

INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATION SET TO OPEN TUESDAY

GRAND JURY REPORTS NO BILLS RETURNED AS BODY VOTES FOR BRIEF RECESS

Empaneled Monday Morning, Twelve Men Defer Work To Later Date

Due to desire of the body to make their deliberations as expeditious as might be possible the grand jury recessed Monday afternoon after having been in session but a few hours. No bills of indictment were reported. Foreman of the jury stated Tuesday morning that the body would resume its work July 2.

"We realized that the district judge could not be in Colorado at the present time to confer with members of the jury and receive, as the law directs, such reports as might be proper, and therefore elected to recess until the latter date," statement issued by the grand jury outlined.

Charge of the court as he empaneled the grand jury was very brief, due to desire of Judge Mauley to conclude opening of the term and return to his mother's bedside. "I am not going to deliver a lengthy charge to you gentlemen for two or three reasons," he said. "My aged mother is not expected to live but a few hours and I must return to be with her. You men understand your duties and I want you to retire to your chambers and get to work."

Anticipating that he might not return to Colorado for some days, Judge Mauley noted that the grand jury was not supposed to recess for more than three days without special consent of the court. "I am going to extend you that privilege now," he said. "You may adjourn at any time that you in your wisdom deem expedient."

Joe B. Mills of Colorado was appointed foreman of the jury. Other citizens making up the deliberating group include T. K. Bennett, A. F. Hledsee, Van Beeton, H. S. Beal, Joe H. Smoot, O. L. Simpson, A. K. McCarley, C. A. Anderson, C. M. Cooper, J. H. T. Johnson and A. L. McSpadden.

All criminal cases pending on the docket were continued for the term after that the court had announced that under conditions he probably could not devote proper attention to court matters. A number of civil causes were hurriedly called and set for trial during the second and third week. He expressed sincere appreciation of cooperation extended him by attorneys and other court attaches.

How that Senator Tom Connally remained in Washington after adjournment of congress to personally enter plea that Mitchell be added to list of West Texas drought relief counties became known in Colorado Wednesday after a United Press wire from the National capitol noted success of the petition.

"The chamber of commerce was so appreciative of the efforts advanced by Senator Connally in behalf of our farmers that I called him by telephone Wednesday to personally thank him," Greene declared. "The junior senator has ever manifested an interest in affairs of the people of West Texas and he certainly did not fail us in this instance."

Saturday, June 23, Greene telephoned Senator Connally in Washington to enter request that influences of the Texas be used in getting this county listed as entitled to relief under the Federal Emergency Agricultural Appropriation. BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION OF STATE GOVERNMENT IS PLEA OFFERED BY SMALL

Texas stands sorely in need of a leadership founded upon economic business and humanitarian principles, Senator Clint Small of Amarillo, candidate for governor, stated in address here Thursday morning.

The candidate spoke from the curb on Walnut street, using a public address system to carry his voice audibly to the several hundred people who heard him.

"The candidate for governor who comes around to tell you that he will reduce the tax burden to the minimum is letting loose a lot of bun that will not materialize," Small declared. "We must have taxes in Texas so long as we maintain a government in this State, and there is no way of avoiding that issue."

Small went on record as favoring legislation forcing the banks and insurance companies of Texas to bear expense of maintaining those supervising departments at Austin. "Such a program would save the people of Texas a million dollars annually," he said.

"Texas stands sorely in need of a more efficient department of government to cope with the wide spread of crime in this country. I shall encourage building our rapier and State police departments into a unit of government capable of coping with the organized outlawry so prevalent in Texas today. Give our law enforcement department men, transportation, arms and ammunition in sufficient quality and quantity to meet any demand."

The Texas pardon power as vested in the governor was attacked. "When I become governor of Texas it shall be my insistent demand that Texas people experience a new day in this respect. We should have three honorable, capable men appointed by the governor, one by the Supreme Court and one by the Attorney General on the Board of Pardons, and they should move over to Huntsville to better serve the responsible duties reposed upon them."

Brother Colorado
Woman Dies Friday
From Crash Injury

Mrs. Paul Snively returned home Sunday night from Stephenville where for ten days she had attended her brother, D. P. Haggard, who lingered several days in a hospital there suffering from injuries sustained in a car crash June 5. Mr. Haggard died Friday.

Following account of the tragedy and funeral services is reprinted from a Stephenville newspaper:

Funeral services for D. P. Haggard, 40, who did not regain consciousness from the time he was injured in a car crash June 5 until he died Friday, were held Saturday afternoon from the Lingleville Church of Christ.

Rev. Lemmons, minister of the Tolar church, was in charge of the rites. Hardin Funeral Home made arrangements.

A large crowd of friends from the Lingleville community, of which Mr. Haggard was a native, and from other parts of the county attended the funeral and flowers were banked high in the church and at the grave.

Mr. Haggard is survived by two sons and a daughter, the oldest, 19, and the youngest, 10. His wife died a little over a year ago. The sons are A. D. and Clifton, and the daughter, youngest member of the family, is Lucille.

Other survivors are Mr. Haggard's mother, Mrs. Lizzie Haggard; Lingleville; three sisters, Mrs. J. A. Moss, Lingleville; Mrs. Jennie Livingston, Stephenville, and Mrs. Paul Snively, Colorado; four brothers, Tom Haggard, Sedgwick; Oliver and Allen Haggard of California, and Fred Haggard, Lingleville.

Mr. Haggard was injured June 5 when the car he was driving and a delivery truck driven by Delton Geselin of Dublin crashed at the Clinton Avenue and Frey street intersection. Mr. Haggard received a deep scalp wound and suffered brain concussion. He was unconscious 10 days before he died.

Bill Tarver received a broken arm, and his son, Haskell, was badly bruised. They were riding with Mr. Haggard. Geselin escaped with minor injuries.

Want RFC Money?
Well, Here Is Way
To Obtain Loan

Business houses seeking loans direct from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation under the act authorizing such loans for the next six months, must meet a long list of requirements.

They must: Be members of the NRA. Have been in business Jan. 1, 1934.

Apply to the nearest loan agency of the RFC—there are 32. Supply adequate security. Be solvent when they get the loan. Be unable to get a loan from their bank.

Show the loan will increase or maintain employment. Not ask for over $500,000. Declare no dividends without the consent of the RFC.

Let the RFC dictate officers' salaries. Pay prevailing bank loan interest rates.

Not plan new construction except replacements or improvements to increase employment. Not be engaged in import and export business. Not deal in foreign acceptances or bills of exchange.

If a contractor needing working capital, give security other than assignments of their contracts. No loans can be made under the law, an amendment to the RFC act, after Dec. 31, 1934. Disbursements may be made after Jan. 1, 1935, however, if where the borrower has not previously claimed all of the principal of the loan.

The loans are to be made for three to five years, the law allowing 3-year loans with a two-year extension privilege.

The corporation is authorized to work with the commercial banks and Federal Reserve banks. In many instances loans will be divided into three sections, each agency taking part of the loan.

Applications for loans will not be accepted in the Washington office. They must be made at the nearest branch agency. Inquirers may, however, get from Washington RFC circular No. 13, this explaining requirements.

The agencies are at: Atlanta; Birmingham, Ala.; Boston; Charlotte, N. C.; Chicago; Cleveland; Dallas; Denver; Detroit; El Paso, Tex.; Helena, Mont.; Houston, Tex.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Kansas City, Mo.; Little Rock, Ark.; Los Angeles; Louisville, Ky.; Minneapolis; Nashville, Tenn.; New Orleans; New York; Oklahoma City; Omaha; Philadelphia; Portland, Ore.; Richmond, Va.; Salt Lake City; San Antonio, Tex.; San Francisco; Seattle, Wash.; Spokane, Wash.; and St. Louis.

NRA GOES INTO ACTION

During the week ending June 23, 1934, the Houston NRA office, adjusted 64 complaints alleging violations of NRA codes, 25 of which cases involved restitutions of back wages, totaling $5,533.85, paid to 212 employees.

Up to June 23, 1934, the Houston office had handled 1744 complaints, 703 of which had been completely adjusted and 160 of the cases involved restitution of $15,785.28 to 665 employees.

Acting unadjusted complaints still in process of adjustment in the files of the Houston office total 563.

The collecting of $5,533.85 in back wages in one week's time is the largest amount of restitution of back wages effected in any one week of the efforts of the NRA Houston office. This indicates a growing interest on the part of the public to have compliance with NRA codes, indicates a better cooperation on the part of employees to report violations, and add in all shows a more cooperative spirit on the part of every one. Of course it is well known by now that employees who report violations of codes are protected by the Executive Order of the President of May 21, which makes it an offense, punishable by $500 fine or six months in prison or both, for an employer to dismiss or demote an employee for filing a complaint or giving information relating to a complaint alleging violation of a code of fair competition.

Cosden Oilers Are Defeated In Battle
With Lorraine Team

LORRAINE—The Cosden Oilers had a lot of practice in a tilt with Lorraine Saturday when they lost to the Mitchell county team by the score of 24-15. Although they out-hit the victors by the margin of 26-11 in one inning to emerge the winner.

After a steady first inning, both teams took turns at slugging it out and a total of seven pitchers were paraded to the mound in an attempt to stop the tide.

Riggs led the Cosdenites with four hits, but all save Sam Sain, blasted out at least two hits.

The Oilers met their nemesis in the second frame when Lorraine scored fourteen runs. Each man batted at least twice during the inning and Henderson succeeded in going to the plate three times.

Martin started for the Oilers but soon left it to Sam Sain, who in turn gave way to "Skeet" West and Lefty Baber.

Ira Coffee smashed out a home run for Lorraine in the seventh which cleared the left field stands.

Pat Patton came through with three doubles to lead the Oilers in extra base blows.

AGED MOTHER OF JUDGE
A. S. MAUZEY SUGGUMBS
AT NOLAN COUNTY HOME

Pioneer Citizen Is Buried At Decker Wednesday After Services At Home

SWEETWATER—Death has taken from those fast thinning ranks of pioneers another long-time resident of Nolan County. After spending more than a third of a century in the same community, Mrs. Manda Elizabeth Mauzey, 79, succumbed to a short illness at 5:10 P. M. Tuesday.

Nearly half of her life had been spent in the little Decker community, about 18 miles south of Sweetwater, where she died at the family home. She had moved there from Bosque County 35 years ago. Mr. Mauzey died at the same age, 79, in 1917.

The community of Decker has been identified with the Mauzey family, often having been referred to as "Mauzey Corners."

Possibly the best known of her children is Judge A. S. Mauzey of Sweetwater, judge of the 32nd district judicial court, appointed to the position by former Gov. Ross S. Sterling and since that time reelected by an overwhelming majority.

She was living at Decker with her son, Jesse Mauzey, as she had done since her husband's death. For many years she had been a member and worker in the Methodist church.

Funeral services were held from the family home at Decker at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with the Rev. D. A. Ross of Westbrook officiating.

Burial was in the community cemetery, under direction of the Doran-Yates Funeral Home of Sweetwater.

Mrs. Mauzey is survived by four sons and four daughters, including Judge Mauzey; M. T. Mauzey, of Dallas; Jesse Mauzey, of Decker; W. C. Mauzey, of Decker; Mrs. J. W. Whitt, Tipton, Okla.; Mrs. M. E. Sedberry, and Mrs. R. Lanier, Decker; Mrs. M. C. Leach of Blackwell. Two brothers, J. D. Crowe of Sweetwater and Frank Crowe of Fort Worth also survive, as does a niece, Mrs. W. L. Wilson. A granddaughter, Mrs. Andy Pruitt, Mr. Pruitt and their son of Big Spring attended her last rites. Two nephews, Mark Sedberry of Carlbad, N. M., and J. E. Crowe and family of Albany also attended funeral services for Mrs. Mauzey.

LEAD AS FIRST CONTESTS IN LEAGUE BOUTS STAGED

Indoor Ball League Formed
By Members Lions Club
Attract Interest

Teams Nos. 3 and 4, marshalled by Raymond Gary and Jim Cantrill, are off with a good threat to cop pennant in the recently organized Lions Club league, with odds to win leaning to the Cantrill aggregation.

Organization of the league was perfected Monday after the service organization voted Friday directing that four teams be formed and entered for competition. Initial game was played Monday afternoon on grounds east of Hutchinson school between Teams Nos. 2 and 3, piloted by Raymond Gary and Jake Richardson, respectively.

In the opening tilt some stellar playing was enacted to furnish thrills for sideline customers. The Gary charges, however, took off for a substantial lead from the start and were never seriously threatened by their antagonists. The score was 27 to 13.

That Cantrill has collected several of the best players carrying membership in the Lions Club was demonstrated Wednesday afternoon when his club was pitted against team No. 1, of which Tom Marsh is captain. Big Jim called an important business trip to an adjoining county in that he be present to lead and inspire his charges. It was apparent that his presence and outstanding playing had effect, as his men followed him to a 39 to 12 victory.

The game was too one-sided to be of much interest through five innings. The Cantrillmen had run up more than thirty runs with only one registered to account of the Marsh following. But the latter rallied his forces in the seventh and accounted for eight runs.

John R. Baze is umpiring the games. Schedule calls for games twice a week on Monday and Thursday afternoons at 6:45 o'clock.

MISS COOPER DECIDES TO KEEP POSITION IN C. H. S.

Announcement was made this week by John E. Watson, superintendent of Colorado schools, that Miss Octavine Cooper will continue as head of the vocational commercial department of Colorado High School in spite of an offer to fill a similar position in Sweetwater High School.

Miss Cooper stated in a communication to Watson this week that she feels she will be better satisfied teaching in Colorado. She has headed the vocational commercial department here since it was introduced into the high school about six years ago.

AIR MAIL POSTAGE CUT

There is to be a reduction in air mail postal rates, effective July 1, Postmaster J. Y. Fraser stated Wednesday afternoon. The rate after that date will be six cents per ounce, a reduction of two cents from the amount now in force.

Mystery, Romance,
Western Fiction
Added To Library

Mystery, romance, and western fiction are included in the list of eighteen new books added to the Mitchell County Library in the City Hall the past few weeks.

There are two mystery novels, "Nothing Venture" by Patricia Wentworth, and "Out of the Dark" by Gertrude Knevels.

Five of the books are western. They are "Red Clark o' Tulluco" by Gordon Young; "Spy Glass Range" by George M. Johnson; "The Mormon Trail" by George E. Rodney; "Forbidden Valley" by William Byron Mowery; and "Slow Joe" by Max Brand.

The romance fiction includes Kathleen Norris' "Walls of Gold," Agnes Louise Provost's "The Closed Door," Ruth Wright's "Tourist Third," Mateel Farnham's "Lost Laughter," Elizabeth Hamilton Herber's "Sold for a Song," Therese Benson's "The Fourth Lovely Lady," Florence L. Barclay's "Guy Mervin," Barbara Weeks' "Three Who Were Strong," Ishbell Ross' "Promenade Peak," Clarence Buddington Kelland's "Speak Easily," and Arthur Somers Roche's "The Gracious Lady."

Burglars Escape
After Breaking Into Hermleigh Stores

Burglaries of a grocery, a hardware store, and a service station in Hermleigh Sunday night were attributed to four desperadoes who escaped early Sunday from Lubbock county jail taking two men as hostages.

Tires and tubes, gasoline and oil, ammunition and weapons, food, and camping equipment were included in the loot, as was a small amount of cash.

The fugitives, Ed (Perchmouth) Stanton, sentenced to death; Andrew H. Nelson and J. B. Stephens, burglaries, and William E. Doupe, together with two other men, were together when they released their two hostages Sunday night nine miles northeast of Big Spring.

Walter S. Posey, vice president of First National bank at Lubbock, and Campbell H. Elkins, acting justice of the peace, the men the prisoners kidnaped, told officers the quartet needed tires and tubes for the automobile they took from Elkins.

The prisoners wedged open two doors in a Lubbock county jail cell block, undressed, soaped their bodies and crawled through the narrow openings.

When Deputy Sheriff Bedford Carpenter went to feed them, they overpowered him, took his gun, took a machine gun, two rifles and two shotguns from the sheriff's gun case. They fled with Posey and Elkins, who were in the jail lobby.

A new kitchen was built on east side and the original shop has new fixtures throughout, including exclusive electrical refrigeration. Both interior and exterior of the building has new paint.

Article In Sunday Star-Telegram On Methodism Of Special Interest Here

Of special interest to Coloradans, particularly Methodists who have lived here over a number of years, was the article in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram Sunday about early Methodist organization in this section.

The article was the last of a series of twelve articles by Rev. M. Phelan of Hamilton on the history of Texas Methodism, written because Methodists are this year observing the hundredth anniversary of the establishment of Methodism in this state.

Some excerpts of special interest to Colorado are as follows:

"Out in West Texas things began to boom when the Texas & Pacific Railroad built through in 1880-81. Abilene, Sweetwater, Colorado, Big Spring, Midland and several way stations came into existence. There appeared to be no limits to the westward trend of population. Says W. R. D. Sturton in a letter from 'Snyder's Ranch,' in Tom Green County, in 1882: 'I thought surely I would be on the frontier when I reached this outside line of our church operations, but they talk out West here just as we do 300 miles east of here. Stock ranches extend clear out on the Plains. We shall never be able to keep up with our people up here. We need our preachers. More preachers are wanted—preachers of common sense and Christian devotion. If you want to preach to the poor, go to our cities in the East; if to the rich, come out West. One man sold his cattle for $150,000; another for $225,000.'

"The Abilene district came into existence, with J. T. L. Annis in charge with A. D. Gaskill at Abilene, R. F. Dunham at Sweetwater and B. J. H. Thomas in charge of Colorado and Big Spring. Gaskill has a new station at Abilene," writes the elder. "New town, new people, new church in fact everything new in this booming West. Abilene is a western wonder, my dear brother, now about 85,000 people. Concerning settlements, he writes: 'Just home from Colorado City where I held the quarterly conference for Colorado.' At Big Spring,

These two appointments constitute the entire charge, as there is nothing else in the country. Colorado City is new, not yet two years old, but boasts of from 2,000 to 4,000 people, headquarters of all the stockmen in that country. A new brick church had been contracted for at Colorado, to cost $4,000. It was to have stained glass windows and a fine steeple."

"Thirty years ago West Texas looked undeveloped compared with the way it looks today. In 1904 the old Colorado district was created by Bishop Hoss, who put J. T. Griswold in charge. Up to that time the Abilene district had embraced everything in West Texas, covering a period of nearly 25 years. But the great Plains country was just beginning to attract attention, and people were moving in that direction. That was the last part of the West to come into its own. The old geographies named that portion of West Texas the 'Llano Estacado, or Staked Plains,' and it was represented on the maps as a sort of desert or waste land. People began to find out better, and they began to push up over the Cap Rock. The old Colorado district extended from the Texas & Pacific Railroad to points beyond Plainview, and on to the line of New Mexico. Lubbock was a small wooden town which boasted of being farther from any railroad than any town in the United States. Any one who made a trip to that point 30 years ago in the 'mail hack' with a pair of little jiggling nules could well believe that the claim was justified. There was something primitive about our work out there in the old Colorado district for a few years—distances very long—services in school houses—meetings under brush arbor, and such meetings! Everybody went and they were in no hurry to leave. Boys, didn't we have the good times of our lives?"

"But changes were coming fast. Within two years the work of the Colorado district was divided and a new district created, the Plainview, with G. S. Hardy in charge. And then came the railroads, criss-crossing the Plains and pushing into nearly every out-of-the-way place, and suddenly everything seemed to reach maturity, full development and perfection—almost."

$10,000 Reward Posted For Taking Of John Dillinger

Attorney General Cummings Saturday offered a reward of $10,000 for the capture of John Dillinger, the desperado, and $5,000 for his fellow-gangster, Lester M. Gillis, alias George (Baby Face) Nelson.

He also announced $5,000 would be paid for information leading to Dillinger's arrest and $2,500 for similar information about Gillis.

Posting of the rewards followed a conference of Justice Department officials at which plans were made for beginning a comprehensive campaign against crimes of violence that fell under Federal statutes.

In this they will be aided by a number of laws passed at the late session of Congress.

Dillinger is sought on the charge of transporting a stolen automobile across a State line, and Gillis is wanted in connection with the murder of W. Carter Baum, special agent of the Department of Justice near Rhineland, Wis., on April 23.

Dillinger's records in the hands of the department go back to Sept. 15, 1924, when he was sentenced to prison to twenty years in the Penitentiary (Ind.) reformatory for assault and battery. Transferred to the Michigan City penitentiary, Dillinger was paroled on May 10, 1933.

He was rearrested in Dayton, Ohio, in September, 1933, after revocation of his parole and was placed in the county jail at Lima, Ohio charged with bank robbery Sept. 28.

Escaping Oct. 12, he was apprehended three months later in Tucson, Ariz. He was taken to Crown Point, Ind., where he staged his wooden gun escape.

He is described as 31 years old, five feet seven and one-eighth inches tall, weighing 158 pounds, of medium build and medium complexion with gray eyes. His occupation is listed as machinist.

Gillis was arrested in Chicago as George Nelson Jan. 15, 1931, and sentenced to from one year to life on the charge of robbery. He escaped from jail Feb. 17, 1932.

Gillis' age was given as 25, his height five feet four and three-fourths inches, weight 133 pounds, medium-build, yellow and gray eyes, light complexion. He is an older.

Discusses Issues

Senator Small did not call any names in making reference to his opponents, but Jimmy Allred came in for attack on several scores.

"The attorney general is going over Texas crying against a great utilities monopoly, a lobbying trust and other evils, but he has nothing to say about law enforcement. I am here to state that Texas has the most drastic anti-lobbying law of any State in the Union and the Supreme Court recently held it constitutional in spite of holding to the contrary by the attorney general."

"What is the attorney general going to do about the liquor situation in Texas? We have open saloons in all of the larger cities of this State, many of them more elaborate than in the days before we heard of Mr. Volstead. One of the most conspicuous of these is located in the city of San Antonio, not far from the attorney general's campaign headquarters, but he makes no outcry against them. Recall the day when we had an attorney general in Texas who would padlock such institutions as these."

The candidate concluded another strenuous evening after delivering Thursday evening of the day in Stamford at 8 P. M. After speaking in Colorado Senator Small spoke in Lorraine, Roscoe, Snyder, Roby and Anson before speaking in Stamford.

Friday he was scheduled to speak at Albany, Throckmorton, Seymour, Munday and Haskell.

Novalee Groom Tells How She Won In Recent Bedroom Improvement Contest

Beginning with an unceded 12x12 bedroom furnished only with an iron bed, an ice chest, and an old trunk, Novalee Groom, 4-11 club girl of Lone Star, created a bedroom for herself which won the Mitchell County Bedroom Improvement contest recently. She tells how she did it in the following article:

What girl would not get a thrill out of improving her very own room? When I signed up as bedroom demonstrator in my club the first thing I did was to have it scoured to find out just what and where to work. My room is a 12x12 shed room built on to the kitchen and living room. Exposures in the north and west. It seemed that after the room had been scoured by the judge that there were so many things to be done at my brother said "I think you ought to resign, we cannot afford to do all of that improving." But my mother said the time was long off and maybe we could do it. The room did not even have a ceiling and how terrible the old conglomeration was, the grandmother had tacked on to keep out some of the dust, looked like old building paper and cardboard boxes had been tacked on to make the room warmer in winter and to keep out some of the dust and how messy and like a shed the room appeared. I did not have a clothes closet or a curtain up to hang my clothes in, just nails on the wall exposing them to dust and light. The windows had no curtains and the shades I had were dark gray, torn and old. I did have a very comfortable iron bed and a new mattress so I had the main essentials of a bedroom after all. Also imagine a high school girl without a dresser or mirror in her room. Well that was my predicament. An ice chest and an old trunk with my bed and chair comprised my furniture for my room.

The bedroom walls and ceiling are the background for the furnishings, so in my case the first thing was to get the ceiling fixed. Mother wrote to our landlord to see if he would consent to have the room celled. When the day came to investigate the cost of this improvement, we found that ship lath was the cheapest material we could find at the local lumber yard. Enough lumber was left to build the frame of my clothes closet. So I wrote to Miss Gunter, the county home demonstration agent that I had my frame built for my closet and wanted her to help with the shelves and covering of the walls. Cardboard boxes from stores in Colorado were torn down and tacked on the closet walls and the lumber yard gave us a scrap of beaverboard for our door. The ceiling and closet were the first great improvements made and then came the walls. A small floral design was chosen at a local paint and paper shop. We tore off all of the old tacked on paper that we could and papered the room and how much lighter and cleaner the room looked. We also remarked that the room looked larger since it was papered. Scraps of lumber were brought in and they were then oiled. My floor was in very good condition but had never been refinished. I used lubricating oil, vinegar and kerosene put on hot, for the finish.

With my walls, woodwork and floor finished, I turned to my furniture. If you have never had a truly personal piece of furniture why not try making yourself a dressing table out of two orange boxes, some paint, nails and a skirt, with a mirror to complete the vanity. The yellow percale drapery on mine reminds one of a little girl dressed up for a party. My stool was made from a nail keg, having two coats of ivory paint on it and a padded cushion to top it off.

As I said before I had a good bedstead and mattress. Realizing that the bed is the most important thing in a bedroom, since eight hours per day are spent on it. My room being so small and having the double bed in it, I decided to paint the bed a French gray color so that it would not appear so large.

We removed the paint on it by applying a lye paste to soften the old finish and then scraped it. My aunt gave five slats so that I would have enough to have one slat under each coil of springs, this making the springs last longer as well as giving more comfort. Mother made a mattress cover out of an old striped ticking that we had on hand. I used an old thin quilt for the mattress pad. While all of this work was going on we finished my wedding ring quilt for my bed. Now with my bed completely clothed I have the most comfortable bed.

Even though the bed is the most important piece of furniture in the bedroom, no girl can do without a clothes closet with shelves in one end for storing lenses, shoes, folded garments and boxes; and a rod to hang the wearing apparel. Even my brother wants to put his shoes in my closet. My father said: "I wish now we had bought the lumber and built a real closet for it took just as much time to build this one." But we might not have had one if we had waited to get the lumber.

A hanging wall desk was made from two dried fruit boxes and some scrap lumber. This was painted on the inside with ivory paint left from painting my vanity dresser. A cane bottom chair was refinished with oil and a cushion added. A waste paper basket was converted from a cracker box and painted green. After all of this work then came the work on my windows. The screens were gone over and retacked. One window pane was mended so that it would not rain in on my new shades. We bought some cheap shades but the county home demonstration agent asked me to change them with the ones we had in the living room since bedroom shades are used more than those in the living room. A friend gave me some old discarded worn curtains that I had to cut off the worn ends and piece them out. After laundering them they look fresh and crisp and make the windows attractive.

Even a girl in our club is supposed to work on bathing facilities, so that was my next problem. A very substantial box was nailed to the wall and covered with oil cloth. I have a wash pan and pitcher, a soap dish and a towel rack for my equipment. All of this cost me 44 cents. To make my room more private, my father removed a door from the dining room into the kitchen and placed it between my room and kitchen. I can now go to my room and be to myself, read, write, work or rest.

Necessaries in a bedroom are like those for a costume, they must be chosen for color, interest and appropriateness. I used an old pickle jar for a vase. A calendar, a picture and a motto add all of the above to my room. Also a shelf was built to store my lamp on when I am not using it. My braided rug not only adds interest but serves a purpose by my bedside, costing nothing at all, as it was made from discarded clothing.

I have spent three dollars and 8 cents actual cash and have had ten dollars and sixty five cents worth of gifts. An itemized account of what was bought and that given me and materials used make a total of thirteen dollars and seventy three cents.

In conclusion I will say that my brother likes my room and my father likes to sit in it and just look around, my mother enjoys it and I feel sure my little sister and I will certainly enjoy using it since it is livable, convenient, restful, and very easy to keep clean. I am looking forward to winning the trip to A. & M. College and will expect to attend the bedroom improvement banquet if I win.

'Trails End,' Bit Of Verse Offered By A Subscriber

Recently one Colorado pitizer passed through a party-completed home costing between three and four hundred thousand dollars. It will contain nine suits of three rooms each, and due to its owner being fond of the hunting trail, he named the wonderful place, "Trails End."

The following bit of rhyme is passed on to other Coloradans who may appreciate its simplicity and sincerity.

"TRAILS END"

When completed, a massive mansion Trails End will be; Built of imported stone and choicest hardwood. The quality of all, far better than good. Visitors are permitted; so we enter Trails End to see. Then passing through one spacious room, with its fireplace rare, In the hall, we climb a high and winding stair. To the upper floors of Trails End.

As we go from grand suite to grander suite, and look, Our thoughts are friendly toward a wealthy and fortunate man, Who, in carrying out his "Build A Better Home" plan,

Will leave himself a monument, because he took Of his money, and livelihood to others, does give.

While the skilled workman and merchant now work, earn and live, As they build and furnish "Trails End."

I'll never have money to build a house, long, wide and high; But with mistakes, I want to do all I possibly can.

To play life's game fair, and be a real he-man's man. There no one will leave more pleasant memories than I, Even though many creditors claim huckle-shack on the hill.

I'll be happy to deserve my friends calling me plain old "Bill," 'Till death brings me to my "Trails End."

Rebelle will appreciate your vote for County Clerk.

Religious Bodies Would Boycott Immoral Films

CINCINNATI, Ohio.—Leaders of three great religious faiths moved Friday night to wipe the dirt from the Nation's silver-screens.

The executive committee of the Federal Council of Churches urged members of twenty-five Protestant denominations of the United States and Canada to remain away from objectionable films and from the theaters showing them frequently.

Asserting that protests of parents, churches, schools, women's organizations and other groups interested in safeguarding youth had been treated with scant respect, the committee declared the time had come for more drastic action.

Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church pressed forward to expand their "legion of decency" and to enforce through the box office their de-

THE GOOD SHEPHERD

In our workaday lives we are prone to accept alien leadership. All too often we follow strange voices and set our lives to the key of mis-leading maxims. It will be recalled that David, Haron said: "I do unto the other fellow what he's goin' to do to me, and do it first." The course of this world is against God. The carnal man is not subject to the law of God, neither can he be. The man in the street does not follow the leadership of the Shepherd of our souls. He goes on his self-centered way, forgetful of the gracious heritage that can be his if he falls in with the overtures of mercy and accepts Christ as his shepherd and Lord.

In discussing the love he held in his heart for his sheep, Jesus refers to the wolves which lie in wait for the unsuspecting lambs. There are wolves everywhere, but after all, the wolf in our own heart is the one which mostly besets us. Victor Hugo said: "There's an untamed tiger in every man," and Paul recognized this fact when he said: "Who shall deliver me from the body of this death?" Through the long centuries Christian men and women have speculated on Paul's thorn in the flesh. We do not know what it was, but we know what ours is. It may be sickness, or it may be an unbounding sorrow, but it is more likely some persistent sore that clings to us like manacles on a criminal's hands. The sinners is not the only one that is held captive by the Devil at his will. That oft times applies to the Christian.

In one of his books Dr. Carroll tells of an imaginary colloquy between Jesus and Satan. One of the Christians had gone into a liquor saloon and while there he became intoxicated. When Jesus reproachburn up more energy and handicap more individuals than anything I know the human family indulges in. It makes us unfit for work, dulls hope and oftentimes brings disaster. There is no substitute for work, no piece of mind, in accumulating for life, and making certain our future.

I remember when a young man, my teacher said, "So, you don't have a good mind, the trouble is you don't use it," and how often I recall that admonition now, and looking back on those years I count them as loss, for after getting control of my faculties (coming to my senses) I had no trouble in earning a competency and gathered some of the world's goods.

Its Saturday night and this brings to my mind another incident. An old man, was sitting by a stream fishing. Across the river I approached, threw in a line and called to my neighbor on the other side, "Any luck?" "No," said the old man. "I bought an annuity a number of years ago and have sufficient means on which to live, and I just fish to pass the time away." What a monotony!

To my many readers of the column and friends, we are a generation of wandering sheep. The percentage in the line of Christ was one in a hundred, but the ratio seems much greater now. True there were temptations in those days. There always have been, but one wonders time and again whether there are not more beguilements for our hearts and more traps for our unwary feet now than ever in the history of our world.

Our only hope, comfort and safety is in the God, Shepherd, if we in honest hearts can say, "The Lord is my Shepherd," we need have no fear. It is only when he is neglected as our shepherd, or when we wander after strange gods or hug to our hearts indulgences unbecoming to Christian men and women that we need to be alarmed. The oversight of Christ is perennially ours if we only accept his leadership. If we will follow him in the bright light of prosperity and glowing health he will lead us safely when the shadows fall.

And there will come a time somewhere down the way of life when we reach the journey's end, and most of all we will need the good shepherd then. It is no wonder that men who do not know Christ are afraid to die. Well they may be. While now and then some fainting Christian fails to see his way as he nears the end, he may be assured in his heart that the good Shepherd is leading him on and that when he reaches the Jordan of death the waves will part as they did when Joshua let the children of Israel to the Canaan land.

I know all of my readers will join me in regret that we have not confided more lovingly in the good Shepherd. If we had our lives to live over again I feel in my heart that we would place our trembling hands in his and follow his leadership through every step of life's way.

IT'S SATURDAY NIGHT
As I sit at the age of 74 am thinking of the past. Am thinking good-will on my part is widespread among men. Hope and happiness prevail in the hearts of humankind on my part. Its a time with me when bygones should be remembered no more and the house placed in order for the short future which is before us, when the mind of the great human family should approach as near as possible the plan of the Master.

Its Saturday night and we have just conversed with a man slightly beyond our age, set as the days of those who by chance may be granted a longer pilgrimage than is allotted those made in the image of God. This man who by diligence has accumulated a large share of this world's goods, made some observations that have set our mind in a whirl, suggestions that are as true as light, truths that all will come ultimately to register as fundamental, yet truths that are denied by all at certain stages of life.

Its Saturday night, I have just returned from a visit to the country where I spent many happy days. There I found much complaining, much self-pity and little work. I tell you self-pity and complaining

That is all very well you say, but how can a boy know what kind of work he is fitted to do. The answer is that a man who has brains enough to do one thing well can do another with equal success. Artists are exception, of course. They are born with a talent denied by others.

But this talk of round peg in square holes is nine parts nonsense. As a general rule, the man who talks in a square hole wouldn't do much better in a round one. Success in any case depends upon brains, and the man who has brains enough to win in one field can win in another.

The important thing is to find the best market for brains and train yours for that purpose.

WOMEN, GIRLS' CLUB NEWS
By MISS EMMA GUNTER, Home Demonstration Agent

To show how to "make the best you have better" was the purpose of the girls club meeting at Novalee Groom's when the North Champion and the Lone Star Girls met for the bedroom improvement program. The work of the bedroom demonstrator is not complete until she has helped some of her cooperators accomplish their goals. This year the cooperators were to refresh a chair for their bedroom and to add some type of bathing equipment in their bedroom. After singing songs and listening to the story of the room improvement the girls voted to send hand lotion to make their part of Rally Day Fund and for the delegates to Short Course.

Those attending were: Louise Gray, Dorothy Kidd, Ruth Kidd and Verla Mae Green, and Etta Lee Martin, Faye Martin, Marie Barron, Billie Jean Barron, Nina Pearl Groom, with Mrs. Groom and Novalee as hostesses. Mrs. Martin also was a visitor.

A man speeded up to see if he could beat the train to the crossing. He couldn't.

A man touched an electric wire to see if it was charged. It was. A man cut out his advertising to see if he could save money. He went broke.

Since the motto for June has been "Let Us Show You," Melba Ruth Adams, bedroom demonstrator for the Case girls club held open house Thursday so that the other club members and friends could see just what had been done. Another bedroom demonstrator, Jauree Barford of Rogers club visited this club and both girls told of their work in improvement. Club songs were sung and then discussion on making the club dress were given. After this, the bedroom was looked over and the importance of the bed and clothes closet were stressed as the most essential things in the bedroom. These were emphasized this year.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to the girls by Mrs. Adams, the club sponsor.

Caught in the real act of working was the case of Mrs. W. A. Webb and Mr. Webb when the county home demonstration agent dropped in to see just what was being done along the bedroom improvement work. Mrs. Webb is improvement demonstrator for her club and has been working consistently. She was kalsomining the walls of her bedroom and Mr. Webb was doing the ceiling. Between acts the tufted bedspread is being worked on and will be finished for the final day. The floor being old and splintery, was to receive a coat of hot oil, kerosene

The Plainview home demonstration club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Shepherd with 8 member present. Plans for the Rally Day and the six-months report were discussed. Further plans for sending the delegate, Mrs. L. M. Jones to A & M Short Course were talked. Mrs. J. C. Shepherd was elected as alternate. Some brought their embroidery and quilt scraps to work on. Aniced fruit drink and cookies were served.

CHEVROLET In the face of the biggest demand in years, right when the trend toward Chevrolet is at its peak, Chevrolet reduces prices! No wonder America was startled when this news flashed across the country just a few days ago. And now that the public has had a chance to figure out what this price reduction means in terms of greater value, the news becomes even more important than before. Because it means that Chevrolet now offers you a big, substantial, quality car with the famous valve-in-head engine for as little as $465, f. o. b. Flint, Mich.—making it by far the lowest-priced Six in the world. It means that you can get enclosed Knee-Action, Blue-Flame performance, cable-controlled brakes, and all the other big advancements of the day, for as much as $35.00 less than before—and Chevrolet's former prices were already among the lowest of the low. It means, in short, that Chevrolet now presents America with the finest buy the low-price field has ever seen.

PAY DELINQUENT TAXES NOW and ESCAPE TAX PENALTIES

NOW....

IS THE TIME TO SAVE THEM!

FOR EXAMPLE—Suppose that Mr. A. owes $100 State and County taxes delinquent on his property for the year 1931. If he pays these taxes on or before June 30, 1934, the penalty thereon will be only six percent and the total amount he will pay will be $106. But if he pays the same taxes on or after July 1, 1934, he is legally required to pay $10 penalty and $15 interest and $1.00 cost, making his total payment $126. He will save $20 by paying now.

Suppose Mr. B. owes $800 state and county taxes delinquent in 1920. If he pays same on or before June 30th the penalty thereon will be 6 percent and the total amount due will be $848. But if he waits until July 1, 1934, or thereafter he will have to pay 95 percent interest (6 percent for thirteen years), plus ten per cent penalty or a total payment of $14674. He will save $874 by paying now.

The penalty on State and County taxes delinquent for the year 1932 and prior years will increase on July 1st, 1934 from 6 percent to 10 percent.

After July 1st, also, interest at 6 percent per annum from date of delinquency will be required by law. NO INTEREST is charged on delinquent taxes that are paid before July 1.

The following table shows the total penalty and interest on taxes back to 1922, and the saving if paid before July 1st.

CHEVROLET ENGINES USED ONLY AFTER SEVERE TEST AS TO ENDURING FEATURES

Motor In Current Use Built Year Ago. Authority Says In Recent Address

How W. S. Knudsen's desire to possess a phenomenally powerful but compact engine for a small racing boat resulted in the discovery of new principles of combustion control that are now reflected in improved automobile performance has been told finally by Alex Taub, internationally known as an authority on internal combustion engines. He related the story at Detroit recently in an address outlining 1934 automotive developments, as an illustration of how engineers meet demands for the seemingly impossible.

"In 1931," said Mr. Taub, a member of the Chevrolet experimental engineering staff, "William S. Knudsen, then president of Chevrolet, requested the engineering department to design an engine of only 150 cubic inches that would develop 85 horsepower, for installation in a 17-foot racing boat. The order was a tall one, since at that time the standard Chevrolet engine was of 191 cubic inches displacement and delivered 55 horsepower. To obtain 85 per cent more horsepower with 22 per cent less displacement looked like an almost impossible job."

"However," Mr. Knudsen insisted that nothing but an engine designed by his own engineering staff would suit him; but he added one of his characteristic remarks: "You fellows go ahead, and remember that you are dealing with a man accustomed to disappointments. Do what you can."

"We got busy seeking to find out how we could get what Mr. Knudsen wanted, and out of our efforts came a new principle of cylinder-head design and fuel combustion control. Instead of the 85 horsepower requested, 88 horsepower was obtained. Based on its cubic-inch displacement, that little motor was the equal of any non-supercharged aviation engine in use today."

"These results were so gratifying that we immediately planned to adopt the new principle in Chevrolet engines. Having discovered a principle that would give 88 horsepower with only 150 cubic inches displacement, it was comparatively easy for us to obtain 80 horsepower with 206 cubic inches; that is, with only 12 cubic inches additional displacement, we gained 25 more horsepower. This engine—which we call the 'blue flame' engine because of the characteristics of its fuel combustion—was introduced with our 1934 models. Yet, in the fall of 1932, when dealers came to the proving ground to have their first look at the 1933 cars, a Chevrolet with this blue flame engine was chasing around the track at 80 miles an hour. We had the job ready then, but nobody outside our own organization knew it. We were ready a year ahead of time—and that is an illustration of what we call 'long distance' engineering."

"In our present engine, we have attained 23 per cent more power and 12 per cent better economy at touring speeds, through new principle in cylinder-head design possible only with overhead valves. This power plant, however, is by no means the limit of a motor of its type—because construction has given us a new concept of what can be done with a valve-in-head engine."

"Long distance engineering is one of our fixed principles. We design our engines far enough ahead so that we always have next year's engine 'ready to go.' We know now what we are going to do in 1935; we must know now, to be certain we are right when the time comes."

I take this means of trying to express my thanks and appreciation of the lovely post-plant presented to me by Mrs. Ferguson and her S. S. department.

The delicate blossoms so like the precious little children we are endeavoring to train to be more and more like Jesus, our Savior. May each of them ever remain as sweet and pure as now.

Also a word of praise for Dr. C. L. Root and his hospital with its efficient nurses. May we as citizens of Colorado ever be loyal to our home physicians. They are ever ready and willing and anxious to help just when we need help most. Again I thank you.

HOW BIG A LUBRICATING JOB CAN A QUART OF OIL DO?

HERE is a record of motor protection and low consumption that conclusively proves how big a lubricating job a quart of oil can do. Six strictly stock cars, with one fill—five quarts only—of six different, nationally advertised motor oils were run to "destruction" at the Indianapolis Speedway under AAA Supervision. Under exactly similar conditions the cars were operated until their motors failed. Here is the result: Oil No. 4 went 1713.2 miles; Oil No. 6 went 1764.4 miles; Oil No. 5 finished 1815.9 miles; Oil No. 1 completed 2266.8 miles. Oil No. 3 totalled 3318.8 miles. Oil No. 2, New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, piled up the amazing total of 4729 miles! That was 3000 miles farther than the first oil to go out, and 1400 miles farther than the last oil to fail.

Such demonstrated superior qualities of greater film strength, ability to withstand increased heat, resistance to dilution—such proved performance should guide your future oil purchases. Be safe—look for the Red Triangle Sign.

Here are the representatives of the contest board of the American Automobile Association who supervised every detail of the test and attested to the records made.

Five quarts of each brand of oil were carefully put in the cars by AAA officials. AAA Sanction No. 3001

The official sealing of crankcases after fill of five quarts was put in. No addition of oil was permitted in this "destruction" test.

TIMES

have changed!

COOKING

isn't the job it used to be!

Rapid and revolutionary have been the improvements in design and performance, of gas kitchen appliances these past few years. The modern gas range with its automatic controls, the gas refrigerator which operates without moving parts, the gas water heater which needs no attention... all have brought welcome relief from tiring, old-fashioned meal-making and housekeeping.

If cooking is still a job with you, take the first step towards a modern all-gas kitchen by installing a new range. It will have these important features: Self-lighting, insulated oven, automatic oven heat control, smokeless broiler and burners that won't clog with boil-overs.

The matchless performance of these efficient servants working for you in a modern gas kitchen means better meals at less cost and more leisure hours to enjoy. They are sold on terms by your dealer or your gas company which make ownership easy.

FARM FACTS

Old Cotton Must Be Tagged

Attention of all farmers holding cotton ginned before June 1st, 1934, is again called to the fact that this cotton must be tagged before it can be sold free of tax. This tagging of cotton is for the protection of the owner of the cotton. If the cotton is not tagged it will be taxed 50 percent of its sale price when it does sell, regardless of the year it was (whether this is in 1934, 1935 or 1936). The farmer makes his application for the tags at the office of the county agent, and the tags are placed on the cotton by a representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture without cost to the farmer. Application for such tags must be made before July 1st, 1934. This Saturday is the last day for making such application. This is the last notice.

Lots of Meat Curing

Three more hogs went into the cooler at the ice plant at Colorado the past week. Many farmers are now saving on feed, and at the same time having good fresh pork for consumption. There are fifty hogs in the cure at this time. Roy Warren, Jim Ferguson and W. S. Goodlett are the late ones to put hogs in the cooler.

Contracts Returned for Correction

About one hundred and fifty contracts have been returned for corrections by the U. S. D. A. In many cases parties signing as agents, managers, etc., for firms, estates, etc., did not attach proper legal instruments showing their authority to sign. In other cases errors were made in description of the acrements. In others conflicting agreements were given for Table 1 and Table 2. Notices have been mailed out in regards to these corrections, and all parties notified are asked to please call at the office of the county agent at the earliest possible date. Speedy action on the part of those notified will speed up the arrival of checks.

Wheat Contract Surveyed and Certified

The only wheat contract in Mitchell county has been certified for payment. The wheat acres and the rented acres were surveyed and inspected on Monday, June 25th. This contract is with Fowler McDaniel, and the rented acres are on the Dollar farm southwest of Spade.

Built Up Strength By Taking Cardui

Here's her own account of how Mrs. T. W. Hardin, of Greer, S. C., was benefited by taking Cardui: "I suffered a great deal from weakness in my back and pains in my side and felt so miserable," she writes. "I read of Cardui and decided to try it. I felt better after I took my first bottle, so kept on taking it as I felt such a need of strength, and it helped me so much."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.
