MOORE or Less

by Johnnie Moore

From the Odessa, Wash. Record: "How many of us realize the vast returns we get from helping develop a strong community? Communities flourish because the people living there keep faith. People have not hesitated to make their initial investments. They invest in a home, in a business, in friendships, in living conditions. There are those who are short sighted and fail to see that a community needs keeping up just as surely as does a home."

Television, like radio before it, but to a far greater degree, has brought about major changes in the advertising picture. It has been an aggressive competitor with the other media, and its appetite for the advertising dollar, with the cost of producing even B grade programs running to comparatively astronomical sums, seems insatiable.

But the power of the written word still gets top honor.

An announcement from Sears, Roebuck and Co. will interest those who like to read as well as to stare. It expects to spend more than $60 million for newspaper advertising this year. Last year the figure was $58 million, which was 71.2 per cent of their total retail media expense. The balance went to advertising through circulars, magazines, radio and television.

A spokesman tells the story: "This is tangible evidence of our continuing faith in the potency of newspaper advertising. From the day Sears opened its first store, it has made greater and greater use of newspapers. It is obvious that Sears store managers continue to regard the newspaper as their major medium for more than historical reasons. Their evaluation is based on the day-to-day results in their stores."

Television advertising has been described as a catch-as-catch-can affair, you have to be looking at the set at the moment and it's gone in an instant. Print is durable and the prospective buyer can scan and consider at his leisure.

WATER DEPLETION CASE ON APPEAL

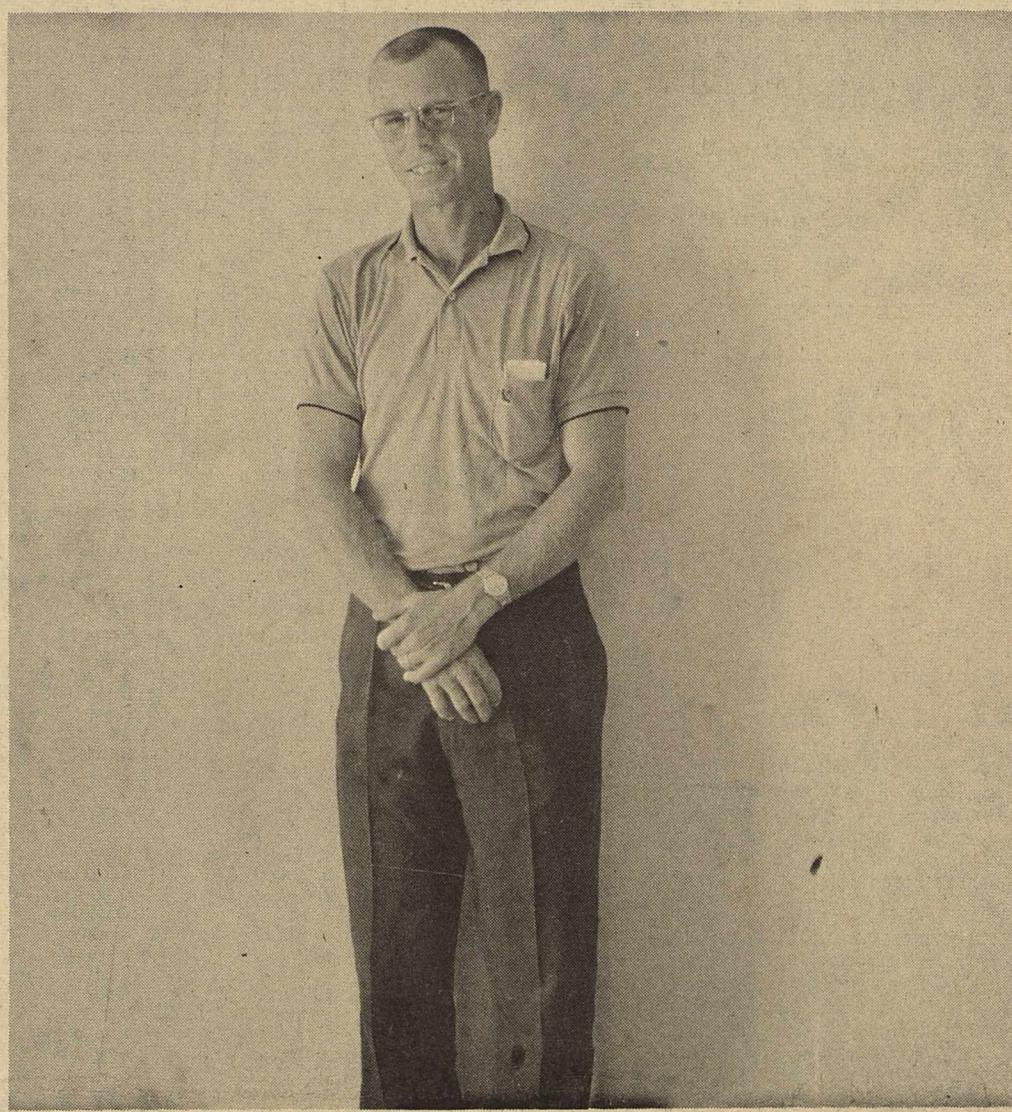

Attorneys for the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District have been advised that the water depletion case, styled Marvin Shurbet Et Ux vs. United States of America, was appealed by the government on July 22, 1963.

The appeal is from a judgment rendered in May 1963 by Judge Joseph B. Dooley of the U. S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas, sustaining Shurbet's claim for a federal income-tax refund. The case will now go before the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, Louisiana.

The claim for refund is based on a cost depletion deduction for ground water depleted while irrigating agricultural crops.

The suit is a test case, and is sponsored by the High Plains Water District in an effort to obtain a federal income-tax deduction for all owners of ground water in the southern High Plains of Texas who can show a cost in the ground water that is depleted in the production of income.

There is no indication at this time when the case will be heard by the Court in New Orleans.

NEW HEAD COACH---Rip Sewell was named head football coach here Tuesday following the resignation of Jack Pierce.

Sewell To Head Coach Job

In something of a surprise move here this week, Mr. Jack Pierce, head football coach in the Plains Schools, announced his resignation.

Pierce announced his intention to pursue the insurance business on a full time basis, in which he is presently employed by Texas Life.

He has had a fine record while head of the coaching staff here. The Plains teams have piled up some enviable records and have many titles to their credit.

Pierce plans to remain in Plains and to continue sharing in the partnership with his father-in-law, Frank Whitlock, who manages White Auto.

L. T. (Rip) Sewell was named in action by the board of trustees of Plains Schools on Tuesday evening of this week as Pierce's successor.

Sewell has been football line coach and head basketball coach here for the past six years, after previously having coached in the Wellman Schools for five years.

Sewell will actually be just taking on added responsibility, as he will now be head football coach and will also remain head basketball mentor.

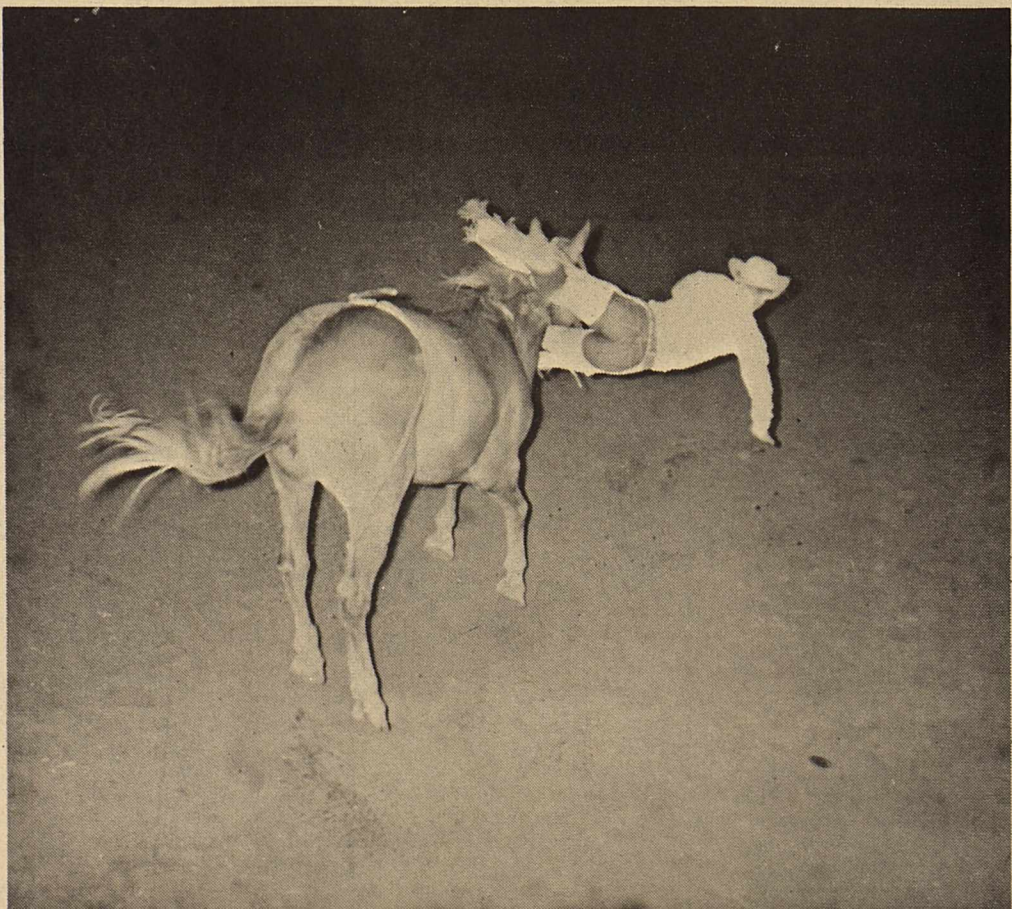

Sewell stated that Guerry Wright will be moved up to the first assistant spot and that hurried attempts are now being made to secure another assistant coach. Wright will assume responsibilities formerly handled by Sewell, and the new assistant would have the responsibility of coaching I team football and basketball. Wright, will, during basketball season begin those not participating in that program in preliminary track workouts.

Sewell stated that number one on his list of things to be done is to call a meeting of the football captains for this year, as, he said he'll need all the cooperation and team work possible to have a winning team this year.

Plains schedule of games for this year is equally tough if not more so than last years. The varsity schedule is as follows:

Sept. 6th Crane, there, 13th, Post, Here, 20th Open, 27th Friona, Here, Oct. 4th Sudan, There, 11th Farwell, there, 18th Tahoka, there, 25th O'Donnell, here, Nov. 1 Seagraves there, 8th Wink, there, 15th Sundown, here.

WOAH NOW--This just a sample of the kind of action that was seen here last weekend. The rodeo was very well attended and the crowd was certainly not disappointed in the show.

Look At Oil Picture

With oil and gas production worth about $43.3 million a year, Yoakum County citizens have a financial stake in the worldwide demand for energy and the complex economic and political problems involving the petroleum industry, according to statistics released this week by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

"We have pulled together some figures from the most authoritative sources to residents of Yoakum County can see how local pocketbooks are affected by some of the issues which involve our industry," said J. Clyde Tomlinson, Association president. "Issues of current concern include the proposals to cut percentage depletion rates, extension of federal controls over prices at which Texas producers sell their gas, and development of laws and production methods that will help Texas compete with other states and nations for markets."

The latest year for which U. S. Bureau of Mines figures are available (1961) shows Yoakum County producing more than 13.9 million barrels of crude oil, valued at about $41.4 million; and 15.3 billion cubic feet of natural gas, with a value of almost $1.9 million. Yoakum ranks 21st among Texas counties in value of oil and gas production. In 1961 there were 1,192 producing wells in the county, according to the Texas Railroad Commission. The Prentice Field is classified by the Oil and Gas Journal as one of the nation's "giant" fields, with an estimated ultimate recovery in excess of 100 million barrels since discovery.

Although its first field was discovered 27 years ago, Yoakum County is the scene for the industry's continued search for oil and gas. Some 92 wells were drilled in the county last year, with 7 being wildcat exploratory wells, according to the Oil & Gas Journal. The Association estimated that more than $8.3 million was spent on drilling in the county this past year and that some $1.3 million of this went for dry holes. Close to $255,000 was spent last year on geophysical crews using seismic devices to probe the underground formations of Yoakum County for possible drilling locations.

Leasing adds many thousands of dollars to the county's economy. Tabulations by the International Scouts Oil Association show major companies in 1961 were paying rentals on about 75,000 undeveloped acres, which comprise about one-seventh of the county's area.

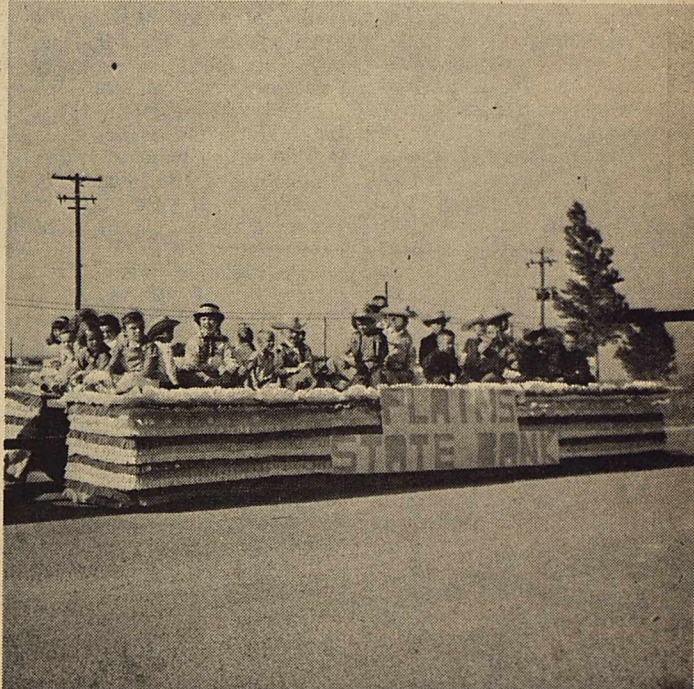

Royalty payments to Yoakum County farmers, ranchers and other landowners are running at more than $5.4 million annually, the Association calculated.

Yoakum County producers and royalty owners also make a sizable contribution to the support of state government, with production tax payments of more than $2 million a year.

Industry taxes likewise are important to the county government and school districts in the county. For instance, 92 percent of the local property taxes collected for the Denver City Independent School District comes from oil and gas operators; 81 per cent at Plains.

A sizable impact on the Yoakum County economy has been registered by petroleum industry payrolls. About six out of every ten payroll dollars in the county are derived from employment in oil and gas work, according to figure from the Texas Employment Commission. The industry payroll is more than $3.6 million a year, with the average employee receiving more than $5,200 annually.

Two natural gasoline plants are operated in the county, handling some 169 million cubic feet of gas a day.

Set Donkey Softball Game

Plains Roping Arena will be the site for a quite a sight on Friday evening, August 9.

That evening has been reserved for probably one of the most unusual and unlikely sports events ever to hit Plains.

At 7:30 that evening the Plains Lions Club will take on the local Young Farmers Chapter in a game of soft ball. One slightly unique feature of the game will be that all players will be mounted on the backs of the contrariest and honoriest bunch of donkeys ever to go on a playing field.

The event is being sponsored by the Lions Club and proceeds are earmarked for the Lions Den - Scout Hut building fund.

Admission prices have been set at 50 cents and $1.

HUFFMAN SERVICES HELD TUESDAY

The Plains community and area were saddened this week because of the death of a fine citizen, Elbert Edwin Huffman.

Huffman had been a resident of Plains for a little over two years and was partner in the local Huffman - Barrett Funeral Home.

He died Sunday in the Yoakum County Hospital in Denver City where his wife is employed as a Registered Nurse. He had been hospitalized for several weeks while he was waging a battle with cancer.

Services were held here Tuesday in First Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. James L. Bozeman, officiating. Burial was in Union Cemetery near Teague.

Huffman was native of Mexia and formerly lived in Freestone County. He moved to Plains from Meridian, where he also was a mortician.

Survivors include his wife, Jean; and a daughter, Billie Jeanine, both of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Huffman of Donnie; three brothers, C. R., Dallas; Bobby R., Florida; and Jimmy, Galveston; two sisters, Mrs. J. B. Atteberry, Bountiful, Utah; and Mrs. L. M. Williams, Florissant, Missouri.

From Parson Jones

Dear Mr. Publisher: I understand you got a little company staying at your house this summer. That's nice. Things have been kinda lonesome of our place. Our social life has been so puny lately that I'd even welcome a visit from my mother-in-law. That's what I call being desperate. We used to get invited out alot to eat with the members, but that's about stopped. Why, I remember a few years ago me and the madam was eating out a couple times a week. In the winter we got tanked up on fresh hog meat and catfish stew and in the summer with them fresh vegetables--not to mention all a' that good home made ice cream.

Like I said Mr. Publisher, that's about all gone for the ole Parson. Now He's got to sit home and eat his wife's cooking all the time, cause he's to pore to eat in a cafe and the members are kinda hogging all the groceries for themselves.

The last time I got invited out to eat was last Christmas--over at Hezekiah's house. The only reason they invited me then was cause they was having a big get-together and they needed somebody to say the blessing.

I been doing a little thinking, Mr. Publisher, as to why the members ain't sharing their tables with me no more, and I come to several conclusions. First off, I don't reckon families eat together at home like they used to. When they do eat at home one eat at one time and one eats at another. Pop eats on the front porch, Mama eats in the kitchen, Junior eats in front a' the TV set, while Sis drinks a cocoa at the drug store. Now the preacher wouldn't hardly know which place to eat if he was invited to a home like that.

Then too, I figured that maybe folks don't invite the preacher to their tables no more cause eating together is a pretty personal thing--and folks don't want to get too personal. When you ask a fella to eat with you, that shows you're his friend. (I reckon that shows me up in a pretty bad light, Don't it Mr. Publisher.)

Another thing that come to my mind, Sir, was that since most women now-a-days cook out; the can and the frozen food counter they're ashamed to invite the preacher to eat a meal that somebody else fixed. (That would be like going to hear a preacher read another fella's sermon.)

All a' these reasons is good, Mr. Publisher, but after a powerful lotta' thinking I've decided that the main reason me and the family don't get invited out no more is on account of my eight younguns. As long as it wasn't nobody but me and the madam, folks didn't mind. Two people couldn't eat to much groceries. But now with my eight younguns it would be like a bunch a' tater bugs moving into a garden. It would clean em' outa' house and home. I remember when Rufe's wife first invited us over to her house she didn't know we had alla' these younguns. When my crowd come marching in her front door I thought she'd faint. She managed to feed us all right, but we ain't been invited back since.

Well, I don't reckon I'll starve to death, and I'll always have somebody to eat with as long as these eight younguns and the madam is at home. It looks like a preacher's gonna have to choose between having big families and eating out. A fella can't have his younguns and his cake too.

I better be signing off Mr. Publisher. My wife wants me to run down to the store and get a couple cans a beans for supper.

Yours truly,
Parson Jones

"MADAME, REMOVE YOUR-SELF!"--Mike Bearden of Lubbock seems pretty insistent that Ann Lattimore of Plains, seated, move to another "park bench" during a one-act play rehearsal conducted at Texas Tech for participants in the high school speech workshop. In the background are the "servants" of the two, as portrayed by James Hogue of Levelland and Connie Holland of Meadow. The play, "A Sunny Morning, by Quintero," is directed by Bill Harrell of the Tech speech staff, assisted by Gretchen Pollard, Tech junior from Austin.

IN SPEECH WORKSHOP

Texas Tech's High School Speech Workshop is in full swing this week, with a record enrollment of 46 students participating from Texas, Kansas and New Mexico.

Directing the annual workshop in dramatics and forensics is Dr. P. Merville Larson, professor and head of Tech's speech department, with an assist from Tech and area school speech faculties, as well as a staff of theater professionals.

Students are participating in plays, discussions, debates and radio programs, according to their interests. Special assistance in the Speech Clinic will be available to students with particular speech problems.

The workshop, which ends Aug. 3, is featuring study and practice in effective speech, voice, diction, personality development, role-playing, bodily action and development of good speech habits.

The program of instruction includes daily sessions in the fundamentals of speech; the study and application of basic principles of all forensic speaking and acting interpretation and stagecraft, implemented through the presentation of one act-plays and other activities.

Classes are meeting during the forenoon, with rehearsals, library research and practice sessions scheduled during the afternoon and/or evening.

College students enrolled in Speech 4325 -- Directing High School Speech Activities are working with the workshop participants as a part of the course.

A dramatic participant from Plains is Ann Lattimore.

ITEM: Curtains made of synthetic fiber fabrics, blends and those treated with the latest in durable finishes are easy to wash and dry. These fabrics shed soil quickly and thus do not need hard scrubbing, rubbing or twisting that sets wrinkles into such materials. The manufacturer's label usually specifies whether curtains require handwashing or may be put into the washing machine.

ITEM: Ivy poisoning is no joke. Poison ivy and its close kin, poison oak, are three-leaved climbing plants. On the ground they are about a foot high. Usually they climb walls, trees, fences. Poison sumac is a small shrub with small white berries. Ivy, oak or sumac--the results are the same--a stinging, itching patch of blisters. If you have been exposed, wash thoroughly, several times, with warm water and plenty of soap.

ITEM: Five new dairy products on the market are frozen whipped cream, instant cheese, Dagano cheese, a dairy fruit mix called Frumil, and a cream replacement that contains less than 10 calories a serving. Frozen whipped cream comes in a plastic container. Instant cheese is made from powdered cheddar and blue cheese. User adds water and stirs. Dagano cheese is a Swiss-type with a nutty flavor. Frumil is dairy fruit mix softer than American cheese but harder than cream cheese. All five items are available everywhere.

Sound truck facilities for the parade and each performance of the rodeo were furnished by Mrs. Bairds Bakery of Lubbock.

Winner of the trophy saddle which was given away Saturday evening was Mr. Joe Curry.

Visiting in the home of Jack Pierce this week is Carol Malloy, cousin of Mrs. Jack Pierce from Cash, Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Victor and daughter Nancy, visited the Pete St. Romans during the rodeo. The Victors are residents of Dallas.

Mrs. Dudley Winn, who reads this column in Southwestern Crop and Stock and lives up in Greenwich, Conn. tells us that she sends copies on to friends in Kent, England. This makes us happy. Also, her description of the Connecticut countryside makes us want to make a trip up that way. Her letter sounded for all the world like there was an anxious grandparents back in Lubbock who was always interested in their well being.

Another reader writes in the same mail from Greensboro, North Carolina to remind us that it is about the same distance from here to his town as the two closest points of Texas and Florida. He is Charles Wommett, a manager for General Motels, Inc.

Thanks to the many readers who sent along something for the scrapbook of our friend, Miss Diana Balogh of 2712 Winston Road in Oklahoma City. And thanks to our friend Pat Deaton of Rone for her kindness in broadcasting about Diana. As a result of the kindness of our readers and Pats listeners we understand that it took Diana two hours to read one days mail. It just shows how little things add up, and for a young lady with a broken back and a cast from neck to knees this could add up to a lot of encouragement and pastime. Bless you all.

Speaking of Florida, W. T. Cummings, Box 8414, Tampa, Fla., is retired and likes to get copies of weekly newspapers, and also keeps a collection of witty sayings. Send him something and you will likely get a nice answer. His Zipcode is 33664 which reminds me that I can never remember to include my own which is 79019 and should be easy.

We read news item after news item that shows brutality, murder, and many like crimes. Reading between the lines we note that in so many cases the trouble grew out of a drunken party. We often wonder what would happen if we attacked this cause of death with the same energy that we have publicized the automobile. This reminds us that; "A cork screw never pulled anyone out of trouble."

"Too many folks have their wishbone where their backbone should be."

"When the whole wide world has gone to pot... And everything is on the bum;... A two-cent grin and a lifted chin... Helps some, my friend, helps some."

No matter how carefully you slice anything it is bound to have two sides. This goes for your side of an argument.

The Bible says that man can not live by bread alone, but a lot of folks try to get by on a good supply of crust.

People who think nothing of borrowing money, usually think less often of paying it back.

Whether a fellow winds up with a nest egg or a goose egg can will depend on the chicken he married. This can also work the other way round. But we remember a fellow who loaned money who would always check up on both members of the partnership before making a loan.

Preaching Salvation

"... That thou shouldst be for salvation unto the ends of the earth."
--Isaiah 49:6

The flight of Barnabas and Paul from Iconium to escape the stones of a mob is but one evidence of the fact that the Apostles risked their lives to preach the word of God.

The Apostles grew to expect rejection and persecution. Rejection made them work harder and they discovered that many would accept while others rejected.

Preaching salvation today is somewhat less hazardous. Yet the word of God is still rejected by many.

Modern day apostles are preaching salvation "unto the ends of the earth" . . . in the cities, towns and villages, in the remoteness of a far-off jungle. Everywhere the story is the same: some accept, others reject.

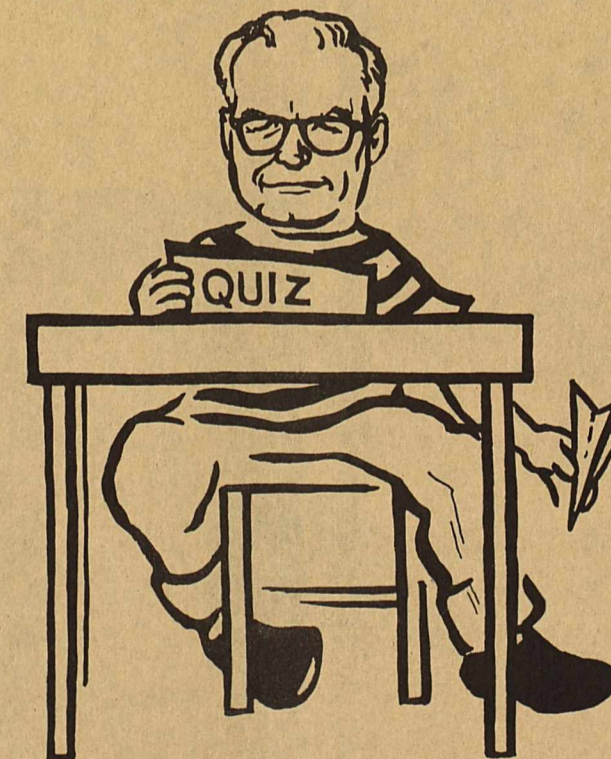

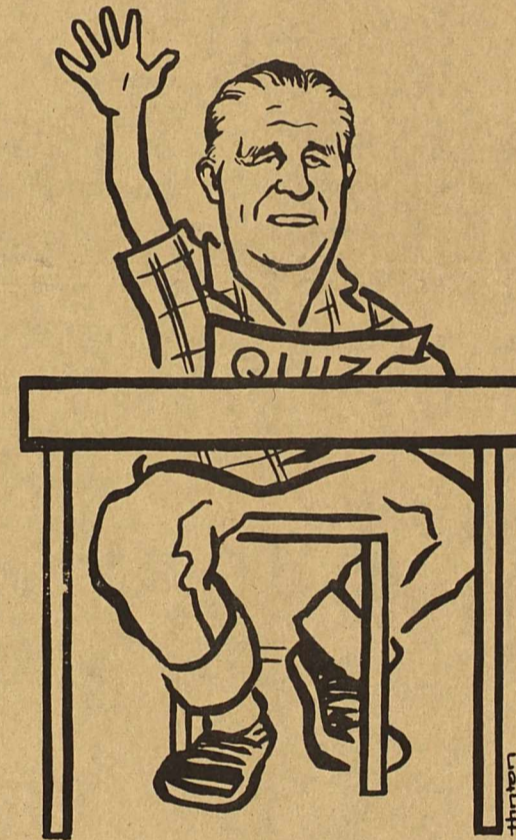

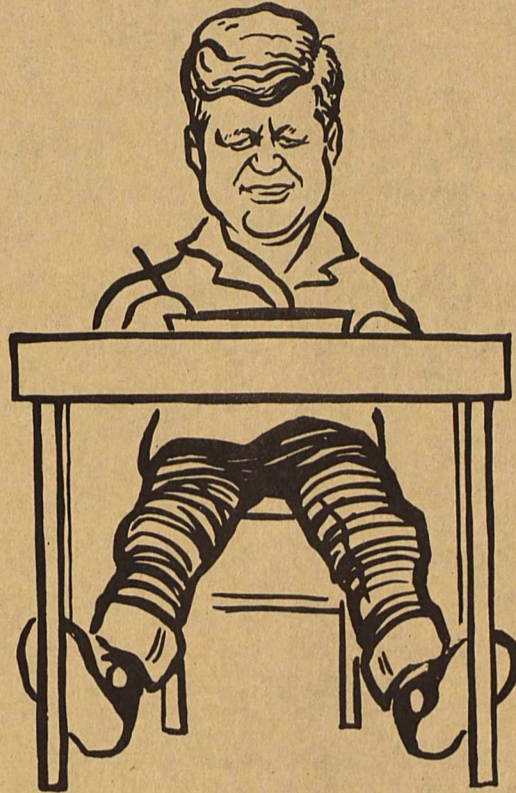

Christians, wherever they may be, can preach salvation, and do it effectively . . . by the manner in which they live, work and play.

Next year America will have a general election. Its result may decide the future for our children. Here is a questionnaire that should be put to the candidates of all parties. Each voter should also answer the questions for himself as an aid to casting his vote. At the bottom of the page will be found how to decide where each candidate and yourself stands in the fight for the future of America.

If your score is 180 or above you are, whether you know it or not, part of the Moral Re-Armament of America and the world.

If your score is between 100 and 180 you are, whether you know it or not, a security risk and liable to be used by the type of men who subvert and pervert the nation.

If your score is below 100 you are part of the decadence in this nation or America's conscious enemy.

Whatever the result of the coming election, we believe the party in power must make a main aim the re-creation of character in the home life, industrial life and political life of America. That is our urgent need and without it our energies will be drained by license and our liberty will be in danger. For that, example is better than exhortation. With Moral

Re-Armament, our energies will be redoubled, our productivity increased, our real greatness will be restored and our future will be assured. We want to see America governed by men governed by God. We want to see an America where honesty, purity, unselfishness and love are the normal for public men and the accepted standards of the whole nation.

Moral Re-Armament was not, is not and never will be pacifist. We want to see the fools who spread that lie begin to recognize the knaves who invented it, and understand their motives as betrayers and corrupters of our country.

Moral Re-Armament is the greatest battle of all time whereby men have sweated in peace and bled in war, and are ready to do the same again if necessary, to see God restored to leadership in this and every country.

Fashion briefs from Laura*

The fashion silhouette has reached a turning point! Instead of the expected angles in sheaths and full-bloomed skirts, casual gentle curves are predicted this season. Unlike the chemise and trapeze rage of yesteryear, this new "A" look has smooth, uncluttered lines... just hugging the figure ever so lightly.

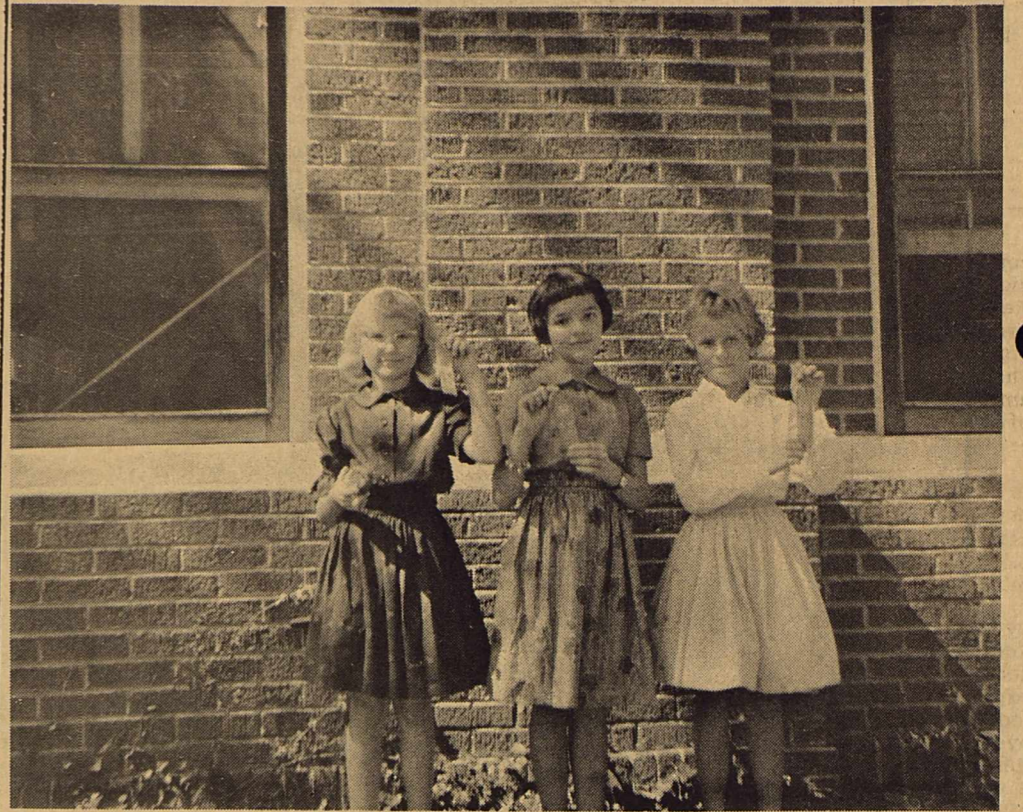

THE UNEXPECTED LOOK

Unexpected colors come into view, too! Yellow, for example, in a clear sunny shade is the "newiest," closely followed by corals and grassy green tones. Suntan shades, such as cognac, brandy and spicy brown, also win honorable mention in this year's fashion parade.

In answer to this year's Unexpected Look, Cutex recommends PERFECT PEACH for lips and fingertips. Truly a delicious shade, it is predominantly apricot, but "surprised" with a dash of spice. It humors fashion colors, compliments suntans and is as exciting as the new look of this year!

PERFECT PEACH is available at leading drug, grocery and variety stores everywhere.

How Does Thirteen Year Old 'Tell' Parents?

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am thirteen years old and may not be old enough to date quite yet, but I've been asked already. What I want to know is how do I tell my parents that I'm going out with a boy on a date for the first time?" OUR REPLY: You don't "tell" your parents, young lady—you "ask" them. And, you are right in thinking that maybe you are not yet old enough. You should begin by telling your you have schoolbooks and clothes, and a little spending money.

Your parents are charged with the responsibility of your welfare. The fact that you feel "old enough" or "smart enough" to do this and do that doesn't enter into the picture at all. Your parents are responsible for what you do and for what happens to you.

Most girls begin to think about dating when they reach their early teens. A good majority begin to consider their parents "old fashioned" and unreasonable about this same time. The truth is to the contrary.

The wise teenager will look for parental guidance, and appreciate it, rather than waste time with the foolish notion that there is some magic way to prove that a teenager is old enough and smart enough to make his or her own decisions without the help from anyone.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

Accent on Health

J. E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

With daytime temperatures consistently reaching into the high nineties over most of Texas, and with the prospect of even hotter temperatures during the weeks immediately ahead, there is every reason to anticipate a growing number of deaths from heat prostration or sunstroke.

The number of such deaths in Texas usually totals some 15 or 20 in any given year. Several heat connected deaths have already been registered this summer from various areas.

Heat exhaustion is caused by an inadequacy of the heat dissipating mechanism of the body. It occurs as a result of exposure to a hot, humid atmosphere such as is common over most of Texas during summer months. Sunstroke is a form of heat stroke, complicated by an absorption of radiant energy from the sun which causes a temperature rise in local body areas, such as the brain.

How do you avoid heat stroke? By doing what you can to keep heat loss and heat production in balance.

The wearing of loose, airy clothing is known by physiologists to be among the best means of maintaining the balance.

Elevations of body temperature will develop inevitably when tight clothing is worn because it prevents loss of body heat through conduction, radiation and evaporation of sweat. And this much is physiologically true: the body thermostat is so constructed that a fall in temperature is much harder to produce than is a rise.

Diet plays a part in maintaining a heat production-heat loss balance. Heavy meals are difficult to digest in hot weather. High protein foods should be de-emphasized and fruits and vegetables should be accented, unless a physician prescribes otherwise.

Body fluids lost through perspiration during a hot day must be replaced or painful stomach cramps will result. Fruit juices -- two or three glasses per day -- makes a pleasant way to make up the loss.

The body also loses salt through perspiration, so if work or exercise causes profuse sweating, salt tablets are called for to replace that lost. Salted nuts or crackers might be used for the same purpose.

Rest is important during hot weather.

It is smart to exercise moderately all year around. But it can easily be overdone in the summer. Common sense dictates that hard yard work or active sports should be confined to cooler parts of the day.

JURY DUTY SCORED

Jury duty is an experience everybody ought to have.

In a criminal case twelve jurors have a duty to do justice as each one sees it, and yet be unanimous. In most trials both sides have much to say, and the evidence is conflicting. The twelve jurors vary in their ability, temperament, character, education, and their experience in the world, and in the question at stake.

Yet a jury made up of both sexes, with wide age and educational differences, jobs and origins must all come up with the same verdict. Upon their verdict much depends -- the life or liberty of others, and the public good. So it may take them days of talking among themselves, all to agree.

Jury duty calls for insight, common sense, courage, tact, fair-mindedness, patience, (especially toward the jurors who disagree with you), good humor, tolerance, balance, willingness to hear others out and change one's mind, readiness to go over and over the facts to find something to bring agreement. In short, jury duty demands a "decent respect for the opinions" of others.

More and more women share civic duties, especially as jurors.

Time was in Texas when women could not serve on juries. They still cannot in four states.

A jury finds facts. It hears and weighs evidence and then comes to a verdict. It does not make the law -- the legislature does; and the judge "charges" or instructs the jury concerning the law applicable to the particular case it is considering.

The judge will tell you not to find the accused guilty until he is proved so under strict rules of evidence. If you have any "reasonable doubt," -- not imaginary or far fetched -- acquit the accused.

Civil cases do not demand a moral certainty, merely the "preponderance" of what you regard as reliable and believable evidence.

World Health Planners

These two MD's whose homelands in Africa and Latin America are continents apart were recently the moving forces in Geneva, Switzerland in the planning of a global health program for next year.

Presiding over an assembly of public health specialists from 120 nations that charted the World Health Organization's future programs was Dr. Moses Adekeye Majekodunmi, Nigeria's health minister -- the first assembly president elected from the newly independent African nations.

Here, Dr. M. G. Candau, Brazilian WHO chief, talks to him against a background of the WHO flag as the assembly recessed briefly. During the three-week session, Dr. Candau, world-wide health program administrator, won election to his third five-year term as WHO Director-General, beginning July 20.

To finance some 800 projects around the earth, the international experts hiked the 1964 health agency budget to $34 million, an increase of 7.5 per cent over this year's figure. Slightly more than $1.3 million, the largest sum allotted to a single project, goes to wipe out malaria, since 1955 a main aim of the health planners. WHO's global program is run through six regional offices. In the Americas, the office is the Pan American Sanitary Bureau Washington, D. C.

LUCKY WINNER --- Joe Curry won the saddle given at the final performance of this year's rodeo. Joe stated that it came pretty cheap as he had only invested four dollars. This is not to bad for a $250 saddle.

DO YOU KNOW YOUR ECONOMIC A B C'S?

Most Americans do not study economics yet the economic fluctuations taking place all around us daily have a direct affect on each of us. A new booklet titled "Do You Know Your Economic ABC's?", which may be obtained for twenty cents, a little less than the cost of a package of cigarettes, from the Commerce Department's Dallas Field Office, may be useful in opening the way to an exciting subject.

The booklet first explains "free enterprise". Business and industry have long recognized the need for people to understand how the American economy operates if they are to make informed judgements with respect to national policies and issues, and now educational authorities throughout the country are putting more emphasis on economics at the high school - and even at the grade school - level.

Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges stated, "In a world where every day brings new challenges and problems, no American can function intelligently as a citizen without some understanding of economics. So many of our problems seem to stem from economic matters that we all need to know at least a little about them."

Wherever we look, some of the most important events are economic. All of us are affected by recessions, by unemployment, by inflation. As voting citizens we are nagged by economic questions: What should we do about tariffs and trade and aid to developing countries? How can we assure jobs for the millions of Young Americans who will reach working age in this decade? Should we vote more money for schools?

Individuals have to answer these questions for themselves in a democracy; we don't want dictatorial men to make decisions for us. But how can we choose a course so the United States can grow and prosper if most of our people are, to put bluntly, apathetic where economics are concerned. The booklet is written in language which can be understood by nearly everyone and it can be read with profit by any person who wishes to be better informed on economic matters.

It explains in simple terms what is meant by the Gross National Product and how it reflects the basic forces which the daily decisions of our people help set in motion.

PLAN V B S

Fastest In Industry Combine Haul Away System To Speed Tractors

Ford Motor Company announced it has integrated tractors into its national automobile distribution system and now offers the quickest factory-to-customer delivery in the industry.

"We now provide delivery to industrial and agricultural customers within 10 days in rush situations and within 30 days under normal conditions," said Emery Dearborn, general operations manager of Ford's Tractor and Implement Operations.

Tractors are now taken from the company's Highland Park, Mich., tractor plant to its Wixom, Mich. automobile assembly plant where combination loads of tractors and cars then go by rail or truck to any of 39 distribution centers.

From these centers, tractors are delivered direct to dealers, eliminating the need for former stops at distributorships.

"Throughout the tractor industry, buyers normally can expect to wait up to 90 days for delivery from the factory while dealers and distributors accumulate sufficient orders to fill out rail cars or trucks in order to minimize shipping costs," Mr. Dearborn said. "Our tractors now are shipped daily -- fed immediately into the distribution system."

"Since Ford is the only tractor manufacturer with such a dis-

Texas' Kissin' Trees

Texas offers an added attraction to out-of-state tourists. An abundance of mistletoe seasonally is found growing among trees in both town and country.

This is a common site to Texans. But to many out-of-staters mistletoe is seen only at Christmas time . . . and then only in small bunches . . . bought at fairly high prices.

Mistletoe has a varied history. It was the instrument of death, in the form of an arrow, that was used to kill the Sun God, Balder, in Norse mythology. It also was known as a medical charm to Europeans who once carried it around for good luck, as well as a cure for ulcers, epilepsy and infertility.

But Texans and the rest of the nation seem to prefer the modern use for mistletoe — an excuse to kiss some fair lady.

Tour the Governor's Mansion

Near the entrance to the capitol grounds in Austin, you can see the white brick Governor's mansion standing just one block to the southwest.

As you approach the distinguished abode, with its well-kept lawn covering an entire block, you observe six huge Ionic columns prominently standing in front. These columns are made of cedar logs hauled from Bastrop, Texas, in 1856, when the mansion was built.

Upon entering the mansion, you see a spiral staircase rising at the back of the hall. Mounting the stairs you enter the mansion's most famous room — the Sam Houston Room.

Here you see the bed used by Sam Houston, the man who served Texas both as its President and as its Governor. In the same room you also will see the mahogany desk of Stephen F. Austin.

Of all the features of this great mansion, the Sam Houston Room is best remembered by its visitors.

Old Fort At Mexia

Mexia, a thriving little city in Central Texas, Limestone County, fast is becoming a business-minded, industrial center.

This is far removed from its history as an early oil-town.

You can imagine what happens when an oil strike abruptly changes a town of 4,000 into a town of 50,000. That's what happened to Mexia. But things are stable and settled now.

Another site, with a stormy history, still stands nearby though — Old Fort Parker.

The Parker's young daughter, Cynthia Ann, was kidnapped by the Comanche Indians. She lived with them nearly 24 years and became the mother of Quanah Parker, one of the most noted Comanche warrior leaders.

Cynthia was recaptured by the whites but never was happy. She died in 1864, four years after her return to live in the white man's world.

Houston Has Three

There are two good reasons why Houston is the only city west of the Mississippi with three independently-owned newspapers . . . namely The Chronicle, The Post and The Press.

First, Texas enjoys a truly free-enterprise economy where opportunity is unlimited, competition is strong, and the rewards of success can come to any who are willing to work hard.

Second, there just is more to write about in Texas than there is elsewhere.

Panhandle Oil Plentiful

There are many areas in Texas where you can see Texas' fabulous oil industry in action. An excellent spot is in the Texas Panhandle.

In the short, 23-mile trip between Pampa and Borger, you'll find most all phases of this huge petroleum industry.

There are hundreds and hundreds of wells, not to mention refineries, carbon black plants and other structures familiar to oil and gas production.

Seeing so many facets of this industry in such a small area enables one to more fully appreciate the great influence and benefit this industry has been to the Lone Star State.

Confederate Guns From East Texas

Eight miles west of Rusk, Texas, is the site of a former Confederate Gun Factory.

Built in 1862, the factory was unable to secure the materials and tools necessary to manufacture rifles. As an alternative it produced Colt-model pistols.

Now, all that stands is a marker that gives a unique postscript to the life of this Confederate gun factory.

"A number of Negroes were employed," says the marker.

Let It Not Happen Again

A unique title heads the memorial located some 23 miles northwest of Brownsville on U. S. Highway 281 at the southern tip of Texas.

A grim reminder of history, it serves notice to all Americans to be thankful for our blessings through times of world strife. And warns not to let history repeat itself.

Site is where Capt. Seth Thornton and 62 Dragoons were attacked by Mexican Troops.

The thought provoking title reads: "American Blood was Shed on American Soil".

Indian Hotel?

Forty miles northwest of Amarillo in Oldham County is a strange hotel — the Pueblo Indian ruins. Ruins are located at Saddleback Mountain near Old Tascosa on the Canadian River.

These old "hotel size" Indian ruins have 33 rooms at staggered levels.

Perhaps the forerunner of the multi-level homes of today, these hillside ruins have been a popular attraction for tourists since they were excavated in 1932.

From Ruby Schafer, Burbank, California: I remember the time when we didn't have so many words to deal with—with all the new-fangled ones now-a-days, it is hard for us old-timers to know what's cookin'. We had butter to eat and it was real cow butter. I also remember when white oleo was introduced, and later when we were sold a capsule of color and were expected to color the oleo to look like butter—and if it wasn't mixed thoroughly it was a mess. Also for shortening we had real home-rendered lard, except when we substituted butter. There were few canned goods on the grocer's shelf, and it was necessary for us to can and preserve in the summer time and to "fry down" the meats and pack them in lard for future use. We didn't know there was such a word or thing as a germ—we kids all drank from the same dipper at the "little red schoolhouse" and flourished on it. We didn't know there was such a thing as a calorie, to say nothing about counting them. We all had tasks to do—not the push-button kind—and we kept slim and trim. The Wrights had not flown at Kitty Hawk, Tin Lizzie had not made her showing; we used Old Dobbin and Shank's Mare to get where we were going. We weren't educated to fear this and that.

PLAN CARLSBAD DIAMOND JUBILEE

The fun, the festivity, the wonders of enchanting southeastern New Mexico will be wrapped up in a spectacular Diamond Jubilee birthday celebration at Carlsbad, New Mexico, August 4-10.

Each day will be a special one. Every day will sparkle with gala happenings from Carlsbad Caverns National Park.

There will be a dazzling professionally produced "under the Stars" dramatic entertainment, water shows by the world championship Cypress Gardens troupe, Indian dances, planetarium shows, arts and crafts shows, small amusements, and colorful parades. The dramatic spectacle will be New Mexico's biggest show this year. The script, the directing, the lighting, sound system and theatrical effects are all professional.

The nightly dramatic entertainment will have for its background the colorful three-flag New Mexico history which predates Plymouth Rock when the adventuresome Spanish conquistadores rode forth into the new country.

The amazing Carlsbad story with its daring empire builders and European financiers will be portrayed with humor, pathos, suspense with beautifully costumed dances and breathtaking staging. There will be the exciting ambush of cattle trail driver Oliver Loving at the bend of the Pecos River at Carlsbad; the turbulent territorial days; early day celebrations when the citizenry would set off fireworks at the drop of the hat; the discovery of Carlsbad Caverns; the flivver and flappers of the twenties; a simulated atomic bomb, and many other wonderful episodes. The spectacle will be a double feature since a tremendous fireworks show will follow each production. Carlsbad, long famous for its parades will ou do itself August 10. There will be a mule drawn trolley, replica of an 1890s train, horseless carriages, beautiful floats, prairie schooners, bands, dancing Indians, and mounted posies on horses by the hundreds. The streets will be decorated with bright pennants.

Demo Women Set Exhibition

Women of the Democratic Party in Texas will sponsor a State Citation Art Exhibition September 14 and 15 and will give scholarship and merit awards to the outstanding entries.

The exhibition will be held at the JAL Ranch in Alvarado and a $500 scholarship award to be used for advanced study in any of the visual arts will be presented by Governor John Connally on behalf of the women of Texas' Democratic Party.

Elimination contests will be held during August in each of the 31 senatorial districts in Texas under the direction of the State Democratic committee women representing the districts.

"The purpose of this competition is to encourage young people to become more aware of the tradition of the great heritage of Texas. The women of the Democratic Party of Texas are sponsoring this exhibit and competition in accordance with Governor Connally's emphasis on excellence in education," said Mrs. Alfred Negley, vice-chairman of the SDEC.

Mrs. Negley said the Democratic women selected to initiate the contest in May as it is the birth month of the Democratic Party. "At this time we are emphasizing a program to give credit and help to one of our most valuable resources—talent, which is, and will be an asset to our state and nation" he said.

All entries must have been executed within the past two years and must be accompanied by a sketch evidencing ability in subjective delineation. Work done under supervision is not eligible.

Media to be considered are oils, pastels, tempera, casein, water color, drawings in pen and ink, pencil or charcoal, and mixed media.

The scholarship division of the judging is open to high school students from the 9th through the twelfth grades, including 1963 graduates.

Each district may submit its four top entries to be judged in the scholarship award division and its two top entries for judging in the merit division at the state level. The state jury will consist of three recognized critics of the visual arts.

Elimination contest for District 28 which includes Andrews, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Gaines, Hockley, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Terry, and Yoakum counties is scheduled for August 30th in Brownfield. All entries will be on exhibit at the Brownfield Savings and Loan Assn., 201 W. Broadway, on this date.

Entry blanks and further details may be obtained by writing Mrs. Howard Hurd, 1008 E. Tate, Brownfield.
