Rep. George Seeks Re-election in Plains Talk

State Representative Jesse T. George announced his intentions to seek re-election for the legislative position which he now holds in Plains last Thursday, when he addressed members of the Farm Bureau at their husband and wife dinner in the Club Room of the Old Courthouse.

George, who is the youngest member of the lower house in the Texas legislature said that he will be a candidate for re-election and that if the U. S. courts do not re-appoint his district that he hopes to continue to be the Yoakum County State Representative during the next session.

George explained the work accomplished by the 59th Session stressing bills which were of interest of Farm Bureau and the agricultural area of West Texas. House Bill II, of which George served as a co-sponsor, raises the gross limit of farm trailers and semi-trailers used to transport cotton from 10,000 to 15,000 pounds.

George continued by emphasizing that the Texas Legislature had adopted House Concurrent Resolution No. 30, directing Congress to continue Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act. Lawmaker George supported the resolution, adding, "Continued adherence to Section 14-B assures the people of Texas the right to work and provides that no person should be denied employment on account of his membership in a labor union." Farm Bureau supports retention of this measure.

Representative George expressed faith in the passage of H. B. 73 which makes parents liable for damage or destruction of property, up to $5,000, by their children who are 10 to 18 years old. George added, "We hope enactment of this legislation will seek to reduce juvenile property damage and destruction by holding parents accountable for such action."

George expressed dismay at the defeat of the recently defeated amendment to the State Constitution which would have raised the State Senate from 31 to 39 members. "Defeat of this measure will mean a detriment to state agricultural legislation, I am equally concerned with a possible loss of rural representation through Federal court decisions pending on the legislative redistricting bill. The flatorial districts could cause some reshuffling of this district, if those districts are ruled unconstitutional by the federal court. I hope this does not happen," George stated.

Rep. George told the group of Farm Bureau members and their wives that he has supported Farm Bureau bills in the last session of the Texas Legislature.

He said that he supported the Farm Bureau on all major bills introduced in the recent session, and has gone on record as voting for 10 out of 12 bills introduced by that organization. Rep. George said that the two bills that he did not support were minor bills.

James Williams presided at the meeting. Special guests of the evening included Mr. and Mrs. Jake Fulford, Brownfield and Charles Cabbiness, also of Brownfield.

About 75 people attended the covered dish dinner, and an educational movie was shown to the audience after Rep. George spoke.

McDonnell Named New Fire Chief

Bob McDonnell was elected as Fire Chief for the Plains Volunteer Fire Department Monday night when former Chief Johnny James resigned. Jim Barnett was elected Assistant Chief at the meeting. Little Bob McDonnell succeeds Chief James in the post that James has held for the past several years. Firemen expressed their regrets that Chief James found it necessary to resign, and the Department commended him for the job that he has done while serving as Chief. James, a former cafe owner in Plains is moving.

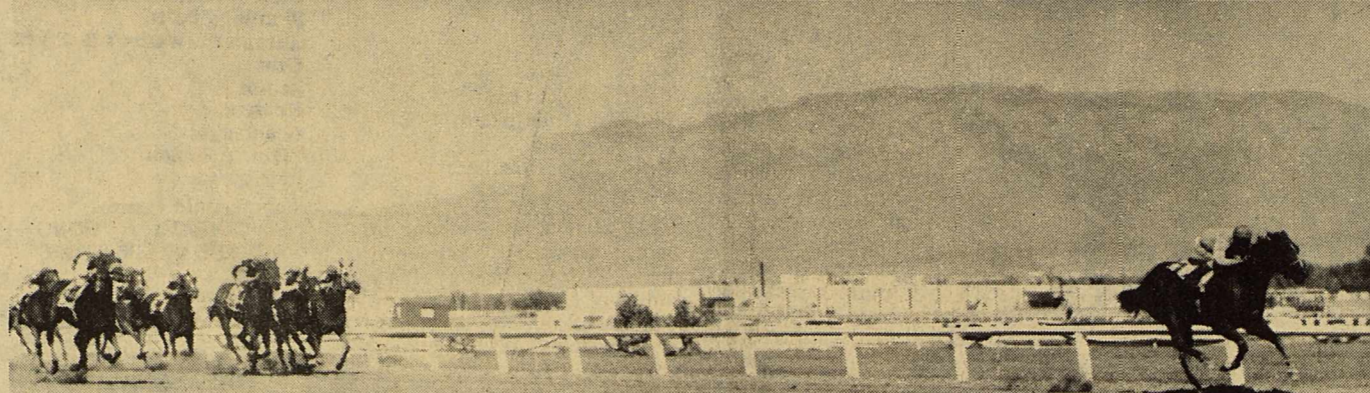

Both McDonnell and Barnett are veteran firemen having been on the force for many years. Fire Marshall Sherm Tingle reported that the members of the Fire Department are planning a presentation to former Chief James for his outstanding leadership while serving as the head of the force. Tingle and other members of the Fire Department stated that the services of James would be greatly missed. They said that James has many friends in the community and that James was one of the most faithful firemen on the force.

Boosters Elect New Officers

Members of the Plains Booster Club elected Jack Hayes president and Cordell Huddleston treasurer at their regular meeting Monday night. The new officers stated that Boosters will continue meeting at 8 p. m. Monday evenings at the Legion Hut.

The Plains Coaching staff presented a scouting report on the Post-Abernathy game played last Friday night. The Post Antelopes upset the Abernathy team last Friday in one of the seasons better contests. The Cowboys from Plains meet the Antelopes at the Plains High School stadium Friday night.

The purpose of the Booster Club is to stimulate interest in the home team and to support the Cowboys throughout the season. Officers of the Boosters stated that a good crowd has been attending, but that everyone in the community is urged to be a Cowboy Booster.

Easter Ed, Racehorse owned by Morris Lowe, Plains, easily won First Place at the New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque last Friday. Easter Ed won by 9 lengths.

Homemakers Win Blue Ribbons at Fair

Plains is well represented at the 48th Annual Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock. At least thirty-one entries in the womens division are known to have gone in on Friday and Saturday.

Words were received Monday that three first place ribbons, one third place, and three fourth place awards have been received by Plains residents. Receiving first place awards were Mrs. Tommy Barron for a woman's tailored suit; Mrs. Roy McGehee, for crescent rolls; Mrs. Vennum Fitzgerald for a child's dress.

Mrs. Martin Welch entered a dresser scarf that received a second place ribbon. Mrs. Kent Welch was awarded third place for a satin comfort. Those receiving fourth place ribbons were Mrs. John Fitzgerald, for a pixie doll; Mrs. Martin Welch, for a pieced quilt; and Mrs. Roy McGehee for her chocolate pound cake. There are possibly others that were not yet identified on Monday.

The exhibits ranged from large quilts to tiny baby booties. Also sent were baked goods, canned goods, a large variety of handmade garments, sweaters, dolls, pictures, and other handmade items. Many of these exhibits were viewed in the window of Moore & Oden last, as they are all entries made by Yoakum County Young Homemakers. They will again be on display in the window of Moore & Oden next week.

The week of September 19 to 25 was observed as Young Homemakers and Young Farmers of Texas week through out the state. Locally, members spent a busy and fruitful week. Sunday saw members in church with their families. A joint family night with their families and the Young Farmers was a watermelon feast. An exhibit was placed in the window of Moore and Oden on Tuesday using many items that are now on display at the fair. The purpose of the local exhibit was to acquaint the public with the work of Y. H. O. Wednesday, members discussed the fair and collected additional entries. A stork tea honoring two members, Mrs. Vennum Fitzgerald and Mrs. Jerome Head was the club activity on Thursday. Two members, Mrs. Harry Richardson and Mrs. Roy McGehee spent Friday in Lubbock entering some 26 exhibits in various divisions of competition. Eleven families enjoying a salad supper and "42" party on Friday night. Mrs. Vaughn Culwell carried five entries to the fair to be entered in the baked goods division on Saturday morning. Y. H. urge Plains residents to attend the fair and view the many exhibits.

Farm Union Elects

New officers were elected at the regular meeting of the Yoakum County Farmers Union, Monday, September 27 at 7:30 p. m. with President I. L. Smith presiding. Mrs. Amos Smith was appointed acting secretary for the election.

Officers elected were: R. G. Hartman, president; H. W. Taunton, vice-president; Mrs. John D. Curtis, secretary; Mrs. R. G. Hartman, treasurer; and Mrs. Amos Smith, reporter.

Kenneth Moss, of the State Membership Committee, spoke on current legislation in the National government and the stand taken by Farmers Union. "We are making some progress for farmers of the nation, I feel," he said. An increased interest with vigorous effort and work to present a beneficial program for our farmers is foreseen, he added.

The State Farmer's Union meeting to be held in Abilene this fall was discussed. Delegates will be elected at the October 25th meeting.

A delicious salad supper was enjoyed preceding the meeting, followed by an excellent report of Boy's State by Joe Dan Cooke.

Games of "42" were enjoyed following the business meeting.

The Farmers Union boosted its 1965 membership in the area recently.

Editorial

While The Plains Record was critical in a recent editorial about county spending, we are of the opinion that certain factors should be pointed out to explain reasons for some of the unwanted and unexpected overexpenditures.

When the city, county, or state government undertakes a project involving the spending of public funds derived from a bond issue voted by the people, it is automatically more expensive for these projects to be built than comparable ones from private business. First of all the bids must be public as prescribed under law and quite often several contractors are engaged in working on one contract, as was the case at the Yoakum County Park.

Weather has been a big factor in building the park, because the county received the meanest sand storms last spring that have blown here in 25 years.

The people voted to build a park and after a quarter of a million dollars have been pumped into a project which the people wanted, it would be poor economics to shut it down before completion. More money should have been requested from the people in the bond issue, and then the public would have probably said no at the polls, but it was not requested, and we the taxpayers are left holding the bag. There is only one answer to a bad situation, and that is to complete the park project with haste and with only the necessities, and we still believe that trees are a necessity if we are to have a decent park!

As far as the hospital situation, we do not believe that any excuses can be offered, since salary increased and other items should have been excluded from last years working budget. The rates at the County Hospital are comparable with the largest and best in the area. These purse strings should be tightened at once and administrative costs should be cut. We are of the opinion that we have a sound and sincere hospital board, but we believe that more fiscal prudence should be shown by tightening the reign on the administrator and staff at the hospital.

Plains Plans Study

Bob Long, City Secretary, stated in an interview with the editor of The Record that the three inch pipe ordered by the City has arrived and that work started this week to get the pipe laid. Work has started near the City Hall running South. About 750 feet of the pipe is being installed, the City Secretary said.

The Mayor and members of the City Council met with a Lubbock engineer, H. B. Reeves recently to determine the cost to make a study to see what is needed to make Plains a protected city. City officials are studying the contract which has been presented by Reeves to the members of the Council and the Mayor. A decision should be reached by the next meeting concerning the study.

The proposed study would include long range plans for the city which would include the needs for the next two decades. The proposal would include the drilling waterwells which would provide adequate quantities and good water for the city. The study would also include the needs of adequate water mains in the city.

The secretary said that many people in the area have voiced the opinion that they approve of the city plans.

Mrs. Norell Solan is pictured with Mrs. M. W. Luna admiring Mrs. Luna's Tsa Mo Ga award.

Mrs. M. W. Luna Honored By Tsa Mo Ga Club

Mrs. M. W. Luna was awarded a special citation in a beautiful frame by members of Tsa Mo Ga at their Monday night meeting this week. Mrs. Luna has been a leading member of Tsa Mo Ga for over a quarter of a century.

This Certificate of Appreciation was presented by Mrs. Garland Swann to Mrs. M. W. Luna (one who richly deserves this honor) as a small, small, "thank you" from Tsa Mo Ga.

She is a Charter Member of Tsa Mo Ga with 30 years of service behind her and is active and has a vital interest in all happenings. She is truly "Mrs. Tsa Mo Ga."

She voluntarily assists at other times (Let's not pass over this too hurriedly... in the rush of living today a "volunteer" is a rare thing... and a gift of time is a gift indeed.) Mention Tsa Mo Ga and you have her immediate attention. She is a Past President and held and served in other offices as well.

G. F. W. C. will celebrate its 75th Anniversary, the Theme "Diamond Jubilee of Service for Freedom and Growth." In sharing in this celebration Tsa Mo Ga Club has honored one of their outstanding members. She is faithful to and lives by the "Club Collect."

Film Showing Scheduled

The showing of "When I'm Old Enough, Goodbye" a film depicting the story of a school drop-out and the employment difficulties he encounters in today's rapidly changing labor market, has been announced by the Home Demonstration Clubs of Yoakum County for October 13, at 1:30 p. m. in the High School auditorium.

The film depicts the problems encountered by a youth who drops out of school to work only to discover the dullness and insecurity of the unskilled labor for which he is qualified. When his father is laid off by plant modernization after 20 years on the same job and is forced by his 6th grade education to accept a messenger job, the futility of entering today's labor market unskilled and uneducated is brought home to the young man.

The film placed 2nd in its class in the San Francisco International Film Festival.

Pete St. Romain, D. C. Newsom, Roy McGehee, and Cleatus Phelan present J. M. Dearing with $50.00 check.

Chamber Members Give Cotton Bonus

The Chamber of Commerce met at Alma's Tuesday morning at their breakfast session, and presented J. M. Dearing a $50 bonus for producing the first bale of cotton of the year. D. C. Newsom and Son Gin received the Dearing cotton, which tested out at a high grade.

In other action by the Chamber members, it was voted to support the City officials in attempting to put larger water mains in the city. The vote was unanimous to back the City Council and Mayor. Kenneth Hale in supporting a bond issue for that purpose.

It was pointed out at the meeting that if adequate water mains are installed that insurance rates would drop.

It was also learned that a dentist is interested in re-locating in Plains and a delegation was named to accompany Roy McGehee, Chamber of Commerce president, to a nearby city to meet with the dentist to formally invite him to come to Plains.

Members of the Chamber also voiced approval to support the founding of an alfalfa association. The Chamber president also stated that another meeting is planned to organize the association.

Red Raiders Face Aggies

Texas A&M and Texas Tech renew their rivalry for the 24th time at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in Jones Stadium here.

Begun with a 47-6 Aggie win at Lubbock in 1927, the series stands at 15-7-1 in A&M's favor. In Southwest Conference contests the rivalry is knotted at 2-2-1. Tech has won the last two meetings, by 10-0 and 16-12.

Each is 500 for the season, A & M bounced back from a 10-0 loss to Louisiana State with a stunning 14-10 victory over Georgia Tech. The Aggies trailed by 10 points going into the last five minutes.

Texas Tech was beaten 33-7 by University of Texas last week after opening with a 26 to 7 triumph over University of Kansas. A sell-out crowd of 65,300 saw the game at Austin.

Despite the score, the Red Raiders amassed the most passing yardage they have ever attained in SWC play--225 yards.

Early arrivals will be able to see a professional basketball game between St. Louis and Wilt Chamberlain's Philadelphia team, set for 3 p. m. Saturday, it is promoted by C. R. (Choc) Hutcheson.

When Tears Flow

Weeping and wailing in the big trial scene is something that happens not only in the movies. In actual life too, especially in serious criminal cases, gusts of emotion often rattle the judicial calm of the courtroom.

This raises a touchy problem. Won't the tears of the victim, or of the victim's family, stir prejudice against the person accused of the crime?

The danger is real. The poet Ovid said tears can melt iron. They can also shape the minds and conquer the hearts of a jury. In some circumstances a court will find an outburst so compelling as to invalidate the entire proceedings. Then, in all fairness to the defendant, there must be a new trial and a new jury.

In one case involving seduction, the accusing girl collapsed on the witness stand. Her mother, coming to her aid, broke into a torrent of tears.

"Nobody knows how we have suffered over this trouble!" she wailed. "Lord have mercy on us!" Such poignant drama, in full view of the jury, was held grounds for a new trial. The court said there was too much chance that sympathy, not reason, would guide the jury to its verdict.

However, in less extreme circumstances, the law relies on timely action by the trial judge to minimize the possibility of prejudice. For example:

In a manslaughter case, the victim's aunt began weeping at the sight of his bloody clothing. The judge had the woman escorted from the courtroom to regain control of herself. He also cautioned the jury not to let the incident affect its judgment. These steps, an appellate court ruled later, were enough to protect the defendant's rights without having to start the proceedings all over again.

After all, perfect composure is so much to expect from people who are reliving dire and dreadful events. Besides, at a second trial emotions might flare just as irresistibly as at the first.

So, within reasonable limits, the law relies on the jury to distinguish between crocodile tears, artfully shed, and honest tears, sincerely shed. And the law also relies on the jury to give, even to honest tears, no more weight than they justly deserve.

CAYCE'S CORNER

It is sometimes real fun to pull a prank on a young couple when the wedding bells ring and they are departing on their honeymoon, and old Cayce did just that thing last month when little brother got hitched, and has chuckled ever since. Well, the chuckling stopped abruptly Sunday night. After returning from Santa Fe, New Mexico at about mid-night Sunday we discovered that Dick and Sylvia had come home this week-end and had left us a note. The note said that they had left us something that we were certain to find and that it would make us feel like newly weds. After getting the three children to bed, and being so tired that we were ready to flop into anything resembling a bed, the spouse turned back the cover and there it was before our eyes. The bed had been loaded with about a pound of rice. After changing the bed and feeling the aches in the back from our 300 mile trip we had no trouble getting a good night's sleep.

Last week-end we were at the New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque and Cayce slipped off to go to the races. His advice to others who will stray to the nagstrip is to stay home if old lady luck holds the same fate as it did for him. At least Cayce was consistent, the ponies that he bet on were running true to form... last!

The display in the window at Moore & Oden Department Store last week from the Young Homemakers was attractive and showed the fine projects which reflect the accomplishments of these ladies in the club. We enjoyed looking at the projects and if you were one who failed to go by Moore & Oden's to see the work of the Young Homemakers, then you missed a worthwhile exhibit.

Woody Wilmeth told old Cayce last week about his future plans to enlarge his store. He plans to double the size of his hardware store in the future and the plans call for an attractive building enlargement. We are always glad to hear people like Woody talk about making Plains grow. We wish Woody the very best in his venture.

Just Thinking

Mary Faulkner Payne

A new idea in home decorations has just been called to my attention. It is, "Painting With a Pen."

MORNING
Through my alarm has not sounded yet, I am wide awake, and after folling over, and giving a couple of big yawns, I am ready to arise.

I reach out and flip off the alarm bell, climb out of bed, slip on a pair of shorts and a blouse, then into the kitchen where I 'build' coffee.

Upon opening the back door, I see my lovely daily visitor the dainty humming bird, dipping with incredible speed into the red blossoms of my neighbors flower bed.

As I stand and watch, he moves on to the white flowers, and tastes them one after the other, dipping down, rising up, and dipping again.

The dainty small bird spys my cat and wings his way on to the next yard.

The sun has not risen yet, but the streaks of light decorate the sky and send prisms of fingers onto the tree leaves and dewy grass.

My cat, Mr. Putten, rubs against my leg lovingly, then says "Please" for his morning saucer of milk. He also surveys the beautiful morning with great satisfaction and leads me on a safari, around the yard to see other sights that are only revealed in the early morning hours.

I examine my peach tree which has exactly 24 peaches on it (the first year I have managed to harvest a crop), and I test them to see how soon I can pick them for a peach pie.

Slip into the kitchen, redolent with the odor of good brewed coffee, fill a cup and because the light is becoming brighter each minute and the beauty of nature, revealed in the early morning hours, is there to enjoy, I carry my cup with me and continue my safari, with Mr. Putten leading the way.

And as I walk, occasionally touching a leaf or a flower, I think of the time when I will be away from the beauty I now know as my own, and I think of light as it grows and grows, finally to come full-blown with the rising of the sun and I realize that the light that shines the farthest shines brighter at home, and my appreciation of day and night goes into my enjoyment of the coming day.

It is with this appreciation of the here and now that I concur with an old lady who was talking about death when she said, "I am not looking for the undertaker, but for the uptaker."

Then I chuckle at something said to me once - "It is given to all men once to die--after that the write-up." Being newspaper conscious this appealed to me as something to be amused at.

So with no thought of sadness, nor feeling of fear, I think of death, and a comparison comes to mind with the story told me by a school teacher.

The class had been told about the prodigious rate at which light travels. "Just think," said the teacher, "of light coming to us from the sun at the rate of all those thousands of miles a second. Isn't it wonderful!"

"Not so very," said one lad. "It's downhill-all the way!"

Why this comes to mind I do not know for sure but probably because as one who has faced death and with no thought of its nearness, now, realizes that traveling toward death isn't so bad - for it's downhill all the way.

With my day well started, Mr. Putten and I go into the house to take up such everyday duties as may be at hand but the day has started well and happily and I bless the morning for its loveliness and cheer.

Garden News

Landscaping of the entrance to the Plains Cemetery is a top project of the Plains Dirt Gardeners Garden Club during 1965-1966 and plans were completed to get the project under way Thursday night, September 16th at the regular monthly meeting at the Old Courthouse Clubroom.

The project is to be financed by money derived from "Operation Christmas Card", which the Club has sponsored for the past several years. "Operation Christmas Card" gives residents the opportunity to donate the money they usually spend sending Christmas Cards locally (cards, stamps and etc.) to this most worthy cause.

Plans were completed for the annual order of wrapping paper and ribbon to the Texas Light House for the Blind, which has continued to be a project of the Federated Garden Clubs of Texas for many years.

Improvement of a public area near the highway through town was discussed and Mrs. Neil Parks agreed to investigate available probable areas and report this possibility in the near future.

An informative program on flower show practice was presented and included, Duties of Flower Show Committees, Mrs. Bill Overton; Review of Artistic Division of Schedule, Mrs. Leon Lewis; and Mrs. Foy Cogburn, Horticultural Division.

Mrs. Wilson Duke and Mrs. Bill Overton, acting as hostesses, served assorted cookies and lime sherbet punch from an attractive table centered with a crescent arrangement of white tipped maroon dahlias.

The next activity of the club is the Annual Flower Show entitled, "Greatest Show On Earth", on October 16th. Of special interest to everyone will be an exhibit of "Poisons in Your Backyard" and will include specimens, description of symptoms and other interesting information about poisons.

Bread is a perishable food and how it is stored affects its good eating qualities. Signs of staling are loss of flavor and aroma of fresh bread, an increase in firmness and crumbliness, and development of a harsh texture.

The best way to keep bread fresh is to store it in an ideal humid atmosphere. Wrapped bread or packaged rolls should be kept in original wrappers.

Bread or rolls, available unwrapped, can be kept satisfactorily if placed in moisture-vapor-proof papers or if put in a moisture-resistant bag before storing. Exceptions are the hard or crisp-crusted breads and rolls. These products are best when eaten fresh.

Bread stored in the refrigerator will help retard mold growth, especially during hot weather. But, the longer the refrigeration period, the firmer the bread becomes. Refrigeration temperatures also step up staling, and use of wrappers or special containers do not offset the effects of cool temperature on bread freshness.

Clean, dry containers are necessary for giving bread the care it deserves. All storage containers should be washed thoroughly each week, using baking soda dissolved in warm water for odorless cleaning. The unit, and all its joints, should be dried well. It should be free of crumbs, as any remaining moisture or crumbs may favor mold growth.

National 4-H Club Week

Since this week is National 4-H Club week, September 25 thru October 2, it is a special time to have people learn more about 4-H, to know the values to the program, how 4-H is organized, and what it means to boys and girls. Two and one fourth million members today can attest to what it has meant to them individually. 4-H has opened many "doors of opportunity".

In 4-H club the work is voluntary and there are no dues. It is the youth phase of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service for boys and girls thru 19 years of age. 4-H is a family affair in which the member, parents, agent, and leaders work together to decide on projects and demonstrations.

Projects generally available to members are divided into 4 sections; (1) The Home Economics section may include projects in child care, clothing, food and nutrition, home management, money management, housing and home furnishings. (2) The general interest section may include automotive care and safety, bicycle care and safety, dog care, electricity, horse and pony, horticulture, photography, plant diseases. (3) The agricultural section includes beef cattle, crops, farm and ranch management, poultry, sheep and goats, soil, swine, and tractor.

The 4th section may include me birthday Sunday in her home with her grandparents, Mr. & Mrs. A. H. Bacon, Debbie Brian, Vickie and Timmy Brantly, and Bayne, Dayne and Melissa Bacon.

clude, civil defence, health, citizenship, career exploration, junior leadership, public speaking, recreation, safety, rifle, and fire prevention. The four-leaf clover is the emblem. The colors are green and white, and the 4-H prayer is "Help me, O Lord, to live so that the world may be a little better, because Thou didst make me".

Yoakum Co. has five 4-H Clubs, three in Plains and two in Denver City. Much of the credit for the success of these clubs are due to 4-H leaders in the County who want to help members develop into useful worthwhile citizens. By carrying on projects and performing demonstrations is a way of helping members develop their minds so they can make the right decision; develop their hearts with deeper understanding of God; develop the use of their hands to be able to do skills and fit into society; and to develop their health so they will enjoy a rich, full, and useful life.
