ATTEMPT TO START FIRE IN KITCHEN STOVE FATAL TO MRS. R. S. BASSINGER

Home and Furnishings Burn At Horn's Chapel; Small Son Painfully Hurt

Mrs. R. F. Bassinger, 30, wife of a Horn's Chapel farmer, died Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock in the C. L. Root hospital from effect of burns received at 5:30 the afternoon before while attempting to start a fire in kitchen stove at the Bassinger home. A son, Owen Bassinger, 9, painfully burned about his right foot, will recover.

Mr. Bassinger returned from his work in the field and an hour or so earlier the three children, Gladys, 14, Leslie, 12 and Owen, had arrived from school. The mother turned her attention to duties of preparing the evening meal for members of household.

Unsuspecting that live embers were hid underneath a blanket of ashes in bottom of the fire box, Mrs. Bassinger picked up a five-gallon can containing kerosene and began pouring the liquid onto some kindling in the stove. A deafening explosion followed and she was enveloped in flames. Her young son's mother was hurriedly brought to the hospital here but her injuries were such that nothing could be done.

Owen and Leslie were with their mother in the kitchen when the explosion came. The burning kerosene was hurled about the younger boy's feet and legs. He rushed outside to a watering trough and jumping into the water succeeded in extinguishing the flames before being fatally burned. The other lad was standing beyond his mother from the stove and escaped unhurt. The home and all contents were burned.

Funeral rites for Mrs. Bassinger were conducted from First Baptist church Wednesday afternoon with Rev. A. D. Leach officiating. Burial was in L.O.O.F. cemetery.

In addition to her husband and three children, deceased is survived by her mother, Mrs. J. D. McCollough of Colorado, four sisters, Mrs. Pauline Elliott, Westbrook, Mrs. Erline Dorn, Colorado; Mrs. Ruth Harding, Vincent, and Miss McCollough of Colorado, and two brothers, J. D. McCollough of Hyman and Cecil McCollough of Colorado.

Funeral plans were directed by Kiker & Son.

PEAK OF 'FLU' EPIDEMIC PASSES AFTER HUNDREDS SENT TO BED LAST WEEK

Total of 110 Students Were Out of Classes in City Schools Friday

The scourge of influenza that during the past two weeks has attacked several hundred Colorado people, passed over high peak during first part of the week and victims of the epidemic are slowly recovering from effects of the disease.

The disease, reported by physicians to be for the most part in a mild form, has not kept the average patient in bed long. School children have furnished a large quota of victims.

Superintendent John E. Watson of the city schools stated Tuesday morning that Friday of last week a total of 110 students were out of school due to illness from influenza. Monday a total of seven faculty members were confined to their homes by the disease. Watson expressed opinion that many of the students would be returning to their classes during the present week. Tuesday morning there were only six teachers reported on the sick roster.

CHRISTMAS SEALS SALES SPONSORED BY COUNTY FEDERATION OF CLUBS

BROADWAY CLUB RESUMES PROGRAM AFTER SEVERAL MONTHS OF NO ACTIVITY

H. H. Johnson Named Pres. At Re-organization Meet Held Tuesday Noon

The Broadway Club, organization founded in Colorado last year to extend special courtesies to the traveling public along with building better relations between local business men, Tuesday launched into active program. H. H. Johnson, wholesale agent for the Magnolia Petroleum Company, was named president.

Other officials named at the meeting held Tuesday noon at the Colorado Hotel were Henry Vaught, first vice president; J. A. Sadler, second vice president, and C. D. Hornberger, A. C. Connell, W. W. Whipkey, W. L. Scott, Roy Hester and E. R. Bibby, directors. Hornberger, Hester and Bibby were elected for terms of two years. The other three executives will serve for one year.

Dues in the organization were placed at $1 per month. This fee will include the price of a luncheon charge once a month and all incidentals pertaining to operation of the club. By-laws under which the club is to be governed were presented by Johnson and Vaught.

Rev. Dick O'Brien, pastor of First Baptist church, addressed the meeting on the value of courtesy and dependable service to every customer and visitor with whom the business man comes in contact. Material good, to ever extend its influence for creating friendship for Colorado, is possible through active work upon part of the club members, he said.

Four committees, finance, membership, arrangements and entertainment, are to be appointed by President Johnson under provisions of the by-laws as adopted. The directorate was given authority to name the executive secretary. Members are to be received upon vote of the club.

SON OF SHERIFF FALLS TWO STAIR FLIGHTS AT COURT HOUSE; UNHURT

Clarence, 8, son of Sheriff and Mrs. R. E. Gregory, is apparently none the worse from an unusual experience Tuesday afternoon. The lad fell from third floor of the court house to ground floor of the building and with exception of minor body bruises is unhurt.

Clarence was playing about the banister rail on third floor of the building when he lost his balance and fell down the stair shaft. Bill Looney who happened to be on the second floor landing, saw the boy as he began to fall and grabbed Clarence as he sped downward. Looney failed to hold the lad but checked force of his speed and in all probability is responsible for serious injury not resulting.

DOWNTOWN SECTION MADE IMPRESSIVE WITH COLORED STREET LIGHTING EFFECT

Approach Of Christmas Being Heralded By Multi-colored Illumination At Night

Downtown Colorado is suggestive in an impressive manner that Christmas is almost here.

Saturday night the special holiday lighting system that during the past few days had been installed under direction of the chamber of commerce was turned on, the effect transforming the business district into a most attractive and impressive spectacle. The lights will be burned after the holidays.

Along with the electrical display, reminding Coloradans and visitors to town that Santa Claus is soon to arrive, came announcement from local merchants that their stocks of holiday merchandise was never more desirable. Gifts for every member of the family, for friends and sweetheart, may be found here and at prices lower than for several years.

GRAND JURY REPORTS 14 FELONY INDICTMENTS AS RECESS TAKEN BY GROUP

Miller Murder Case Will Be Called Monday Morning; Hi Jackers Billed

Reporting the voting of fourteen bills of indictment, each of which was based on a felony charge, the grand jury in 32nd district court Wednesday afternoon was adjourned to December 21. The fourteen bills had been returned within a little more than two days time, since the jurors began deliberations at noon Monday.

The New Miller murder case will be called for trial Monday morning. District Attorney George H. Mahon stated Thursday. Illness in the community, which is no doubt affecting important witnesses in the case and other causes may be accepted as reason for not going into trial then, he stated.

J. W. Fletcher and Louis Scarborough, Carlsbad, New Mexico transients arrested recently on the charge of hi-jacking a poker game in East Colorado, were indicted by the grand jury and are to be tried next week. The men are wanted by New Mexico authorities, according to information received here. Identity of the other twelve defendants named in grand jury indictments was not disclosed.

Due to illness among the sixteen men summoned on the grand jury panel, three additional jurors had to be called by Sheriff Gregory before Judge Mauzy concluded selection of the twelve men. He charged the jury specifically as to liquor law violations.

"Do not bring into this court bills of indictment unsupported by evidence sufficient to warrant such bills," the court charged before ordering the body to retire for its deliberations. The court suggested that no time be wasted in investigations not worth while, but asked that ample time be taken to go into all purported violations of the law, "if it requires the full term of this session of court to do so."

L. B. Elliott, Colorado abstractor and insurance broker, was named foreman of the jury. The other eleven men are C. N. Adams, W. E. Donaldson, O. L. Simpson, T. J. Ridens, R. E. Bennett, F. P. Brame, J. T. Pritchett, R. D. Buchanan, Chester Hart, J. C. Etheridge and J. W. Watson.

ROTNER ARSON CASE SENT BACK FOR ANOTHER TRIAL ON APPEALS COURT EDICT

The arson case of H. Rotner, former Colorado merchant given a term of two years in the State penitentiary by a jury in Judge Jas. T. Brooks district court here last March, has been remanded by the court of criminal appeals at Austin. Rotner was tried on a grand jury indictment charging him with having attempted to burn his store on Oak street.

Evidence introduced by the State was largely circumstantial. In decision handed down in the case Wednesday the court cited that evidence was insufficient to convict and further that the legislative act under which the defendant was tried had been declared unconstitutional.

Thompson & Barber, local attorneys, were counsel for defense. District Attorney Mahon was aided in prosecuting the case by W. H. Garrett, county attorney.

Rotner was placed under arrest by Dick Hickman, police chief, and Jack Delaney, constable, after the former had discovered fire inside the Rotner store at night. The building was locked and officials were forced to force a door in order to gain entrance. But little damage resulted.

Democratic Repeal Plan Loses After Vote Taken Mon.

What the Associated Press termed as a bold and unprecedented attempt by the Democratic leadership to force its party prohibition repeal proposal through the House failed Monday within a short time after Speaker Garner had sounded gavel calling the "lame duck" session of congress to order. The vote was 272 to 144, falling short of the necessary two-thirds majority required for adoption.

Out of the 18 congressmen from Texas only two voted against the proposal. They were Patman of Texarkana and Blanton of Abilene. R. E. Thomason of this congressional district was listed among members favoring the repeal measure.

Eighty-one "lame duck" members of the House, who are not returned to the next congress and 33 Democrats voted against repeal.

MOST EXACTING DEMANDS OF CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS TO BE MET BY DEALERS

Cheaper Prices Dominate In All Lines of Merchandise Offered The Public

The suggestion having to encourage attainment of making this Christmas season among the most impressive as a gift giving time within the past decade has met with universal support among the merchants and shopkeepers of Colorado, one would be impressed in visiting from one to another of these downtown places of business.

Gift merchandise of every character, selected with care in the country's leading markets, and priced at figures well below those for former Christmas seasons dominate show windows and displays within the stores. To quote one of the town's leading business men, whose store was visited Thursday, "the exacting demands of the most hard-to-please may be easily and readily met from selections offered by Colorado merchants."

"It matters not what the customer may have in mind as the ideal gift he would prefer to purchase for a friend or member of his family, the demand may be filled to entire satisfaction of the buyer and at a price seldom realized for standard merchandise," he continued. "Certainly, if Colorado merchants fail in doing a large volume of trade during the next few days it cannot be charged to negligence upon their part."

From the largest department store in town down to the tiny shops the same general idea of extending every inducement for holiday shoppers to come here from a wide area is manifest. The local business man has gone in for a much larger trade volume than he received last year and in addition to offering larger and more acceptable lines of special gift merchandise will make every contribution to impress the customer that his business is appreciated.

As the holiday suggestions are given prominence in window and interior store displays, the merchants have employed additional salespeople to assist patrons in selection of just the gifts desired. Courtesy and a general dispensation of Christmas cheer will be extended every visitor.

Come to Colorado for your holiday needs. Your business will be appreciated and you cannot save money by going to any other town or city in this part of the State. As suggestions as to the better places in which you may find the gifts desired, turn through The Record and read carefully the store news several progressive merchants are sending you through the advertising columns.

Literary Societies Organize

On Wednesday morning of last week the student body, divided into two groups by Mr. Williams, met with their sponsors, Miss Waggoner and Mrs. Lawyer. The purpose of the clubs—to encourage literary efforts of all kinds—was explained by Mr. Williams. Every two weeks one of the organizations will present a program to the other society, carrying out the literary idea, debates, readings, dramatic and comical plays and extemporaneous speeches.

Group No. 1, under the direction of Miss Waggoner, elected Garland Cary, president; Bob Looney, vice-president; and Princess Martin, secretary-treasurer.

Committees were appointed to frame the constitution and prepare a program for the next meeting which will be Wednesday.

Group No. 2 under the direction of Mrs. Lawyer elected Bud Furlow, president; Tayo Johnson, vice-president; Christyene Riden, secretary-treasurer; Lella June Harrell, reporter.

Names will be discussed and chosen Wednesday. A great deal of benefit and enjoyment is expected from the literary societies, something new in Loraine High School.

Junior-Senior Picnic

Friday afternoon the Juniors honored the seniors with a picnic at Ruddick Park at Colorado. The group left the High School at 4:30 and after arriving at the park enjoyed swinging, sliding, and the other amusements the park afforded.

Weenies were roasted and served with buns, pickles, cookies and coffee to about twenty-five juniors and seniors.

Examination Week

According to Professor Bennett, Thursday and Friday will be devoted to six weeks examinations. The schedule allows double periods for each subject, making better tests of the progress of the pupils possible. Report cards will be given Tuesday.

Attend Ball Game

Friday afternoon Bob Looney, Max Martin, J. C. Bayless, Biddy Richey, Opal Armstrong, and Princess Martin attended the El Paso-Sweetwater football game.

High School Basketball

The Bulldog is a dangerous opponent when he is aroused. This was made clear in the game between the Latin and Loraine teams Saturday afternoon. Both teams played good basketball but the visiting team was not able to withstand the offensive playing of the local team. The final score was 27-8. Owing to a misunderstanding in the matching of the games, the Latin girls did not come.

Brians-Moore Nuptials

Miss Nadine Brians and Mr. J. J. Moore, were united in marriage, 7:30 p. m., Saturday, Dec. 3rd at the Methodist parsonage.

Rev. Harrell performed the ceremony with Mrs. Harrell as witness. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Brians who have resided here for 8 years.

The many friends of this young couple wish them a long happy and successful married life.

This being the time of the year to elect new officers for the coming year the following were elected. Corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. R. McClennay was reelected. Recording secretary, Mrs. Roy Edwards. Treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Harrell. Supt. of Study, Mrs. W. L. Hester. Supt. of supplies, Mrs. G. F. R. McClennay; assistant chairman, Mrs. George Hutchins; Treasurer, Miss Annie Jarrett reelected; Secretary, Mrs. Homer Richards, reelected; Reporter, Mrs. Bill Honea, reelected.

This being all for the afternoon the society was dismissed in prayer by Mrs. T. R. Bennett.

We still urge more women to meet with us on Monday afternoons. Your time will be well spent and you will enjoy yourselves.

Next Monday we meet at the church in our Bible study it being from the 30 to 34 chapters of Deuteronomy. Women you are urged to come.

Methodist Church Notes

We had the largest number at Sunday School and church last Sunday morning we have had in some time. Were you there? If not, you missed a blessing. The subject of the Sunday School lesson was "Living With People of Other Races." In the study of the lesson, we were impressed with the fact that "God is no respecter of persons." (Acts 10:34). The pastor preached on "Finding Christ in Life's common inspiring message." The Lord's Supper was observed in the regular monthly communion service.

Next Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour just before preaching, the stewards for the ensuing year will be installed. Let every steward be present. Rev. Harrell will preach on "Sowing and Reaping." The Young people will render a short H. C. M. program at the evening hour after which the pastor will preach primarily to the young people. "Help make Sunday a great day with your prayers and presence."

Worship with us Sunday. Visitors are always welcome.

Baptist Notes

We are still having some absences on account of sickness. Just after Sunday School hour, Rev. Hardin read a number of scriptures on "Stewardship and Tithing" and then explained in detail our budget system of financing the church and all the different causes that our denomination fosters.

At the evening hour Bud Richey sang a special number titled "The Nail Scarred Hand," after which Rev. Hardin read some verses of scripture found in Rev. 6th chapter and made a strong appeal to the unsaved to accept Christ. He is so deeply concerned about the lost. We should rally to him and pray earnestly to God to save the lost of our town and community.

We are expecting each one to be found in their respective places next Sunday morning.

Sunday School lesson topic: "The Christians Use of Leisure." Golden text: "Whether therefore we eat or drink, or whatsoever we do, do all in the glory of God." 1 Cor. 10:31. Lesson text: Nehemiah 8:10-17; Mark 6:30-32.

Threat Of Weevil Infestation Causing Little Worry To Mitchell Co. Farmers

Since Roy Snyder, meat specialist for the Extension Service department, A. & M. College, gave his first demonstration in Mitchell county, scores of farmers and others having hogs and calves to butcher have adopted the "A. & M." way for cutting up and preserving these meats.

Records showing number of families who have in recent months tinned fresh pork, beef and poultry products for future consumption are not available but it is known that rural homes throughout Mitchell county are going in for a "balanced ration" supply of home grown foods. By balanced ration we mean a select variety of vegetables, fruits and meats.

W. S. Foster, county farm agent, has evidenced that he is very much in accord with the approved methods for butchering meat animals. Demonstrations showing the A. & M. way were given at the Colorado, Westbrook and Lorraine fairs during the Fall, in addition to several community demonstrations at designated farm homes. Everywhere the people have expressed keen interest and announced intention of preserving hog and beef products under the new method.

The idea of concentrating more attention to living at home is rapidly spreading through the State, bulletin received this week from the department at College Station outlines. In speaking of growing popularity to produce meat products on the farm, the bulletin says:

Reports that Texas farmers will put up a total of 90,000,000 pounds of meat this fall and winter and that a larger percentage of the meat will be canned than ever before is one of the important reasons that many farmers are going to be able to go through this winter with the smallest grocery bills and the most healthful supply of food in many years. Meat is essential to health, and home production of food is essential to the financial well-being of most of us this winter; so meat canning and curing is of twofold benefit.

The climate of Texas long has been a hindrance to meat curing on farms. In recent years developments in new methods of curing meat have done a good deal to make it possible for more farmers to cure their own meats, but fresh meat still is liable to spoilage when a cold snap abruptly ends. The easiest way to insure that meat will not spoil is to can it, as thousands of Texas farmers have done this season.

Meat canning has been done somewhat less extensively than canning of fruits and vegetables in the Southwest but, with an increase in the amount of meat canned this season estimated at 15 to 30 per cent in most counties, this method of putting up meat is rapidly becoming the favorite of housewives. With good canning equipment, which cost but little and often will pay for itself in a single season in the increased value of the products put up, or in a reduced grocery bill, one day's work often will result in a supply of meat to last the average family throughout the season.

Saving in grocery bills is not the only thing to be considered in meat canning. Records of Texas A. & M. College and of hundreds of farmers who have co-operated with the extension service show that the value of a beef, veal or chicken will be increased greatly by putting the meat in a can.

West Texas Mourns Death Of John Young Known As Vaquero Of The Brush Country

ALPINE—The country west of the Pecos mourns the passing of J. Frank Dobie's "Vaquero of the Brush Country"—a man who would have "charged hell with a bucket of water." Death came Friday.

He was John Young, 76, whose death brings another gap in the list of pioneers, typical West Texans who followed the tracks of cow thieves and Billy the Kid; a true representative of the old west.

Young was the cowboy of J. Frank Dobie's "Vaquero of the Brush Country." In a "necessary explanation," which prefaces the Dobie book, there is the story of the cowboy, dreaming lofty dreams in his later years and aspiring to authorship. The dream of authorship came true. He was Dobie's collaborator. The "I" in "A Vaquero of the Brush Country" refers not to J. Frank Dobie but to John Young.

Another dream did not come true. For years it was Young's ambition to erect a cattleman's hotel in San Antonio on the site of the old Southern Hotel, which for many years was headquarters for all visiting cowmen. He owned, or partly owned, the mountain of fine marble near Alpine and it was his hope to build the cattlemen's hotel of marble hewn out of his mountain.

It would have been a 10-story hotel, a splendor of marble throughout, and its doors would have been barred to all but cattlemen. There, with the pomp and ceremony of a royal fete would have been held each year the Old Trail Drivers Reunions.

Dobie writes in his "necessary explanation":

"The first time I saw John Young was 18 years ago in Alpine, which is near his mountain of marble. He was deep in the joys of constructing, purely in an imaginative and manana manner, a 10-story marble hotel at San Antonio for the use of old time trail drivers and the cattle people of generations to come. In time I learned that John Young is something of a dreamer—a man of imagination. I learned that he had dreamed in his youth of breaking the biggest monte bank in Mexico. I learned that he had dreamed of finding the Lost Nigger Mine of the Big Bend, and had a wonderful story of his adventures in searching for it. Then, in the summer of 1925, I learned that he was dreaming of writing a book in a very realistic manner about a very real thing—his own life."

It was from the last dream that "Vaquero" sprang, and that the world was given a picture of range cavaliers, gentlemen on horses, "privileged to come it proud over all nesters, squatters, Kansas Jayhawkers, and other such earth-clinging creatures."

Young told his story to Dobie, but occasionally he left out relevances. He refused to tell, for instance, what happened at the Mexican ranch-fort occupied by desperate murderers. The writers could learn only from George Sanders, who was present on the occasion, that John Young rode up to the porch through which his friend had just been killed and shot into it. It was Sanders who said: "John Young would charge hell with a bucket of water."

Young was born at Lockhart Feb. 12, 1856, in a log cabin. Raised in Bee and Refugio counties, he went up the trail five times with Simpson, Jim Reed, Jim Hall, Goodnight and Claire. He was a vaquero in the brush of Southwest Texas, but, in his own words, his trail stretched to the Platte, circled around to Dodge City, pronged out across the Plains into the Rockies, meandered up and down the Nueces, Pecos and Devil's River... lead into immense bonnyards that marked the drifts and die-ups of the open range... ran into the Big Steal, into mustangs, rattlesnakes, barbed wire and lots of other things.

He had swum every river from the Rio Grande to the Platte, and once almost lost his life while crossing a herd on the Colorado in 1880. The river was on a rampage and 400 yards wide, when, in mid-stream, a drifting treetop brushed Young of his horse and sent him to the bottom. When he came up his horse was gone. He struck out for shore, but had drifted several hundred yards downstream before his friend, Gus Claire of Beavills, rushed to him on horseback. As he passed by, Young caught the horse by the tail, but a swift eddy carried the horse and two men under a bluff where they could not land. They drifted downstream until the eddy changed, then swam back to the opposite side of the river.

Young married Miss Lizzie Drake at Tilden, Nov. 28, 1883. She and seven children survive him.

does not have to help pay the cost of shipping a cow hundreds of miles to the packing plant. He does not help the butcher pay for his shop. All of the profit connected with the meat goes to the farmer who puts it up himself, instead of going to the many "middlemen" required in handling the meat that is bought at the store. All that is necessary is a small investment in a pressure cooker and can sealer and a little time and labor.

"Lack of Light" Chief Cause Of Accidents, Statistics Prove

Safety in the home, as well as comfort and convenience, call for the elimination of those dark, dangerous places where a false step may lead to tragedy.

Statistics compiled by life insurance companies indicate that 25 per cent of all accidental deaths, or 30,000 per year to be exact, happen in the home—and that darkness, or "lack of light" is their principal cause. In addition to deaths, 4,500,000 non-fatal injuries happen in that supposed haven of refuge and safety.

Man's latest gadget to overcome these hazards is a wall light which all but thinks for itself. It operates on batteries, and can be fastened to the wall at any point not otherwise lighted. The pull of the chain floods the stairway or other point where light is essential, just in time to prevent husband or wife from stepping on the family cat and taking a nose dive for a fractured leg or a broken head.

One of these new lights has a "time switch"—a great aid to falling memories. A pull chain turns on the light. It stays lit for a fixed time, then goes off of its own accord. Of course, if desired, the light can be turned on for steady light for as long a period as needed.

And for those with perfect memories, who never forget anything, there is a similar light without the time switch feature.

Commercial Club Should Be Re-organized Record For December 8, 1911, Appealed

The Colorado Commercial Club, with operations suspended several months, should be re-organized and placed to work for the development of Colorado's best interests. The Record for December 8, 1911, appealed. The organization had been suspended on the charge it was of no further use to the community.

The Record agreed with certain critics of the organization that mistakes were made sometimes and that no doubt money was spent with small benefit resulting, and that certain officials failed to "meet the men of certain critics who contributed to its financial upkeep," but these things were now in the past.

Issue of The Record for that week carried a large quota of advertising news from Colorado merchants. Holiday stocks were large and well selected; so patrons of the territory were informed. Several of the local merchants carried their message to the public in full page announcements.

Coloradans who had formed the habit of attending shows on the Sabbath were to have that privilege taken away, the paper noted. Ruling of the supreme court in Austin a few days before, placing the lid on such performances, was cited.

Blackened walls of the Lasker block, burned two weeks before in one of the town's most destructive fires, were pulled down that week. It was accepted that new bricks would soon be going up on the site.

Concern was expressed by the editor that week for stability of the home, as the divorce courts were shown to be growing in popularity everywhere. 31 divorce cases were said to be pending in Tom Green county alone.

PASO PANTHERS LOSE TO MUSTANGS IN SECTIONAL BATTLE AT SWEETWATER

Contest For West Texas Belt To Be Staged At Amarillo Saturday Afternoon

Austin High Panthers from El Paso, winners in District 4, went down in defeat before attack of the Sweetwater Mustangs at Sweetwater Friday afternoon, giving to the Ponies sectional championship pennant for Interscholastic League districts 3 and 4. The score was 13-0.

Saturday afternoon the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm, champions of the North Plains district 1, nosed out the Ranger Bull Dogs, pennant holders in the Oil Belt district, supremacy in districts 1 and 2. The score was 7-0.

Sweetwater will meet Amarillo Saturday afternoon at Butler Field, Amarillo, for championship of West Texas. Arrangements have been completed at Sweetwater for operation of a special train over the Santa Fe to Amarillo. Several hundred fans from home town of the Ponies and other communities in District 3 will be aboard.

The Ponies' win over El Paso Friday afternoon was accomplished with several of their best men out of play, due to illness and injury. Sweetwater scored in the fourth. El Paso's only touch-down was registered during the last period of play.

Team winning West Texas pennant at Amarillo Saturday afternoon should go on through to the State finals, in opinion of Jim Cantrell, Wolf mentor. Cantrell was among the several thousand spectators in Sweetwater Friday to witness the sectional contest.

Masonic Home, Fort Worth, continues to rank as a formidable grid machine as contests now pass into the sectional district stage. That the Masons are going to give somebody a bit of stubborn competition before State credence among sports writers of the state. Saturday afternoon these Fort Worth lads won over Woodrow Wilson High, Dallas, by a score of 40-7.

Other class A teams still in the conference line-up include Sherman, who won over Vernon 14-7; Greenville, who defeated Athens 13-6; John Reagan, winning over Beaumont 32-7, and Corpus Christi, who eliminated Harlingen 60-0.

Mrs. Hubert Smith has sufficiently recovered from her recent accident to be moved to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Ratliff.

Mrs. L. C. McCloud arrived home Friday from Dallas where she has been for medical treatment.

FAIRVIEW FACTS

The West Side Singing Convention printed two scenes taken at the ranch Saturday, November 26, when the Dallas visitors were being entertained by O. F. Jones, manager of the ranch. One of the scenes shows news carriers and others coming from the ranch chuck wagon. Another shows several members of the party astride cow ponies. The story follows:

While the boys were in Colorado they were guests of O. F. Jones, manager of the ranch. Also they were entertained by the Colorado Chamber of Commerce, the Lions' club and the Palace theater.

The ranch they visited is one of the largest in this part of the country. Tradition says that Capt. George Rendenbrook of the United States army was killed in the vicinity of a spring on the ranch by Comanche Indians in the early seventies and that the spring was named in his honor.

According to Mr. Root, J. Taylor Barr was the first man to lay claim to ownership of the land upon which the spring was located. During the late seventies he transferred his holdings to George Waddell, now of Fort Worth.

Messrs. Johnnie and Homer Waldrop who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bourland, have returned to their home in Alabama.

Miss Alice Pace was married Friday night to Mr. T. J. Grimes. Alice was born and reared in this community and has a host of friends who wish them many years of married happiness. They will make their home in Colorado.

W. J. CHESNEY HONORED BY GRAND COUNCIL IN ANNUAL STATE MEETING

W. J. Chesney returned Wednesday morning from Waco where he had gone to attend sessions of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters and other Masonic bodies. During open sessions of the fraternal meeting he was installed as illustrious principal conductor, among the highest honors the lodge can bestow.

Ben S. Cooper, master of the Blue Lodge, and Jim White are other Colorado Masons who attended sessions of the fraternity in Waco. They are attending the State grand lodge meetings this week.

DRIVER OF BIG SPRING DEATH DEALING CAR IS NO BILLED BY JURORS

BIG SPRING—With the November term of 32nd district court ended here and the deliberations of the grand jury completed until January, no indictment has been returned in connection with the death of two Big Spring girls, Rena Nabors and Fannie Hull, October 31.

The two were killed when struck by Wright's car on the highway immediately south of the Casino dance hall as they walked to town. Wright told officers he was blinded by a passing motorist's lights.

Scurry County's Skeleton Mystery Given Probable Solution By Pioneer Of West

SNYDER, Texas.—The mystery that surrounded the recent unearthing of a man's skeleton three miles northwest of Snyder has been cleared, thinks "Uncle Billy" Nelson, Scurry County tax collector, who was the county's first sheriff.

After conversing with D. G. Snider, who lives near the point where the skeleton was unearthed, Uncle Billy's memory brought forth the following tale that probably explains the origin of the new-found bones:

Pete Snyder, who operated the first store here when this town first became a trading post for the cattlemen, and the man from whom the town was afterward named, was visited one day by a party of five men on horseback, who proceeded to take of the supplies they wanted out of his store—without paying for them.

The next day Mr. Snyder was riding over the range and found the body of one of his visitors at a point about three miles northwest of his store. He recognized the man as the leader of the group. It is supposed that the leader's companions "framed up" on him, or that he was killed during an argument of some sort while the party was camped for the night.

The storekeeper buried the body in a shallow grave. The story was woven into the early history of the county, and had probably seldom come to light until Uncle Billy and D. G. Snider recalled it a few days ago.

Mr. Snider, who was no relation of the man from whom the town was named, was one of the early settlers in the Sulphur community, and was closely associated with Pete Snyder.

Uncle Billy thinks the incident occurred in the latter part of 1875, just a year or two after he came into this country.

The skeleton was unearthed several weeks ago at a culvert between the Joe Wilson and George Garner places, at a spot about the distance from Snyder that the stranger's body is reported to have been buried by the man from whom the capital of Scurry was named.

Early History Of Spade Ranch Is Told By Writer In Daily Times-Herald

Blended in with reference to recent visit to the Spade ranch by a delegation of Dallas Times-Herald carrier boys, as published in that newspaper Sunday morning, are some interesting historical reminiscences of that pioneer cattle domain. The story was written by a member of the editorial staff here two weeks ago.

Along with the historical story is printed two scenes taken at the ranch Saturday, November 26, when the Dallas visitors were being entertained by O. F. Jones, manager of the ranch. One of the scenes shows news carriers and others coming from the ranch chuck wagon. Another shows several members of the party astride cow ponies. The story follows:

From Mr. Waddell this land was purchased by D. H. and J. W. Snyder, then of Georgetown, Texas, upon which they established a ranch, the first to be fenced in this entire territory. They hauled the posts and wire for great distances, perhaps from Brownwood, Texas. There were forty-two sections of land in this, the original Rendenbrook ranch.

This ranch was acquired by Messrs. Snyder in 1882, and in 1883 the Snyders acquired by purchase some forty sections the major portion owned by Andy Lee, Jim Halley, a brother-in-law of D. H. Snyder, was the first manager of this ranch, holding this position for two years at which time he was succeeded by J. F. Yearwood, who is now of Corn Hill, Texas.

In 1886 Walter Oats, now of Austin, Texas, took charge of this range and continued as its manager until 1889 or 1890, when it was sold to Isaac Ellwood of DeKalb, Ill. The ranch increased by purchase to some 125 sections, Mr. Root assisting in the surveying.

D. N. Arnett of Colorado was employed by Isaac Ellwood to manage the ranch and he continued in this position until 1912, when O. F. Jones, one of the cowboys on the ranch, was advanced to position of manager upon the recommendation of Mr. Arnett who resigned to take charge of his own affairs.

Mr. Jones is still manager of this ranch which has grown to some 250 sections by purchase of the Ben Van Tyle, L. E. Seamon, Dave Holaway and the Bob Scott ranches. It is owned by W. L. Ellwood of Lubbock, and Perry Ellwood of DeKalb, Ill., sons of the late Isaac Ellwood, both of whom spend a good deal of their time here. Isaac Ellwood, son of Perry Ellwood, is at present making his home on the ranch.

Palace Theatre Has Interesting Program Billed During Week

Washingtonians and visitors to the national capital viewing Columbia's epic film, "Washington Merry-Go-Round," due Thursday and Friday, December 8 and 9, at the Palace Theatre, will be startled at the reality of numerous scenes showing the famous buildings of the Capitol and the true atmospheric flavor of the story by Maxwell Anderson. But chances are they will be even more amazed when they recognize, or think they recognize, figures of national political prominence. For instance, there is Jim Duffy, who is a mirrored reflection of Senator Borah if there ever was one. And so on through the picture.

Saturday, December 10th, the Palace is showing "The Man From Arizona," featuring Rex Bell, also the seventh chapter of "Heroes of the West," along with a Paramount Comedy.

Fannie Hurst's most absorbing story comes to the screen Sunday matinee and Monday, December 11 and 12, when Universal's picture of "Back Street" opens an engagement at the Palace Theatre, with Irene Dunne and John Boles in the leading roles.

This powerful and fascinating love-drama follows the romance of a girl and a man, held together by a sincere love in spite of the fact that the man is a husband and father. For twenty years, the attachment endures, ever increasing in intensity, until a tragedy brings the most extraordinary affair of its kind ever pictured into sharp focus.

"Lady and Gent," title of the picture which will be shown at the Palace, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 13 and 14, might mean anything. What it happens to mean is a triumph for burly George Bancroft, personally. There's a large, and a capable, cast supporting him, but Bancroft himself carries off the majority of the honors.

Part of this is due to the fact that his role was made to order for him. It's a role that makes him human; makes him a warm and lovable character.

Douglas Fairbanks picture, comes to the Palace Theatre, Thursday and Friday, December 15 and 16, and thus picture-goers will witness for the first time the new forte of the sprightly Hollywood star, a forte crammed with adventure in far-away places.

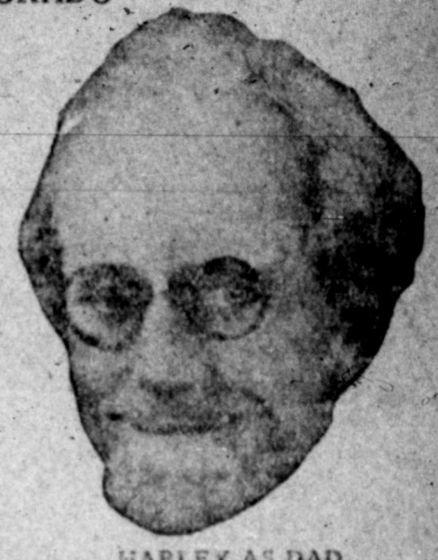

While "Round the World in Eighty Minutes," the latest Fairbanks picture, was the forerunner of the new idea, it can not rightly be included in it, for the reason that it was more a random photographing of a world tour than the picturing of a sustained story, such as "Mr. Robinson Crusoe."

Wednesday afternoon of next week will be among the gala events for girls and boys of Colorado and Mitchell county. Santa Claus is coming to town!

And upon the occasion of this visit to Colorado the smiling friend of every kiddie—and grown-up, too, is to arrive by airplane. Plans for Santa to land his ship west of the river were concluded Wednesday morning by a committee of local merchants and chamber of commerce officials working in cooperation with this universally beloved personage.

The arrival of Santa Claus is set for four o'clock. Children of the territory are invited to be present at the air port to personally greet him as he climbs from his plane. The Colorado school band along with several citizens of town are to be present as the plane swoops down to earth.

After formal greetings have been exchanged Santa Claus will be escorted to a waiting automobile for drive to the business district. The band will lead the line of march. Considerable time will be spent by the distinguished Messenger of Good Will in visiting the several stores in which gifts for Christmas have been placed on display. Along with his inspection of the gift offerings Santa will devote considerable time to visiting with boys and girls who are expected to throng the streets.

In a message received at the chamber of commerce Wednesday morning Santa Claus stated that he was looking forward to his visit here with a deal of pleasure. "I have always had a warm place in my heart for the boys and girls of Mitchell county," he said. "I have learned to know them as being among the best children I visit at Christmas time anywhere in the country."

"I wish that you would say for me that according to information I already have I know that you cannot profit by going to some other town to purchase Christmas gifts. The merchants and shop keepers in your home town have followed my request strictly to the letter in buying practical gift merchandise and will sell at retail prices that cannot be undersold by merchants in another community. It is my sincere hope that you will request your fathers and mothers to patronize Colorado business men when they start out on shopping tours."

Just how long Santa Claus plans to remain in Colorado had not been determined Thursday. It is known, however, that due to pressing engagements in all parts of the country he will be on his way after spending a few hours here.

Children of Colorado and the surrounding territory are reminded that this personal visit of Santa Claus was made possible through cooperative effort upon the part of several leading business men. Depression has hit him, along with most every one else and he of necessity will have to curtail many visits between now and Christmas eve.

Remember the date, kiddies, Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 14, at 4 p. m.

Successful Business Man Must Adopt Golden Rule, Stanley Tells Merchants

The golden rule is the yard stick by which modern business must be measured if success is to be attained and there never was an era in the history of merchandising in which printer's ink carried stronger selling force than today, Henry W. Stanley, manager of the Dallas Trade Extension department, stated in the first of his series of lectures here Thursday night.

Stanley arrived Thursday at noon and that night at 7:30 opened a merchant's institute at the Colorado. He dealt at length upon the economic stress into which the country was plunged in 1929. That the cycle of business ups and downs was slowly rising toward better business conditions was promised by the speaker. "It is wholly unfair and contrary to the ethics of fair dealing for a few merchants to do all the advertising and bring business to main street," Stanley declared. "Every business man should join his neighbor in the united program of interesting customers to consider seriously the advantages offered them at Colorado."

Stanley delivered two addresses at high school Friday morning. His first address was before students of omics in business was the subject discussed. Later he spoke at chapel services and sought to impress the student body with importance of seeing ahead.

"Get down to the basic principles of life and focus your eyes on the smallest things about you, if you would become acquainted with the major factors that go to make for better times in your day," he said. "Train your ears so that you may even discern the whispers about you. Get close to nature and be inspired by the greatest teacher that God ever gave to the student."

Friday at noon Mr. Stanley was guest speaker at the Lions Club. He stated that success of the service clubs in America was found in the fact that business and professional men, regardless of financial or social complex, had come together on an equal basis, to eat the same kind of food and understand one another as friends and partners in the business of building business.

He again referred to ethics of the golden rule. "Modern business men must go back into an old volume some 2,000 years of age to find the yard stick by which their business must be conducted. That young man of two thousand years ago coined the cream of Judea when he declared, 'humble thyself.'"

Mr. Stanley concluded his series of addresses Saturday morning in a conference with employees at a Max Berman department store. His last public lecture was made Friday night at the Colorado. From here Mr. Stanley went to Amarillo Saturday night and on to Da'hart where he addressed joint meeting of the Lions and Rotary clubs Monday at noon.

The body was brought to Colorado by the Jones, Russell Company who directed funeral plans. Burial was in I. O. O. F. cemetery Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock with brief rites at the graveside.

Deceased was unmarried. He had spent much of his life in West Texas as an employee on ranches.

SEVERAL CHANGES FOUND IN RULES FOR GOVERNING COUNTY LEAGUE CONTESTS

Chairman Glover Believes Entries By Schools Will Be Large In 1933

A copy of the 1932 Supplement to the Constitution and Rules of the University Interscholastic League has been received by Mr. J. V. Glover, recently elected Director of Declaration in this county.

"There are two important changes in the rules this year affecting the declaration contest," said Mr. Glover. "First, there is a new provision provided for in county meets accommodating only high school juniors, that is, pupils under fifteen years of age who have been promoted to the eighth grade or higher. This supplants the old rule which allowed such juniors to compete in the senior division."

"Second, the reclassification of schools will cause some schools which last year participated in the rural division to be transferred to the high school division."

"In most other respects, the declaration rules are the same as those of last year. The junior divisions use standard poetry for declaiming, and the senior divisions are confined to prose selection."

"This contest is designed to train boys and girls in the art of sincere and effective public speaking and at the same time contribute to their mental enrichment by requiring them to memorize prose and poetry by the great literary masters. It is hoped that there will be a large number of entries in this contest at our county meet."

'Balanced Ration' For Home Pantry Now Being Stocked By Farmers Of The County

Warning issued the other day from New Orleans office of the American Co-operative Cotton Association that the year 1933 would usher in one of the most destructive eras of weevil infestation farmers of the South had ever known is not worrying Mitchell county farmers very much. The boll weevil has never effected much damage to cotton in this section of West Texas and it is not to be generally accepted that he will invade these fields in 1933.

About the only thing bringing worry to Mitchell county cotton farmers just now is the low price at which the commodity is being sold. One of the county's best crops is being harvested, ideal weather conditions for gathering the crop has prevailed almost without interruption, but five and six cents per pound has fell short of assuring an equitable return from the year's toil and investment.

In sensing an outbreak of weevils in large number next year, statement issued by the association said: "The worst boll weevil infestation in history threatens next year's cotton crop, it was announced by the American Cotton Co-operative Association here."

It was found that 62.9 per cent of the cotton squares in the field at the end of picking time this season were punctured by the pests. This was an increase of 50 per cent over last fall's figure and 25 per cent above the fall of 1928, when manifestations were the highest of any year for which comparable records were available.

The data was obtained from 7,000 reporting members of the A. C. C. A. and forecast another short crop for 1933.

In estimating likely weevil damage A. C. C. A. experts said the number of weevils entering hibernation was the first consideration. Weather during June and July is another factor, as is extent of the use of fertilizer. Sales of fertilizer were less this year than in any of the three worst weevil years, because growers did not have the money to spend for it, the report said.

The limits of the weevil territory also have been extended, according to the report. Even Virginia, freed from weevil until recently, reported 18 per cent infestation. In Texas the weevil has pushed westward by an average of two tiers of counties this season, practically carrying the line of infestation to the foot of the high plains, including the counties of Wichita, Baylor, Scurry, Mitchell, Irion, Schleicher, Sutton and Edwards.

"Another important extension has carried the weevils to North-eastern Arkansas, including Mississippi County, world's champion cotton growing area," the report said.

Mississippi's infestation was given at 95 per cent and Georgia's 91 per cent.

Editorial—
Girls, we have only three more weeks in which to take advantage of Leap Year. If we don't succeed, then we will have to wait four more years.
No the editorial this week is for girls only, so do not let any boys read it. If they do, boys will be just about as easy to find between now and New Year's as a set of hen's teeth. Then some of us would have to start an old maid's club for a pastime. As it is, get your favorite boy friend, if any, and tell him the usual spiel you used to hear from him. And then, at the most exciting moment, pop the question! Don't get "stage fright," for if you do, he will remember nothing to say except "No!" And by the way, if you fail to get a favorable reply don't give up—remember, there are plenty more fish left in the sea.

"Now I have in mind
For the girls left behind,
Not a toast, but a bit of advice;
We have seen our girl pals
Become married gals
And everyone though it so nice,
Men get scarcer each day
And lest all get away,
To grab 'em's a mighty good plan.
Our trouble will cease
When, like mounted police,
We have gone out and captured
our man!"

Vocational Agriculture—
Arlene Morris, a vocational agriculture student, made an outstanding record in his projects. On a cotton project of ten acres, his returns were: 3535 lbs. of lint cotton, 6125 lbs. of cotton seed, and $227.19 net income.

On ten acres of maize, his returns were: 25,000 lbs. of maize, $37.50 net income.
On ten acres of Hegari: 6,000 bundles of Hegari, $120.00 net income.
His net income on his thirty acres was twelve dollars and eighty two cents per acre.

Assembly News—
Henry W. Stanley, representative of the Chamber of Commerce, Dallas, addressed the student body and faculty Friday morning.

His talk, a very interesting one, was based on "Seeing Things."
He compared education of yesterday with that of today, and told many humorous and entertaining jokes.

Whitmore-Wilson Nuptials
Miss Maxine Whitmore, former faculty member of Colorado High School, was married to Mr. Walter Wilson, Sunday morning at 9:30 in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hale. Minister J. D. Harvey performed the ceremony. Immediately after the wedding the bride and groom left for Meridian, Mississippi for their honeymoon.

The school board, faculty members, and student body express their congratulation to the couple, wishing them all the joys and happiness that the future can hold.

Squibs—
Just think, girls, we have only three more weeks in which to capture our man! Then Leap Year will be over. So if you don't want to wait another four years, you'd better show some progress.

Mr. Cantrill advises Elverie to associate with some one who makes better grades, and for her not to believe everything her "Romeo" tells her.

August Armstrong says he has always wanted to tell any teacher he was dumb, so while Lillian was substituting for Mr. Cantrill Friday, he did.

Juanice Green, our "Squibs" editor, is ill this week. We hope she can be here to edit the "Squibs" next week.

James Lupton, who has been ill lately, was back in school Monday to contribute his originality and humor to the various classes.

It seems as though we will have to recommend "Old Golds" to the study halls, the way everyone trips to cough louder than his desk mate. (Old Golds—"not a cough in a car load")

Rilla Payne has shown little enthusiasm in school work this week, as "Liberty" has not been present each day.

Elverie Sorrells says Wiggley has the "flu." How does she know? "Wiggley told her so!"

Conoco Travel Bus Visits City

WHAT is more logical than a travel bureau that does some traveling itself? Such is the conviction of Continental Oil Company, which recently sent this completely equipped bus out to tour the highways and byways of America for the purpose of giving first hand assistance to motor vacationists, and to help coordinate the work of the hundreds of branches of the Conoco Travel Bureau. The bus and its personnel visited this city recently.

Conoco Travel Bureau Bus Visits Here Wednesday On Tour Of Western States

Making it possible for 300 thousand and American motor tourists to travel comfortably along 342 million miles of strange highways may sound like a tremendous if not impractical task for an oil corporation to undertake.

Furnishing a personalized scenic service to each of these thousands of people free of charge may sound even more unbelievable. Yet that is just what the Conoco Travel Bureau, maintained by Continental Oil Company, has accomplished thus far this year, according to Marshall Dana, in charge of the huge Conoco Travel Bureau bus which reached Colorado, Wednesday.

The novel red, green and white bus, which is one of the two now touring America in behalf of the Bureau, carries a number of interesting scenic displays and is equipped to broadcast both radio music and speeches to the crowds which gather around to inspect it.

Almost three years ago when the Bureau set up headquarters in Denver in the heart of the Rock Mountain vacation region, many people shook their heads and voiced the opinion that such a large scale undertaking could never be successful. Like the Wright Brothers' first airplane and the early day automobile, it was looked upon as a rather dubious experiment.

During the first year the Bureau was in operation, however, it planned more than 26,000 trips for motorists. In 1931 a number of features were added, the service was advertised in newspapers throughout the country and 67,000 motorists called upon the Bureau for assistance. In order to help tourists while they were actually on the road as well as beforehand, Conoco service station salesmen in addition to those of Red Triangle dealers throughout the country were specially trained to render valuable assistance to Conoco Travelers who called upon them. If a motorist wrote the Bureau for information concerning Virginia's Shenandoah Valley, Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico, Mt. Ranier National Park in Washington, the 10,000 Lakes country of Minnesota or any other of the thousands of beautiful American outdoor playgrounds, he received a veritable "armload" of interesting literature, specially marked road maps showing all detours, cabin camp and hotel guides and a Conoco Passport by return mail. Thus equipped he and members of his family would set out on their cross-country jaunt, freed from all worry concerning the best and least expensive routes, what they could expect to see and other numerous and distracting details which plague all travelers into strange lands. By stopping at Red Triangle stations in every city or hamlet along their route, they found that they received almost unbelievable additional aid from the men in charge. Conoco men were eager to check their baggage for them while they did some shopping around; saw to it that they missed seeing nothing of interest in each small area, and actually went out of their way to be courteous.

It was such service as this, Mr. Dana told a Record reporter, that has caused the Bureau to break all previous records thus far this year. Statistics compiled at the end of September, he said, revealed the fact that nearly 130,000 trips had been planned for applicants since January 1 and that more than 145,000 Conoco Passports had been issued. Assuming that three-fourths or 97,500 of the trips planned were actually taken, and that the distance for each trip averaged 3,500 miles, the total distance traveled approximates 342 million miles. Assuming also that at least three people took each trip, the total number of Bureau "batrons" would be nearly 300 thousand.

Despite the fact that the summer vacation period has passed, those in charge of the Bureau predict that thousands of Americans will be routed to winter vacation lands and sport events during the coming months.

"The service extended by the Conoco Travel Bureau is of wide general value, aside from the direct benefit to the motorist," Mr. Dana pointed out, "in that it encourages motorists to stop and shop throughout the country, and because a large staff of workers have been enlisted from the ranks of the unemployed to handle the work. In the beautiful Conoco Travel Bureau headquarters building in Denver a large number of men and women are kept busy constantly marking road maps and supplying innumerable pieces of literature devoted to scenic spots throughout "A" country.

Anyone who travels by motor car is eligible to call upon the Conoco Travel Bureau for a free trip service, regardless of the distance traveled or the route to be covered.

In addition to Mr. Dana, the other members of the bus party included L. H. McAlester, Director of Conoco Travel Bureau, C. L. Oden, assistant Division Manager, H. E. Kerm, District Superintendent and John Richards, driver of the bus.

Next Sunday is regular singing day at the Valley View Baptist Church and everyone is invited. We hope to have a good singing.

Could Your Car Pass a "Cold Test" like this?

Through deep snow drifts that blanketed Wolf Creek Pass, 10,800 feet above sea level in Colorado's Rockies, a great V-type snow plow doggedly pushed its way. A whirring rotary plow spouted clouds of snow, clearing the roadway. And soon, despite temperatures daily below zero, workers of Liberty Truck & Parts Co., of Denver, had opened the 15-mile road.
"We used Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and Conoco Gasoline exclusively in our Cletrac Tractors with wonderful results," wrote a Liberty official. "We had no difficulty starting our motors in the mornings."
There's a "cold test" to guide you in buying motor oil!
Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is thoroughly dewaxed and circulates freely below zero. It makes winter-starting easier. More important still, it saves your motor from terrific punishment during the starting period, when half of all motor wear occurs! Other oils drain away overnight. A "Hidden Quart" of Conoco Germ Processed Oil stays up in your motor and lubricates before your motor starts.

Only Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil can offer you this vital protection, for it is the only oil that penetrates and combines with metal surfaces. Let it protect your motor this Winter.

The judges rendered their decision in favor of the affirmative.

"Closed Lips" will be presented by the Junior Class of Westbrook High School Friday night, December 9, 1932. Admission 10c and 20c. This play is a comedy-drama in three acts. The scenes take place in a small city on the Atlantic coast. The Freshmen seem very interested in book reviews, history note book, and science themes.

Examinations were undoubtedly very hard, because all the Freshmen except two are in the study hall on one or more subjects. Don't miss the play "Closed Lips." An extra feature will be presented by members of the coral club.

A TREASURE HOUSE OF CHRISTMAS GIFTS

BY JANE WALSH

That little bird who knows all has been flying about the shops this week and has brought back a Big Ten Christmas List which we think is Pretty Nearly Perfect. "Nothing over three dollars and something nice for a quarter" was our motto: Here's what he found: POWDER SPRAY SET—a new bathing luxury with a bottle of body sachet powder also included in the boxed gift set. MAKE-UP MIRROR—a trick of all stage beauties now brought to the dressing table of the well groomed girl. Smartly feminine with colored handle in pastel shades containing space for tweezers.

HANDKERCHIEFS—hand appliques for women and colored borders for men are newest this year. SCARVES—be sure they are gay in color and cut on the bias for perfect fit. TOWEL AND WASHCLOTHS—transparent wrapped gift sets in boudoir colors are always welcome to the home-maker. BLANKET—this warm token of esteem is distinguished by large block plaids in a variety of soft shades combined with white. STOCKINGS—gift hose should be full-fashioned and of clear, all-silk chiffon. Dark shades are in vogue this season. LINGERIE—an eternal favorite on all feminine lists. Tea rose crepe with Alencon lace trimming is most popular. ATOMIZER—this clever gadget is also a leak-proof perfume bottle, with an extra chromium cap. Ideal for travel and won't evaporate at home. Imported hand-cut glass in crystal and pastel shades. LUNCHEONETTE—a two-decker sandwich plate invaluable for bridge parties and buffet suppers. Silver plated handles add beauty to practicality.

The people so much enjoyed the box supper they are asking to have another Friday night. The proceeds will be used to pay off the February note against our piano. We will have a good speaker for the occasion. All are cordially invited.

INFORM THE PUBLIC

Whenever the commercial pendulum swing backwards along main street in Colorado there is an attributing factor involved that could and should have been eliminated, Henry W. Stanley, manager of the trade extension department, Dallas chamber of commerce, told a group of Colorado business men the other day. And, we must accept that Stanley was right.

Modern transportation facilities, attained through the building of improved highways and the motor car, have brought to the merchants of this town opportunity to form personal-business relations with the citizenry of an extended trade territory. If Colorado fails to interest customers into her stores, the business man located in another West Texas trade center will profit through attracting patrons who, under the law of averages, should come here.

Colorado merchants have one of the major factors that must be employed in building bigger business, to follow Stanley further in his discussion. That factor is in the large and varied stocks of seasonal merchandise carried. But, does the buying public know that such is the true use of printers' ink as connecting link between the merchant and buyer has never been over-estimated, Mr. Stanley sought to impress his auditors. And again he was right. History of successful business in America has ever written chapters having to do with consistent advertising. The merchant who declines to keep his store before the people whom he would be pleased to sell cannot hope to succeed quite so definitely as the one who ever holds out before the public attractive store news made up from the use of printers' ink.

An entire section of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram for Sunday morning was devoted to plaudits of a large department store in that city, built from a capital of less than $1,000 by two East Texas farm boys into one of the largest of the Southwest in fourteen years, simply because Leonard Brothers went after business through use of printers' ink.

HAPPY RETURNS, MASONS

Friday of next week Colorado Masons are to commemorate fiftieth anniversary of the founding of that fraternity here. With rites fittingly portraying the high principles enunciated by the Masonic order, a program will be given at First Christian church.

The Record congratulates Colorado Masons upon attainment of the lofty traditions that are theirs. Influences that shall stand out with brilliant hue in the formation of character and the building of idealism of the highest order will sustain long in Colorado because that Masonry has woven its precepts into the life of this people.

It is unique that this fiftieth anniversary be commemorated just before dawn of Christmas Day, the religious holiday having its inception in a manger where Christ was born 2,000 years ago. Masonry has ever builded its influences for right and its name for permanency because to be made a Mason one must pledge to adopt the code of ethics enunciated by the Man of Galilee. Again, Masons of Colorado, The Record extends its sincere congratulations upon your arrival at the fiftieth milestone of service to this city

Proposed Reduction Of Texas Tech To Liberal Arts School Meets Opposition

Recent proposal of the joint organization and efficiency committee of the Texas legislature to reduce Texas Technological College, Lubbock, to a liberal arts school, has served to bring up for discussion among West Texans the long, hard fight to obtain this school as directed by the late Dr. P. C. Coleman of Colorado and other leaders. Creation of the school became a reality ten years ago after Dr. Coleman had devoted much of his activities to campaign for several years.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the college, and Clifford B. Jones of Spur, chairman of the board, issued joint statement from Lubbock Saturday declaring the proposal ridiculous and a move, if definitely attempted by the legislature, that would find united opposition among the people of West Texas.

"It is utterly ridiculous to think of giving up the fight," Doctor Knapp declared. "That Texas would force West Texas students to travel entirely across the state to secure education in agriculture and technology is inconceivable," the chairman, of Spur, said.

The college president, however, appealed to Lubbock persons not to become "excited." "Only a recommendation has been made; no one has passed on it yet," he remained. From his years of association with state schools and other public-supported institutions, Doctor Knapp drew this statement: "I've heard a good many recommendations made to legislatures which never got anywhere."

The proposal was made by the joint organization and efficiency committee of the Texas legislature. The members reside in Central or East Texas. Stephenville, county seat of Erath county and home of John Tarleton junior college a branch of Texas A. & M. college, is the most westerly of sections represented by the communities. The members are: H. N. Graves, Georgetown, in Williamson county, chairman; Phil L. Sanders, Nacogdoches, of the same county, secretary; J. Turney Terrell, Del Rio, in Valverde county; Carl C.

The school will be furnished with $100.00 worth of good materials for the shop. Visitors are invited to visit the school to see what kind of work is being done both in school and in the shop.

We are expecting to get a traveling library soon. It is for both the people of school and the people of the community.

The advertisements are your guide to efficient spending.

Teachers went to visit schools Friday. They reported a good degree of work being done at Westbrook and Iatan. All the pupils had a nice time in the cotton patch.

We had a ball game here at school Saturday afternoon. Carr and Westbrook commercial school. Carr won twenty three to twenty four.

Miss McDonald and Miss Bullard spent the week end at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hadnett from Crane visited friends and relatives of Carr Sunday and Monday.

Sunday afternoon while going home from visiting relatives, Mrs. J. H. Wagner and children had a car wreck. We hope no one was hurt seriously.

The students interested in manual training will begin work soon. Some good work is expected from the pupils by Mr. Railsback.

Mr. Railsback announced that one week of manual training time will be given in repairing and refinishing furniture in need of such. The patrons of the community are invited to bring in things they wish to have repaired. The students will do this free of charge.
