Combined With The Yoakum County Review March 1, 1961

VOLUME NO. 33

Thursday, January 31, 1963

Number 5

Wins $109

A really lucky winner was on hand at last Saturday's Appreciation Days Drawing.

Clara May Doggett's name was drawn and the ticket was punched for the 50 percent amount.

The cash drawing pot had gotten up to $218 last week, thereby making Mrs. Doggett richer by $109.

Pot for the coming week will be $141 and the possibility will be for someone to win up to $71.

There is a winner each and every week at the drawing, as it continues until a winner is drawn. If a person's name is drawn and they are not present, another is drawn, until a winner is called.

Drawing will be at 4 p. m. on the Court House lawn.

Name Contest Winners

Winners in this week's edition of the Record's Basketball Contest were as follows: First Place ($5), Dick McGinty.

Second Place ($3), Cordell Huddleston.

Third Place ($2), Johnnie Fitzgerald.

It will be noted that in this week's contest there are the high school games listed that will be played on Tuesday of next week in District 5-A.

The college games listed will all be played on Saturday.

Sundown Hbre Friday

Drop To Tahoka Despite Rally

The Plains Cowboys will host the Sundown Roughnecks here on Friday night in the final go-around in the first half of District 5-A play.

Most observers of the sport report that the Cowboys are from all points the favorites.

Plains travelled to O'Donnell last Friday evening and got edged out by six points. The Cowboys led through the first three quarters, but due to three starters fouling out, were unable to hold the lead.

Then on Tuesday night, the Cowboys took on the Tahoka Bulldogs in Tahoka.

A fact which has very often plagued the Cowboys this BRINE PITS-----Like the one shown above may very will quite soon be a thing of the past in Yoakum County. A public hearing to determine what steps should be taken by the State of Texas concerned the problem of fresh water pollution from the surface disposal of brine wastes is set in Austin for March 20. Representatives of the local Yoakum Co. Water Conservation Association plan to attend the meeting to give testimony.

Notice

Last week in The Record, a "Corrected Report" was run in regard to County Quarterly Reported of Finances.

In that report the Amount, Outstanding in Bonded Indebtedness reads, $1,215,065.14, and should read $1,084,565.14.

Also in the item R & B Special Fund, the fund should not be shown as OD.

Set Donkey Ball Game

Members of Plains Club will meet members of the Yoakum County Young Farmers Chapter in, what promises to be a really entertaining game of basketball here Monday night.

Time for the game has been set at 7:30 p. m. and it will be played in the old gym.

The game won't be quite conventional, as it will be played with all ten players riding on Donkeys.

Godfrey's Donkeys have been secured for the game.

Proceeds from the big tilt will, in their entirety, go to the building fund that will be used to construct a combined Scout Hut and Lions Den.

Advance tickets can now be purchased from any Lions Club member. The price is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Cite Failure To Register

Local Board No. 116, 406 West Boardway, Room 4, Brownfield, Texas has jurisdiction over Yoakum, Hockley and Terry Counties.

Young men residing in these areas are required to register with Selective Service upon reaching the age of 18 years, or within five days thereafter at the nearest local board or registrar.

The Federal Law provides penalties for failure to comply with registration at the proper time and those who are late without a valid reason may be declared a delinquent under the law and processed for induction into the Armed Forces ahead of other men in their age group.

The following registrar is maintained for the convenience of young men in Plains, Texas: Mr. C. R. Gillis, Sheriff's Office, Courthouse, Monday and Friday, 9:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M.

Set Salt Water Hearing March 20

The possible culmination of many months of hard work and persistent effort on the part of a determined group of Yoakum citizens is seen in the near future.

Texas Water Pollution Control Board has announced that it will conduct a public hearing starting at 1:30 p. m. on Wednesday, March 20, in their offices in Austin.

Purpose of the meeting as was pointed out in their official release is "to consider whether and to what extent surface discharges of oil and gas field wastes produced in Yoakum County, should be controlled or prohibited to prevent and control pollution of waters in the State."

The official dispatch from the Board also stated that there will be entered such rules, regulations and orders to prevent and control pollution as its judgement the evidence may justify.

"Quoting further from the notice, "Interested parties may appear at the hearing for the purpose of presenting evidence to the Board relative to said matter."

They also pointed out that the hearing could be continued from time to time and place to place until a determination has been made.

In speaking with Mr. H. B. Yantis of the Board earlier this week, it was learned by The Record that a possibility does exist that the Board, in its regular meeting on the 21st of March following the hearing on the 20th, for a determination to be reached at that time in the matter.

George McCleskey, Attorney and Ed Reed, Hydrologist will be on hand at the meeting to give testimony on behalf of local interests as well as members of the local Yoakum County Water Conservation Association.

Right - Of - Way Completed

In their regular meeting held on Monday, Yoakum Co. Commissioners conducted the usual routine business including the paying of bills presented by the Auditor.

One item also attended to was to name C. R. Gillis of Denver City, presently also employed as County Service Officer, as County Probation Officer.

It was explained that this office has here-to-fore been handled by a district officer located in Levelland.

Raymond Bookout, Predinct 3 Commissioner also reports that the securing of right-of-way for a proposed paving project from Bronco north to the Cochoran County line has been completed.

Bookout reports that the State will now take over the project and do the actual paving for a stretch of about nine miles in Yoakum County and about an additional three miles in Cochoran.

NOW ON SALE-----1963 license plates officially go on sale Friday, February 1, in Texas. Shown above are the two beginning numbers, in Plains, for passenger--cars and for commercial trucks. Passenger car numbers begin at CB 4795, but the numbers prior to 5300 are on sale in Denver City and 5300 is the first number that is to be sold here in Plains, according to E. W. Craig, Tax-Collector. The tags must be purchased and attached to the vehicle by April 1 this year.

City Of Plains Milk Report

In compliance with City Ordinance 3, City of Plains, the grades of all milk supplies distributed within the city, have been determined by Dr. C. A. Lynn, City Health Officer, and the South Plains Health Department.

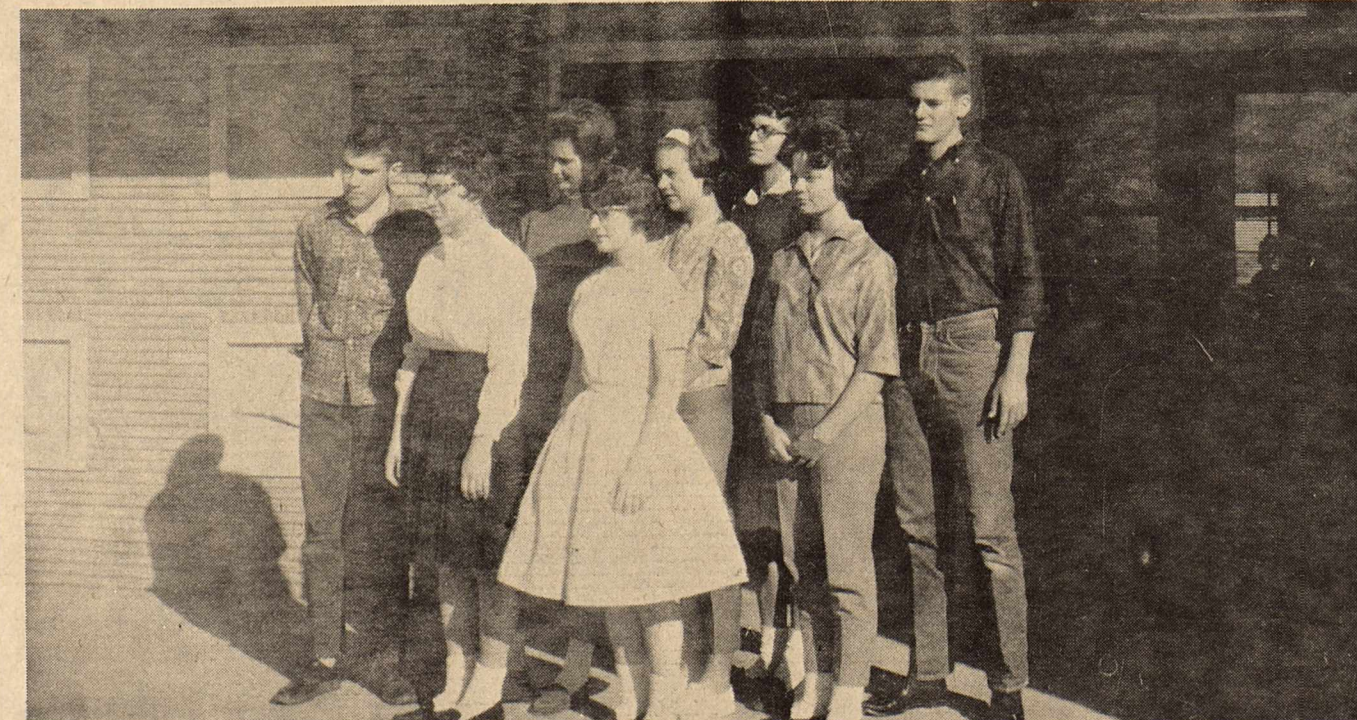

The following list of distributors have been found qualified to dispense milk products:

Bell Dairy Products, Lubbock.

The Borden Co., Lubbock. Foremost Dairies, Abilene. Price Creameries, Inc., Roswell, New Mexico.

Grade "A" milk was said to be the only safe milk, and the companies listed distribute only grade "A" products.

According to city ordinances, no other milk may be sold or offered for sale within the city limits of Plains.

HONOR ROLL-----Plains students who made the high school honor roll are shown above. Students, in order to make the honor roll, must make at least four A's in the subjects they are taking, not counting physical education. Shown above, left to right, are Myron Goehry, Paula Tidwell, Sarah K. Field, Sylvia McGinty, Mary Johnson, Nancy Tipton, and James Tippet.

Announce Plans For 1963 Stock Show

Directors of the Yoakum County Livestock and Agriculture Improvement Association held a meeting last week along with appointed officials of the Yoakum County Junior Fat Stock Show to complete plans for the 1963 show.

The show will be held February 15 and 16 in the Livestock Exhibit Building at Plains. Lambs and barrows will be judged Friday afternoon and the beef calves will be judged Saturday morning. The sale of all livestock will be held on Saturday afternoon.

The 4-H and FFA members in Yoakum County have 133 head of animals to enter in the show and sale. There are 37 beef calves, 29 lambs and 67 barrows. Some animals will be rejected because they fail to meet the weight requirements but officials are expecting between 120 and 125 animals to go through the show and sale.

Members of the Yoakum County Young Farmers Chapter are assisting the directors this year with the operation and sale. The General Superintendent is Tommy Warren. The division superintendents are: Lanny Smith, beef calves; Darrell Barron, swine and Bob Rucker, lambs. Doing most of the bookkeeping and assisting Johnnie Fitzgerald as Secretary will be Milton Capps and Jim Barron.

Mr. Sherm Henard is donating a heifer this year to the exhibitor of the grand champion steer. Donating the gilt to the exhibitor of the grand champion barrow is Mr. O. A. Pippin. A ewe lamb will be given by Bobby and Billy Taylor to the exhibitor of the grand champion lamb.

Worley Mills of Clovis, N. M., represented by Mr. Ed Howell, is giving an award to the best showman in the beef calf division. The swine showmanship award is given by Johnnie Fitzgerald and the lamb showmanship award is given by Dr. W. B. Boyd. Mr. G. W. Cleveland is giving an award to the owner of the best gaining calf and Mrs. Daisy Clayton gives the award to the owner of the best gaining lamb.

The judge of the 1963 show will be Mr. T. L. Leach of Texas Tech and handling the sale will again be auctioneer Hnak Matthews of Anton.

Controversy On Firearms

Some Thoughts On Private Ownership

Two points concerning private ownership of firearms need to be established right now.

One, no responsible person — in or out of the firearms industry, sportsman or not — wants firearms to be freely used by criminals or other maladjusted members of our society.

Two, by the same token, no responsible person should desire or attempt to limit the free use of sporting firearms by other responsible members of that same society.

Considering these two statements, certain factors in gun ownership should be recognized.

Outlawing the sale of firearms will not prevent their use by criminals. Most firearms used in crime are stolen — a great many from military and police arsenals — or smuggled into the country.

There is only one way to restrict the use of firearms by criminals: make the penalty for the use of guns or any deadly weapon in the commission of a crime so severe that criminals will be afraid to use them.

Low Accident Ratio

According to an editorial appearing in the Saturday Evening Post on Feb. 13, 1960, the fatality rate for all forms of accidents was 56 per 100,000 persons in 1957. Motor vehicles caused 22.7 of these deaths, falls accounted for 12.1, fires and explosions for 3.7 and drowning for 3.1. The rate for fatal firearms accidents was only 1.4, scarcely above the 1.2 rate from suffocating or choking on food!

All deaths by accident — regardless of cause — are tragic. Many could be prevented.

Education, proper supervision and preventive safeguards are the answer to safety problems concerning household objects that hold a potential danger for any member of the family. If the family is properly educated regarding positive and negative aspects of firearms and if in the home firearms are under proper supervision, the accident ratio would drop to nil.

Vast Recreational Activity
Sporting firearms — and there are literally tens of millions of them in the United States — holds a huge potential for recreation, pleasure, sport and applied skill. They hold a very small potential for danger relative to use, numbers and in comparison to other sports.

Hunting has always been an important factor in many good "father-son" relationships. With the recent great increase in interest in trap and skeet — and, indeed, all participant outdoor sports — shooting is becoming an important family recreational activity.

Basic American Freedom
Article Two of the Bill of Rights of the United States of America states, "... the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed." These are not idle words. They were not half-heartedly inserted as some sort of ill-conceived afterthought by the Founding Fathers.

History indicates that the Bill of Rights was conceived as a separate entity from the Constitution to underline the vast importance of the individual rights of man in our Republic. It would be a pity if any of us — regardless of our personal prejudices concerning hunting, the shooting sports and firearms — would casually throw away any personal liberties so dearly won and preserved by our fellow citizens in the last 186 years.

Move Under Way To Amend U.S. Constitution

(By The Associated Press)

A move is under way to amend the United States Constitution to prevent what backers of the changes consider encroachment by the federal government upon the rights and responsibilities of the individual states.

Bills have been introduced into national constitutional convention to consider proposed amendments that would:

1. Make it easier for the states to amend the Constitution;
2. Eliminate federal court jurisdiction over apportionment of the state legislatures, and;
3. Establish a "Court of the Union" with authority to review United States Supreme Court decisions on subjects which the Constitution leaves to the power of the states.

Provoke Controversy

The three proposed amendments were worked out at a December meeting in Chicago of the Council of State Governments, an organization of state government officials.

The proposals have provoked sharp controversy among legislators. In Maine, where the proposed amendments had not yet been introduced, Senate leaders called the Court of the Union notion "constitutionally outrageous."

In Illinois, State Rep. Warren Wood, one of the principal backers of the amendment drive, said the charges would "stop the drift toward centralization of government in Washington."

Okayed In Arkansas
The Massachusetts Senate unanimously rejected the proposed Court of the Union, but the Arkansas Senate endorsed all three proposals with only one dissenting vote.

Senates in Colorado, Kansas and New Jersey also have approved one or more of the proposals. The Wyoming House has given preliminary approval to all but the Court of the Union.

Legislatures in Oklahoma and South Dakota also have given preliminary approval to the measures.

Among those states where resolutions have been introduced advocating one or more of the amendments are Alabama, California, Illinois, Maryland, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

Florida Introduction Due

The speaker of the Florida House, Malory Horne of Tallahassee, one of the originators of the movement, said he plans to introduce the resolutions at the Florida Legislature session convening April 2.

All state legislatures except Mississippi and Virginia are holding either regular or special sessions in 1963.

Should 34 of the state legislatures — a two-thirds majority — approve the resolutions, Congress would be required to call a convention to consider changing the Constitution.

The amendment backers face an uphill fight, however.

Constitutional authorities say although the Constitution provides for such a procedure, all amendments to the Constitution made thus far have been achieved by the alternative way provided by Article V — adopted by a two-thirds vote of Congress and ratification by three-fourths of the states.

Not In Constitution

Authorities also say there is no provision, either in the Constitution or any subsequent law, to determine the makeup of such a convention or specify how delegates would be chosen. Assuming such a convention were to be convened, it would require a two-thirds majority vote to submit the proposed amendments to the states and three-fourths of the states would have to ratify the amendments before they would become effective.

A spokesman for the Council of State Governments said the first of the proposed amendments would allow state legislatures to propose amendments to the Constitution. At present, only Congress or a national constitutional convention can submit amendments for ratification.

Under the amendment if two-thirds of the state legislatures adopted identically-worded resolutions proposing an amendment, it would be considered ready for ratification.

The second proposed amendment would nullify a recent Supreme Court decision giving federal courts the right to order reapportionment of state legislatures where it is determined citizens have unequal representation.

YOU be the LEGISLATOR

A COLUMN TO PROMOTE LEGISLATIVE UNDERSTANDING AMONG TEXANS

H. B. No. "D"

By Rep. Forrest Harding

Dist. 29, San Angelo

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

an act creating San Angelo

State College at San Angelo

Texas, as a coeducationalinstitution of higher learning-establishing a standard four year course-- and providing for the transfer of all properties-of the (San Angelo) Junior College

District-- providing a severability clause; and declaring an emergency.

PROponents of this legislation say to take a map of Texas and to draw a circle with a radius of 150 miles around the city of San Angelo.

Within this circle there is not one state-supported four-year college, yet in only a 100-mile radius of this one out of every sixteen high school students in Texas graduate.

In the circle with the 100-mile radius there are 41

counties with a total population of a half-million citizens or nearly one-sixteenth of the total population of Texas.

From 1950 to 1960 this population increased 33.1 percent while the state's population increased just 24.2 percent.

An in the circle with an 160-mile radius the University fund has some 478,000 acres under lease, with average royalties of 14.9-million dollars per year--but no four year college in the area.

San Angelo (Junior) College is highly-rated and fully accredited. It has a campus with 230 acres in the highest-rated residential section.

San Angelo College provides dormitories for some 350 students and is valued at more than 4-million dollars, all of which will be given free to the State if it can be made into a four-year institution.

There is no other area in

OPponents of this legislation say there is no question but what San Angelo and other areas need more and better state-supported four-year colleges.

So the question is not IF we must provide more opportunities, but HOW.

First, a master plan for education for Texas must be prepared to eliminate helter-skelter and wasteful educautional developments.

Texas needs more four-year colleges, but it also vitality needs more community supported two-year colleges.

If an area needs a four year college, it should present this problem to the Legislature, but it should not tamper with existing two year colleges.

Here are a few reasons why:

(1) The cost per institution is up to five times as great to the state, and local communities would be thus transferring their financial responsibilities to the state;

(2) These institutions would be entering a new highly-competitive market in recruiting faculty, one which they can not afford; (3) the need would still remain for a community college, such as in Austin, the home of the vast University of Texas, where a junior college is being planned;

(4) Technical and vocational training facilities would be gone; (5) Higher education, if split into too many parcels, would be come duplicious,

uncoordinated, and mediocre;

and (6) If any two-year college should be elevated to four-year status it should be the largest, such as San Antonio.

Therefore, the bill should be voted AGAINST.

High - And Dry

With half its big blade hanging in space, a bulldozer gouges a rocky road up a Colorado peak in the never-ending search for oil. Humble Oil & Refining Company recently built a 6½-mile mountain road to reach the Free World's highest drilling site — two miles above sea level in the Colorado Rockies. Drilling crews worked around the clock to sink the wildcat well before winter storms blew in. They beat the snow, but their work and an estimated investment of $350,000 were in vain. The well was dry, a dramatic example of the more than 17,000 dry holes drilled in the United States each year in the petroleum industry's far-ranging and high-risk search for oil.

Tsa Mo Ga Hears Trust Program

Tsa Mo Ga Club met in regular session at the club house Monday evening, Jan. 14, with two trust officials as guest speakers. Mr. Leonard Ellington, Vice President and trust officer of the First National Bank of Brownfield and Mr. John Kize of Brownfield State Bank and Trust Company spoke on the organization of trusts in the United States, and the purposes of trusts.

Mr. Ellington defined trusts as a corporate organization for the care and management of property for others. He emphasized a trust agreement is important, as it protects all parties concerned. All trusts are federal and state examined. Mr. Ellington quoted from Judge William Rhodes Hervey, an early-day trustman, who has described the mission of the trust department: "It protects the living and serves the dead, befriends the widow and orphan, guides the aged, strengthens the weak, curbs the improvident, represents the incompetent, advises the hesitant, plans for the inexperienced, encourages the timid, ministers to charities, gratifies the whims of the eccentric, and otherwise justifies its claim to be an 'incorporated friend'." It is the best friend in many households, the repository of many confidences the instrument to mature the cherished plans of those who cannot live to do so. It was born of a great desire on the part of those who had accumulated property, to leave it and the interests of their loved ones, in charge of a trustee of permanence and responsibility, one who was not subject to any of the vicissitudes or misfortunes of human life, and one whose continuing integrity and good faith could be relied upon. Such an institution having been devised, it was entrusted to the banking profession for development and sponsorship.

Mr. Ellington said the first trust companies were formed by the Massachusetts Life and Hospital Company and The Farmer's Fire and Loan Co. These companies were formed in 1818.

Mr. Kize spoke on the importance of women realizing their responsibility of passing on property. He told of estate planning and defined it as an arrangement of estate assets to be run as economically as possible for the benefit of an estate by a trust concern.

Mr. Kize stressed the importance of making a will, and after having made it, of deepening it up to date. Both Mr. Ellington and Mr. Kize are graduates of the School of Banking at Southern Methodist University in Dallas. Mr. Ellington also added to the enjoyment of the program by playing three piano selections.

Husbands of Tsa Mo Ga members were guests of the evening. Hostesses for the evening were members of the Social Committee, Mesdames Gene Payne, L. D. Hamm, C. F. McCargo, Wayne Chadwick, Joe Curry, E. W. Craig, Don Hancock, J. E. Cooke and Bob Blundell.

State Line HDC Meet

The State Line Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Hayden Box for their regular meeting Thursday. Plans for the Home Demonstration booth at the Fat Stock Show were made.

There will be no regular meeting in February for the club. There will be a adult drivers education work shop in the Club Room at Plains in February.

Coffee, Punch and Cookies were served to Mesdames: Lee Roy Box, W. P. Turner, C. A. Stewart, Roy Perkins, Rene Thompson and the hostess.

Blanchard Introduces Real Estate Bill

Senator H. J. "Doc" Blanchard of Lubbock today introduced a bill that would amend the Real Estate License Act.

The legislation was recommended by the Texas Real Estate Commission and is supported by the Texas Real Estate Association. Since the present act was passed in 1955 the Commission has found several areas where loopholes exist. They feel these corrective amendments will give them authority to cope with the numerous problems that arise in the proper licensing of 30,000 Texans to sell real estate.

The bill would give the Commission eight new reasons for the revocation and suspension of a license, reduce the grandfather clause from five years to one year, and provide that applications for renewal of licenses shall be made by December 1 of each year.

In introducing the legislation, Senator Blanchard said "A large portion of the average Texas family's earnings go for the purchase of their home. So that our citizens will not be preyed upon by a few unscrupulous operators, it is necessary from time to time to upgrade and improve our procedure for the licensing of those who sell real estate."

Senator Don Kennard of Fort Worth joined Blanchard as a co-sponsor of the legislation.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

Tax Revision to Spur Job and Business Boom

By U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.)

The Economic Report of the President emphasizes that although our economy is performing at a high level, action is needed to improve this performance, not as a post-recession remedy but as a positive effort to move the entire economy to a higher level.

Too often economic policy has been limited to response to recessions. We can no longer be content with mere reaction to fluctuations in economic activity. We need to take advantage of a steady performance to push the rate and level of economic growth to new heights.

The recessions of 1948, 1953, 1957, and 1960 have undoubtedly contributed to the sluggish performance of the economy today. I agree with the President in his insistence that tax reform and tax adjustment should not be viewed as anti-recession measures, but as preventives, and more than this, as positive steps to stimulate the economy.

Higher rates of employment and of production and greater purchasing power should not be regarded merely as antidotes to recession but as continuing goals of a fiscal and economic policy.

The Treasury Department liberalized depreciation allowances to permit businesses to write off more quickly the cost of machines and equipment.

Last year Congress provided for a seven percent credit for investment in modernized equipment and new machinery. Together these administrative and legislative actions are expected to increase the flow of business funds by at least $2½ billion.

This year Congress and the administration will explore still other ways to encourage economic progress at home and to improve our international competitive position. This calls not only for further tax reform, but for tax reduction.

Tax reduction will increase the take-home pay of consumers, most of which is immediately spent on the goods and services people need or want. When consumers spend this additional income, production rises, markets strengthen, new jobs are created, and incomes and profits improve.

Because sales improve and more of our production is used, wise tax reduction spurs investment in both inventories and in new equipment and new plants.

By cutting both personal and corporate taxes, additional money is made available for investment and investment is encouraged by the prospects for a more equitable return on the investment.

Tax reduction would help business directly by reducing costs. It would also encourage businesses to employ more workers, produce better products, and offer a wider range of products.

In the long view, expansion of employment, increased production, higher income and profits can convert the deficiencies of a slack economy into the revenues necessary to meet legitimate public needs.

Eugene J. McCarthy

STEADY STREAM-----of salt water like that shown above emptying from a tank battery has been going just like that in various wells all over Yoakum County for many years as of now. To date several wells in the County have become so contaminated that they are not usable either for human consumption or for irrigation purposes. All the salt from such surface disposal percolates back to the fresh water table, as salt will not evaporate and doesn't filter out from going through strata in the ground.

Test Your Soil Now

When soil and weather conditions are nearly ideal, is the time to soil test fields to be fertilized next spring, says W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist at Texas A&M College. The chemist says that samples sent to the laboratories now will avoid the spring rush of sampling and fertilizing and that recommendations will be returned in one to two weeks. The way the sample is taken is very important because the test can be no better than the samples tested. They should be representative of the field tested and the field should be divided into uniform soil areas, explains Bennett. If there are marked differences in the slope, color or texture of areas of the field, these should be tested separately because there may be fertility differences in these areas and thus differences in fertilizer needs. If part of an area has been fertilized, limed, manured or cropped differently, it should be sampled differently, Bennett adds. Your county agent can help you in your soil sampling and provide you with an informative sheet for the job. Bennett advises seeing him soon and sending your sample to one of the three soil testing laboratories at Lubbock, Seymour or College Station.

AND WHY NOT YOU?

Yes, I did. I really did it. Told all the girls I was going to, just last week, and what a commotion!

"Some of them really had their own pet theories and ideas. Some had a closed mind on the subject too, believe it or not. Just wouldn't listen to reason . . . know it all's, some of them."

"But, I showed 'em. I did it with facts and figures, too. I had it down in plain dollars and cents, down to the very last penny, mind you . . . the very last!"

"Open their eyes? You bet they did. Even Sally, who pretended she wasn't interested. I caught her looking at my figures when she thought no one was looking."

"That's when I told them, right then and there, 'Girls,' I said 'from now on, I aim to do every bit of my shopping right here in local stores. I'm making it a resolution.'"

"Know what? They applauded, all but Sally. But, know what? Someone said they saw her downtown just yesterday . . ."

Water Depletion

A spokesman for the High Plains Undergruond Water Conservation District has said that in a letter received last week by attorneys for the Water District, Joseph B. Dooley, Judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas, stated that ground water used in the production of agricultural crops in the Southern High Plains of Texas is a depletable natural deposit under the federal tax laws, and that he has so ruled in a case pending before his Court.

The spokesman, Tom McFarland, Manager of the High Plains Water District, said Judge Dooley's comments were in regard to a case tried before his Court during January 1962. The suit is a test case filed by Floyd County Farmer, Marvin Shurbet, in behalf of the high Plains Undergruond Water Conservation District and is styled, Marvin Shurbet, et ux v. United States of America. It seeks an income-tax refund of about $300.00 for the tax year 1959.

McFarland said that the favorable decision in the Shurbet case, upheld on appeal, will ultimately mean millions of dollars in tax savings for persons in the Southern High Plains of Texas who can show a cost in the ground water beneath their land and who are using the water to produce income. McFarland pointed out that in 1954 the Board of Directors of the High Plains Water District first authorized the District's staff to seek a depletion allowance on ground water. The Board felt that if such a program were allowed on ground water by the Internal Revenue Service, then a great many more persons would realize first hand that their supply of water is truly exhaustible and would then become conscious that "water conservation" is a necessity for continued prosperity. McFarland continued, "in the beginning our Board had the feeling that too many people are not really convinced that the ground water is not being replaced, or that they accept the fact of decline only in an abstract sort of way. The Board thought that if each person had to physically check the water level in his own wells in order to take the tax deduction, that then the decline in water level would be a personal thing and would make him cognizant of his plight. Only when some men reach this point are they ready to discover ways and means of using water as efficiently as possible."

Everything piles up handsomely in a Chevy II including savings

Imagine a low-loading wagon roomy enough to handle most anything you can lift—and still trim enough to slip into cramped parking spots. We imagined it, built it and called it Chevy II. Made it as dependable as a wagon can get. And made it so it'll keep piling up savings over the years. Those show up in the way this one goes and goes on a gallon. They grow with brakes that adjust themselves. An exhaust system that lasts longer. And a Delcotron generator that keeps battery reserve power up. Want to hear more? How about a low price, natty interiors, Body by Fisher craftsmanship—and a talk with your Chevrolet dealer soon!

Local SCS Busy Place

New conservation plans, Great Plains Conservation Program Contracts to help carry out those plans and revision of old conservation plans are keeping the local Soil Conservation Service personal busy even with the weather continuing to be bad.

W.C. Patman, D. H. Kirby, Claude Freeman all have new conservation plans and Great Plains Contracts. Robert L. Heath, L. C. Heath, W. O. Moore and Lomas Freeman are in the process of developing Great Plains Contracts on their arms to help carry out their conservation plan. Johnnie Grace is doing some planning and may enter into a contract to plant grass and install underground irrigation pipe. John has a conservation plan he signed with the local district in 1961.

Yoakum Historical Group Has First Meeting

The first meeting of The Yoakum County Historical Survey Committee for 1963 was held in the District Court Room in Plains on Thursday Evening, January 24, at 7:30 o'clock. County Judge Stanley Duvall presided for the opening of the meeting.

He read a proclamation by Governor John Connally designating January 19, 1963, as Historical Preservation Day. Judge Duvall also read a report of the State Historical President, Rupert M. Richardson. This statement set out the program of work and listed 620 structures were marked in the state in 1962. Mr. Richardson stated that History is the number one tourist attraction in Texas, and two and one-half million people visited Museums in the State in 1962.

Murphy Luna gave a short history of Yoakum County beginning with the year 1905, when the Luna Family moved to the County. Mrs. Luna read a report of the Yoakum County Historical Survey Committee.

Judge Duvall gave the following as a suggested program of work:

1. Place Medallions on historical structures.
2. Mark every historic site and landmark.
3. Mark all Civil War graves.
4. Develop or improve local history museums.
5. Locate, save and record archives, letters, diaries, papers and documents.
6. Assist State Committee, in the passage of historical preservation legislation.

7. Plan County histories, histories of schools businesses, graveyards, ranches.

The following were elected to serve as officers for 1963: Mrs. R. B. Jones, Chairman; Mrs. M. W. Luna, Vice-Chairman; Mrs. P. W. St. Romain, Secretary-Treasurer.

Members attending the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Luna, Mrs. R. B. Jones, Mrs. Ralph Townes, Mrs. Bob Long, Mrs. S. E. Campsey, Mrs. K. O. Hendricks, Mrs. E. Lam, Ozella Hunt, Mrs. Pat Garrett, Glen Cleveland, Mrs. M. McGinty, Mrs. George Cleveland and Judge Stanley Duvall.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

Senator Calls Education Crisis "National Emergency"

By U.S. Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough (D-Texas)

The need for advancing this nation in the field of education is the magnificent challenge facing the 88th Congress. It is a challenge too many Congresses have declined to stand and meet.

Education is the golden light that pierces the darkness of poverty and prejudice, inequality and injustice, disease and despair.

It shines as mankind's greatest hope for achieving the permanent peace and universal prosperity that is the goal of enlightened men around the world.

Despite this, many of our young people with eager minds thirsting for knowledge will spill out of their high school graduation ceremonies this year, as in every year in the past, not to continue their education, but to go to destinations unknown.

All over the United States, they'll be saying: "I'd like to go to college. But my family can't afford it, and I can't get enough money to go."

And even though half of the best minds in high school will be denied educational advancement because of cost, the colleges and universities still are unable to meet the great demands to be made upon them for more laboratories, more classrooms, more libraries, and more educators.

These are the twin tragedies—the unmet challenges of our nation and of our time. These challenges will be met only when we learn to look upon the need for educational advancement in the United States as a national emergency of the most urgent order. For it is only in time of emergency that we stand together with the unity and determination needed to make war on "non-education," the common enemy of mankind.

As a member of the Senate Education Subcommittee, I am confident that Congress will be given an opportunity to act in this session on an education program that will include: aid to higher education, aid to the Cold War GI veterans, aid to public schools, aid to the federally impacted areas, and expansion of the National Defense Education Act.

Congress should have an opportunity to vote early this year on a bill which I introduced, and which is co-sponsored by 39 other senators, to provide educational aid to military veterans of the Cold War. With an anticipated 5 million veterans of the Cold War period (January 31, 1955, to July 1, 1963) the Cold War GI Bill would put more people in college and increase the educational preparedness of America more than any other education bill pending before Congress, or likely to be introduced.

Our institutions of higher learning should be educating twice as many people. We are still falling far too short of the great American dream of an education for every boy and girl to the limit of their capabilities. We need a great determined state and national drive for education for the survival, advancement and glory of Democracy.

The 88th Congress has a major responsibility in helping to meet this need for higher education for millions more young Americans than are now receiving it. The golden opportunity is before us.

Searchers Fellowship

The Searchers Class of the First Christian Church gathered Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards.

They enjoyed games of "42" and Password.

Refreshments were served to Rev. and Mrs. Johnnie Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Green, Mr. and Mrs. Hoss Newsome, the Bill Fitzgeralds, and the James Andersons.

The Searchers meet each Sunday morning at the parsonage for Bible study and on the first and third Wednesday's in the evening, for a social get-together.
