Wearin' o' the green...

'Tis the day for the wearing of the green and when all good Irishmen look eastward to the homeland across the sea. An oddity in American holidays is St. Patrick's Day originally a day held in religious observance but now has come to mean a day when not only the Irish but all people remember the Saint by wearing a touch of green in their dress.

History says the first observance of St. Patrick's Day was held in Boston by a group of business men who gathered to hear speeches. Soon after several societies were formed that took note of the day with dinners and speeches. This all occurred around 1760.

St. Patrick is the patron saint of Ireland and has always been honored on the anniversary of his death, March 17, 493. He was born, according to Roman Catholic authorities, at Kilpatrick, Scotland in the year 387. A son of a Roman family of high rank he was captured and sold as a slave. He learned to speak Celtic while serving his master, a high priest.

He later escaped and decided to devote himself to religious work. He returned to Ireland where he preached and taught until his death.

The shamrock has become associated with St. Patrick and as legend goes, this was due to his using the clover to explain the Trinity.

Another legend concerns St. Patrick driving all the snakes or demons of Ireland into the sea.

IF THE PICTURE were in color you would see the three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie L. Fitzgerald holding a green shamrock. The girls' great-great grandparents came over from Ireland. With their blond hair and greenery on, Lynne, Gynne and Diane make a pretty gathering of colleens.

Plains hospital group meets with Denver City

The Plains Chamber of Commerce hospital committee met Thursday night with the Yoakum County Hospital Board and several Denver City doctors to discuss plans for additional facilities to the local clinic. Tentative plans were shown the board members on the needed hospital rooms in Plains.

Dr. Clyde A. Lynn presented facts and statistics on the need now and the coming need for added rooms and operating room for the people of Plains.

The tentative plans call for not less than 12 hospital rooms, an operating room, kitchen, and storage facilities.

The Denver City hospital manager said that a survey was now being taken in eastern New Mexico and the Plains area to determine the need of another hospital.

It was explained that Plains needed the added facilities not only to care for the people but also to attract additional doctors to Plains.

Strong opposition was voiced by some of the Denver City doctors and board members on the tentative plans. It was recalled that a $600,000 bond issue for the Denver City hospital was turned down last July by an overwhelming vote.

Those attending the meeting from Plains included Dr. Lynn, Johnnie Fitzgerald, Roy Edwards, Neil Taylor, Rod Duff, Bill Loyd, and Rogar Curry.

Plains library has record check out

The Plains Yoakum County Library opened their doors to the reading public February 17, 1958. Since then the library has grown to 938 members. There is no initial charge of subscription fee for Plains residents but an application card must be filed in the library. Children's cards must be signed by parents.

In a monthly breakdown of reading habits the local library shows that fiction leads the list with 68 per cent of the total books checked out. On the February chart it shows that there were 23 biographies checked out, 18 books of poetry, 16 books on fine art and 12 books on travel. A total of 622 books were checked out in February.

20 new measles cases reported this week

Dr. Clyde A. Lynn reported over 20 new cases of measles this week with nine of the cases in the same family. He added that no adult so far has caught the disease. The outbreak is heavy among the 5 to 6 year olds.

There were also two cases of mumps and two cases of chicken pox in the Plains area. He added that he didn't think that any other children had been exposed to these.

It was reported by Mrs. Norolle Sloan and Mrs. B. D. McDonnell local library workers that a record number of books had been checked out in the past week. A total of 72 books on Monday was one of the largest number checked out. The week's total stands at 201 books checked out.

February had a count of 72 visitors in the reading room. Visitors are counted as the people who came in to read magazines or use the reference books but do not check out books.

Since their opening the library has acquired 4,650 books. There were 27 new books purchased in February and a gain of 11 new library members.

The library is open five days a week, Monday through Friday from 9:30 to 12 and from 1 to 5:30. It is closed on all national holidays. Readers may check out on each library card four books for a period of two weeks. The books may be renewed for an additional two weeks. For books kept out past due date there is a fine of five cents per day. Also books lost or damaged are the responsibility of the borrowers and failure to pay fines will cancel the borrower's privilege to use the library. Anyone not acquainted with the local library is invited to come in.

Cattle Increase shows big climb; total value down

It came as no surprise recently when the U. S. Department of Agriculture released its figures on livestock population at the beginning of 1960, showing that cattle on Texas ranges had increased by nine per cent over early 1959.

The USDA inventory reported the total of all cattle in Texas as of Jan. 1, 1960, at 9,276,000, compared with 8,510,000 at the same time a year ago. This nine per cent increase in population was nearly double the rate of the national increase, which amounted to about five per cent.

It also came as no surprise when the USDA reported that the total value of all livestock — cattle, hogs, sheep, horses and mules, poultry — had gone down in spite of increased numbers in most categories. The total valuation at the start of 1960 was placed at $16,236,408,000, compared with $18,092,870,000 a year ago.

Nationally, the livestock and poultry population figures showed these comparisons: Cattle, 101,520,000 this year and 96,650,000 last year; milk cows, 21,331,000 and 21,488,000; hogs, 58,464,000 and 56,924,000; sheep, 33,621,000 and 32,945,000; horses and mules, 3,089,000 and 3,142,000; chickens, 368,859,000 and 383,529,000, and turkeys, 5,673,000 and 5,923,000. Horses and mules declined two per cent, chickens fell four per cent in numbers, and dairy cows eased off one per cent.

At the same time, the USDA estimated a sharp drop in value per head of livestock, as follows: Cattle, $136 this year and $153

Release of the figures reemphasized the attitude of most authorities in their outlook on the 1960 cattle market, which is that the time has arrived for caution in planning any further increases of the livestock population on Texas ranges. Good range conditions is general continuing to encourage the trend toward taking full advantage of the conditions, but authorities agree that extreme care should be exercised before any further heavy expansion is developed.

Petty has been teaching school in Fredricksburg for the past five months. He filed for the office simultaneously in the four counties of the district, Hockley, Cochran, Terry and Yoakum.

GI loans to close for WW II veterans

About five months remain in which World War II veterans may apply for GI home, farm or business loans, Sumner G. Whittier, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, reminded veterans today.

Under present law, July 25, 1960, is the cut-off date set for World War II veterans participation in the post-war program that has seen more than 5 million World War II veterans take advantage of the GI Bill loan provisions since June 22, 1944.

Veterans who submit their applications on or before the deadline of July 25, 1960, will be allowed an additional year, or until July 25, 1961, in which to have the loan processed and actually closed.

Mr. Whittier pointed out that these dates do not apply to Korean-conflict veterans who have until January 31, 1965, to make GI loan applications.

World War II veterans who also served during the Korean-conflict period are considered Korean-conflict veterans for the purpose of GI loans.

Veterans in rural areas and in small cities and towns where guaranteed loans are not generally available are eligible for VA direct home and farmhouse loans. The direct loan program for both World War II and Korean-conflict veterans is due to expire on July 25, 1960.

Since the GI loan program was launched in June, 1944, and up through December, 1959, a total of 5,125,000 loans have been guaranteed or made to World War II veterans for a total face value of $40.8 billion. Approximately one-third of the eligible World War II veterans and one-eighth of the Korean-conflict veterans have taken advantage of the loan program to date.

Reviewing the tremendous scope of the GI loan program as used by both World War II and Korean-conflict veterans combined, Mr. Whittier said that it was the equal of financing one out of every 10 dwelling units in the United States, including apartments and single-family rental properties.

Nearly one out of every 4 mortgaged single-family dwelling units in the United States has a VA-guaranteed mortgage, Mr. Whittier said.

Control of plant diseases vital to cattle production

The prevention and control of plant diseases are important in livestock production because profits depend on maximum yields from pastures and crops.

In many instances, says Harlan E. Smith, extension plant pathologist, the weather, soil or planting seed get the blame for low production when plant diseases cause the losses. Too, he adds, poor quality feed or forage often results from damages caused by plant diseases. Such feed does not contain the vitamins, minerals and other essentials necessary for good animal health, says the pathologist.

The fungi, bacteria and other germs which cause plant diseases cannot be seen with the naked eye. And plant diseases are difficult or impossible to control once they have infected a crop. However, says Smith, many can be prevented. For example, the treating of planting seed with a good fungicide will aid in controlling some feed and forage crop diseases.

The pathologist suggests that good, carefully selected seed which is dry, sound and free from combine injured seed coats be planted. Also that the seed be planted in a warm, mellow soil. Cold and wet soil favors seedling diseases.

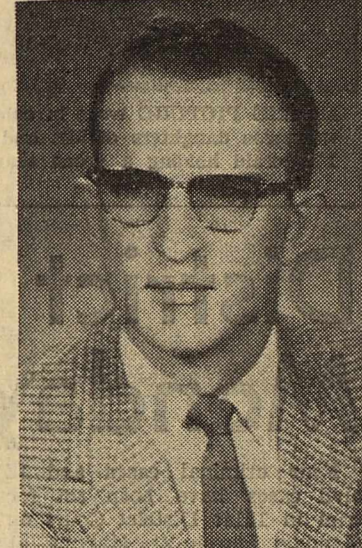

He recommends that rotation be followed with annual feed and forage crops because growing the same crop on the same land year after year tends to increase plant disease problems. If a disease resistant crop variety or hybrid is available, Smith strongly urges its use. For as he puts it, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure in preventing plant disease losses.

we have so surely inherited," Mrs. R. K. Field warned as she spoke on "History's Great Challenge to Our Civilization."

Lovely poems, "The White Magnolia Tree" and "Home" were recited by Mrs. Donald Lackey and Mrs. Glenn Cleveland.

Irish songs were sung by the group in honor of St. Patrick's Day.

President Mrs. C. F. McCargo presided for the business hour as the roll call, reading of the minutes and pledges to the Texas and United States Flags were given.

"All quiet" say local law officials

The Highway Patrol and Plains law officials investigated only minor accidents in the Plains area during the month of February according to Sergeant D. S. Lawson and Deputy-sheriff Olin Heath.

There was no report of property damage, injuries or fatal accidents in the entire county.

A reminder was given to all motorists that Texas law requires all registered motor vehicles to have valid inspection stickers displayed by midnight, April 15. "In addition, all trailers registered in Texas which exceed 4,000 pounds gross weight must be inspected," the Sergeant said.

The Patrol Supervisor stated that only 36.6 per cent of the vehicles in Yoakum County have been inspected and that patrolmen will be stopping all vehicles not displaying a valid sticker after the April 15 deadline. The best way to avoid the long lines expected in the last minute rush is to have your vehicle inspected now.

Red Cross drive plans are announced

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

This is the first in a series of articles on Yoakum SCD soils. These reports will discuss the identifying features, production capacity, and erosion problems of each soil.

Do you have some Brownfield soils on your farm? The most common cropland soil of this area is Brownfield Fine Sand. This is the sandy soil with the bright red clay beneath the sand. Areas of Brownfield sand often resemble small, rolling hills. Plowed areas usually have "sand spots" up to thirty feet across. The surface sand is usually twelve to fifteen inches thick and the clay will go down about five feet. The parent material is a sandy loam. Sometimes rock outcrops of a related shallow soil, called Arvana are found. If these rocky areas are large enough, the shallow soil dept may require separate treatment.

Under range conditions, the vegetation is Shin oak, Sand sage, and coarse grasses such as Bluestems, Needlegrasses, and dropseeds. In blown out areas, large dunes have piled up and a bright red clay is present.

Brownfield Fine Sand is suitable for both dryland and irrigated crop production. Crop yield results have been obtained from some of the farmers in this district. When properly managed and irrigated, cotton yields averaged 400-500 pounds of lint per acre. Irrigated grain sorghums averaged 3000 pounds, and dryland grain sorghum averaged 1000 pounds.

The fertility of Brownfield sand is easily depleted. For this soil or any other, laboratory soil tests are important for profitable farming. Under irrigation, fertilizer should be applied the first year that Brownfield is plowed. For better crop yields, application of both Nitrogen and Phosphorus should be continued yearly. Under dryland conditions, fertilizers are also beneficial. Additional fertilizer information can be supplied at the local Soil Conservation Service.

Brownfield Fine Sand is very susceptible to wind erosion due to the soil make-up. Proper deep breaking is essential for continued economical crop production. In its natural state, the sand layer contains less than ten percent clay particles. When mixed together, the heavy clay helps to hold the sand in place. The depth of the sand should be determined before deep breaking. Too much clay on the surface will make the soil droughty. For best results, the plowed layer should contain about one-third clay and two-thirds sand.

After the original deep plowing, proper cultivation and suitable cover will decrease the erosion hazard. Management of suitable cover will decrease the erosion hazard. Management of stubble to reduce blowing and conserve soil moisture is a worth while practice on Brownfield sand. Close spaced or drilled crops such as wheat and rye will reduce blowing.

Where much of the sand has been removed, the red clay is unproductive. This clay is low in organic matter which benefits moisture infiltration and root penetration. The addition of cotton burrs or other organic matter will partially aid soil restoration.

Some areas of Brownfield Sand are not suitable for crop production. These are lower lying areas and regions of dunes where the sand is 20-36" or deeper. Sufficient amounts of clay to control erosion cannot be turned up. As these areas are hazardous for farming, they should be kept under a permanent vegetative cover.

In conclusion, Brownfield soils are usually productive, but proper management is important. Erosion practices will allow continued profitable farming on this soil.

Many local farmers and ranchers cooperating with the Yoakum SCD are making plans to carry out several conservation practices this spring. Some of the practices to be installed in the immediate future are to be cost-shared under the Great Plains Conservation program. The cost-share rate depends upon the practice planned and generally runs from 50 percent to 80 percent of the total cost.

ACROSS THE CATTLE GUARD

by LEO W. WHITE
County Agent

In less than a month from now there will be some lawn work going on. People will be watering grass and shrubs, putting out fertilizer, planting flower beds and wondering why the little plant by the corner of the house died or what made dead spots in the grass. It might be because of a little fat worm known as a white grub or grub worm. This little worm eventually becomes a June Bug and during the months of May and June they will gather around the porch light at night.

Grub worms sometimes damage large spots of grass by cutting the roots about two inches below the surface. Here in March they are only half grown worms and not yet large enough to do a great deal of damage. During the first part of April they will be full grown and begin traveling around in the soil cutting their path as they move. To keep them from making bare spots in the lawn it is advisable to treat them during the last two weeks in March.

Two fairly new materials have been doing satisfactory jobs on the grub worm. Either aldrin or dieldrin is recommended to kill the little pests. Most people like to use the dieldrin or aldrin because they can apply it with an attachment that fits on their water hose. These materials can be bought in the dust form which is just as good if the material is applied in sufficient quantities. Two or three pounds of technical aldrin or dieldrin is enough to treat a whole acre of ground. Very few lawns would cover than 4000 square feet and lawns in town would be much smaller. A ten ounce bottle of 20 percent material would contain 2 ounces of technical aldrin or dieldrin and would be enough for 2,000 square feet. One ounce of technical material should be applied to each 1000 square feet of lawn.

Since the worms are usually deep in the soil it is a waste of materials to apply it on top of the grass and let it stay there. In order to kill the worms the insecticide must be driven down in the soil to a depth of about 6 inches. One half to three quarters of an inch of water is necessary to get penetration to that depth. The average lawn sprinkler would have to run for over an hour in one place to put out that much water.

Worms that are killed in March will seldom be seen so it is hard to tell when you are getting a good kill. If you wait until late in April after they have done about as much damage as they are going to do, they will come to the surface to die and you will see a lot of dead worms. By that time you may as well save the cost of the material because the damage is already done. Somewhere between March 25th and April 5 the worms will be large enough to see. By digging a small hole to a depth of 12 or 14 inches and examining the soil. You should be able to find some worms if they are present. Two or three worms in a hole the size of a regular post hole would be enough to justify treatment.

planting several acres of Midland Bermuda grass this spring for grazing purposes and also to harvest some sprigs for more plantings later on.

H. M. Conner and Kenneth Nelson, near the Sligo Community are also planning on several acres each of Midland Bermuda grass for grazing purposes.

Wilbur Hayes and Darwin Hobbs are also planning on some improved grazing from their plantings of Midland Bermuda grass.

R. E. Bearden is planning on seeding several acres of Blackwell Switch grass this spring for grazing purposes and also to harvest some seed for more plantings later on.

Tom Barron will also plant some Midland Bermuda grass for grazing.

All of the above named farmers that are cooperating with the Yoakum SCD and Great Plains Program have underground irrigation pipelines planned for installation this spring also.

Anyone desiring more information about the District and the Great Plains Program are urged to contact one of the Supervisors of the Yoakum SCD or any of the local SCS technicians and assistance will be given.

Box Supper big success

The old-fashioned box-supper and candidate speaking sponsored by the Tsa Mo Ga Club Friday evening in the school cafeteria was deemed a grand success by all who attended.

Roy Stockstill very graciously consented to auction the boxes and did a "bang-up" job. Every candidate, as well as the many one expressed their appreciation to Mrs. Stockstill and the 17 other who helped to make the affair such a tremendous success.

The money will be used for the club's many worthwhile projects. Contents of the boxes were spread and the bounteous meal was enjoyed.

Group enjoys bridge

Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Lipscomb and Mr. and Mrs. Foye Flood were hosts for an enjoyable casserole supper and bridge party Saturday evening in the Lipscomb home at 113 Third St.

Couples present were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wyatt, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lackey, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hale, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cooke and the hosts.

The courthouse was closed Tuesday in order for all personnel to attend funeral services for B. J. Smith, well-known Denver City druggist, who died unexpectedly early Monday morning following a heart attack. Mr. Smith was well-known here and a large number of friends attended the services.

Wildlife rabies count shows gain

Wildlife rabies is running two to one ahead of rabies among domestic animals, the State Department of Health record for February shows.

In February, there were 69 cases of rabies diagnosed in all animals. Only 17 of the 69 total were among dogs and cats.

The rabies picture in Texas has recently been taking on a new look. The present trend indicates a decline in the number of rabies in domestic pets, but a rise in the number of wildlife rabid animals.

Infected stunks and foxes were more numerous than the total of rabid dogs confirmed by the State Health Department laboratory during 1959. Livestock rabies has shown an increase also, probably due to exposure to wildlife.

Public health veterinarians point out that, numerically, there isn't a high enough immune pet population in Texas to prevent the spill-over of wildlife rabies into the dog and cat population.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. James W. Lawrence on the arrival of a son, James Brett, weighing 8 lbs. 13 1/2 ozs., on March 7 in Taylor Clinic, Lubbock. His mother is the former Sandra Pharr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pharr, and a 1957 graduate of Plains High School.

Cop files motion asking dismissal DWI, death cases

State Highway Patrolman Jack Sims, Brownfield, has filed a motion with County Attorney Vernon A. Townes asking dismissal of three criminal charges the officer had previously filed.

Sims, according to reports, is asking dismissal of driving while intoxicated charges against Dale Miller and George Moore, and a negligent homicide charge against William Teaff.

It was reported late Wednesday that Sims had filed the motion on Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning. All three charges had been filed in county court.

Sims was arresting officer and chief prosecuting witness in a criminal charge of transportation of alcoholic beverages against a Brownfield Negro which was dismissed in county court by Judge Don Hancock earlier this week.

According to County Attorney Townes the charge was dismissed against the Negro after the defendant pleaded guilty to the transportation charge, but denied that the seized beverage was for sale.

Townes said the Negro admitted having 12 bottle of wine in his possession when arrested, but told the county judge that it was not for sale. Judge Hancock then dismissed the charge.

Directors

Bob Loe and Earl Bryson. These five men will serve two years. The hold-over directors elected last year are W. M. Taylor, Johnnie L. Fitzgerald, G. W. Cleveland, Ty Field, H. G. Sprawls and Pat Henard. This eleven man board is charged with the responsibility of sponsoring the Annual Junior Fat Stock Show which gets larger each year and the cost of operation increases each year. They are faced with the problem of getting the necessary funds to operate on and their only source of income is the sale of memberships to the Association at $5.00 per year. According to Bob Loe, Association secretary-treasurer, the number of paid members last Monday night was far below the number one year ago and also far below the number necessary to put on another show comparable to the 1960 event. He stated that unless additional memberships were paid, the premium money paid to exhibitors in 1961 would have to be lowered. The only other alternative, according to Loe, would be to sponsor some kind of fund raising activity.

Prosecutor for the criminal cases to come to trial will be District Attorney Morgan Copeland, Brownfield. All trials will be held before District Judge M. C. Ledbetter.

Court

Higinbotham was indicted last May on the murder charge as the result of a three-vehicle collision north of Denver City in which W. T. (Jeff) O'Keefe was fatally injured.

Carlisle was indicted at the same time on the theft of motor vehicle and during the most recent grand jury term on the murder by motor vehicle charge.

Both charges arise from an accident in December, 1958, in which one person was fatally injured. Charges against Bridges have been pressed by the parents of a Denver City minor female for alleged mishandling the minor by the defendant last summer. He, too, was indicted by the grand jury which met at Plains in December.

A total of 41 prospective jurors have been directed to report to the court house at 10 a.m., Monday for possible jury duty on the cases which have been docketed. The jury list includes the following: Joe McCollum, David Mitchell, J. M. Trent, Hugh Ingram, John Rackley, Fred Yarbrough, W. E. Luker, J. S. Wade, Calvin Moose, Jesse Allen, Rube Cothren, Mrs. J. ### Only 36% of cars in Yoakum County inspected to date

Only 36 percent of the motor vehicles in Yoakum County have been inspected for 1960, according to Sergeant D. S. Lawson of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Lawson made the announcement concerning inspections in the monthly accident summary for Yoakum County for February. The summary shows that Yoakum County had no rural traffic accidents investigated by DPS officers during the month.

The Highway Patrol Supervisor reminded motorists that Texas law required all registered motor vehicles to have valid inspection stickers displayed by midnight, April 15. "In addition," the sergeant said, "all trailers registered in Texas which exceed 4,000 pounds gross weight must be inspected."

Since its inception in 1951, Lawson said, the inspection program has reduced the state's traffic accidents by almost 10 per cent. He said only four per cent of all accidents are caused by mechanical defects now as compared with 13 percent before the inspection program was inaugurated.

It takes a ship an average of 10 hours to pass through the Panama Canal.
