Mayor Favors City Bond Issue

J.M. Dearing

Pictured with the first bale of cotton this year are J. M. Dearing, Hoss Newsom, Anthony Garza, and D. C. Newsom.

Mayor Kenneth Hale has released the audit for the past years operation of the city. The city's chief magistrate stated that the city is operating under sound financial strength, and that he is happy to state that the auditor reported that it is the best audit to come out of the city hall in many years.

The mayor praised the members of the council, and the management of City Secretary Bob Long and his staff. Mayor Hale stated that as a result of the sound fiscal condition of the city, that the council will probably proceed with plans to call for a bond issue to put in bigger water mains in Plains. The mayor also said that the plan will call for bringing in two water wells. The Plains mayor also said that the new wells would produce much better water than we now have.

The Plains Chief executive said that since the city operated in the black that it can now afford to do everything possible to improve our water transportation system. The mayor extended his appreciation to the publisher of The Record for editorializing for such a plan. He said that the city will get an engineer to make recommendations for a plan to follow in order that we can do something to get the fire rates lowered.

Bill Loyd, president to the Plains State Bank has been in contact with the state insurance commissioner in order to see exactly what the city must do to qualify for lower fire insurance. Mr. Loyd received an answer from the State Commissioner, and the letter outlined the procedures which should be followed if we are to be considered a protected city.

The City of Plains is running its annual financial report in this issue of the paper. It appears on page four. Mayor Hale urges all interested citizens to read the audit in order that they may know what the financial picture of the city is.

The mayor also said that the new population figures have been put on the signs coming into Plains. He extended his appreciation to the Chamber of Commerce, the churches of Plains, and to the different organizations that participated in taking the census.

Chiefs Scalp Pokes 21-7

The Friona Chieftans went on the war path last Friday night at Cowboy Stadium and scalped the Pokes to the tune of 21-7 in a hard fought contest. The Tribe went out in front by 14 points the first half and held the Cowboys to only two first downs in the first two periods. One was on a penalty.

Fans came to the edge of their seats in the second half as the Cowboys came alive after a long pass thrown from Taylor to Swan was completed inside the five. The Pokes scored and kicked the extra point to cut the score to 14-7.

With less than four minutes remaining to be played the Cowboy attack bogged down on their own 42 and it was fourth and 19 for a first.

The Cowboys elected to go for the first down, and after a vicious charge the ball went over on downs at mid-field. That was all for the Pokes, as the Indians ground out another score with only seconds remaining.

The Cowboy quarterback, Bobby Taylor, showed poise in passing the ball in setting up the only score for the home team. At another point in the game, Taylor threw a bomb which was dropped by a Cowboy receiver. If the pass had been caught a touchdown would have followed, because nobody was between the receiver and the goal.

Even though the Chieftans rendered the Cowboy attack hapless the first half, the Pokes put up a valiant goal line stand, by giving up only 10 1/2 yards in eight carries.

Mokey McCrary got a fine punt off his toe which boosted the Cowboy efforts. The punt was a 43 yarder.

In the season opener, the Chiefs fell victim to Farwell 8-7 and Plains faces a fine Farwell team Friday night, in a contest where the Cowboys find themselves in the underdog position.

Mrs. Kirby Opens Shop

Mrs. Odell Kirby announced the opening of the Town and Country Beauty Shop last Monday. Mrs. Kirby's beauty shop is located on the Lovington Highway about a mile West of town.

An open house was held at the beauty shop last Monday and Mrs. Kirby stated that her shop will be open from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week. Special appointments may be made by contacting Mrs. Kirby. Mrs. Kirby's husband owns the Plains Barber Shop. The Kirbys have recently returned to Plains after a brief stay in Lubbock where he was an instructor at the Barber College.

Mrs. Kirby expressed her appreciation to the people who came to her open house and to those who sent flowers for her opening.

Chamber Sponsors

Roy McGehee, president of the Plains Chamber of Commerce extends an invitation to anyone interested in forming an Alfalfa Association to attend a special meeting Monday, September 27 at the Club room at 8 p. m.

The Chamber president said that the program will be under the sponsorship of the Plains Chamber of Commerce, and urged all interested people to attend.

Newsom Gins Year's 1st Cotton Bale

The first cotton of the year was processed at the D. C. Newsom gin last Saturday afternoon and by 4:00 p. m. the new bale was sitting on the dock at the gin, and J. M. Dearing, who farms eight miles west of Plains had received his weigh in slip from D. C. and Hoss Newsom.

Mr. Newsom stated that the cotton was of Midland grade, and that it is the best that he has seen in many years for the first bale.

Dearing received a bonus for the first load and was paid a premium price for his cotton. The first load of cotton is always ginned free at the Newsom Gin.

In explaining that the cotton was of Midland quality, Mr. Newsom explained that there are only two grades above Midland, and there are 34 grades below that fine standard.

The first bale has been moved to the southwest corner of the courthouse square.

Mr. Dearing said that he planted the cotton May 5 and 6, and that it is irrigated cotton. He said that most of the cotton in his area looks good and that it should be a good cotton year for Yoakum Co. Dearing said that some of the dry land cotton will be weak, but for the most part that it should be a good season for cotton.

Mr. Dearing was the first farmer in Yoakum County to grow a bale to the acre. This was in 1951. When asked why farmers easily get more cotton now, Mr. Newsom said that better farming methods are used. He said that the fertilizer and seed are of higher quality now.

The first load of cotton made 523 lbs. of lint out; 2000 lbs. of seed cotton, and 820 pounds of seed.

The official Government grade on the Dearing bale of cotton was Midland 1 and 1/32 The micronaire reading was 4. 2.

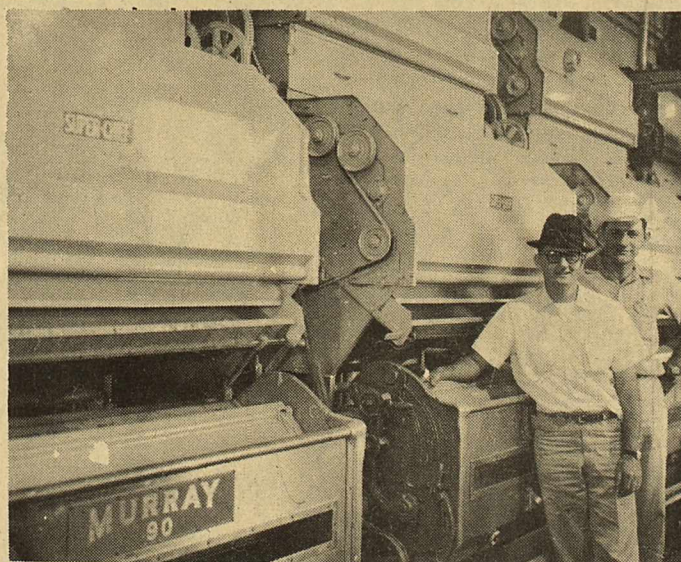

Farm Bureau Meeting

James Williams, president of the Yoakum County Farm Bureau, extends an invitation to all members of the Farm Bureau and to people interested in joining, to attend a covered dish supper at the Club room in the old court house at 7:30 p. m. Thursday September 23.

Williams said that a program has been planned for the evening. State Representative Jesse T. George will be a guest at the meeting and will participate on the program, Rep. George worked closely with Farm Bureau in the last session of the legislature.

Representative George was recently the principal speaker at the regional Farm Bureau meeting in Levelland. George is the youngest member of the House of Representatives.

The Farm Bureau maintains an office on the Northwest side of the square in Plains in the Don Hancock building. Office hours are from 8-5 Monday through Friday. Membership in the local Farm Bureau is about 150.

Terry Bacon shows new gin equipment to Herbert Cole

Terry Bacon Buys Bronco Gin Co.

New machinery changed the Bronco Gin into one of the latest model gins in the area.

Terry Bacon who recently bought the Bronco Gin from R. E. Hilburn of Lovington has added 4-90 saw, Murray gin stands and 4 Super Chief Mitchell Feeders with a new dryer that will give a dual drying system that will help the farmer to get a better grade on his cotton. The new stands will help the farmer to get a better grade on his cotton. The new stands will double the ginning capacity. A new green bole separator that was manufactured in Brownfield by T&P. Mechanical Service will give the farmer back his green boles. The new separator is reported to be the best on the market.

There will be 70 cotton trailers available to the farmers to bring the cotton to the gin.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Bacon moved to Bronco in 1958 and now live in Mrs. Bacon's home east of Bronco. They have four children. Bayne, a 2nd grader in Plains and Tammy Dayne, and Melissa.

Terry wishes to take this opportunity to invite everyone to a fish fry on the gin yard in Bronco, Saturday, September 18 from 5:00 till 8:00 p. m. He invites each and everyone to come and enjoy the fish fry and inspect the gin and get acquainted.

Terry said he would hand out cotton seed dividend checks Saturday for the 1964 cotton ginning there.

Come Saturday and get acquainted.

Fire Protection Rate Regulations Listed

Last week The Record ran an editorial favoring action to be taken to make the city of Plains a protected city. Bill Loyd, president of the Plains State Bank, received the following data for the State Board of Insurance which outlines the requirements which must be met. The instructions follow:

REQUIREMENTS NECESSARY TO SECURE "PROTECTED" CITY RATING
In order to secure a protected rating it is necessary that the city or community have both a recognized water works and a recognized fire department. All water works and fire department requirements are based on population. When requesting specific information as to requirements, please include the present population of the city.

Cities and communities proposing to install a new water works system and desiring to secure fire protection recognition should secure written approval of all plans from the Engineering Department of the Texas Fire Insurance Division, Austin, Texas in order to insure that the installation will meet all requirements.

Sen. Tower Report

As you know, the Congress voted a few months ago to increase Social Security benefits by a seven percent cost of living factor. I fully supported this cost of living benefit increase.

I am not pleased that continued unwise federal fiscal policies have forced the price of goods and food into a continuing upward spiral but I did not feel that we could any longer expect Social Security recipients to bear the brunt of the recent inflation.

The seven percent increase was made effective as of January 1 of this year, so Social Security beneficiaries probably will be receiving sometime this month a supplemental check for their increased benefits due from January through September. Thereafter the seven percent increase will be reflected in each monthly check.

Some other key amendments which we added to the Social Security law this session will be beneficial for thousands of Texans; here is a list of those amendments:

BENEFITS MAY BE PAID TO STUDENTS UP TO AGE 22. If you are eligible for Social Security benefits as the unmarried son or daughter of a person receiving old age or disability insurance benefits or a person who has died, you may receive benefits, if you are continuing as a full time student, until you reach age 22.

BENEFITS FOR WIDOWS AT AGE 60. If you are the widow of an insured worker, beginning with September, 1965, you may start receiving benefit as early as age 60 if you decide to accept a reduced monthly amount.

CHANGE IN COVERAGE FOR FARMERS. If you are a self-employed farmer and your gross earnings from farming in a year after 1965 are under $2,400, you may report two-thirds of your gross earnings, instead of your net earnings, for Social Security purposes.

THE AMOUNT OF SOCIAL SECURITY CREDIT REQUIRED FOR PEOPLE 72 AND OVER TO QUALIFY FOR BENEFITS IS REDUCED. If you are 72 or over and have not been able to qualify for Social Security benefits because you (or your spouse) did not work long enough under Social Security, you may now be eligible for payments up to $35 per month.

IF YOU WORK AFTER YOU APPLY FOR BENEFITS. If you continue to work after you apply for benefits but earn no more than $1,500 in a year, beginning with January, 1966, there will be no deduction from your Social Security payments because of your work.

Officers of the Young Home Makers display award for their press book.

Yoakum Young Homemakers Win Top Press Award

Yoakum County Young Homemakers walked off with the Area II Publicity Award for county chapters in a whirl of excitement at the close of the Area II Convention of Texas Young Homemakers and Young Farmers Saturday night. Club reporter, Mrs. Roy McGehee accepted the award, an engraved silver tray, from the area reporter and a representative from Lyntegar Electric Cooperative Tahoka, donors of the award.

The joint convention, held in Brownfield Saturday, is an annual affair. The Y. H. met in the High School Auditorium with more than 100 women representing the area chapters. Those attending from Plains were Mrs. Jim Barron, Mrs. Bob Mason, Mrs. Kent Welch, Mrs. Harry Richardson, Mrs. Jerome Head and Mrs. Venuum Fitzgerald and Mrs. Roy McGehee voting delegates. The group enjoyed an enjoyed address by Mrs. Wildring Edwards from Texas Tech on "The Joy of being a women". Also a delightful book review was given by Mrs. Madeline Hegi of Tahoka.

New area officers were elected in a lively business session and the installation followed. Installing officer was Mrs. Faye Newsom, statewide vice president from Brownfield. New officers included Mrs. Jane Crossland, president, Mrs. Gayla Hawn, vice president, Mrs. Sandra Bolenger, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lena Williams reporter, and Mrs. Shirley Bartlett, parliamentarian. Also elected was Jonetta Brown of Reeves County to serve as incoming state officer.

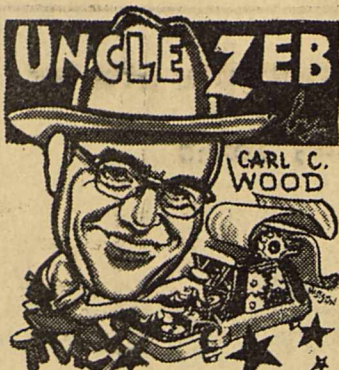

The awards banquet Saturday night proved to be the high point of the convention for the Plains group. In addition to the Publicity Award, the club was named second in the outstanding new chapter competition. First place went to the O'Donnell Chapter. The evenings entertainment was provided by the Morton "Symphonies", a group well known in Yoakum County. They appeared at the Denver City Chamber of Commerce Banquet in 1964 and again in 1965 at the Y. H. - Y. F. Hobo Supper in Plains. A special guest at the banquet was the 1965 State Young Homemakers President, Mrs. Doris Joiner of De Leon, a long time friend of the Plains reporter.

Another thrill came when the Plains group appeared on a Lubbock Television news cast. The entire group of Y. H. and their husbands were seated at the banquet table and Mrs. McGehee appeared as she accepted the Publicity award.

Mrs. McGehee reported that the silver tray, which was won by the Yoakum County Young Homemakers, is on display at the Plains State Bank.

She urges interested people to drop by the Bank and see the award which the club won.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Man Over Beast

The Bible tells us that mankind was given dominion over the animals of the land and the fish of the sea. But, as any sportsman knows, it isn't always easy for one particular man to gain dominion over one particular animal or one particular fish.

In the eyes of the law, when do you become the owner of a wild creature? To start with, the state "owns" all the wild animals and fish that dwell permanently within its borders.

But the state owns them only in a very general sense, holding title in trust for the benefit of the people. Any person—subject to the fish and game laws and private property rights—may acquire ownership of any animal or fish simply by reducing it to his possession.

But just what is possession? Consider this case: A hunter was in hot pursuit of a deer when another hunter, appearing suddenly from a different direction, felled the animal with a fatal shot.

In short order the two men went to court to settle ownership of the deer. The judge ruled in favor of the second hunter, holding that pursuit alone, no matter how close to success, was not enough to give title to the pursuer.

But in another case, a hunter who inflicted disabling wounds on a wolf over a second hunter who stepped up close and administered the coup de grace. The court said the first hunter had acquired possession, hence ownership, by making the wolf's escape just about impossible.

Even so you may gain ownership by gaining possession, so you may also lose ownership by losing possession. Clearly you have no rights in a fish which, although briefly hooked, squirms free and regains the safety of the water.

In one unusual case, the owner of a sea lion that escaped into the ocean was held to have no claim against a man who caught the same sea lion two weeks later, 70 miles away.

On the other hand, if an escaped animal is trained to come home again, then the owner retains title. The habit of return, like an invisible leash, ties the animal to its owner.

A woman's pet canary, having escaped from its cage, was caught and kept by a neighbor. But in a court test, the first woman was held to be the owner still. The court pointed out that the bird answered to her call, had not gone far, and had previously come home voluntarily after an outing.

"Such a bird could not be considered fair game for capture, said the court, because it had not truly gone "back to nature."

Miss Georgie Gentry of Route 3, Box 284, Weaverville, North Carolina, is disappointed. . . A few weeks ago we used a quote from her collection of clippings and she wanted very much to hear from some Texas folks. Some of you older folks write to this fine lady please. This week she sent more good thoughts:

- #### Ten Commandments
1. Thou shalt not worry, for by so doing thou shalt suffer the same disaster many times.
 2. Thou shalt not try to dominate others or to possess them, for it is right for every person to govern his own actions.
 3. Thou shalt not desire fame, for the burden of greatness are an affliction to the spirit.
 4. Thou shalt not desire great wealth, for there is no peace in the lives of the rich.
 5. Thou shalt relax, for great tension is an abomination to the flesh.
 6. Thou shalt have a sense of humor, or thy years will seem long and painful in the land.
 7. Thou shalt love the beautiful and serve the good, for this is according to the will of heaven.
 8. Thou shalt harm no other person, by word, or thought, or deed, regardless of the cause; for to do so is to perpetuate the sorrows of the race.
 9. Thou shalt not be angry at any person, for anger injures most the one who is angry.
 10. Thou shalt never blame another for thy misfortune, for each man's destiny is in his own keeping.

A Young Boy's Composition of Anatomy: Your head is kind of round and hard and your brains are in it. Your face is on the front where you eat and make faces. Your neck is what keeps your head out of your collar. It is hard to keep clean. . . Your stomach is something that if you don't eat, it hurts and spinach don't help none.

My "died in the wool" Democrat Uncle says that he resents the fact that Jack Paar tries to get laughs on his television show with jokes about the recent political campaign. . . Especially the statement that even every day advertising is being turned into political slogans, and that in one Mr. Johnson was referred to as Mr. Clean, and that Barry Goldwater was known as "A Tiger in the Tank" . . . Anyway, it ain't changed my uncle none at all and he says right off that, "He had rather fight than switch."

A friend once told this story: A young fellow admired a certain Uncle on his mother's side very much. He approved most vigorously his knack for saving money. This approval wasn't discouraged by the fact that he and his nephew were the only existing ones over a second hunter who stepped up close and administered the coup de grace. The court said the first hunter had acquired possession, hence ownership, by making the wolf's escape just about impossible.

contrary to his usual good judgment the uncle had foolishly left his wisely earned money in the hands of two nieces of the uncle's younger brother.

Uncle Jay Bob said they almost never decided on a name for their first baby. The trouble was that they had so many poor relatives.

If the thing at hand looks good, we should act on it at once—who knows, things could get worse. . . If on the other hand, things look bad we should act slowly and with caution—who knows—things might get better.

Editorial

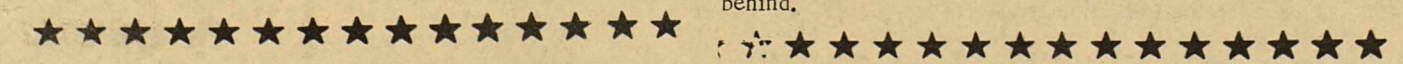

The tip of The Record hat this week is extended to three gentlemen of Plains who very quietly render a worthwhile service to their community.

Those men are M. W. Luna, D. C. Newsom, and Lester Barrett. All three of these gentlemen are advanced in years, but they care what their cemetery looks like and see to it that grave markers are placed on those graves that time and age have rendered the markers unreadable. These men went to the cemetery this week in the heat of the day and placed markers on the graves that would have gone forgotten had it not been for them.

They ordered three dozen grave markers and worked most of the afternoon placing them and shoveling dirt into sunken graves. All three men could have financially afforded to have hired it done, but instead they cared enough to do the work themselves.

Mr. Luna's mother was the first person to be laid to rest in the Plains Cemetery. She died in 1906. Since that time Mr. Luna has tried to remember who was buried in each grave.

These three men asked for no publicity, nor did they expect any for doing this humanitarian deed. But we of The Plains Record believe that they have earned the thanks of the whole community, and we hope that some of their good deeds will rub off on some of us in the younger set. Once more we say thank you Mr. Luna, Mr. Newsom, and Mr. Barrett for remembering those who are now only memories to those who are left behind.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

One of the unfortunate aspects of this era of mass hoopla is the hold a slogan can exert on the public, without deep knowledge of what is involved.

An example is the recently passed Federal aid to education bill. Most people do not want to be viewed as opposed to education, and it was on this basis that the Federal bureaucracy that has long sought to get into the educational system more deeply, depended.

The nation's independent business proprietors, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, supported by a two-thirds majority a bill that was presented by Rep. William Dorn of South Carolina that would have forced the Federal government to turn back to each state 5% of the tax collections from that state to be used for education.

This was opposed by the Washington bureaucrats on the grounds that it would not be fair to the less prosperous states as their 5% of the Federal taxes paid by their residents would not equal that received from such a plan by the healthier states. Of course, the real issue here was who would control the money.

But despite all the pious protestations against the alleged inequities, it is interesting to note how this matter was handled in the bill finally passed.

The bill provides that out of the funds Washington will give more money to a school district in which the majority of the parents have incomes of $2,000 per year or less, than to "more favored" districts.

Somehow in the bureaucratic mind, there is confusion as to the source of school taxes.

Individual incomes and assessed valuation of property have very little in common. In an area where there is a highly valued oil wells, other mineral resources, or where there is located some heavily assessed utility installations, the local population may be largely low income workers, or even hordes on relief.

But this does not alter the fact that the schools are supported by the taxes paid the highly valued property.

On the other hand, there are many suburban areas in the nation where the residents earn twice as much, but the districts are entirely devoid of any highly assessed property.

The children of these families will now be discriminated against in the allocation of these Federal funds, while children living in districts of high property valuations but low family incomes will have thrown at them more educational money than they knew what to do with.

During the war the men in service had a standard expressed "SNAFU" which translated "situation normal, all fouled up." And it seems that any time anything needs to be fouled up, all that is necessary is to get Washington bureaucrats in the act. They are experts in that field.

A local woman chided her husband about taking so long to choose a new car. "You married me only a week after you met me."

"Listen," the man said, "buying a car is serious."

Have you seen the new "Fleurs de Feet?" They are decals to be placed on the toe nails. The decals are of bugs, butterflies, flowers or what have you. You'll find them in the cosmetics department.

With such dressed up posy-toesies one can swim in them, show-off at the swimming pool or the beach, wear toeless sandals, and who'll notice your flat feet?

In a 1963 issue of his paper columnist Cliff Milnor told this one. (It is a repetition of a conversation overheard between two elderly friends.)

One woman was concerned over her choice of a final resting place. "I just don't know what to do," she said to her friend, "My daughter married a Yankee, you know, and she will be buried up there in Massachusetts. I simply won't be buried up there."

"Then, my husband - he's buried in Tennessee. I can't stand the thought of being buried in Tennessee. I'd really like to be buried right here in Texas so I suppose I'd better buy a cemetery lot."

"You'll do nothing of the sort," said her friend. "I couldn't think of you being buried all along. My husband and I have three graves on our lot and we will be using only two of them. We'll be happy to have you there."

"Well," said the first woman, "it would be nice - but I insist on paying you for my share of the lot."

"Don't be silly. The lot has been paid for long ago. You'll just be going along as our guest."

"No, I'll pay," said the first woman with finality. "In all the things we've done together we've always gone Dutch Treat!"

Being part Scotch I enjoy the numerous jokes told about the 'savings' they try to make with everything. This one I enjoyed and thought I'd share with you.

Three men, an Englishman, an Irishman, and a Scot - stepped into a diner for a cup of coffee. When the coffee was served, they were shocked to find that each cup had a fly in it.

Not wishing to cause a stir, the Englishman carefully spooned out the fly and placed it on his saucer, as did the Irishman.

Not so, the Scot. He reached into the coffee, grabbed the fly behind the neck, and said, "Okay, spit it out!"

Nationally Accredited Amateur Flower Show Judges Mrs. John Banta and Mrs. Charnell Jobe, of Lamesa conducted the Plains Dirt Gardeners Garden Club annual Flower arranging workshop Saturday, September 11th in the Old Courthouse Clubroom, Mrs. Wilson Dike, program director, introduced the speakers.

The program, stressing design in flower arranging, was presented in an informative manner with demonstrations creating designs of the hograth cresent, parabola, right, left and isosceles triangles, mass and line mass, and explaining the terms of symmetrical and asymmetrical. The hograth design was described as a modified letter "S". The easily recognized difference in the cresent and the parabola designs if lines of the cresent, if extended, will form a complete circle and extended lines of a parabola will never meet. Harmonizing and coordinating color of plant material with color of containers was demonstrated with a theme of "Pink Lemonade".

The annual workshop is an annual workshop is an essential requirement of a Federated Garden Club and is planned for the improvement of members accomplishments, further their education in the field of flower arranging and staging of a flower show which is another requirement of a Federated Club.

Members and speakers participated in an informal question and answer period concerning accepted procedures and ideas to stage the "Greatest Show On Earth", the annual Flower Show to be held October 16th in Plains Elementary School Activity Room from 3 until 6 p. m.

A covered dish salad luncheon was served to the speakers, members and guests including a special guest, Mrs. Harry Cayce, during the noon hour with Mrs. Foy Cogburn and Mrs. Neil Parks serving as hostesses.

DIETERS TAKE NOTE, HERE'S A LOW FAT CHEESE Taste treats and low calories come in the same package sometimes.

A low fat cheese that looks and tastes like a very mild cheddar has been developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Compared with cheddar's 31% butterfat, the new low fat cheese contains only 5 to 7%.

Made from skim milk, this is the first time a skim milk cheese has had acceptable body, texture and flavor for table use. The cheese has a clean, mild flavor that results from the small amount of butterfat added to the skim milk. It's relatively soft and mellow. It contains more moisture and more nonfat milk solids--and thus more protein--than cheddar.

An added advantage is that it is inexpensive to make. It takes only 2 1/2 hours to make up a batch and needs only 1 to 3 months' ripening time.

Although still awaiting market testing, the new cheese has been sampled by several hundred consumers at demonstrations. What's their rating? "Good to excellent" by the majority of samplers.

Speaking of cheese, Terry Vince of Detroit is the top winner in the 1965 National Sandwich Contest. This contest is sponsored by the American Dairy Association, National Livestock and Meat Board, National Restaurant Association, Poultry and Egg National Board and the Wheat Flour Institute.

GRILLED CHEESE MEXICANA (6 servings)
10 ounces ground beef About 1/2 cup water
2/3 cup finely chopped celery 18 slices enriched sandwich bread
1/2 cup finely chopped onion 1/4 cup butter, softened
6 tablespoons tomato paste 12 slices (3/4 oz. each) process American cheese
1 1/2 teaspoons chili powder 1 1/2 cups grapefruit and orange sections
3/4 teaspoon sugar
1/8 teaspoon pepper; 3/4 tsp salt
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder 6 lettuce cups

Preheat grill. In heavy saucepan place beef, celery and onion. Break beef into small pieces, cover and cook 15 minutes. Stir in tomato paste, chili powder, sugar, salt, pepper and garlic powder. Add enough water to moisten. Cover and continue cooking 15 to 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, spread 12 bread slices with butter. Using a 3-inch round cutter cut centers from remaining 6 bread slices, buttered side down, on board. Cover each with 1 cheese slice. Place bread slices with centers removed over cheese. Place 2 tablespoons beef mixture in center, spreading to fill opening. Cover with remaining cheese slices. Close sandwiches with remaining buttered bread slices, buttered side up. Grill sandwiches on both sides until golden brown. Cut in half diagonally. Serve 2 halves with 1/4 cup grapefruit and orange sections in lettuce cup.

A. S. C. News

BY W. M. OVERTON

1966 County Committee Election: On Thursday September 9, the ASCS committee ballots were tabulated by Ronnie Dunn, Jim Barron and E. O. Winkles with the final results showing the following persons elected: J. B. Ashburn, 203 votes, elected for a three year term; T. A. Elmore, 194 votes, elected for a two year term; R. E. Bearden, 182 votes, elected for the one year term; Bobby Bailey, 146 votes, elected as first alternate and Truett Jones, 144 votes, elected as second alternate. All other persons listed on the ballot received a smaller number of votes but all received a good vote. Five ballots were not counted due to voters leaving more than five names on the ballots and a few ballots were received post-marked after September the final date.

J. B. Ashburn, the three year term man is a land owner and farms in the northwest part of the county and has served one year as a committeeman. T. A. Elmore the two year man farms in the northeast and southeast part of the county, is listed on our records as owner on one farm and crop rent tenant on one farm and has served several terms on the county committee. Ray Bearden, the third man farms in the east and southeast part of the county, is also owner and tenant and has served several terms on the committee also. Bobby Bailey first alternate, farms in the southeast part of the county, is listed as owner-operator and he also has land rented and is a new alternate member of the county committee.

Destroying Excess Grain Sorghum: Under the feed grain regulations which all Texas Counties have, clipping or shredding grain sorghum is not an authorized method of disposition. Any acreage of grain sorghum that produces a growth or revives because of rain or other favorable conditions to the extent that there is any harvestable yield whatsoever (grazing is considered harvesting) must be incorporated into the soil or plowed down and other approved conservation uses will be required if necessary to protect the land. Grain sorghum destroyed by natural causes prior to disposition date may be considered as destroyed for compliance purposes without plowing down, if the county committee determines that there is no possibility of harvestable production (Grazing is considered harvesting) under the most favorable conditions thereafter. It appears from talking with farmers and our fieldman that very little if any grain sorghum in the county is destroyed to such an extent that it would fall in this class.

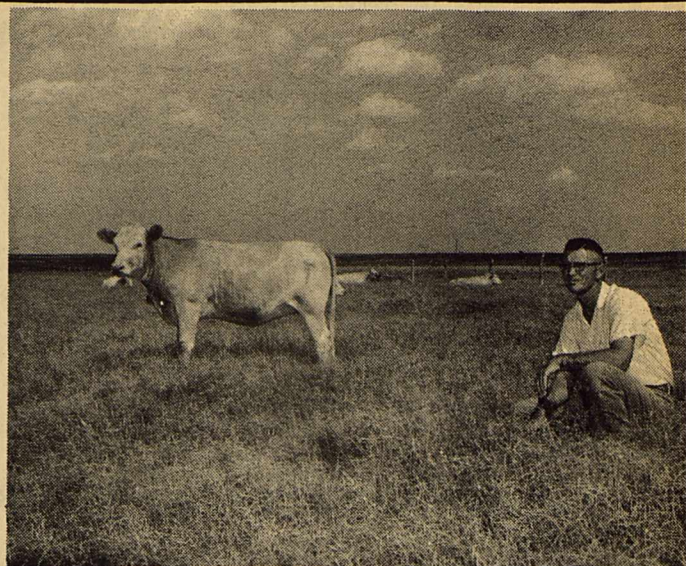

Our County Committee did recommend that shredding of excess grain sorghum be approved and we did think for a time that it might be possible due to extreme dry weather to obtain approval for shredding, however, this was not approved. All farm operators were advised at and before planting time that grain sorghum left standing or shredded was not an approved cover. Each farm operator, whenever he signed the application to participate in the 1965 feed grain program signed the statement that grain sorghum would not be planted on diverted land, that he would have the farm ready for measurement by August 1st and he authorized the cancellation of his contract if grain sorghum was planted on diverted land. It, perhaps, would be easy for our county committee and other governmental agencies to agree that in many cases shredding would perhaps be better for the land than plowing down in this county, however, under the certification made by farmers at the time of the feed grain sign-up, it appears that farmers that have excess grain sorghum will want to have the excess plowed in accordance with the regulations when the field man visits the farm to check disposition.

YOAKUM S C D NEWS

BY C. MURRELL THOMPSON

Proper pasture use right now may mean little or no use for the next 30 to 40 days. If you have not been able to give your grass the best care, water, fertilizer and grazed to leave a good height, 5 to 8 inches, then now is your opportunity to make amends. Grass rested now will reproduce its root system, store large amounts of food for next springs early growth and after frost or about frost you can harvest the growth leaving a good cover for winter and wind erosion protection. The picture of T. J. Bearden on the Christene Duff farm Southeast of Plains is a good example of well managed grass and fat cattle and a satisfied livestock man. This grass and land will produce again next year when treated like this.

T. J. BEARDEN SHOWS A GOOD EXAMPLE OF WELL MANAGED GRASS AND FAT CATTLE.

Views From County Agent

BY LEO WHITE

Yoakum County farmers are urged to attend the annual Field Day held at the South Plains Research and Extension Center 7 1/2 miles north of Lubbock on Tuesday afternoon, September 21st. The loaded trailers will begin carrying the visitors over the 300 acre experimental farm at 1:00 p. m.

Reducing production costs is the theme of this 56th Annual Field Day. Chemical weed control may be the key factor in cutting production costs in Yoakum County. Chemical weed control is to be one of the highlights of the Field Day next Tuesday. Farmers and dealers need to know more about the proper application of herbicides and the results which can be expected. All this will be discussed at the Field Day.

Other subjects of interest will be Soil Fertility, Cotton Diseases, Water Conservation and Mechanization. There will be plot after plot of plants used in the breeding program of the Center where they are developing new varieties and strains for higher yields, better quality, cold tolerance and disease resistance.

Machinery dealers in the area will have some of the latest planting and harvesting equipment on display. The machinery companies will have some of their people on hand to answer any questions about the machines.

The visit to the Field Day will include and tour through the main office building which also houses the Soil Testing Laboratory. The visitors can see just how soil samples are handled and how fertilizer recommendations are determined.

The tours of the Center will continue until 5:00 p. m. Tuesday afternoon.

There are many ways cover crops can and will protect our top soil. This good job was done by Dorman Scott and Son on the W. C. Haffacher Jr. farm Southwest of Plains last fall about this time. This rye was planted at the rate of 25 lbs per acre with a fertilizer distributor in 20 inch rows, two rows to the cotton middle. Tons of organic matter was added, top soil was held and the cotton crop was not hurt in the least.

 a main not less than six inches in size. They should be installed at street corners and located at there will be a fire hydrant every 300 feet in the mercantile and industrial area and every 600 feet in the residential area. A fire hydrant is required at each street intersection in the mercantile area.
 Deficiencies from the above requirements will be charged for but if the deficiencies are too great, the system will not be recognized. In order to be recognized a fire department must consist of not less than 20 members who must drill at least twice each month for a period of not less than two hours each. There must be at least 17 members present at each drill. Business and social meetings will not be considered as drills. Drill activities should begin as soon as possible. Drill reports should be submitted immediately following the second drill each month and must arrive at this office not later than the fifth day of the following month.

 It is also required that a permanent record of all fire department activities be kept in a bound ledger.

 Fire fighting equipment must consist of a standard triple-combination 500 gpm mid-ship mounted pumper which is capable of passing all standard Under-writers' Class A tests. The truck must carry the usual basic equipment and not less than 1000 feet of 2 1/2 inch double-jacketed fire hose.
 After the water system has been installed and fire fighting equipment has been received it will be necessary that drill reports be submitted over a period of months and an inspection made by our officers before protected classification can be considered.

 Neighboring fire chiefs will no doubt be pleased to advise regarding fire department organization, equipment and drills. Assistance in training can be secured, without cost by writing the Director, Firemen's Training School, College Station, Texas, who has a staff of field instructors.
 We urge that you purchase the drill manuals on the attached list, and notify this office when they have been received.

We will be pleased to assist you in every way possible and urge that all plans for water systems be forwarded to this office for written approval before awarding any contracts.
 Sincerely yours,

Sen. Yarborough Report ★★★★★★

Last week was an important week in Congress in the education field, as the Senate passed the Higher Education Bill and the House Veterans Affairs Committee began hearings on the Cold War GI Bill.

The Senate version of the Higher Education Bill will channel more than $667 million of federal funds into education during fiscal year 1966 alone. This means that the bill will be in effect for the school year beginning this month, and it will provide additional opportunities for many high school graduates to attend college this fall.

The bill provides $70 million for scholarships for needy students during this first year. Of this amount Texas students will receive almost $4 1/4 million in scholarship funds, enough for 9,000 Texas college scholarships.

In addition, the government will now insure student loans from private lending institutions against default and will pay 3% of a 6% interest rate. These insured loans will come from such non-government sources as banks and savings and loan institutions.

The bill also includes $129 million for work-study programs, so a student can go to school part-time and work part-time. More than $7 1/2 million will be available to Texas students under this program, and many thousands more Texas students will now be able to work their way through college.

With these programs supplementing the National Defense Education Act loan program and other sources of financial assistance many more qualified students will be able to finance a college education, which is so important for advancement in this age.

Other programs in the bill include $62 1/2 million for college library resources, training and research; $25 million for university extension and continuing education programs after adults graduate from college; $160 million additional funds to help build classrooms, dormitories, and laboratories; $36 million for a national Teachers Corps to provide qualified teachers in low income areas; and $34 million for graduate fellowships for teachers.

When this increased federal spending is combined with the matching funds from states and the increased private spending education will benefit immensely from this bill.

The second important development in education last week was the beginning of hearings on the Cold War GI Bill by the House Veterans' Affairs Committee, chaired by Congressman Olin Teague of Bryan.

Mr. & Mrs. Dick Cooke son visited their son, Earl & family in Lubbock, Sunday.

Mrs. Mac McConnell and Mrs. Sally Hague are visiting in San Antonio this weekend.

Mr. & Mrs. Joe Curry had their Grandson, Larry visiting last week.

Kenneth McGinty is returning to college in Canyon this week.

Mr. & Mrs. Ray Duff & children of Silver City, N. M. are visiting his mother, Mrs. Rachel Duff.

Mr. & Mrs. Glen Moore-house of Dumas spent Sunday night with Mrs. M. McGinty.
