PLAY BALL is heard almost every night at the Little League Park as the baseball season gets into full swing. The local league contains four teams of earnest baseball players coached by R. J. Van Liew, Bob McDonnell, Jack Lowe, and C. J. Coffman. Pictures of the individual teams will appear in the near future in the Review.

New wells scheduled near Plains

Dean & Latch of Lubbock re-completed No. 2 B. H. Caldwell extension to the Chambliss (San Andres) pool in Southwest Yoakum County.

It is 4 miles southwest of Plains and 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 578, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

On the workover, the project potential for a daily production of 34.59 barrels of 30-gravity oil, plus 50 per cent water, pumping from open hole at 5,195-5,253 feet, after a 50,000-gallon fracture.

This well is the former H. A. Hodges and associates No. 2 Caldwell.

Also in the Chambliss (San Andres) pool, R. H. Fulton & Company No. 1-B Keller has been finished for 91 barrels of 32-gravity oil plus 15 per cent water.

Pay was pumped from perforated interval from 5,190 to 5,244 feet which had been acidized with 10,000 gallons. Gas-oil ratio was 410-1.

Location is 660 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 541, block D, Gibson survey.

R. H. Fulton has filed application to drill the No. 2 J. C. Keller, 11 miles northwest of Denver City in the same area.

The 5,500-foot test is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 541, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

Drilling and Exploration Inc. of Hobbs will drill the No. 2 A. E. McGinty one mile north of Plains in Yoakum County.

The 5,450-foot project is 1,680 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 371, block D, Gibson survey.

Coline Oil Corporation has completed its No. 1-816 N. W. Willard for 151 barrels of oil per day in the Reeves (San Andres) field of Yoakum County.

The well pumped 33-gravity oil with a gas-oil ratio of 267-1 from perforated interval 5,647 to 5,654 feet which had been acidized with 1,500 gallons.

It is 3 miles southwest of Plains, 660 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of section 816, block D, Gibson survey.

Leland Fikes of Dallas has staked the No. 2 Nelson W. Willard in the Wasson (66 & 72) field of Yoakum County.

Scheduled for 7,750 feet, the drillsite is 440 feet from south and west lines of section 38, block AX, PSL survey, 1/2 mile southeast of Denver City.

Texaco, Inc., has encountered another possible recovery pay zone at No. 17-B Mrs. Annie Miller south Yoakum County deep wildcat two miles northwest of Denver City.

This explorer had surface and recovered 1,992 feet of 38.3 gravity oil from a 2 1/2-hour drillstem test in the Wichita-Albany at 8,340-8,420 feet.

More indication of production in the Wichita-Albany was recovered in a 2 1/2-hour drillstem test at 8,435-8,508 feet. That zone surfaced gas in 1 1/2 hours, with recovery too small to measure. Recovery for investigation was 688 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud.

The later prospect for production came from Wolfcamp in a two-hour drillstem test at 8,622-8,810 feet. Gas surfaced in one hour and 20 minutes with recovery of 350 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. 1,790 feet of mud cut oil and 60 feet of salt water. Gravity of oil in that emulsion was 41 degrees. Final flow pressure was 850 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure in 30 minutes was 3,120 pounds.

Things I hear ...

Jerry M. Smith

Two women travelers stopped in town the other day and told one of our local merchants that they had traveled from Arizona to South Carolina and the best meal that they had eaten was in a restaurant here in Plains.

Three families are expected to move in—if they can find a place to stay. They need furnished homes, large and clean, and as usual, there are none in town. I hate to keep repeating myself every two weeks—but if you have any property for rent call the Review or the Chamber of Commerce. I hear talk of the growth of Plains—but we may be cut short if we have no facilities for growth.

For those who are looking for political, personal, and area slander in this week's Review—stop looking. There is none this week. Suggest you buy some other paper.

The Chamber of Commerce is rolling right along with their plans to light the highway. Local workers are now trying to determine the cost and the best way to finance the project.

Beards are sprouting among the men in the county in preparation for the annual rodeo to be held in July. Some folks have threatened that several of us, even if we have a beardless license, will enjoy a dip in the tank if we don't start raising a crop.

Barbed wire—end of early era

In 1884 a special session of the Texas legislature was called to combat a serious threat to the personal safety of Texans. The trouble had been brewing since the late 1870's and had gained momentum which, if not corrected, would erupt into a ferocious civil war among the ranchers and farmers on the open Plains. The trouble was fence-cutting.

By the start of the 1880's numerous ranches and farmers had started putting up the long strands of barbed wire, cutting the open ranges and putting a stop to many of the established water trails, roads, and mail routes.

Small farmers and ranchers soon found themselves fenced in within a big ranch and the big ranchers were soon at gun points over fencing open ranches where ownership was not known.

Soon a pair of wire clippers became part of the cowboy gear and fences were cut at random to suit the ranchers. In 1883, during the long drought, fence wrecking reached its height when nearly every county in the range country reported cutting. Water holes were drying up and cattlemen, desperate to save their herds, disregarded the fenced water holes.

Guns were kept cocked and an air of violence seemed to hang over the entire state. John Ireland, little known Texas governor, called the special session to work out ways and means of stopping the range war before it erupted.

A law was passed which made fence cutting a felony punishable by one to five years in prison. Range burning was punishable by two to five years in prison and fencing of public lands or lands knowingly belonging to others without permission was made a misdemeanor. Builders of such fences were made to move the fences.

Fences built across open roads and mail routes were required to have a gate every three miles and the gate was to be kept in good repair.

With the passage of the barbed-wire law cattlemen soon turned to the windmill and underground water storage to supply water for his herds.

The history of barbed wire is as colorful as the land on which it was built. The patent for the amazing wire was issued in 1873 to Joe Glidden, an Illinois farmer. It was said he made the wire after his wife complained of his hound dog sleeping in her flower beds.

But it was the young 22-year-old John Warnes Gates who gave the wire its send-off. A demonstration was held in San Antonio. A fence was built of mesquite post and wire in the old Military Plaza. Forty head of range steers was put inside and the show was on. After several lunges the cattle remained quiet—the fence had held with only one minor damage—a fence post had broken.

The orders poured in faster than the factory could keep up with them and John Gates was on his way to acquiring his name of Bet-A-Million Gates.

In the interest of preserving many of the old items and equipments used on ranches the Tsa Mo Ga Museum is asking for donations of any item pertaining to early ranch life. Old strands of barbed-wire are particularly needed. If you have any strands you would like to give to the public museum please contact any of the Tsa Mo Ga members or the Review office.

Interest high in Saturday's election

Interest in the coming runoff primary is running high if the number of absentee votes cast are an indication. County Clerk J. W. O. Alldredge reported the 95 absentee votes ballots had been cast as compared with 74 in the first primary in May.

Democratic nominees for three Yoakum County elective offices will be chosen by voters in the second primary election to be held on Saturday, June 4.

The voters will also join the balance of the state in selecting a nominee for the position of Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The three county offices for which nominees will be chosen are Commissioner of Precinct 3, Sheriff of Yoakum County, and Tax Assessor-Collector.

Lions name officers for coming year

Officers for the coming year were named at a recent meeting of the Plains Lions Club. New president of the group is Bob Lee with Roy Edwards as first vice-president and Dave Levens as second vice-president.

Secretary of the organization is C. L. Faubus and treasurer is Leo White. R. J. Van Liew was elected tail twister and assistant tail twister is S. L. Tingle. Lion

Hospital plans to be discussed

Ross Garrett, hospital consultant, will be in Plains Friday night for the purpose of discussing Yoakum County Hospital improvements with the Board of Managers of Yoakum County Hospital, the County Commissioners, and other interested parties.

Meeting is slated to begin at 8 p.m. in the district courtroom at the courthouse. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Garrett recently submitted a proposed plan for hospital improvements which calls for an eight-bed addition to the Plains clinic and increase the facilities in Denver City to 43-bed capacity. These are the recommendations he will discuss at the public meeting.

Reading Time Round-up library program begins

All the young cowboys and cowgirls in Plains will be interested in the reading program outlined by the local library personnel. Beginning June 1 the "Reading Time Round-Up" will be put into action. All children of the area are eligible to attend and are invited to do so by Mrs. Norelle Sloan and Mrs. Bob McDonnell.

The youngsters will register with the library and their card will be put on file where a record of the number of books they have read will be kept. The youngsters will be given a "horse card" to put in the corral. After they have read five books the "horses" will be moved into the second corral. The cards will carry the name and brand of the young reader. With each book read a new brand is added.

After the youngsters have read 15 books they will be eligible to receive a reading certificate. The total program calls for reading 20 books during the summer.

The library has received a new shipment of books of special interest to the young readers and for teenagers. At present there

Salvation Army fund drive scheduled

The second annual Salvation Army Fund Campaign will be kicked-off Wednesday, June 8 with a campaign breakfast at Alma's Restaurant, according to Local Service Unit representatives Judge Don Hancock, chairman; Bill Loyd, vice-chairman; Roger Curry, treasurer; and Mrs. Dorothy Love, campaign chairman. The goal has been set at $450, the same as last year, with the campaign limited to business firms. However, contributions by individuals are welcomed and may be paid to Mrs. Lowe or Treasurer Curry.

Co-workers will be named at the kick-off meeting Wednesday and work will begin immediately. Aimed at assisting and ministering to anyone in need of charitable assistance, the local committee will handle all cases without any outside contacts, no redtape and all decisions strictly within their own unit. The unit was organized here with the main thought in mind of helping people who need help to help themselves.

One-third of all money raised in the campaign will remain in Plains for administration to local needs, it was pointed out. The balance of the funds will go to the state organization to be used in the Salvation Army's many state services as: providing a home and hospital for un-wed mothers at San Antonio; Evangeline Homes at Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio; missing persons aid; alcoholic rehabilitation; and service mens social and welfare services, as well as disaster relief.

One of the major services, state-wide, is the Boy's Camp at Camp Hablitzelle at Midlothian, Texas to which the local unit will send two boys this summer. The boys will spend the week of June 19-26, enjoying camping, swimming, handicraft, singing, hiking, Bible study, etc.

Last year's campaign was indeed a success and it is felt this one will be equally well supported, committee members said.

A detailed story will be given next week concerning the facilities at Camp Hablitzelle.

Queen's contest started Tuesday

Tickets have been issued to the Queen candidates according to the committee chairman, Mrs. Pat Henard. The girls met with the committee Tuesday afternoon where rules and information was given.

Each of the six candidates will be selling the tickets and her sponsoring club will also sell tickets. The tickets will be used in the drawing the last night of the rodeo and a shetland pony will be awarded a lucky ticket holder.

The following is a brief story on each of the queen candidates.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Most ardent advocates of a tax bill to pour fresh funds into the state's coffers likely will be legislative employees.

They may be hunting new jobs or working for nothing before the year is out.

Only about $130,000 remains in the legislative expense fund for use between now and the end of the year. A good part of this probably will be needed to pay travel and miscellaneous expenses of the study committees that meet between sessions.

If these expenses run very high, the permanent legislative employees — people who keep records, staff the legislative library, etc. — may run short on salary money.

Their only course, if they want to stay on in their jobs, will be to hang on until the new legislature finds money to pay them.

SESSION COSTS TOTALED — Last year's legislative sessions — one regular, three special — cost the state $2,773,140.

This averages out to $16,385 a day when the lawmakers are meeting, according to State Auditor C. H. Cavness' report.

Of the $2,773,140 total, $724,000 was spent by the 32-member Senate, $1,242,000 by the 150-member House. Each member received in salary about $5,000, at the rate of $25 per day.

Rest of the expense is mostly for the employees to keep a session going — answer letters, keep records, print bills, etc.

SALES TAX TAKE ESTIMATED — A real sales tax with groceries, medical and other services exempted would raise an estimated $133,000,000 a year, a legislative committee was told.

Collection costs would run about $3,000,000 a year, a Texas Research League tax expert told the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy.

If the tax covered not only finished products but raw products used by business in manufacturing, the take would be some $80,000,000 a year more but would result in the consumer's paying two taxes on one item.

A retail sales tax would not hurt Texas' future industrial development, the Commission was told by a business expert, but a tax on manufacturing raw materials would.

Very few elective officials have come out strongly for any kind of broad-based sales tax.

Some are bound to look longingly at this avenue, however, since the amount that will have to be raised next year will, if teachers get any sort of raise, be almost as much as a retail sales tax would net.

"LAME DUCK" OPINIONS ASKED — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has been asked for opinions on whether retiring lawmakers should continue to serve on two important interim committees.

Four members of the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy are "lame ducks." They are the chairman, Sen. Bill Fly of Victoria, and Rep. Frates Seeligion of San Antonio, who were defeated for re-election; Rep. V. L. Ramsey of Beekville, who ran for comptroller and lost; and Rep. Obie Bristow of Big Spring who didn't run this year.

Three of the five members of the House General Investigating Committee also did not run for new terms. They are Rep. H. J. Blanchard, chairman, and Reps. Joe Burkett of Kerrville and Carl Conley of Raymondville.

If the Attorney General rules these men should be replaced, most of the new appointments will be made by retiring House Speaker Waggoner Carr.

GAS TAX ARGUED — Court action has begun on what will undoubtedly be a long legal battle over whether the natural gas severance beneficiary tax passed last year is constitutional.

An estimated $15,000,000 a year in state revenue is at stake. Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., which filed a separate suit, was the first to begin argument in the Austin district court. A consolidated suit, involving 80 other companies, will be heard by the same court on June 16.

Tennessee Co. spokesmen argued that the pipelines are in the business of transporting only and should not be subject to a tax based on the value of the gas.

Case is not expected to be decided finally for many months when it has gone through all the lower courts and finally to the U. S. Supreme Court.

INDUSTRY-SEEKING BUDGET SET — Texas Industry Commission has set up an operating budget of $100,000, of which $76,250 will have to be raised privately.

Legislature appropriated $23,750 for the Commission, about 10 per cent of what was asked. Between now and Sept. 1, 1961, the Commission proposes to spend about $50,000 on printing, mailing and advertising. Remainder would be spent on salaries and office expenses.

Commission's goal is to attract 254 new industries to Texas in the next year.

Former Attorney General John Ben Sheppard of Odessa has been named chairman of a 400-member citizens advisory committee which will assist the committee by gathering information on local conditions.

JOHNSON DINNER PLANNED — A $50-a-plate dinner by the Lyndon Johnson For President dinner committee will be held in Austin's Municipal Auditorium on June 13.

The dinner will honor Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Speaker Sam Rayburn, and Gov. Price Daniel.

Honorary chairman is Former Vice President John Nance Garner of Uvalde. Co-chairman of the event will be Austin's Mayor Tom Miller and Congressman Homer Thornberry.

Ticket orders should be mailed to Post Office Box 362 in Austin.

SHORT SNORTS — Corporation tax payments have reduced the general revenue fund deficit to $45,736,868, according to State Treasurer Jesse James.

Forty per cent of Texas boat owners still have not registered their craft under the new boat licensing law.

Texas traffic deaths for the first 20 weeks of this year are down by 13 per cent from what they were a year ago, reports the Department of Public Safety.

District court held Wednesday

Four divorces were granted, judgment returned on a trespass to try title case, and one hearing date set during non-jury district court held Wednesday afternoon, with Judge M. C. Ledbetter presiding.

Divorce was granted in the case of James C. Johnson vs. Karen Ann Johnson, with custody of the minor child awarded to mother for nine months of the year, the remaining three months to be spent with the father. The father was also directed to pay $35 per month child support during the nine months the child is in custody of the mother. It was also directed that the child was not to be removed from the jurisdiction of the court without written permission of the court.

In the case of Martha Starnes vs. Howard Dean Starnes, divorce was granted and custody of minor children granted to plaintiff, with defendant ordered to pay $100 per month child support as long as children are subject to jurisdiction of the court.

Divorce was granted in suit of Roxie Eloise Hunter vs. Robert G. Hunter, custody of children awarded to plaintiff, and defendant ordered to pay $75 per month child support.

In the suit of E. E. Clark vs. Zella Rebecca Clark, the court appointed Jerry Paquin as attorney ad litem to represent the defendant who was cited by publication. The divorce was granted.

Judgment by default in favor of the plaintiff was awarded in the trespass to try title suit of D. H. Walton vs. I. W. Cox and wife and C. R. Monhollan and wife. The plaintiff was awarded title to the land in controversy.

Hearing in the case of Jesse Murphy vs. Daryl A. Anderson, and others, on motion of J. I. Case Credit Corporation, one of the defendants, in form of plea of privilege heretofore filed was granted and date set June 13.

Roy and Kathy Nabors, children of Mr. and Mrs. John Nabors, are guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Kissinger. Also home for the summer is Donnie Kissinger who attended Howard-Payne College, Brownwood, last year.

How should fishermen handle fish to best preserve their good eating flavor?

After a survey of this question among veteran fishermen, Heddon's research staff came up with these recommendations:

First — catch a fish (Cool logic!)
Second — clean it as soon as possible after catching. Don't drag it around behind your boat until it turns stiff as a board (like which it will taste).

Third — cook it as soon as possible after cleaning it. Flavor sags with age (so eat it young).

Fish gourmets prefer to clean each fish as soon as caught, place it temporarily in an ice-filled refrigerator bag or chest, then broil it on the nearest shore. They say it's amazing how a fish cooked this way will improve the taste of a pinch of salt!

If you must stash your fish away in the deep freeze, Heddon suggests that you put the fish sections in an air-tight container and fill with water. This prevents dehydrating and preserves flavor best.

Then when fish-hunger nudges you, thaw and cook — but never over-cook.

Seasoning? If you use anything but salt and butter, you're admitting that you don't like to fish.

Save Outboard Fuel Slips
Ever wonder how many hours per year you run your outboard?

More important, do you have trouble estimating when your motor's periodic maintenance checks are due?

An easy way to keep surprisingly accurate check on running hours is through gasoline sales slips. It's quite easy over an extended period to determine how much fuel your outboard burns in an hour of average operation.

Of course one must remember that extensive trolling or full-throttle operation can greatly alter your average mileage. Anyway, having this information at hand makes it simple to add up your fuel purchases and arrive at the number of hours a motor must have been operated.

If, for example, your motor burns three gallons per hour and you brought 75 gallons of fuel in a given period, the motor will have run for about 25 hours. Obviously, then, any recommended 25-hour checks are due and should be taken care of promptly.

Naturally a few hours of overtime won't hurt a good motor, but this orderly time keeping system will do more for your motor's well being than mere guess work.

If you do a great deal of motor boating, there is another advantage to saving fuel slips. You can obtain a tax refund on all gas purchased in Texas for your boat. Here's how it's done:

First, you must buy your gas from a licensed refund dealer. (Such licenses are obtained from the State Comptroller's office.) The dealer will give you an invoice of exemption, form 7065B, with each gasoline purchase for your boat. You, in turn, will write the comptroller's office for form 7065E, fill it out, and mail it back to him with all your invoices and he'll send you your refund.

This procedure probably will save you more than you expected. It might help buy that extra minnow bucket, anchor, cooler or tackle box. One important reminder — you must apply for the refund within six months of the date you purchased the gasoline.

One more tip on fuel slips. Even if you have no interest in a formal log of your outboard cruises, these sales slips constitute an information record for future reference, a record not only of your mileage and fuel consumption, but of your ports of call and the dates you made the trips.

Points on Refueling
Speaking of fuel how's your outboard refueling technique?

The mark of an expert outboarder is his quick, certain, safe refueling procedure.

By far the best plan for all boats having portable fuel tanks is to take them out of the boat for filling. It is easier for the dock or service station attendant to add exactly the right amount of oil and to avoid overfilling when he has the tank right at his feet. Furthermore it avoids messy and potentially hazardous spillage of fuel into the bilges.

Gasoline vapor is heavier than air and will collect in the lower levels of any confined space — such as inside a boat hull. Open outboards usually are well ventilated, but in some cases floor boards or bow lockers delay the dissipation of vapors long enough to create some fire hazard.

It is important to mix oil and gasoline thoroughly. If lubricant is poorly mixed with the gas, erratic running and poor lubrication may result. There have been cases when erratic motor operation, suggestive of the need for carburetor adjustment, has been traced to owner carelessness in the matter of maintaining a steady oil-gas ratio from one batch of fuel to the next.

To an empty tank, add the required amount of oil and approximately the same volume of gasoline. Slosh around to mix thoroughly. Then add the remainder of the gasoline. Too little oil creates a risk of mechanical damage; too much oil leads to irregular, smoky running and premature spark plug and carbon troubles.

Also, smart outboarders make sure there is enough slack in the fuel line to allow the motor to tilt and turn without pulling on it and that the heavy tank does not rest on a loop of hose and pinch it.

Fuel tanks should be secured against shifting. One which comes loose over rough water or on a sharp turn, can damage the boat, hurt a passenger, or tear the fuel line loose.

And needless to say, the "no smoking" rule should be strictly observed during all refueling operations.

Polio season here; public is urged to get shots now

With the season for polio already here, Mrs. Ann Foster, Seminole, public health nurse for Yoakum and Gaines counties, is urging everyone to make certain they have their polio shots.

According to a letter just received from the Bureau of Public Assistance, Social Security Administration, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the number of cases of paralytic polio in 1959 in the United States showed an alarming increase of 54 per cent over 1958. A total of 5,694 cases were reported last year in contrast to 3,697 in 1958.

Eighty-two per cent of the 1959 cases occurred in persons who had not been fully vaccinated, she reported. Nearly half of all paralytic cases were preschool children. Mrs. Foster further reported the astonishing fact that four and a half million children under five years of age have had no vaccine against polio.

Mrs. Foster strongly urged that all persons who have not been vaccinated, or who have not completed their series of shots, make arrangements with their doctors immediately to do so.

The original polio vaccination consists of three shots, Mrs. Foster explained. After the first, the second follows in three weeks, with the third seven months later. It is now believed that this initial vaccination should be followed by a fourth shot, some doctors recommending it to be a year later and some two years later.

CARD OF THANKS

Open house held by Plains lodges

A bountiful supply of food was enjoyed by 75 members and guests of Rebekah and Oddfellow Lodges at their annual open-house in I. O. O. F. Hall Tuesday evening. Guests registered from Andrews, Denver City, Whiteface, Brownfield, Seminole and Plains.

The welcome address was given by W. F. Upton, who in turn introduced Deputy Grand Master of the State, E. V. Riley of Brownfield who spoke on Oddfellowship. Mrs. Minor King of Andrews addressed the group on "Rebekahship".

Rebekahs from Denver City presented a detailed drill. Rebekahs from Andrews entertained with a delightful skit which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Little Miss Kathy Nabors, granddaughter of Mrs. L. C. Kissinger, drew the name of Mrs. J. E. Cooke, Box 386, Plains, to receive the beautiful Westinghouse Television set that was given away.

The lodges expressed appreciation to all who contributed to this fund.

State Line Club scene of shower

Mrs. Tom Box was hostess to the State Line Home Demonstration Club, Thursday afternoon, May 26 in her home. The devotional was given by the hostess who led the recreation period.

President Mrs. Alton Billings conducted the business session during which routine discussions were held with no definite action taken. The demonstration on "Oven Meals" was omitted due to illness of the speaker.

A surprise anniversary shower was presented Mrs. Billings and refreshments of Jello cake, dainty cheese-filled crackers and punch were served to Mesdames LeeRoy Box, R. G. Hartman, Raymond Chaffin, Alton Billings, Joe Crump, Terry Bacon, Loren Gayle, Ira Tidwell and the hostess.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Chaffin at 2:30 P.M. June 9 with the demonstration on "Tasty Egg Dishes". All homemakers are invited to attend.

Mrs. Maudie Romans of Brownfield was a guest of her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Romans and Virginia, on Tuesday night and Wednesday. A former Yoakum County resident, she enjoyed chatting with many of her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John McNally and children of Littlefield spent several days last week as guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Winkles, and Pat returned home with them for a visit.

Drilling activity dropped sharply during last week

Rotary drilling activity in Yoakum County fell off sharply last week, although throughout the Permian Basin an increase was noted in the amount of drilling activity in progress.

The Yoakum count on May 27, according to Reed Roller Bit Co., Midland, was four as compared to seven during the week which ended on May 20. Prior to last week the count had fluctuated in Yoakum from six to seven for the past five weeks.

In the Permian Basin region a total of 281 active rotary units were counted in the latest survey, compared to 276 which were making hole one week previously.

The figure on May 27 was 13 higher than two weeks ago, however the figure for the latest Friday is still considerably below the 382 active rotaries counted in Permian territory one year ago.

Lea County, N. M., with 36 strings of tools working was the leading county in the area, with Andrews County second with 30 rigs in operation. Eddy County, N. M., listed 26 rigs and Gaines County was fourth with 19 active operations. Terry County listed two operations, compared with one the prior week.

Meixners, Carpenters attend '60 conference

Rev. and Mrs. R. H. Meixner and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Carpenter reported a very wonderful time was had at the fifty-first session of the Northwest Methodist Conference. The Carpenters were delegates to the Conference from the local Methodist Church.

The Meixners report that they met many friends of the local church and met a number of pastors who formerly served the Plains Church.

They also reported that they sat "contentedly" during the session as they knew that they were coming back to Plains. They added, "It is with joy and a keen sense of anticipation that we were able to return to this congenial and friendly town. We can say sincerely we are glad we are back."

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Fitzgerald and Linda, Mrs. Bob Loe and sons and Mrs. Jack Palmer and son were Brownfield visitors Tuesday.

NEWS THAT SHAPED OUR DESTINY

No headlines - no pictures, yet this newspaper packed a wallop as it relentlessly urged our forefathers to fight for liberty.

We've come a long way since then. Now the miracle of electronic communication brings us the news as it happens; photography, modern typography and art reproduction graphically illustrate and punctuate ideas.

But no matter how the world changes, our American heritage can only be upheld through a free press.

Through the printed page the citizens can examine the issues, go over them point by point among themselves and make their wishes known at the polls.

Of course today's newspapers have expanded to meet other public needs. They offer entertainment, advertising, illustrated and helpful articles, as well as a wider variety of news.

Dear Voter:

Would you please take the time to read this final statement before the 2nd Primary Saturday?

Again, let me express my sincere thanks to those who have encouraged and supported me in my candidacy for Yoakum County Tax Assessor-Collector.

I would like to state that I have no ill feeling toward anyone in Yoakum County. I have a genuine respect for my opponent and his, or anyone's right to seek a public office.

Because past experience in different occupations has qualified me very well in the field of tax work, and having an earnest desire to serve you people in this field, I feel that I can organize the office to render a quality of service beyond that which has been offered to date.

It has been intimated that I would not give full time to the office. Let me say that I consider the amount of time now being given the very minimum, and will certainly give that plus as much more as is required for top-level operation.

If the above appeals to your thinking, I would greatly appreciate your vote on Saturday, June 4th.

Again, thank you and I will be satisfied with your answer at the polls.

Sincerely,

Reese Wilkerson

Jim Nugent injures arm in oilfield accident

Jim Nugent suffered severe pain and multiple fractures of his lower left arm in an oilfield accident near Crossroads, New Mexico Thursday.

Mr. Nugent was riding up on an elevator when the mechanism broke leaving him swing by one arm and catching the arm in the works. He was rushed to Yoakum County Hospital where x-rays revealed on bone broken while the other was crushed so badly that surgery was necessary. He remained in the hospital over night and at last report the arm was doing satisfactory.

Mr. Nugent, a resident of Plains the past two years, has done mechanic work here.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

It has been said that a farmer needs to "know his soil" as well as he knows his family if he is to get the maximum response from farm management principles such as irrigation, fertilizers, and crop varieties.

It is very difficult for a farmer or rancher to stay in business if he abuses the basis for his existence—the soil.

For the past four years a standard soil survey has been in progress in the Yoakum Soil Conservation District. This soil survey is designed to supply more knowledge of the soil as an aid in planning the kind of farming or ranching that will protect the soil and provide the best yields possible.

The standard soil survey in the Yoakum Soil Conservation District is 87% complete. The southwest corner of the county remains to be finished. This survey provides a soils map that is bound into a comprehensive report that also gives a description of the soils and their location in the county. It also gives principles of management and tells what they will do under different types of management. This report will describe the various range sites or "kinds of country".

The soil scientists making the survey examines the soils in the field, classifies them according to their characteristics and maps their boundaries on an aerial photograph of the land. So far there are 43 different soil types. The soil survey has already been completed in Terry and Dawson counties and the reports will be published in the near future. The report is already published for Lynn county.

The field work is scheduled to be completed in the Yoakum SCD in early August of this year. Only 70,000 acres remain to be surveyed.

The soil scientist who makes the soil survey walks or drives over the land and digs many holes with a spade or hydraulic soil sampler mounted on a truck. From 10 to 100 holes are dug to a depth of as much as 6 feet for every section of land mapped. These holes are dug where there to be a soil change. The hole reveals several soil layers or horizons which make up the soil profile. Each soil is classified according to the characteristics of the profile such as, texture, color, depth, amount of free lime, and other characteristics. On this basis the soils are classified into series, type, phase and Great Soil Group. We have 7 Great Soil Groups, 18 soil series, 9 phases and 42 different soil types in the county. The soil series are named for towns or communities close to where they were first recognized and mapped.

The surface texture such as clay loam or fine sandy loam combined with the soil series makes up the soil type name. Lubbock clay loam is a soil type, Lubbock clay loam, sloping, is a phase. Lubbock clay loam belongs to the Reddish Chestnut Great Soil Group that takes in broad areas of the High Plains of Texas.

All the facts considered important to farming and ranching are recorded. Each soil is placed in a capability unit according to its wind erosion hazard.

When the soil survey is completed a farmer can find his farm on the map, identify the soils from the symbols on the map and study his soils in the soil survey report. He can also compare his yields with those in the report which are an average of all the farms in the county. He can decide whether he should change his practices and methods recommended for the soils of his farm or ranch.

It is hoped that this inventory of soils will help the farmers and

Mr. and Mrs. Seth David Brown and daughter, Connie of El Paso visited his mother and brother, Mrs. Seth Brown and Joe of Plains over the weekend.

Mrs. Casey Brown returned to Plains Sunday for summer work in the school home economics department after spending ten days at her home at Gatesville. She also visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Verden, at Lakeview and attended her sister Sandy's high school graduation. Sandy and a friend, Karen Clements, will spend this month here with Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Mollie Courtney and Mrs. Ann Green enjoyed a holiday outing Sunday and Monday visiting Ruidoso, Mt. Jo Observatory, the lovely greenhouses and other scenic attractions in that area.

Jerry Beck of Lubbock visited friends in Plains Tuesday afternoon. A student at Texas Tech, he works as a traveling salesman.

Rev. and Mrs. Robert Green and sons of Tuba City, Arizona were guests of her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Truett Jones, last weekend and showed picture slides of their missionary work with the Indian in that area at the evening worship hour in First Baptist Church. They visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen T. Jones in Lamesa last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Anthony returned home early Tuesday morning from Dallas where they spent the weekend as guests of their daughter and family, Dr. and Mrs. Gene Huff and Kathy. They also attended open house of the new Blue Cross Blue Shield building of which Mrs. Huff is an employee.

Mr. and Mrs. Slim Randall and family, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Wayland Powell, enjoyed a ten-day vacation visiting relatives at Kemp and Dalies. The Randalls returned home Sunday. Mrs. Powell's husband met her at Seymour and she accompanied him to Oklahoma where he is in the wheat harvest.

ranchers better plan their operations to increase their yields and better protect their soil from the hazards of wind erosion. Any farmer wishing information now on their soils are invited by the Yoakum SCD board of supervisors to drop in at the Soil Conservation Service office in Plains.

Mrs. Viele Hinkle and Ruth, accompanied by Carolyn Murphhey, returned Wednesday after a weeks visit with friends at Nucla, Colorado and with Rev. and Mrs. Bob McLeroy and sons at Monticello, Utah. Mrs. Hinkle took her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Don Hinkle and baby of Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, to Amarillo on Thursday where they boarded a plane enroute to Banbury, England to spend the summer with her parents.

Among the out of town relatives and friends attending the funeral services for J. M. Cheek last Thursday were: Mr. J. T. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Brian and children of McCamey were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Brian, and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Dunk Brian and children, over the weekend and transacted business in Plains. Mr. Brian is with Shell Oil Co., and his family are former residents of this city. They were joined here by another brother, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Brian of Crane.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams of Benjamin spent the Memorial Day weekend as guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kennedy.

Audie Murphy to visit Ruidoso races

A sparkling array of two-year-old races on Friday and a personal appearance by the nation's most decorated hero, Audie Murphy, on Saturday, highlight the first two days of weekend racing at Ruidoso Downs Race Track in New Mexico.

The Big Ruidoso, a thoroughbred feature, will be the top race on the Friday card for seven of the better middle distance sprinters competing at the seven-furlong route. Dancing Deedie, is highly favored, but will have first-rate competition from Floor Girl and Idle Rumor. Both winners of two previous starts this season.

to the office of

Tax Assessor-Collector

Mr. and Mrs. Voter:

During this campaign I have confined my remarks strictly to my own qualifications and experience and to the fact that I do need the job as I depend entirely on a salary for my livelihood. If elected I will give my best efforts and full time to the office.

I am qualified with over ten years experience in assessing and collecting taxes. I am experienced in all phases of tax office work, preparing tax rolls, tax records, car registration, car titles, and State and County reports.

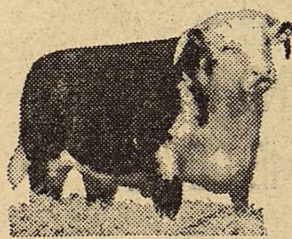

As your present chief-deputy I perform the same work and duties required of an elected Tax Assessor-Collector.

I deem the tax office one of the most important offices in the county, and feel that to render you the people of Yoakum County the efficient and courteous service you deserve, one must have the experience and working knowledge of the office.

Some interested observers think the section covered by this test has enough pay to where the water section could be squeezed off with cement and still leave enough oil column to make a producer.

This wildcat developed salt water between 8,518 and 8,676 feet, between the Wichita-Albany and Wolfcamp, the two sections which appear to carry sufficient petroleum to complete for discoveries.

69 reserve soil bank contracts in Yoakum

Yoakum County has 69 conservation reserve soil bank contracts consisting of 17,312.6 acres, according to W. M. Overton, office manager of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Twelve of the 69 soil bank farms have the entire acreage in the program and on these 12 farms there are 615.8 acres in cotton allotment. The total annual payment to 82 producers is $160,495, which is an average of $3.27 per acre, Overton said.

During the year periodic inspections of the soil bank land will be made by the county committee or representative, a representative of the State ASC committee and a representative of the Internal Audit Division. Purpose of the inspection will be to see that terms of contract are being carried out by the producers.

The local ASC office suggests that each producer who has an interest in soil bank contract familiarize himself with the terms of the contract so that he will not violate any of the terms and make himself ineligible for payments and liable for a penalty.

Special emphasis has been placed on urging CR signers to carefully read the regulations in regard to grazing, control of noxious weeds, establishing an approved cover, maintaining an approved cover and breaking out new cropland on the farm as now constituted or land that may become a part of the CR farm.

Farmers desiring information on the $50,000 support price limitation may obtain it from the county ASC office, the ASC committee members or the County Agent.

$8,204 in bonds sold during April for Yoakum County

April E and H Savings sales in Yoakum County totaled $8,204 according to D. F. Moorhead, Chairman of the County Savings Bonds Committee.

Sales for the first four months of 1960 were $38,969 which represents 53.7 per cent of the county 1960 goal. Sales in Texas for the first four months were $37,482,776 or 34.7 per cent of its 1960 goal of $108,000,000.

"An important part in assuring our Nation's safety and economic stability and growth is played by purchasers of United States Savings Bonds. Every buyer of a Savings Bond helps provide the strengthened resources on which so much depends, not only for us but for future generations of Americans," Moorhead said.

Jan Copeland gets music scholarship

Jan Copeland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Copeland Jr., has been awarded a 4-year music scholarship to Eastern New Mexico University, Portales. She and her parents were in Portales last weekend where they were in conference with Band Director Thompson and made arrangements for Jan to have on-campus work when she enters school this fall.

Jan is visiting her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Holbert, in Lubbock this week.

Plains students attending the New Mexico school last semester were Jeanine St. Romain, Karen Shobert and Larry Bedford.

A Final Message to the Voters of Yoakum County:

My sincere thanks to the many people of Yoakum County for the excellent support and vote of confidence given me at the polls in the first primary election.

I want to earnestly solicit your continued support and respectfully ask for your consideration and vote in the second primary election this Saturday, June 4. I have endeavored always to fill the office of Deputy Sheriff of Yoakum County with dignity, impartiality and sincere devotion to duty during the seven years it has been my privilege to serve you, and believe my past record will show that I am capable of the many responsibilities this important office embodies.

Your support and influence will be greatly appreciated

Vote for Olan Heath for Sheriff of Yoakum County
