

Convalescent Home Construction to Begin

MOORE
or Less

by Johnnie Moore

There has been some question and quite differing opinions concerning the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty. Approaching this subject are letters from two of Texas' upper-most citizens. The first one is from Senator Ralph W. Yarborough.

Dear Fellow Texan:
The nuclear test ban treaty initiated by the United States, the United Kingdom, and the Soviet Union must be viewed with cautious optimism at this time, but may well go down as one of the most significant acts of benefit to mankind in the history of the human race.

In his stirring address to the nation, President Kennedy said:

"A war today or tomorrow, if it led to nuclear war, would not be like any war in history. A full-scale nuclear exchange, lasting less than sixty minutes, with the weapons now in existence, could wipe out more than 300 Millions Americans, Europeans, and Russians, as well as untold numbers elsewhere. Chairman Khrushchev warned the Communist Chinese, would envy the dead. For they would inherit a world so devastated by the explosions and poison and fire that today we cannot even conceive of all of its horrors. So let us make the most of this opportunity, to reduce tension, to slow down the perilous arms race, and to check the world's slide to final annihilation."

With nuclear tests we have polluted the air we breathe, the water we drink, the food we eat, so that we are reaping malignancies, leukemia, malformations of children yet unborn, and other deadly effects from this whirlwind.

I realize there are great dangers in a treaty with the Soviet Union which has a record of breaking treaties. But today we have means of detecting the tests covered by this treaty. This treaty covers tests in the air, underwater, and in space. It leaves each side free to continue underground tests where they are hard to detect anyway, but where they can be made without polluting the air, the soil and the water.

The President has expressed a sense of urgency. A sense of urgency is also felt in the heart of every mother who realizes that more and more poisons are being spewed into the air by nuclear explosions. Clearly this treaty must also be viewed and acted upon with equal urgency.

In a world of 2.8 Billion people where almost two thirds do not get enough to eat, containing areas where education or even the barest of decent living conditions are virtually unknown; where there is hardship, poverty, disease and death, this treaty is a step toward realization of a society at peace which may fulfill the prayers of mankind. Think what could be done

Taking shape very rapidly this week have been the plans and their progress toward getting a convalescent home for Plains.

According to Chamber of Commerce President, Don Hancock, the ground work laid by those who have been working hard toward completion of the preparations for getting the home, have come to fulfillment within the last very few days, Hancock went to say that very large portion of the credit for seeing a most difficult job through to its near completion should go to Mr. D. C. Newsom, Sr., who originally began talking about and seeking support for such an undertaking.

A Chamber spokesman said that realization of the hopes for a nursing home here were brought much nearer when, a few days ago, a track of land lying between Mac's Plumbing was sold to the Chamber of Commerce at what was described as "a more than reasonable price" by Mr. A. E. (Dick) McGinty.

Mr. Melvin Smith of Lubbock, who is also presently engaged in building a similar home in Morton.

The home here is to have a thirty bed capacity, and is to be built in the form of a T and will be of brick construction.

Ground breaking ceremonies were held on the plot of ground on Tuesday of this week, and the construction is expected to begin within the next very few days.

Hancock stated that the next immediate step would be to issue a Title Binder to the financial institution which is to finance Smith in the venture. He also stated that he planned to meet with the city council tonight to request that the alley bisecting the property be formerly and legally abandoned.

Many local businessmen are describing the acquisition of the home here as a very fine addition to Plains, and many have pointed out that it actually amounts to Plains getting a new and large business which is needed and will employ several people who will be, it has been stated, as far as is possible, hired locally.

for mankind if we could divert at some future date the great amounts of money, manpower and leadership going into the development of nuclear weapons and turn them instead to peaceful uses, one of which might be to offset the great expense in the exploration of space.

This treaty is but a small step. Its importance must not now be over-rated, but it is a golden opportunity that must not be allowed to pass. As the Beaumont Enterprise wrote in an editorial, "The world looks brighter today..." Fellow Texan, we have within our grasp the opportunity for a brighter tomorrow.

A slightly offering opinion is expressed in the following letter from Senator John G. Tower:

The attention this week in Washington focuses on the attempt of the Administration to secure the ratification of the Test Ban Agreement with the Soviet Union, which was initiated in Moscow last week by the United States, the United Kingdom of Great Britain, and the Soviet Union. Some of you are probably aware that I have already voiced my opposition to the so-called Nuclear Test Ban Treaty. I have arrived at my position after thinking this thing out carefully, after thoroughly studying the treaty and considering all the implications. For this nuclear test ban arrangement between the United States and Great Britain and Russia to become effective, it must secure the ratification of 2/3 of those present and voting in the (See Page 4)

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION-- of what the thirty bed convalescent home which is about to be begun in Plains will look like after it is completed. The home is to be built of brick just up the hill south of the Stanford Park. Construction is expected to begin within the next very few days.

Construction Worker Shot Three Times

Alvin James Hicks walked commonly into the Yoakum County Sheriff's office here last Monday morning at about 7:00 a.m., and stated to Deputy Olan Heath, "I just shot a man three times." Heath reports that he asked Hicks if he killed him and that Hicks answered, "No, but I think he'll die."

Investigation by Heath disclosed that the man shot was L. E. Lambert of Levelland, Texas, who, up until Friday had been an employee of the Stafford Construction Co. which is at present repaving and widening farm road 2196 fifteen miles east of Plains. Hicks is former of the job.

Hicks stated to officers that he had fired Lambert on Friday because of quite a bit of trouble he had with him. He stated further that Lambert, with his son returned to the construction site a little after six a.m. on Monday morning and insisted that he be allowed to continue working. Hicks said that when told Lambert that he wasn't coming back to work that he, Lambert, swung on him, Hicks, whereupon Hicks reported he shot him.

Hicks said that he shot him three times, but reports are that only two bullets entered Lambert's body, one in the chest and one in the stomach. Lambert was reported to be in "satisfactory condition" at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, where he was taken by ambulance from Hockley County Hospital in Levelland, where he received first aid treatment before being sent to Lubbock.

The shooting, which occurred on FM Road 2196 1 mile south of its intersection with FM Road 1780, at about 6:20 a.m., was done with a .25 calibre hand gun. After giving a formal statement to Yoakum County Attorney, Vernon Townes, Hicks was charged with assault with intent to murder, and his bond was set at $3,000, which was made by his employer, Henry L. Stafford of Lubbock.

Hicks has been living in Plains at the Plains Courts with his wife for the past several weeks.

men in this area who have worked long and hard to make the idea a reality. The ribbon cutting, date for which has been announced, will be held west of Plains on the New Mexico state line. It will not be held however until the "U. S. Highway 82" markers have been placed. Attending the first planning session in Artesia were representatives from Lovington, Brownfield, Alamogordo, Maljamar, Hope, Plains, Artesia and Cloudcroft. Forming the committee to plan the event are T. E. Brown Sr., chairman, Artesia; Arlie Lowrimore, Brownfield; John Mersho, Cloudcroft; Bruce Pederson, Alamogordo; and Bill Loyd, Plains.

Water District Need Cited

A definite move toward the very possible formation of a water district for this area has been very definitely begun in Gaines County, and is rapidly finding much favor here in Yoakum County.

The proposed district, with powers to regulate water well spacing and production from underground supplies, may also include portions of Terry, Dawson, and Andrews Counties.

The impetus for the move was brought about when it developed that a huge oil field secondary recovery project in southwest Gaines County is about to be started and will require an estimated 7,000,000 gallons of fresh water each day for a period of two years.

Officials of the Gaines County and Yoakum County water associations said they readily recognize the right of private ownership where the heavy use of water for oil field flooding is concerned. They also, however, expressed a very real concern that such heavy use projects might very well expand greatly in our area, and could deminish our underground water supplies to the great detriment of our cities, towns and agricultural industry.

It is for the protection of our most valuable natural resource that the move is being made to form a water district.

Mr. Rod Duff, chairman of the Yoakum County Water Conservation Association, stated that no one is as concerned about protecting our supply as we who actually live here.

A petition is, at present, being circulated in Gaines County in an effort to get the Texas Water Board to come to this area and delineate an area which would be geographically logical as a water district, which would doubt-

BOARD HIRES TWO NEW TEACHERS

Announcement was made earlier this week by Mr. G. D. Kennedy, superintendent of Plains Schools, that the Board of Trustees here has hired two new teachers for the coming term.

Mr. Jack Cobb of Plains, whose wife is presently teaching in the third grade here, has been hired to teach in the fifth grade.

Mr. Calvin Helm, who has already moved to Plains with his wife and two children, has been hired to replace Mr. Jerry Stockton as Vocational Agricultural Instructor.

Helm moved here from Fluvanna where he had been teaching Vo-Ag. No official announcement has yet been made in regard to a new assistant coach, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Jack Pierce

Explain Federal Highway Designation

(Editor's note): Mr. Bill Loyd, president of Plains State Bank is one of the directors of the Highway 82 Association. Loyd has reported to us that leading up to and following the recent designation of the now existing highway from Lubbock through Plains to Lovington and beyond, as a Federal Highway has caused much comment of a mistaken variety.

He stated that he receives many phone calls from very concerned local citizens with such queries as, "Why in the world are you and our local Chamber of Commerce trying so hard to get this highway through here when it will probably be built around Plains and will kill our town?"

Other questions have been concerning the projected date when construction will actually begin on the new road.

Loyd asked that The Record attempt to explain that the premises of the questions are based on a misunderstanding. The fact is, as explained by Loyd, no new construction is or probably will be planned for any time in the foreseeable future. The designation is quite simply just a designation and nothing more. The immediate results of the designation will be nothing more than the changing on all road maps of the number of the highway to U. S. Highway 82 and changing the color of the line on the map from blue to red, thereby designating the highway as a primary one instead of a secondary road.

It simply means that a very good coast-to-coast route for cross-country travelers will now be pointed out on all road maps.

Further concerning the Federal designation, it was announced that a committee has been appointed to make plans for a ribbon cutting to mark U. S. Highway 82 becoming a major link in east-west travel, and to honor the What's In A Name?

A man often is said to be only as good as his name. This probably came from the practice of men verbally binding themselves in agreements with others on the strength of their "good name".

Texas history records at least one man who proved himself to be even better than his name. For this man changed his name.

He changed his name from Otfried Hans Freiherr Von Meusebach so that he could become a citizen of Texas under the name of John O. Meusebach.

Even in light of the history of innumerable broken treaties between the Indians and the white settlers, the treaty of peace between twenty Comanche Chiefs and Meusebach, representing the German Colonists, was never breached.

This 1847 Treaty is memorialized by a marker on U. S. Highway 190 about 15 miles west of the Central Texas town of San Saba.

Hatfields vs McCoy's — Texas Style

'Tis not only the mountain boys who have their feuds. Texans have had their share too.

Between 1841 and 1844 there was great loss of both life and property of warring factions around the town of Shelbyville, in Central East Texas near the Louisiana border.

End of this long and destructive, unorganized feud, known as the Regulator-Moderator War, came when the President of the Republic of Texas, Sam Houston, sent Texas forces under the command of General James Smith to restore order.

After such a long feud, it is surprising to note that General Smith ended the hostilities without ever having to fire a single shot.

Coffee Mill Church

Texas is well known for its German settlements. Of all the German settlements, the town of Fredericksburg in Central Texas perhaps has been the most frequented by tourists.

If you stumbled into Fredericksburg by accident it wouldn't take long for you to learn that you were in a German-styled, German populated township.

Sights along its long, wide main street are varied and many. Perhaps best known is the Vereins Kirche. It is called the "Coffee Mill Church" because of its octagonal shape.

A trip to Fredericksburg often is referred to as "the poor man's answer to a trip abroad."

Brazoria Was Birthplace

Brazoria County, located on the Gulf Coast in Central South Texas, is termed as "Birthplace of the Texas Republic."

COWBOY BAND IN ABILENE

Announced this week by Mr. Gene Young, were the facts about the band school next week.

All arrangements have been made at McMurray College in Abilene. Air-conditioned dormitory and an air conditioned auditorium in which to work are among these.

Band members should plan to be at the band hall Aug. 11, at 1:00 p. m. In order to load instruments, pack and get off by 1:30. There will hours to get into the show. It was a show about "The Miracle Worker." I thought it was right appropriate, seeings as how a miracle had happened to her.

Yes sir, it thrilled my heart to see what I saw. I oughta have a packed house next Sunday, with all my sick folks being healed and my shut-ins being set free. I just hope they don't overs themselves before next Sunday and have a relapse. I've gotta go now, Mr. Publisher, and play with my smallest youngun. We're gonna play farming. He's supposed to play the farmer and I'm gonna play the goat. Tin cans will be easy to cat after what I've swallowed. See you later, far behind the rest of the band because films of other bands and many other aids will be used in Abilene, which will not be available here.

GREETER . . . Carol Soroka, 19-year-old secretary from Long Beach, California, is official greeter for International Beauty Congress pageant in her home town, August 12-16.

It was here, in 1836, that the first Texas Capitol was constructed alongside some of the giant oak trees that abound in West Columbia. The first Texas Congress was held in this building. Back of the capitol building was the home of Judge G. B. McKinstry. This was where Stephen F. Austin lived. Austin died in 1836, the same year the capitol was built.

Run Down—To Marlin

Feeling run down? Marlin, Texas, may be your answer.

Health-seekers or those just wanting to feel pepped-up flock to the Central Texas city of Marlin in Falls County. There they find mineral baths, a $6,000,000 V.A. Hospital and two private clinics.

This health center is well noted for its high ratio of doctors to patients.

Marlin's artesian wells first sprang forth when a driller, hired by the town to dig a municipal well, struck a gusher of steaming water. This water ran as hot as 147° and had a distinct taste.

Though at first disgusted, the town finally realized the importance of this gusher. Marlin soon became a mecca for the ill. Today this everlasting spring, that flows 380,000 gallons a day, is the world's deepest hot mineral water supply.

Why not make your next vacation a real vacation for health . . . and visit Marlin?

Tex-Ark-Ana, 3 in 1

Called "The Pleasure Crossroads of the Gulf Southwest" it's officially named Texarkana, Texas.

Texarkana lies right on the Texas-Arkansas border. But it derives its name from three states—TEXAS, ARKANSAS and LOUISIANA. It might well have added a fourth state in its name, as it's located just 26 miles south of the Oklahoma border too.

Texarkana is truly a composite of four states and is the great recreational center for the Northeast Texas area.

San Antonio's Little City

San Antonio's earliest residential settlement has been restored.

Back in 1722 it housed the soldiers attached to Mission San Antonio de Valero—better known as the Alamo. Mexican General Cos surrendered there after the Texans captured San Antonio in 1835.

The little settlement to which we refer is La Villita, the "Little City." It is located in the heart of San Antonio.

The Arneson River Theater, where the audience is separated from the stage by the beautiful San Antonio River, is located in the "Little City."

This little Mexican Village should be on your "must see" list for your next trip Santone way.

A Fitting Name

Never was a town so rightly named as Rosebud, Texas. In every yard of this little Central Texas town in Falls County there grows at least one rose bush.

Hearts were ruffed three times, the third round ruffed in the dummy, thus setting up the ten in the closed hand. South then led another low spade and put West in, thus losing only one spade trick to make the doubled contract.

Announcement was made by Yoakum County Commissioners Court that the budget hearing for the 1964 budget has been set for 10 p. m. on September 3, in the court house in Plains.

In their August 5 meeting the Commissioners attended to mostly routine business, with the exception that they made application from the Texas Highway Department for $12,712.12 for lateral road fund purposes.

PLAINS, TEXAS

From Parson Jones

Dear Mr. Publisher:

Attendance at Church last was mighty porely. Instead of checking to see who was absent I just counted them that was present. . . I could do that without my adding machine. Course, this is just the beginning. Now that Summer's here we won't have no seating problem. The janitor has twice as much dusting to do this time of year, when there aint no britches sliding on the pews.

I don't reckon I oughta grumble cause I had a bunch of sick members and when you add that to all my shut-ins we don't have a site of pew fillers left. So, Mr. Publisher I went ahead and preached to what I had. The madam says got along pretty good, only thing was, the echo hurt her ears awful bad. It made my head roar too. All through my chicken dinner I kept hearing that racket. Once when I bit into a chicken leg it sounded like the critter hollered.

My madam said I needed to get out and ride around awhile and let the fresh air clear my head. It done the trick. Our little ride not only cleared my head, it made feel right good inside. What I saw made me rejoice. I saw miracle after miracle.

Ole Hezekiah who had been deathly sick that very mornin had roused up and was riding down the highway with his fishing poles. Now, Mr. Publisher, nothing but a miracle coulda rescued ole Hez from the jaws of death in such a short time.

Now there was Rufe's brother, Rufe told me Sunday morning that his brother's back was in such a foul shape that they was afraid a operation was gonna be necessary. Well sir, we remembered him in our prayers and lo and behold at 2 o'clock there he stood hitting golf balls at the driving range. If that wasn't a quick recovery, I don't know what is. The way he was able to hit them balls he shore oughta be thankful for his miraculas recovery.

All told, about 20 of my sick folks had roused up and was taking nourishment in one form or another. But what really made me happy was to see so many of my "Shut-ins" out riding around and enjoying the world. Hezekiah's paw, who don't attend Church cause he can't stand crowds, was headed for the drag races.

Sister Nell's mama, who was too weak to get outa the house, was in town window shopping. Ellie Nickesinger's sister, who can't come on account a her kidneys, stood in line two hours to get into the show. It was a show about "The Miracle Worker." I thought it was right appropriate, seeings as how a miracle had happened to her.

Yes sir, it thrilled my heart to see what I saw. I oughta have a packed house next Sunday, with all my sick folks being healed and my shut-ins being set free. Set Donkey Softball Game Plains Roping Arena will be the site for a quite a sight on Friday evening, August 9. That evening has been reserved for probably one of the most unusual and unlikely sports events ever to hit Plains. At 7:30 that evening the Plains Lions Club will take on the local Young Farmers Chapter in a game of soft ball. One slightly unique feature of the game will be that all players will be mounted on the backs of the contrariest and honestest bunch of donkeys ever to go on a playing field. The event is being sponsored by the Lions Club and proceeds are earmarked for the Lions Den - Scout Hut building fund. Admission prices have been set at 50 cents and $1.

Advice on Irrigation

Decision time is here for the irrigation farmer who has more acres to water than his wells will water properly. The big question is ---should we water fewer acres properly for the top production, or, cover more acres and get less production per acre?

Through information gathered over a number of years we have found our soils here holds 1.2 inches of water per foot. The root system of plants grows to approximately 5 feet, which means in 5 feet of soil we have 6 inches of water. It has also been proven that when more than 50% of the moisture has been used the plant begins to suffer. This being true, we have 3 inches of useable moisture in 5 feet of soil, also, we have found that during the peak growing season in July and August cotton uses .25 inches per day from the soil. Grass and tall feeds, like forage sorghams use, 30 inches per day, this means we have enough storage of water to maintain our crops for 12 days. If we use 3 inches in 12 days we must replace 3 inches every 12 days. To do this we will have to apply 4 1/2 inches per application figuring that 70% of the water returns to the soil giving us 3.15 net water.

The Soil Conservation Service believes that we can get more return from our water by using good irrigation water management than by spreading water over to many acres and losing production.

The soils in Yoakum Soil Conservation District can take water at the rate of .6 inches to .7 inches per hour.

Do you know how much water your system is putting out per hour? How many inches are you applying to each setting? If not, you Soil Conservation Service has the necessary equipment to test your sprinkler system, and you can know what kind of watering you are doing.

From Ruby Schafer, Burbank, Calif.: Sometimes there was a party or dance on week ends, but we were home before midnight at the latest. And sleep! Most of the week days we went to bed with the chickens --- not literally, but early, and got up at the rooster's first crow, ready and willing to carry on the day's work. If we had known there were such things as sleeping pills, we'd have laughed them right out of the window. We learned the many things we knew from our parents by word or example, and obeyed them when they spoke. In those days we didn't tell our folks where to "head in"---I wonder what would have happened if we had---but we didn't and it didn't.

"GIMME A HAMBURGER." Ancient Spells to Modern Science.

"Ha! ye any corns on your feet or toes?" With this cry, the itinerant corn-cutter plied his trade in the streets of Elizabethan England.

Although foot ailments have plagued man throughout history, and fully 80 per cent of our population at one time or another suffers from corns or calluses, no scientific treatment of foot problems was available until the turn of the century.

What exactly is a corn? "When there is unequal pressure on certain parts of the feet," explains William O. Elson, medical research director for Bauer & Black, manufacturers of Blue Jay foot products, "the body, in self defense, sends more blood to these afflicted areas. The added nutrition builds up new cells faster than the skin can throw them off.

"The result is a tough, horny substance known as 'keratin' in the form of a cone-shaped plug or corn, or a thick layer of skin which we call a callus."

Plasters and Spell-Casters
 The battle with corns stretches to ancient Greek times. Hikesios of Smyrna writes that he prepared what was probably the first corn plaster in about 100 B.C.

But apparently this noble art died aborning, since a Roman scholar, Marcus Terentius Varro (116-27 B.C.) urges the following spell as a remedy --- "Touch the earth, spit downward and repeat 27 times: 'O Earth, keep the pain, and health with me remain, in my feet'". A thousand years later, in the heyday of witchcraft, even more potent curses were the vogue. Albert Magnus, a German sage, recommends the following cure for use "when a person desires to remove a corn."

"When they bury an old man and the funeral bells are ringing, the following should be spoken: 'They are sounding the funeral bell. And what I grasp

United States Senate at the time the issue is submitted for ratification.

It looks, at this point, like a treaty probably will be ratified by the Senate, but there will be a substantial and vocal minority in the Senate that that will oppose the ratification of this Test Ban Agreement. This Test Ban Treaty provides that the United States, Great Britain, and the Soviet Union would refrain from any nuclear testing in the atmosphere and space and under water. The only thing that is accepted is under ground testing that can continue under the terms of this treaty. I question whether we should have such a treaty at this time, because I am not sure the relative posture for the United States and the Soviet Union in the field of nuclear weaponry is such that it is to our advantage to sign this treaty. As a matter of fact, there is heavy evidence, the weight of military and scientific opinion is, that we should continue testing, and that the Russians may be ahead of us in the development of an anti-missile missile.

For example, they are ahead of us in terms of high yield weapons. We cannot catch up unless we have the opportunity to test in the atmosphere. It would appear that perhaps we are ahead of them in the development of so-called tactical weapons which can be tested through underground explosions, so it would appear that we might be freezing ourselves into an unfavorable position relative to the Soviet Union, by accepting this Test Ban Agreement. Of course, we know that the Russians very rarely live up to their commitments. They have broken most of their major agreements with the United States and her Allies from the time of the old Litvinov Agreement back in 1933, the time when we extend recognition to the Soviet Union on up through Yalta, through Potsdam, through the recent accord on Laos, so we know that the Russians have a long history of not living up to the agreements they make. Certainly we can see what has happened in Berlin. The wall of shame there was erected quite contrary to the four power agreements on Berlin. So, we have no assurance that the Russians keep their word. As a matter of fact, they could prepare for testing and then break the treaty by testing and we would not be ready to test ourselves, and they might get a substantial lead on us as a result.

The President Himself, noted that preparation would take some time, and that any Test Ban Agreement should provide for inspection in regard to preparation. As a matter of fact, in February of 1962, he said we would sign an agreement that provided for adequate inspection in regard to preparations as well as testing. He further said, "We cannot take less." Now the President has reversed his position, and apparently the Administration regards this as the first step in making new accords with the Soviet Union, perhaps a non-aggression pact, perhaps a disarmament pact.

Unfortunately, I am afraid that the whole thing is a cruel deception. It creates a false sense of security on the part of people throughout the world as to what Soviet intentions are, and I intend to vote against the ratification of this Test Ban Treaty.

False Worship

"Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve."
—Deuteronomy 8:3

Modern man does not worship idols of clay or bronze.

Yet, we do not fulfill the requirements of Christianity merely because we say, "I believe..." and because we attend church services at least once each week.

Is it true, as so often said, that the present generation places too much importance upon the "material" things of life? There is nothing wrong with wanting to live in a "better" house, drive a "newer" car, dress well, etc.—so long as the "wanting" and "seeking" of these things are kept in proper perspective and not allowed to become more important than anything else in the world.

Being a Christian demands more than mere recognition of the fact there is but one God. We must "serve" God in whatever manner we can—then turn our thoughts to serving ourselves.

Engagement Announced

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Judy Freeman to Ronald Stockstill of the U. S. Marine Corps is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Freeman of Denver City.

Pfc Stockstill's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stockstill of Forsan, Texas, formerly of Plains. Mr. Stockstill is superintendent of schools in Forsan, and prior to moving there was principal of the Plains Jr. High School.

The wedding has been planned for the latter part of August, date dependent on his arrival here on leave from San Diego, California. Vows will be exchanged at First Methodist Church in Denver City. The bride-elect is a graduate this past spring of Denver City High School, where she was a cheerleader and member of the band. She plans to enroll September 9 in the Licensed Vocational Nursing School in Lubbock, which includes a full year of training.

Pfc Stockstill is a graduate of the Plains High School and attended Sul Ross College at Alpine before joining the Marine Corps two years ago. He is stationed aboard the USS Bon Homme Richard, and at conclusion of his leave is scheduled to report back to San Diego for sea duty. His tenure in service will be completed in a year.

AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHY CLUE TO SALT CONTENT

Aerial photography may soon provide farmers and researchers with a simple, rapid method of determining the extent of salt accumulation in cotton fields, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The saltiness of cotton fields, to a depth of four feet, can be recorded in photos made with aerial infrared film and a dark-red filter, according to preliminary studies by the USDA's Agricultural Research Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Previously used methods, though accurate, were time consuming and required laboratory testing of a large number of soil samples, the report continues.

By early identification of the salt-damaged soils farmers could reclaim land in time to prevent heavy losses in yields. This system should be especially important in the unirrigated portions of the Rio Grande Valley, says the USDA.

The method is based on the fact that the leaves of healthy plants reflect most of the light in the infrared part of the light spectrum. Also, cotton plants show symptoms of moisture stress in direct proportion to the amount of salt accumulation in the root zone. Therefore, the laboratory experiments showed that leaves from healthy plants reflect the most light while leaves from salt affected plants reflect less.

The USDA explains that aerial photos would thus show unaffected cotton as white salt affected cotton would appear progressively darker with higher concentrations of salt.

diversion and the non-loan part of price support will again be made in the form of negotiable certificates. The sign-up period for both fall and spring sown crops is expected to be early in 1964.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McClellan and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hunter are vacationing in Colorado this week.

Cotton Defoliation Guides Available

Getting the Texas cotton crop ready for machine picking or stripping is no small operation. Last year 77 percent of the state's crop was harvested by mechanical means and the use of defoliants or desiccants reached an all time high, reports Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist.

To emphasize the importance of this phase of cotton production, Elliott said that in 1945 only 2,000 farms in 50 Texas counties used these harvest aids. In 1962 they were used on 82,219 farms in 164 counties and on 4,750,000 acres of cotton at a cost of more than $17 million.

In order for cotton producers to have the latest information on the recommended harvest aid chemicals, Elliott has recently released the 1963 "Cotton Defoliation Guide for Texas." Copies of the leaflet are available from the offices of local county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station.

printed on the chemical containers and offers other hints on harvesting cotton for the best yields and quality.

He suggests a visit with the local county agent for detailed information on other cotton production problems and for a copy of the guide, L-145.

In the guide, Elliott has listed the recommended defoliants and desiccants along with their chemical and trade names and the amounts of each which should be used per acre. Both dusts and sprays are included. In addition, he has included important information on many aspects of the harvest aid program. He especially calls attention to the need for following the instructions

70 mi. Speed Limit Effective Aug. 23

More than two-thirds of the Texas highway system will come under the new 70-miles-per-hour daytime maximum speed for passenger cars which becomes effective August 23, the Texas Highway Commission revealed today.

Under the speed control law passed by the Legislature this spring, all highways not zoned down by the Commission will automatically go to the new 70-mph speed August 23. This means that some 41,500 miles of the state-maintained highway system will be allowed to come under the higher maximum speed.

The Commission today passed a Minute Order which zoned some 18,640 miles of the highway system at a maximum of 60 miles per hour daytime and 55 miles per hour at night for passenger cars, effective August 23. These highways will be restricted to the lower speed limit because engineering studies indicate they are inadequate to accommodate a 70-miles-per-hour maximum.

The Commission's action followed a series of engineering studies conducted throughout the state by the Highway Department's 25 highway districts.

A large percentage of Texas' vast Farm to Market Road System will come under the 70-mph maximum, although some of these roads (and some of the older primary routes) will be restricted to the lower 60-mph maximum where conditions warrant.

1964 Feed-Grain Program Told

Major provisions of the 1964 Feed Grain Program have been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and basically will be the same as in 1963.

The major change is an increase in the top limit on diversion from a farm's base acreage with an increase in the rate of payment for maximum diversion. This, the USDA said, is intended to encourage producers to divert additional feed grain acres and to increase their income. Under the 1964 program a producer may divert as much as 50 percent of his feed grain base acreage compared with a top of 40 percent in 1963. Those who divert from 40 to 50 percent will receive diversion payments at the maximum rate for all acres diverted. As before, the maximum acreage diversion will be 25 acres if this is more than 50 percent of the base. Producers who divert at least 20 percent of their feed grain base will be eligible for payments computed by multiplying the number of acres diverted times 20 percent of the normal yield times the county total price support rate for the grain diverted. For acres diverted between 20 and 40 percent of the base, payments will be based on 50 percent of the normal yield times the total county support rate. A diversion from the base between 40 and 50 percent (or 25 acres if this is larger) will earn payments for the producer of 50 percent times the normal yield times the total county support rate. Payments may not exceed 20 percent of the value of the land diverted.

The total national average price - support levels in 1964 will be the same as in 1963, but a slightly larger proportion of the support will be made available through loans. Payments - in - kind for both

ADVICE TO HAY FEVER VICTIMS

Aaaaaachooooo!" Here comes the hay fever season!

If you're one of the several million in this country who have annual bouts with hay fever, or other millions who undergo severe asthma attacks during the hay fever season, watch out, says Today's Health the magazine of the American Medical Association. It's rough sledding ahead.

From the middle of August through mid-September, those sensitive to ragweed pollen suffer their most agonizing time. That's when the ragweed pollen count is highest. Hay fever is not caused by hay and it isn't a fever.

Hay fever is an allergy. Your body becomes sensitive to a foreign substance. This can be almost anything for various individuals, but is most likely to be ragweed pollen. The results also vary, but most commonly are sneezing, watery eyes, runny nose and general miserable discomfort. Tolerance to pollens sometimes can be built up by injecting a dilute solution of them under the skin. These shots must be medically prescribed to meet individual needs. In some cases your doctor may prescribe one of the antihistamines for temporary relief.

The most common preventive measures against hay fever are:

- Get specific anti-hay fever shots well ahead of the season.
- Avoid exposure to ragweed pollen by keeping away from areas where it is prevalent.
- Air condition the home and work in air-conditioned surroundings, if possible.
- Antihistaminic drugs to lessen the nasal and sinus congestion.
- Keep the home as dust free as possible during the height of the hay fever season and throughout the rest of the year.

across the autumn twilight. I confess to a boyish delight of memory as I recall the sight now seldom known.

Would you say the wild geese have the right to wing their way overhead, undisturbed, because their ancestors have done that from time immemorial? Certainly not. Who has the right on the continent of North America, anyway? After the Vikings had visited the northern part of the continent of North America, and an Italian sailing in Spanish ships had discovered an outlying island of the New World, this portion and that was taken in the name of some king as if the country in question were an unpopulated wilderness.

But you say there were people in this country before the European came. Did they have any rights? Well, they were known as wards of the U.S. Government and shut within reservations often in arid, barren regions of the West, a situation that long endured.

ITEM: If you're moving beyond the city water mains, you'd better be sure that you have a quality water system installed capable of delivering an adequate supply of pure water. Fifty gallons per person per day used to be recommended, but with an increasing number of water-using appliances, and two or more bathrooms in quality homes, 100 gallons per day is now the suggested minimum. Demands of the modern appliances are in addition, for example, to the 30 gallons required for each bath and the 4 to 6 gallons that flow each minute from a shower head or faucet.

TEXAS USERS BUY TEXAS BEEF

In the sometimes unpredictable Texas livestock business, one promising fact is that more than 84 percent of the animals slaughtered in the state are purchased here, says Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist at Texas A&M College.

This strong demand for Texas animals by Texas packers was found in all classes but was more prevalent in some than others, according to the 1959 survey, he says. Of the heifers and steers slaughtered in the state, 85 percent were Texas cattle. Most of the remainder of this class originated in New Mexico, Arizona, Kansas and Missouri, explains Uvacek.

Texas stockmen supplied 96 percent of the cows and bulls processed with small numbers coming from Oklahoma and Kansas. Calves and weaners were supplied at the rate of 96 percent by Texans and very few were shipped into the state by packers came from Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and California but 84 percent were raised within the boundaries of Texas.

Although Texas is not an important swine producing state, 60 percent of the hogs killed were purchased locally, says Uvacek. Hogs shipped into Texas came from Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Kansas and Oklahoma, he adds.

Thus while other problems may plague the Texas livestock industry, the demand for their products by Texas packers is not one of their worries.
