'DISTINCTIVE DOCTRINES,' THEME FOR BAPTIST MEET SCHEDULED FOR TUESDAY

John E. Watson, superintendent of the school, and an ardent supporter of the plan, has announced that he will continue to climb back to his place on the stool as regularly as ducked into the water so long as students of the schools desire to take throws at him. A. C. Connell is expected to spend much of his time climbing from the water tank back atop the ducking stool. He announced Friday that he would undergo a ducking for one cigar each, just as long as the smokes continued to come up. Members of the club Friday drew for lots, to designate order in which they are to occupy the ducking stool. The novel entertainment feature will be given every night during the fair. A heavy penalty will be meted to any Lion who neglects or refuses to mount the stool when his turn arrives. They will come in the order named below:

SIDE LINE CHATTER

After 2 weeks' rest since the Wolves smartly drubbed Midland 24-0 the boys are ready to go against Sweetwater November 11. They have a warm up game here Friday with Rotan.

The Colorado team has successfully remained the dark horse throughout the season and as one glances through the sport page from over the district, one must smile at the way in which the Wolves are defeated before they take the field against any foe.

The Wolves are going to show Sweetwater Horses a much more expensive victory than did the Big Springs Steers.

The dope from the Nolan county boys corral seems to be around 50-0 in favor of the Mustangs—and some of the sports are giving around 5 to 1 money and throwing in several points to boot. We can see great possibilities for some.

San Angelo stock took a sharp rise last Saturday afternoon as the Bobcats soundly thrashed the Midland Bulldogs 61-0, and according to Mr. Chas Green of the Sweetwater daily the Bobcats will hand defeat to the Wolves in like manner.

Leaders Pay Tribute

Dr. Guy B. Duff, teacher of Bible in Austin College and who for eight years was pastor of Dr. Coleman, was another speaker to pay tribute to his life. Dr. Duff resigned as pastor of First Presbyterian church here a few years ago to go to Sherman.

JUST THINKING

One law that is not on the statute books, the law of compensation give to the world the best you have and the best will come back to you. For with what measure ye meet, it shall be measured to you again. Therefore the ability to win the highest and truest success, to draw to yourself the greatest happiness, to create in your life the highest good, all depend upon giving.

The mistaken idea of the animal mind that is to be happy and successful, one must seize and grab, is entirely false and leads to bitter disappointment.

The voice of wisdom that is heard tells us that only as we give do we receive, that if we give of our best, our best thoughts and service; then the best will come to us in the exact

Mr. Green also says that the Wolves got lucky when they beat McCamey and that McCamey was confident of a victory over the Wolves and loafed through the game.

That was another game the under-rated Wolves won by a meekly margin—only 21-6. If the Wolves win over McCamey was luck— heaven help the Horses November 11. The boys have determined to stop Sweetwater as they have stopped every other club this season and the Wolf machine clicking, determined to win, and some of the "luck" they will surely take victory from Sweetwater.

Captain Steger and his teammates have proven themselves to be a set up for no team and we believe fans will see a regular "polo" game Nov. 11 with Sweetwater furnishing the horse flesh.

Orville Bullington

The racking political row that has flourished in Texas for almost twenty years, with Fergusonism as the center of attraction, will be eliminated for all time to come when Texas elects a Republican governor Bullington declared. "When I become governor of this State—and I only want it for one term—Old Farmer Jim will pass out of the picture in the great State of ours and never more shall our political horizon be blotted with the things for which he stands and lives."

Bullington attacked the State ad valorem tax as obsolete, declaring that he would urge the legislature to enact such legislation as is required to place the tax burden where it rightfully belongs, "and those big interests who have in the past been paying Jim Ferguson large sums annually for his lobbying influence, are going to kick in with their share of this public burden."

Bullington committed himself to the proposition that paid lobbyists and the fellow who accepted money in exchange for assistance in getting some criminal out of the penitentiary should both be sent to prison.

"The pardon peddler has no business running loose in Texas. He should be sent to the penitentiary along beside the criminal he is attempting to get out."

Ferguson's three-point highway system was attacked as a cheat, a fraud and a swindle. Bullington praised efficiency of Lee Simmons, manager of the penitentiary system and announced that every other democrat employed by the State who is making good will be retained by him after he becomes governor.

Pioneer Builder Gone

"One of the greatest men that ever lived in this or any other part of Texas," was statement of a Colorado physician Saturday afternoon, within a short time after Dr. Coleman's death. I have known him intimately many years and I feel assured in the statement that he died with esteem and appreciation dominating the heart of every citizen with whom he came in contact.

A few years ago directors of the West Texas chamber of commerce, out of appreciation of Dr. Coleman's untiring efforts in support of every worthwhile program sponsored within the area, voted unanimously to elect him an honorary vice president for life. Only two other West Texans have been thus honored by that organization. He was elected to membership in the American Fellowship of Surgeons two years ago.

Dr. Coleman was for many years prominently identified with the Texas Medical Association. He was a past president of that organization and at the time of his death was councillor for the district of West Texas.

Surviving are his widow, three daughters, Mrs. J. Max Thomas and Miss Mildred Coleman of Colorado and Mrs. Rowland Burchard of Hughes Lake, California, and one son, Dr. Reeves Coleman of the U. S. Veteran's Hospital, Washington, D. C. Two grandchild'ren, Dr. Maxwell Thomas of Dallas, and Mrs. Cug Wheeler of Pecos, also survive, as do three great grandchildren.

ent to silently add their appreciation to life of deceased. Dr. Holman Taylor of Fort Worth, secretary of the Texas State Medical Association, flew to Colorado by plane. Hon. W. P. Leslie, associate justice of the court of civil appeals, was another Texan who came here to honor life of Dr. Coleman.

During his many years as a practicing physician Dr. Coleman ushered into the world more than 2,000 babies, to become citizens of Colorado and this section of West Texas. Many of these first saw the light of day in pioneer homes located in remote parts of the West from fifty to over one hundred miles from Colorado.

The late first citizen of Colorado came from a family of doctors extending back through American history to early Colonial days. His father was Dr. W. P. Coleman of Rutherford county, Tennessee, and his mother, of the same neighborhood, too, descended from a lineage of doctors. Her grandfather, Dr. Lunsford Pitts Yarbrell, was a member of the medical corps of the Colonial army.

His father's people were of Scotch-Irish Presbyterian stock migrating to this country some time prior to outbreak of the War of the Revolution. Ancestors of his mother who were not doctors were prominently identified with the cause of education in their day.

Born near Murfreesboro, Tennessee, on January 2, 1853, the youth who in after years was to become universally recognized as among the civic, religious and educational leaders of his adopted State, passed his boyhood days in hard work. His mother died when he was 11 and his father was called in death five years later. A meagre estate was left for the family and the struggle to "make both ends meet" was so successfully overcome that he early in life evidenced that the stern discipline of responsibility held no terrors.

Dr. Coleman took over management of the farm at 16. He received a sketchy primary education in country schools near at hand. At 19, however, he began the study of medicine under his uncle, Dr. Thomas C. Black. Before his 20th birthday he entered the University of Nashville, the oldest medical school south of Philadelphia, a school that had sprung from the loins of old Transylvania College and later was merged with Vanderbilt. He completed his education at the University of Louisville.

In 1882 Dr. Coleman made a prospecting trip to Texas, and on the 20th day of January, 1883, he reached Colorado to cast his lot with the lusty young city. He found 19 other doctors engaged in active practice but remarked in later years that "there was business for all." The town had 5,000 population then and was the largest cattle shipping point in Texas. He traveled 100 miles north and south in caring for his patients, mostly ranch folk. The year of his arrival, he was appointed physician to the Texas & Pacific and held the office continuously.

Dr. Coleman was known as the father of the public school system of Mitchell county. In 1890 he was made president of the Colorado board of trustees, served 16 years, and had been elected again and again since that time.

Active pall bearers were U. D. Wulfjen, Joe H. Smoot, John Brown, Thos. R. Smith, O. F. Jones, Chas. Mann, Chester L. Jones and Lucian Madden.

Honorary pall bearers were J. H. Greens, A. C. Connell, Joe B. Mills, C. L. Gray, J. A. Sadler, C. R. Farris, R. O. Pearson, M. Henderson, Coleman Smith, R. B. McEntire, Bruce Aycock, A. E. ### ARMISTICE DAY

The American veteran who put down his rifle "155" or grenade at 11:00 a. m. on November 11, 1918, knew at that moment that he had great cause to rejoice. It is true, however, that many people fail to understand why we continue to celebrate the anniversary of that great day, and we take this space to offer some very pertinent information. We, Americans, had lost in combat with the enemy, 65,560 men killed outright; 14,720 more had died, or died shortly thereafter, from wounds received in action; 4480 of our buddies had been taken prisoners and 205,590 had been wounded, 90,835 of them seriously. The cost to the United States, from April, 1917, had amounted to well in excess of one million dollars per hour. The Armistice marked the close of a world conflict that had endured for four years, 3 months, and 14 days a conflict that had taken more than 16,000,000 human lives—a conflict which cost more than $478,000,000,000.

We celebrate the anniversary of Armistice Day to remind the citizens of these United States that war costs are tremendous, and that the surest and cheapest way to maintain Peace is to be always prepared for war.

CARD OF THANKS—

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the beautiful, attentive service rendered during the long illness of our loved one, for flowers sent to her room each day and those contributed during our darkest hour.

W. F. WESTBROOK, MR. AND MRS. JEFF PARKER, MR. AND MRS. L. MEADOWS, MR. AND MRS. WESTBROOK.

Baptist Notes—

Prof. Bennett in charge of the Sunday School last Sunday morning in the absence of our superintendent Mr. Ferguson. So many of us were a little late, let's try to be at the church on time so we can start our services on time.

Every class is going to try to be 100 per cent present next Sunday. Don't let your class lose this record on account of your absence but put forth your best efforts with us.

At eleven a. m. Rev. Hardin read the 5th chapter of Joshua 10 to 15 verses. He chose his topic "The Souls Contest with God." There were several visitors worshipping with us. Your presence is an encouragement to us and we invite you to come back.

Thomas Riden, Bud Richburg, Thomas and Willie Fay Roberts favored us with a special song with Miss Christine Riden at the piano.

Our pastor went to Colorado Sunday afternoon to take part in a B. Y. P. U. program rendered at the First Baptist church. Rev. Hardin filled his home pulpit again that evening.

We will have the gas connected at the church this week so you be there next Sunday as the church will be warm.

The Sunday School lesson text is found in Psalms 72:1-7; Ephesians 2:13-19.

Methodist Church Notes—

Sunday will be the last Sunday of this conference year. Rev. Harrell will preach the last two sermons of this conference year, perhaps his last time to preach in Loraine; however we hope not. He is hoping to return for another year but we never know just what conference will do. We only pray and trust the Lord there will be no change here.

Let every member be present for the last Sunday. Please make a special effort to come to church Sunday. If you haven't come much this year won't you be there Sunday. Surely everyone will make a special effort to be present. We want to make the last Sunday a great day and it will not be what it should be unless you are there. May we count on you. A special invitation is extended to visitors.

Judge Hall's Class—

Judge Hall's Sunday School class was the guest of the Elevians at the home of Miss Oneta Roberts Halloween night. Each arrival was met by a ghost and taken to the door where he had to shake hands with an icy-handed ghost and eat worms amid weird moans and screams. He was then led through the chamber of horrors. After this he emerged into more pleasant surroundings, a dimly lit, charmingly decorated parlor. Having found out who was there besides himself, he then turned to such games as bobbing for apples, hunting his fortune, learning the names of his future mate, hunting peanuts, horse races, automobile. A bonfire was started outside and out we went to get warm and play "three deep." There were apples, popcorn, and peanuts to eat during the evening, and refreshments were yellow and black cake and hot chocolate.

Those persons scared away by ghosts; you certainly missed a good time.

Girls, if you do not attend Sunday School and should be in the Elevian Class, read Genesis 5-11 and come to Sunday School next Sunday. They are having an attendance contest and Bible lessons that you will enjoy.

Gleaners S. S. Class—

The Gleaners S. S. Class had its Halloween party Monday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Glass. The house was beautifully decorated in Halloween colors with black cats and lanterns and owls. The guessing of who each spook was, created much fun. Different games were played. After a late hour refreshments of apples, popcorn and peanuts were served to the following: Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Edwards and daughter Margaret and son Roy G., Mr. and Mrs. Manin Martin and daughter Loetia, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Piguet and daughters, Mrs. Hutchins and grand daughter Billy Irene Templeton of Colorado, Mrs. Joe Bennett and daughters, Mrs. Omnia Land. At a late hour each person left for home telling the hostess what a wonderful time they had had and wishing that they might have another party next year.

Here it is! ANOTHER Stokely Week Big 8-Day Sale of Stokely's Canned Vegetables (Friday, Nov. 4, to Saturday, Nov. 12, Inc.) Just a year ago we introduced Stokely's Finest Vegetables to Colorado, Texas food buyers. And since then scores of carloads of Stokely's vegetables have been sold by our company. Judging from this immediate and widespread acceptance of Stokely's we are sure that many folks recognized that the words "Stokely's Finest" really mean just that. We have had countless requests from our customers for another Stokely Week, and after several weeks' preparation, we are now ready to repeat this big event. Although the general trend of food prices seems now to be upward, this merchandise was purchased at prices which were quoted prior to the recently advancing market. If you will check over these prices you will find they represent substantial savings. Nearly everyone can and will use a number of cans of corn, peas, and other staple items in a comparatively short time—and the saving is greater when you buy a larger quantity at one time. As the quantity of the purchase increases the price per unit becomes smaller.

Palace Theatre Has Interesting Program Billed During Week

"Skyscraper Souls," a spectacular drama in which the lives of thousands of persons who work in New York's largest building serve as a kaleidoscopic background, is showing at the Palace Thursday and Friday, November 3 and 4, with Warren William and Maureen O'Sullivan heading an outstanding cast.

Floor by floor to the summit of its 102 stories, that skillful architect of the drama, Director Edgar Selwyn, laid the structure of a series of climaxes, of unexpected triumphs and despairs which summarize the lives of those mad pursuers of the American dollar—the office workers of a modern skyscraper.

Together with Warren William and Maureen O'Sullivan, the cast of "Skyscraper Souls" includes Gregory Ratoff, Anita Page, Verree Teasdale, Norman Foster, George Barbier and Jean Hersholt.

From time immemorial, there has been but one accepted standard for the establishment of owner's identity on cattle. The practice is familiar to all—burning in a peculiar brand or insignia on the animal's rump or shoulder.

Many times advocates of more humane treatment to animals have strenuously objected to this method which they termed cruel and brutal. But they were never able to suggest any satisfactory substitute.

However, in "A Man's Land," the latest Hoot Gibson starring vehicle which comes to the Palace for one day only, Saturday, Nov. 5. Hoot when confronted by those objections evolved a branding plan that while not being generally recommended for adoption, was just the thing to meet the emergency. See the climax to this thrilling Western.

Time honored customs in Congress such as the hazing of recalcitrant newcomers, the Senate ceremony accompanying the swearing in of a new lawmaker, and a hunt to the general public come to the dred and one little detail unknown screen in "The Washington Masquerade." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's dramatic story of national politics coming to the Palace for Sunday matinee and Monday matinee and night, Nov. 6 and 7. In addition, inside details of the "lobbyist racket" showing how outside influences constantly seek to sway the opinions of lawmakers, how women and other bait are used to trap them, and how the lobbyist work, are shown in this unusual drama in which Lionel Barrymore heads an elaborate cast. Samuel G. Blythe, noted writer of American political life, is responsible for many of these subtle details. Blythe collaborated with John Meehan on the story, written by Henry Bernstein's "The Claw," and, versed in the "inside" Washington from many years in the heart of there, provided unique authentication.

"Rich Man's Folly" with George Bancroft, Frances Dee, Robert Ames and others, will be the Bargain Nights show, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 8 and 9.

Filmgoers are offered a twofold surprise in John Gilbert's latest talking picture, "Downstairs at the Palace, Thurs. Nov. 10. In the first place, picture introduces the star in a characterization totally different from any he has ever attempted before that of a sinister villain of the Stroheim type; in the second, the leading feminine role is played by Virginia Bruce, who, has recently been announced by press, will be the future Mrs. Gilbert in private life.

While it is a great possibility to advise the public as to see any certain picture, the tastes are so different, we do hesitate to do so in the case of the Palace, Friday, Nov. 11 for 30 p. m. to 11:00 p. m.
