School days again

Summer vacation will be over Monday for hundreds of Plains students. School for the coming year will begin Monday morning at 8:45 according to G. B. Kennedy, school superintendent.

There will be no general assembly Monday as the new school auditorium is not completed. Kennedy added that first grade students and their parents will meet in the cafeteria for room assignments and registration. Parents of first grade students are requested to bring their child's birth certificate on Monday.

Bus runs will be the same as at the close of the last school term, Kennedy said, with minor changes being made after the first few days of school. Buses will return children to their homes at noon on the opening day.

The school cafeteria will begin operation on Tuesday, August 30. The price of students lunches will be 30c each.

Kennedy added that prospects for a good school year are excellent. He said that a few minor inconveniences will be experienced by the high school students and teachers until the building program is completed. However, he added, within a few weeks the Plains School District will have a school plant that any community would be proud to possess.

School faculty for the coming year is complete Kennedy said and are well qualified. An additional one or two teachers may be employed after the total enrollment is determined.

Business firms donate lights to start project

The highway lighting project was launched Friday according to Roger Curry, chairman of the committee. The project is being sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce.

Curry said that Chamber committee would contact all local businesses and other civic-minded residents to solicit funds for the lights.

The cost for erecting the lights will run approximately $8,500 for 42 lamps. The cost per light will be $200 which includes the metal pole, light fixture, and wiring. The city electric company will furnish the power free of charge.

The lights will be placed, on average, three to a block and will be staggered. The height of the pole will be 30 feet and the pole will be set in concrete. The fixtures will be vapor lights which according to Curry gives off a brighter light than those now in use in Plains.

Curry added that anyone wishing to donate funds to the project or wanting to ask any questions concerning the lights to contact him or Pete St. Roman or Joe Curry.

Firms contributing to the highway lighting project are:

State Highway Commission approves U. S. Highway 82 route through Plains

Highway 380 will soon be U. S. Highway 82 if the action taken by the Texas Highway Commission is approved by the American Association of State Highway Officials. In a recent decision the State Highway Commission agreed to extend U.S. 82 from Lubbock to Brownfield, Plains and into New Mexico.

A local group from the Chamber of Commerce met with the Commission earlier to recommend that such a route would be beneficial to the local group that an interment this route. It was felt by local businesses and that the present highway through Plains would be able to carry the load. U. S. 82 begins in Georgia and at present ends in Lubbock. As soon as the 1961 highway maps are released the routing will be changed.

BOOSTERS MEET

The Plains Booster Club met Monday night at the American Legion Hall. It was decided to hold election of new officers at the next meeting. Schedules for carrying football players home after training was discussed and members volunteered to help.

Those who have completed a satisfactory program and finished their records were: first year; Gloria Pouncy, Pamela Essary, Vikki Vernon, Brenda Duke and Alton Earl McGinty. Second year; Laura Watson, Gloria Watson, Cheryl Essary, Kay Es-

Beef calves weighed in for August, Kenneth McGinty has fastest gainer

The August weigh day for beef calves was held last Saturday morning and 31 calves were brought in. Only two animals were gaining less than two pounds a day which means that the bulk of the 4-H boys and girls are doing a good job of feeding.

The fastest gaining calf was "Jimmy" owned by Kenneth McGinty. He has gained almost three pounds a day since the first weigh day in May. Sylvia McGinty was standing second with one of her calves, Micheal McPherson was fourth and Micheal McPherson and Alton Earl McGinty were tied for fifth place.

D'Lynn McGinty was in the lead last month and not present this month. Her calf would have to have gained 106 pounds during the past five weeks to be even with Kenneth. Two of the calves did gain 104 pounds during this period so it is quite possible that her calf has done well enough to be standing high in the contest.

The gain contest can be won by any one of about 20 calves this year. With six months left in the feeding period it is possible for a calf to take the lead in February when he is 50 pounds behind in August. This does not generally happen because the rate of gain is an inherited thing and a calf that gains well during the early part of the feeding period will usually continue to gain at a high rate.

DIRECTORS MEET

The directors of the Plains Chamber of Commerce met Wednesday morning for breakfast at Alma's restaurant. The group voted on buying a light to help launch the project.

Other business include discussion on forming an agricultural committee. It was decided that such a group should be formed and president Johnny Fitzgerald and vice-president Roy Edwards will name the committee later.

STOP AND LOOK for school youngsters crossing streets as school starts next week. Caution is urged to all drivers to watch for young-

G. B. Kennedy, the library and science room is expected to be completed shortly.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Over 50,000 persons are drawing approximately one million dollars a week in unemployment compensation in Texas.

Investigations have disclosed fraudulent claims. Charges already have been filed in several Texas cities, and investigation is underway statewide.

"In view of the recent frauds disclosed by investigations in unemployment compensation claims," says Maurice Acers, Commissioner, "it is imperative that an already broad system of fraud detection and prevention be expanded and accelerated."

There are a number of ways TEC can catch the cheaters. And TEC is out after them now. One method is by "cross-matching". This involves checking a person's unemployment claims against his earnings.

Sometimes this isn't necessary. Some people who are drawing unemployment compensation and secretly working, will betray themselves by their nervousness when they report to the local TEC office.

In one instance a truck driver applied for unemployment compensation, then got another job. When he made his weekly trip to report to the employment office, he drove up in the truck of the company employing him and double-parked in front of the TEC office.

A TEC employe asked the man why he was driving this company's truck. "Because I'm working for the company," the driver said.

This man soon found himself in court.

There are some, says a veteran TEC employe, who take the attitude: "I've earned it. Now I want to collect it." In other words, after they have worked long enough and earned enough to qualify for unemployment compensation, they feel they're entitled to quit work and collect it.

That is not the way the program is set up under the law. Here, briefly, are some of the requirements:

1. You must have built up a certain amount of work credits during the 15 months preceding application, with an employer who hires four or more persons.
2. You must have lost your job through no fault of your own.
3. You must make application with TEC for another job.
4. You must be able and available to accept another suitable job.
5. You must visit your local TEC office once a week to report your availability for work, or if you have done any work, report your earnings.

For example, a woman unable to work because of pregnancy would not be eligible for unemployment compensation, even though employed by a concern participating in the program.

Conflicting opinions sometimes develop over what is another "suitable" job and who is "available" for work.

A typist who has been making $200 a month may consider a salary of $185 unsuitable. But if that is the going rate for that work in that area, TEC may decide it's suitable enough and deny unemployment compensation.

Others drawing unemployment benefits may be "available" in body only. When directed by TEC to apply for a certain job, they'll do it, but will appear so dull and uninterested that prospective employers won't hire them.

Most important to TEC is throwing a barricade in the paths of those people who just plain want to get some of the money just because it's there.

TEC also tries to alert employers to their role in halting fraud. When a former employe applies for benefits, a copy of his application is sent to the employer. If the employe quit or was fired for incompetence, it is the employer's duty to inform

TEC at once.

TEC warns that if you're not willing to work at a suitable job, you cannot collect unemployment insurance. Furthermore, you cannot work, earn a salary and collect unemployment insurance at the same time.

Invariably some people try to get around TEC rules. Such persons cause trouble for their employers, who have to pay more taxes; trouble for TEC, which now is on the lookout for the chiselers; and trouble for themselves, because they are laying themselves wide open for suits for fraudulent claims.

Taken individually, the collection by some person of from $7 to $27 a week, to which he is not entitled, may seem like peanuts. But any unchecked fraud, viewed in the light of the whole massive unemployment compensation program in Texas, could multiply itself into a million-dollar headache.

Last year $51,376,076 was paid out in Texas in unemployment benefits. This was more than was taken in in unemployment taxes for employers. Fortunately for TEC, the program has, over a period of years, built up a substantial trust fund — $255,534,551 to be exact — against bad periods.

But this fund, designed as a cushion against depression-type breadlines, can serve its purpose only if it is not abused. It is meant as insurance, TEC officials explain, not as a dole, and not to pay for vacations for those who are tired of working.

SHORT SNORTS — Texas Department of Public Safety celebrated its 25th birthday this month. Col. Homer Garrison

Jr. has been director for 22 years. The highway patrol has grown from 140 to 773 men, but is still far short of the 2,500 estimated need. . . . Personal incomes of Texans rose five per cent last year, bringing the annual per capita income for the state up to $1,908. . . . Some 700 persons from 100 Texas counties will attend the Governor's Conference on Aging in Austin, on Sept. 7-8. Delegates will draft recommendations for the White House Conference on Aging.

Tree seedlings to be made available to area landowners

Tree seedlings will again be available to West Texas landowners for planting windbreaks next January. Don Young, head of the Forest Management Department of the Texas Forest Service, urges landowners to place orders as early as possible before the February 10 deadline.

Orders must be in multiples of 50, and no order for less than 100 trees will be accepted. The delivered cost of seedlings this year is $1.50 per hundred. Tree species available for the 1960-61 planting season are Austrian pine, black locust, black walnut, stratified nut, catalpa, cottonwood, Chinese elm, mulberry, osage orange, ponderosa pine, red cedar, rosa multiflora, sycamore, slash and loblolly pine.

All seedlings are packaged in moss and moisture-proof paper and shipped directly to the landowner. Tree seedlings, purchased from the Texas Forest Service, may not be used or resold for ornamental purposes. The landowner further agrees to protect the trees from fire, cattle, and destructive insects.

Application forms can be obtained from county agents and Soil Conservation District offices in the West Texas area. Forms are also available upon request from the Director, Texas Forest Service, College Station, Texas.

Rev. Bob McLeroy and sons, Joe and Jim, of Monticello, Utah attended church services at First Baptist Church Sunday and were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wauson. Rev. Worth Trying

The fresh paint odor can be eliminated from a newly-painted room by slicing three or four onions into a bucket of cold water. Leave the bucket in the center of the room for several hours.

Keep 'em Fresh

To keep sandwiches fresh, stack them on a damp towel covered with wax paper. Use wax paper between each layer and fold the edges of the towel snugly over the sandwiches.

Smooth Gravy

Avoid lumps when thickening gravy by adding flour to water in a jar and shaking, then add it to meat stock or drippings.

Deadline set for golf tournament in Gaines County

Deadline for entering the annual Gaines County Golf Club championship tournament will be 6 p.m., Saturday, according to Club Pro Jim Terry.

Terry said today that it is expected that Cotton Kilpatrick, Denver City, will return to defend his 1958 championship in the tourney, after being forced out of action in the 1959 event because of a heart illness.

The tournament is expected to consist of six flights of men golfers and four flights of women golfers. It is anticipated that more than 80 players will be participating. All players who regularly play on the Gaines course are eligible to participate.

There will be no qualifying round, according to Terry, with placement in flights to be determined by handicap.

Pairings for all flights will be made and posted in the Pro Shop at the course immediately following the close of registration on Saturday.

First round matches in the tournament must be completed on or before September 1; second round matches must be completed on or before September 3; third round matches must be completed on or before September 4; and all final matches will be played on Labor Day, September 5.

Terry has extended a special invitation to all Yoakum County invitation to all Denver City tournament, with a reminder that entry deadline is Saturday, August 27, at 6 p.m.

Trophies and merchandise prizes which will be awarded at the completion of the tourney are now on display at the club's pro shop.

Plains, Texas

Money may not talk, but it sure does swim, float, shoot, and roam the countryside. Actually it doesn't do all these things. But it does take money, and lots of it, to maintain our lakes and streams and to preserve our fish and wildlife resources.

Monty you spend for your new fishing and hunting licenses, needed by Sept. 1 each year, is spent on improving our wildlife resources. Uncle Sam helps out. He collects an excise tax whenever you purchase a new gun, box of shells, fishing rod or reel, or those artificial lures.

A big portion of this money also goes for your benefit in hunting and fishing. Uncle Sam distributes these funds back to the states by means of a formula based on the state's area and the number of hunting and fishing license holders in the state.

Over $12,800,000 in federal aid, for fish and wildlife restoration programs, was distributed among the various states on July 1. These funds were allocated for the year ending July 1, 1961. They were designed to aid the states in programming their federal aid activities.

Texas fared quite well in the monetary apportionments. It was tops in the allocations for fish (123,500) and for wildlife restoration projects ($513,500.)

California matched us in the appropriations for fish, but fell short on the wildlife allocations. None of the other states came close.

Under the federal aid program, the states expend their own funds on approved projects, then are reimbursed up to 75 per cent of the cost. This money comes from you, Mr. and Mrs. Outdoorsman, and is spent for you . . . so that you may enjoy fish and wildlife for years to come.

Also in the federal picture are our water resources. The Senate Select Committee on National Water Resources is studying the potential quantity and quality of water that will be needed in the years 1980 and 2000.

That may sound like a long time off, but it will be here before many of us realize it. Certainly before we're prepared for it.

Committee reports indicate that in 1980 the manufacturing requirements for water will be 100 billion gallons daily in itself. That is one-sixth of the estimate available under the present water development techniques.

Theodore M. Schad, staff director of the committee, says, "The United States is rapidly approaching the time when we will need and use all the water we can possibly get from every conceivable source."

From these facts one can see that our water conservation problem goes much farther than the desire of the outdoorsman for the conservation of water resources . . . for the prolongation and sustenance of his favorite outdoor recreation.

This is a problem of survival and of health.

Of course the maintenance of water resources has the beneficial effect of improved recreation. That is one factor which caused the nation's outdoorsmen to take the lead in the fight for water conservation and against water pollution. For this work all outdoorsmen are to be congratulated.

As an outdoorsman you are closer to nature than perhaps any other citizen. Because of your hunting and fishing, and your participation in water sports, it was but natural that you would be the first to recognize the problem at hand.

And therefore the first to take one of the strongest stands in support of the improvement programs.

But your personal desires are secondary. The problem encompasses many things. Included not only are the pleasures of life, but life itself for our future generations.

So, keep up the good work. Encourage your local civic groups to become more conservation-minded. Urge them to take an active part in the preservation of wildlife areas and in the upkeep of our lakes and streams.

You can whet their interests quickly—and the public's interest greatly—if you'll include in your proposal not only a program for adequate water for homes and industries, but also for adequate hunting, boating and fishing facilities for the sportsman.

Fallout Shelters Can Save Millions of Americans

Many Americans near the points of bomb impact could be killed in a nuclear attack by blast, heat and initial radiation. But millions could survive by the simple expedient of protecting themselves against radioactive fallout.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has called fallout shelters "the best single defense measure for the protection of the greatest number of our people."

For about $25 to $150 per person, families can construct shelters, on a do-it-yourself basis, into which they can go after any nuclear attack to stay alive until radiation intensity outside lessens to safe levels, civil defense authorities point out.

Any shelter must be equipped with the necessities of life, including food, water, first aid and sanitary supplies and lights. There must be enough for all shelter occupants for at least 14 days.

Two pamphlets are available to help you construct a suitable basement or underground shelter. One is MP-15, "The Family Fallout Shelter," which details five basic designs of concrete block, reinforced concrete and preshaped metal. The other, MP-18, "Clay Masonry Fallout Shelters," shows five other plans for basic shelters, calling for use of clay products (brick or tile).

THESE PAMPHLETS can be obtained from your local or State civil defense offices, or by writing to Box Home Shelter, Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Battle Creek, Mich.

Many persons building shelters are setting them up as recreation rooms, dens, or extra bedroom space, thus gaining multiple use of the facilities, civil defense officials report.

OCDDM encourages multi-purpose use of shelter space. Its prime concern is that such radiation-proof shelter be provided now, officials say. On the day of any attack, such efforts would be too little and too late.

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8, 1960.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 6 proposing an Amendment to Section 11, Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, so as to give the Legislature authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest, fix maximum rates of interest, and provide for a maximum rate of interest of ten per centum (10%) per annum in the absence of legislation setting maximum rates of interest; providing that the rate of interest shall not exceed six per cent (6%) per annum in contracts where no interest rate is agreed upon; providing for the right of appeal and trial de novo in the event any regulatory agency cancels or refuses to grant any permit; providing for the necessary election and the form of the ballots; and providing for the necessary proclamation and publication.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 11, Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

"Section 11. The Legislature shall have authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest and fix maximum rates of interest; providing, however, in the absence of legislation fixing maximum rates of interest all contracts for a greater rate of interest than ten per centum (10%) per annum shall be deemed usurious; provided, further, that in contracts where no rate of interest is agreed upon, the rate shall not exceed six per centum (6%) per annum. Should any regulatory agency, acting under the provisions of this Section, cancel or refuse to grant any permit under any law passed by the Legislature; then such applicant or holder shall have the right of appeal to the courts and granted a trial de novo as that term is used in appealing from the Justice of Peace court to the county court."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1960, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

"FOR the Constitutional Amendment giving the Legislature authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest and fix maximum rates of interest; and providing for a maximum rate of interest of ten per centum (10%) per annum in the absence of legislation fixing maximum rates of interest."

"AGAINST the Constitutional Amendment giving the Legislature authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest and fix maximum rates of interest; and providing for a maximum rate of interest of ten per centum (10%) per annum in the absence of legislation fixing maximum rates of interest."

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for the said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

Texas enrollment in public schools up survey shows

Texas had over 2,000,000 students in public and elementary schools at the end of 1959 with 78,850 teachers to instruct them, a survey from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare showed Saturday.

The average of 26 students per teacher compares favorably with the other 49 states. Texas also showed that Texas had 75,251 classrooms at the end of the last school year, or almost six per cent of the nation's total.

Nationwide, the total enrollment from kindergarten to college will reach almost 48,650,000 at the end of 1960. This represents an increase for the 16th consecutive year.

Rising enrollment rates in kindergarten, elementary and secondary schools are largely due to increased birth rates since the first years of World War II," Education Commissioner Lawrence G. Derthick said.

"Increases in college enrollments can be attributed to a growing interest in attending college." Derthick's estimate for Texas this year is 2,659,000 for the school age population ages of 5 through 17. By 1963, he figures

REASONABLE TIME

Before a contract arises someone must make an offer and another must accept it.

Without an offer, no acceptance, with no acceptance, no agreement.

But there is often a time within which you can accept the offer. And if not, the offer ends anyhow with a "reasonable time" which is determined by circumstances and the parties' intentions.

Smith had a set of books which brown wanted. Brown wrote and offered him $200 for the set.

Smith didn't answer for six months, and meantime Brown bought a similar set. One day Brown got a letter from Smith saying "I accept your offer of $200 for the set of books."

Brown told Smith he'd bought the books elsewhere, but Smith still claimed that his belated "acceptance" had nevertheless sealed the contract with Brown.

Was there a contract? No, the offer had lapsed because it had not been accepted in the circumstances within a reasonable time.

There are many ways to end an offer. You may withdraw it, you may say that the offer expires at a given time, or you may die, or the other party may turn it down directly or by making a counter offer.

Here Smith had failed to accept Brown's offer within a reasonable time, which ended it just as though it had been withdrawn.

What is a reasonable time? It varies. The offer could expire in a few minutes in the stock market or last for quite a while, depending upon what a court would think is a reasonable time.

At the higher education level, Texas had a college enrollment of 179,322 at the end of the fall term of 1959. This represents over 5 per cent of the nation's total of 3,377,273.

A total of 19,960 attained bachelor or first professional degrees at the end of the 1959 school year, 3,767 received second level degrees, and 294 received doctor degrees.

Derthick's estimate for Texas this year is 2,659,000 for the school age population ages of 5 through 17. By 1963, he figures

Light infestations of leafworms are reported in county in insect survey

Yoakum County is one of four West Texas counties where cotton leafworms were reported last week, according to the weekly Cotton Insect Situation Release issued by the Texas A&M College System.

The release states that although scattered showers fell over the area during the past week the conditions which existed were not the most favorable for cotton growth. Bacterial blight is alarmingly bad in many cotton plantings.

Flea-hoppers continue to be found in varying populations from light to heavy in the cotton fields of the area. Lack of damage continues to be common even where large number of flea-hoppers are present. Report urged that before control measures are taken the estimated length of the remaining season should be considered to prevent protecting cotton forms which will not have time to mature.

Bollworms and bollworm eggs were found in increasing numbers in cotton plantings over the area. Heaviest populations were found in Dawson, Mitchell and the northeastern part of Crosby counties. Gaines, Midland and several other counties reported medium infestations while other counties reported an increase in bollworm miller activity and bollworm egg counts in cotton plantings.

Cabbage loopers continue to build up in some areas and are causing considerable ragging of plants. Control measures have been taken in Garza, Lynn and Midland counties. Heavy to medium populations were reported in Terry, Lynn and five other counties to the north of Yoakum. Reports of heavy egg mortality have been received.

A&M College System will continue to issue the weekly releases until it is apparent that the area is "over the hump" as

BAYNE PRICE IMPROVED

Bayne Price, local rancher, underwent major surgery in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, last Friday. Reports are that he is making steady and excellent progress. However, he is expected to remain there several weeks.

Every cloud has a silver lining, or so the saying goes, for Mr. Price has been named winner of $100 worth of merchandise in the national contest sponsored by U. S. Rubber Company last spring, announced the local dealer, James Warren. There were approximately 47,000,000 people registered with numerous larger prizes and 100 prizes of $100 in merchandise of which Mr. Price's name was drawn for one.

Houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Luna over the weekend were her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hurst of Wellington, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. York of Albuquerque.
