MOORE Or Less

by Johnnie Moore

One thing for sure, at least as far as I'm concerned, this Santa Claus individual is one busy fellow. I helped him out in just one household this year, and I thought I'd never get to bed.

Old Santa brought our kids a swing set this year, completely unassembled of course, and it had only 376 pieces, a jigsaw puzzle for instructions and a determined quality about it not to fit together at all.

Finally with the help of Virgil Wade, Gene Young and his father, Dr. Young of Post, the round of putting our "gift" and a like one for the Wade off - spring together we managed to get to bed at the unheard of hour of 3:15 a.m.

No complaints, though, the response of kids sure makes the difference and the look of first unbelief changing into bountiful joy kind of makes it all worth it.

We received a letter today from the president of South Plains Council of the Boy Scouts of America. They were thanking the Record for its support in behalf of scouting in the past year.

Speaking for ourselves, of course we may be a little prejudiced, I can think of no endeavor that is more worthy of our support than are such movements as this.

What better can we make of our time, money and energies than with the young people, leaders and citizens of tomorrow.

Do you realize that not a single scout that has reached the top rank of Eagle has ever been convicted of a felony of-

I think that record speaks for itself. What's happening to the young people of today? Come to scout meeting some, just any Monday night and find out.

I remember an incident from my college days when myself and a couple of buddies made it up to have a little fun at the expense of one of the women's dorm supervisors.

We called over, very carefully disguising our voices, stating that we were repairmen from the telephone company, and that because of the recent wet weather there was a great deal of water on the lines.

We further requested that she see to it that a sock or some such thing was tied over the mouthpiece of each phone in the building as we were going to blow the lines out and this would avoid getting their floors, desks and tables wet.

In a little while we made our way over to the ladies dorm and to our complete mirth, tied over the mouthpiece of every single phone in the place was a sock.

I guess practically everyone has used the anonymous phone call sometime in their lives to try to have a little fun. But to our notion, some "character" is going a little extreme right here in good old Plains, Texas. We don't categorize phoning married ladies, whose hus-

Plains Marks Year of

this week on the part of area farmers as the Bracero problem, mostly the intervention of the U.S. Department of Labor, continued.

Although the City of Slaton has been given a short repreive, until next spring, to integrate their city swimming pool so as to allow Braceros and families to make use of it, the feeling still is that the problem is still just as far from being resolved.

At least one area commenter had these sage words of observation to make, "Well, after you leave your up - turned hand out to the government for so long, you ought to expect to get it rapped real good once in awhile instead of it always coming back full of silver and more promises."

Perhaps, as other observers of the local agricultural scene have pointed out, that his comment has merit, but it is also felt that a real problem exists in the threat to do away with bracero farm labor. The threat exists, it is felt, to such a degree that it actually threatens the very economy of this area.

An Assistant Secretary of the Labor Department is expected to arrive in this area, headquartering in the vicinity of Lubbock, sometime in January. Only time will tell if this move will avail the area of any benefits or of any better understanding in this area of the availability of farm labor.

It is pointed out by many local farmers and citizens that the seriousness of this matter necessitates the combined efforts of both area farmers and area businessmen. It has been pointed out time and again that a bureau of the government has come dangerously close to attempting to make and interpret the laws of the land and that the feelings of all area citizens should be made known to the Congress in an effort to see that there is no repeat performance of this kind.

Thugs Steal Christmas Packages

One of the lowest type thieves that can possibly be imagined struck one area home during the holiday season. The victims in the affair were the Idris L. (Snake) Smiths of the Tokio area.

On Christmas Eve, Idris and family were in attendance at the A. L. Smith funeral in Plains. After the services were concluded, Snake went on home while his wife went to Denver City to pick up their married daughter and her children. She returned home to be greeted by Idris and Yoakum County Deputy Sheriff Olan Heath, informing her that no Christmas tree was to be enjoyed because someone had stolen all the gifts.

A complete list of the stoler items was then made and their value set at over $200.

The incident evidently took place between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m.

Also evident was the fact that the thieves took the liberty to fill their gas tank from the Smith's gas tank while they were about it.

The car they were driving had a leaky radiator as it left evidence of having both at the gas tank and at the front entrance of the house.

Two suspects are in the process of being obtained for questioning in the matter, but are presently being detained by a neighboring county on charges of another year as it looks for- times a little hard to keep up with.

Plains itself, has seen a year of remarkable growth and as its precedessors, and also progress. The town of Plains has changed so markedly that, to many, it is unbelievable. Possibly to us, living here in the midst of it all, but to people who have been away for even a the change is unbelievable.

> Changes and progress are to be seen on every hand in this area as in Palins itself, at least four new businesses begun this year, are noticable, Barker's Variety, Cliff's Western Wear, Tele-Tronics and White Auto Store. Other changes and additions on the business scene were brought about in the new building constructed adjacent to the Plains State Bank which now houses Dortha's Style Shop and Curry-Edwards Pharmacy.

Also in this category was the devastating fire which gutted Alma's Restaurant, causing rebuilding necessary. While the re-construction was taking place, additional dinning room facilities were added.

The local newspaper, of which there were two at the beginning of 1961, was merged into one. The old Yoakum County Review was bought and merged with the new paper, and the name taken was The Plains Record. In Sep-changed hands from Wendell Faught to the present owner, Johnnie Moore. Very recently a job printing shop was added to the existing facilities through the addition of an offset printing plant.

On the county farm scene, things also were busily happening in 1961. An experiment was tried by several Yoakum farmers in an effort to find a diversified area in which the good land of the county might be utilized instead of relying solely upon the old stand-bys of grain sorghum and cotton. The sugar beet experiment is reported to be a successful and if details can be worked out satisfactorily as for marketing and so forth, the feasibility of their growth in this area has to most observers been proven.

Plains, according to most knowledgeable commentators, and the surrounding area has had probably its most productive farm year, producing thus far in the neighborhood of Record. How many times have you needed basic health facts about members of your family -- for school records, for instance forms, for a doctor's medical history? A family health record is your compilation of these facts. Like vital statistics in the family Bible, notations on family health

-- kept accurately and up to date -- can be of permanent

The record should contain pertinent facts on immunizations, illnesses, injuries and physical examinations. The record will prove its worth only if kept carefully. Start immediately to jot down basic information you know already. Enter accurately all injuries and illnesses. When you next see your physician, take the family health record along so notations can be made while they are fresh

A small schoolboy's notebook will do for a record book. Or you can obtain a small account book or ledger from a station-

Begin with a brief listing of the family history. Date and place of birth of each member. If any are deceased, date and cause of death. Pertinent medical facts about each family member, such as chronic diseases or illnesses (cancer, diabetes, epilepsy).

Next should come a section for dates of immunizations, with spaces for each member of the family. The columns should allow room for listing immunizations against whooping cough, diptheria, tetanus, typhoid, polio and smallpox. There should be space for noting dates of booster shots. A section on general information should include such data as the blood type of each family member, whether the RH blood factor is known to be present in any of the family and special allergies or drug sensitivity of each.

A check list of the more common diseases -- chicken pox, measles, German measles, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diptheria -- should be included. Most of these are childhood diseases, but sometimes an adult is exposed. German measles can be very serious in an expectant mother. Mumps is a serious disease

Another section should provide a place for noting dates of physical examinations, with a line or two to make note of special advice or instructions that followed the checkup. Illnesses required hospitalization should be recorded, listing nature of the illness or injury, name of phusician, name of hospital, dates of entry and discharge, length of illness, if surgery was performed describe it briefly. Illnesses at home should be recorded also. Finally, a section listing the family's health and accident insurance information will be helpful. Relatively few families keep health records, but everyone sooner or later finds need for the information. Keep your family health record up to date at all times as an added safeguard to your family's health.

All lights were turned out except a spot light which illuminated the cross at the front of the building. Christmas carols were played on the New Organ by Mr. Gene Young.

Following this the group enjoyed a recording of The Birth of Christ starring Lief Ericson and a cast of fifty.

Everyone went to the altar for meditation at the close of the service. The group especially appreciated and enjoyed the music by Mr. Young. All who attended felt that this was one of the most unique services of the entire year.

Texas to Get Top Amounts on Game Funds

Texas will receive a maximum apportionment for federal aid in the fish and wildlife restoration program for 1962, according to H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Figures on the apportionment just released by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service show that Texas will receive $288,500 for fisheries work and $698,500 for wildlife restoration work. This is the Texas portion of federal aid funds from the excise taxes on guns and ammunition

Farm Facts

Poultry meat makes up about 18% of all the meat poultry, and fish we eat, according to the Economic Research Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Poultry accounted for only about 11% of the total in 1940. Consumption of poultry doubled between 1940 and 1960 and it looks like it will continue to increase. We are now consuming about 38 pounds of chicken and turkey

Tremendous growth in commercial broiler production has been accountable for a major share of the postwar increase in the poultry meat supply. Broilers, in fact, account for 80% of the per capita consumption of chicken. Consumption of "farm" chickens has dropped proportionately. These are the by-product fowl and cockerels incidental to egg produc-

In 1947, per capita con-sumption of chicken was about 21 pounds, 13 pounds of which were supplied by "farm" chickens and chick-ens from backyard flocks.

28,000 bales of cotton and a record breaking crop of maize. Farming, like everything else though, had its problems during the year. A real ugly problem became an all to present reality as the Department of Labor made its, at least assumed authority felt, in the area of making it harder and harder to use Bracero labor in the area. Another noticable difference in farm-economy was brought to focus in the big dispute raging over the worth or worthlessness of the present farm program, mainly as it relates to the new feed grains program. It is admitted that never since the declining years of the Great Depression and the beginning of the program known as the New Deal have such a wide percentage of the farm economy been paid for destroying a part of their crops. To just list partially all the things that happened city-wise,

City of Plains utilities came of age when, through a special bond election, a new power generator was installed that, according to reports, will serve the entire needs of Plains for many years to come.

Brand new overhead Christmas lights were added to the Plains decoration scheme this year, bought by the Chamber of Commerce, put up by Clayton Guest of Clayton Electric and assisted by two men and a ladder conveyance furnished by Romain Telephone Co.

Plains unfortunately lost one doctor when Dr. Bill Mc-Collough moved to Seagraves to become associated with the clinic and hospital in that city. Uncertainities about Plain's second doctor's remaining are still unresolved as the U.S. Army is at the present seemingly toying with the idea of taking Dr. Clyde Lynn back into active service.

Yoakum County, at least through the month of November, held fast to its third place position in Savings Bond sales in the Class E Series. Over 147 per cent of the goal for the entire year had been reached in the first 11 months of 1961.

Area citizens and friends coporated to make the 1961 version of the Plains Rodeo the biggest and best yet. A fine show was enjoyed by all and through the combined efforts of the Rop-Club, Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce a $2,200 Melon was available for slicing.

Likewise the Yoakum County Fat Stock Show was also a tremendous success as entrants showed a fine array of calves, gilts and lambs. Total sale price of the show stock was $18,308.

Civil Defense efforts were noticable in the area as area citizens began talking about fall-out, shelters, lectures and films were on the scene and even a petition was circulated in an attempt to get county funds to build two big shelters, one in connection with the County Hospital in Denver City and one with the existing underground facilities of the County Courthouse in Plains.

An attempt on the part of the citizens of the Plains area of the county to get ample medical facilities for this side of the county failed when the bond issue for the necessary funds was defeated by a very wide margin of 762-427.

Fall-Out Dectectors Purchased

Seven detectors, to measure radio-active fall-out, have been purchased by Yoakum County in connection with the local Civil Defense efforts.

Each detector is equipped with two different units, one of which is used to measure fall-out radiation in the outside area, and the other to measure the amount of radiation fall-out which an individual to which it may be attached has been exposed.

Unit to measure atmospheric fall-out, authorities stated, gives an immediate reading, while the individual unit, worn on the person, gives a positive reading which may be checked out after the individual has returned indoors and for a length of time afterwards.
