THE CROSS WAS HIS OWN

We are praying for a great revival in our church. God is waiting on us—"How Long Shall He Wait?"

THE CROSS WAS HIS OWN

They borrowed the ass in the mountain pass For him to ride to town; But the crown that He wore and the Cross that He bore Were His own. The Cross was His own.

A SUPPER TO SING FOR!

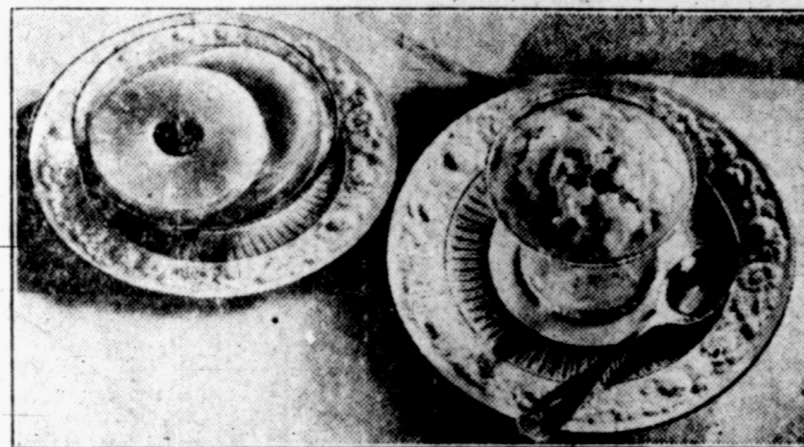

If the sugar-plum tree should come to life!

And honey-dew come from the magic pitcher—wouldn't supper times be jolly for five and seven years olds!

A supper that has all the charm of the sugar-plums and the honey-dew has for dessert a cup of crushed canned pineapple, cool and sweet. Never was anything so good to eat nor so good for growing boys and girls. For nutritional research has recently found canned pineapple to be a valuable source of five minerals, essential to health, as well as a valuable source of vitamins A, B, and C—a discovery that makes the task of mothers much simpler. The delicate flavor and color of pineapple are especially appealing to children. Pineapple is a food which rightly belongs in their own world of magic goodness. When it is served simply—a generous bowlful of crushed pineapple—it is a treat which young Mary and Johnny find suited to their most epicurean tastes. Two slices a day or a cup of crushed fruit is the amount recommended to aid in the maintenance of health and growth.

PINEAPPLE TAKES NEW ROLE

Canned pineapple, familiar food delicacy on the American table for so many years, is seen today in a new role. New food research has found that canned pineapple is a valuable source of five necessary minerals and vitamins A, B, and C. Authorities recommend two slices or an equivalent amount in crushed pineapple or tidbits in the daily menu as an aid in maintaining health. In addition to its mineral and vitamin content pineapple has been found to be a valuable aid to digestion of proteins such as meat and eggs and to the prevention and relief of acidosis. A beneficial dietetic change wrought by temperatures during the canning process is said to make these findings true of the canned rather than the raw fruit. Smart hostesses following the new dietetic advice, are serving the new pineapple cup made from the canned crushed fruit or tidbits as the first course for dinner or two slices for the breakfast; luncheon salad or for the dinner dessert. And their guests proclaim it delicious.

Optimism Sways

(Continued From Page 1) "There was never a time in the history of Colorado when the chamber of commerce needed the support of its citizens as now," Mr. Goodman declared after making strong appeal that West Texans "stay in and pitch" in support of every worthwhile objective.

The meeting was in charge of Judge Chas. C. Thompson. The Rev. L. A. Webb, pastor of First Methodist church, offered the invocation. Introduction of visitors from Midland,latan, Westbrook, Loraine, Sweetwater, Abilene, Dallas, Buford and Valley View was made. Vocal selections were given by Dr. C. L. Root and Mrs. C. A. Wilkins. Little Misses Phyllis Berman and Mary Ann Latham were presented in a folk dance. Orchestra music was furnished by the Chuck Wagon Serenaders.

Annual report of the secretary showed that the organization had been busy during 1932. Among the projects sponsored, Mr. Greene listed the following:

Cooperation with government in placing seed and feed loans among farmers.

Cooperation with civic clubs of the community in carrying out city beautification program. Some 2000 shade and ornamental trees were set out.

Sponsored sending school band and 41 delegates to annual Broadway of America convention in Los Angeles.

Radio broadcast programs from Fort Worth, San Angelo and other studios were described as having resulted in much favorable publicity to the city and county.

Cooperation with county farm and home demonstration agents. Aided in purchase of 50,000 cans for use by farmers in preserving home grown foods.

Sponsored annual "Live-at-Home" Fair, said to have been the most successful ever held in the county.

Golden jubilee celebration, commemorating fiftieth anniversary of organization of Mitchell county, was arranged and staged under direction of the chamber of commerce.

Acting as cooperating agency in providing employment to 600 Mitchell county men through the R.F.C. emergency employment allotment.

An attendance of two hundred people was reported. Ladies of the church served a delicious turkey dinner course. Representatives from several of Colorado's woman's club several of Colorado's woman's clubs

Thompson Elected

Judge C. H. Earnest, first vice president of the chamber last year and who since the death of Dr. Coleman had directed affairs of the organization as acting president, was placed in nomination for president, but his name was recalled after Judge Earnest insisted that such be done. The pioneer Colorado attorney had been active in civic affairs here for many years.

Judge Thompson stated on Wednesday morning that he would announce appointment of departmental committees and other details having to do with permanent organization of the chamber of commerce at an early date.

Ma Would Divide State for Road Jobs

Reports from Austin disclose that a bill has been drawn up to divide Texas into five highway districts and each district elect a highway commissioner, doing away with the present three-man commission appointed by the governor. This drawing shows how Texas would be divided. The bill was drawn up by Luther Nichols, one of Mrs. Ferguson's attorneys in the recent contest for the governor's chair.

The Child Reader

by MARJORIE BARROWS Editor, Child Life Magazine.

I met Bill's father today.

"Bill's six years old," he said. "He's a hard-headed young man and he treats fairy tales with a withering contempt. He likes real stories. He likes simple books about how things happen. Are there any new books that will fit Bill?"

I gave him the names of several new ones, for there are lots of Bills in America today and many authors are writing just the sort of books they like.

Real Adventure Best.

If your Bill doesn't take to fairy tales, to legends, to fables, don't force them on him. Offer him instead Charlotte Kub's delightful "A Train, A Boat, and an Island"—the story of a real family's real trip to Bermuda. Offer him Helmut Washburne's fascinating "Letters to Channy"—a real mother's letters of a trip around the world written for her own little boy back home. Offer him "The Pilgrim's Parry" or "The Cruise of Mr. Christopher Columbus" by Sadiebeth and Anson Lowitz, two humorous and very interesting picture books that acquaint younger readers with stirring history.

Perhaps Bill wants to know more about motormen and firemen and what they really do. Mrs. Kub's books for small children will help him out there. Perhaps he would like "How It All Began," a book that is delightfully written and illustrated by Janet Smalley. It will tell Bill how primitive man watched the lightning and found he, too, could make fire by twirling two sticks around together. Later man found other ways of heating and lighting and at last we got our matches, gas, oil and electricity. The book goes on, in the simplest fashion, to show the beginnings of messages, of travel, clothing, houses. It is a thrilling sort of real fairy tale that particularly appeals to boys like Bill.

Travel Stories Are Good.

What happens to a real letter after it gets posted may also interest some of our very youngest readers. William Siegel, a Russian artist, tells a simple story about that in "Around the World in a Mailbag." Bob and Betty's letter to their father doesn't reach him in San Francisco. So it is forwarded to China, Russia, France, and even to Egypt. But though the various postmen do their best the letter does not finally reach him until he is back in New York again. The pictures make this book especially attractive.

Here are just a few of the new books for fairy-tale-strikers. Many more are to be found in the libraries and bookstores. Just exactly the book your Bill is looking for is waiting for him there. And it is just the right book for him at the present time.

College Degree Worth $100,000, Experts Find

Statistics and research investigators have at last run down the elusive and much discussed dollar and cents value of a college education and have fixed it at $100,000. Their survey reveals that the average untrained boy goes to work at the age of 14, earns less than $1,700 a year, so that his income from 14 to 60 totals $64,000. The high school graduate, they find, starts work at 18, reaches his maximum income of $2,800 at 50 and by 60 has earned a total of $88,000. The college graduate, they learned, starts his career at about 22, has caught up with the high school graduate by 30 and at 60 is earning from $6,000 to $8,000 a year with a total earning at 60 of between $100,000 and $200,000. Figures from the same survey produced by the statistical department of Union Central Life Insurance Company show that out of 1,000 children entering grade school only 23 graduate from college. Lack of funds is revealed as the main reason for leaving school and educational insurance is now advocated as a means of giving a higher percentage the "break" which a college degree assures.

Methodist Young People Give Reception Honoring The Pastor, Rev. and Mrs. Webb

Thursday evening in the church the young people of all the departments of First Methodist Church entertained in honor of Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Webb. The party had been arranged immediately after Bro. Webb's return from conference, but because of serious illness in the homes of a number of members it had to be postponed.

Program for the occasion was given in the church auditorium. This was begun by singing "Onward Christian Soldiers" with Paul Kniff leading and Mrs. McCree's playing for this and all the other musical numbers. The program was announced by Miss Billie Booher.

chairman of the program committee Bro. Webb led in prayer. Paul Kniff, president of the Young Peoples division gave an appreciation of Bro. Webb. He stated that the young people wanted him returned and they wrote the bishop about it and they were most happy that he had returned.

A beautiful violin duet was given by Miss Alta Ferguson and Miss Juanita Faunon.

Representing the Sunday school and church, W. H. Garrett told of their pleasure in having Rev. and Mrs. Webb for another year. He traced the history of Methodism from Christ to the present and urged the young people to be loyal to their new pastor whom they were most happy to have back again. Miss Geraldine Baze and Paul Kniff sang "In the Garden" in a very beautiful way.

Mrs. Merritt, speaking in behalf of the Missionary Society paid tribute to Bro. and Sister Webb. The missionary women like his sermons, his prayer meeting studies, his kindness in taking them to out of town meetings, also his kindness and sympathy in times of sorrow and appreciate Mrs. Webb for her help in the Missionary society and her willingness to help in everything planned.

Miss Juliette Phillips gave a much enjoyed reading, an adaptation of "The Last Rose of Summer."

Mrs. Barcroft gave the closing tribute which was from the board of stewards. She said "our bishop was the head of our church, but presiding elder was our business manager, but our preacher was our friend, our counselor and our leader, and in Bro. Webb we had found all of best things and more.

The group was asked to pass down stairs for refreshments. At the

TO GLORIFY BREAKFAST

Toast and coffee and the morning paper!
Coffee and toast, and the morning paper!
Ho hum! That's the great American breakfast—prepared with misgivings, swallowed in haste, not remembered long enough even to be repeated.

It is perhaps a great pity that the days when American breakfasts were mighty affairs, suited to pioneering activities, are gone forever. Yet there are still ways to arouse even lagging modern breakfast appetites.

One is to add the delicious tang of pineapple to the morning meal. And nutritional studies have recently revealed a definite health reason for the addition. For canned pineapple has been found to be a generous source of vitamins A, B, and C and five essential minerals. It is also revealed as an aid to the digestion of proteins such as meat and eggs and to the prevention and relief of acidosis.

So here is a modern breakfast suited to modern needs—appealing to the appetite, healthful and simple to prepare—two slices of pineapple, a cereal if desired, two poached eggs on toast, and coffee.

Waterworks Plant Franchise For City Ok'd 50 Years Ago

Franchise to construct a waterworks system in Colorado was issued on February 1, 1881, the Dallas Morning News recalls in its "Fifty Years Ago" column. Permit for right of way mains and construction of the plant was issued by the city council to F. W. James, M. Hazard and associates.

The plant was constructed east of the city and some of the wells drilled back in those days are still being used.

Hospital Fees, Henceforth Demanded in Cash

In order to fortify the hospital against a certain financial failure and "CLOSE UP," henceforth the Hospital fees must be paid weekly in advance, before the patient enters. The amount of cash required to keep the hospital going is too much, and the loss when credit is allowed too great to maintain a hospital. Cash in advance for the hospital fees must be paid, else the hospital must close.

How Old?

He doesn't look a day over fifty. And feels like forty.

At the age of 62.

That's the happy state of health and pep that comes when he gives his old organs a little stimulant!

When your system is stagnant and you feel sluggish, headachy, half-alive—don't waste money on "tonics" or "regulators" or similar patent medicines. Stimulate the liver and bowels. Use a famous physician's prescription every drug store keeps. Just ask them for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin.

This appetizing syrup is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. One dose will clear up almost any case of headache, biliousness, constipation.

But if you want to keep in fine shape, feel fit the year 'round, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin every few days. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better. You will never need another laxative.

Give the children a little of this delicious syrup two or three times a week. A gentle, natural stimulant that makes them eat and keeps the bowels from clogging. And saves them from so many sick spells and colds.

Have a sound stomach, active liver and strong bowel muscles that expel every bit of waste and poison every day! Just keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin on hand; take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. See if you don't feel new vigor in every way.

Blower and Faked 'Smoke' Demonstrate New Fisher Ventilation

Billowing "smoke" without fire, and most of the sensations of motoring, without fanning a wheel—these are two of the synthetic effects achieved by the Fisher Body Corporation at its Auto Show exhibits, featuring the new Fisher No Draft (L. C. V.), Individually Controlled Ventilation. Driving conditions are simulated by means of this big blower, hurling a blast of air at the rate of 53 miles an hour. The "smoke" which this artificial breeze is drawing so promptly out through the ventilator is vapor given off by solidified carbon dioxide in contact with hot water. Generated in tanks specially devised for the purpose, the vapor imitates the movement of cigar smoke, and is free from the objections which prevent the use of real smoke in demonstrations at the show. Note that the ribbons, hung inside the car as wind indicators, all hang straight down, although windows are open.

Historic Old Bell Rings
FORT WORTH.—An old bell that called Fort Worth's citizens to fires, funerals and weddings half a century ago rang out again this month. The bell was rung in celebration of the 78th anniversary of the founding of Masonic lodges in Fort Worth. It once hung in the tower of the first Masonic lodge hall here.

Girls' Club Stopped Poisoning
KANSAS CITY.—The Nancy Drew Detective club, composed of 10- and 11-year-old school girls, put a quick stop to a campaign of dog poisoning in the neighborhood of their school. After 11 pets had been poisoned in one week the girls formed a sort of a "Secret Six" organization. "Our club met every day, discussed all clues and I guess we scared the poisoner away," said President Beatrice Peet.

Ban on Friday High School Football Proposed By State Board of Education

Colorado school authorities, with special reference to Big Jim Cantrell, Wolf mentor, are expressing interest in suggestion emerging from the State Board of Education the other day that football games hereafter be banned on Friday and that basketball games be allowed only on Friday and Saturday nights.

Recommendation that such a game be inducted was couched in report made by the board Saturday to Governor Ferguson. Interference with school work and the further charge that people are becoming football fanatics were listed as harmful elements entering into the State's athletic aspect. The report went on to say:

"It is true that some high school coaches wish to be free to attend college games on Saturdays; it is true that gate receipts in some communities will be smaller on Saturday; it is true some boys have to work on Saturdays and hence could not participate in or attend Saturday games.

"None of these reasons has an appreciable weight when compared with the interference with the school program."

Actual schedules show 1,742 games, or 70.9 per cent of all games, scheduled for school days, it was pointed out. Of the 232 schools reporting, 128 "sometimes" dismiss school for games; 53 show attendance is "appreciable" cut down on school on days of football games, and in 72 schools the time lost is not made up, the report showed.

"Eight inter-school football games a season appears sufficient to secure all the advantages claimed by inter-school football," the report said.

"Not only do the majority of Texas school men believe eight a maximum number, but school men all over the country designate eight or less as sufficient."

"The board recommended limitation of basketball games to 15, between Dec. 1 and March 1, and providing that tournaments should admit only a limited number of teams. Regarding "scholastic favors to athletes," the board said that was due to "too great enthusiasm for winning games."

"The community has become frenzied," the board continued. "It is a symptom of athletic disease. The honesty of scholastic standards, must be upheld even if the whole inter-school sport program should have to be abandoned to uphold them."

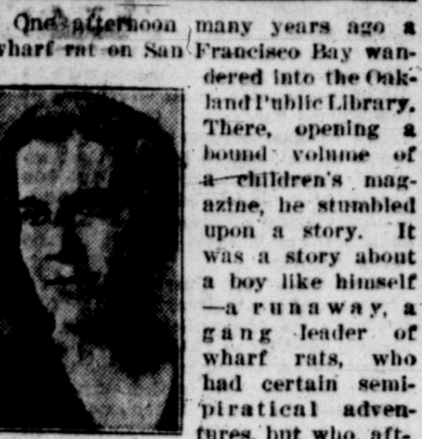

Coaches should be required by law to have a certain amount of credit in physical education, and the state board of education should give certain regulatory powers in order to deal with "mob enthusiasms" that has developed in several communities."

The Child Reader

by MARJORIE BARROWS
Editor, Child Life Magazine.

One afternoon many years ago a wharf rat on San Francisco Bay wandered into the Oakland Public Library. There, opening a bound volume of a children's magazine, he stumbled upon a story. It was a story about a boy like himself—a runaway, a gang leader of wharf rats, who had certain semi-practical adventures, but who, after a hard lesson, learned of better ways of living his life.

Making of Jack London. The dramatic, exciting story awoke in the young reader the uneasy consciousness of his own wrong actions. He walked out of that library resolving to lead just as adventurous a life but one that carried with it a clear conscience. So he joined the Fish Patrol, refused about the bay, fought poachers, and before long began to write stories about his adventures.

That boy was Jack London. The experience of this famous writer occurs, in a rather less dramatic fashion, in the life of every boy or girl. Careful investigators have discovered that next to persons, nothing has more influence on children than what they read. If a hero they admire acts under certain circumstances as they themselves would like to act, they'll remember it.

They imitate the hero. And when the time comes, they'll unconsciously be influenced by that hero's action and try to do likewise. The heroine's kindness, ambition, steadfastness, loyalty, the hero's resourcefulness, quick-wittedness, painstaking qualities, courage, magnanimity, modesty—all these examples "sink in" and are emulated both now and later. One story with hidden character-building values is worth a dozen sermons from parents or teachers.

Let us try to see that this sort of a story, full of plenty of adventure for the boy, full of interesting plots and characters for the girl, is convenient for them to pick up.

Jack London isn't the only one to be tremendously influenced by the printed word.

Lucky Scrap Jelly

Chip up pieces of candied fruit—you must have at least one-half cupful and you can use twice that amount if you like. If no candied fruit is around, use broken nut meats, or small bits of candy or raisins or dates stoned and finely cut.

Make 2 cupfuls of lemon or orange gelatine. Pour the gelatine into a mould and, when it is cool and begins to "set" add the diced candy. When serving time comes, turn the mould upside down over the serving dish. Wrap it tightly with a cloth wrung out of very hot water and the jelly will fall onto the dish.

A garnish of whipped cream or condensed milk, whipped, makes the dish prettier.—Child Life Magazine.

Size of the Stars

How large are the stars? To the average individual their size is hard to comprehend, but Dr. Edwin B. Frost, famous blind astronomer in Child Life Magazine, solves the problem. The sun, he says, is 350,000 times as large as the earth, and yet some huge stars are forty million times larger than the sun.

Budgeting Calories

Variety and Proper Seasoning Are the Secret of Successful Economy in the Preparation of Left-overs.

NOWADAYS, when all of us, from the bride who is taking her first steps in the kitchen to the experienced household manager, are keeping a strict watch on the family account book, it behooves us to give thought to the clever use of left-overs, particularly meats, which come most often in this class. One of the greatest virtues of French home cooking, one which has put the national cuisine on such a high level, is the artful use of what remains of today's dinner for another day's meal.

Variety and proper seasoning are the two vital points in making the left-over popular. Whenever possible it is wise to let a day elapse between the original entrance of the roast and its reappearance under another name. And that brings up another good rule—always change the form in which the food is prepared for the second serving. The remains of a roast of lamb, for instance, reheated on the bone, make a most unappetizing spectacle; but minced lamb pie, topped with highly browned mashed potatoes, and delicately seasoned with a little onion, salt, pepper and sugar, is a tempting dish for even the most sneaky. Careful seasoning is of utmost importance in bringing out all the flavor of the meat on the second heating. A large part of the French-woman's success can be laid to her inherited knowledge of seasoning, and she has always looked upon sugar as a seasoning for savory foods. Used this way, in small quantities, usually equal to the salt, it heightens flavors, blends other seasonings, and gives an added pliancy to the dish. A wise housewife keeps sugar, like salt and pepper, within easy reach for all seasoning purposes, especially for reclaiming the contents of the refrigerator.

Japan's Ill Wind Boon

TOKYO—Two effects of the times, otherwise unrelated, are combining to boost Japan's tourist trade. The United States requires its employees, including army and navy personnel, to take a month's vacation without pay. The yen, Japan's currency unit, has depreciated nearly 60 per cent in relation to the American dollar. This makes Japan an attractive vacation land for hundreds of Americans stationed in the Philippines and China with enforced leisure on their hands.

Fish Minus Mouth Caught

MISSOURI VALLEY, IA.—When Gladys Bybee, a small girl here, announced to her companions that she had caught a fish without a mouth, her story was greatly discounted. But Gladys showed them the fish. It was a fair-sized perch and it didn't have a mouth. The hook had snared it at the exact spot that the mouth ought to be.

Gold Found in Gizzard

SONORA, Cal.—When you are being careful not to kill the goose that laid the golden egg, better have a thought for the chickens, too. Robert Watson, miner at Brown's Flat, near here, discovered a nugget of gold worth $1.52 in the gizzard of a chicken he was preparing for his Sunday dinner recently.

One-Fourth Coinage

About one-fourth of the gold produced is used as coinage. The remainder is consumed in dentistry, jewelry, gilding and gold leaf work. It is believed that kissing originated from the desire of men to know whether their wives and daughters had tasted wine.

MEAT RATIONS FOUND IN ARCTIC HINT AT OLD POLAR TRAGEDY

Foods Packed Quarter Century Prove Pure in Chemical Tests

BACK from Franz Josef Land, that frigid, ice-clad grave-yard of many a dauntless polar explorer, there came recently to Armour and Company, Chicago meat packer, three cans of emergency rations packed more than a quarter century ago.

For at least thirty years those three cans—one of condensed soup, one of soup and bouilli, and one of beef, wheat and chocolate—have laid hidden in a cache in that vast Arctic region. Who placed them there and when they were stored are questions Armour and Company has been unable to answer. Old records have been consulted in vain. Oldest employees have racked their brains fruitlessly.

Few Clues Found. Only a few clues have been found. For one, there is an old account book which indicates that emergency rations were supplied in 1890 to E. Baldwin, a noted polar explorer of his day, and, in 1901 to one of the expeditions sent out by W. Zeigler, a wealthy American.

For another, the wording of the government inspection label on one of the cans clearly proves that it was packed after March 3, 1891, and prior to 1906. The labels otherwise afford little help. Only the word "Armour" is decipherable on the condensed soup. The emergency ration of beef, wheat and chocolate, reads "Armour Packing Co., Kansas City," and the soup and bouilli reads "Armour Canning Co., Chicago."

These cans found in Arctic may have been emergency rations of some intrepid explorer.

ed little to our knowledge of polar geography, but some useful meteorological, magnetic and tidal observations were made. Whether it was on either of these exploration ventures that the Arctic wastes are conjectures which probably never will be answered. Tests Prove Purely. Curiosity prompted a chemical analysis of the contents of these worn and battered cans which had for so many years reposed in the natural refrigeration of solid ice. Man's victim in bacteriological tests—the guinea pig—was called upon for the necessary sacrifices, but survived. Cultures of the organisms isolated were fed to guinea pigs with no ill effect," to quote the report of the case-hardened chemist who made the tests. From appearance and odor all three products were exceptionally well preserved. In the soup and bouilli, the beef had a good color and still retained its original cubic shape. Pieces of carrots present had retained their original color to a remarkable degree. There was, however, fat separation in both the soup and bouilli and in the condensed soup. This was the only objectionable feature found and this objection would prove no deterrent to starving men.

Scene of Third Sheriff Shooting in Month and Victim

Deputy Sheriff Joe Brown of Wise county was shot to death in his Rhome barber shop Friday to make the third Texas sheriff to be killed in a month. Others were Sheriff John C. Mosley of Tulsa and Deputy Malcolm Davis of Fort Worth. Two men and a woman were arrested for the shooting. He took them into his barber shop. Walter Looney, only witness to the shooting, is pictured left demonstrating how Brown was calling the Decatur sheriff's office as he was shot down. A woman, purported to be the one who drove the killer's car as it left Rhome, arrested at Childress Sunday night, but said she was forced by two men to drive the car as point.
