The YOAKUM COUNTY REVIEW

VOLUME 29

PLAINS, TEXAS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1959

Gaines County claims to be the birthplace of Comanche Chief Quanah Parker and a number of other areas in this part of the country boast of historical sites. We've wondered a good bit if Plains or Yoakum County might not have a very valuable historical or publicity point which has never been brought to light.

If not, perhaps one could be fabricated for publicity purposes. Muleshoe recently got national publicity on a radio program carried by a radio station there which was adopted after the hit song, "Mule Train." The Associated Press wire recently carried a picture of a Chamber of Commerce welcoming sign inviting travelers to the city of several hundred people and "three or four old grouches."

But one of the most interesting publicity stunts pulled by community is that of Happy Valley, North Carolina, which is expected to be a big tourist center next summer. The attraction will be the grave of Thomas C. Dula who has been immortalized in the popular song, "Hang Down Your Head, Tom

The real story is that Thomas C. Dula fought as a private in the Conferedate Army and shortly after his return from the war was hanged for the murder of Laura Foster. The trial and execution took place in Statesville in 1866, but Tom Dula was brought back for burial, not in a cemetery, but on a farm now owned by a fellow named Sam Jones. No one has paid much attention to his grave umtil sentimental interest was aroused by the song relating his misfortunes.

Now under his new name of Tom Dooley, he has become something of a celebrity. Some people in Statesville proposed that he be disinterred and reburied there, with a suitable memorial and proper care for his grave. People of Ferguson, however, retorted that if the Statesville folks were so interested in Tom's welfare they shouldn't have hanged him back

In second place is a calf belonging to Oscar Henard which has been near the top all during the summer. Oscar's calf gained 73 pounds during the past four weeks and has a total gain of 405 pounds. This calf was in fourth place last month and it only weighs 658 pounds, a fact which indicates it will be a strong contender for the loving cup since it is still small. CROP drive is Thursday Unbeaten Plains returns to home

CROP", conducted annually by the youngsters of Plains during the Halloween season, will be held next Thursday evening, according to Rev. H. H. Meixner, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Rev. Meixner said the early date was chosen because of conflicting events later in the week.

Sponsored annually by the churches of Plains, the event will get underway at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday when the young people of the community will meet briefly at the old court house for instructions.

"When your doorbell rings, be ready with your handouts - not candy or doughnuts or apples, but gifts of money for CROP," Rev. Meixner said. CROP (the initials stand for Christian Rural Overseas Program) is the community appeal for church world service which distributes American surplus food to hungry people in other contries, Rev. Meixner explained.

Through the churches and other agencies CROP gifts and government surplus food are given free to people who need them most overseas. CROP gifts of food, fiber and cash have amounted to more than $16 mil-

Last year the young people of Plains collected $179.40 in this Halloween project. They hope to do even better this year. In Texas, approximately $50,000 was raised.

"Make your gift a generous one when the young people of your community come to your door," Rev. Meixner emphasized.

Serving on the committee with Rev. Meixner are Rev. C. J. Coffman, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Rev. Johnnie Moore, pastor of the First Christian Church.

Don McGinty, local business woman, is buried Friday

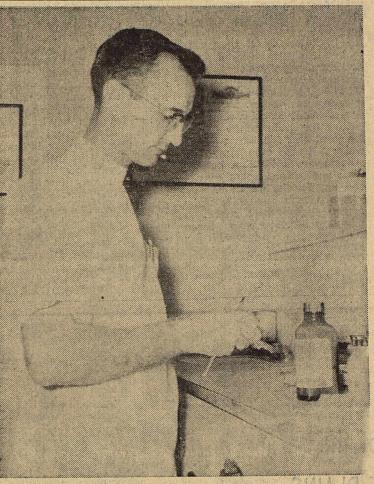

Mrs. Don C. McGinty, local business woman, died at her home about 9:00 a.m. Thursday, October 15, after a short illness. A friend, Mrs. Earl Brumley, who often visited Mrs. McGinty and helped with her housework, found her upon receiving no answer to her knock.

Mrs. McGinty, the daughter of Mrs. W. T. Clinton and the late Mr. Clinton, was born in Burleson County, Texas, on February 14, 1907. She moved with her family to Tahoka in 1917 and received most of her schooling there. Following graduation from Lubbock High School in 1924 she attended C. I. A. in Denton, West Texas State Teacher's College in Canyon and Texas Tech in Lubbock. She taught in several rural schools before coming to Yoakum County in 1929 where she boarded with Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Nevels and taught one year in the Bledsoe school in the southwest part of the county.

She was married to D. B. Mc-Ginty, Plains rancher and businessman, on February 14, 1930. He preceded her in death on March 8, 1953 and she has continued to operate the abstract and insurance business since Services for Mrs. McGinty, a member of Plains First Christian Church, were conducted in Brownfield Funeral Home Chapel at 10:00 a.m. Friday by Rev. R. H. Meixner, pastor of First Methodist Church of Plains. Burial was in Yoakum County Cemetery. Pall bearers were Floyd Tubb, Lewis Allsup and Charles Townes of Tahoka, R. B. Jones Jr. of Bronco and Mac and Tom McRae of Plains.

She is survived by a son, Steve, a Plains high school student; her mother, Mrs. W. T. Clinton of Tahoka; three sisters, Mrs. R. B. Jones and Mrs. W: B. Scott of Plains and Mrs. T. G. Dawes of Rosenburg.

New trailer law

Robert H. Chambliss, county tax assessor-collector, predicts there will be a lot of frustrated trailer owners next Febuary and March when re-registration of motor vehicles is due.

By the terms of a new law, trailers over 4,000 pounds will have to have certificates of title for the first time. Titles can be obtained now while there is still time to meet certain requirements regarding proof of ownership and serial numbers. February and March will be a very poor time for handling this new requirement, Chambliss said.

Plains footballers perform before the home folks Friday night for the first time since September 18, the Cowboys hosting O'Donnell's Eagles in a district Undefeated after seven games, the Cowboys will be shooting for their second district victory as they attempt to repeat as champions of the double-tough circuit. Last week, Plains opened defense of its district crown with a 36-0 win over Frenship, their fifth white washing job of the year.

O'Donnell boasts only a so-so record, but the Eagles have played a real tough schedule. They have lost to Crosbyton, Stanton and Sundown, but all three of these teams are considered among the state's best Class A clubs. The Eagles hold victories over Post and Tahoka, both of Class AA, and also won over Coahoma.

Coach Jack Pierce said this week he expected a real tough game from the battle-hardened Eagles. Last year O'Donnell fell to the Cowboys, 44-20, but it was the only district team to score three touchdowns against Plains. Adding incentive to an already high desire on the part of the visitors is the fact that O'Donnell has never beaten Plains in any sport since the Cowboys joined the district four years ago.

What is our most priceless resource? The rock you see to-will feed the people of the world a few thousand years from now. Soil was not always here. It developed from rock through the years by natures forces such as wind, water, ice, heat and cold. These forces broke the rock in crumbly particles and the small plants such as moss and lichens began to grow. When bacteria dissolved them and mixed them into the young soil. Bigger plants now took over and their roots helped crumble the raw materials into smalled particles and making what we call soil. Siil is the place where most plants grow. Men and all other animals depend upon plants for food. So plants depend upon the soil for raw materials that help them

Without soil neither plants nor animals could live. Without soil very few of the tiniest forms of life could exist on earth. Soil then is our most precious resource since it makes life on earth possible. Soil contains the most valuable elements on earth, some of which are nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium. Men put their money in the bank but all too often they let a farm which is far more precious erode away. The few inches of topsoil that took nature thousands of years to build may blow away in a very few days of severe windstorms. The people of the world are just a few precious inches from starvation. These inches are the topsoil that grow the crops in the Yoakum Soil Conservation District. The topsoil averages eight to ten inches deep. The ancient Civilizations of the Near East and

Soil is most priceless Aisia have become empty wastes because men did not guard their real treasure—the topsoil.

> Even today men still squander their soil treasures. When the country was new in the time of Thomas Jefferson who was one of our earliest soil conservationists the topsoil averaged about nine inches in depth, today the depth averages five inches. We have lost four inches in less than three hundred years. In the early history of the United States a farmer could burn off the timber, plow up and down the hills and in a few years wear out his farm and move west where land was plentiful and cheap, but now we can no longer move West the Pacific ocean prevents this. We must conserve what we have wasely. Starvation and desert lands are not hundreds of miles away they are only five inches

Soil Conservation as we know it today is not new, Thomas Jefferson recognized the need for it and some of the results of poor management from a lack of Soil Conserving practices. The first phase of his conservation activities was chiefly a system of crop rotation, including legumes and the use of fertilizers and field arrangement to overcome the ravages of years of constant growing of tobacco and cotton with no regard to erosion. Thomas Jefferson also, believed in "horizontal ploughing" which consisted of following the curvature of the hills and hollows on the dead level, however crooked the lines may be to keep the hills from becoming so injured." We know this practice today as contour farming. Thomas Jefferson also believed in terraces-"our practice is to lay off guide" lines conducted horizontally around the hill about thirty yards apart. The steps of the level on the ground marked by the strokes of a hoe and immediately followed by plough." He also used bench terraces for his gardens and orchards.

According to modern standards on conservation Jefferson's ideas are wanting in terms of degree rather than in kind. Such practices as use of cover crops, fertilizers, and of crop rotations to include grasses and legumes; interplanting a closer spaced growing crop with a row crop; contouring a deep lowing where needed and increased livestock and grass production. In his tests of legumes and grasses Jefferson found Vetch and the Clovers as very satisfactory for preventing erosion and building the land by adding nitrogen and organic matter.

I believe Soil Conservation is a moral obligation of this generation for the benefit of future

The Yoakum Soil Conservation District Supervisors and the soil conservation technicians stand ready to help you in any way they can. The first step is up to you to ask for assistance, the next step is up to me a soil scientist. To make a soils map of your farm. The Soil Conservation Service will give any assistance you may ask for, the program is voluntary, you make the decision as to what, is best for you. Conservation doesn't cost it pays.

Junior gridders trounce O'Donnell to even old score

Coach Sam Mosley's Junior High footballers defeated the O'Donnell Junior High team with a 28-0 reading last Thursday evening in Cowboy Stadium. The same O'Donnell team had previously defeated the young Cowboys in O'Donnell with a 14-8 tally.

The team showed much improvement in Thursday's game due mostly to team spirit and desire to win.

O'Donnell took the opening kickoff only to fumble it away on a bruising tackle by Olan Smith. The junior Cowboys took over on the 50. On the third play from scrimmage Mike Field faked a handoff to Smith who slipped the pigskin to Roland Faires who in turn dittoed to Larry Coffman. Coffman scampred 40 yards untouched for a

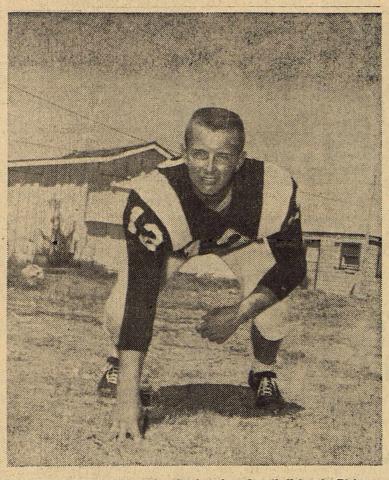

This was a heartbreaking play because it was nullified by a backfield-in-motion ive-ward penalty. The young Cowboys were undaunted for they came back on the next play with a pitchout from Field to Faires with Roland showing O'Donnell a clean set of sleats and a nifty bit of broken-field running for 45 yards and a TD. He also tacked on two more points with an off-tackle slant for the conversion.

On the next series of downs. the Plains lads with the ball, drove to the O'Donnell 2-yard line then Field sneaked it over for another TD. Smith added the extra points with an offtackle plunge. At the close of the first quarter the score read

The second quarter was all defense and the halftime scoreboard stood at 16-0.

Smith took the second half kickoff on his own 30 and rambled 70 yards for the third tally. The try for extar point failed and the cunt remained at 22-0 with both teams battling back and forth until the closing minutes of the game when Faires took a pitchout from Field. He went wide to his left, cut back up field and scooted 55 yards in the clear to add to the count. The extra point try failed and the score hit a final reading of

Plains clouts Frenship for first district win

downs by the Plains enabled the trict 5-A season with a 36-0 win over the Frenship Tigers Friday

After a listless first quarter, first Cowboy touchdown by intercepting a Tiger pass at the Frenship 21. Joe Don Marrow capped a three-play drive to the goal by going over from the oneyard line. Mike Sink passed to Jack Meixner for the extra points and the Cowboys were out front, 8-0, with 10:13 to play ing the kickoff and Olie Clary Tiger 44. Tidwell carried to the play. Tidwell, filling in for the ailing Don Williams, blocked Cofman across the goal. The extra point attempt failed.

Next time Plains got the ball, the Cowboys scored from 44 yards out on a beautiful pass play from Sink to James Alberding, but the play was called back because of an in-motion penalty. Other penalties bogged down the drive which had reached the 29.

Frenship Quarterback Mike Burgamy tried a pass from the 29 and Cowboy Dick Cooke intercepted at the 35 and raced all the way for another Plains touchdown. Marrow crashed over for the extra points and Plains took a 22-0 lead with 1:45 left before half-time.

The quick scoring upset the Tigers and they fumbled on the next kickoff and the Cowboys took over at the 19. Plains had touchdown No. 4 only 44 seconds later when Ray Faught went over from four yards out. Marrow picked up the extra points.

Frenship's only drive began late in the third period at its own 25. Aided by two penalties which brought the ball back and gave the Tigers first downs following fouth-down kicks, Frenship drove to the Plains 20-yard line. But here, Harmon Meixner intercepted a pass and returned it to the 33. The Frenship drive utes of the fourth quarter.

Following an exchange of punts, Plains took over at its own 14. Eleven plays later with only 11 seconds remaining, Marrow passed to Coffman for the touchdown from 10 yards out. Big gainers in the 86-yard drive had been runs of 13 and 14 yards by Marrow and scampers of 15 and 12 yards by Faught. Mike Culwell was hit before he could get the ball away as he attempted to pass for the extra

As usual, the Plains defense played a big role in Friday's triumph. Frenship's offense never did get going. The Tigers didn't get a first-down until nearly midway in the third quarter. Their only drive was aided by two penalties, which accounted for two of their five first downs.

Tackle Don Todd played his usual stellar game for the Cowboys and was ably assisted by Doug Todd, Cooke, Harmon Meixner. Coffman, Sam St. Romain, Marrow and Alberding.

Mrs. Jones to direct Tsa Mo Ga program

Due to a conflicting engagement, John J. Kendrick, scheduled guest speaker for the Tsa Mo Ga Club on October 26, will be unable to appear. The address "Combating Materialism in Government," will be heard at a later date, at which time the husbands of club members will be special guests.

The program arranged for the 26th will be talks on the two projects, State and District adopted for this administration. Mrs. Robert Chambliss will talk on "Need for More Nurses." Mrs. Ben W. Boyd of Denton, State President of the Texas Federation of Womens Clubs, has chosen as her project, "Professional Nurses Scholarship," in an effort to enduce more young people to enter the nursing profession.

Mrs. R. B. Jones will talk on 'Coronado, The First White Man in Texas." Placing markers on Coronado's Route across the Texas Panhandle is a project of Seventh District. Club women of this area feel that proper recognition should be given to Coronado's trip, as a historical event, so have chosen as a project the placing of markers on the route.

Special music will be enjoyed and the Social Committee will act as hosts. The meeting will be held in the Club House.

RAILROAD FEATHERBEDDING:

$500,000,000 LOSS

TO THE NATION-INCLUDING YOU-EVERY YEAR

Featherbedding on the railroads - pay for work not done or not needed - is costing the American people the shocking total of more than $500,000,000 a year.

You pay for it every time you shop, because featherbedding costs are hidden in the price of everything you buy.

Obsolete union work rules, involving the railroad operating employees, are responsible for this gigantic burden. Right now, for instance, these rules require every diesel locomotive to carry a fireman - even though diesels have no fires to stoke, no boilers to tend.

The forthcoming negotiations between the railroads and the unions are urgently important to the whole nation.

In asking the unions to drop these featherbedding rules, all the railroads ask for is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

ACROSS THE Cattle Guard

by LEO W. WHITE County Agent

Most of the cotton gins in this area have a drying system in their plant so they can lower the moisture content of the seed cotton before it goes through the machinery. In order to tell how much drying needs to be done they have to know how much moisture is in the cotton. They test each load of cotton with a simple moisture testing machine. Some of it needs no drying at all while other loads need three or four percent taken out before a good job of ginning can be done

The same moisture testing machine used by gin managers can be rigged to test the moisture in seed cotton in the field. Some of these moisture testing machines are on the market for about $75.00 each. Farmers with a large cotton acreage could well afford to own a moisture testing apparatus for use in the field at harvesting time. The cotton will dry out more rapidly one day than it will another. Some mornings after a heavy dew the cotton will dry down to 8 percent moisture by 9 o'clock and the very next day may be one of those cloudy days with high humidity and it is 11:00 a.m. before the cotton is dry enough to harvest. A moisture testing machine could tell exactly when the cotton was dry enough to harvest. The difference in the value of a bale of cotton harvested too damp could easily be $25.00 less than a bale harvested when it was just

Some farmers blame the classing office when they get different grades on cotton harvested the same day out of the same field. The variation in moisture at harvesting time could easily be the cause of some of these different grades. At 7:00 a.m. the moisture content of seedcotton is usually about 15 percent. If the air is dry and the sun is out the cotton will dry out to 10 percent moisture by 9 o'clock. Then by 10 o'clock the moisture content is down to 8 percent and ready to harvest. Since we do not have moisturt testing machines for this year the next best thing to do is to estimate the amount of moisture in the seed cotton. The gin operator can help the farmer by letting him know the moisture content of each load as it comes to the gin. This would give the farmer a guide to go by and he would know if he should stay out of the field a little longer each morning. The morning starting time is no more important than the evening quiting time. The moisture content of the seed cotton starts going up as early as 4:00 p.m. and it is usually too high to gin properly

ping machine would need to be even more cautious because he gets more leaves and trash in his seed cotton. These are the materials that the gin cannot get out of damp cotton. He will have a trashy sample in addition to a matted sample and the classing office will grade it down and the buyer will pay $25.00 a bale less for it. He could easily afford to wait an hour or two to start his stripping machine because he can usually fill all his trailers in a few hours anyway. When the gins are crowded and the farmer can only get a trailer or two a day he may as well wait until after dinner to start his stripper so he can fill the trailer with dry cotton. Of course there is such a thing as having it too dry and brittle but the gins can take care of that situation too. They can put moisture in much easier than they can take it out.
