'63 Farm Safety Drive Aimed at Fires, Falls

The President urged all farm families and all persons and organizations allied with agriculture to unite in an effort to reduce the number of farm, home and highway accidents.

The 1963 farm safety campaign will concentrate on the prevention of fires and falls. Its theme is "Inspection plus Correction equals Protection." The 20th annual farm safety program is sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the National Safety Council.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman noted that, "Every hour an accident claims the life of a farm resident. Someone living on a farm suffers a disabling injury every 40 seconds."

He called on farmers to practice safety every day of the year, not merely during the week.

"Being careful is no more than common sense," he said. "But it requires constant attention and mental alertness. When a man is fatigued or in a hurry to finish a job or a trip, he becomes accident prone."

Falls cause between 15 and 20 per cent of the farm accident death toll. About 7 per cent is due to fires. Property losses from fire have increased steadily since 1940. In 1961, fire cost the nation's farmers $163 million.

"Every farm accident is a personal tragedy to the family involved and a blow to the nation's economy," said Howard Pyto, president of the Council.

Pointing out that in 1961, accidents took the lives of 8,700 farm residents, he said farmers have more than their share of accidents.

"In the past decade the death rate from farm accidents generally has been slightly higher than the national average," he said. "While the rates have decreased in this period, the farm rate has not kept pace with the national, and the difference has grown greater each year."

"Every step possible must be taken to reduce this terrible toll of accidental death on the farm," he said.

BLACK MOLD IS PROBLEM FOR AREA PEANUT GROWERS

A fungus called Black Mold has caused the major portion of the problem of unsatisfactory peanut seedling stands throughout the peanut belt this spring, according to information from the local county agent's office.

J. M. Cooper, local agent, received a letter recently from B. C. Langley, Superintendent of the Stephenville Experiment Station and E. R. Spears, A. & M. Extension Service Agronomist, advising of the cause of the wide spread damage.

The fungus may infest and kill seedlings before they emerge from the soil. Most often infected seedlings emerged and then wilted and died. Some die within a two or three weeks period from this fungus but a few die as late as six weeks after emergence. The fungus causes more trouble where a part or all of the skin is damaged or rubbed off, or the seed is split in the planter box.

No difference in variety susceptibility to damage from Black Mold has been observed in state wide variety tests.

Black Mold is a common fungus and therefore occurs in most soils. Rapid growth and spread occurs when proper conditions are favorable for the spore development.

Several local peanut growers have complained of poor stands due to the seedling dying upon emergence.

3 Fatalities So Far This Year In Area

There were no highway traffic fatalities in Eastland County during June — but with two earlier this year the county's record for the year compares unfavorably with that of last year.

And there has been one fatality in the county this month.

The county had five personal injury accidents and eight property damage accidents during June, the District Department of Public Safety has announced.

There were seven persons injured in traffic mishaps in June, and property damaged from accidents amounted to $5,890. Damage in this county was higher in June than in either of the other counties in the district (Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Shackelford or Stephens.)

For the first half of the year, Eastland County's traffic count looked like this:

Fatalities, 2 (none in first part of 1963); 25 personal injury accidents (29 during the first six months last year) 47 property damage accidents (44 in first half of '62); 49 persons injured (compared to 43

Vets Questions and Answers

Q — If I borrow on my GI insurance policy, must I repay a specified amount every month?

A — No. While it is desirable to repay the amount borrowed as soon as possible to save interest charges and to return the insurance principal to its full value, there is no required repayment schedule.

Q — Can I make a reservation for burial plot in a national cemetery?

A — Burial plots are assigned at the time of the funeral. No advance reservations are made. Once the plot has been assigned it is understood that the wife (or the veteran if the wife is already buried there) will be buried there when the later death takes place. In certain cases a child may also be buried there.

(in six months last year); and $52,110 in property damage, (compared to $80,905 for first half of '62.

Lake Leon Rough Fish Tournament In Progress

The board of directors of the Eastland County Water Supply District have announced a rough fish tournament at Lake Leon, starting last Sunday. Carp, buffalo and gar are included and the water board will pay a weekly prize of $5 for the largest rough fish caught at Lake Leon, and an additional $10 for the largest rough fish caught during the month.

The weekly contest will run from Sunday nights to Sunday night and the winner will be announced each week. No entrance fee is necessary, just cook up your dough bait and go to Lake Leon, and maybe your efforts will pay a dividend.

The contest will continue indefinitely, and this move on the part of the water board should be one means of improving game fishing as these rough fish eat the spawn of game fish, thereby reducing the number of desirable fish.

Not everyone goes to the trouble of cleaning and preparing carp to eat, but there are ways to prepare them so they will be edible.

All you have to do is register your catch at the lake information center with Earl H. Johnson, lake custodian, who will make a record of your catch and the water board will mail your check to you in case you win. All rough fish are eligible so long as the licensed fisherman's methods are legal, and men, women and children are eligible to enter.

The water at Lake Leon is clearing up nicely and should be in perfect condition within a few days.

At the present time only one fish has been registered. Mr. Donald Kinard of Eastland brought in a four pounder.

PAY BILLS BY CHECK

It's so much easier, faster, safer to pay bills by check! The mailman does your footwork. You waste no time standing in line. You avoid all arguments about whether you paid this or that bill because your cancelled check gives you proof of payment. You find it easier to budget, because your check stubs show you where every dollar goes. It makes sense, every way, to open a checking account here.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D.
Commissioner of Health

Sooner or later, everyone needs a family health record. Dr. J. E. Peavy, state health commissioner, suggests you start yours now if you aren't already keeping one. Kept accurate and current, it can be of permanent value for the children's school records, for insurance data, and for your family doctor's use, the health official says.

A school note pad makes a good record book, but don't use it for anything else. And remember it has to be carefully kept if it is to be of full value.

You can start by jotting down the basic information you already have at hand concerning the injury and illness history of each member of your family.

Start it off with a brief listing of family history. Enter the date and place of birth of each person, and the place and date and cause of death of any deceased. Also enter pertinent information and the medical facts about each family member, such as the presence of chronic illness or physical handicap.

Next, start a section for dates of immunizations, being sure to provide space for each member of the family. Allow room for entering dates of immunizations against whooping cough, polio, smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, and typhoid fever. Don't forget to include the dates of booster shots.

In a section of general information, list such things as the type of blood each member of the family has, and the drug sensitivities or special allergies of each. If the RH factor is known to be present in anyone, be sure to record it prominently.

The health record ought to include a check list of who in the family has had the more common diseases of childhood — chicken pox, measles, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria. Most of these are diseases of childhood, but sometimes an adult is exposed. German measles is a serious threat to expectant mothers, and mumps is a dangerous disease in any adult.

Dates of physical examinations, with a line or two for notes of special advice or instructions that followed the check-up should be noted in the health record. So also should illness requiring hospitalization, listing the nature of illness or injury, name of physician and hospital, dates of entry and discharge, length of illness, and type of surgery, if any. Finally, list the family's health and accident insurance information for quick and easy reference when needed. (A weekly feature from the Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

Cat Trees Snake

Palmer Stokes who lives a few miles southeast of town, came by the Messenger Office Tuesday and told of a rather unusual incident that took place at his farm home recently. A common brindie domestic cat had treed a Copperhead snake. The cat attracted his attention to the tree and there the snake was above the cat. All ended well as Palmer managed to kill the snake which measured more than two feet and that is considered large for that type of snake.
