"Too many Congressmen it would seem, have the idea that everything is accomplished and taken care of when they appropriate money."

"As it was in the beginning. Masses of people can't do the job. It takes individuals. Individuals who are willing to sacrifice, who are willing to risk capital and criticism to build something which will open up new opportunities for progress now and in the future. This is where you and I must come in."

"Taxwise the nation avoids realities. It demands its heavy income tax from the people at large, then supports many tax exempt business lines at the expense of the taxpayer."

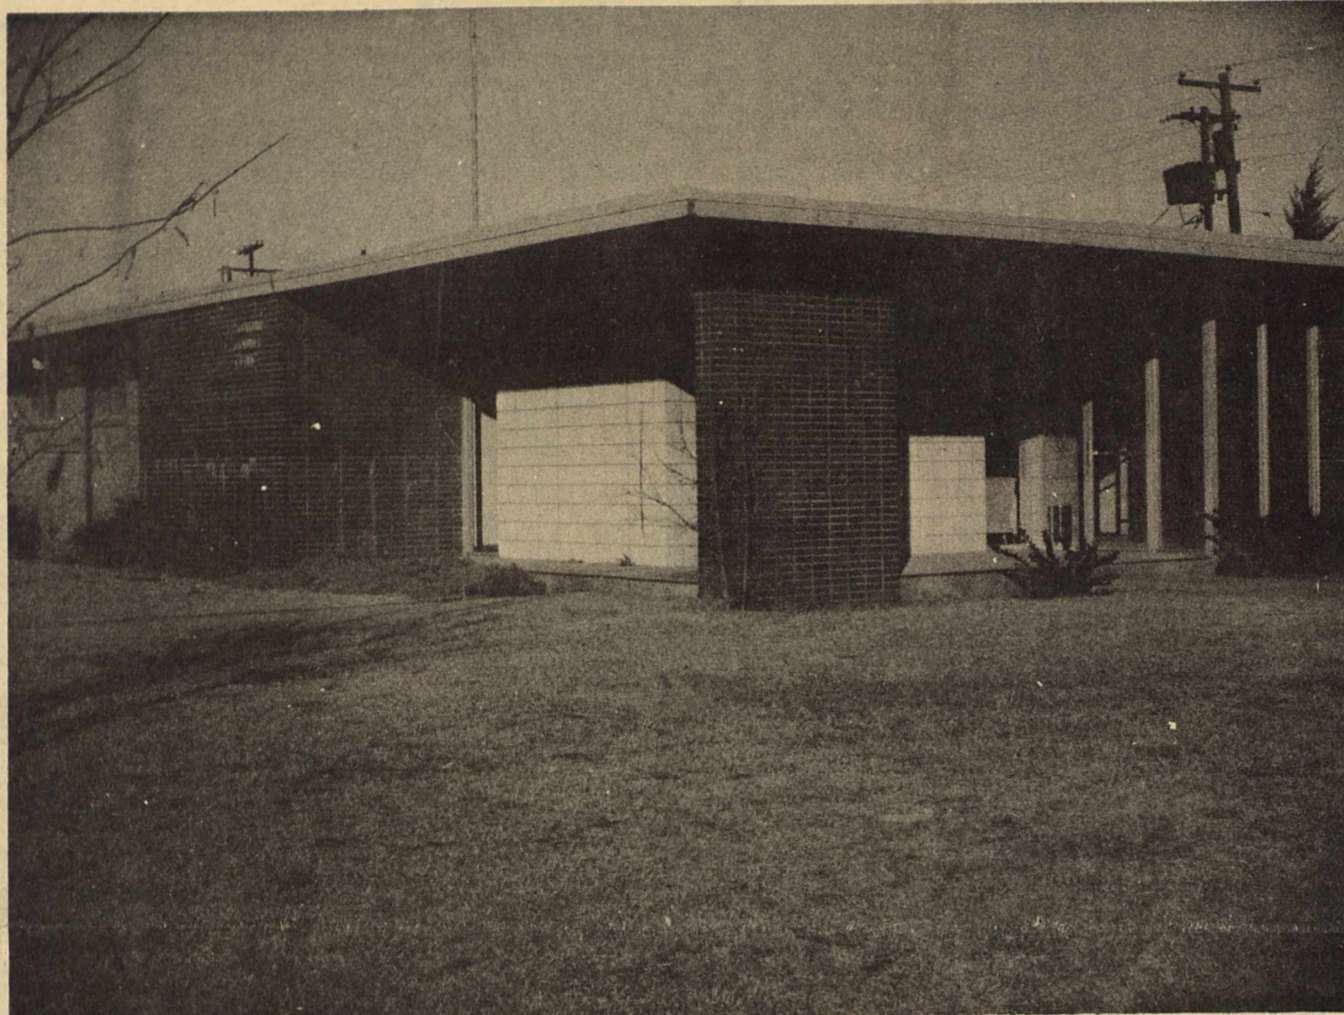

"One of the Administration's latest promises is a housing project that will put every American family in a decent home in a decent neighborhood. That is a wonderful dream, but it is hardly realistic. Should not the Federal government's concern be the establishment of an economic condition in which Americans can provide the sort of homes their families need? The President's proposal would seem to have a trend toward regimentation of families, an establishment of Federal standards of family living, paid for by Federal funds."

In First Baptist Church of Quannah, Texas, we heard recently of one of those experiences that really tries the souls of ministers.

The minister there, in the Sunday evening service was officiating at the very solemn rite of administering Christian baptism to a woman.

As he was about to baptize the new convert he said a part of the Baptismal Benediction, "My sister, I now baptize thee-- and at this point he was very thoroughly and completely interrupted by a quiet but insistent four year old voice from the third row which said, so that everyone in the church heard it, "She's not his sister."

Chamber of Commerce Banquet Next Thursday To Name Citizen Of Year And Farmer Of Year

MAY SOON HAVE OCCUPANT--Plains Clinic recently left vacant when Dr. Clyde Lynn went back to active status in the Armed Forces. Dr. John Gillette of Lovington told local commissioners he will definitely give a yes or no answer to his coming to Plains by Next Monday and that if he decides to practice here he will have the clinic open and in operation by April 1.

County Park Possibility

A great deal of interest has been expressed throughout all of Yoakum County in the past several weeks about the possibility of the construction of a County Park between Plains and Denver City.

The meeting will be held in the District Courtroom of the new Courthouse here in Plains at 8:00 p. m.

Several interested persons from both Denver City and Plains are expected to be in attendance at the meeting which has been described as an information session.

Mr. Gene Bennett, well known Yoakum County cattleman, it was reported has stated that he will furnish at no cost the land necessary for such a venture. It is believed that from 80 to 100 acres will be needed to include the various parts of the Park that might be included.

The land donated lies south of Plains 9 miles on the Denver City highway. It corners so that it lies east of the Denver City highway and south of the Wellman road.

Possibly to be included in the park would be such things as a clubhouse, an amphi-theater, playground facilities, picnic areas and a nine hole golf course.

CITY AND SCHOOL ELECTIONS NEAR

Candidates filing deadline has passed in two and is almost here on another of the three elections which are to be held in the first week of April.

Filing deadlines are already passed in the two different school trustee elections that local residents will be asked to ballot on April 4.

In the County School Trustee election only the incumbents have announced for the posts, in Precincts one and four.

In the Plains Independent School District, four vacancies will be filled in the balloting on the 4th.

Present trustees whose terms are expiring this year are Foye Powell, Ty Field, Garland H. Swann and T. J. Murphey.

Each of these four trustees has announced for re-election to the School Board for additional two year terms.

Jack Pierce, former Plains High School head coach, also has announced his intention of seeking one of the trusteeships. Pierce is now in the insurance business here in Plains after resigning his post in the Plains School system.

To be eligible to vote in this very important election on April 4, one must be a resident within the limits of the Plains Independent School District, and it has been explained does not need to have paid his Poll Tax in order to be a qualified voter.

In the other election that is to be held next month, the election of City Officials, which is to be held on April 7, the filing deadline is Saturday, March 7.

So far, only one candidate for each of the offices up for grabs has announced an intention of actively seeking any of the offices.

The offices of Mayor, Marshall and two council posts are to be voted on in that election.

Buddy Hannah is outgoing Mayor, and the terms of Duane McDonnell as Marshall and Edd Hunter and Vance Glover as Councilmen are expiring.

McDonnell and Hunter have announced for re-election and Venum Fitzgerald has announced his intention of seeking the other council post. For Mayor also only one candidate has so far made a bid for the job. Mr.

Johnny Brown, Vice-President and Cashier of Plains State Bank has formally announced for that office.

On this Thursday evening, March 12, the Plains Chamber of Commerce will hold its Annual Awards Banquet. The affair will take place in the school cafeteria beginning at 8:00 p. m. Tickets may be purchased from the Chamber of Commerce members at $2.00 per plate.

Mr. Lewis Timberlake will be the guest speaker. Mr. Timberlake is the past president of the Junior Jaycee's of Texas and is now serving as the Vice-president of the Western Republic Life Insurance Company.

Highlighting the evening will be the presentations of the Outstanding Citizen Award and the Outstanding Farmer Award.

Although the Outstanding Citizen Award has been presented for a number of years, this will be the first year the Chamber has recognized an Outstanding Farmer.

The program is as follows: Master of Ceremonies, L. T. (Rip) Swell; Invocation, Rev. Walter Driver; Introduction of Guests, L. T. Swell; A Look at the Past and the Future, John W. Moore; Introduction of Board Members, Don Hancock; Special Recognition of Outstanding Citizen, B. E. Loyd; Special Recognition of Outstanding Farmer, A. B. Carpenter; Introduction of Speaker, Neil Taylor; Address, Lewis Timberlake; Benediction, Foy L. Cogburn.

The dinner music will be played by Mrs. J. A. M'Connell, with the Iota Pi Sorority in charge of decorations, preparing the food and doing the serving.

The Welcoming Committee will consist of G. D. Kennedy, Robert C. Long, P. W. St. Romain, and Frank Whitlock.

In their last regular meeting the Chamber of Commerce adopted a new set of By-laws, which were presented by Chairman Buford Duff, which among other things set the election of officers for November to take office January 1 the following year.

It was unanimously voted that the present officials continue to hold their present offices until the coming November election.

These officers are; President Don Hancock, Vice-president, Robert C. (Bob) Long; Treasurer, P. W. St. Romain.

SCOUT HUT PLANS OKAYED

Members of Plains Lions Club today (Thursday) took a very important step in that approval was given in a vote by the club to go ahead with plans to build a combination Scout Hut and Lions Den in Plains.

Actual accepting of bids, signing of contracts and beginning of construction is expected within the next short period of time.

The building which is to be of enameled steel construction will be located in the City limits of Plains on the north side of town on some property there that was donated to the Scouts.

The finance committee for the local drive for building funds will be getting under way within the next few days, and anyone interested in contributing money or time or both to this project are urged to contact a Lions Club member.

Within the next two or three weeks a Building Honor Roll is to be begun in The Record that will carry the names of all who have contributed.

Dial - a - Prayer Out For Repairs

P. W. St. Romain today announced that the machine which has been in his office for some time on which has been being recorded the "Dial-A-Prayer" service which so many local residents have been using, is broken and has been sent back to the factory for repairs.

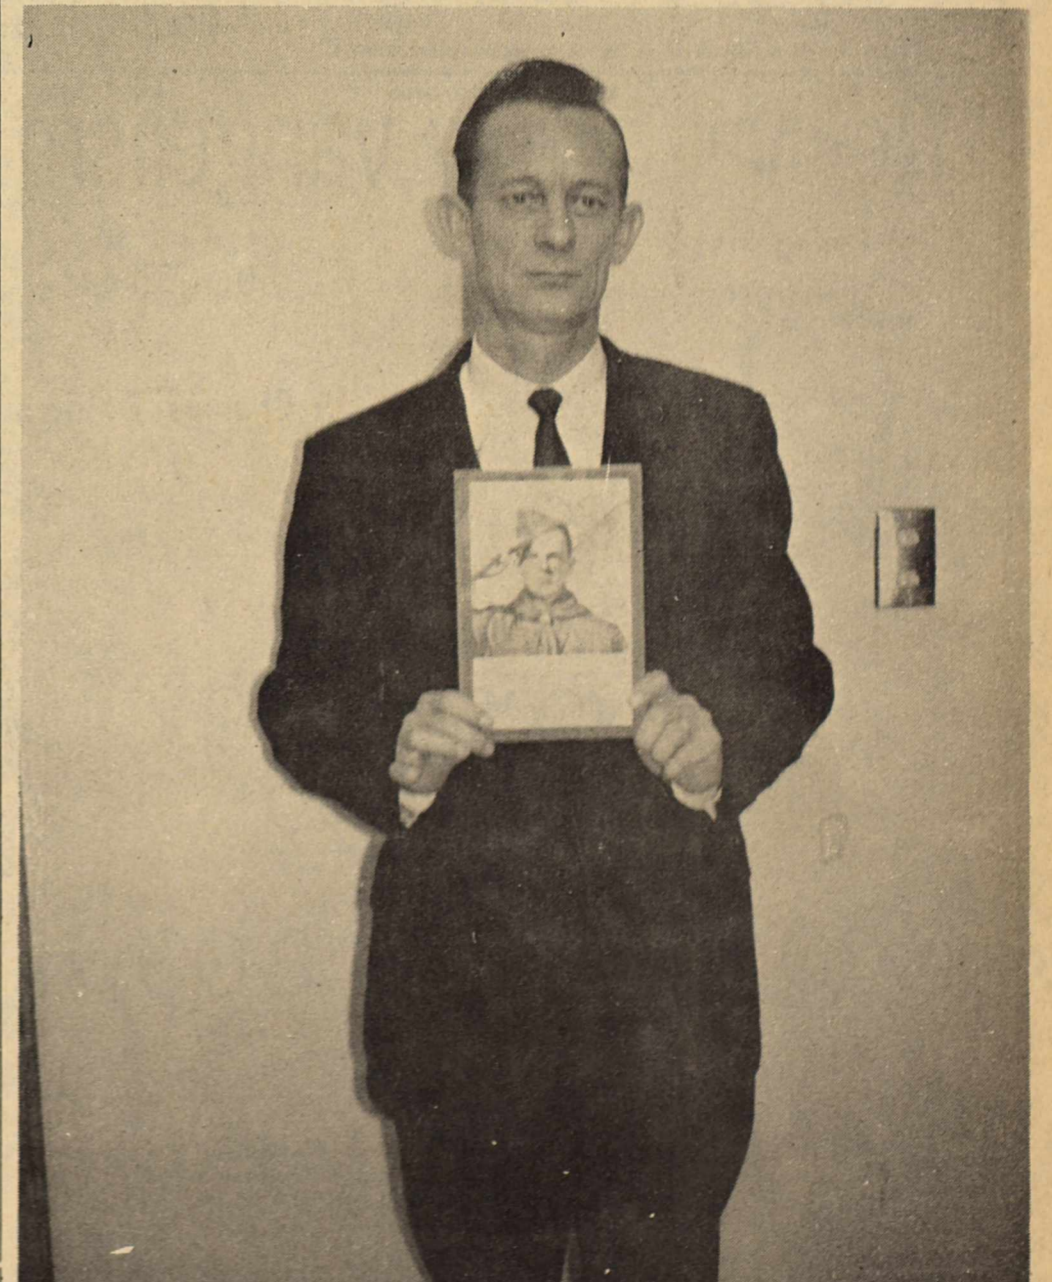

Pete stated that as soon as the recorder is back and ready for operation again, he will announce it in The Record.

LEEROY McCRAVEY-- being with the Yoakum County Farmer of the Year Award, by Mr. Dick McGinty, Thursday during Lions Club meeting. Leeroy began Conservation farming in 1960. His Mother had signed a Conservation plan with the Yoakum Soil Conservation District in 1956. The farm consisted at that time of 100 acres irrigated cropland, 128 acres dry cropland and 402 acres of range land. Mrs. McCravey had been renting the place out on a crop rent basis.

In November 1961 of Leeroy and his Mother worked out with Soil Conservation Service personal a revised Conservation plan and a Great Plain Conservation program contract to help carry out this plan. The plan called for changing from flood type irrigation to sprinkle irrigation, Conservation cropping system, crop residue management, cover crops, proper range use, deferred grazing and the installing of 2950 ft. of high pressure underground pipe. In April 1963 irrigated pasture planting in the amount of 28 acres was added to the contract and an additional irrigation well drilled to irrigate it and additional farm land. Leeroy has made two good crops and carried out an outstanding conservation program the last two years as the records of planned an accomplishments show. Leeroy has done a lot of missionary work of conservation of both soil and water with his neighbors. He does this by the way he farms and the kind of crops he raises as well as talking a good story.

JOHNNY BROWN--being presented with a plaque for doing an outstanding job as the local Finance Chairman for the Boy Scouts of America during their annual fund campaign for the last two years.

PLOWIN' Out the CORNERS by Uncle Zeb

was through, he would offer his truck, his tractor, and even a part of his feed to another. People opened their fields to be made into roads. They left the keys to their trucks along the road just in case someone got in trouble. It was a heartwarming experience in the midst of all the problems. A crisis always brings out the best in folks

Speaking of the snowstorm, no one would argue with the value placed on it in connection with prospects for a good wheat crop. This would be just as true in helping make the range grass good early in the spring. The cattle will be repaid for the days they were without feed. . . . We heard of many cattle in the rough country that had no supplemental feed for a week. Many more went for two, three or four days; but, there seemed to be few losses other than new born calves.

Someone took a poke at the cattleman for letting the government planes drop hay to the cattle. The implication was that he had grown a bit soft. This we deny. Out our way, when the road machinery made it through on about the third day, there was some dozen pickups close behind. Many walked a mile or more into their cattle and feed was hauled out to the highway with one tractor and then either carried several miles this way or hooked on to a pickup for miles down the pavement and then into another bunch of cattle with perhaps a borrowed tractor. We doubt if one percent of the ranchers in the Panhandle had the army planes drop hay. We saw a few planes fly over while we were stuck in the snow but never saw any hay fall in our part of the country. . . . But we imagine the fellow was just taking a friendly poke, and the cattle man can even take plenty of that.

Another good thing to come from the emergency was the helping of one another. In this day of hurry and scurry, it was a joyful thing to see. No one would pass up anyone. When one fellow

He told me I was pretty, love-able and sweet; And all the things he told me just swept me off my feet. . . . But next time I'll know better, on that you can depend; For all the things he told ME he told to my girl friend. . . .

By the way, this nephew doesn't refrain from taking a poke at his old uncle and the above bit of poetry could well be the heart-felt thoughts of one of his true loves. . . .

FEBRUARY QUIZ

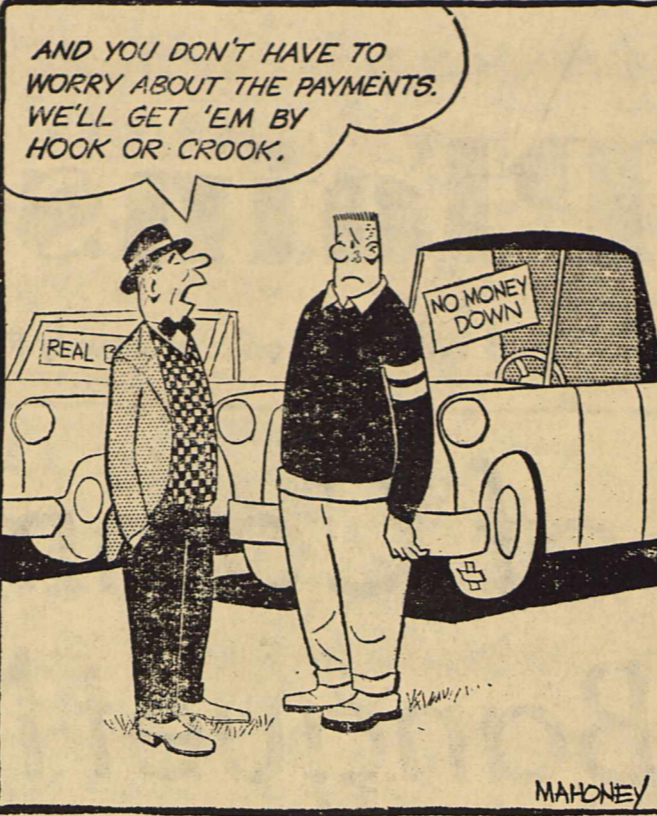

IF YOU SHOULD ask a boy or girl why February 22 was an important date and receive an incorrect answer, you would think the quizzed very dull indeed.

Some years ago a well-known novelist undertook to debunk the character of Washington. When the matter was brought to the attention of the President of the United States, Cautious Cal walked to a window and looked at the Potomac. "I see the monument still stands," Mr. Coolidge said. He refused of course to above the lofty memorial that rises above the skyline of the Capital City that is also a memorial of George Washington.

Following loosely the lines of Lord Tennyson: Let us survey the decades behind us, which like a fruitful land reposes, and cling to all the present for the promise that it closes, and dip into the future far as human eye can see that we may see the vision of America and all the wonder that will be—because George Washington, like Moses of old, not permitted to enter into the full glory of his dreams for our country, lifted an onerous finger toward the land of promise. And that we may rightly claim our inheritance.

HOW TO GET RICH SLOW (but sure)

Every dollar you invest in Series E Savings Bonds grows 33 1/4% bigger in 7 years and nine months. You can count on it.

It's not as exciting as drilling a wildcat oil well, or diving for sunken gold. But it's mighty reliable. Especially when you use the Payroll Savings Plan to help you make sure you buy Bonds regularly.

This famous plan takes the back-sliding out of saving money by making it automatic. You just tell your employer you want him to set aside a small amount from your check each payday.

($4.33 a week will add up to twelve $25 Bonds a year. But you can have more or less deducted as you choose.)

Then you forget all about it. Savings come easily and almost painlessly. You never see the small amount that's deducted so you hardly miss it.

There's a unique satisfaction to saving money this way, too. Everytime you slip another Bond into your pocket, you know you're helping your country as well as yourself. Uncle Sam uses the money to help America resist the forces that threaten our freedoms.

Another thing about getting rich slow with U. S. Savings Bonds is that almost anybody can do it. So why not sign up for Payroll Savings before next payday?

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- You can get your money when you need it
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You can buy Bonds where you work or bank

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

In line with repeated requests by the nation's independent businessmen, Congress did reduce foreign aid, although there is still a long way to go to whittle down the $3 billion voted. *

But perhaps there is too much haste in this matter. Perhaps there are some lessons that can be learned from foreign aid for the good of the nation. *

Congressman H. R. C. W. Harder of Gross, Iowa, reveals that foreign aid funds have been used to help African Kenya officials to buy extra wives. A man there can have as many wives as he can pay for, on a cash advance basis. Of course, in America, a man taking a wife to himself often gets by with a small down payment, but then he keeps paying on the installment plan. So there is this difference in the two systems. *

This is not to suggest that polygamy should be legalized in America. It is not only against public morals, but also must be considered havoc that would be wreaked with the income taxation if men could take deductions for ten wives or so, plus resulting progeny. *

Yet, there seems to be a lesson to be learned here, and maybe certain aspects of foreign aid could be applied to American life. It is significant that although the long range benefits of the foreign Peace Corps have still to be assayed, there is consideration being given to setting up a domestic Peace Corps. *

Thus, if this premise is sound, what is wrong with a plan for a domestic foreign aid program. In pointing out that foreign aid funds are used to buy extra wives for Kenya men, a challenging new vista opens for a domestic foreign aid program. *

There are many men in America who practice polygamy, but on the installment plan, via the divorce courts. This is one of the basic differences between the American system and the Kenya system where a man pays cash for a wife and is through with payments. In America, those who practice polygamy on the installment plan pay alimony. *

Thus, the proposed domestic foreign aid program could pick up all alimony payments. *

This does not seem to be all far-fetched. If the taxpayer's money can be used for wife purchase, so that African bucks can ease their way through this vale of tears surrounded by a galaxy of women paid for in advance, why cannot the same benefits be extended to the American male who goes through life with a succession of wives on the installment plan. *

While it may be quite all right to tax people out of the necessities and also through taxes to soak up profits needed by small business to expand to support foreign aid, this discrimination against American manhood is all wrong. If tax money can be used for the cash marital projects of African manhood, it can surely be used for installment plan marital projects by American manhood. Thus, a domestic foreign aid program should be strongly considered. *

VISITORS FROM INDIA DUE HERE SOON

Local Soil Conservation Service Office to have visitors from India. Mr. Abbu M. T. Devar, and Mr. Sharad C. Gupte who are with the State Department of India are coming to Plains to spend two weeks studying Soil Conservation District board and the relationship of various agencies of the Department of Agriculture.

Three new conservation plans and Great Plains contracts were signed this week. They were Glen T. Jones, Truitt F. Jones and L. D. Stanford. Work continues on revising old plans and writing new ones. C. L. Palmer and Wayne H. Williams are two new regular Soil Conservation District plans. The Palmer place, 80 acres, north of Denver City is operated by Bob Rucker, Wayne H. Williams and his brother operate the new place North-East of Denver City. This is a new farm being broken out this year.

Crop residue management is really showing up now. Where grain sorghum stubble has been left or has been chisled with out the stalks being shredded or cut a real good job of wind erosion control and moisture conservation is being done.

The more the wind blows the better a good job shows up. Tom Barron, Leeroy McCravez, J. C. Stegall, James Warren, Carl Lowrey, Tom Gray, Preston Murphy and Curley Taunton are a few who have a real good program going.

Work on pasture programs for the year has about been completed. The technicians of the Soil Conservation Service have almost completed the job of visiting on the land with each operator who has irrigated pasture. Assistance has been given in planning a water, fertilizer, rotation grazing and stocking plan for each pasture. There is a much better program of watering and fertilizing early this year than in the past. Work will continue through out the increased production not over production like ours, since only 2/5 of an acre may be available to each farmer. India is a country of one half the size of the U. S. and has over 370 million people with a 50 million increase each ten years.

season of use to assist any individual in doing a good job of pasture management. Actual field operations by local people have proven that irrigated pasture is a good crop if good management practices are carried out.

HOW FAST? HOW SLOW? What's the best speed for trolling?

The apparent simplicity of trolling generally dupes a lot of good anglers into thinking that this effective fishing technique is a matter of dunking a lure overboard and reving up the motor.

Like other methods, trolling demands a certain measure of know-how if results are to add up to expectations, say the fishing folks at Mercury outboards.

Of all the factors that influence the fish-appeal of a trolled lure, probably speed is the most significant. Since most artificial lures are designed with built-in action, they function properly only when wriggling along at a certain clip. When the pace is too fast or too slow, plugs exhibit about as much excitement as a clump of water-logged willows. They work at the right speed—nothing more, nothing less. Among different lures, the speed varies considerably.

To pinpoint just how fast a certain model should be trolled, drop it overboard alongside the boat. Then watch and feel its action at various throttle settings. At one very precise point the plug responds like it should, say the Mercury experts, darting and tumbling as the maker intended. This, obviously, is the right speed.

This simple—yet revealing trick—makes picking the correct speed an easy matter. And it's a good one for all of us to file away for warmer days.

EMPLOYEES MEETING SET

Chapter 3 of the Texas Public Employees Association will have its regular monthly meeting at 8:00 p. m., Tuesday, March 10 at the District Office of the Texas Highway Department, 601 Slaton Road, Lubbock. Plans for the all chapter Annual Picnic will be discussed at this meeting. Following the business portion of the meeting there will be a showing of Spring Fashions by models recruited entirely from the ranks of the State Employees and their families. All State Employees are invited to attend.

RENEW TAX PAYERS OPTION

Federal income taxpayers were reminded yesterday by W. M. Overton Savings Bonds Chairman for Agricultural, that the Treasury is again offering them the option of taking refunds in U.S. Savings Bonds. The savings option, first introduced last year is in addition to the two standard options of taking tax refunds in cash or applying to them to the next year's tax.

"By electing to take his refund in Series E Bonds," Mr. Overton said, "the taxpayer holds onto his conveniently, through a secure, risk-free investment which pays interest at a guaranteed rate. He avoids seeing his money absorbed by household expenses, vanishing completely in day-to-day spending. And he learns what millions of other Americans have already discovered, that U. S. Savings Bonds are one of the finest possible ways to save for a secure future.

"And, of course, every citizen should realize that every dollar he invests in U. S. Savings Bonds makes our economy stronger and our whole nation more secure."

Taxpayers taking their 1962 refunds in Savings Bonds swelled the 1963 Bond sales by $19, 2 million and raised the number of Bonds issued by 237, 455. This year, Mr. Overton said, the Treasury hopes the plan will further increase the sale of Savings Bonds, and encourage more citizens to develop regular savings habits.

"Nothing could be more important than getting your Savings Bonds through the tax refund plan," Mr. Overton points out. "All it takes is a check mark in the Savings Bonds block on either tax form 1040 (long) or 1040A (short.) The tax instructions give all the information you will need. But the important thing is to make up your mind now that this year you won't let your tax refund slip through your fingers. If you put it in Savings Bonds you'll not only hold onto it, but you will see it grow."

What does freedom mean to Tom Elliott?

It's too late to ask him now.

You see, Tom Elliott is dead. He died on a ridge in Korea. Nobody ever asked Tom whether he wanted to die. If they had, he probably would have said no. Nobody wants to die. But Tom Elliott did give his life for freedom. Sure, he was fighting an enemy his country wasn't at war with. But he realized that defending our freedom means much more than merely defending our homeland. That it means defending our way of life, both inside and outside our boundaries. That it means fighting for what you believe in. Tom Elliott fought. And like millions of other men who shared the same beliefs, he died for freedom. His freedom. And yours, too.

Well, the war Tom Elliott died in is over. But the war to deprive us of our freedom and our way of life will always go on. Today our freedom is being attacked in all corners of the world by an aggressive, determined enemy. Communism. And we have to fight back or lose the struggle. But not on the battlefield alone. We must win the hearts and minds of people everywhere. Our men and women, our boys and girls must believe in freedom. They must want it. And they must know that the freedoms we now enjoy, the freedoms we fought for must not be lost by apathy or neglect. By not caring enough.

What can you, as an individual, do? That depends on how much your freedom means to you. Is it worth standing up for? Speaking up for? Acting up for? If your answer is yes, then Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge wants to hear from you. Local Style Show Monday

A collection of cottons, featuring 1964 patterns and fabric finishes, will be presented in a fashion show sponsored by Tsa Mo Ga Study Club, on March 9, in the Recreation Room of Plains Elementary School.

The "Cavalcade of Cottons" loan wardrobe is provided by the National Cotton Council and McCall's Patterns to demonstrate the practicality of home sewing. Fashions for any time of day range from swim suits to formal.

New trends in cottons are illustrated by a stretch fabric, an embossed double knit, pastel denim, pin-stripe suiting, and doeskin. Patterns follow fashion's latest silhouettes with a tent dress, shifts, wandering waists, shirt-cuffed sleeves and at-home attire. Both fabrics and patterns are available in leading stores throughout the country.

Plans for the show are announced by Mrs. A. B. Carpenter, program chairman.

The fashions will be described by Mrs. Don Lackey and models will include girls from the local Homemaking Department and Tsa Mo Ga Club members.

hands trying to reel in a gull. Then when you get the bird in the boat, you'll really have your hands full—fending off wings, feet and beak. And all the time the gull will be screaming bloody murder right in your ears.

Then to top it all off, the gull in his frantic fighting probably will imbed your own fish hook in some part of your anatomy.

Best thing to do if a seagull foul hooks himself on your line, is to cut the line and let it go at that.

Even if you don't have a boat, gulls can aid you in surf-fishing. Just keep your eyes on the flocks of gulls standing on the shoreline. If they get up and start wheeling over a certain spot in the surf, make haste for that spot. Chances are there will be a nice school of fish under them.

Now a word of warning about "fishing the birds."

Don't depend on the birds finding fish for you in congested ship channels or bodies of water where there is a steady stream of boat traffic. You'll find plenty of feeding gulls there. But they'll be feeding on stuff churned up by the props.

Other types of sea birds can help you locate fish. During the spring and summer, mackerel birds will help you find both mackerel and kingfish. Then in the fall and winter, keep tabs on the migrating flocks of white pelicans.

"Fishing the birds" also works on the major lakes within the state—particularly when the white bass or sand bass runs are going full force.

Gulls are quick to locate white bass when they school near the surface of the water. But on the lakes you won't find near as many gulls as on the bays, beaches and offshore.

For something new and exciting, try "fishing the birds." But take along plenty of fuel and be prepared to do a lot of looking.

If you've ever had a gull grab your bait and hook himself, you know what you're in for. But for the benefit of those who have never had the experience, let me assure you that a hooked gull can be a rough customer.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD

Seagulls are many things. They are a source of entertainment. They are scavengers. And they are fish-finders.

For entertainment, go to the coastal beaches and watch folks tossing scraps and bread crumbs to flocks of screaming gulls. It's fun!

As scavengers, gulls quickly clean up the refuse left on beaches by careless picnickers.

Whether they are flying far out to sea, or over the gulf, or dipping into the bays, or even the large inland lakes, gulls are the "spies" that ferret out schools of fish for the anglers.

Whatever the value of the seagull, it is sufficient that it is on the protected list. Food waste tossed on the beaches will be cleaned up in a hurry by the gulls. There may be only one gull in sight when the refuse is dumped, but in a matter of minutes, gulls by the dozens will home in from all points of the compass.

It's the same at sea. I've seen on shrimp boats far out of sight of land. Not a gull would be in sight until the net was pulled from the water. Then the birds flew in like rain drops from a summer squall.

Gulls are of paramount interest to fishermen. Or perhaps we should say "to anglers who know how to utilize them."

If you know how to "read" the gulls, they'll find fish for you. Many a good speckled-trout-catch in our coastal bays has resulted from anglers "fishing the birds."

It's a type of fishing that calls for a lot of looking on the part of the fisherman. Also plenty of h.p. and fuel—to keep up with the moving gulls.

How does one go about fishing the gulls?

It's simple. Scan the area for gulls. If the birds are flocked up, wheeling in tight circles and repeatedly dipping into the water, they're working a school of fish.

I don't mean they are feeding on speckled trout or redfish, or mackerel and kingfish. Instead they are feeding on the small fish chased to the surface by the game fish.

Note the direction in which the birds are working. Open up the throttle and swing ahead of the gulls. Be sure to give them a wide berth—when passing so that your motor won't spook the school of fish.

Turn off the motor when you are in line with the working gulls. If the birds are working with the current, anchor until the gulls almost reach you. Then pick up anchor and drift along with the current and the gulls, fishing all around the boat.

You'll find fishing good as long as you don't make any noises to spook the school. Of course, you may also hook a seagull or two. They'll frequently grab your shrimp just as it hits the water.

If you've ever had a gull grab your bait and hook himself, you know what you're in for. But for the benefit of those who have never had the experience, let me assure you that a hooked gull can be a rough customer.

Easy To Follow Suggestions:

SPRING'S THE TIME TO SERVICE AIR CONDITIONERS

There's no better time than the springtime for servicing air conditioning equipment! This is true whether you do it yourself, or call a reliable serviceman who will do it for you at a nominal cost.

The reminder to check air conditioning equipment now comes from H. P. Painter, general service manager of York Corporation, a subsidiary of Borg-Warner. According to Mr. Painter, it's wise to do it before the real heat of summer sets in and while there's still plenty of time to make repairs, if any should become necessary.

Room Air Conditioners

If they have been taken out of the window and stored, be sure all the needed parts are assembled by the windows before you tackle the job of installation. Be sure that the unit has been placed upright on a perfectly level surface for at least 24 hours, so that the oil in the sealed system can drain back into the compressor. If manufacturers instructions call for oiling, oil now.

Next, wipe down plastic surfaces with soap and water. Replace old air filters.

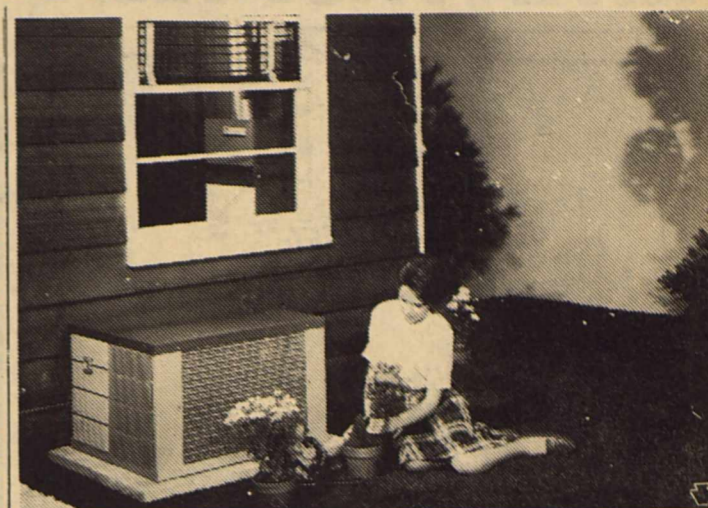

Finally, install the unit in the window.

If your air conditioner has been left in the window over the winter, covers should be removed, and the unit dusted and oiled (if instructions specify). Be sure the air circuits are free and clear and choose a day to "test run" when the temperature outdoors is at least in the mid-60's and room temperature is in the 70's. Test run for five to ten minutes, and then note the cooling effectiveness.

If the unit has operated all winter, change of filter and oiling may be all that are required. If any exposed parts have rusted, they should be cleaned and painted. This is not frequent, but can happen, especially along the seashore.

Central Air Conditioning

If you have central residential air conditioning with common

Spring's the time to plant flowers — and clean air conditioners, says H. P. Painter, General Service Manager of York Corp., manufacturers of air conditioning, refrigeration and ice-making equipment.

duct work for heating and cooling, reset the dampers for air conditioning. If your unit has separate air conditioning ducts, usually no damper adjustments are required. Then proceed to clean or replace filters, and lubricate where called for. See that air inlets and outlets, both indoors and outside, are free of obstructions.

It is very important to turn on the power at least one day before trying to start the compressor. The cooling thermostat should be set high before power is turned on, and running the fan only will serve to check this. Power is required to pre-warm and improve the lubricating qualities of the oil in the compressor of many makes of air conditioners. Even when this is not a must, no harm will be done through the 24-hour warm-up.

In many attic installations, there is an auxiliary drain pan under the unit. Be sure this is cleaned out and that the drain is open (try a pitcher of water for run-off, since insects sometimes block the drains).

On a day in the mid-60s, shift the thermostat from "heat" to "cool" and test run for five to ten minutes by dropping the thermostat to a point below room temperature. Be particularly sure to check for any unusual noises, indoors or outside.

"Split Systems"

Some residential air conditioning is accomplished by "split systems" with the cooling evaporator usually in the house and connected with the ducts to the various rooms, and with the heat-discharging condenser section outdoors.

If you have piping going outside, check any insulation, check concrete foundations to be sure they are not broken or tilted by frost action. Be sure that air intake and discharge vents are open.

Auto Air Conditioning

Last, but not least, Mr. Painter suggests that, if you have an auto air-conditioned, you take it to your auto service man to check before the hot weather sets in. Having installed the unit, he is best qualified to service it.

Call For Beef Import Action

The president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association said today that legislation to adequately restrict beef imports seems a more logical solution to the present low cattle price problem than the Administration's announced government beef buying program.

Leo Welder of Victoria said that at a time when the Administration is stressing economy of government at all levels, it appears a more feasible solution would be to support emergency legislation to immediately impose reasonable quotas on the shipment of foreign meats into the U. S.

Welder said cattlemen feel the government buying program would do little to strengthen presently depressed livestock prices and would have no effect on the impact of future beef imports on the stability of the domestic beef market.

He said adequate restrictions of beef imports through legislation could be achieved with no cost to the taxpayer.

Changes In Standards

The U. S. Department of Agriculture will tighten official United States standards for grades of wheat, effective May 1.

In his announcement, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said the new standards would improve the competitive position of U. S. wheat in world markets; help combat restrictive trade policies in some areas; enable the Commodity Credit Corporation to better guarantee the quality of grain owned by the public; provide substantial taxpayer savings in the export subsidy program; and strengthen the price of wheat for the farmer who grows a quality product.

In general, the new standards based on smaller ranges of tolerance for grades, will mean less dirt, foreign matter and dockage in American wheat. Quality factors of weight, soundness and cleanliness can be more readily and more precisely measured today than in the past.

Maximum limits are set for "total defects", damaged kernels foreign material and shrunken and broken kernels. Total defects in grade No. 1 have been set at 3 percent, in grade No. 2 at 5 percent. Limits are also set in the other numerical grades.

Limits for shrunken and broken kernels are cut from 5 to 3 percent for grade No. 1 and 12 percent for grade No. 4 and 20 percent for grade No. 5.

Minimum moisture content for wheat graded "tough" is reduced from 14 or 14.5 percent (depending on the class) to 13.5 percent for all classes. The change also eliminates moisture as a factor in determining sample grade.

"Dockage" is recorded in half percent with other fractions reduced to the nearest whole fraction. Dockage is material other than wheat which may be readily removed by cleaning. It is recorded on inspection certificates.

STATE COMMENDS ASSESSOR

Yoakum County Tax Assessor-Collector, E. W. Craig, recently received a letter from Texas Highway Department in Austin, from the Motor Vehicle Division of that office commending his office for their accuracy in making applications for certificates of title.

The letter is as follows: "May we extend to you and your most able staff, our personal appreciation for the outstanding percentage record of rejected applications for Certificates of Title, your office has established during the period July 1 through December 31, 1963.

As previously announced, the state average for the above period is only 2.9%. The percentage for your particular county is only 2.5% of 965 title applications reported.

Motor vehicle owners of your county should be proud of your office for this superior record of public service."
