MULLEN DOWNS WOLVERINES IN SEASON'S FIRST GAME

Mullen, favored to win the district again this year, proved too much for the young Wolverines in their first game of the season played here Saturday night before a large crowd of fans at the Wolverine field scoring 38 points while the Wolverines failed to

The Mullen team with a big weight advantage and more experience, was never in danger but the Wolverines, sparked by the quarterbacking of Tim Stacy and the running of Ronnie Pack and Dwain Clower, threatened to score on several occasions but were never able to push the ball over the

They play Star here Thursday night, Sept. 12. A large crowd is anticipated for this game with the local fans pulling for their coach and team and hoping for better luck in their second game.

SCREWWORM WORKERS URGE

Protective measures taken by sheep and goat producers during shearing season can help prevent serious out-breaks of screwworm infestations this fall, screwworm eradication workers have stated. The little extra time and cost involved in treating shear cuts can be quickly regained through savings realized from screwworm - free ranching operations, they say.

Texas livestockmen normally experience a severe buildup of infestations during the fall when wet, cool weather is extremely favorable for screwworm survival. Thousands of nicks and cuts caused by shearing serve as potential resting places upon which female screwworm flies can lay their eggs and start new rounds of infestations.

Reports from eradication headquarters at Mission indicate that the native screwworm fly population is quite low at this time. Less than 60 cases have been recorded in Texas during August, as compared to more than 5,000 infestations detected during the same month last year.

With this low population, chances for a fall buildup are considerably decreased, eradication workers point o ut. However, even a small buildup can hamper eradication efforts, officials said, because sterile flies must be distributed over many widely-scattered areas to bring the native population down again, and complete eradication is pushed further into the future.

Livestock specialists recommended that sheep and goats be sprayed after shearing with 0.25 percent Co-ral or 0.5 percent Korlan solution and each individual nick or cut be treated with smear. These insecticides will protect a n i m a l s from screwworm infestations for two to three weeks until

Judges Told For Annual Peanut Bowl Event

Judges for the annual Peanut Bowl Twirling Contest were announced this week by John Foster, chairman of the contest and local band director.

Buddy Postlethwaite is now assistant band director at Arlington State College. He has formerly been band director at Ballinger and Arlington Junior High School. He was also formerly drum major at Arlington State College and a member of the University Interscholastic League revision committee of twirling requirements.

Dotty Wilson, a native of Dallas, is presently a feature twirler with Southern Methodist University.

Barbara Stroud is a feature twirler for Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. She is former National Girls Champion of the United States Twirling Association.

The contest will be held Saturday, Sept. 1, from 8 a. m. until 12 noon on the courthouse square.

Entry fee for the contest will be $1.00 and anyone may participate regardless of residence.

Entries must be postmarked by 12 p. m. Monday, Sept. 9. They may be mailed or taken, along with the entry fee, to John Foster, Eastland High School.

County's Oil And Gas Worth $2.8 Million Dollars Yearly

With oil and gas production worth about $2.8 million a year, Eastland County citizens have a financial stake in the worldwide demand for energy and the complex economic and political problems involving the petroleum industry, according to statistics released this week by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

September 12.

"We have pulled together some figures from the most authoritative sources so residents of Eastland County can see how local pocketbooks are affected by some of the issues which involve our industry," said J. Clyde Tomlison, Association president. "Issues of current concern include the proposals to cut percentage depletion rates, extension of federal controls over prices at which Texas producers sell their gas, and development of laws and production methods that will help Texas compete with other states and nations for markets.'

The latest year for which U. S. Bureau of Mines figures are available (1961) shows Eastland County producing more than 638,000 barrels of crude oil, valued at about $1.9 million; and 7 billion cubic feet of natural gas, with a value of $890,000. In 1961 there were 672 producing wells in the county — 541 oil and 131 gas, according to the Texas Railroad Commission.

Although its first field was discovered 46 years ago, Eastland County is the scene for the industry's continued search for oil and gas. Some 40 wells were drilled in Eastland County last year, with 5 being wildcat exploratory wells, according to the Oil and Gas Journal. The Association estimated that $960,000 was spent on drilling in the county this past year and some $480,000 of this went for dry holes.

Leasing adds many thousands of dollars to the county's economy. Tabulations by the International Oil Scouts Association show major companies in 1961 were paying rentals on about 11,000 undeveloped Royalty payments to Eastland County farmers, ranchers and other landowners are running at more than $348,000 anually, the Association calculated.

Eastland County producers and royalty owners also made a sizable contribution to the support of state government, with production tax payments of $150,000 a year — some $87,000 from oil and $63,000 from gas.

Industry taxes likewise are important to the county government and school districts in the county. For instance, 37 pper cent of the local property taxes collected for the Eastland Independent School District comes from oil and gas operators; and 32 per cent at Cisco.

A sizable impact on the Eastland County economy has been registered by petroleum industry payrolls. About three out of every ten payroll dollars in the county are derived from employment in oil and gas work, according to figures from the Texas Employment Commission. The industry payroll is $2.9 million a year.

Homework is hard work for young eyes. Plenty of good light is needed for reading small type, seeing details in maps and charts and performing other close visual tasks. For easier seeing at the study table, a good table lamp with at least a 150 watt bulb or equivalent is recommended. The lamp should be tall enough to spread light evenly over the work surface and properly shaded to conceal the light source from the eyes. A diffusing bowl (or a bulb with its own built-in diffuser) is recommended to soften the light and prevent glare. Check your children's study light now. Make sure they have proper light for easy seeing when they do their homework.
