NUMBER 19

MOORE or Less

By Johnnie Moore

The following is a sample column that will be featured each week in our paper on page two.

It will be entitled "From Parson Jones."

We think it is quite entertaining; but is also really a bit profound in its insight to some of the foibles we commit in our churches and our church related activities.

I think the most valuable lesson that many of us can, and should learn is that we far too often take ourselves too seriously. Being able to laugh at ourselves is a very, very big asset.

Dear Mr. Publisher:

Did you see that four-legged chicken down at the County Fair this year? Wasn't that a peculiar looking thing? I don't know of but one "animal" that's more peculiar than a four legged chicken and that's a preacher's wife. Course, the congregations responsible for creating these unusual critters. Most preachers' wives is about ready to jump off a ten story building cause they've been traveling in four directions at the same time.

Now you take my madam for example. Last year she put on a little lipstick cause some of the members thought she was too plain. The first Sunday she went to Church a few of the ladies went up in arms---they said she looked like a hussy all painted up. The young women won't pal around with her cause she's too straight laced and the older ones won't have nothing to do with her cause she wears shorts around the house. If she dresses plain she's a tight-wad. When she gets a friend some where she's showing partiality, and when she don't they say she's stuck up. If the little woman goes calling with me folks say she's nosy. If she stays home she's peculiar.

Every time Mrs. Jones takes a job in the church somebody swears she's trying to take over when she don't take no job a tall they say she's lazy.

Then too Mr. Publisher, she's supposed to raise normal children, when they're always referred to as the preacher's kids. Her house is a big gold fish bowl where members feel free to browse around like they was in a public park. (We finally had to put a lock on the bathroom door and my wife makes me pick up all my old dirty clothes.) Instead a having one landlord she's got a whole congregation full of 'em.

On top of all these complications the members want the madam to be assistant Pastor choir leader, Sunday School teacher, part-time janitor, secretary counselor, preacher's wife, kin's mama, and leader in the community, all on my salary. I reckon that's what they call killing two birds with one stone. Only thing is, I never liked being classified as a bird. I told our folks when I come to the Church it was me they was hiring, not my wife, and if they wanted her too, that would come extra.

After all's said and done though I reckon being a preacher's wife ain't such a bad deal. I understand they got a special place in heaven for her. In the meantime, Mr. Publisher, do you know where I could find a good psychiatrist--cheap. Other wise the madam's gonna wind up at that special place in the state hospital.

Yours truly,
Parson Jones

Endorse Youth Center

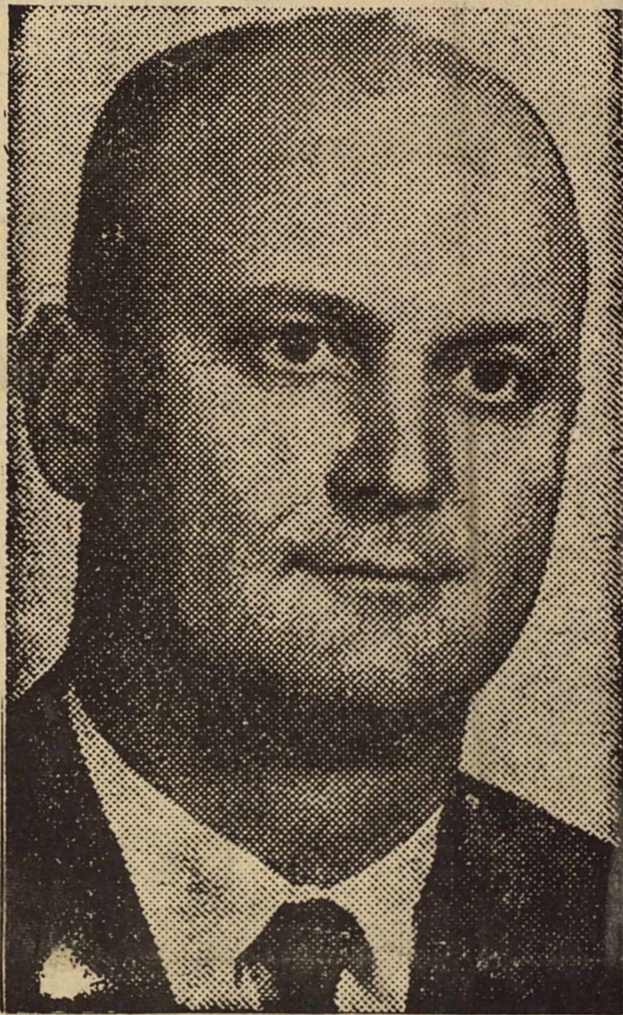

In connection with the proposed re-vamping of the second story of the old Court House here for the installation of a combination youth center and continuation of the club room facilities, some definite progress has been reported.

Last Thursday, at the regular meeting of the Plains Lions Club, members of the local Chamber of Commerce were also present, to hear Yoakum County Judge, Stanley Duvall explain the plan, which he originally forwarded for the possibility of converting the space to be used as a youth center.

After the talk and discussion ended, both organizations, the Lions Club and the Chamber, voted to endorse the proposal and to let it be known that they are definitely in favor of the move.

Other organizations in Plains have also previously voted their votes-of-confidence for the proposed project.

More details on the action taken because of these endorsements will be reported as it takes place.

THE REV. GEORGE BRAZZELL

To Construct Highway Soon

A contract for 18.31 miles of construction on FM 1780 & 769 in Yoakum and Cochran counties has been awarded to a Lubbock firm. It was announced in Austin this week by the State Highway Commission.

Henry L. Stafford submitted the low bid of $279,379 on the project. Grading, structures, base & surfacing from FM 2196 south to US 380; from end FM 769, south to end of proposed FM road at Yoakum County line; from US 380 at Bronco north to end of proposed FM road at Cochran County line. It is expected to take 160 working days, according to O. L. Crain District Highway Engineer at Lubbock.

Carl Hart, Resident Engineer at Brownfield will be in active charge of the project while it is under construction.

Rod Duff Named Citizen of Year

Speaker for last Monday night's Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet was The Reverend Frank Pollard, the pastor of First Baptist Church of Seagraves.

The Rev. Pollard called the group's attention to our individual and collective need for a return to a stronger morality in our everyday lives.

Mr. Don Hancock, newly elected Chamber President, presented last year's and this year's officers and directors, and gave a resume of the different items of accomplishment and told something of the plans and hopes for the coming year.

Mrs. Mollie Courtney, the Chamber Secretary, was in charge of the highlight of the evening as she presented the award to the "Outstanding Citizen of the Year."

Recipient of the award for this year was Mr. Rod Duff. Duff was cited for his many and varied interests in the community and surrounding area. In particular it was pointed out that he had just received the honor of being named the "Outstanding Soil Conservation Supervisor" for Yoakum County for this year. In addition to this mention was made of his work in Lions. He is at present president of the local club. He has held many offices in the Chamber. The fact of his attentiveness to the work of his church was pointed up. And the fact of his being president of the Yoakum County Water Conservation Association; and having been instrumental in its organization were underscored.

Duff, it was told, was instrumental in calling attention to the county to the perils facing us all as far as the pollution of our fresh water was concerned, and carrying much of the load for getting the problem solved in a satisfactory way.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Mr. Johnnie Moore. Mr. Joe Chisholm gave the invocation and The Rev. James Bozeman gave the benediction. Introducing the speaker for the evening was Mr. Rod Duff.

for May 21.

"I want to outline briefly the program that has been proposed, and on which wheat farmers will vote, and then make some comments on what I think are the real issues at stake. It is these issues on May 21 to determine what may well be the future course of Agriculture in this country.

"Briefly, and roughly, the plan upon which wheat farmers will vote provides for a two-price system for wheat, with reduced acreage allotments, and exceedingly strict controls for both production and marketing. There is no need here to go into a detailed analysis of the mechanics of the new plan. I am sure your various farm organizations have adequately explained that phase of the proposal to you.

"The thing I want to discuss here is of far more importance, for it will not only affect the manner in which you grow and market your wheat, it will affect the manner and the philosophy under which you rear and educate your children. "The Secretary of Agriculture

Commencement & Baccalaureate Special Services Mark End Of School Year

A special graduation supplement will be run in next week's issue of The Record, honoring this year's graduating seniors.

Just by way of announcement though, the following is the schedule of special functions and services to be held in the next few days.

Baccalaureate Services are scheduled for this coming Sunday evening, May 12, in the School Auditorium, at 8 p. m.

Invocation at the Sunday services is to be given by Mr. Joe R. Chisholm, minister of the local Hillside Church of Christ. The benediction will be given by the Rev. Walter L. Driver, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Special music for the services will be brought by the Plains Fine Arts Choir. Numbers to be sung include: "I Walk With God," "Beside Still Waters," and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Baccalaureate Sermon this year will be brought by The Rev. George Brazzell, who is vice-president of Southwestern Assemblies of God College. Commencement exercises for the 38 graduating seniors will be held on Friday night, May 17, also in the auditorium at 8 p. m.

And, the Junior High graduation exercises are scheduled for the following Monday, May 20 at 8 p. m.

More information will be available concerning both the commencement exercises in next week's issue.

Brazzell Slated As Speaker For Baccalaureate

The Reverend George Brazzell, Vice President of Southwestern Assemblies of God College, Waxahachie, Texas, will be the guest speaker during baccalaureate, May 12, at 8:00 p. m., at the Plains High School Auditorium.

After graduating from high school, the Reverend Brazzell entered Bible College to prepare for the ministry. Soon after his graduation from Bible College he felt a need for further education and enrolled in eight universities from two of which he has received degrees, a Bachelors of Arts from Southern Methodist University, and a Masters of Education from the University of Oklahoma, with majors in psychology and educational guidance.

During the years of building his educational program he has been employed either full time or part time in work related to church activities. He has enjoyed a varied ministry of pastoral work, youth director, educational director, associate pastor, evangelistic work, and taught in both public and private schools. He is now in his eighth year as director of Public Relations for Southwestern Assemblies of God College.

Recently, the Reverend Publishing House in Springfield, Missouri, international headquarters city for the denomination, has released a book, This Is Stewardship, of which Mr. Brazzell is author. This book is to be used throughout the Assemblies of God as a text book for Sunday School workers training courses. The philosophy of stewardship he has developed has been created by years of rich experiences in association with hundreds of churches, ministers, and educators. The author travels extensively as guest speaker for youth camps, conventions, banquets, Sunday school meetings, workers training courses, and local churches.

As director of development for college of which he is vice president, he has seen the growth of income in the support of the college rise from a few hundred dollars to several thousands of dollars each year. Under his leadership for development a new library building has been erected at a cost in excess of $300,000.

Presently, the Reverend Mr. Brazzell is working on his doctoral program at Baylor University, Waco, Texas, with a major in higher education administration. Pastor Rev. E. L. Witt invites the public to attend this service.

CITIZEN OF THE YEAR-----
Mr. Rod Duff, at last Monday evening's Chamber of Commerce Banquet, was named as Plains' "Outstanding Citizen of the Year."

Chamber Sets Action Course

It was announced yesterday by Mr. Don Hancock, Chamber of Commerce President, that a special meeting has been called for 7 p. m. Saturday morning at Alma's.

Purpose of the meeting is the possible and much-talked about plan forwarded to the Chamber by its president, concerning the organization of a Plains and area development corporation.

It was pointed out by Hancock that this would call for the investment of money by individuals in the area in the formation of the corporation, and that the purpose of the corporation would be to attract industrial, agricultural, and other kinds of businesses to the Plains area.

One item under immediate consideration by the group will probably be the possibility of a convalescent home in Plains.

All interested persons are asked to meet at Alma's on Saturday morning for breakfast at 7 a. m.

Basketball Hopefuls Elect Co-Captains

Mr. Rip Sewell, Plains Basketball Coach, announced, earlier this week, that selections of co-captains for the season next year had been made. Selected by the other cage hopefuls for next year were Mike Field and Johnny Robertson.

The Cowboys have just finished with two weeks of spring scrimmage, working out one hour each day. Coach Sewell stated that efforts had been concentrated on fundamentals and team unity.

Lettermen returning next year will include Roland Fayers, and Larry Williams, in addition to the two newly elected co-captains. 1963 "B" teamers who are reported to be looking good are: James Hampton, Jack Lowe, Bruce Long, Jim Smith, Danny Smith, Joe Cooke, Bob Parker, and Dennis Crutcher.

The 1963-64 schedule is not as yet complete but the Cowboys will definitely play Tatum, Eunice, Denver City (tournament), and the possibility of a tournament here or Plains entry into the Caprock tournament are being viewed. In addition to these and other as yet unscheduled pre-season games there will be 10 conference contests.

Channel cats are the only fish of the catfish tribe to be considered truly game fish by Texas anglers. They rate on a par with white bass and crappie, and just below the lordly black bass. More pugnacious than crappie, they equal white bass as scrappers and measure only a few notches below black bass when it comes to putting up a fight. Also, they are the only cats to constantly strike on plugs and spoons.

Channel cats go by many names—mostly according to geography. Besides their ritzy Latin moniker, Ictalurus lacustris punctatus, they are known in some sections of the country as fiddlers. Other states call them spotted cat, forktail cat, marble cat, silver cat and white cat. But in Texas they are just plain channel cat, a very descriptive name.

Distributed all over Texas, the channel cat is most abundant in streams that have swift currents and channels. However, the species often is taken from the big lakes and quiet rivers.

This succulent fish is similar to the blue cat that grows to such a size in the Mississippi River and its tributaries. This same blue is found in almost all Texas lakes and rivers, though in somewhat smaller sizes than the Mississippi River variety.

You might say that the channel cat is the blue cat's little brother. Where the blue cat sometimes reaches 50 or 75 pounds in weight, the world record channel cat only tipped the scales at 57 pounds. A five pound channel cat is considered good size. Two or three pounds are most common, and make better eating.

So alike are the channel and blue cats that they often are mistaken for each other. Both are slim shaped with rather narrow heads and forked tails. You can distinguish the species by the shape and structure of the anal fins. In channel cats the outer edge of this fin is rounded and has 25 to 30 rays. Blue cats have 31 to 33 rays in a straight anal fin. Also, the coloring is different in the two fish. Where channel cats are a darkish blue, or muddy green on the back, going into whites on the sides and stomach, the blues are a much clearer blue on top and more striking white underneath. Channels under five pounds also have dark spots along their sides. These spots tend to disappear when the fish grows beyond five pounds.

Nesting habits of channel cats are similar to those of most fish. Nests are laid in bank hollows or in other secluded spots such as under water brush, sunken logs and stumps. Spring is spawning time... usually in May but sometimes earlier or later, depending upon water temperature. Like humans, the men-folks generally mind the youngsters and do most of the housework, after the eggs are hatched. The 5,000 to 7,000 eggs laid are each about the size of a buckshot. They stick to the nest in a gold-colored, jelly-like lump. It takes about seven days for these eggs to hatch, which job the old man tends to, hovering over and fanning them with his tail, always alert to chase away predators.

Small fry stay in the nest about a week under daddy's care before going out into the wide, cruel world—usually followed by the old man for several days who sees they aren't gobbled up.

HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY

Channel cats, like the other cats, eat just about everything when they are hungry. The young feed on insects, insect larvae, and other such light diet. The adults go for crawfish, dead fish, small animals such as mice, carrion, or anything else that drifts by, providing it has a strong odor.

During daylight hours channel cats siesta in sheltered spots such as deep holes, overhanging rocks and underwater brush. At dark they move out into the swift and shallow water.

Almost any method of fishing will catch channel cats. One of the most effective is the old, time-honored pole and line. Then there are drop lines and trotlines stretched across channels. Also what is known as a bank pole. The bank pole is a variation of the drop line, made by attaching a 2/0 hook to a 3-foot chalk line tied to any slim, green wood pole. Push butt of pole into mud bank so that the live bait will move and jump just below the water surface.

Minnnows make good channel cat bait—either live or wadded balls of slightly ripe dead ones. Crawfish, all sorts of stink bait, chicken guts, cheese and dough also make excellent bait. Cottonseed meal and flour mixed with enough water to form a tough round ball is a bait for channels that is good at any time.

Channel cats are lively, healthy fish, almost free of parasites. They have an insatiable appetite and can thrive in almost any kind of water, even where other fish will die. In the north, channel cats have been known to survive after being frozen in ice all winter. Just so the gills are moist, channel cats are able to live.

Channel cats make great game fish. When snagged in the shallow water they often leap out of the water like bass in an attempt to throw the hook. Interspersing these jumps, they take long, explosive runs into deep water.

And man, oh man, there is nothing better to eat than a meal of hot hushpuppies and fried channel catfish. The meat is flaky, juicy, and white—a prime favorite in Texas and other southern states. As a warm water fish, channel cats can't be beat... whether on the end of your line or on the dinner table afterward.

Young Farmers To Meet 13th

It was announced earlier this week that the regular monthly meeting of the Yoakum County Chapter of Young Farmers will be held in the Vocational Agriculture building of Plains High School at 8 p. m. on Monday.

School Menu

No menu of school lunches will be run in this week's paper as this is the last week, ending next Friday, that their will be lunches served in the cafeteria, according to Mrs. Elmer Cross, school dietician.

It is always good to know that this column does get around. Our friend, Eddie Watson says that he looked down on the desk of one of his superior officers at his base in Florida and saw one of our columns which had been placed beneath the glass. Being so far away from home it gave Eddie a funny feeling. It makes one wonder how it come to be there.

Also, this column has been appearing in The Plains Record of Plains Texas. Almost with the first appearance we got a letter from Fred Lynn, a reader from down Oklahoma City way. Editor Johnnie Moore grew up in our home town. It is with great pleasure that we use the following quote from his editorial column called Moore Or Less: "It's comparatively easy to legislate socialism, but it's almost impossible to unlegislate it once we have it."

The above items give forth with an idea for a contest. If you know of some place that this column has gone that is further away than Florida drop us a line % of the editor of this paper. Give the approximate distance in miles from the Texas Panhandle. To the one reporting the greatest distance we will send a copy of our book Plowin' Out the Corners. Field Home Tsa Mo Ga To Meet

It was revealed today that members of the local Tsa Mo Ga Club will hold their next meeting at the R. K. Field home near Bronco.

The meeting is slated for May 13, and will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Husbands of the members have been invited as guests, and the evening's program is to include a tour of the livestock barns and a program of old-time music.

In charge of the program, at which a talk on the Historical Survey work of this part of Yoakum County will be given, is Mrs. R. B. Jones.

ture has tossed this whole election off as a choice between $2 wheat and $1 wheat, and between the Administration's own version of a wheat program or no wheat program at all. Both are totally false.

"I would argue that the Secretary of Agriculture, backed up by the philosophical concepts of Dr. Willard W. Cochrane, a left-wing Minnesota economist, is laying a totally erroneous predicate for the use of large amounts of federal funds in an effort to sway an election in America. "Before we get into some of the broader aspects of this contest let us dispose of Sec. Freeman's overly-simplified pronouncements. In the first place his comments about the price of wheat under his scheme, and under the conditions that he says would prevail should wheat farmers have the audacity to disagree with him, are sheer nonsense. It has all the appearance of being something he snatched from the rarified air of Washington because it sounded "catchy" in the manner of the New Frontier.

"His comments to the effect that a "no" vote by the nation's farmers will mean no new program this year is equally far-fetched, unless politics has changed so much under this Administration it is no longer recognizable. The Democrats control the Administration and both houses of Congress by sizeable margins. How would it look for them, acting in somewhat of a huff, to turn their back on people they are going to be begging for votes in the very near future. I can assure you all of Congress, Republicans and responsible Democrats alike, will be working for a sensible solution to this."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The remarks above were made by one of four Senators from Texas, Senator John G. Tower. As they present something of a different slant to the nearing wheat referendum, a second installment of his remarks will be included in next week's issue.)

NEW CHART RELEASED

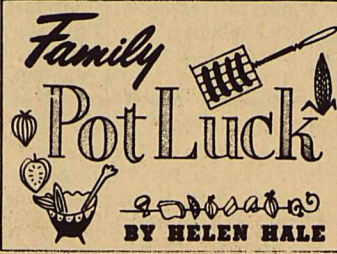

Study Of Fruiting Habit Of Cotton Plant Cited As Valuable Aid To Cotton Farmer

A new, easy-to-understand chart showing the fruiting habits of the typical cotton plant has been released in this issue. The chart is a simplified version of a continuing study by leading cotton research men, on fruiting of the typical cotton plant, under average weather conditions, if unhampered by insects. The chart is divided into seven weeks of cotton blooming and demonstrates that the greatest volume of mature cotton results from the early blooms. More than half of the total bolls and 64% of mature cotton results from the first two weeks' blooms. And 88% of the total mature cotton is picked from the blooms of the first three weeks. For example, in the first week only 8% of the blooms occur, but they develop into 21% of the mature cotton. By contrast, the fifth week has 9% of the total blooms, which results in less than 3% of the total cotton.

This fruiting pattern clearly demonstrates the importance of keeping insect infestations to a minimum, particularly during the early season. It is essential that early squares be protected, and cotton experts agree that a systematic planned program using toxaphene and toxaphene-DDT has demonstrated its effectiveness in protecting these early squares from insect destruction, and allowing the plant to fruit normally. Besides this protection, toxaphene and toxaphene-DDT do not interfere with the plant's normal growth and maturity.

RANGE, BRUSH CONTROL--- one portion of his range that has been deferred from June to September. A good re-growth of tall grass can be noted.

Fed Cattle Prices Up In April With Less Water Seek Better Production

The number of fed cattle moving to market in April was up, but the month closed with prices about steady with the previous month's close. The exception was on fed calves under 600 pounds which looked steady to 50 cents higher.

The latest summary published by the Cattle Feeders Division of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association pointed out that prices were stronger early in the month, but the expected improvement after Easter failed to materialize and prices again were depressed the last part of April. The USDA Cattle on Feed report which was released about mid-month indicated an increase of 11 percent in numbers on feed. Lloyd Bergsma, director of the TSCRA Cattle Feeders Division, said even though this had been expected, the news had a depressing effect on the market.

Marketings during the first quarter were up three percent compared to last year. "This along with some increase in slaughter weights of animals pushed total U. S. production of beef upward," Bergsma explained.

Wholesale beef prices during April with part of the loss recovered late in the month. Compared to the previous month, prices at most markets looked 50 cents to $1.00 lower. In New York, prime beef sold at $42.50, down $5.25, down $5.25 per hundred weight from last year.

In Houston, carcass calf was selling steady to strong with standard showing the best demand and price improvement. Standard calf closed the month at $39.50 to $42.00. Choice steer beef at Houston sold at $39.00 to $40.50 which was about 50 cents below the previous month's close.

"With slaughter cattle prices three to five dollars below the previous year's levels you would expect the feeder cattle to follow a downward trend," Bergsma said. "However this is not the situation. Feeder cattle prices are about steady with last year.

Can cotton be produced on the High Plains with one fourth of the irrigation water now used? That is the question that Dr. Arthur Gohlke, Soil Scientist at the High Plains Research Foundation is in the process of investigating.

Laboratory and greenhouse experiments currently underway may disclose the possibility of securing the same yield and a better quality of cotton with a much shorter stem and a thicker leaf. A hormone, used in floriculture, was applied to cotton and barley by Dr. Gohlke in a greenhouse at Michigan State University in 1962. He was then engaged in post Doctorate research there. A continuation of this experiment is currently underway at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway Texas.

Cotton plants treated with the hormone with one of several methods produce plants with shorter, thicker stems and thicker dark green leaves. Even though the treated plants undergo a great morphological change, the hormone does not appear to influence the normal growth and reproductive cycle. Laboratory and greenhouse experiments indicate that small grains and cotton treated with this hormone will produce normal crop yields with only one fourth to one-half of the water required by untreated plants. The application of the hormone in sufficient amounts shortens the internode distance between leaves on the stem. This produces a short dry weather cotton plant possibly capable of producing from one to two bales per acre with less water needed. The experiments currently being conducted in the laboratory and greenhouse will be continued in the field this year.

Dr. Gohlke's ultimate goal by the shorter, thicker stalk and leaf. Even though early experiments indicate that this hormone may be invaluable in the future of High Plains agriculture, Dr. Gohlke points out that this hormone is an experimental compound and is not approved or available for commercial use.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

By C. D. Smith

Is Popularity Enough For Average Teenager?

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I have a teenage problem. I am very attractive and I have a pleasing personality. I make friends very easily, of both sex. My problem is that the fellows that I am not interested in always like me very much. However, the fellows that I am concerned about are not too concerned about me. They are nice fellows, but they all say I play 'hard to get.' I do not, but I cannot allow myself to fall in love with just anybody. I am very friendly and I even talk to some of the boys I am concerned about. But they treat me like a sister. I do not want any brotherly love. I have six brothers. What is your suggestion?"

OUR REPLY: Our suggestion is that you begin by being thankful. Be grateful of the fact that you are attractive; that you have a pleasing personality; and that you make friends easily. There are thousands of teenagers who would give anything to be so well qualified.

You are wise in not permitting yourself to fall in love with just anyone. But, is it necessary that you fall in love with anyone? Can you not be content with being popular? Many a girl who tells herself and her friends that she has found her "one and only" is kidding everybody. She knows better and would much prefer to be popular, to have different boys asking her for dates.

And finally, did it ever occur to you that these boys you like are not really treating you like a "sister" but instead like a "lady"? The boy who thinks you are "something special" will treat you that way. It is not what a boy says to you that is an indication of his true character—it is instead how he conducts himself in your presence.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

"We might call this 'laizze faire communism.' It reminds us of the British mercantilism of the 18th century. Now we see the Russians adopting trappings of the capitalistic system and coming up with 'Soviet mercantilism.'"

"They provide manufactured products and finished goods to their colonial possessions. The colonial possessions in turn, provide the Soviet Union with raw materials for trade with the rest of the world."

"On top of this, the 4 cents a pound price paid to Castro for the sugar provided by oppressed Cuban laborers is additionally watered down in value because the Soviets pay for only 20 per cent of it in cash. The rest of the payment to Castro is in Soviet goods and equipment and weapons—for which the Soviets set a high price.

"It is typical of the Red system that the communists continue to gyp each other, but it is vitally important to the American system that Americans not be told by a news-manager Administration that the Russians are losing money on Cuba. Indeed the opposite is true."

Tower Speaks On Cuba

Senator John Tower has told the Senate that quite contrary to the allegations of the Administration the Soviet Union is "making a profit from its colonialism in Castro Cuba."

Tower said the Russians are buying Cuban sugar from Castro at less than the world market price, selling it world wide at the market price, charging their own people exorbitant prices and thus making a neat profit for international communism while cheating the people of both Cuba and Russia.

Noting that the Administration is fond of telling Americans it is "costing Khrushchev $1 million a day to stay in Cuba," Senator Tower provided for the Congressional Record a series of statistical tables dealing with "the bitter details of the Communists' sugar trade."

Tower also provided for the Record an article written (for Hearst newspapers) by David Senter in which the writer revealed that buy revealed that Soviets buy Cuban sugar for 4 cents a pound and then sell it at the world market price of 8 cents a pound. Senter also showed that under the government-controlled communist economy the Russian people find themselves paying $1.12 for the same pound of sugar their government got for 4 cents.

Said Senator Tower: "Here's where the Soviets are getting the money to maintain their troops and weapons in Cuba. Not only that, they are making a profit on it."

Safety Tip

The discarded nail was hidden in tall grass. The mower blade hit it and suddenly it was buried an inch deep alongside the shinbone of the 23 year-old Williamson County secretary.

Accidents of this type will be on the increase now, this is lawn-mowing time, you know, until fall weather brings a welcome respite from the weekly chore.

The State Department of Health does not keep statistics on non-fatal accidents so the extent of injuries from carelessly handled power mowers is unknown. But one Central Texas City reports, conservatively, that 15 to 25 serious accidents are reported each year.

Like the man who stopped his car at the curb, intending to say hello to his perspiring neighbor busily mowing the grass. Neighbor wheels up with mower to return the greeting. Man in car, elbow

Table games were enjoyed for the remainder of the evening. In addition to the fine fellowship a nice rain shower heightened the pleasure of the evening.

Those attending were Rev. and Mrs. Johnnie Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Green, Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards, the Bill Fitzgeralds and Mrs. Gene Phillips.

resting on window, finds his forearm pinned to bicep with a five inch piece of wire flung at him by the whirling blade.

Power equipment is a tremendous boon to the man who likes to keep his yard neat with a minimum of effort. But it takes constant concentration to do the job safely. Even experience is no substitute for concentration.

A garden club member in a major Texas city used to pride himself on his safe and sane use of power tools that helped him maintain the sharpest yard in the block.

But no more. One afternoon recently, while trimming his driveway with a power trimmer, he reached down to lift a bloom-laden branch of a rose bush out of the way.

When he withdrew his hand two fingers were missing. "I wasn't alert," he wryly explained.

One of the most frequent mower accidents has this sequence:

A stick or wire or rock jams between cutting bar and blade. The operator attempts to clear the jam without going to the trouble of killing the motor. Results: Badly cut or severed fingers when the surge of power spins the freed blade.

Most power mowers come equipped with safety guards. Trouble is that guards are removed by owners for one reason or another and never replaced.

But use one carelessly and you're liable to become a candidate for a quick trip to the emergency ward of a hospital.
