Plains Talk

By Wendell Faught

Now it is reported that it was a West Texan who squealed to the NCAA about Oklahoma—a squeal which resulted in a probation for the Sooner football team. I hate to accuse my friends, but until I find out who it was, I'm considering Bill Moorhead a prime suspect.

Census figures continue to prove that more and more people are leaving the farms and moving to the cities. But, the number of young men who would really like to farm and the number of ex-farmers who would like to return to the profession indicate that a lot of people are not really doing what they love most.

Despite cold weather, this hasn't been such a bad winter. Winds have not been severe. Which prompts a farmer to say the lack of wind has kept windmills from operating efficiently, a situation which is depriving water for livestock. And I am one of those who never realized winds were of any benefit.

"Where would men be if it weren't for women?" asked the irate woman at a civic meeting. After a pause drew only silence, she repeated, "Where would men be if it weren't for women?" Then a voice from the rear peeped out, "They'd be in the Garden of Eden eating strawberries."

I enjoyed meeting Friday with reporters of various home demonstration clubs in Yoakum County. Their interest in their work was very interesting to me. Most all clubs have reporters, but we get no reports from a lot of them. It might be well to point out here that we are always interested in the happenings of the different clubs and are anxious to publish as many stories and pictures as possible.

I had always spelled the first name of the deputy sheriff O-L-A-N. Then I learned last week that it is really spelled O-L-L-A-N, but so many people spell it with just one "l" that he himself has started spelling it that way. The discovery caused such confusion that we spelled his name three different ways in last week's paper. But for the record, Olan is campaigning for sheriff under the name of O-L-L-A-N. At least that's the way his cards read.

Lots of people worked hard to make Tuesday's annual meeting of the Credit Union a big success. Not unnoticed were Pete St. Romain and Mrs. C. L. Faubus. Undoubtedly, there were others who did a lot, but probably no one did any more. All the work—See PLAINS TALK, page 5

MRS. HARVEY STOTTS

Mrs. Stotts is winner of local teacher award

Mrs. Harvey Stotts, third grade teacher in the Plains schools, was named "Teacher of the Year" Monday evening at a meeting of the Tsa Mo G Club.

Mrs. Stotts, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James H. Goode, Denton County pioneers, is the youngest of a family of five children, four of whom were teachers.

This year, her ninth year in the Plains schools, marks her 21st year as teacher in Texas public schools.

She attended North Texas State College for two years and received her Bachelors of Science Degree in Education from Texas Tech.

She and Mr. Stotts were married January 16, 1926 in Post, Texas. They have one daughter, Mrs. George Clarke, who is teacher-librarian in the Burnwell Schools in Dallas; four sons, Ross, a sophomore student at Western State College, Gunnison, Colorado, Dan who is draftsman for the City Planning Board of El Paso, Charles of Plains, and Harvey Jr. of Lubbock.

Besides being a model teacher who is respected by all her students, their parents, her fellow teachers and members of her church and various clubs to which she is loyal, she is a model mother and grandmother.

Farmers receive nearly half-million in loans

Disbursements of $453,082.45 have been made or are in the process of being made to Yoakum County farmers as a result of 291 grain sorghum loans during 1959, according to an announcement by W. M. Overton, office manager of the local ASC office.

These figures compare with 300 loans for $423,294.12 made to county farmers under the 1958 grain sorghum loan program.

Overton said January 31 is the final date for farmers to make application for CCC loans on 1959 produced grain sorghum.

Cemetery association maps new plans

Group approves addition plat; sets lot costs

The first regular meeting of the Yoakum County Cemetery Association for the year 1960, was held in the Commissioner's Court Room Thursday Evening, January 21st, at eight o'clock. Due to illness, president G. W. Cleveland was unable to attend, Vice-President M. W. Luna presided for the business session.

Pat Henard moved that the officers who have served for the past two years be re-elected to serve the ensuing two years, motion carried. The newly elected officers are: G. W. Cleveland, president; M. W. Luna, vice-president, and Mrs. Glen Cleveland, secretary-treasurer.

The plat, covering the five-acre addition to the original cemetery, was approved. The members decided to open for sale the northwest quarter of the new addition. The Appraisal Committee, consisting of Rusty McGinty, W. M. Overton and Pete Smith, reported the prices of lots to be, $75 for all outside lots ($65, if as many as eight are bought by one family) $50 for inside lots ($40, if as many as eight are bought by one family.) Pete Smith said that approximately three thousand sites could be had in the northwest quarter of the new addition.

The treasurer, Mrs. Glen Cleveland, reported a bank balance of $1265.90, and an expenditure for 1959 of $231. It is now time for 1960 dues, which are $5 for a family per year. Serving on the Membership Committee are, Mrs. C. F. McCargo, chairman, Dick McGinty, Mrs. Pete Smith, Mrs. Faye Lusk, Mrs. Norelle Sloan and Mrs. Bessie McCravey.

Youth recreation planned by church

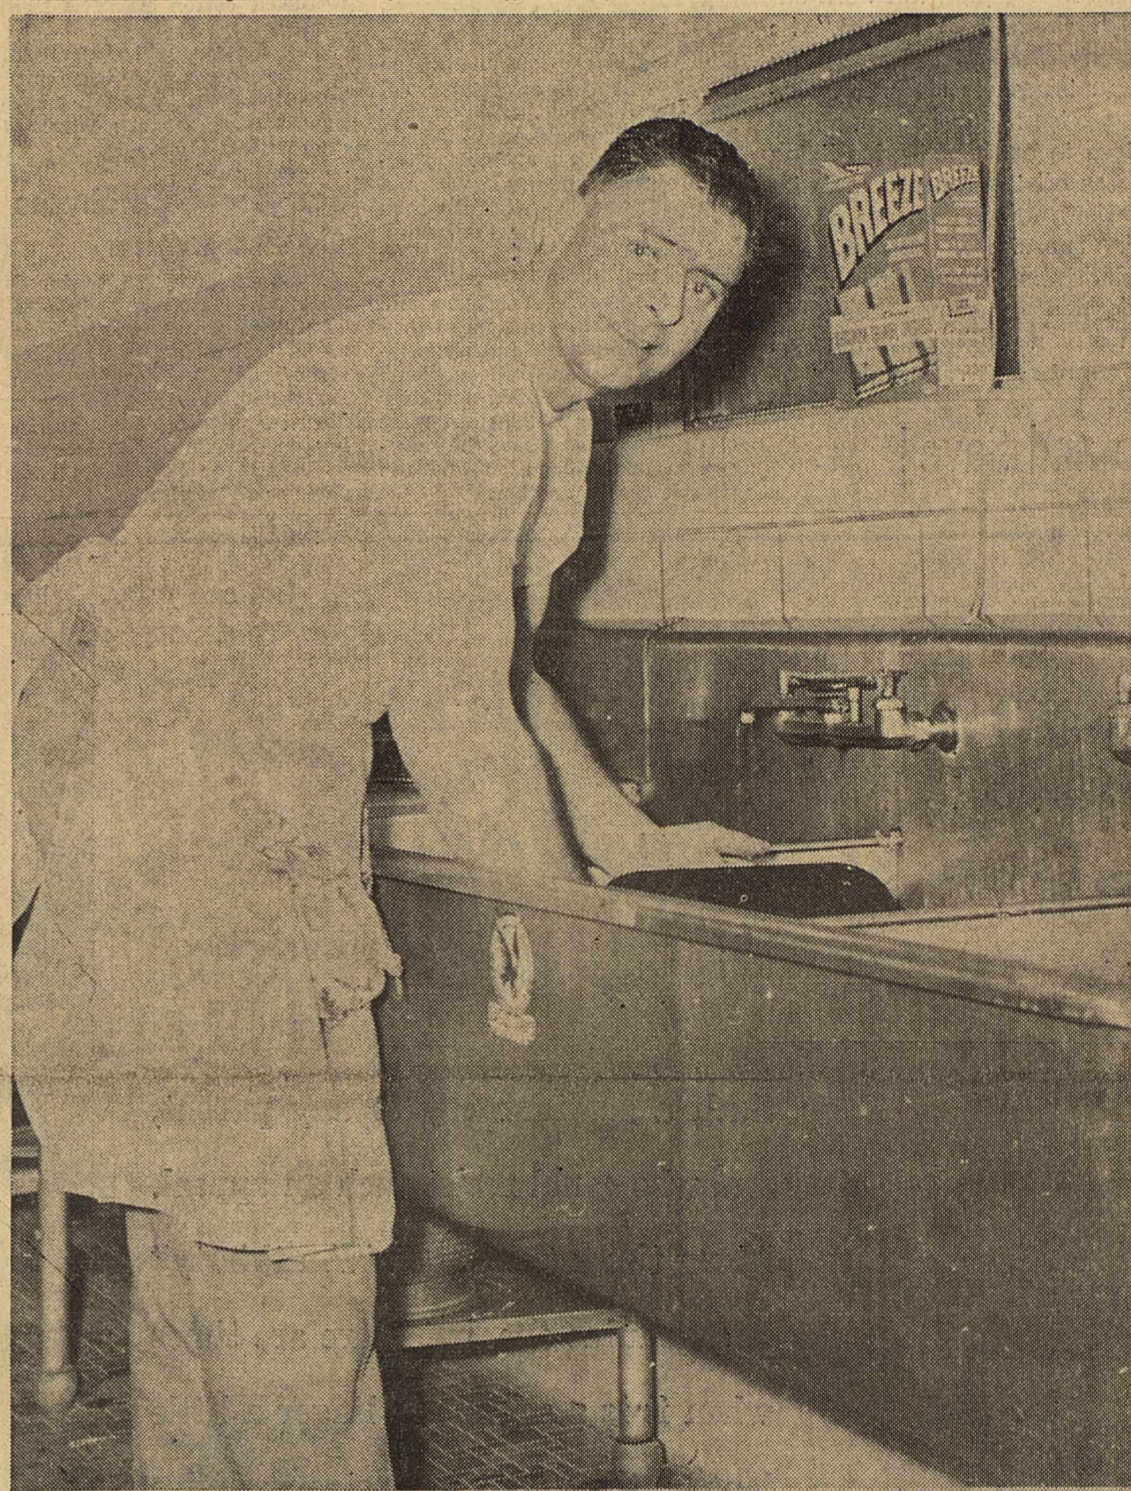

Plans have been completed for the First Christian Church Youth Activities Program to begin Sunday, according to Rev. Johnnie Moore.

All young people between the ages of 12 and 20 are invited to visit the church each Sunday where provisions for games and refreshments have been made. The youth center will open at 4 p.m.

A study and worship period will be held from 6:15 til 6:50 p.m., but Rev. Moore stressed that those who attend other churches are still urged to come by and enjoy the period of recreation and fellowship.

Rev. Moore, minister of the First Christian Church, will direct the program.

Sponsors of the show and sale, the Yoakum County Livestock and Agriculture Improvement Association, will begin receiving animals into the barns on Thursday, Feb. 11.

Schedule set up by the sponsors includes arrival of breeding beef cattle on Thursday morning, fat barrows and fat lambs will be weighed in between 12 noon and 7 p.m., Thursday, and fat calves and commercial steers will be received before 11 a.m., Friday, Feb. 12.

Sale of all fat stock will begin at 1 p.m., Saturday, according to STOCK SHOW, page 5

Essay contest to be conducted

An essay contest for junior high and senior high school students was announced this week by the Board of Supervisors of the Yoakum Soil Conservation District.

Students are to learn about conservation from the soil conservation district supervisors or from some other source and write an essay of 300 words or less on the subject, "Conservation—Who Is Responsible?"

Essays will be judged locally by the district supervisors and the first place winners in both junior and senior divisions will be awarded engraved plaques. Following the local judging all of the top group of essays will be entered in the state-wide essay contest sponsored by the Fort Worth Press.

The state winner each year receives a free vacation trip to Colorado or may have the money set aside for college. Fifty runners-up will receive trophies and medals at regional awards dinner in May.

Essays entered in the local contest are to be submitted to the supervisors or left at the county ASC office by February 10.

Cowboys near half-way point of district slate

Plains reaches the half-way point in its district 5-A basketball schedule Friday evening when the Cowboys journey to Sundown to contest the Roughnecks. The Cowboys now stand 2-1 in district play following wins over Seagraves and O'Donnell and an unexpected loss at the hands of Unepex.

Sundown has had only a so-so season after getting a late start due to the Roughnecks' highly successful football team which battled all the way to the state finals. But the Cowboys have only to recall the Frenship game to remind themselves they cannot afford to take any district team too lightly.

But Plains is expected to be ready for the Roughnecks. All cagers were members of the football team which won nine straight games last fall before falling to Sundown in the season's finale. The Roughneck cage squad is also heavily sprinkled with grid performers. Their top hand is David McInturf, the all-state halfback.

Next Tuesday, the Cowboys begin their second round of district activity, journeying to Seagraves to meet the dangerous Eagles. Plains holds two victories over Seagraves, but the Eagles are always hard to handle on their home court.

Following the Sundown and Seagraves games, the Cowboys will have only three district contests left. They meet Frenship here on February 5, O'Donnell there on February 9 and then close out their conference schedule with Sundown here on February 16. A game at Livingston on February 20 will close the regular season.

The defending district, bi-district and regional champion Cowboys are still regarded as the team to beat in 5-A. No club is unbeaten in district play.

Death claims "Editor" Hale

Funeral services were to be held at 2:30 p.m. today (Thursday) for W. J. Hale, 90-year-old retired publisher and minister. Hale died at his home here Tuesday night at 11:45 following an illness of several weeks.

Rev. R. H. Meixner, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate the services which are to be conducted at the Methodist Church. He is to be assisted by Rev. C. J. Coffman, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Burial will be in the Plains cemetery under direction of Brownfield Funeral Home.

Hale came to Plains in 1936 and bought The Yoakum County Review. He was editor and publisher of the newspaper until he retired in 1952. He had also been active as a Methodist minister.

In a recent interview on his 90th birthday, Hale recalled that only 27 families resided in Plains when he came here from Ropesville in 1936. He immediately became a booster of Yoakum County and distributed free copies of the newspaper to residents of the new communities of Allred and Denver City. Many persons gave Hale credit for helping ignite the spark which See HALE, page 6

Farm meeting planned

Yoakum County Soil Fertility Committee, headed by K. H. Banks, Denver City farmer, has arranged a general meeting of farmers with special emphasis on commercial fertilizers.

Meeting will be held in the District Courtroom of the Yoakum County Courthouse, Plains, on February 8, beginning at 7:30 p.m. All farmers and others interested in commercial fertilizers are invited to attend.

Appearing on the program will be Ben Spears, Extension Service Agronomist from College Station; Dr. W. F. Bennett, Extension Service Soil Chemist, and Harvey Walker, from the Lubbock Experiment Station. Walker is in charge of fertilizer work at Lubbock Station and Sandy Land Station in Terry County.

Leo White, Yoakum County Agent, said today that Yoakum County farmers spend over $300,000 a year for irrigated crops. Since beginning use of fertilizers, he said, production per acre has steadily increased.

Latest acreage estimate for Texas was 300 acres in 1952. Since many areas of the state are well-adapted to garlic production, this acreage could be profitably increased. Through the use of good seed and proper cultural practices each acre could be expected to produce around 7,000 pounds.

$50,000 in bonds sought to improve diamonds for kids

Yoakum County Commissioners have set Saturday, February 20, as the date for a bond election to determine fate of $50,000 in bonds for youth baseball facilities in Yoakum County.

If the bond issue is approved by the county's voters, there will be new Pony League baseball fields in Denver City and in Plains, a new Little League diamond in Denver City and much-needed improvements to existing Little League facilities in Plains.

Date for the election was set by the commissioners at their weekly meeting at the Court house on Monday.

Although the wording on the ballot will be similar to that which appeared on the ballot for improved swimming facilities in Denver City, voters are again reminded that "County Park" in this instance refers solely to the youth baseball facilities.

A member of the county commission explained today that the wording on the ballot is "Park Bonds" so that the election will be in keeping with statutes governing issuance of bonds for public facilities.

In setting the election date, the commissioners also named W. M. Overton, Sandra Ellison and Mrs. C. C. Copeland Sr. to a special canvassing board for the election.

Presiding judges for the nine polling places for the election were also named, as follows:

Office of County Clerk, Plains, Roy Fitzgerald, judge; Commissioners Court room, Courthouse, Plains, Mrs. J. P. Robertson, judge; Sheriff's office, Plains, Sperm Henard, judge; Tax Assessor's office, Plains, Roy Stockstill, judge.

C. G. & S. Gin, near old Tennessee Camp, Carl Lowrey, judge; Sigo Community Building, Harold Rummage, judge; Elementary School, Denver City, Mrs. Maureen Wehrend, judge; City Hall, Denver City, Ross Shook, judge; and Shell Recreation Hall, Plant No. 1, Denver City, W. I. Boyd, judge.

Only one proposition will be on the ballot for the February 20 election, that being whether the County Commissioners Court shall be authorized to issue bonds not exceeding $50,000 for the purpose of constructing and purchasing and/or improving lands for county parks. The "parks" in the order refers to the youth baseball fields in the county.

The order for the election also provides that if such bonds are approved they will be issued to mature serially in not more than ten years at a rate of interest not to exceed four percent per year.

Voters in the election will be given two choices, either voting "for" the issuance of $50,000 in park bonds and the levy of taxes in payment thereof, or "against" the issuance of the bonds and the levy of taxes for their payment.

All poll tax paying, rendered property owners in Yoakum County will be eligible to vote in the election.

Petitions requesting the election were approved by the commission last week. The petitions bore nearly 300 signatures of Denver City and Plains taxpayers, proponents of the issue claim.

McAdoo shades Cowboys

Poised and polished McAdoo finally subdued the stubborn Plains Cowboys here Saturday night, but not until the hosts had made a gallant bid to upset the Owls from Crosby County. The final score of 57-44 failed to give a true picture of the exciting contest.

The score was tied at 36-36 with three minutes to play in the third period. But then the roof caved in on the locals. They managed only a pair of free throws during the rest of the period and then did not score again until Walt Coffman hit another pair of charity tosses two and one-half minutes before the game ended. In the meantime, McAdoo had scored 15 points, 13 of them from the free throw line.

Actually, the two teams were even in field goals at 18 apiece. But the winners hit 21 of 25 free throws while Plains connected on 8 of 16. The Owls hit 14 straight before missing their first one early in the fourth period.

Before their third-period collapse, the Cowboys had battled toe-to-toe with the favored Owls. After McAdoo went out ahead, 5-0, early in the game, the Cowboys fought back to tie the score twice and at one point led. The quarter ended, 18-16, McAdoo.

The nip-and-tuck second quarter had the hearts of all fans beating rapidly. Here is how the score stood during that period (Plains score given first): 16-18, 18-18, 20-18, 20-20, 20-22, 22-22, 24-22, 24-23, 24-24. The score was tied five more times in the third stanza before the winners pulled away.

Harmon Meixner and Coffman each had 14 points to pace the Cowboy offensive attack. Don Todd added 10. For the Owls, brilliant George Scott pitched in 22 points and his 5-6 sophomore teammate, Cherry Eldredge added 17, most of them on free throws.

The rapidly-improving Plains B team defeated the McAdoo Bees, 43-35, with Larry Smith and Ronnie Hendricks each scoring 12 points.

Cotton requests should be filed

February 15 has been set as the deadline for application for 1960 new cotton grower allotments, according to W. M. Overton, manager of the Yoakum County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

Overton said that new grower cotton allotments eligibility may be obtained at the county ASC office or from any member of the ASC committee.

Farmers are reminded that if they do not have a cotton allotment and wish to apply they should keep the deadline in mind. The local committee has retained 72 acres of 1960 cotton allotment for eligible new growers and to make hardship adjustments in 1960 old grower allotments.

Awards totaling $400 will be given to the six outstanding communities in pasture and range improvement in each of the 12 state districts under a new community Pasture-Range Improvement program, says G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist. Even if you don't win a cash award, you win by improving your pasture, range and livestock conditions to obtain more efficient production and increased family income, the specialist adds.
