Articles stolen included three adding machines, three guns, a movie camera, transistor radio, about 25 watches, forty-five cartoons of cigarettes and possible other articles.

This is the eighth break-in in the past twelve years that has occured at this store owned by Dick and Rusty McGinty. Investigating officer, Olan

Heath, said the burglars gained entry to the store by breaking a glass in the back door and unlocking it. They broke the knob on the safe, scattered papers and cigarettes over the building.

The break-in was discovered by Dick when he opened the store about 7 a.m. Saturday morning. The burglary is being investi-

> Hail of marble size did considerable damage to the Bob and Paul Loe, G. R. Todd, and Russell Faulkenberry farms which were about in the center of the storm. Loe's farm is located about five miles northeast of Plains and is joined on the east by Todd. Faulkenberry farms about six miles north. Other farms hit in that area included Eddie Foshee, T. J. Murphy. Jim Pharr, Raymond Bookout, T. A. Eimore and Truett Jones, Rainfall in this area as reported by Todd was approximately two inches.

Chris Guetersloh reported the heaviest rainfall of about six inches about twelve miles northwest of Plains. Other rain over the county varied to a sprinkle to four inches. Rusty McGinty reported about four inches. Gene Payne received about four inches. Ira Tidwell, on the state line reported only .8 inch. Hershel Stanford, southwest of town received a sprinkle. Moisture in the Pleasant Hill section in southeast part of the county wasn't measurable, as reported by Russell McSwain and just a shower fell in the east part of the County with no hail reported.

The meeting was called, according to County Judge Don Gophers' errors Hancock, when the present librarian, Mrs. Bernice Bartlett, of Plains, asked for some time to talk to the commissioners.

Upon convening of the meeting, Mrs. Bartlett requested an increase of approximately $3,000 in the budget for the library for the coming year and also an increase in wages for herself and the other librarians in the county

The commissioners told Mrs. Bartlett that the county will be unable to grant either of her requests, and there is a possibility that the library budget may be cut instead of increased.

Judge Hancock said that Mrs. Bartlett then left the commissioners under the impression that if they were not going to grant the requests she may be forced to terminate her services with the county. The commissioners agreed to permit Mrs. Bartlett to set a termination date for her services if she de-

A bond election has been called by the Plains City Council to determine if the city will be authorized to issue bonds in the amount of $90,000 to be used for improvements to the city gas system. The election has been set for July 25 at the city hall.

The election was called following a survey of the city gas system by Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, Lubbock engineers, who were employed for the purpose of making recommendations to meet the needs of the city.

The main purpose of the bond issue is to finance a new transmission line from the El Paso Natural Gas line 9 1/4 miles east of town. The line, which became overtaxed last winter, will deliver at the highest possible pressure approximately 23,800 cubic feet per hour. It is the recommendation of the engineers and the plan of the city council to replace the line with a new high pressure 3-inch line capable of delivering 105,000 cubic feet per hour at a pressure of 500 pounds.

Other improvements will include additional lines to the city from the terminal just east of the town section and also some additional loops within the city. The city plans to salvage the 2inch line now in use as a transmission line to use in the improvements in the distribution

The engineers' recommendations to the city council were based on growth rates taken from past experience of surrounding towns. According to their survey the main line will be adequate to serve the city through the year 1980, based on normal

Presiding Judge for the election will be D. N. Taylor. Mrs. Mabel Camp has been appointed judge, and clerks will be Mrs. May Gainer and Mrs. J. P. Robestson. The polls will be open from the hours of 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Only qualified voters who have rendered property for taxation will be eligible to vote.

Precinct Four, has filed a motion for a re-hearing of his appeal of a district court summary judgment awarded his opponent Paul Loe in a precedent setting dispute over the commissioner

Approximately six weeks ago the Civil Appeals Court in Amarillo upheld a summary judgment granted by District Judge Truett Smith to Loe. The summary judgment, if it is upheld through the courts, will make Loe the commissioner for Precinct Four rather than Trout.

Trout said on Tuesday that his motion for the rehearing of the appeal to Amarillo was filed several weeks ago by his attornevs. Allison and Allison of Levelland, and he is now awaiting a court decision on the mo-

WHEN a service is tailor-made, it's personal service. And that's exactly what we intend our Personal Service, John Deere style, to mean to you. We believe it's designed to meet your own particular farming requirements . . . to help increase net profit on every farming operation.

When we first took on the John Deere

Line, one fact seemed obvious-greater returns from farming could be realized only when you farm efficiently and economically. John Deere Equipment provided the answer to this problem then; even more so today. It's equipment that leads the field; it's soundly engineered; it's efficient, dependable; it's equipment that's economical to own and operate.

What's more, this equipment, designed for your farming, is backed by our own personal service—a fully equipped shop, manned by skilled mechanics trained in John Deere servicing methods . . . a complete parts department, stocked with only genuine John Deere parts that fit properly, last longer. These services are available to help you maintain 100% John Deere performance and, in turn, increase your net profit down through the years.

You, too, can enjoy greater returns by taking advantage of this Personal Service, John Deere style. Come in this week and let's talk over your problems; you'll find we're anxious to become your long-time working partners!

line road near Bronco with no actual decision being reached.

It has been ruled that only qualified property holders will vote in the special election on July 25. An interesting question arose on the question, however, which was finally resolved by delving into the state constitution.

The question arose as to eligibility to vote on the final issue. that of the separation of the two offices. The constitution states that only taxpayers may vote on any such separation, according to County Judge Don Hancock.

Plans for the enlargement of the Yoakum Hospital have been approved by the medical staff at the hospital and the hospital board. Serving as architect was Leonard Crockett and Associates of Odessa, with Ross Garrett of Chicago as hospital consultant.

The expansion program has been designed, hospital officials say, with the future needs of the community in mind. It is estimated that if the bond issue is approved by the voters the hospital will not need further expansion for another 10 years.

Twenty-three beds will be added to the hospital, bringing the total up to 50 beds. In addition there will be a new wing with 14 new rooms for patients. Expansion of the hospital will be primarily to the south, with the main entrance to face on North Fourth Street. At the left will be the admitting, medical records and administrative offices, while to the right will be the Out-Patient Clinic. This will include suites for six doctors.

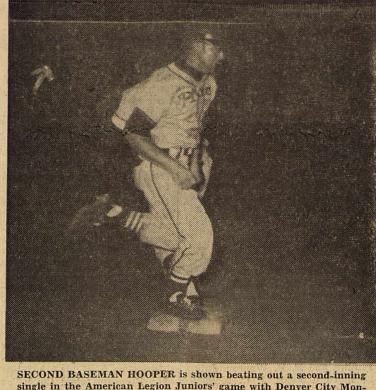

The hospital plan calls for new construction for patient rooms, nursing service center, surgery, delivery and nursing, central supply and drugs, administrative, boiler house and out-patient clinic, major remodeling of the kitchen and dining facilities and diagnostic area, and minor remodeling of emergency area. Also included is remodling of existing heating, ventilating and air conditioning system and replacement of roof and roof structure.

The bond ssue for the County park will include construction of picnic facilities and a golf course. The present contemplated location for the park is northwest of Denver City. The jail is also to be constructed in Denver City and if the issue is not passed there will probably be condemnation proceedings brought against the county forcing the erection of a new jail.

Issue four on the ballot, that dealing with the office separation, is one of major importance to everyone in the county. At the present time the offices of Sheriff and Tax Assessor are combined with the Chief Deputy Sheriff filling the post of tax assessor. The change would eliminate the oppointment of a tax assessor and would leave the choice for this post to the voters.

GROWING CROPS NEED
A BALANCED DIET OF NUTRIENTS

VERNON FARRAR — "To me this liquid nitrogen is not a new type fertilizer. I pretty well know what it will do for my crops. This is my third year to use it, and I'm more pleased with the results everytime," said Vernon Farrar, who farms 4 miles northwest of Brownfield. He added: "So far I have what I think is a balancer fertilizer program. By this I mean that by putting down 60 lbs. of nitrogen and 50 lbs. of phosphate before planting, and now coming back and adding another 49 lbs. of nitrogen I think that it will pay off to feed the plants when they are hungry." Farrar has 152 acres of irrigated cotton and farms ¾ of a section. "I can't go along with the idea of putting all your fertilizer down at one time. That's kind of like eating only one big meal a day. You may be saving a little time, but are you sure that your crop isn't hungry at 'suppertime?' That, to me, is one of the best arguments of why it pays to side-dress. Along about bloom-time is 'suppertime' for cotton," Farrar said.

WHY ARE YOU USING FERTILIZERS? The practice of applying fertilizers to crops should be a profitable one. Not only is the farmer concerned in making applications of fertilizers a paying practice, but the fertilizer manufacturers also desire that the farmer should realize a profit from the use of their products.

WHAT IS THE FUNCTION OF FERTILIZERS? The primary purpose of fertilizers is to supply plant nutrients to growing crops. Besides supplying nutrients, fertilizers may often influence plants in other ways, and may also bring about marked changes in the characteristics of the soil.

OBJECT IN USING FERTILIZERS: Let's get down to brass tacks. The primary objective for the use of fertilizers is to increase your crop yield, which in turn will increase your net profit. True, there are limiting factors to be considered in the use of fertilizers — such as climatic conditions, soils leaching and high or low contents of organic matter.

and high or low contents of organic matter.

LET'S CONSIDER: If all the above be true, and experiments have proven it to be, then why go to all the expense of applying fertilizer if it isn't applied when the crop — producer of your profit — needs it most. With most field crops, the application of fertilizers should be sufficient to keep the plants thrifty with good growth and setting of fruit. Plants receiving sufficient amounts of nutrients, at the proper times, appear to be better able to utilize the plant nutrients that are applied.

SIDE-DRESSING — If you find that your crop is not doing what it should be doing, and that water has not been a limiting factor to crop growth, and that insect or disease pests are not prevalent, then an effort should be made to find out what plant nutrients are deficient and then applications should be made to remedy the situation. Liquid fertilizer is one of the best ways to side-dress because it is in a state of neutrality, suspended in water and ready to go to work immediately, supplying the needed nutrients necessary for a balanced diet for your crop.

stration Club met Thursday afternon in the home of Mrs. A. C. Stewart with the hostess giving the devotion. Mrs. Alton Billings, president. presided.

After a short business session the meeting was turned to Mr. Claud Freeman, Denver City Attorney, who explained wills and property laws in Texas.

Only one woman answered in the affirmative when the roll call was "Do I have a will?" Mr. Freeman said that we all have a preference and it might not be to our liking the way our property is distributed unless we have a written will drawn. The State appoints administrators who look after the property, it's settlements, etc. when there is no will. he said. This is sometimes very expensive to the estate and is often quite contrary to the person's desires.

Mr. Freeman asked the ladies "What would become of your minor children if both parents died at or near the same time?' The state would perform this duty if we do not provide for it.

A family lawyer who is familiar with the family's business can often be of much more help than one chosen hastily or in an emergency and is almost as important as your family physician, Mr Freeman pointed out.

Texas-made Lone Star cast iron pressure pipe will last over a hundred years!

The use of cheap substitutes, such as foreign-made cement-asbestos pipe, is wasteful and means probable replacement in a very few years. (This pipe was taken from a Texas city's water system. Photo is unretouched.)

Officials of most Texas municipalities know that when they buy and install cast iron pipe they are helping to support the American economy and the high standard of living we all enjoy. They are buying products made in America for use by Americans. They are not fooled by the slightly lower initial cost of foreign goods because they realize that this "paper savings" will be more than offset by the cost of excessive maintenance.

Domestic cast iron pressure pipe is time-honored, centuries-proved, and is backed by strong, resourceful American companies that will be in business for years on end to guarantee their product.

Really, who backs foreign-made pipe? Who answers for it when it fails? To whom will the few ill-advised pipe-buyers look for the answers to these questions when trouble develops? Were they penny wise and pound foolish?

Take a look at some of these important factors back of the initial price tag, then pick up the telephone and call the first city official you think of and tell him you appreciate his good judgment in buying American-made cast iron pipe with your tax dollars. If he has been buying Lone Star pipe, tell him that we, too, appreciate the business!
