Plains takes opener, 8-6

In the first game of the season the Plains' Cowboys whipped out to win their opener with Crane 8 to 6. Football fans were given a thrilling game as both teams played hard ball.

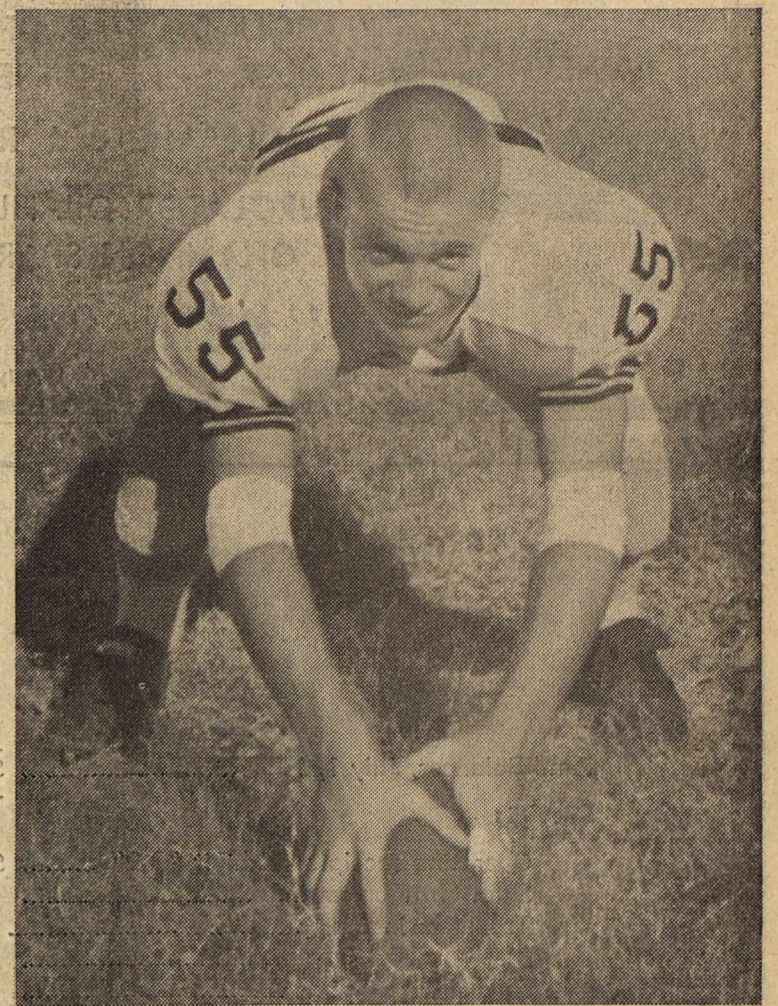

On the dark side of the picture several of the Plains' players received injuries in the season opener. Ray Faught, senior starter, received a broken leg on the first play of the game. According to coaches they were in hopes that Faught would be able to return near the end of the season. Doug Todd received a sprained ankle and Sam St. Roman suffered a twisted knee. Both players are expected to be in the game Friday. Mike Sink was handicapped with a bruised hip and will play limited ball for awhile.

In a run-down of the game, the Cowboys received the kickoff and drove the ball to Crane's 10 yard line where they received two penalties back to back and lost the ball on downs.

Crane took the ball on their 30, raced three plays and kicked with the Cowboys taking the ball on their own 40. The Cowboys managed to score but the play was called back on a penalty.

Ronny Hendricks recovered a fumble by Crane on the 50 and the Cowboys drove to the 10 where Crane held them till the fourth down with six yards to go. A pass by Joe Don Morrow to Jerry Bob Warren netted the Cowboys their first touchdown.

A pass from Hendricks to James Alberding gave the Cowboys the extra points. In one of the last plays of the first half Jack Meixner intercepted a Crane pass to close out the first half.

New librarian assumes post

"The library was founded for the public's use and we hope to be able to maintain and give the public the best service we can," Mr. W. B. Harwell, newly hired county librarian, expressed himself recently as he took over his position in Yoakum County.

"We have made no policy changes and there will be no change in personnel," he added. "Although we do plan on providing more services for the public such as securing bulletins from the Texas A&M Extension service on agriculture and livestock. We also hope to have in the near future all government pamphlets which are sent out free from the state agencies."

Harwell for the past nine years was state librarian in Austin. He accepted the local position on his retirement from 30 years of service to the state. He and his wife, Nina C., have been Austin residents for the past 30 years and Mrs. Harwell is expected to move to Plains after the first of the year. She is employed by the State Insurance Commission where she is supervisor in the claims division.

A native Texan, Mr. Harwell was born in Bell County. His parents were well-known Texas settlers who held farm and ranch interest throughout the state. His grandfather was one of the charter members of the first Masonic Lodge in Texas.

The Harwells have two daughters, Mrs. Leta Roper of Houston and Miss Dorothy Harwell of Austin.

Mr. Harwell commended Mrs. Norelle Sloan, acting county librarian, on the "fine job she had done with both libraries." He said that the Plains library was one of the best run libraries in the state and that the local staff was "surely to be commended on the fine work they have done here."

Harwell added that both libraries would work closely with the schools systems and any interested social and civic organizations in keeping the library stocked with requested material.

In plans for the library future Harwell said that the county system would continue to operate in the library program service sponsored by the Federal government. The service is provided by the government for cities under 10,000 population. Harwell added that in the next five years the local system would receive over $15,000 of books or close to 6,000 volumes from this service.

Mr. Harwell expressed his appreciation to the towns people and to the county officials in selecting him for the librarian position.

Now is the time to plan cover crops to control wind erosion, next spring. Tom Barron who is a cooperater with the Yoakum Soil Conservation District and has a Great Plains Conservation Program contract believes in cover crops. Mr. Barron says that "rye planted in the cotton rows with a inter-row seeder will help control wind erosion, improve the tilth of the soil and add much needed organic matter to the soil."

Tom also has three separate pastures ranging from 4 to 8 acres in size. Tom seeded one 6 acre pasture to NK 37 Bermuda grass around the first of August of this year. The grass has covered the ground and could be grazed now. Tom pre-watered before planting the grass. The grass is growing rapidly and does not show a need for water. Tom has another 6 acres planted to Midland Bermuda. The sprigged Bermuda doesn't have the cover that the seeded Bermuda has. Tom says he intends to give this a shallow plowing with a moldboard plow to get rid of the weeds and to further spread the grass sprigs. Midland Bermuda will not make seed and NK 37 will make seed where it was originally grown in Arizona.

Tom also has about 6 acres of Weeping Love grass that he seeded with the Yoakum Soil Conservation District grass drill. This Love grass came up to almost a perfect stand and is 3 to 4 inches high in less than a month of growth. He intends to graze this and if possible harvest some grass seed. He also has some Sideoats grama planted that is going to furnish some additional grazing. Where the grass is established Tom said that he intends to use a stalk shredder to eradicate the weeds. These three types of grasses should furnish year around grazing. The rye grass will also furnish limited grazing and help control wind erosion. Any one desiring information on this type of program or any phase of the Great Plains Conservation Program is encouraged to stop by the local Soil Conservation office.

Jimmy Todd critically hurt in tank explosion

Jimmy Todd, unit operator with Border Construction, who was injured in an oilfield accident Saturday noon, was making considerable improvement and taken off the critical list at Lubbock Memorial Hospital, as of Wednesday morning, members of his family reported.

Todd suffered a fracture of the skull, concussion, severe lacerations of the forehead, and a broken left ankle when the water tank or a pulling unit exploded. The accident happened about 25 miles north of Denver City in the Prentice Field.

The Denver Citian was taken to the Plains Clinic, and then to the hospital in Lubbock. It was first feared the blast had caused brain damage, but members of his family reported that he became entirely rational Tuesday morning, and since then had made steady improvement. His vision is still affected, they said, but there is much hope that it will be only a temporary condition.

According to reports, the pressure system used on the unit for cooling purposes was not working properly, and Todd crawled under the unit to see what was the trouble. The tank exploded while he was beneath the unit. Cause of the explosion was not

Todd, brother of J. C. Todd of Denver City, has been employed by Border Construction since the local concern went into the pulling business in March. Mrs. Pat Hendricks of Brownfield is his mother.

CONGRATULATIONS
The new 1959-60 school annuals distributed last week are some of the nicest Plains has ever shown. Compliments are in order to the annual staff, its sponsor, and everyone who assisted in compiling it in any way. We have heard many express their pleasure at seeing the annual dedicated to the memory of James Overton, one of the school's highest ranking students, both in scholastic and athletic ability, as well as citizenship. It is to be noted that top honours went to a large number of students and the pictures are so clear and accurate. Again, congratulations to all concerned.
