Plains Talk

By WENDELL FAUGHT

Our sincere appreciation to all those who have been so nice to us since we arrived in Plains. This town seems to get better each day and we remain highly pleased that we came here.

We finally got our furniture here from Oklahoma City and if everything goes as well as it has since Friday, we should be able to know where everything is by Christmas.

Our two and a half-year-old, Rhonda, was the only one who enjoyed the disorder. She got a big bang out of meddling through the boxes and discovered a lot of "toys" she never had been allowed to play with — such as hammers, screwdrivers, a hatchet, a bottle of syrup, etc. Not so well satisfied was 10-month-old Kim who frequently wound up on the receiving end of her older sister's experiments.

We enjoyed a brief visit Saturday with the women who conducted the voting in the Commissioner's Court Room. Most of them are oldtimers in the Plains area and their praise of their community was high indeed. We hope we have their names right, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Newsom, Mrs. Forrest and Mrs. Rushing.

Our apologies to Eddie Taylor, new head man of the local FHA office. Eddie took over about a month ago and since his appointment had missed making the Review we took a picture of him last week, hoping to let the home folks know what he looks like. The picture turned out to be a "dud" so we missed the boat again.

Typical of the thoughtfulness of the people of Plains was demonstrated Saturday by Bob Jones, the farmer-home builder, when he suddenly became a soda jerk and sales clerk at Curry Drug. Joe had received word that his mother was seriously ill in Seminole and he was unable to obtain the services of his usual part time help on such short notice. When Bob heard of the situation he promptly offered his services and he pitched in to help Mrs. Curry run the store, enabling Joe to reach his mother's bedside.

We've had at least one invitation to every church in town since we arrived. We've been attending the Presbyterian church which, of course, is not represented in Plains. But we feel certain we'll be completely satisfied in whatever church we attend. The four of us plan to be in some church next Sunday. We wanted to get that in print to keep us from putting it off another week.

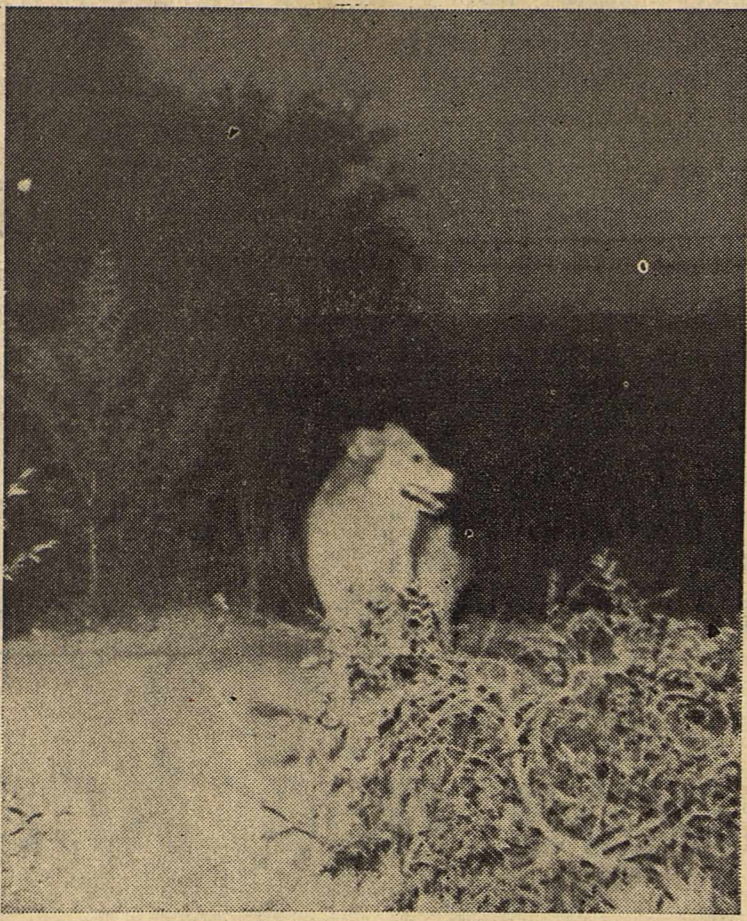

Before coming to Plains we checked to see if there was a Lions Club here. After we found out there was we looked forward to participating in that organization after our arrival. It was not until we were here that we learned the Lions of Plains meet on Thursday, a date impossible for a weekly newspaper editor to reserve for any cause. We've been a Lion for the past 10 years and will miss our association with the fine group here.

Funeral services for Mrs. McNabb's father Tuesday

Funeral services for E. W. Hart, father of Mrs. Opal McNabb, were conducted Tuesday afternoon in the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Lubbock. The Rev. Ben D. Johnson, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Sam Wagoner, Assembly of God minister, officiated. Burial was in the City of Lubbock Cemetery.

Hart, a retired farmer, had lived in Lubbock for 20 years. In addition to Mrs. McNabb, he is survived by his wife, two daughters, five sons, 29 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Pall bearers from Plains included Jack and Billy Burt. Others from here who attended the funeral services included the Jim Burt family.

City gas bonds endorsed here by one-sided vote

By a vote of 123 to 16, Plains city voters Saturday approved the issuance of $90,000 in bonds to finance the construction of a new three-inch gas main. By a slightly smaller margin, 108 to 24, they expressed their endorsement of a city ordinance to keep dogs from running loose in the city.

The City Council hailed the bond approval as a great forward step for the growth of the city. Gas supply became very short last winter and with additional construction since that time, councilmen feared an acute shortage next winter unless steps to remedy the situation were taken.

Mayor Roger Curry said this week that construction of the new gas main would be completed in plenty of time for this winter. The city must advertise for bids which means the project cannot be started for about 30 days. After the waiting period, he said the construction would begin and should be completed in another 30 days. He expects completion by October 1.

Bulk of the $90,000 expenditure will go for the laying of a new gas line from the El Paso Natural Gas line nine and one-fourth miles east of Plains. The new gas line will be capable of delivering 105,000 cubic feet per hour at a pressure of 500 pounds. This is more than four times the capacity of the present two-inch line.

Engineers who surveyed the area predicted the new gas line

4-H club planning horseback relays

A series of horseback relays, with the winners to be selected on August 21, is being planned by members of the General 4-H Club. Plans were announced at a meeting held by the club last Thursday.

All boys and girls between 10 years of age and high school age are invited to compete in the contests. Anyone interested should contact County Agent Leo White or D'Lois McGinty as soon as possible.

There will be barrel races for the girls and flag racing for the boys. No entry fee is to be charged.

First practice is scheduled for August 17. Eliminations are scheduled for August 20 when the eight fastest riders are chosen to compete in the championship finals.

Under rules set out by the rules committee of the 4-H club, no two persons may enter the relays riding the same horse.

PICNIC PLANNED

Members of all branches of the Order of I.O.O.F. will meet at Bull Lake north of Morton, Saturday August 1st for a picnic supper of barbecued beef, chicken, rabbit and all the trimmings. There will be plenty of food and lots of fun for all Rebekahs and Oddfellows.

should be able to take care of all local needs for the next 20 years. Increases in population of Plains and several other towns in this area were calculated to ascertain the future needs.

The vote on the dog question was called by the city in an effort to get an idea how the citizens stood. "A number" of complaints on dogs running loose inside the city limits have been registered lately. City commissioners have authority to enact an ordinance forbidding owners to allow their dogs to wander around streets and neighborhoods, but asked for the vote before taking such steps.

Passage of the dog ban and enactment of the ordinance which will be issued in the near future will create an additional headache for aldermen. Enforcement of the ordinance is to be the responsibility of the city marshal. But before enforcement can begin, arrangements for a dog pound must be made.

The dog ordinance has not been prepared, but indications are that it will require dogs to be kept inside fences or kept tied where they cannot get outside the yards of their owners.

Population survey to be conducted

A true picture of Plains' present population is expected to be revealed in the very near future after completion of an unofficial census now being conducted by Emery Longbrake, manager of the Plains Chamber of Commerce.

Under the survey, Longbrake plans to have every family in the town included in the survey in order to arrive at an accurate figure. Plains' rapidly-increasing population is now estimated to be between 1,500 and 2,000.

The count for the area lying south of the highway is almost completed, and the north area is being canvassed. Longbrake said he and his wife had done most of the survey work so far, but would enlist the aid of other Chamber of Commerce members for the north part of town.

He hopes to conduct the survey by assigning two-man teams to canvas particular areas. A close check is being made on people who are moving into and out of town since the survey began.

Regardless of the final count, Longbrake is certain the town will reflect a fantastic growth since the last official federal census taken in 1950. At that time Plains had only about 500 people. A great deal more than that number have already been counted. Even if the present population turns out to be just 1500, it will represent a 200 per cent increase over the past nine years. Signs now located at the

Plains Chamber banquet tickets still available

Tickets to the August 7 banquet of the Chamber of Commerce are still available at the Plains State Bank and from members of the organization. The banquet is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Emtry Longbrake, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said there were approximately 200 guests present for last year's banquet and it is hoped that many or more will attend this year's event.

A well-known speaker, Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Big Spring, will be the speaker for the evening. Chamber members feel they have acquired an outstanding speaker as Dr. O'Brien has filled numerous speaking engagements in this area and is always an interesting speaker.

The evening's program is still incomplete but will be announced next week.

Little Leaguers bow in tournament

Plains' Little Leaguers lost out in the first round of the area playoffs Friday when they bowed to Denver City, 8-4. Husky Larry Rawls, a 6-1, 180-pound 12-year-old, smashed a 325-foot home run high over the light towers to drive in three runs and lead his team past the Plains nine. The game was played at Brownfield.

Plains collected only five hits off of Anthony Kucera, but three of them were homeruns. Larry Coffman blasted two homers, both with the bases empty, while Jack Lowe homered in the first inning with one on.

It was pretty much a game of homeruns as Roy Henson of Denver City hit a circuit clout with two on in the first inning. In all, homers accounted for six runs for Denver City and all four of the runs scored by Plains.

Ralph Meixner who started for Plains was the losing pitcher.

In the consolation finals played Saturday, Plains lost a tough 9-8 decision to Seagraves.

Mother of local men is seriously ill

Mrs. J. F. Curry of Seminole, mother of Roger and Joe Curry of Plains, is in serious condition in the Gaines County Hospital in Seminole. Mrs. Curry suffered a stroke some time ago and has been bedfast since.

Her condition worsened a few days ago and she went into a coma over the weekend and remains unconscious.

Her sons here have spent considerable time at her bedside.

County voters reject bond issues; favor division of sheriff's office

Marketing quotas highly favored by county farmers

Yoakum County farmers, voting in the 1960 wheat marketing quota referendum last Thursday, went along with the other voters in the nation and voted in favor of wheat marketing quotas for the 1960 crop.

The county referendum committee, composed of Henry May, Mrs. Paul Cobb and Mrs. D. M. Gray, reported that 25 votes were counted in favor of the quotas while nobody voted against them.

Under the wheat marketing law, farmers who harvest in excess of their 1960 allotment will be subject to a marketing quota penalty excepting those farmers with allotments less than 15 acres and those who have not quota at all. Those falling into these two classes may harvest and sell their production from 15 acres without a penalty.

Law provides for a variable support price for the 1960 wheat crop between 75 and 90 per cent of parity based on the relationship between the estimated total supply of wheat available for the marketing year and a determined normal supply for the year.

W. M. Overton, Yoakum County ASC office manager, explained that a minimum national average support price would be $1.77 per bushel. Final support price may be higher but cannot be less since this figure reflects 75 per cent of parity.

County ASC books are being checked

E. G. Peppard, auditor with the CSS Internal Audit Division of Dallas, has been in Plains for the past two weeks auditing the records of the Yoakum County ASC office.

A complete audit is made at least once each year by the Internal Audit Division, according to W. M. Overton, county office manager.

After completion of the audit, the state ASC committee, the county office manager and the chairman of the local ASC committee receive reports showing the completed audit with all exceptions, necessary corrections to be made and recommendations made by the auditor.

Women voice complaints over library operation

A published report last week that the new county librarian hoped to move the county library records to Denver City stirred up a hornet's nest Monday during what had been planned to be a routine meeting of the Commissioners' Court.

Several members of the Plains Tsa Mo Ga Study Club met with the commissioners and requested a clarification of the existing county library situation and the status of the newly-appointed librarian.

Electronics firm moves this week to new location

Plains Electronics has moved this week to new and larger quarters, R. J. Van Liew, owner of the business, announced this week. Van Liew's new headquarters is the new building just south of Curry Drug.

Van Liew explained that the new quarters would enable the business to give better service to the public since floor space has been greatly increased.

Formal opening of the business will be held in two or three weeks, the owner said, and a grand opening with the public invited is scheduled at that time.

Van Liew has been in business here for about a year and has resided in Plains at intervals for the past seven years. Plains Electronics carries a complete line of small and large appliances, and television sets. The business also offers service on appliances of all kind and on two-way radio equipment.

Don Scott recovering from fractured leg

Don Scott, who suffered a severe fracture of his left leg in an accident at the Scott farm early this month, is now home. The leg has been removed from traction and placed in a cast.

His mother, Mrs. Dorman Scott, reports that although the cast is almost the length of his leg he is able to use a wheel chair and ride in the car some.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Armstrong of Brownwood spent the weekend in Plains as guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Parks and family.

told the group he had told Mrs. Bill Harwell that she could move the card catalogue records to Denver City in the interest of efficiency. Commissioner H. C. Cotton revealed that he had taken the catalogue records to Denver City himself.

Commissioners explained there was no intent of their part to downgrade the local library in any way. Commissioner Vance Brown said he believed statutes provided that the Plains library would always be the permanent county library and any other in the county would merely be a branch of the one here. Judge Hancock said Wednesday an opinion from the Attorney General had been requested on this matter.

The women also requested more particulars concerning the appointment of Mrs. Harwell and the differences between them and the former librarian, Mrs. Bert Bartlett. Commissioners pointed out that Mrs. Harwell is not holding the title of county librarian but was hired as the chief assistant librarian.

They stated that Mrs. Harwell was the only qualified applicant for the vacant position and her employment was conditional. When questioned as to the qualifications of Mrs. Harwell, commissioners pointed out she is not yet a licensed librarian. She hopes, however, to obtain her certification in the near future, they said.

In the meantime her appointment is considered temporary, the commissioners explained, and they are not bound to make her librarian. At the same time, they said, Mrs. Harwell also made her part of their agreement conditional as she did not wish to commit herself to the position until she had tried it for a while.

Meanwhile, commissioners are considering the librarian's post still unfilled and have invited applications. Members of the present library staff have been approached concerning the position, but commissioners said none of them felt they had the necessary experience in all phases. When time comes for a permanent appointment, Mrs. Harwell will likely be one of the candidates but any other person qualified to serve in that capacity is invited to apply, commissioners said.

As for the disagreement between Mrs. Bartlett and members of the court, commissioners explained that $25,000 had been

All county areas oppose hospital, park proposals

Following the same pattern which was set in the county's other five boxes, Plains voters turned thumbs down on all three portions of an $890,000 bond issue to finance hospital improvements, build a new jail and to construct a new county park.

County-wide, opposition votes to the three proposals far outnumbered those of persons who favored the bonds. Only 249 persons voted for the hospital improvements, while 438 voted against the measure. The county jail was rejected by a vote of 330 to 357 and the county park was turned down by virtue of only 249 yes votes and 442 negative ballots.

It was a different story, however, in the other question on Saturday's ballot, that of whether to make two separate offices of the sheriff and tax assessor-collector. County voters approved this proposal by a vote of 412 to 233.

As far as Plains voters were concerned, the three bond questions had no great appeal as all three proposals were to affect the Denver City area. However, the questions received a cool reception in other county areas, including Denver City.

Plains' four ballot boxes showed these totals: For hospital improvements 29, Against 182; For the jail 43, Against 170; For the county park 24, Against 190; For the separation of the sheriff and tax assessor-collector office 111, Against 94.

Not one of the county's nine voting districts favored the hospital improvements or the county park. The jail question carried four voting boxes. The division of the sheriff's office was favored by voters in six districts, while two boxes showed ties and another gave a one-vote majority to those opposed to the question.

Rejection of the three bond proposals was a stunning blow to a number of organized groups which had campaigned for passage of various segments of the package plan. Opposition to the $800,000 improvements in the Denver City hospital apparently stemmed from the seemingly widespread belief that the hospital is a very modern institution at this time and is capable of meeting the medical needs of the area it serves.

Opponents of the $250,000 county park, most of the money to be spent for the construction of a golf course, apparently felt this was too much of an expenditure for a recreation area built primarily for the benefit of too few people. Lack of clarity as to location of the park and a definite plan as to just what the park would consist of further tended to make voters cautious.

The county jail question seemed to be popular everywhere except in Plains, and even it received much more local support than did the other two questions. The proposal was for the erection of a new jail in Denver City.

The vote on the division of the sheriff and tax assessor-collector office turned out just about as was expected. A large number

Special oil stamp will be sold here, Postmaster says

Postmaster R. C. Watson announced this week that a four-cent commemorative postage stamp will be issued August 27 to mark the 100th anniversary of the completion of the first oil well by Colonel Edwin L. Drake. The stamp will be issued through the Titusville, Pa., post office.

An oil derrick, against a light background, will highlight the design of the four-cent petroleum industry commemorative stamp. The color of the stamp will be brown.

Collectors may obtain first-day cancellations by submitting requests to the postmaster at Titusville, Pa. Further instructions will be obtained at the Plains post office. The stamp may be purchased here August 28th.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Tired reading about the Texas legislature? Well — my friend — you're not alone. Seems like most everybody feels that way — including many members of the House and Senate.

Okay, then, for a little diversion let's look north and see what has been going on in our neighboring states.

Oklahoma's legislators also faced a financial crisis. How did they meet it? First they cut some needless expenses, eliminated waste and duplication. Then they appropriated for 18 months instead of 24. But they did not increase any existing taxes. Fortunately for them, financially at least, Oklahoma voted in liquor and they now have some brand new tax income — or will very, very soon.

Oklahoma, it must be remembered, has a state income tax and an across-the-board two percent sales tax — two things Texas doesn't have.

Putting the state in a better light, collection-wise, Oklahoma legislators swiped Uncle Sam's idea and added a state withholding tax. This to assure more collections from their income tax.

Six months of continuous session has just been ended in the Sooner state. Although their financial problems are solved for the next eighteen months, after that a sizeable hike in taxes is expected.

Texas legislators have met almost continuously since January 13. They may even have to go into a fourth special session. But if they do, they will earn the wrath of the old folks whose pensions stop in mid-August unless a sizeable tax bill is enacted. There is no doubt about it in Texas, the people are disgruntled. And the legislators are disturbed.

There is much talk that many of them will not be re-elected. Undoubtedly there are some who don't ever want to return to the legislative halls.

Many of the senators and representatives have tried hard to formulate a tax program that would care for the needs of the state. Their efforts have been stymied.

During the past six months there has been talk of a unicameral legislature, like Nebraska's. Also there has been talk of a special election to let the public decide on taxes — especially sales taxes. Some officials feel that the public, if it had its say today, would vote for a sales tax — and thus take the monkey off the backs of the legislators. But so far no one has had the courage to introduce such a measure.

Soundings by the press indicate that a sales tax might very well be acceptable to the people — that the people fully realize the dilemma — that they at least would go along with a reasonable sales tax, although they might be firmly opposed to an income tax.

Maybe a special election on the subject of a sales tax is the answer. At least the public would have a say in the matter and our senators and representatives would not have to face the criticism they now fear.

Wish somebody had thought of that earlier, don't you? An election could have been held on the subject at much less expense than that incurred in financing three additional special sessions, all of which actually centered around that very topic.

NEW BUILDINGS — While the Senate and House are busy trying to find a way to finance the state's future operations, governmental buildings still are being erected around the Capitol. In fact, they are beginning to dwarf the major edifice.

Occupancy of the first of these buildings to be completed has just been made by the Texas Employment Commission. Its six hundred employees now are housed in the $2,400,000 structure.

A total of 11,000 pieces of office equipment were moved out of eleven downtown Austin locations into a new six-story building.

TEC began some 24 years ago with a staff of 25 employees in the state headquarters and 50 local offices. Now employed are 2,300 persons, with 93 local offices throughout the state.

County sales up half-million

Retail sales in Yoakum County in 1958 were more than one and one-half million dollars higher than in 1956 and were more than one-half million dollars higher than 1957, according to figures revealed today.

By Vern Sanford

Another woman has walked into a man's world and copped first place!

This time she is a cute little blonde with a pony tail that waves from shoulder to shoulder every time she tosses a fishing plug.

At Lake Belton on the last day of May she proved conclusively to man and bass that opening your big mouth can get you into trouble.

She hung 39 pounds of bass, on her rod and reel. But more than that, she hung defeat on a bunch of men who'd been fishing Lake Belton for weeks and bragging about how they would take the tournament.

Perhaps there weren't a dozen persons in the tournament who had ever heard of Elaine Vickers. She and her husband Vic operate Lake Point Lodges at Buchanan where "she fishes a little every day."

To say Elaine Vickers was a dark horse and not expected to win isn't exactly true. A couple of months ago Dave Hawk, last year's state champ, and L. A. Wilke, one of my fishing buddies, were riding along the highway talking about possibilities among some of the hot-shot fishermen. They named them over one by one, discussing the strong and weak points of each.

They agreed that any one of three of four, who had been fishing the lake regularly, might cop the honors.

"Then there might be a dark horse," said Wilke.

"Dark horse!" Dave repeated. "Yep, I know a pony tail that can do it." He then said Elaine Vickers, in his opinion, possessed all the qualities of a great fisherman.

"She's better than her husband, but together they make a wonderful pair," he said. "Elaine is the best caster, Vic is a good boatman. If they enter the tournament they'll be sure to take the husband-wife trophy, and I had just about as soon bet on her winning first place."

Dave had watched Elaine fish a great deal. In fact, he had done some side-line coaching even before she had thought of entering the tournament.

Dave had met Vic and Elaine rather accidentally. He was talking with Game Warden Flanagan about a good spot to launch his boat one day when he planned a picture taking trip to the lake. The warden sent him to Lake Point Lodges and it was then that he met the woman who was not only to succeed him as top fisherman, but also was to cop the perpetual trophy he gave this year in the State Bass Tournament.

This tournament is sponsored on some Texas lake each year by the Waco Herald-Tribune.

Last year the tournament was held on the Highland Lakes and Hawk was the winner. Elaine was present during the tournament, but wasn't a contestant.

The year before, the tournament was held at Lake Whitney. Ray Creel was the winner.

Those three names — Creel, Hawk and Vickers — now appear on this perpetual trophy, which is nearly four feet high. Vic and Elaine formerly worked in the composing room of the Abilene Reporter-News. When they were married in 1951, they honeymooned on Lake Buchanan at the very camp they now own.

"I fished with a cane pole and rowed my boat on that trip," she now recounts. Today she tosses her lures with a 5 1/2 foot Ted Williams rod, equipped with a Shakespeare Sportscastr reel. She uses a Silvertrol electric motor to move her boat around among the rocky coves of Lake Buchanan.

Incidentally, she says winning the tournament will not affect her fishing habits. She still thinks Buchanan is the best place in Texas to fish.

Elaine is a hard working fisherman. She has good eyes and has developed a strong casting arm. She has good control, so she has no trouble in using a fast reel and light lures.

Her favorite fish is the black bass, although she does like to hit the schools of whites that "infest" Buchanan at times.

She uses a lure to fit the occasion. For the last several months she's been using Extractors, Champs and jigs and plastic eels. Now she has switched over to some Hula poppers and similar top water lures.

The Vickers have a four-year-old son who plays around the lake shore all day, but isn't particularly interested in fishing. He'd rather see a good cowboy movie, or a science fiction piece on the television.

Elaine believes any woman can become a proficient fisherman if she likes fishing. She can't understand why anyone wouldn't like fishing, but she also recognizes that to fish successfully it is best to have an interest in it.

More and more women are coming to the lake every year to fish, she says. This has come about with the family usage of boats.

"The women learn to drive the boat," she says. "With self-starters and good motors they can operate on the lake as easily as they run their cars on the highways. When they once get on the water and get used to it, then they want to fish. We have some dandies now on Lake Buchanan."

The Vickers live at Lake Point Lodges, just west of Buchanan Dam. They can literally fish out of their back door.

Musicians are sought for Fourth Army duty

U. S. Army Recruiter Sfc. Bill Jones announced today that 119 vacancies exist in Army bands within the Fourth United States Army Area. Instruments most sought are trumpet, french horn and clarinet players.

A qualified musician of one of these instruments can be assured of his duty station before enlistment in the Army, Jones said. This includes duty at Fort Bliss, Fort Sam Houston, both in Texas; or Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Further information about army enlistments may be secured by contacting the Recruiting Station in Lubbock or by contacting Sgt. Jones in Denver City each Friday.

Fertilizer applied in one year can result in additional profits at the end of the following crop year. Increased yields from carry-over fertilizer can often pay for the original cost of the fertilizer, says W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist.

County bond sales equal 40 percent for month of June

United States Series E and H Savings Bond Sales in Yoakum County during the month of June amounted to $3,358, according to an announcement made today by D. P. Moorhead, Denver City, County Chairman of bond sales.

The amount of sales for June brought the year's total to $33,746 which represents 40.2 percent of the county goal of $84,000, Moorhead reported.

Yoakum County is a portion of District No. 5 in Texas, for which the 1959 goal is $3,363,000 and J. E. Waller is district chairman. The District has achieved 48.8 percent of the goal for the year.

Homemakers may obtain from the local home demonstration agent a copy of a new Texas Agricultural Extension Service publication, MP-342, "Manage Your Time and Energy."

Guided missile base service now available

Service at Nike guided missile bases, including the one in the Dallas-Fort Worth region, is now available for qualified Army recruits. This announcement was made today by Sfc. Bill Jones of the Army Recruiting Station in Lubbock.

Sgt. Jones said those who wish to enlist for guided missile training may choose their metropolitan area of service. He added that the office in Lubbock has had numerous inquiries about service in the Dallas-Fort Worth region, but that area only now is being opened up for enlistment of non-prior service personnel.

Other guided missile areas open for assignment by September 1 include Washington, D. C.; Chicago; Gary, Ind.; and Los Angeles. Further information may be secured by contacting Sgt. Jones in Lubbock or by seeing him on his weekly visits to Denver City on Friday.

Phosphate and Nitrogen

ROY ELLIS USING LIQUID FERTILIZER . . . Ellis farms five miles northwest of Brownfield. He has 148 acres of irrigated cotton and "I'm side-dressing with 15 gallons of 20-5-0 per acre. That figures out at the rate of about 30 pounds of nitrogen, 7 1/2 pounds of phosphate and no potash. I haven't used liquid fertilizers before, but from what I hear and from my own personal observation, I like it. It's easy to apply, money-saving in cost, and labor-saving in putting down. As I said, I don't know too much about it, but I see no reason why it shouldn't be just as good as any type fertilizer I could use," Ellis said.

The question has been asked many times: "How important is phosphate, or any one nutrient in a fertilizer formula as compared to the other? Is it necessary to have an available supply of all plant nutrients, or can nitrogen carry the burden?"

To answer this is to parallel it with the idea of having a two-mule wagon, loaded heavily, and then trying to pull the load with one big mule and one little mule. The big one may carry the brunt of the load for a short distance, but what is going to happen when he gets tired?

The same applies to fertilizers—When a farmer has a balanced diet of plant nutrients—his nitrogen will assure him of a strong, healthy plant—working with a good supply of phosphate to insure a well-fruited plant that will give top production. A plant which has an available supply of phosphate, along with needed nitrogen, will mature faster and produce better.

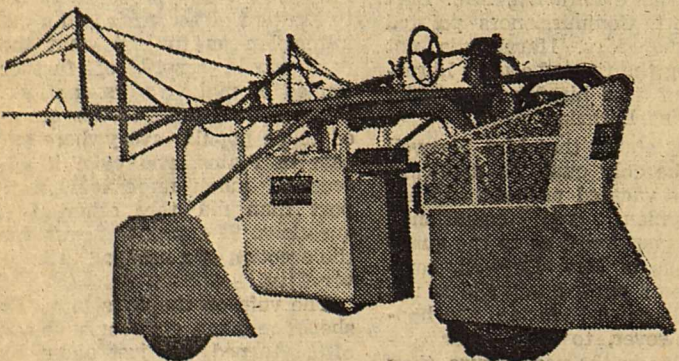

You can't get top production from nutrient-hungry plants. And when you fertilize, be sure to supply a balanced diet for your crop.

Don't second-guess your crop, have tissue tests made in our Soils Laboratory and get your plant nutrients "pulling together."

Officers installed by local Rebekahs

Ethel McCain, Deputy President of District 10 Rebekah Lodges, installed officers at the Tuesday evening meeting of Plains Rebekah Lodge No. 158.

Winnie Newsom, the new Noble Grand, and Lucille Kissinger, new Vice Grand, have a planned program that should make news in Rebekah Oddfellowship.

Visitors other than Mrs. McCain were Alice Hester and Mrs. Black from Seminole and Darlene White.

Mrs. McCain will conduct a school of instruction for all lodges in District 10 on August 11 at 8:00 p.m. in Tahoka Lodge No. 209. All Rebekahs are urged to attend this most important session.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Murph and children of Lubbock spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. S. F. Pride, and with his sisters and families here over the weekend.

Eldridge Tidwell is accompanying his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Tidwell of Lubbock, on a two-week vacation in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Tidwell and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Houston in Olton Saturday and Sunday.

Their main objective is to assemble information which will help the successful feeding of livestock.

The twelve men who make up the committee are: R. J. Hildreth, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station; Kenneth Lewis, National Cottonseed Producers Association; John H. Baumgardner, Texas Tech; Loyal H. Walker, West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Pete Caviness, Feeder-Packer; Walter Labay, Vocational Agriculture; Clemon Montgomery, Vocational Agriculture; C. B. Spencer, Texas Cottonseed Crusher's Association; W. H. Jones, Extension Service; J. O. Parker, Feeder; Frank Arnold, Banker; and Bill Nelson, Grain Sorghum Producers' Association.

These men know how to gather the information and put it together in a pamphlet like Feeder's Forum. They have sent me five copies of the one on cattle feeding and I will be glad to give a copy to anyone interested enough to ask for one. If more copies are needed we can get them from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Box 1561, Abilene, Texas.

CASTING HIS BALLOT in the city's gas bond election Saturday is Kenneth Hale, an employee of Shell Oil Company. He didn't reveal how he voted, but he is a member of the City Council which should give some indication as to how he stood on the question. REVIEW Photo

Bookmobile circulation doubled

Seagraves — Book circulation more than doubled — from 2017 to 4827 — during the second month of the Texas State Library's bookmobile demonstration in Dawson, Gaines, Terry and Yoakum counties, according to James B. Greer, multi-county librarian.

Greer attributed a large share to a large share generated by the "Texas Reading Round-up," the State Library's summer reading program for children and young people. He noted, however, that many children brought their parents to the bookmobile with them, arousing an interest in the parents to pick out some books for themselves.

Adult readers evidenced a marked preference for biographies, such as Diana Barrymore's, "Too Much, Too Soon"; Catherine Marshall's, "A Man Called Peter"; Beals, "John Foster Dulles" and Burnham's "Billy Graham." Other favorite titles are Art Linkletter's "Kids Say the Darndest Things" and Kerr's "Please Don't Eat the Daisies."

Do-it-yourself books, mechanics, farming, and science continued to be popular subjects for men readers, while the ladies asked primarily for books on gardening, flower arranging, cooking, sewing, and home decoration.

Books on World War II, Science Fiction, Sports, and Boy Scout Merit Badge requirements were favorites with the boys, while girls like career information, grooming, love stories and biographies of famous women.

"I'm sure our circulation will continue to increase as more people learn of the many interesting and informational books we have available in the bookmobile collection," Greer said.

The bookmobile is being operated in the four-county area by the Texas State Library under provisions of the Library Services Act, as a free sample of first-class rural library service for a period of one year. There is no cost to the counties involved. At the end of the one year period the bookmobile will be moved to another group of counties whose county commissioners courts have requested the service.

allocated for the operation of the library during the first year it was operated. The following year, the appropriation was reduced to $20,000. Mrs. Bartlett had requested that the library budget be increased for the coming year, but commissioners told her they had planned to reduce the allocated expense rather than increase it, just as they were having to do in a number of other departments. It was over this point that an already-tense relationship between the commissioners and Mrs. Bartlett exploded, resulting in her resignation.

Monday's session resulted in only partial satisfaction to most of the Tsa Mo Ga members. A number of them contacted the Review later to state they were still dissatisfied with the general situation and were not convinced that Mrs. Harwell is qualified to hold the librarian's position.

They pointed out that their organization had worked for years in an effort to get a library established in Plains and that the operation of the library was of great interest to them.

Commissioners, meanwhile, said they were perfectly willing to consider any suggestions offered by the women, or by anyone else in the county. They told them they would like for them to seek out persons who might possibly qualify as librarian and they would welcome any other suggestions concerning the operation of the library.

One thing was agreed on by all. Everyone attending the meeting was generous in praise of the work done by Mrs. Bartlett during the time she served as librarian.

outskirts of the town reveal the population to be 1,052, but that figure was derived from a survey made several years ago.

An accurate picture of the population is of much value to the Chamber of Commerce and to businessmen and others alike. Prospective new business men, prospective residents and many others interested in the retail markets often study population figures thoroughly before making decisions about an area.

Bookmobile will be in county on Tuesday

The Texas State Library Bookmobile will make three stops in Yoakum County next week, according to an announcement by James B. Greer, librarian.

Bookmobile will stop at the Grocery Store in Bronco from 9:30 a.m. to 10:15 a.m., Tuesday; at the Turner Gin from 11 to 11:45 on Tuesday; and at the Yoakum County Library in Plains from 1 to 4:15 p.m., Tuesday.

Greer also announced today that two additional stops have been added in the City of Seminole, beginning August 4, and two more stops have been scheduled in Dawson County beginning August 5. Stops at Arvana and the Dawson County Court-house will be discontinued.

County's lawyers planning to form legal association

Yoakum County's five attorneys are now making plans for the formation of a Yoakum County Bar Association, according to information revealed today by Attorney Claude Freeman, Denver City.

Attorney Freeman said the purpose of the county organization will be to give better service to the public through advertising and public relations.

He said that the association, through newspaper advertising, will be in a better position to let people know what type services are offered by attorneys and also when people should consult an attorney before making a decision.

Another asset of the county organization, Freeman said, will be affiliation with the State Bar of Texas which provides free films and other materials which will aid people in their understanding of the legal profession.

A meeting will be held in the near future at which time the organization will be formally set up, Freeman said.

Senator Preston Smith

Who is to blame for Texas' lack of action on raising additional money to finance the state's government?

After six months of work, including the special sessions, frayed tempers here in Austin have circulated the blame for delay of a new tax program.

Governor Daniel blames the lobby — House Speaker Carr has blamed "obstructionists in the House" — and the House, in occasional flurries, blames the press and black headlines.

Actually, the real issue it seems is a severance beneficiary tax on natural gas vs. a production tax on natural gas. The opposition to both types of natural gas taxes has clashed in many legislative skirmishes during the 56th Legislature.

One Austin columnist calls this natural gas tax dispute, one of the principal issues that have delayed tax action. He pin points the natural gas dispute as costing time, money and tempers in the Legislature.

The gas tax issue has been camouflaged in many voting bouts by side issues, he said and that Texas gas-wise is split between producers, pipelines, industrial users. It is strictly a lobby fight, pro and con, carried on through the Legislators who have to vote on the issue.

With the gas tax issue, and hundreds of other Legislative problems, capitol observers were not surprised when Speaker Waggoner Carr stood before the House and challenged his opposition to "put up or shut up". It was bound to come out of all the Legislative confusion, they said. Carr learned of rumored action to impeach him, and in a personal privilege speech, told the House, "I recognize that this move has been prompted by those who seek the opportunity to politically kill me because they envision me as a possible statewide candidate some day who does not share their political philosophy."

The House, following the address, sent a committee to escort Carr back to his rostrum.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Bandy spent Monday with her mother, Mrs. W. H. Congers at Anton.

Miscellaneous shower honors Joyce Curtis

Miss Joyce Curtis, bride-elect of Louis James Schoepf, was honored with a lovely Miscellaneous shower and tea Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 in the County Clubroom.

Miss Curtis' chosen colors of green and white were carried out in the decor.

Crystal of an Early American design was used for the white Crescent centerpiece of white gladiola and white roses amid an array of greenery, in the piano piece of white shasta daisies, to hold the arrangement of small white glads at the register and the punch service adorning a beautiful white cutwork cloth. Vases of colored roses and dahlias added a special touch.

Mrs. Ray M. Bearden registered the guests. Mrs. Jim Brown poured the delicious lime sherbet punch and Mrs. Duane McDonnell served the dainty white cupcakes decorated with pink wedding bells tied with green ribbon.

Miss Curtis was assisted in receiving guests by her mother, Mrs. L. B. Curtis, Mrs. James Rushing and Mrs. Rufus Brian.

Others assisting with the hostesses were Mrs. Thelma Ellis, Mrs. Polly Rushing, Mrs. H. G. McDonnell, Mrs. Jesse Hale and Mrs. Bob White.

Out of town guests registered were the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. E. T. Schoepf of Levelland, his sister, Mrs. Reynolds, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Burl Schoepf and her mother, Mrs. Lewis Travis all of Littlefield, Mrs. Ivey of Lorenzo, and Miss Curtis' sister-in-law, Mrs. Lawrence Curtis of Midland.

The Curtis-Schoepf nuptials will be exchanged Saturday August 8 in Bowman Memorial Chapel of First Methodist Church, Lubbock.

MRS. L. O. SMITH exercises her voting duty during the county bond elections held Saturday. Mrs. Smith, who lives five miles southwest of

Plains, was accompanied to the polls by her husband, who also voted Saturday. REVIEW Photo

Garden Club group enjoyed guided tour in Hobbs

The Plains Dirt Gardener's Club met at the clubroom July 24 at 9:00 a.m. to drive to Hobbs, N.M., for a guided tour of lawns, gardens and homes.

Mrs. Weichman of Weichman Nursery conducted the tour throughout Hobbs. Garden Club members of that city joined the group, and some served refreshments as they visited many lovely gardens and homes. They visited some of the most expensive homes where full-time gardeners are kept on down to the modest homes of teachers and everyday working people.

After lunch Mrs. Weichman, who is a rose consultant for the American Rose Society, guided them through the trial rose gardens which are on the hospital grounds. There were many new roses from rose breeders all over the world there that are being tried before they are put on the market.

GRACE

...that is greater. Grace that comes from God. Grace that has survived both victory and defeat. Grace that comes through long years of gentle conduct and tender devotion and utter dependance in each other. That's what these life-long partners have been able to garner. God united them and they have depended on Him to keep them. They gave over the control room of their lives to God. Devotion to His cause has sweetened the influences they exert. It hasn't been hard for them to keep up their church attendance record, nor administer to the sick, nor give to the poor. It made a difference when they placed their lives in the hands of God. It will make a difference with you too, for Blessed is the man that walketh in the path of righteousness.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Pony League team remains in running for championship in Denver City meet

Denver City, Roswell, N. M., and Lubbock have survived three nights of Pony League Tournament competition and now will battle it out among themselves for the District Championship, with two games Thursday night and a possibility of another game Friday.

A number of Plains youngsters are members of the Denver City team, a fact which lends considerable local interest to the Denver City tournament.

The host nine posted wins over Roswell and Slaton before being tabbed with their first loss by Lubbock Wednesday night by a 26-10 score. Roswell is advancing through the losers bracket, having edged Childress and Slaton out of tournament competition with wins Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Lubbock has advanced into the final nights of tournament play on the basis of wins over Childress on Monday night and the one-sided conquest of Denver City last night.

Thursday night's first game will find Roswell locking horns with Denver City at 6 p.m. in a "do-or-die" game for both teams. The loser will be eliminated from tournament play, while the winner will go on to play the second game at 8 p.m. against the all-winning Lubbock aggregation. In the event the winner of the Roswell-Denver City tilt also defeats Lubbock in the second game, the same two clubs will meet for the tournament championship on Friday at 8 p.m.

The Denver City-Lubbock Donneybrook lasted almost three hours and was halted in the fifth inning on the mandatory 15-run margin rule which is in effect in tournament competition.

A total of five pitchers saw action on the mound for the hosts, with Gilbert Coats being tagged with the loss after he had allowed the first five Lubbock runs. Pat Hubbard came in relief of Coats, Kim Freeman followed Hubbard, James Petty took over the hill from Kim in the fifth and Mike Martin also came on in the fifth to stop the Lubbock uprising which netted 10 runs in the fifth.

Three of the Lubbock mound corps also saw duty in the tilt, with Sidney Hampton starting off and getting credit for the win although he was yanked in favor of James Davis in the fourth. The reliefer also needed help from Lowell Bingham in the fifth inning when DC posted two tallies.

Lyle Lewter, with two safeties including a fifth inning double, led the Lubbockmen at bat with two-for-two. Barnett also chipped in with three hits, including a pair of two-base blows, and Davis aided the winning cause with three hits in five appearances, including a fifth inning round-trip smash. Donnie Briggerstaff also hit for the circuit for Lubbock in the big fifth.

Tommy O'Neal, with two hits in two appearances at the plate, paced the Denver City nine in the one-sided tilt. O'Neal banged singles in the second and third innings to lead the batting show. Sammy Faulkner, who had compiled a hitting record of seven-for-nine going into the ball game, was held to a lone two-base hit in the third in three official at bats.

The Denver City nine stamped themselves as one of the major teams in contention for the championship on Tuesday night when they staged another garrison, come-from-behind finish to edge Slaton by a 10-7 score.

In Monday night's closing game, the host nine were all-the-way to overcome an early lead built up by top-seeded Roswell to post a close 11-10 victory over the New Mexico representatives in the tourney. Eleven big misuses afield almost proved to be the downfall of the local lads, but they managed to pull themselves together in the late innings to post the win.

Roswell jumped off to a fast 3-1 lead at the end of one inning on the basis of two hits and six big errors by the Denver City aggregation. The locals picked up an additional tally in the second frame to narrow the margin, but then Roswell notched another quintet of runs in the third to take a commanding lead.

Denver City came roaring back in the bottom of the third to pull the score to 8-5 and then took the lead for the first time in the fourth with four more big runs. The lead then changed hands again in the fifth when Roswell posted two to set the stage for the garrison finish by the McFerrin managed aggregation.

Butch Giesecke and Sammy Faulkner shared hitting honors for the locals, the former hitting four times in as many trips to the plate and the Seagraves boy notching three hits in four trips. Pat Hubbard slammed the tourney's second round-tripper in the four-run, fourth-inning uprising. Dusky Herman Newsom led the visitors at bat with three hits in the top of the third inning.

Gilbert Coats started on the mound for the locals, but was yanked in favor of Pat Hubbard in the top of the third inning. Hubbard remained in action until the sixth when Faulkner came on in relief to tie down the win. Vicky Roberts, John Rowe, Harry Atkinson and Randy Willis all saw mound duty for the losers, with Willis finally being tagged with the defeat.

Social Security agent to be in Plains next Thursday

A representative of the Lubbock Social Security office will be at the County Service office in the Plains Court house at 1:30 p.m. next Thursday to assist Yoakum County residents in any matters pertaining to Social Security.

As has been the practice over most of the past several years, a number of changes have been made in Social Security regulations and the commission is anxious for all persons to understand the program.

This year, for instance, social security taxes will be withheld on more of the person's earnings. Last year only the first $4,200 of earnings was covered by social security and subject to the tax. In the 1958 Amendments,

Congress increased the earning base to $4,800 in order to reflect the increase in the level of wages.

Employees should be sure that their employers keep withholding social security taxes until the first $4,800 has been paid. This is the time of the year when many employees start reaching the $4,200 to $4,800 level and some employers might not be aware of the change. If an employee doesn't get credit for all his earnings, up to the maximum of $4,800, his benefits will be correspondingly less.

The increase in earnings base means an increase in benefits. The top retirement benefit payable on average earnings of $4,200 ($350 a month) is $116. Workers who retire in the future may qualify for the eventual maximum benefit of $127 a month based on average earnings of $4,800 a year ($400 a month).

Questions on any of these or other matters will be gladly answered by the Lubbock representative in Plains Thursday.

STATES SOMETIMES "INHERITS" PROPERTY

Made your will? If not, the State of Texas may wind up as owner of your estate upon your death. Under our statutes, the estates of persons having no heirs who die intestate revert, or "escheat," to the State.

Such provisions have been carried over from the English common law. There, under such circumstances, the estate escheated to the British crown. The theory of the process is that the sovereign (or State), having been the original owner of all lands before they were parceled out to individuals, is entitled to a return of such lands when the possibilities of legal inheritance have been exhausted.

This idea has been expanded to include personal property as well as real estate. It also applies in the case of a person absent for a term of seven years and not known to exist who leaves no heirs and no will.

Presumably, there is hardly a person who does not have some individual or charity that he would prefer to have his estate, rather than have it go to the State by default, so to speak. Yet, surprisingly, estates worth many thousands of dollars do escheat to the various states from time to time.

Now, before you shrug the matter off with the idea that these statutory provisions could not possibly apply to you, better think a minute. Suppose you and your spouse have no heirs besides each other and your children. Many people do fall into this category.

In event of a catastrophe resulting in death for you and your entire immediate family, no legal heirs would remain. Therefore if you had no will, your property would go to the State. In preparing a will, it is possible to provide for such an eventuality.

In this hypothetical case, you would probably want to designate some friend as executor, to take care of all necessary arrangements and then distribute the estate according to your wishes.

On the other hand, if you have plenty of possible heirs, a will could be used to designate which of them shall participate in the division of the estate. And even if you wish your property to be ance with our statutes of de-distributed entirely in accord- and distribution as explained in previous columns, a will can perform useful functions. Among other uses, a will could provide for an orderly and economical partition of your property, preventing any waste of the assets by heirs impatient for a settlement.

What happens to property which escheats to the State? Following certain required legal formalities and court proceedings, all escheated lands are set apart to the Permanent Free School Fund of the State, and may be leased and sold by the Land Commissioner under certain regulations. Escheated personal property is sold by the local sheriff under a court writ and the money received therefrom paid into the State Treasury.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Mrs. L. B. Curtis visited her daughter, Miss Joyce Curtis who is a technician at Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, Monday and Tuesday.

All six children are present for Snodgrass family reunion in Tokio

The six children and their families and a nephew and his family of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Snodgrass spent Sunday in the family home near Tokio.

Those enjoying a day of recreation and visiting together and plenty of delicious food were:

Mr. and Mrs. Arvel Snodgrass and Zada of Lehman, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Snodgrass and Pat of Corpus Christi, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Snodgrass and family of Tokio, Mr. and Mrs. James Hays and children of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jones and sons of Tokio, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Smith and family of Plains, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Aiberding and sons of Plains, Mrs. Sonny Roulain and Donald Ross of Whiteface, Mrs. James Wilson and children of Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Snodgrass of Leveland, Mr. and Mrs. Duane McDonnell and Pat and Mr. and Mrs. Lavon Smith and Alton all of Plains, Miss Winona Yarbrugh of Canyon, Miss Linda Fitzgerald of Plains and Little Miss Beth Cagle of Lehman, and Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass.

Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass, who have resided in Yoakum County the past forty years, had not had all their children and their families together in several years.

Mr. Snodgrass will complete twenty years employment with Lubbock Production Credit Association this fall as manager of the Brownfield office serving Yoakum, Terry and Gaines Counties.

Useton children in talent show contest

Linda, Becky and Jim Useton, children of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Useton, won second place in the Bill Mack talent show held Saturday night in Morton. Competing against a field of 20 contestants, they earned runnerup honors for their version of "Charlie Brown."

They were presented a flash camera as a prize for their accomplishment.

The talented Useton children have appeared on a Lubbock television program and Becky often sings special numbers at the services of the First Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nelson of Wellington are visiting their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henard, Margaret and Frances for a few days.

Aphid infestation reported on late cotton plantings

Late planted cotton is generally infested with aphids, according to the weekly cotton insect situation report compiled and issued by the Extension Service at Texas A & M College at College Station.

The report states that aphids should be controlled with parathion or methyl parathion. Both of these materials are toxic to higher animals and should be used with caution. During the spraying, the operator should not be exposed to drift. If it is not practical to apply these materials with caution, malathion should be used. Repeated dosages of any of these materials may be necessary to obtain adequate control.

Fleahopper infestations continue low in a majority of fields while in some plantings damaging infestations should be controlled. The heavier infestations were generally reported in early planted fields. Light to medium infestations were reported in most area counties.

Bollworm activity has increased somewhat over the previous week, but infestations were generally light to medium. Since most cotton is in an attractive stage, fields should be checked for presence of eggs and small worms.

Cabbage loopers were found in most fields but no damaging infestations were reported. Grasshoppers continued to cause some damage to cotton bordering on grasslands in occasional fields.

Mexican charged on drunk driving following wreck

Adolfo Virer, 28, an employee of Willard Kidd, is in County Jail in Plains charged with driving while intoxicated as the result of a wreck early last Thursday morning at the "Y" intersection in Denver City.

According to Deputy Sheriff V. E. Sanders, the Mexican was driving a 1950 DeSoto which collided with a chemical truck being driven by Tom Harred, address unknown.

Sanders said Virer was "traveling south toward Denver City" and struck the truck. He received a slight laceration of the tongue, and after treatment at Yoakum County Hospital in Denver City was placed in custody. Harred was not injured. Damage was estimated at $500 to the truck and the car was totally demolished.

Attend wedding of nephew in Tahoka

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Curtis attended the wedding of her nephew, Leon Davis and Miss Carolyn Duckett of Tahoka in the Sweet Street Baptist Church in Tahoka Saturday evening.

They were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Joyce Curtis of Lubbock, and their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Curtis of Midland, who were visiting here last weekend.

Mrs. H. W. Culwell, who underwent major surgery recently, is back on the job as bookkeeper in the City Hall.
