Argo Wildcat Possible Producer in Wolfcamp

Argo Oil Corporation of Midland and associates No. 1 D. B. McGinty, Northwest Yoakum County wildcat, encountered a show of possible production in the lower Wolfcamp section at 9,400-9,426 feet.

That zone was drillstem tested for an unreported length of time. Recovery was 206 feet of free oil and 90 feet of oil-cut and an additional 30 feet of free drilling mud from the drillpipe oil from below the circulating sub.

Open flowing pressure was from 70 to 120 pounds. Shutin bottom note pressure after 60 minutes was 750 pounds.

The project now is running a drillstem test to total depth of 9,453 feet.

Previously, the section at 8,984-9,024 feet recovered 4,700 feet of free oil in a seven-hour test. A two-hour at 9,019-9,043 gas-cut mud and 10 feet of clean feet recovered 240 feet of oil and oil.

Salt water, along with a slight show of oil and gas was developed by a test at 9,034-89 feet. The zone between 8,924 and 9,089 feet is eighter basal Wichita-Albany or upper Wolfcamp.

The possible discovery is seven miles northwest of Plains and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 280, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

Manor Oil Company No. 1 T. W. Reed is a new 5,500 foot wildcat to test the San Andres in West Yoakum County.

Drillsite is 660 feet from north of section 469, block D, J. H. and 1,980 feet from west lines Gibson survey, 10 miles west and slightly south of Plains.

Carson & Barnes Circus To Play Here Sept. 28th

Tom McLaughlin, advance representative of the Carson & Barnes 3-ring animal circus, was a caller in the Review office the past week and announced the coming of the first real circus to Plains in several years.

The date for the appearance has been set for Saturday, September 28, with two performances to be given at 2:30 and 8 p.m. under the auspices of the American Legion.

This will be the first trip through this section of the state for the circus since the combining of the two shows, McLaughlin said. Twenty feature acts will be presented under the big top, in addition to the circus carrying an enlarged menagerie consisting of several dens of lions, tigers, pumas, bears, apes, monkeys, chimps, kangaroos, also elephants, camels, llamas, zebras and featuring Goliath, a 4-ton hippopotamus.

The circus has been meeting with much success this season, McLaughlin stated, and said that in a few days the regular outfit will be in trucks and begin the task of placing the bright posters throughout the surrounding territory.

Oneal Spencer and sons, Weldon and Forrest Spencer, owners of the C. G. & S. Gin, located 16 miles northwest of Plains, and the Tokio Gin, located a mile north of Tokio, purchased the first local bale of cotton, which was auctioned off Saturday, Sept. 14.

The Spencers are owners of the C. G. & S. gin, operated by Weldon Spencer who has been manager for the past three years. The Weldon Spencers are parents of three children, Weldon, Jr., age 12, Richard, 10, and Donald, 7.

This summer, Oneal Weldon, and Forrest Spencer purchased the Tokio Gin, formerly owned by Leo Allen. It will be operated by Forrest Spencer, who recently

Construction On Cotton Warehouse Started Monday

Construction was begun here Monday on a cotton warehouse which with the cotton yard is located west of D. C. Newsom & Co. Gin.

It will be 70 by 150 feet in size and will be in operation in approximately two weeks.

Establishing the storage facilities will be the Payne Brothers of Whiteface, who have warehouses and yards at Morton, Whiteface, Lorenzo and Lovington, New Mexico. According to F. Z. Payne, the warehouse will be government approved to allow for storage of government cotton, and the farmers in the area will be able to secure government loans in Plains.

Payne estimated that the cotton yard and warehouse would mean keeping about $25,000 in the county that had previously been spent elsewhere.

A local resident has been employed to manage the warehouse and yard.

Announcement as to personnel will be made later.

City Electrical Plant Is Put Into Operation

The City electric plant was put into operation on Tuesday morning of this week, and customers are now being tied on to City lines. Tying on was started in the north part of the town and is now progressing toward the south as time permits.

The plant has been checked and is operating in a very satisfactory manner, it was reported. Bob Hampton is in charge of the plant as chief operator, and Charlie Copeland and Roy Crawford have been added as operators. Jude Willingham, who has been with the city since January is lineman. The organization is now geared to give good electrical service and is being received with a great deal of enthusiasm.

B. C. Jones of the B. C. Jones Electrical Company of Brownfield, who installed the plant and the lines is supervising the operation of the plant now, and will continue to do so until the operators have familiarized themselves with their duties and the operation of the plant. He will also be available for emergencies that might arise at any time.

Mr. Willingham is an experienced lineman and will be in charge of the switchboard at the plant. He will be on call at any hour, and will see that the proper amount of current is flowing through the lines and to the customer at all times.

Those desiring to connect to city lines are requested to call the city hall or come by and leave a request for the change. In order to make the change in an orderly manner and without the possibility of someone being left without electric service for a long period of time, the City is sending in requests for disconnects only in the amounts that the service men can reconnect in a short time.

Your requests for service will be appreciated at the earliest possible time, so that servicemen may concentrate the work of tying on to specific areas.

Those interested in seeing the plant operate are invited by the city council to visit the plant and ask questions about its operations.

Lions Club to Conduct Annual 'Broom' Sale

The Plains Lions Club will have their annual Broom Sale here next Thursday, September 26. The truck will be parked south of the Old Courthouse all day with household articles for sale and during the day Lions Club members will visit each house in town with these items for sale.

Cowboys Lose to Wilson

In a game Friday night which was played in a steady rain during the first half, the Plains Cowboys were defeated by Wilson 14-0. Rain started early in the first quarter and fell heavily until the half. The game was marred by frequent fumbles, especially on the part of the Cowboy backs. The Cowboys made considerable yardage but most of it was in midfield.

Joe Baker, Mustang fullback, made the first touchdown as he plunged three yards through the Cowboy line in the first quarter. Back Kenneth Ethridge ran over the extra point.

On a trap play in the final period, fullback Jack Dokken ran twenty yards for the second Wilson touchdown. Ethridge again ran over the extra point. Plains threatened several times but penalties killed two long runs in the third period and a fumble stopped a fourth quarter drive on the Wilson two yard line. The Cowboys lost the ball four times on fumbles. Wilson held the ball and used effective short passes to gain much yardage.

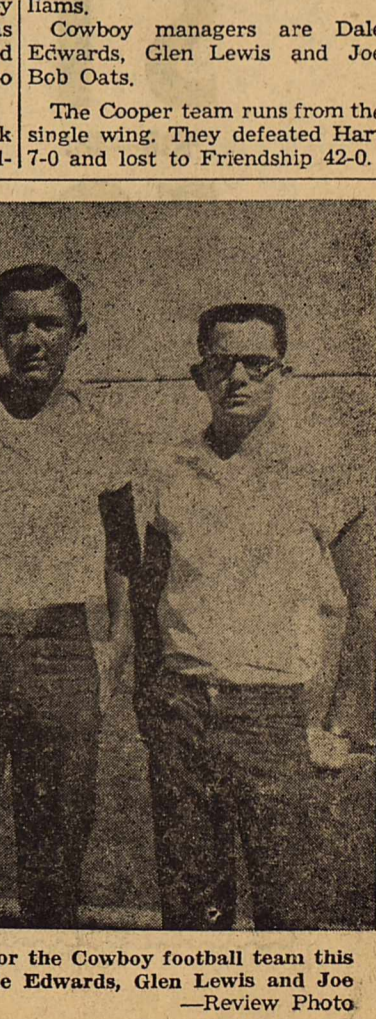

Outstanding Cowboy players on the defense were Merle Todd, Ross Stotts and Jimmy Roy Robertson.

Captains for last week's game were Vennum Fitzgerald, Dwain Rowland and Merle Todd. The Cowboys play the Cooper Pirates Friday night at 8 p.m. at the Pirate Field.

In an effort to instill some offensive punch in the Cowboy lineup, Jimmy Williams, end, has been moved to quarterback and Ross Stotts, tackle, moved to fullback.

Cowboy captains for this week are Ross Stotts and Jimmy Williams.

THE TOKIO GIN was purchased this summer by Oneal Spencer and sons, who also operate the C. G. & S. Gin. The Gin will be managed by Mr. Spencer's son, Forrest Spencer. The Spencers purchased the first bale of cotton from H. W. Taunton.

ACROSS THE Cattle Guard
By LEO W. WHITE
County Agent

I ran out of space last week before I had the silage situation finished. The feeding of silage to livestock is a very popular and very interesting field of work. The modern trend is toward the big feed pen operations where all sorts of labor saving devices are used. The small operator cannot afford to have feed augers to move the feed from the silo to the feed pens because it takes a large volume of business to make a push-button operation successful.

The ordinary farmer who puts up some silage and intends to feed out a few head of yearlings in order to get his silage on the market will have to feed it the hard way and by-pass the automatic feeding systems. For these farmers who have never had any experience in feed lot cattle or silage there is always the problem of getting started. When the decision is made that silage production and livestock feeding should be a part of the farming program, then it is up to the individual farmer to learn the feeding business. I would suggest starting out by producing about 20 acres of sorghums for silage. Before harvest time there would be the expense of digging the silo. Then the harvesting and storing operations would have to be built. All this could be done before any cattle were bought and it could easily be possible that one or two years might go by before any of the silage was removed from the silo.

More than likely, the farmer will get about ten head of some kind of cattle that first year just to get some feeding experience behind him. By the time they are ready to go to market he will have about half of his 20 acres of silage fed up and the rest can stay in the silo until a later date. Feeding out ten head of steers would just be play to some farmers who are financially able to buy a thousand if they wanted. Yet the smart operators started out with just a few head regardless of the number they could have had if they had wanted to really plunge into the thing. It may take two or three years with small numbers before the farmer feels that he is experienced enough and interested enough to stay in the business.

When the farmer is sure that he wants to continue raising silage and feeding it to livestock, then it is time or him to buy some silage harvesting and feeding equipment. He may not need to buy anything more than a silage harvester and a front end loader for a farm tractor. He can use cotton trailers to haul the silage to the silo by rigging a method for easy unloading. He would then be planting about 60 to 70 acres of irrigated silage crops or about twice that much dry land acres. In the case of a dry land farmer in Yoakum County, he would be raising cotton, silage crops and grain sorghums. On the years that crops were good he would be tied up with harvesting cotton and he probably would not feed any cattle that year. The first dry year that came along, and it would be soon enough, he would have plenty of time for feeding and he could well use the money from the silage. Cattle would naturally be cheaper that year because only those people who stored silage from previous years would have any feed.

The dry land farmer who learns the cattle feeding business and uses it as a means of beating the drought is the one that is going to stay in business. The irrigated farmer who finds that he needs to add a little more fertilizer each year in order to produce the same amount of crop from his farm should try adding barnyard manure. They will soon find that they can feed livestock on a break-even basis as long as they can have the manure as the profits from the feed lot. Commercial feed lots are now getting three dollars a ton for their manure at the lot. It is moving fast because farmers realize the value of it on their irrigated crops. With the silage and grain sorghums that can be produced in Yoakum County, there is nothing except the individual interest of the farmer that keeps this county from being a big livestock feeding area.

The tennis team has been working out every evening the last period. They usually stay after school two or three evenings a week. The coach, Mr. Medlin, thinks that the boys and girls will be in good shape by the end of the week.

The players back from last year's team are Dannie McClellan, Vaughn Culwell, Jim Barron, Royce Farquhar, Elaine Mauk and Glenda Stewart. Dannie and Vaughn were the doubles district champs last year, while Jim Barron and Royce Farquhar were alternates.

Elaine and Glenda were district champs in girls' doubles. New players that weren't on the team last year are Jay Bryson, Don Edwards, Bleda Bearde, and Lynna Sisco.

The first scrimmage will be next week with Brownfield. They also scrimmage with Andrews next week.

The ROUND-UP

The 8th grade Wranglers, coached by Mr. Ralph Dahl, are getting ready for a game with Sundown September 19.

The Wranglers are all very big, the line averaging 140, and the backs weighing 130—almost as much as the high school team.

Kay Smith To Head Staff Of Annual As Editor

The annual staff met in the study hall Wednesday, Sept. 11, to discuss the selling of ads. The sponsor is Miss Leithausen and editor is Kay Smith. All other officers will be elected at a later date. Thirty students attended the meeting.

A group of ten sold ads in Brownfield Thursday, Sept. 12. They made all the businesses, with the exception of a few.

Saturday, a group covered Plains. Everyone responded very well.

Monday at three another group covered Denver City. Time didn't permit the whole coverage, but a big part of it.

The selling of ads should be completed within the week. All those who buy a half or a whole page will have a picture of students of our school patronizing their business. We hope we can turn out the best annual to be from our school ever.

The senior class hopes to have several money raising projects to provide for the senior trip. Some are carwash, boxsupper, pie sales, selling of beat tags, carnival bingo stand, football concession, dinner for Exes on Homecoming, and the senior play.

Anyone wanting to buy beat tags may do so by seeing any senior on Thursdays and Fridays before the games.

Anyone wanting to buy corages for the homecoming game can start ordering them Monday, Sept. 23.

Wilson Edges Out Cowboys Friday By 14-0 Score

The Plains Cowboys lost their second game of the season on their home field to Wilson's Mustangs by a score of 14 to 0. Stopped by fumbles during a rain storm, the Cowboy offensive failed to click.

During the first period there was no scoring, just hard hitting football.

In the second period Joe Baker, Mustang fullback, plunged three yards for the first touchdown of the game.

In the third period the Cowboys tightened their defense and held the Mustangs.

In the final, Jack Dokken romped 20 yards for the second touchdown and Ethridge ran both extra points, ending the scoring for the Mustangs.

Dwain Rowland threatened to score two times with two long runs which were called back. Jerry Holbert and Ross Stotts were working hard in the line.

On defense play, Venum Fitzgerald, defensive halfback, also played a good game.

Next Friday night at eight o'clock the Cowboys will meet Cooper there.

Parade of Senior Officers

Senior class president, Jim Barron, moved to Plains and started to school in the third grade. Jim has been very active in his class. He was secretary in his freshman year, treasurer his sophomore year and president his junior year.

Editor's Desk

The Round-Up has been changed quite a bit this year. It will be published in the Yoakum County Review each week. The writing of the paper will be done by the English classes.

The Senior English class is responsible for The Round-Up this week. We had a rush job, but we hope it proves interesting to each person who reads it.

The Editor-in-Chief of the Senior Class

NAME CHEERLEADERS

Junior High cheerleaders have recently been selected. They are Sandra Smith, Lela Parks, Carolyn Murphy, and Marsha White.

This year the girls have chosen black felt skirts and tights with white sweaters for their costumes.

FISH STILL SAFE At Plains High

Freshmen and seniors of Plains High are looking each other over. Both classes have their minds on initiation. The Seniors are thinking about what to do to the Freshmen and the Freshmen are wishing they had been taught mind-reading.

Freshmen should remember that Seniors were once Freshmen and went through initiation too.

If it will ease the Freshmen's minds any, the date for initiation hasn't been set yet. Just be patient, Freshmen; the Seniors will get around to the initiation before too long.

Rue Mauk Heads List Of Officers For PHS Band

JOTTIN'S In the Dust

FASHION NOTES: The latest in the fashion department is the showing of Burmuda shorts in the fifth period girls P.E. class. Congrats are in order for Dixie Ruth and Linda Fitzgerald for being brave enough to wear them.

There are several "dress-alikes" this year. A couple of them are Dannie and Jo Evelyn, James and Karen Rae and Jeanine and Ronald. These look real snappy, kids.

A note from the hairdressers room—Why did several of the girls wear their hair long while it was so hot and then get it whacked off when cool air started blowing in?

By the way, has anyone noticed the new fad the boys have started? Most of them are crazy about the new garb. They are even out doing the Ivy League boys. What do the boys call those fancy outfits? Levis.

School Calendar

This part of the paper is printed for the parents who wish to check up on their boys and girls. If they say there is something doing at school, you parents can look in the paper and see if they are telling you the truth. The calendar is only partially completed so give them the shadow of a doubt.

Girls Meet Monster

Deep in the knee-high grasses of the African park, lay the great black hairy creature called Drakula.

The big game hunters, Smith, Marrow, and McRae, were dining in a small clearing nearby. Little did they know that soon they would come face to face with this gruesome creature.

The monster, sensing that the hunters were near, began tramping through the jungle toward them.

The hunters were terrified at the sight of the feared creature. Escape seemed impossible for them.

Bravely unfolding their giant cages, the hunters spread out and tried to lure Drakula into the first cage. Smith and Marrow began to panic and run. McRae continued to concentrate on Drakula's capture.

Alone McRae succeeded in luring Drakula into the first cage, barely escaping the claws of the furious creature.

Deserted by her two friends, McRae also managed to put the first cage inside the second cage. After struggling for several hours she finally got the second cage inside the third, thus insuring the captivity of Drakula.

McRae hunted up her friends and persuaded them to return to the camp site. They shipped out on the first Ford Custom-

Liner headed for Plains High School.

They arrived at the school and the band played while the hunters exhibited Drakula before all the amazed students.

The keepers forgot to lock the cages after they fed Drakula, and with a great heave, it burst from its imprisonment.

The girls screamed and some fainted. All the students panicked and began to run in every direction. In the scamper for safety, Drakula, the tarantula, was stepped on and squashed.

Sen. Preston Smith Guest Speaker At Lions' Meeting

The Plains Lions Club met Thursday with about 20 members and guests present. Senator Preston Smith of Lubbock, senator of the 28th Senatorial District was present as the guest speaker.

The Lions laid final plans for their annual broom sale to be held next Thursday. The broom sale has been a big event for the Lions for the past two or three years, and the people of Plains have been generous in the purchase of the brooms, mops, brushes, and other articles the sale offers, and at the same time help a worthy cause.

Brooms for the sale are made by Texas blind people. They are of very good quality and show a great deal of pride of the ones who make them. They are distributed through the Lions Clubs of Texas.

Chairman of the broom sale is Rod Duff. Lion Duff announced his plans, and divided the club into groups for working the town and the truck which will be parked at the usual spot south of the old courthouse.

Program chairman Roger Harvey introduced Senator Smith, who made a talk and showed some slides made during the last session of the legislature.

Lions Club sweetheart Jeanline St. Romain furnished the music during the luncheon. The club president, Neal Taylor, presided.

Eternity

There is a term to grapple with... ETERNITY! Endless past time; endless future time... foreverness. That state or condition which begins at death. From everlasting to everlasting... ETERNITY. The time it would take the sea gull pictured above to empty the Pacific Ocean into the Atlantic... that would be Eternity. It is too big to understand but I know what it means for me. When this earthly house is dismantled, my soul will live on and on. That is actually what it means. But one question: Is my life worth all that? Is yours? Here is where the church can help you to be useful... to help bring in the Kingdom... to be an Ambassador for God... to prepare the world for His coming... for ETERNITY.
