SLIPPERY PAVEMENT IS CAUSE OF CAR MISHAP

W. B. Buchanan of Big Spring sustained a broken nose and other injuries, when the car in which he and his daughter, Miss Alta Buchanan, were driving near Weatherford Sunday skidded into a ditch. Slippery pavement was responsible for the mishap.

W. W. Whipkey, gon-in-law of Mr. Buchanan, accompanied by Mrs. Whipkey, went to Weatherford Sunday afternoon and brought the injured man and his daughter to their home at Big Spring. Miss Buchanan was considerably bruised in the shake-up. Buchanan was reported resting well at a Big Spring hospital Tuesday.

The program for the morning consisted of patriotic speeches by Geo. J. Mahon and Chas. C. Thompson at the tabernacle, heard by most of the large crowd present. People responded splendidly to the plea to bring well-filled baskets and there was plenty of barbecue and dinner there for everyone, although it has been reported a few people didn't get all they wanted.

Following the noon hour, baseball games featured the entertainment. Snyder and Loraine tangled bats in the first game, the locals winning handsomely, 5-0. PORK CHOPS a la BALTIMORE
Have the chops cut with the bone, (one chop to each bone, not one between) scrape the bone free of fat and what little meat there may be on it, then dip the chop in beaten egg, to which a tablespoonful of water has been added. Roll in fine bread crumbs, season, and place in a baking pan; add just enough water to keep from burning, cover tightly, and bake in a hot oven for forty-five minutes. Serve with or without tomato sauce.

As a glass top for the young girl's dressing table is very expensive, I found an excellent substitute. For sale in every housekeeping department one may find oil cloth in a moire surface in almost any color used in a room. If not in the dominant color, then it surely can be found in a color which contrasts. Cover the top of the dressing table with this lovely stuff, tack the fringe around, and a pretty and useful toilet table is the result. The oil cloth can be wiped clean as easily as glass.

Does your child have difficulty in drinking all the milk your physician advises? If so, try this: purchase a very pretty pitcher holding enough for one portion, and find a tiny glass, preferably a colored one, to be used with it. It is such fun for the youngster to pour the milk and to drink from a little glass that the entire amount is gone in no time.

Almost every one who has had the iron stick, when ironing starched clothes, will appreciate any suggestion to overcome this. My mother advised adding a small piece of lard to the hot starch, another housekeeper makes the starch with scapy water. Soap flakes dissolved in hot water added to the starch before the starch is quite finished will help.

When preserving or pickling, put the spices in a tea ball, and suspend into the syrup by the chain.

When sprinkling clothes, use warm water, instead of cold, as it spreads more readily, and covers a larger area. By using a bottle to which a metal sprinker is attached the work of sprinkling is done more rapidly and easily. These little sprinklers are sold in any 5 and 10 cent store.

HOARDING

About fifteen years ago there was a typhoid epidemic in a certain city, which baffled the health authorities. Children were stricken in widely separated neighborhoods. The water supply was all right; so was the milk and so were the general sanitary conditions. Yet new cases continued to develop.

Finally the mystery was solved. A doctor discovered a domestic servant who was a "carrier" of typhoid germs. Though perfectly well herself, she took the disease with her wherever she went. She became nationally famous under the name of "Typhoid Mary."

Times like the present produce a lot of male "Typhoid Marys." The germs they carry are rumors and fears. One of them came to see me last October when things were looking very bad.

Shaking his head dolefully, he suggested that I ought to have some money tucked away in gold.

I blew up and rained all over him. I said: "My bank is strong and liquid. It will be solvent unless the United States is insolvent. And if things get to a point where Uncle Sam is busted, then what good will gold be, do you think? Do you imagine for one moment that, in a period of general chaos, the mass of people would deal tenderly with those who had helped to bring on the crisis by hiding gold?"

My general attitude in this whole situation has been as follows:

1. I pay little attention to the market quotations on good bonds, preferred or common stocks. Either they are worth a lot more than their current prices or they are worth nothing. In either case there is nothing I can do about it.
  2. If the worst were to happen I have enough egotism to believe that I could make a living and provide for my family under any sort of government or any sort of conditions.
  3. I keep a white horse and ride him every day. If we have a social upset you will find me right at the head of the people's parade on my white horse. And the first place we shall head for will be the homes of the hoarders.
- Some day, in the not far distant future, we all shall have to lock back on this period and consider the record we made. And when my youngster climbs on my knee and says, "Dad, what did you do in the panic?" I don't want to have to answer: "I was smart and yellow, sonny. I hoarded gold."

no manner joy." And turning his face toward Heaven the man cried: "Lord, God, Most High, Thou art Thou ever were, Thou wilt ever be, I have sinned and I have suffered. Also they have sinned who told me that Thou didst abide in written words and ancient scriptures, in a Book, in the mouths and imaginations of ministers and priests, in temples made with hands, and in all these places when Thou art not," but as he spoke Conscience, narrow, warped, distorted, stood beside him and clashed at him with a flaming sword of burning, stinging argument. "Fool imagine, that woman was a heathen goddess, that was dead, turn from her, flee from her. Repeat ere it be too late. Avert thyself from her and in fasting, penance and prayer, repeat through this," and Conscience held out to him a Book.

But the man stood up and appealed from Conscience to God Himself, exalted and exclaiming, and cried, "O God, creator of all. Thou didst create LOVE. I know not who made the Book that failed me. Now, Thou surely didst create Love, Thy greatest instrument and sweetest messenger. She has spoken to me with Thy voice. My Faith is now a mountain immovable, unshakable, and the blind, weak, priest-led Conscience, I defy and deny. Love has brought me to Thee, O Lord, a woman, Thy servant. And if I am wrong, O God, and this be blasphemy, poor Conscience says, 'Thou wilt die the gates of Hell and I will march proudly in and spend Eternity with Happiness, who will be there with me, for I have known LOVE.'"

Man—Another View

A wanderer, travelling to waterless places over gray sand beneath a copper sky, blinded, thirsty, weary, defeated by the booming of his own blood, sick of the world, bereft of Faith, Hope and Charity, bent, lean, and scarred, beheld afar off a Garden. His face grey, lined, seared, lit up, and he struggled on with renewed courage. Beautiful to the eye was the Garden and as he drew near, he saw bright flowers, ripe fruits, gushing fountains, smooth lawns, dark shady places. He quickened his steps and a flush of desire mantled his swarthy cheeks. He reached the Garden. At the golden gate of the Garden stood a fair woman. And the man bade his soul to cease from noticing that the golden gate was but gilded cardboard and that the face of the fair woman smiled but with the lips. "Come," she said. "Enter into my garden, rest, refresh yourself, and sojourn. I will make music for you and give you delight," and she led him to a great mound of soft cushions of swans and satin, beneath a glowing, silted canopy, murmuring, "I am what men call LOVE." And she brought him fruit and nectar and made music for him as he stretched his weary limbs, sighed and endeavored to obtain rest, peace and delight. But his soul was sad and would not rest, it knew not peace nor delight.

"This perfumed air is enervating, languorous," complained his soul. "These beauteous-looking flowers have fleshy petals and corroding exaltations, these rich fruits are over-ripe and their scent suffocates. The jeweled, hovering insects bear poison-stings. The woman's music drags me down. In this garden I am like to die, I faint." And the man chid his soul and gazed upon the woman who smiled at him with her lips, and gazed at him with hard, questioning eyes. And he slept as his soul fainted. When he awoke his limbs and heart and brain were heavy, his eyes were dim, and he saw that his soul was exceeding sick. The woman brought him nectar that was over-sweet and cloying, fruits that were over-ripe and nauseating. The scented air was thin and insufficient. He looked again upon the woman and he saw that the gold of her hair was but brass; the bloom of her cheeks and lips but paint; the jewels at her throat and ear but glass, her pale eyes shallow, false.

He sank back, but as he did thus his soul shrieked aloud, "I am dying!" and the man sprang quickly to his feet and fled to save his dying soul alive. By streams and fountains of nectar, by trees of blushing, growing fruit, by beds of brilliant, shining flowers, by silken pavilions, daintly spread, by feasting bands of fawns and nymphs, by allowing impelling scenes, by Temples of the goddess Venus, by groves of the God Bacchus, where he roared and rolled, by all things to which his body cried aloud, he fled, pursued by laughing, jeering wantonness. And in time he reached the desert again and he sojourned long years and in time, he again beheld a Garden, as he drew near he saw grand trees, stately and strong, and beneath them such flowers as violets, lilies of the Valley, and roses of Sharon. At the iron gates, between the granite pillars, dignified, massive, everlasting, stood a beautiful woman, whose face was exquisitely fine, kind, true and gentle.

The wanderer entered, but as he trod beneath the trees, his body cried aloud, for the stones cut his feet like knives, the wind blew shrill, chill, biting and bracing. His soul sang so loudly that he heard not the pains of his body. For the body could not see the things that it desired, and it knew anguish, longing, and pain and mortification. There were no fleshy flowers, no perfumes, no sweet nectar, no soft cushions, none of the joys it loved. But only great and wonderful beauty of sky and landscape, peace, dignity and calm security.

The body began to mortify as the soul drove it over the sharp-edged rocks, till with a great cry it died and the beautiful woman said, "Behold my handmaiden," and looking up he saw another beauteous form. "Who are you?" he cried, and the answer was:

"I am LOVE and my Handmaiden is Happiness."

"I know my Soul hath power to know all things, Yet she is blind and ignorant in all I know I'm one of nature's little kings, Yet to the least and vilest things am thrall. I know my life's but a pain and but a snare I know my sense is mocked in every thing And to conclude I know myself a MAN Which is a proved and yet wretched thing."

—Byron

But noble souls through dust and heat Rise from disaster and defeat The Man And conscious still of the divine Within them, lie on earth supine The Man

PIONEER MERCHANT, BANKER DIES FRIDAY

F. M. Burns, who died Friday afternoon at his late home, Chestnut and East Fourth streets, following a lingering illness.

F. M. Burns, who died Friday afternoon at his late home, Chestnut and East Fourth streets, following a lingering illness.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D. Speaking of Snakebite

I enjoyed a short fishing trip on the Orange River some time ago. This stream, in its course which winds among the Ozark Hills of Missouri, is most fascinating in its setting of rugged beauty. The dwellers in the neighborhood were primitive and physicians were evidently few and far between; the simple folk had learned to do their "doctoring" themselves.

A lad of twelve visited our camp often. He was barefoot, save for a soiled rag that partly covered a farning-red ankle and heel. He limped a bit painfully, but said he didn't mind it much; the member was swollen quite a bit.

"What's the matter with your foot—stone-bruise?" was asked. "Nope... snake-bite," he replied indifferently.

"What sort of snake?" I enquired. "Copperhead. Lots of 'em in the brush and rocks here."

"What did the doctor do to you when you was bitten? Did he give you serum?"

"Never had no doctor; anybody can cure snake-bite with 'curochrome.' He exhibited plain contempt. I thought, when he heard the suggestion of a doctor for a little thing like the bite of a copperhead! One of the most deadly-venomous of serpents!"

There is nothing that fills me with horror more than the bite of a rattlesnake or copperhead. I'm sure if I were ever a victim, I would die before they ever cranked the Ford to get a doctor! Yet here was a very young man without a particle of fear; he would have dreaded a bee-sting worse.

In the event of snake-bite, cord the limb above and phone for your doctor—quick. You've done your duty at least.

Bill Hazlewood, 23, Westbrook farmer, died at a Colorado hospital at 8:45 o'clock Friday morning, following an attack of acute appendicitis. Hazlewood was stricken five days before and surgery was given in effort to save his life, but complications had already developed that proved fatal.

Burial was in the Westbrook cemetery Saturday following funeral rites at the Westbrook Baptist church, of which deceased was a member. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Hazlewood of Kilgore and unmarried. He had lived in Mitchell cell since 1915.

Mother of the youth was present when he died. His father and other members of the family arrived from Kilgore at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Deceased was a former student in Colorado high school and a member of the football squad. His family, residents of the county since 1915, moved to Kilgore in April of last year.

In addition to his parents the youth is survived by the following brothers and sisters, all of Kilgore: Two brothers, Vernon and Pearl; three sisters, Emogene, Nellie and Enda Earl.

Funeral arrangements were directed by Jones, Russell & Company of Colorado.

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH We are writing this church announcement from San Angelo where we are assisting Rev. N. E. McGuire and the Immanuel Baptist church in a revival. We have been in only one service, but the house was packed to the doors, and prospects are bright for a good meeting. We were encouraged by the increased attendance at our services last Sunday. We made this gain in face of the fact that many of our most loyal folks were out. Brother McGuire will fill the pulpit at both preaching hours next Sunday. The pastor hopes that each of you will feel even a little more responsibility for the success of the services in his absence than you do, when he is present. Strangers and visitors always welcome in our services. DICK O'BRIEN, Pastor.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Morning Prayer at 10:30. Visitors welcome. ALEX B. HANSON

Friends—How good to lie a little while And look up through the tree! The Sky is like a kind big smile Bent sweetly over me. The Sunshine flickers through the lace Of leaves above my head, And kisses me upon the face Like Mother, before bed. The Wind comes stealing o'er the grass To whisper pretty things; And though I cannot see him pass, I feel his careful wings. So many gentle Friends are near—Whom one can scarcely see, A child should never feel a fear, Wherever he may be.

HUMORETTES

Smedley—I hear that marine officer was reprimanded for singing "Three Little Words." Muslena—Yeah. They were "hit and run."

License Clerk—If your brakes failed to work going down hill what would you do? Silly Sally—Jump out and put a stone under the wheel.

Mrs. Boggs, I met your husband today and he was telling me how much he was in love with his work. "Fuh, I guess I'll have to drop in on him at the office."

JOE POND INDUCTED INTO OFFICE AS PRESIDENT OF LIONS CLUB AT COLORADO

Continuation Of Service To Community Requested Of Club Membership

"I am profoundly proud of this club and the distant honor you have conferred upon me in this induction," Joe Pond announced Friday noon as he took up the gavel as presiding officer of the Lions Club. The incoming president made strong appeal to every member that continuation of the service club's record for effective, constructive community service be continued.

"I know that I can depend upon every individual holding membership in this club to give me every cooperation during the months that are to follow," Pond continued. "I am not going to take time here to advance the plea that you Lions continue loyal to your club and to this community; I know that such is your objective."

Chas. C. Thompson, retiring president, expressed his appreciation of the loyalty evidenced by club members during his administration. "To have been president of this Lions Club has been one of the greatest honors I have ever had," Thompson declared as he extended the gavel to his successor in office.

After considerable debate the club finally adopted motion that another ball game between the reds and greens be played. Date for the game was fixed Wednesday afternoon this week. The losing team is to eat crackers and water next Friday.

Entertainment committee for the month was announced as follows: Joe E. Watson, J. W. Randle and George H. Mahon.

Other officials installed into office Friday were as follows: First vice president, Joe Mills; second vice president, Dave Bridgford; third vice president, George Mahon; secretary treasurer, Benton Templeton; directors, Wash Whitaker, Charlie Earnest and Jim Cantrell; lion tamer, Max Berman; assistant lion tamer, Joe Smoot; tail twister, Marion Chapman; assistant tail twister, Allen Connell.

BRING THE SPOTLIGHT
MEMBERS COLORADO'S
LARGE WINNING H. S. BAND

Ho, West Texans! Again and again the last time you are taken with us for a day of events in connection with the 1932 Broadway of America Convention in San Diego, California. It is now 7 A. M., May 15, and various committees hold business sessions for the formation of plans and methods of procedure for the ensuing year. At 8:30, you and I again enter the Convention Hall to hear the report of each committee. The extent to which the Association broadens its scope is amazing, and its committees give of their best efforts for the sole purpose of attracting tourists to use the Broadway. One committee suggests letters of appreciation to different State Highway officials who have assisted in securing paving for certain heretofore unpaved strips of road. Another suggests calls for prompt requests to the State for aid in immediate payment of the remaining portions of the highway where expenditure has been voted upon and received approval. These items may seem small, but the Association has been successful in the installation of improvements which may have been left unattended without urgent and persistent requests from some source. An announcement is made that the Convention city for 1933 will be El Paso, Texas. Considering the commercial status of the present and the number of cars in the Motorcade to San Diego, there should be a much larger gathering in El Paso next year. A busy morning passes quickly and among other resolutions there is one calling for retention of the Colorado, Texas Municipal Band as the official Broadway of America Band for 1933.

The Motorcadists who have not taken an active part in the Convention have been enjoying the San Antonio points of interest. Now, you go to places. There are historical missions, parks, gardens, beaches, ports, and other attractions in the near San Diego, and there is at least one foreign city, Tijuana, Old Mexico. Now we cannot all of these places this afternoon, so we compromise and go to Old Mexico. Meantime, the ladies who have visited the various scenic points are as follows:

Monona's Marriage Place is an interesting structure which was built in 1825, and was used as a refuge for women and children during the war with Mexico in 1847. The building is single story, and its construction did not require metal. In some cases the walls are so thick that they have a thickness of four feet. This old mission is described by Helen Hunt Jackson's story "Monona."

The Jolla Caves offer scenes a bit different from other cave formations. Descending about one hundred and fifty steps, we find a spectacular geological reality, and emerge from one tunnelway to find sun rays cast in various colors on the breakers entering the cove.

Mount Helix is only a short distance, in fact twenty minutes auto ride from San Diego. Upon the summit of this mountain, a large amphitheatre has been constructed, and the highest point a massive cross stands. It is here that thousands of San Diegans attend and thousands of San Diegans attend inspiring Easter Sunrise services.

Point Loma extends southward from the mainland, projecting the harbor and its narrow entrance, and a sightseeing paradise. In Point Loma we see Ballast Point, so named from the custom of Yankee shippers loading cobbles there for ballast during the trip around the horn to New England ports. International Theosophical Headquarters, a beautiful estate belonging to that society; Old Spanish Lighthouse, from which there is a wonderful view of the surrounding water and landscape; and also Rosecroft Gardens, known as the second largest California collection in all the world.

Having visited these places on a previous trip, the writer agrees with the ladies in their description, and for once, the weaker sex has talked a few minutes without gossiping. Now we drive through Ti Juana, and on southeastward about two miles to Agua Caliente, known as America's Deauville. Every form of enjoyment in a mild climate is available in this beautiful spot. The grounds must be seen to really be appreciated. Their splendor is too much for expression through the writer's vocabulary. Inside the casino, we watch American currency of large denomination go from ladies purses and mens wallets to the earnings of the operators. Occasionally players are lucky, and all of us have a tendency to expect good luck at some time, therefore, the continuous playing. There is no sign in this place of the old man called Depression.

Back in Ti Juana we find many attractions. Usually they are in the form of people who have absorbed a great deal of Mexico's famous beverages. One American girl turns to an older companion and quickly says, "Take my money right now. That last drink was the strongest one I ever tasted. My capacity is enormous, but that may whip me." We enter a one-story frame structure which has one long bar, known as the longest saloon bar in the world, according to our informants. At regular spacings, there are doorways from the sidewalks, and between these stand large mirrors, having varied glass curves. Turning away from the bar and wabbling to one side in leaving the saloon, the drinker is apt to find himself startled into all kinds of dimensions. Skinny knees become fat and flabby; short legs suddenly extend upward many feet to the belt, which is several times its ordinary size; a wide grin is nothing but elongated tushes, showing between lips which are inches in thickness; and his high-crown straw hat resembles a thin waffle. Well, there is nothing left to do but take another drink after looking like that. Remembering that the border closes at 6 p. m. we leave promptly.

As our head sinks into the pillow for a night of rest and slumber, we think again of the little place called home, friends, work, the sunset in West Texas; and with no regrets we look forward to the morrow on which we begin our return. (The End)

Colorado's base ball commissioner, Col. C. M. Adams, has spoken with authority again. The Fire Boys and Masons, standing at top of the city league in scoring points, are neither entitled to coveted pennant as first half of the series is over. The game played Tuesday of last week, in which the two clubs fought to an eight run tie after twelve innings, is counted as a no game and it will be Friday afternoon now before any team may claim victory.
And even then, it may be required that another battle be staged before one or the other rightfully claims the league pennant. The Cabinet, Tuesday afternoon pointed out that the Fire boys had won 9 games and lost 5 and the Masons had won eight and lost 6. Neither have played the required 15 games as scheduled for the first half season.
In the event the Fire Department is winner Friday afternoon this club will then be credited championship pennant, with ten games won. Should the Masonic aggregation emerge victorious, annexing another

WOMEN who suffer from weakness often have many aches and pains when a stronger state of health would be desired.
Women in this condition should take Cardui, a purely vegetable tonic that has been in use for over 50 years. Take Cardui to improve the general tone of the system in cases of run-down health and "tired nerves." Women have found, in such cases, that Cardui helps them to overcome pains and make the monthly periods easier. CARDUI is safe and wholesome for women of all ages. Try it!

Hyman Happenings
Harry Hyman went over to Chalk on Wednesday to see Otis Chalk on business.
Mr. and Mrs. VanZandt ran into Colorado on business last Wednesday, returning that afternoon.
The heavy rain of Sunday and Monday night amounted to something like nine inches, filling all water holes, tanks and lakes. The lake at the old Nichols place has not been as large in ten years, say the oldest settlers. It covers at least thirty acres and is ten or twelve feet deep. This large body of water was the inspiration for a boat being built, which is being enjoyed, not only by the young people, but some of the older ones as well.
Mrs. J. E. Low and little granddaughter, Bettie Gene Bennett of Lubbock arrived here last Saturday to visit in the home of Mrs. Jim Dawson, Mrs. Low's daughter.
Mrs. D. V. Kirby arrived home last Friday after visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. G. D. Tucker of Westbrook. Mrs. Tucker left the same day for Dallas, where she will undergo medical treatment.
Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hammond spent the week-end in Hyman visiting in the families of Mr. Hammonds sisters, Mrs. H. H. VanZandt and Mrs. James Boyd.
Last Friday afternoon the members of the Woman's club, their families and some invited guests, some forty in all, went to Hackberry for their annual picnic. A bounteous supper was spread, which was greatly enjoyed, and the young folks and children enjoyed swimming and wading. On account of badly washed out roads some car trouble developed on the return trip, but all arrived safely back.
The crowd whom Mr. Coles chaperoned to the Rio Grande on a fishing trip, returned home Saturday, minus any fish. A barrel of gasoline, loaded on the trailer, exploded during the trip, burning up their bedding and clothes. The fishing was a failure on account of a big rise in the river, but the trip was made leisurely and enjoyed by most, as it was a new country to most of them.
Mr. and Mrs. Hyman, their niece, Mrs. Mary Dalton, and granddaughter, Miss Bougie Scott, and Master J. B. Brown, spent Sunday with the family of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson.
Mr. and Mrs. Hyman complimented their niece, Miss Mary Dalton, and their grand-children, Miss Bougie Scott and Master John B. Brown with a party Saturday night, which all the young folks attended, as well as some of the older ones. Lanterns strung around allowed them to play croquet, while others played dominoes and party games. A most enjoyable time was had.
Miss Emmie Minor and her sons, spent Sunday with the family of Mrs. Minor's brother, Frank Andrews. Terrell Minor accompanied Mrs. Boyd and children to Spade.
The Woman's Club will meet with Mrs. J. T. Dawson on Friday, July 15. It is hoped all members will be present.
The Fourth was spent very quietly out here and most of the farmers used the day, while the weather permitted, getting the weeds out of their fields. Some few went fishing, some swimming, and it was called to be the quietest Fourth ever known.
Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dosier and little daughter of Ral's are visiting Mrs. Dosier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Smallwood.
Word has been received from Mrs. Lee Atkins, who was called to Miranda on account of the illness of her father, that he was some better.
Miss Bougie Scott was a guest of Miss Eula May Smallwood Friday night and Sunday night and Monday she spent visiting Miss Christine VanZandt.
Little I. W. Smallwood, Jr., of Cuthbert and little Leroy Pierce of Westbrook are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Smallwood.
Miss Dorothy Dawson spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Myra Smallwood.
The Girls' Club will meet in Colorado Friday and Saturday for Rally Day, and they are looking forward to that time with many happy expectations.
R. C. Scott and Mrs. W. A. Heusinger ran out to Hyman last Wednesday, bringing Miss Bougie to visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman.

TEXAS RAILROADS PAY SUBSTANTIAL PART OF STATE'S TAX BURDEN
● Taxes is one of the large fixed charges connected with the operation of Texas railroads. From the standpoint of the welfare of state, counties and communities, railroad taxes are of much importance. This annual obligation must be met from the earning capacity of the rail carriers.
In 1931 the railroads paid a total of $8,303,108.47 in federal, state, county, and miscellaneous taxes. The distribution of this amount to tax funds is shown below:

	Amount Paid	Per Cent of Total Tax Paid
U. S. Government	$1,270.13	.74
State	1,435.47	23.54
County	1,466.97	13.81
Roads	1,697,764.15	20.47
Improvement Districts	175,606.87	2.12
Schools	1,437,152.74	17.31
Cities	1,792,994.61	21.59
Miscellaneous	35,214.59	.42
Total	$8,303,108.47	100.00

It can thus be seen that railroad taxes represent an important and indispensable factor in the economic life of our state. They help in a large measure to pay the expense of our state, county and municipal government, build and maintain highways, pay the cost of drainage and other improvements, and support our schools and educational institutions.
It is the desire of Texas railroads to extend this helpfulness to Texas counties and communities in carrying this heavy burden. However, their ability to meet these obligations as they become due depends upon their ability to earn sufficient revenue with which to pay this and other heavy expenses connected with their operation.
● RAILROADS HAVE ALWAYS SHOULDERED THEIR SHARE OF RESPONSIBILITIES TO THE NATION; THE STATE, AND THE CITIES AND COMMUNITIES THEY SERVE, AND WILL CONTINUE TO DO SO TO THE EXTENT OF THEIR ABILITY.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by REV. SAMUEL D. PRICE D.D.

THE CALL OF MOSES

Lesson for July 13

Exodus 3:1-5; 4:10-12

Golden Text: Exodus 3:12

by REV. SAMUEL D. PRICE, D.D.

At last Israel's time of training was nearing an end. They had come through bitter experience to see the futility of their own striving and to turn in faith to Jehovah as the only hope of deliverance. In like manner Moses had passed through these long, lonely years of the testing desert experience, years which brought meekness, humility, and a tried and trustful faith. The hour of the divine call was at hand. Moses was to be God's instrument in a deliverance which would echo through the ages.

Now Moses has chosen: chosen to suffer affliction with the people of God rather than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season (Heb. 11:25). But still faith faltered; he doubted his own capacity. Humility is a grace of great beauty but may become a subtle peril when we are led to question God's way for us. Note the infinite patience of Jehovah—When Moses questioned, "Who am I that I should go unto Pharaoh?" the reassuring answer is, "Certainly I will be with thee." To his second question as to how his divine commission is to be established before Israel, the tender response comes, "Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel: I AM hath sent me unto you." Yet even in the light of this marvelous unfolding of the nature of God a lingering doubt remains. Moses, like many another of God's servants, looks at himself instead of looking at the Almighty One. "I am not eloquent, I am slow of speech," he pleads. Nevertheless, God's grace surmounts even this final unbelief and offers the pledge, "I will be with thy mouth and teach thee what thou shalt speak."

What marvelous words of encouragement are these! What a wondrous ally has the humblest child of God in all His service.

Who am I that I should go unto Pharaoh? the reassuring answer is, "Certainly I will be with thee." To his second question as to how his divine commission is to be established before Israel, the tender response comes, "Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel: I AM hath sent me unto you." Yet even in the light of this marvelous unfolding of the nature of God a lingering doubt remains. Moses, like many another of God's servants, looks at himself instead of looking at the Almighty One. "I am not eloquent, I am slow of speech," he pleads. Nevertheless, God's grace surmounts even this final unbelief and offers the pledge, "I will be with thy mouth and teach thee what thou shalt speak."

DANDELION SALAD

Cook and mold the dandelions, in either individual molds, or one larger one, chill, and when ready to serve, unmold on shredded lettuce. Garnish with sliced hard-boiled eggs and cover with French dressing to which a little sugar has been added.

If one does much sewing at home, it is well to put a number on each piece of pattern as it is unfolded. The patterns are easier sorted, and much less apt to get lost, for one is never at a loss to know to just which pattern a piece belongs.

Many prefer silk gloves instead of those made of other fabric, but as silk turns yellow quickly, I often hear people say "I never wear silk, because they turn yellow after the second washing." Try dipping in coffee, or a tan tincture. The gloves will come out about the shade of the fashionable stockings, and will add, instead of taking away from the effect of the ensemble.

Housekeepers are always annoyed to find the ham which has been cut showing a nice "croak" of mold. Try wiping with vinegar after each cutting.

A new corn pepper is a real aid when washing berries. Place the berries in the pepper, fasten the top, and wash in a large pan of water, or allow water from the faucet to run through.

SCALLOPS EN BROCHETTE

Much may be learned by the American housekeeper from French cooks, moreover, an occasional item on the menu which is not strictly American adds zest to the appetite. This delightful luncheon or supper dish will be gratefully received by the family, I am sure.

Alternate scallops and small slices of bacon on skewers, place on a rack in the oven and bake until the scallops are browned and quite done. Serve on buttered toast, accompanied by pieces of lemon.

Pieces of old felt cut to fit, may be used under vases, candlesticks, or lamps, to prevent scratches on highly polished furniture.

MITCHELL COUNTY FARM NOTES

Homer Salley of Spade liked the way his 15 Brown Leghorn capons started off, so he caponized 18 more last week. J. I. Payne caponized about 25 more recently.

E. S. White of Spade filled a 140 pound hog the A. & M. way Wednesday and is curing the meat in cold storage. The carcass was snowed down the middle of the backbone and sent immediately to the vault to be cut up two days later. "This is funny hog killing," one of the men remarked. "No spare ribs until two days after the hog is killed."

Five hundred and twenty-six cockerels have been caponized at demonstrations, not counting those that were worked on by individuals following the meetings. Last week demonstrations were held at the farm homes of W. A. Jackson, T. D. Littles and Otis Homer. Others who tried them are Morgan Charles, Jack Linam, E. R. Venus, W. M. Copeland.

Blister beetles can now be controlled by use of sodium fluosulfate mixed with four pounds of lime.

Harlequin cabbage bugs are damaging gardens and truck but there is no way to control them except to spray with kerosene which kills the plants. This method however will keep them from spreading.

H. L. Baker says, "I never have any replanting to do on account of heavy rains since I terraced. The terraces have stopped all washing."

Two average operators caponized 9 cockerels in 25 minutes at W. M. Copeland's last week.

T. L. McKinney is planning to try some alfalfa this fall.

Mr. Stump of Rogers reports that they have canned 30 gallons of dewberries this year.

WILLIAM FARNUM RETURNS TO SOUND SCREEN IN 'TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM'
William Farnum, one of the great actors of the silent drama, is now back on the screen; this time in a speaking and fighting role, playing opposite Tom Santschi, with whom he did battle in "The Spoilers" a dramatic classic than "Ten Nights in a Barroom" and Willis Kent is its producer.

"Ten Nights in a Barroom" was a stage success for so many years we hesitate to mention the number. Then it was a clean-up as a silent picture and the grand old dramatic property now reappears in new form as a juicy meal for the hungry masses.

This picture comes as a special attraction to the Palace Theatre for one night only, Tuesday, July 12th. The cast includes, besides the above mentioned actors, Phillis Barrington, a beautiful young woman who is a sound screen find, Robert Frazer, Johnny Darrow, Thomas Jefferson, Lionel Belmore, Rosemary Theby, Harry Todd and a number of others whose names mean something.

Palace Theatre Has Interesting Program Billed During Week

For Thursday and Friday, July 7 and 8, the Palace has booked that wonderful picture "Thunder Below," starring Charles Bickford, Paul Lukas, Eugene Pallette, Ralph Forbes and Tallulah Bankhead.

Here is a short synopsis of the story: The only white residents of the tiny tropical town of San Mateo, somewhere in Central America, are a half-dozen men and one woman.

The men are all employees of a big American oil company doing advance work in the heat and humidity of this tropical locale.

Charles Bickford, the boss of the outfit, is a vital, energy-filled engineer. Tallulah Bankhead is his wife, Paul Lukas is Bickford's first assistant and best friend, yet in spite of these relations and his own high-minded principles, he is in love with Tallulah.

Bickford has had an accident, blindness threatens him. He conceals it at first, but it comes on apace and the others become aware. How they work out this perplexing problem makes "Thunder Below" a wonderful and interesting picture.

Thrills chase thrills through the smashing action of "Ghost Valley," the RKO-Pathé feature starring Tom Keene, which is to be shown for one day only at the Palace, Saturday, July 9. A distinctly new departure in motion picture entertainment, this film combines the action appeal of the western with the shock result of a hair-raising feature packed with surprise and suspense.

The story centers about the efforts of Judge Blake to gain control of Boom City, with its long abandoned mine. As executor of the estate, he locates Jane Worth, one of the heirs, but fails to get in touch with Jerry Long, the minor heir. With Jane on the ground, the Judge gets the bright idea of having a young cowboy hobo impersonate Jerry. The slip in his plan is the unsuspected fact that the cowboy is actually Jerry.

Thus starts a campaign of terror. The story has a wonderful ending. For Sunday matinee and Monday, July 10 and 11 the Palace is showing "The Miracle Man," a Paramount special, with Sylvia Sydney, Chester Morris and all star cast.

Chester Morris heads a gang of crafters. Sylvia Sydney, with whom Morris is desperately in love, specializes in a job story that brings the dollars from the dupes. John Wray, "The Frog," dislocates his arms and legs and begs most successfully. Ned Sparks picks pockets. Boris Karloff, for a percentage permits the gang to "work" tourists in his Chinatown bazaar.

Morris jumps to a small-town "hide-out" after a fight with Karloff, because he got familiar with Sylvia. There he runs across an old faith healer, known as the Patriarch, and witnesses a healing. He is not impressed by the faith cures, but he is by the easy money that comes in a heavy shower. He plans a "strike" and summons the gang.

As an extra attraction for Monday matinee and night the Palace is giving their annual Baby show. Nearly 100 pretty babies will be seen on the screen. This is the Palace's most important event of the year, and we have carefully prepared for it. There will be no advance in prices. So be there without fail.

For Tuesday night, July 12th, the Palace has booked that old time favorite "Ten Nights in a Barroom," starring William Farnum, in an all-talking picture. This is a special feature and the smashing climax comes with a great fight between Farnum and Tom Santschi. It recalls the original "Spoilers" in which this famous fight team made screen history.

Burns Dies

until early in 1882 when he came to Colorado.

Arriving in this booming West Texas metropolis, Mr. Burns organized the firm of Dunn, Coleman & Company. The following year he organized Burns, Walker & Company, among the larger concerns in this part of the State. This firm continued in business until 1892, when Burns & Bell formed partnership and took over the business. In later years, before his retirement a few years ago, the large department store at corner East Second and Elm streets was operated under the name of F. M. Burns. His estate owns the two-story brick building erected there many years ago by Mr. Burns and associates.

In addition to building at Colorado one of West Texas' most extensive and successful mercantile establishments, deceased was for 35 years associated with banking interests here. He retired on January 13, 1931, as president of the Colorado National Bank.

He had been a member of the Masonic fraternity since 1880 and for fifty years was a member of the Colorado A. F. & A. M. lodge. During forty-nine years of that time Mr. Burns held the office of lodge treasurer. He was one of the most widely known Masons in West Texas. He had been a member of the Odd Fellows lodge since 1875, and was also treasurer for many years of this fraternity. He was a member of the Baptist church for many years.

December 15, 1877, he was married to Miss Flo Bell at Athens, Mrs. Burns was the daughter of Mrs. A. S. Bell, who in later years was a citizen of Colorado. Mrs. Burns died in October, 1920.

Surviving are two daughters, Mmes. J. B. Gray of El Paso and D. L. Harrell of Fort Worth and one son, Douglas Burns of Colorado. All three were present when their father died. Mr. Burns was buried on his 82nd birthday.

Active pall bearers were Joe H. Smoot, John L. Doss, J. A. Buchanan, Dr. B. F. Dulaney, J. C. Ethridge and R. B. Terrell.

Honorary pall bearers were Judge R. H. Looney, D. N. Arnett, Judge C. H. Earnest, J. D. Wudfjen, F. B. Whipkey, J. M. Thomas, Dr. P. C. Coleman, W. L. Doss, C. M. Adams, Harry Ragan, H. S. Beal, M. Carter and R. N. Gary of Colorado; H. C. Beal of Fort Worth; W. A. Minter, Abilene; J. A. Walker, Brownwood; Tol Ware, Amarillo; S. G. Maddox, Weatherford.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of Jones, Russell & Co.

Thomason Returns

Mr. Thomason let it be known check tax and other burdensome that he voted against the bank measures recently enacted by the congress. Flags at extravagance upon part of the republican administrations of the past several years was cited as directly responsible for much of the unrest and unemployment confronting America today.

Referring to Dan Jackson, who recently returned from Washington to his former home in El Paso to run against Thomason, the speaker declared, "if I am due to have opposition in this campaign for the second term as your congressman, I feel that I should be opposed by a democrat and not a republican. And, beyond that, not by a man who as a close personal friend of Albert B. Fall, received a fat republican appointment at Washington by Harry Daugherty of Tea Pot Dome fame."

"If the people of Texas wish to vote on the 18th Amendment, I favor them having that privilege. I am a Democrat and will support the platform in every respect. While we have the matter up, for God's sake let us settle it definitely to entire satisfaction of the American people."

The speaker reiterated his stand on the soldier bonus issue. Thomason voted in favor of payment of the adjusted compensation certificates when that measure was recently passed in the House. The Senate, however, voted the bill down.

"We have paid the war time contractors, the Mellons and the Morgans their claims against the government. More recently we have again rehabilitated the railroads and one of the other big corporations. Why not pay the patriotic citizen who placed his life upon the altar of his country in time of war and who is now out of employment and in actual want?"

Mr. Thomason went from here to Stanton, where he spoke Wednesday afternoon. He addressed Howard county voters at Big Spring Wednesday night.

Tom Hunter

the threatening aspect of "master and servant" in this State, Hunter declared.

Hunter committed himself to opposition to a Statewide bond issue to retire existing road bonds. One cent of the gasoline tax should be used for that purpose, he said, in order that the real estate owner be relieved of the burden and expense of building and maintaining the highways of Texas and met by interests using these highways. "The most unfair thing the people of Texas ever did," he told his audience, "was to put a tax on real estate to build roads for others to use for profit."

The year 1925, last administration of the Ferguson's, was a time during which the property owners of Texas were compelled to pay the highest tax rate ever known in the history of the State, said Mr. Hunter. "And Texas people have been called upon to pay an increased tax rate every year since 1914, when Jim Ferguson first went into office as governor of this State," he charged.

Referring to Governor Sterling as the "big fat boy," Hunter said he did not have much to say about the chief executive. "Rosa Sterling has not done much, and that is as we expected from the start. After reading my platform the fat boy has announced that his proposed State bond issue might not be timely just now."

Mr. Hunter urged reduction of the poll tax rate to 50 cents. "When you impose a tax of $3.50 upon the farmer and other plain people of this State, in order to franchise him and his wife, you are subjecting them to a burden that is wholly excessive and unfair."

Delegations from Coahoma, Big Spring, Sweetwater and other communities were here for the speaking. Mr. Hunter left Friday morning for Big Spring, where he delivered an address that night. Saturday afternoon he spoke at Tuscola, Taylor county, and Saturday night at Coleman.
