Wind Hits Hard

Horrible brown waves of billowing dust rolled and spiraled over the Texas Plains Tuesday bringing destruction measured in untold thousands of dollars to farmers in the Plains area. The wind whipped vicious paths through the fields leaving dead cotton in its path.

The savage winds raced across the Plains with such vicious force that it was almost dark at 5:15 p. m. Tuesday in downtown Plains.

The storm followed in the path of the devastating winds which struck last Friday leaving the farmers stunned with possible total crop failures in many areas.

One funnel cloud was seen over Plains at about 5:17 p. m. while the sky was filled with spinning clouds of soil from soil fields.

This year's wind destruction has virtually turned some of the area into another dust bowl similar to the destruction which scouraged the Plains almost three decades ago.

Roff damage was extensive in the city and all activity almost came to a stop. Cars were forced to keep their lights on, and the sun looked like a pale moon. Little League games were canceled, and people took shelter to escape the dust.

Before the storm of Tuesday, the editor of The Record had interviewed farmers about last week's storm. That account follows:

The dust storms of last week severely damaged crops throughout the whole area, was the report from farmers in Yoakum and surrounding counties. Many farmers reported up to fifty per cent damage to their cotton crops, others with less.

The County Agent, Leo White, said the storm caused serious crop damage, and Murrell Thompson, Soil Conservation Representative, said that the storms did severe damage to the soil and crops.

Dallas Powell reported crop damages up to 30 per cent, while County Commissioner Raymond Bookout said that many farms received serious set backs in his precinct.

Ford Hawkins, local grocer, reported heavy damage at his property between Plains and Morton. The local businessman and farmer said that his father, long time Morton auto dealer, reported Sunday that the wind damage was heavy around there.

Many people stated that if the cotton isn't planted in the next few days it will be to late this year.

Alf Carpenter reported that the dust storms brought heavy damage. Most of the farmers stated that if the wind blows again this week like it did last, that the crops will be ruined this year.

Bob Loe reported severe damage to his cotton west of Plains. He said that he lost about 120 acres.

Dick Hamm said his crop suffered slight damage, but not as serious as others.

Dickie Green reported that he lost about 10% of his cotton crop and 30 to 40% of the milo crop east of Plains.

Women Work

Five ladies from the community went to the cemetery last Friday for the purpose of the work day which was called, Mrs. Doc McCargo said that besides herself those who cleaned up the cemetery were Mrs. Paul Loe; Yoakum County Commissioner; Mrs. Frank Suddeth; Mrs. McCravy; and Mrs. Jean Coke.

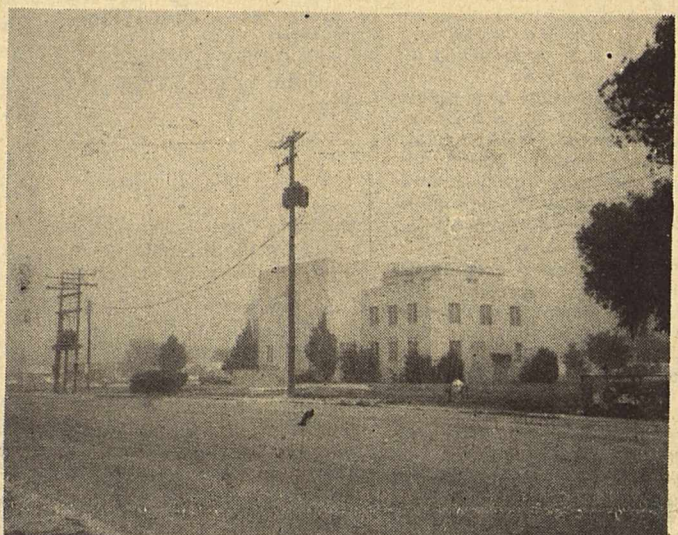

The ladies cleaned the cemetery and hauled off two truck loads of trash.

No men were reported to have showed at the work event.

PLAINS FIREMEN DUB NELM, LITTLE BOB MCDONNELL, AND CHIEF JOHNNIE JAMES PICTURED WITH FIRETRUCK GOING TO HALE CENTER

Fire Chief Johnnie James reported that the Plains Volunteer Fire Department has taken its 1957 Chevrolet 500 gallon water capacity Fire-truck to Hale Center to be used there until that city's equipment is restored. The fire equipment in Hale Center was completely destroyed or lost in the recent tornado which ravaged that city recently, inflicting over 5 million dollars worth of damage and taking four lives.

Chief James reported that all of the equipment that the Hale Center department had to use was an obsolete 150 gallon water truck loaned by the Plainview fire department.

Dub Nelms, owner of Nelms' Texaco Station, and Little Bob McDonnell went with Chief James to deliver the truck. The Plains truck is a good piece of equipment and has an American pump on it. It was used as the leading piece of Plains equipment until recently.

The Plains Chief said that members of the city council, and county commission gave the volunteer firemen permission to loan the truck.

Chief James, owner of Alma's Restaurant, reported that from the business section to the Western area of Hale Center had been pretty well cleaned up. James said that the town looked like it had been bombed or shelled, causing much of it to be completely leveled.

The local Fire Chief said that the Fire Department in Hale Center was deeply appreciative of the fact that the truck was loaned to the city. The Hale Center Chief said that if a fire had broken out that they would have been forced to call in help, but with the use of the Plains truck that protection can once more be given to the city where fire is concerned.

Army Drive

What does The Salvation Army mean to Plains and Yoakum County? Through the unselfish work of your local volunteer Salvation Army Committee you help provide immediate emergency aid to local people and deserving transients who are less fortunate than yourselves and your children.

The Plains Committee can and has helped provide the following: Shoes and clothing food and lodging, medical care, eye glasses, medicines, dental aid, groceries, shelter, disaster services, and services to members of the Armed Forces.

Each year Yoakum County is allotted the right to send two underprivileged boys to summer camp at no cost to the local committee. You have or can aid in prison parole work through The Salvation Army. And if the need should arise - you have the use of two homes and hospitals for unwed Mothers.

ONLY ONCE A YEAR ARE YOU ASKED TO HELP! NOW IS THE TIME!

This year the annual Fund Raising Drive will begin with a meeting with coffee and donuts at Alma's Cafe at 9:30 A. M. Thursday June 10th.

Mr. Cordell Huddleston, Cashier of Plains State Bank, will serve as drive chairman this year. All Captains and Workers, and people interested in this worthy cause, are urged and cordially invited.

This is a very special year in the history of The Salvation Army. This is the Army's 100th Anniversary. Their theme this year is 1865 A Century of Service - To God and to Man 1965. Of the money you so generously contribute, one third stays in Plains, two thirds is used for State services, such as the disaster at Hale Center. 99 cents of every dollar stays in Texas. Of this only 8 cents is used for administration. The rest is used entirely for welfare. If your local committee uses all of its funds before next year's drive they will receive an outright grant from State Headquarters, no strings attached, to carry on their wonderful welfare work. A constant statewide effort is made by your State and local Salvation Army to eliminate panhandlers. This committee is one of 287 committees in Texas alone. There are committees in towns on all sides of you. These help take the welfare burden off of any community.

Roy A. Edwards is chairman of the Plains Committee, Rev. John W. Moore is treasurer. Other members are Sheriff Olan Heath and Harry W. Cayce. These volunteers conduct the welfare and manage the finances for your local committee. This year's goal is $500.00. The goal is based on past needs. When you are called upon for help to this wonderful cause please give of your time and money. Remember that this is your gift for a year. If you are not contacted, you can take part by calling any of the above members or workers, or if you wish to mail your contribution address your letter to Rev. Johnnie Moore, Box 1006, Plains, Texas.

Court House NEWS

When interviewed by the editor of The Record about possible re-districting of the precincts in Yoakum County this week, Commissioner Raymond Bookout of Precinct 3 stated that he opposes such a change at the present time, but that he plans to study the proposal carefully and will know by the next time that the County Commissioners Court meets how many miles of roads are involved and more specific information concerning the proposal.

The Plains Commissioner was emphatic in his stand to oppose such a change. Mrs. Paul Loe also of Plains stated that she is studying the proposal and will issue a statement soon.

Commissioners Doc Cotton and Vance Brown proposed the re-districting plan last week in a special meeting.

Both Mrs. Lowe and Mr. Bookout stated that the matter would be settled by the Commissioner's Court. In case of a tie, the County Judge would cast the tie breaking vote.

Mr. Bookout said that the change would mean that the Northern precincts would be moved four miles South of Plains and about 56 sections of land are involved.

The re-districting would mean that no Plains electors would vote for Commissioners Cotton and Brown. The major part of the population in Cotton's and Brown's precincts would come from Denver City. The way the precincts are currently set up, a number of people in the town section of Plains vote in their precincts.

Mr. Bookout said that the reasons given by the Commissioners from Denver City to re-district were based on population, but he added that geographical reasons are also important to him in keeping the boundaries the same as they are now.

About two years ago Commissioner Cotton made a similar proposal, but it died without action.

Summer Jobs

Roy McGehee, president of the Plains Chamber of Commerce reported that the Chamber has been able to place nine students in summer jobs. All of the students placed were boys, and McGehee further stated that the names of several qualified girls are on record with the Chamber and the young ladies need to find summer jobs. If anybody is in need of summer help for teen age girls, McGehee said to please call the Chamber of Commerce.

If any more boys are in need of farm work, McGehee said that he is certain that jobs can be found. The Chamber is also in need of boys who want yard work. One job is waiting for the asking.

In other Chamber news, the Chamber prexy said that the census for Plains will begin next week. Bill Loyd, president of the Plains State Bank, is the census chairman.

McGehee also stated that several street signs have been erected and that project is well under way. He said that he will have information soon concerning obtaining street lights for residential areas.

The president of the local Chamber said that he is encouraged by the participation of the members in the programs. He reported further that the Chamber is trying to get an old timers fiddlers contest here for the rodeo, and that he has been working hard on that project.

Library News

Mrs. Norelle Sloan, Yoakum County Librarian has announced that a reading program will begin June 14 and will run through August. The Librarian said that interested parties could inquire at the Library for more information.

Mrs. Sloan said that certificates will be presented to those children who read twenty books. She said one must read five books to qualify for the program.

All children in the area are urged to participate in this educational program.

Mrs. Sloan said that 25 new children's books are now in the library, and that 150 new books for adults have been recently added. She said 90 of these books are fiction. The hours for the library are from 10:00 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. weekdays and from 10:00 a. m. until noon on Saturday.

CAYCE'S CORNER

Last week-end Old Cayce and his family went to his former home at Santa Fe, New Mexico for a visit with the wife's mother and aunt. The trip was lovely, and I do mean lovely, since the wind and dust didn't blow up there. The Sangre De Christi Mountains had never fallen snow on them. In fact the blanket of snow fell Saturday morning.

Cayce had dinner with several old friends Saturday evening. The group went to Madrid, a ghost town with a resort restaurant in it, called the Mineshaft Inn. We had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cross and Major Richard Laing. Cross is Corporation Commissioner for the state of New Mexico. Mrs. Cross was my secretary and bookkeeper for three years prior to our moving to Plains. Major Laing was one of my former bosses, having been State Commander of The American Legion. In fact, when I was State Adjutant, Dick was the man who appointed me.

We enjoyed a nice chat with another old friend, Chief Justice J. C. Compton of the New Mexico Supreme Court. Judge Compton is originally from Portales, my wife's home.

Santa Fe is one of the most unique cities in America. It is the oldest capitol in America, dating back to 1610. In fact the Spaniards came to Santa Fe in 1598, but the permanent settlement was founded in the later date.

Only three state capitol buildings in our fifty states are not built on classical designs. Those are Louisiana, which has a sky scraper, Nebraska, which has modern design, and New Mexico, which follows territorial architecture with the exterior being stucco with the brick trim around the flat roof.

The old palace of the Governors dates back to 1610, and was the seat of power with all Spanish, Mexican, and Territorial Governors living there until New Mexico entered the Union in 1912. It is now a museum. In fact the Stars and Bars of the Old Confederacy flew over the palace during the Civil War for a few days, until the Texans were defeated a few miles from Santa Fe at Glorietta Pass. Today the Baptist Church has a lovely camp near the battle grounds. When General Lew Wallace was Governor of New Mexico, he wrote much of Ben Hur in the Palace of the Governors.

In all, Santa Fe is a nice place to take a vacation, and to those who like adobe and the quiet atmosphere of a scenic mountain town, then by all means go to Santa Fe, because you won't be sorry!

EDITORIALS

The members of the Plains Volunteer Fire Department, City Council, and County Commission are to be commended for their lending the 1957 Chevrolet Fire Truck to Hale Center, which was severely damaged by a tornado last week.

The Fire Chief at Hale Center reported that the only equipment available for fire fighting in that wind torn city was an obsolete 150 gallon water truck on loan from Plainview.

Hale Center is once again a protected city against fire. We are glad for this and think that the gesture was humane and a fine Christian Act.

The tip of the hat of The Plains Record goes to these thoughtful people who helped their neighbors.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER HOPE

Hope is a straw to cling to, something to grasp in the moment of darkest despair. Hope is more than the attitude that "things could be worse," hope brings the certain belief that things will be better.

But, let us not hope too much. Let us not believe that God will hear a prayer and change the world for us. Let us not believe that God is our own personal God, or more accurately, that he is ours alone. It is far better to ask God for strength to be a better person than to ask God to change the world. If we become a better person, our world will become a better world.

Hope and faith work hand-in-hand. If we have faith, we have something stronger than hope; we have the belief that God will give us whatever measure of strength we may need to resist a temptation, to accept a defeat, to struggle against adversity.

Without question there is one thing of which we may be quite certain. So long as we have faith, we shall never be without hope. We know by faith that we are in our Father's keeping and, knowing God, we have confidence that we shall not be deserted.

It is pretty easy to go to church all starched and ironed, but sometimes it is not as easy to look like we have been washed.

Wisdom is said to be knowing the right thing to do, skill is the art of knowing how to do it, and virtue is having the faith and courage to do it.

God expects us to pray devoutly and then hammer stoutly.

Even a Communist will unclench his fist long enough to one of Uncle Sam's handouts.

Even the milk of human kindness will sour if it sets on the shelf too long.

If we want to come up in the world the first thing to do is to get up. If we want to go places we need to level off. If we want to go in life we need to keep moving.

Opposition can be good even a kite could not rise for the wind.

It is so true that it rains both on the just and the unjust, but the difference is that a gentle shower does some folks more good than a steady downpour does on others.

We sing Oh For A Thousand Tongues, when at the same time the neighbors may be wishing we would use the one we have a little less often.

We should never stop trying because of a few failures. Success may well be a few near misses done over again and shined up with a coat of experience.

The road to success lies in forging ahead. If a little success turns our head we are headed backward in the direction of failure.

Sometimes a speech is like a pie the less goodies there are in it the longer it takes to get through the sugar coating.

Most of the great warriors in history could conquer most of the world, and then fail to conquer themselves.

"Patent Pending"

Vaudeville comedians used to have a lot of fun with "that famous old Irishman, Pat Pending." And even today, of course, it is a name that we all encounter often.

What does it mean? Far less, legally, than you might suppose. It does mean that a patent on the marked product has been applied for. But it does not mean that the patent will necessarily be granted (only about one half of all applications are successful). Nor does it mean that the product cannot be copied freely in the meantime.

Nevertheless, as a practical matter, such a notice may have considerable "scare" effect. It warns the would-be copier that the inventor might get a patent at any moment. And if that happens, the copier may be left high and dry—with his dies cast, his advertising printed, and his merchandise ready to go.

Once a valid patent is issued, the inventor may stop anyone else from making, using, or selling the invention. Unless his patent is upset in court, he retains that exclusive power for 17 years (less for design patents).

So exclusive is this power that, generally speaking, no one can make the product even for private, personal use. Not until the 17 years have passed does the invention become free for all, part of the public domain.

Needless to say, such a monopoly is unusual in an economy of free private enterprise. But it is granted in the belief that to encourage invention is to benefit society.

It was this belief that led the Constitutional Convention—by unanimous vote—to write a patent provision into the Constitution itself. Since that time, patents have been granted on more than 3,000,000 inventions. For, in the words of Abraham Lincoln:

Don MacLean Boston's Haunted House

WASHINGTON — A young couple, originally from Washington, bought an ancient house in Boston recently and their adventures with it sound like something Alfred Hitchcock dreamed up. You see, it has ghosts — or something.

Things have gotten so bad, what with thumps in the night, strange footsteps, visions and mysterious happenings, that the lady of the house telephoned her favorite priest, who is here at Georgetown University. He advised her to contact the priest in her parish in Boston and have him bless the house. This was done.

The family would just as soon remain anonymous for the time being, for two reasons. (1) They don't want people to think they're odd. (2) They might decide to sell the place and if word gets around, well, who but the Addams family would buy a haunted house?

It all began on one of their first nights there. The husband thought he heard footsteps above their bedroom. Since they were alone in the house, except for their infant child, he took his pistol and went to investigate. He didn't find anything.

A couple of days later his wife had a half-raising experience. She was downstairs, doing her housework. Her baby was asleep in the crib nearby. It was late afternoon. A neighbor-

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

It seems probable now that there is ever a coat of arms selected by the Great Society it will be composed of a shield quartered in four fields to depict acres of rotting strawberries, plowed up asparagus, fields of rotting lettuce and unplanted tomato acreage. On each side will be shown a housewife rampant.

This then will fittingly memorialize the hassle created in California agriculture, C. W. Harder first by Congress and then accelerated by Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz. Inasmuch as California normally produces 25% of the table food of the nation, the situation furnishes an excellent clinical study.

Bureaucrats tot not, neither do they spin, yet they hesitate not telling others how they shall produce. For many years California agriculture has depended upon trained Mexican farm labor, and many thousands of the Mexicans have been very happy to work in the fields on a guarantee of $1.25 an hour plus housing, and a piecework arrangement which permits them to make from $25 to $40 a day.

But due to the pressure of labor leaders and uninformed "do gooders" this labor source was denied this year. Secretary Wirtz, who could have alleviated this situation, took the position that if the growers guaranteed $1.40 an hour, there was ample domestic help to do the job, so the basic wage guarantee was raised to $1.40 an hour, but would not get domestic workers off relief rolls to work.

As a result, millions of pounds of strawberries rotted on the vines, millions of pounds of asparagus were plowed under, lettuce harvests were curtailed, and tomato planting reduced, as no one knows how they will ever get picked.

This means that long before Autumn the American housewife will find she is paying substantially higher prices for many products, even including such common household items as strawberry jam.

The whole sorry episode illustrates how slap happy bureaucrats become when given some power, and it does seem quite absurd to let a labor secretary determine the welfare of the farmer.

When the sour odor of rotting strawberries was wafted into Washington, Secretary Wirtz reversed himself to the extent of permitting 1,500 Mexican workers to come in.

Now comes the particular problem. On many items there will be a shortage, which means higher prices.

Now that everybody with great authority and equally great ignorance has had their fun in experimenting, who makes up the difference in cost to the housewife? Of course, these facts are beyond the consideration of bureaucrats. Any time one of their Great Experiments fails, they just wash their hands and let the public pay the bill.

ARTHRITIS-RHEUMATISM

When the couple got home, the baby-sitter was in a highly nervous state. She said that she had fallen asleep on the sofa and had been awakened when someone shook her by the shoulders. She said there wasn't a soul there when she opened her eyes, so she thought she'd dreamed it.

Eventually, she went back to sleep, and this time she was awakened when she felt "someone" sit on her chest. She woke up and jumped off the sofa and the pressure on her chest stopped immediately. About that time the parents returned.

The mother of the woman who owns the house lives in Washington and she telephones her daughter every day — or almost — to find out about the ghost. She thinks her daughter and son-in-law should move.

Perhaps I'll touch on this subject again, should there be further adventures, since I can cover this story from here, which is as close as I want to get to a haunted house.

The new day they had the priest come over to bless the house and, at the point, the neighbors started to wonder what was going on. One of them told the couple that the previous owner, a woman, was a very

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory silk taffeta with sculptured bodice, portrait neckline and brief sleeves. The semi-dome skirt featured a removable train. Her bouquet was cymbidium orchids.

Miss Sarah K. Field of Bronco was maid of honor. Mrs. Ralph Townes of Alpine was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jofa Prestridge of Lubbock and Miss Jana Warren.

They wore floor length empire sheath dresses of pink chiffon and crepe. The dresses featured scoop necklines and long sleeves. They wore satin bows with marine headpieces. They carried roses and pink carnations.

HOUSTON - - An act of the Texas Legislature established The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in 1941.

It opened for patient care March 1944 in the temporary quarters provided by the M. D. Anderson Foundation.

The permanent building in the Texas Medical Center was completed for occupancy March 18th, 1954.

The staff now numbers 1800 who are engaged in the programs of patient care, research and education.

Construction funds for the permanent building were obtained from the State Legislature, the federal government and from generous gifts of private foundations and philanthropists.

The research work at the Hospital has been materially assisted by grants or funds from federal agencies, national societies, foundations and individual gifts.

Furnishings also have been secured in this manner. Monroe D. Anderson, for whom the hospital is named established the foundation that not only provided temporary quarters and deeded 10 acres of land in the Texas Medical Center for the hospital, but also contributed 2 1/2 million dollars to the building fund.

State Law prescribes the purposes of the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute; Diagnosis of, Treatment of, Teaching about, Prevention of and Research on, CANCER AND ALLIED DISEASES. The Hospital serves as a diagnostic facility for all physicians in Texas and also serves as a special treatment facility for their patients.

Findings of the clinical examination are reported to referring physicians and Doctors in practice are offered courses of instruction and are encouraged to attend clinics, conferences and seminars in order to further their own knowledge of the disease and carry that knowledge into their practice of medicine.

In providing patient care, the physician and research scientist work hand-in-hand toward a common goal - - the conquest of cancer and its allied diseases.

From March 1944 to August 31, 1962, there were 45,224 patients treated.

Texas Counties represented by patients numbered 252 and States represented, numbered 47.

There were 12 foreign countries represented by patients in this period and a total of 8049 referring Physicians.

I shall give further information regarding this truly tremendous operation and the work that is being done here in a later column.

I had thought that every inch of me had been surveyed and tested when I had surgery in November at Methodist Hospital, and Methodist Hospital is one of the finest I have ever seen, however The M. D. Anderson, in its special field outweighs anything anywhere, in the pursuit of the cause and cure of all types of cancer.

Mine happens to be the 'not so serious type', unless it is allowed to get out of control and I am assured that the treatment I am now receiving will make my trouble disappear 'like magic.'

Back to the test, I can only say that never have I seen anything so thorough, so complete and so efficient as their system of examination as well as treatment.

Actually I believe that every thought I ever 'Think', every move I ever made, every association I ever had, is fully known to the many who have taken part in my examination and treatment, and is in my history at Anderson.

To show you how used one can get to all types of questions - I had been asked so many that when one doctor said (this was in the presence of about 20 doctors, who were observing), "How many sleeping pillows do you use?" I said, "I hardly ever use any but when I do I swallow one carbital."

I'm sure it embarrassed my son who was present for he understood the question, it being normal for them to ask how many pillows one used, to see if there was any possibility of heart failure.

Well, it dawned on me immediately after I'd answered that "I swallowed one occasionally," what he wanted to know so I apologized and told him I used one pillow.

Presently I am using crutches part of the time, a wheel chair part of the time and if I do get on my feet I walk on my heels.

Last week an incision was made in the top of each foot just above the toes, and dye was injected into the lymphatic ducts. These ducts are about the size of a hair, and the needle used is only slightly larger but it is quite an operation to get the needle into the smaller opening of the duct.

During the operation the foot has been deadened, however, one can't keep from moving it some, but I was told I had to - so I did - then for seven hours I had to lay completely still until each foot had received the proper amount of dye.

Try lying perfectly still without even moving a muscle (except I could move my arms a little), and you'll see that this was sheer torture.

I had four days of toxic reaction and was a pretty sick gal during that time. However this enabled them to discover each abnormality of every node in the body and that is what I must take a longer series of Cobalt.

They assure me when I get through there will be no malignancy left anywhere.

Next time I want to tell you more about the hospital and will also tell you about the Doctors I have had.

I will describe each one in a later column for I'm sure you will enjoy hearing about them. So far I have had a Spanish Doctor (lady) a Canadian Doctor (also a lady), A Greek, A Chinese, an Italian, and a German, and one who said he was a Hoosier.

Men Named

Dick McGinty and Hoss Newsom attended a meeting in Artesia recently concerning the route of U. S. 82. The group elected Paul Frost of Artesia as president and requested that two directors from each town be named to serve on the board. A. B. Carpenter also attended the meeting.

The members at the meeting represented delegates from the various Chamber of Commerce organizations in the area. Their plan is to erect signs at intersections where it is hard to find directions.

One of the primary signs which will be erected will be in Plains. It was brought out that many people miss the Lovington cut off and proceed to Tatum and Roswell.

The organization has taken a lot across the street from Nelm's Texaco station here in Plains, where the sign will be erected.

Attempts are being made to place signs in Brownfield, Lovington, and Plains. Dick McGinty stated that the meeting was informative and educational and that he believes that our city should participate in the program.

CHURCH NEWS

Acts 2:1-4 And when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place. And suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting, and there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them. And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

Now dropping down to verse 46 and 47 we read, And they, continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart. Praising God, and having favour with all the people. And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved.

Notice in the Birth of the Church, the members sit, soaked, and served. What they received they freely give, going everywhere preaching the word, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following.

I fear today that far too church members instead of sitting, soaking and serving, merely sit, soak, and sour. They go to church, sit and enjoy the good singing, preaching and fellowship, but fail to leave and visit the sick, absentee's and unsaved. They want the blessings and full benefits of the church, but after soaking it up they just sit and sour.

We must be up and about the Master's business, giving out that which we have received. Souls are dying without God because so many church members are retaining for their own benefit the blessings received instead of putting out and sharing the good news.

The dead sea is dead because it has no outlets. Is this the secret of why there are so many dead church members? Always receiving but never putting out.

Youth Conference Report

The Third Annual Attorney General's Youth Conference sponsored by the Attorney General of Texas, Waggoner Carr, will meet August 20, 21, 22, 1965 at Austin, Texas. There will be 1,600 Boys and Girls from Texas Schools (Grades 9-12) selected by school officials, church organizations, civic clubs, and interested local individuals.

Dr. Grubbs, city chairman for Plains, reported that two delegates are invited to attend the Conference from Plains as part of the Yoakum County quota. The registration fee is $32.00 and round trip bus transportation from Lubbock will be $18.00, making a total of $50.00. Any local clubs, churches, or civic groups are invited to sponsor a student to attend this conference.

The aims of the Youth Conference are:

1. To stimulate existing Youth and Community Organizations to devote more of their energy to projects designed to help youth meet the challenges of their generation through projects presented during the conference.

2. To provide a clearing house for ideas among Youth Workers, Church youth leaders, Educators, Law Enforcement Officers, Recreation Staffs, and other agencies and organizations -- a clearing house filled with fresh new ideas from the Youth of Texas themselves.

3. To teach youth new ideas for combatting delinquency which they can implement in their own communities in cooperation with the adult community.

The Seminars are the heart of the conference. They are God stir each one to start serving after being blessed so mightily of you, and not sit, soak, and sour.

Amen

Rev. H. A. Tarkington

designed to cover areas of major concern. Seminal leaders will be students who in cooperation with adult professionals in their respective fields have prepared material in advance. Seminars will include Vocational Training, Community Service, Law Enforcement, and Local Conferences. Topics discussed will include Stay in School, Juvenile Juries, Public Awareness Radio Shows, and how to sponsor one, Job Opportunities, how to combat "Drop Outs," Traffic Safety, and Church and Youth Activities.

Delegate Registration forms for the Conference may be obtained either from Dr. Wm. R. Grubbs, Denver City, or Mr. G. D. Kennedy, Plains School Superintendent.

Report From Sen.

By Senator John G. Tower

A move to bypass the Labor Department in recruitment of Bracero workers has been launched in the Senate by Senator John G. Tower, who has outlined plans to place recruitment responsibility in the hands of state authorities.

Senator Tower, who served for three years on the Senate's Labor Committee, introduced legislation which says the state officer principally responsible for agriculture will make the final determination as to the number of workers needed to harvest crops.

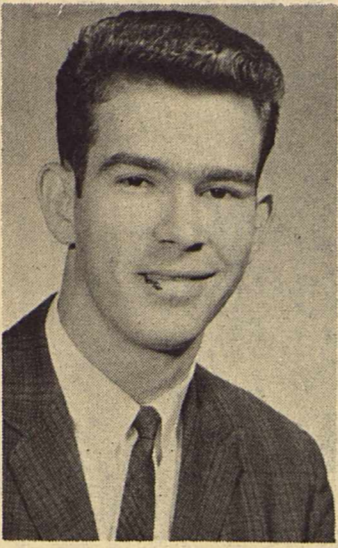

In the case of Texas, that power would be vested in the Commissioner of Agriculture. Presently, federal immigration law holds the U. S. Attorney General responsible for permitting importation of foreign workers; but the Secretary of Labor must first certify that a labor shortage exists.

Senator Tower noted that throughout this year's citrus and vegetable season in California and Florida Secretary of Labor Wirtz has flatly denied that serious labor shortages existed, in spite of severe crop losses due to insufficient labor. Eventually, and after long congressional and farm industry pressure, the Secretary did allow some limited, temporary admission of foreign workers for California and Florida.

Senator Tower said the Labor Secretary has pledged, in correspondence with the Senator, to work closely with the Texas Employment Commission to "meet the labor needs of Texas growers". Tower placed in the Congressional Record today TEC labor forecasts which predict spring harvest labor shortages, saying, "In light of the Secretary's pledge, there is real reason to hope that Bracero workers will soon be admitted to Texas. However, time continues to drift by, and farmers and ranchers cannot conjure workers overnight. I hope the Secretary will act quickly enough to permit the necessary advance planning by Texans involved."

Report From Tower

JOHN McANELLY

Senator Tower's legislation would give the state sole jurisdiction over the "finding of a need" for additional workers. The U. S. Attorney General then would supervise immigration.

Senator Tower said also that a safeguard has been written into the bill to guard against infiltration of subversive elements into the normal flow of Bracero workers.

Report From Sen. Yarborough

By Senator Ralph Yarborough

The small communities of this Nation are slowly dwindling in number. One reason for their going out of existence is our neglect of their welfare, while we seek the benefits from increased prosperity and technology.

This is why I support the Public Works and Economic Development act of 1965. I have urged that the eligibility requirements under this act be such that no community, no matter how small, will be denied the assistance necessary to better itself.

At the present time, there are roughly 800 small communities in Texas. It has been estimated that by 1970 there will only be 600 small communities in Texas. This bill would help avoid this grim destiny by providing grants and loans for such things as waterworks and sewage disposal systems, the surest guarantees of survival for small towns.

Every community or region, if it desires to help itself, should receive assistance from the federal government, if we are to insure that it does not fall victim to a changing technology.

Under this bill, patterned after the Area Redevelopment Administration which has done so much for our rural areas, a community will be able to get grants and loans for public works and development facilities. This would include loans for the purchase or development of land and facilities for industrial or commercial usage. Technical assistance, research and information will also be provided.

With the passage of this bill, we will be giving the small communities and rural areas a chance to share in the fruits of economic progress and technological advancement. In this way, no one will be left behind in the Great Society.

FARM TOPICS

YOKUM S. C. D. NEWS
BY C. MURRELL THOMPSON

Two severe storms, one last Friday and one last Tuesday not only did a terrible amount of damage but once again proved the value of crop residue management, cover crops and supplemental tillage as a means of protecting our sandy soil. The hazards of farming are many any place but seem to be far greater in West Texas this year than in a long time.

There are always good examples of conservation farming but never have they with stood the test so well as they have this winter and spring.

Richard and J. E. Meil, Jimmie Cox, Roy Perkins, W. B. White, Bobby White, Phill Williams, James Williams, Jess Snodgrass, Carter Snodgrass are a few of the many cooperators with the Yoakum SCD that know the value and are using good conservation practices to protect their soil and hold what little moisture we get from rain fall.

It is too early at this writing to give an accurate figure on the total acreage of crop destroyed by the Friday and Tuesday storm but you can rest assured it will be a large amount. With this kind of damage we will begin now not only to replant but to plant and plan for better protection next year and more of it.

Work continues in re-writing conservation plans and writing new ones with land owners and operators. One new Great Plains contract was signed this week. Charles Brookshire and two new applications were received for assistance in Conservation work under the Great Plains Program. They were Phill Williams on the Matt and Emily Williams estate and Phill Williams on his own place.

FARM NOTES

YOKUM COUNTY ASC
NEWS
BY W. M. OVERTON
OFFICE MANAGER

A cover crop practice is approved under the local ACP program administered by the local ASC Office for establishing a cover of forage sorghum and millet for summer protection from erosion. Applications may be filed during June for cost share assistance. Farmers interested in this program should file their request immediately. The funds will be limited and we have no way of knowing at this time the maximum amount that the approval could be issued for. Under this practice cost-sharing may be offered for establishing a cover crop on diverted land. The cover crop cannot be grazed when planted on diverted acreage, until after November 1st; but may be grazed if properly managed after the November 1st release date. No crop can be harvested by mechanical means. Applications will be taken at the local ASC Office or farmers may make requests by telephone, but as under past programs, to be eligible for payment a request must be received by the ASC Office before the practice is started.

Some of the faculty members for the band clinic are Willis Giddens, Friona; Tim Jones, Hamlin; Merlin Jenkins, Abilene; Judy Mathis; Roscoe; Carl Lobitz, Odessa; Gene and Karen Young, Plains; Russell Mckiski, Big Spring; and Warren Thaxton, Abilene.

Views From County Agent

By Leo White

Midland Bermuda grass is now grown in Yoakum County in various sized plots and in all irrigated portions of the county. Many stories have been told about the value of this irrigated grass. In almost every conversation about Midland Bermuda grass the subject of carrying capacity comes up. They tell how many head of livestock was on a certain small patch of grass and how well they did or how poorly they did.

This year the conversation is a little different than in the past. A farmer who has some Midland Bermuda grass usually tells where he made his mistakes last year or year before last. It usually boils down to the fact that to get good use from Midland requires proper management. Very few people will agree what proper management is. They know that it involves timing and amounts of irrigation water, timing and amounts of fertilizer applications, the kind of fertilizer used and the method of grazing.

It is possible to get good returns from Midland Bermuda grass and at the same time use rather loose management practices. This can be done by making a good buy and a good sale on the livestock used to graze the grass. In these cases, a real good profit would have been made if better management practices had been used.

The fact remains that Midland Bermuda grass will respond to the proper combination of water and fertilizer. The amount of water and fertilizer to apply will depend upon the amount of forage needed to satisfy the demands of the livestock utilizing the grass. The value of the livestock will determine the efficiency of the management practices. When cattle are selling for $30.00 cwt. a farmer might be justified in applying $40.00 worth of irrigation water and $40.00 worth of fertilizer per acre an running seven or eight head of feeder cattle per acre. With this high grazing capacity, some additional feeding would probably be necessary to get efficient gains on the livestock.

When livestock prices are $20.00 cwt., the amounts of water and fertilizer should be decreased and the number of animals per acre would have to be cut down. Regardless of the price of livestock and the amount of water and fertilizer used, there is one common error in management. Very few farmers have the Midland Bermuda grass patches cut up in sections for rotation grazing. Those who do have cross fences probably do not have enough. One cross fence making two patches for rotation grazing will pay off big over no cross fence. The higher the production goes the more necessary it is to rotate the grazing. It sounds a little crazy but perhaps ten or twelve patches for rotation grazing is not too many. When production costs are high, it doesn't take much additional grazing to pay for an additional fence.

After sorghum has emerged, spray Atrazine to control weeds and grasses.

The idea is to spray Atrazine 80W herbicide right after sorghum has emerged, but before weeds are 1 1/2 inches high. This one application, moved to the weed root zone by rainfall, will control most annual broad-leaf weeds and grasses in sorghum for the entire season.

Control of weeds and grasses in sorghum with Atrazine can greatly reduce the need for cultivating. And so your crop goes through the entire season without weed competition for moisture and soil nutrients.

The results of weed control in sorghum are higher yields and lower production costs. And you can now graze or feed forage to livestock from treated sorghum fields 60 days after Atrazine application.

Contact your local supplier now for Atrazine 80W herbicide.
