OUR 35 TH YEAR

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1965

NUMBER 40

Editorial

Once more the cry is heard throughout Plains, "We have no doctor in our town!" The need for a physician is no less than it was a year ago, and the tax payers clinic remains empty casting a significant shadow over our community.

Monday night a man suffered an apparent heart attack and collapsed outside the door of his motel room. The best that we had to offer him was what is prescribed by law. A coroner inquest judged that the man was dead and the body was removed to the funeral home. It was believed that an apparent heart attack caused the death.

Perhaps this man would have died with the best heart specialist in Texas at his side, but there is that one in a thousand chance that if a doctor would have been in our clinic this man would be with his family today instead of lying in his casket.

A controversy raged in our community concerning whether we want an M. D. or an Osteopathic physician in our clinic. Members of the county commission asked for a reasonable length of time to attempt to get a Medical Doctor to come to Plains. Months have passed by, and we have been drawn closer to only one fact. This fact is that death is no respecter of persons. There are some who would not use an osteopath if he obtained the clinic and that is their right, but there are many more people in this community who would use whatever physician that we could get to come here. We believe that the majority of the people in Plains voiced their opinion concerning this issue months ago, and in a democracy the majority opinion is what we must abide by.

We believe that the efforts of the County Commissioners Court should now be extended together to a physician for our clinic without regard to whether he follows the European method of training (M. D.), or the American School of Medicine (O. D.).

The omnipresent tragedy which we warned of some months ago has now happened. The loss of human life should be more important than political or personal opinion. We no longer request that action be taken concerning this vital question; instead we demand that the will of the people be adopted by those who are in charge of the clinic.

Pokes Brand Post 41-20

The Plains Cowboys crushed the highly regarded Antelopes 41-20 in a non conference tilt at Cowboy Stadium last Friday night. The Antelopes were never able to get into the contest as the Plains team took an early lead and held it throughout the contest.

Gregg Jones galloped two thirds the distance of the field for the first tally and Butch Gayle converted to put the Pokes in front of the Post team and the story was the same throughout the game.

All members of the Plains squad worked as a team to crush Post, which entered the contest as a two touchdown favorite after defeating Abernathy the week before.

Joe Dan Cooke scored three touchdowns and made several long runs during the game to be one of the standouts for Plains. But it was through the team efforts that the score continued to build in Plains' favor. The running of Elmore and Crutcher and the poise of Bobby Taylor contributed to the Plains cause.

The Cowboys, who are a power team, surprised the Antelopes by using the pass more and Taylor found an effective receiver in Alvie Faulkenberry.

The Cowboy defense proved solid except for a few moments in the third quarter when the Antelopes closed the gap to 7 points with the score being 27 to 20 at that time. The Pokes cemented their defense and went on to run up the score to the delight of the partisan crowd.

The Pokes take on a respectable Sundown team at Cowboy Stadium tomorrow night. The Sundown Roughnecks are slight underdog, but will be looking for an upset when they invade Plains.

The Roughnecks are one of the smallest teams that the Pokes will face this year, but they boast of one of the fastest teams that the Cowboys will meet.

Plains will be a solid 12 point favorite to stop the Roughnecks from Sundown tomorrow night.

Award winners were: Wyatt D. Lipcomb Jr., Odessa, certificate and cash award for a suggestion on working-hour estimation; Boner J. Jones, Lamesa, certificate and cash for a Dawson SCS district installation of terrace systems; C. Also present at the awards presentation were Clyde Graham, deputy state conservationist; James Abbott, assistant state conservationist; John Kincaid, assistant state conservationist; and Ernest Shillingburg, state personnel officer.

Those awarded were representative of the 12 work units in the area, which assist nine SCS districts covering 14 counties, Goodlett said.

The members conducted a discussion on state SCS accomplishments and plans for 1966; personnel efficiency development; career and promotion plans of the SCS; and money management.

Mr. Flores was widely known throughout the area and was a member of the Baptist Church.

New Fire Chief

Last week The Plains Record ran a story stating that Little Bob McDonnell had been named Fire Chief to succeed Johnnie James, who resigned. This was an error, since Tommy McDonnell was named Fire Chief. The new Chief is a veteran fireman, having served on the department for many years.

McDonnell is married and has three children. The McDonnells are members of the First Baptist Church in Plains.

Chief McDonnell assumed his duties last week as the head of the fire department.

Chamber Names Prexy

Alf Carpenter has been elected to serve out the balance of the term as president of the Chamber of Commerce in Plains. Outgoing president Roy McGehee stated that he would help Carpenter in any way possible.

Carpenter was vice president and became president of the Plains Chamber of Commerce when McGehee resigned in an unexpected move last week. McGehee called a directors meeting and submitted his resignation.

When asked why he had resigned, McGehee said that business reasons forced him to resign. The former Chamber Prexy said that he is in the process of harvesting his crop and will have little time for the next two months. His term ran until next January.

McGehee has stated that one of his main programs for the year was to find a doctor who will come to Plains. He has worked several days a week on this project.

Carpenter is well known in Plains, having interests in Wood Butane Co., being on the board of directors at the bank, and having farm interests in the area. Carpenter is also active in the golf association.

The next Chamber of Commerce meeting will be Tuesday morning at 7 a. m. at Alma's Cafe, where Carpenter will preside at the meeting.

Mrs. W. O. Spencer, seated, registers Mrs. Alf Carpenter at C. G. S. Bar-B-Q.

Many Attend C.G.S. Gin Party

Scores of people from throughout the area attended the annual bar-b-que at the C.G. & S. Gin northeast of Plains last Saturday night. Weldon Spencer, owner and operator of the gin was host. Underwoods of Lubbock catered the evening meal. Many door prizes were given, and the main prize was won by W. F. Upton.

The C. G. & S. Gin has had many new pieces of the latest equipment installed this year in order to give the customers the best of ginning service, said Mr. Spencer. Automatic breast lifts, lint cleaners, double drying equipment have been installed to make this one of the most modern gins in West Texas and New Mexico, Spencer said.

At the dinner Alf Carpenter Plains Business man, gave an address and introduced Raymond Boss, representative of Producer Market Association, who in turn was the main speaker of the evening.

Mr. Spencer said that with the installation of the new equipment that an even flow of cotton is obtained at all times. He said that only several other gins in the area are able to match his equipment. Spencer has been in business in the area for the past ten years.

Spencer is a veteran of World War II and has many years experience in the cotton business. He is married and has one son attending North Texas State and another who attends the University of Hawaii.

Cancer Group Meets

The American Cancer Society Texas Division of District 2 held its annual meeting in Big Spring, Texas. Delegates from the 20 counties were present to review the progress being made in the three-fold cancer control program.

During the morning session Dr. John F. Thomas, M. D. of Austin told delegates that "We could be saving 41,000 women a year with full utilization of all techniques to fight uterine cancer." "As it is, this form of cancer, in all its stages, results in only 56% survival of the 44,000 women who will develop it this year." "We must educate our people to not be lax in their physical check-ups."

Reports from the County Units were given along with the District Board reports. Group sessions on the three-fold cancer control program were held on Service, Education and Campaign.

Fred Learned, Associate Director for Public Information of the American Cancer Society, New York was the key speaker at the luncheon meeting. Mr. Learned addressed titled "Man Versus Nature" reiterated the desperate need for early diagnosis to effect cures, but he emphasized that the enormous amount of research being done in the country today is the one and only hope of conquering cancer.

He also gave a progress report from the turn of the century to the present day. We are making progress and will continue to progress until this great struggle for cancer control is basically under control between Man and Nature.

At the close of the meeting Special Awards were given to some 14 counties for "Bettering Their Best" in the 1965 Crusade. Yoakum County Crusade was good in 1965, but did not exceed its previous year. Delegates attending from Yoakum County were Mrs. P. W. St. Romain, Mrs. M. W. Luna of Plains and Mrs. C. A. Bickley of Denver City, Texas.

A 49 year old Midland ranch real estate and oil and gas realtor collapsed and died at the door of his room at the Western Motel in Plains Monday night at about 6:45 p. m. E. A. (Elbie) Miller, 49, 1210 West Golf Course, Midland, evidently had been to eat and had returned to his room at the local motel, and was reading his paper when he was stricken with an apparent heart attack and attempted to get help when he collapsed outside his door.

Mr. Miller was discovered by Bob Cox, who in turn called for Barretts ambulance and for the sheriff. Sheriff Heath stated that Judge Bandy was called and that a coroner inquest ruled that the man was dead and that the cause of death was from natural causes.

The sheriff said that Cox was unable to communicate with Mr. Miller after finding him, and sent for help. Plains has no doctor, therefore the man was pronounced dead by Judge Bandy, and the body was removed to the funeral home for preparation.

Sheriff Heath notified the next of kin of the deceased in Midland. Relatives and business associates arrived in Plains after 10 p. m., and the body was moved to Midland where arrangements are pending.

No doctor was available and law enforcement officers and the funeral home staff attempted to revive the Midland man.

A business card which was found on Mr. Miller indicated that he operated a ranch real estate and oil and gas realtors business in Midland.

Mr. Miller was well dressed and apparently felt good when he checked in at the Western Sky Motel at about 5:15 p. m. Mr. Cox said that Mr. Miller asked for a Plains Record and went to the cafe to eat. He returned to the motel a few minutes later and went to his room. Cox said that he was working on a heating unit in room six and that he heard what appeared to be someone in need of help. Cox went outside of the motel unit and found Mr. Miller. He then sought help after seeing that Mr. Miller was in a critical condition.

Prizes include a football, helmet, and jacket. A gold silver, and bronze plaque will be presented to the older boys who win. The athletic equipment will go to the younger boys who win the contest. The winner will receive a paid trip to a National League game with Dad.

For further information concerning the contest parents and children may inquire at The Plains Record.

Report From Sen. Tower

"I do not expect this year's cotton law to be a final answer but, I do know we must get the cotton industry moving on the right track with cotton going into the market at competitive prices rather than into surplus storage to stand and open rot."

"The hour is late for cotton. Long years of governmental mistakes have taken their toll. I hope we can find our way this year onto the right track, because if we stay on the old track cotton is doomed."

"The industry is at the crossroads. The issue is simple. Do we return to the two-price system under which American cotton suffered tremendous market losses, or do we continue one-price cotton which has breathed new life into the market."

"As one who represents cotton farmers, cotton ginners, cotton merchants and many others connected with the industry, I want to see one-price cotton continue. I am unalterably opposed to a return to a two-price system."

"After more than a century of growing cotton in this country, the industry is on the verge of being liquidated. It is a senseless loss and one the nation can ill afford. We have taught the world how to grow cotton and they have taken over 70 percent of the business. We have forfeited completely our share of growth in the world market because of the stagnation and confusion caused in our industry by unwieldy and unwise government intervention."

"Cotton must be made permanently competitive by implementation of a convincing U. S. program aimed at restoring confidence of both domestic and foreign purchasers of our cotton. Farmers incomes must be protected, but by a single payment, not by a five-sided, subsidy-monster such as we now have. Congress must move cotton toward lesser federal regulation, a goal that cannot be achieved by adding more subsidies and restrictions."

"If the Senate committee version of the cotton section prevails, it is my opinion the cotton industry will plunge speedily toward financial disaster so severe that recovery may be impossible."

The Food and Drug Administration takes a closer look at Vitamin D enrichment for many food products.

A proposal to limit the foods to which Vitamin D may be added has been announced by the Food and Drug Administration.

This new proposal would eliminate Vitamin D from such food products as bread, margarine and enriched flour.

Milk and other dairy foods and infant formulas would continue to be fortified as in the past.

The present FDA standards list Vitamin D as an optional ingredient which may be added to many different foods.

The new proposal will seek to limit strictly the addition of Vitamin D to so-called Food supplements.

These Research studies were done by Dr. Robert Cooke of Johns Hopkins University, which resulted in the FDA proposal. The studies indicated that excessive Vitamin D intake by pregnant women could lead to birth defects and mental abnormalities in infants. The FDA then asked the American Medical Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics for an opinion on the subject, and a joint committee of the two groups recommended that there be restrictions on foods containing Vitamin D.

The Cooke findings indicated that in some cases hypercalcemia developed in infants because of the excess Vitamin D by the mother during pregnancy.

The Cooke findings indicated that hearing will follow the comments by food industry representatives in October.

A recipe that may be good for these cool evenings follows: 1 can cream of chicken soups, 1 small can evaporated milk, 1/2 velveta cheese, 1 small can green chopped chilies, 1 pound ground beef, lightly

Just Thinking

Mary Faulkner Payne

The visit the Beatles made to Houston has created quite a lot of comment - both for and against the group of boys.

They made the statement that Houston kids were the worst they had ever encountered and many people said the Beatles had not been fair since the kids who went to see them and moan and groan over them had enriched the long haired ones to the tune of some 50,000 dollars, then did not get a close-up of them since they sneaked out back entrances to avoid contact with the screamers.

Suppose only Texans remember Governor Jim Ferguson, who just what he thought, of anything, anytime, anywhere.

As an old Texas gal I remember a statement he once made which would probably be made again by him if he were alive. The statement was that he, "had no use for short haired women or long haired men."

Dr. Idella Lohmann, an Oklahoma State University education professor told teachers from seven states recently, when she talked on "Living Textbooks", that if used properly newspapers enrich the learning experiences of children and help them to build a lasting habit of reading.

She said that "The school that neglects instruction and practice in news reading is neglecting to develop skills needed for news reading and the habit of news reading - two essentials for American citizenship."

She went on to say that the "creative teacher is never satisfied to teach within four walls and two covers of a textbook." "Instead he reaches out and draws upon a wide variety of resources in the world to enrich his teaching."

"Newspapers," she said, "provide this variety of topics to help teach children about the world of reality." "The sky is the limit in a classroom which uses the world as its laboratory."

A henpecked husband was disappointed when his wife gave birth to a girl. "I was hoping," he said, "for a boy to help me with the house work."

I heard this not too long ago which I'd like to pass on to the tourist developers of our area and also to the Amigos of New Mexico. Seems one southern state had a travel commission meeting and after a closed session came to the conclusion that "One tourist is equal to one bale of cotton, and is much easier to pick!"

I'm out of the hospital (Friday) just a week from the day I was suddenly put in. And all the tests - even my skull and brain had a test - were negative. My brain still works, and the only node that is troubling me is the abdominal node (right side) and it is now rapidly reducing in size and feeling much better.

A little less than three weeks to go (its possible they may further reduce that time) and this node will be killed out and then Mary will be back to normal. Happy Day!

The only thing they found out that was adverse besides the node, was that I have vascular insufficiency, which means that at times the blood supply to the brain is a little lean and my feet become sluggish to a slight degree. Guess this isn't too bad for an old gal without a jugular vein. Age might have some bearing on this also!

Conroe reminds me of Lovington, in several ways. One is the fantastic growth in new buildings and lovely homes and additions to the town where acreages plus homes are the order of the day. A few years ago, and even now, Lovington was and is doing the same sort of building.

The courthouse in Conroe is being enlarged and whereas there used to be a wide expanse of lawn, this building is designed to touch the sidewalks on every side of the block on which the courthouse stands. It's truly fantastic!

Iota Pi Meet

FLASH: Friday night October 1, after the Plains vs Post football game (from about 11 p. m. until ---) the Iota Pi Chapter of ESA had a "Come as You Are" rush party in the Home of Archie Glover. Fun was had by all! However in gathering up the unsuspecting members and rushees only one was in bed and two others ready for bed. I guess the game was so exciting (to the husbands that they were still telling the wife about it instead of letting her get ready for bed. Even tho we weren't caught napping a whole host of Iota Pi members and five rushees had a Bang Up time evening, and drinking coffee and eating donuts!

The Iota Pi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met on Monday night October 4, in the lovely home of Dorothy Lowe, with Marlene Hamm as hostess.

Our "Model" Meeting was called to order by our president, Melba Duke, who read the Opening Ritual, Ellen Sewell, recording secretary then called the roll. The following eleven (11) members answered roll call: Wanda Ashburn, Juanita Cooke, Melba Duke, Archie Glover, Marlene Hamm, Emma Lewis, Dorothy Lowe, Wanda McCrary, Ellen Sewell, Margaret Taylor and Velma Warren. We also had five (5) Rushees present and are happy to announce that all five signed Pledge blanks. They were Burve Overton, Polly Owings, Betty Romans, Glynis Spenser and Nancy Wilson. Our other "Rushee" Mary Strickland was unable to be with us as she had to rush one of her children to the Dr., after stepping on a piece of glass, but we are hoping she will also want to be a member of Iota Pi and will sign her Pledge blank.

After our business meeting our Program Director, Wanda Ashburn presented Margaret Taylor who gave us the History Symbolism and Tradition of ESA, Archie Glover told us the Purpose of ESA and Velma Warren closed the program with a very informative part on the structure of ESA.

After the Closing Ritual our hostess, Marlene Hamm served coffee and cookies to the eleven members and the five new pledges. While enjoying our social time over the cup of coffee we reminisced a little by looking at some of our scrapbooks of years gone by.

Our next Iota Pi meeting will be October 18, with Elsie Carpenter as hostess.

A. S. C. News

BY W. M. OVERTON

From information received in the office from a number of farmers it appears that many land owners are not renting their farms awaiting the outcome of the new farm bill. It appears that many tenant farmers feel that landlords believe that they can take over their farms and place all or part of it in the government program and receive a larger return than they could having the farm rented to a tenant. We do not know, at this time what the new farm bill may be in regard to landlords and tenant; however, the original bill as introduced states that the formulation and administration of the program shall provide the adequate safeguards to protect the interest of tenants; including provisions for sharing on a fair and equitable basis in payments and including such provisions as may be necessary to prevent them from being forced off the farm. Therefore, it is my opinion that when the bill is finally passed the County ASCS Committee, which is elected by the farmers in each county, will have the authority to disapprove any payment contract for any landowner where it appears that he has taken over his farm for the express purpose of drawing government payments.

All contracts in the past had to be approved by the local ASCS Committee and we have had landlords under all these programs who have attempted to collect all the payments. However, under the past programs it was intended that the tenant receive his fair share of any payments made. We would expect that any law that is passed would allow any landlord to change tenants, or to take over and work his farm himself; but we do expect that the County ASCS Committee have the authority to disapprove any contract where it appears that the purpose in removing the tenant was to have larger percent of the payments for himself.

1965 GRAIN SURGHUM LOAN SUPPORT PRICE: The loan price on warehouse stored grain sorghum is $1.63 per CWT for grain sorghum grading No. 2 or better and stored in approved Yoakum County or other nearby warehouses-moisture 14% or less is eligible at 100% of weight to eligible producers. A 1 cent per CWT service charge will be deducted and storage charges will be deducted and storage charges, will be deducted unless marked paid through 3/31/66 by the warehouse.

Our Soil, Our Land!

YOAKUM S C D NEWS
BY
C. MURRELL THOMPSON

Cover Crop planting is big business for some people. K. O. Hendricks is shown with his D8 Cat, and a 16ft. grain drill all in one operation. K. O. is planting rye on land that other wise would have been bare and probably blowing next spring. Cover crops of small grain such as rye, wheat, oats or barley can be planted until November 1 and still produce a good cover that will protect our soil next spring but the sooner they are planted the more growth and the better root system they will make.

Many Soil and Water Conservation District Cooperators are proud of the cover on their land. The photo shows W. F. Upton on his farm Northwest of Tokio in a field of forage sorghum planted for soil protection, moisture conservation and much needed organic matter. This is conservation being applied on the land, planning ahead for what may come next spring. Part of the job of the Yoakum Soil and Water Conservation District is to get people to plan then the most important job is to get those plans applied on the land. It is not too late to plant millet, rye, wheat, rye grass or barley for a cover crop. What will your field look like next spring? Will it have on a coat or will it be barren and blowing as though you could care less?

Teachers Attend

Mrs. Carl Stroup and Mrs. Roger Harvey members of Gama Lambda Chapter of the Kappa Gamma Society, International Honor Society for Women Teachers, were in Seagraves Thursday evening September 23, for a regular planning meeting.

Fifty-two teachers enjoyed a salad dinner prepared by the Seagraves members and served in the beautiful Gainer Room of the First National Bank. Tables were decorated with a gold candle arrangement. Autumn-colored leaves tinged with gold place cards arranged according to the fourteen committees which were to meet during the business meeting.

Mrs. Katherine Spivey, Denver City, President, presided at the business meeting. She challenged each member to be dedicated, concerned, and enthusiastic during the coming year. She gave an interesting report on the Alpha State Convention she had attended in Houston this summer and reminded members of some of the highlights of coming events.

One of these is the Alpha State Regional which will meet in Denver City, November 6, 1965. Ten chapters from Lubbock, Odessa, Andrews, Olton, and Lamesa will be present with the Gamma Lambda Chapter.

The next regular meeting will be in the Community Building, Denver City, October 28, 1965.

CAYCE'S CORNER

Something happened last week to Butch Moore which is a must for Cayce's Corner this week. It seems that old Butch went down to Kirby's Barber shop to relax and to get his ears lowered and a shampoo to wash part of the West Texas sand out of his hair when it happened. Kirby had just lathered up Butch with some exotic smelling shampoo and had started to rinse it off when he discovered that there was no water. In fact there wasn't any water in town since the water mains were being worked on and the pressure had been turned off. Kirby called his wife, Odell, who operates the Town and County Beauty Shop west of town on the Lovington Hwy. So old Butch ended up in the beauty shop and got the rest of his shampoo. What we would really like to know, is if Odell used those curlers and dryers on Butch. At any rate, I'll bet he got his money's worth.

It isn't often that we get a scoop like this one, and you can bet that we didn't even consider passing it by. The other day Smitty, who is a diligent employee of the City brought something by the office that we found to be most unusual. It was a common blade of ornate grass that had grown clear through a peanut. This was about the wildest thing which could happen to a man who dabbles in a garden. The Record editor thought so much of the thing that he decided to put it on a film, and that is exactly what happened. The picture needs a lot of explaining, but we tried our best and if you will look on this page the picture can be found. Weldon Spencer really put on a bang up Bar B, Q. last Saturday night. He served ribs, beef, chicken, and ham, it all came from Underwood of Lubbock.

Mischief in Mind

"There is no law," said Oliver Wendell Holmes, "against a man's intending to commit a murder the day after tomorrow."

But suppose the man still has mischief in mind when the day after tomorrow comes. And suppose he aims a gun at his intended victim and fires a shot. Then, even though he misses, he has indeed committed a crime: attempted murder.

Evil intent, by itself, is never a crime. Our jails would overflow if we punished every person who, however fleetingly, intends to cheat, slander, rob, or assault somebody else. There must surely be 1,000 clenched fists for every thrown punch.

Nor is active preparation necessarily a crime. The man who buys a gun, with murder in mind, is not yet guilty of attempted murder. The man who puts matches in his pocket, with arson in mind, is not yet guilty of attempted arson.

At what stage does unpunishable preparation turn into punishable attempt? Where is the "point of no return"?

One test is the "specialness" of the preparation. A man who acquires special-purpose printing plates may be more clearly committed to the crime of counterfeiting than the man who acquires general-purpose ink.

Another test is the nearness, both in time and space, of the crime itself. The man two days away from a murder, in Holmes' example, still has time to cool off. A man planning a burglary in another city may yet change his mind before arriving at the scene of the crime. The law makes due allowance for the chance that either prudence or conscience will bring his effort to a halt.

But when the preparation is unmistakably evil, and when the victim is put in imminent danger, the law says a criminal attempt has been made—even though no actual harm is done.

For example, a cook who mixed poison into her employer's oatmeal was held guilty of attempted murder even though he decided not to eat it.

True, she might have relented at the last moment and snatched the dish away. However, the court concluded that a woman who would go that far did not belong in a kitchen, serving oatmeal, but in a jail, serving time.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

If a patient is dying from a moderate dose of arsenic, then he should be given a massive dose of the same poison.

If Elmer Brown, president of the International Typographical Union were a physician that would probably be his treatment, judging by the tenor of his remarks in a recent talk before the National Press Club.

He stated that all employees of the printing, publishing newspaper, broadcast and advertising industries should be in one big union, with that union being the ITU.

He said this would solve all problems.

This is an interesting thesis. So far, the mechanical unions in the printing trades have solved many problems, usually by running costs of publishing up to ever high levels.

Thus, in New York, these costs solved the problem of the employees of a big mass circulation daily who may have wanted more leisure. The paper was forced to close down, with the results that hundreds of employees achieved permanent leisure. The employees of two daily newspapers in Los Angeles and one in San Francisco not to mention some papers in other cities have all had their leisure problems solved by the increased demands of the printing unions, and it is rumored even, more problems of this nature will be

Somehow, another solution seems to escape him entirely. That is the fact that if his union exercised the proper intelligence, it is possible that publishers would not turn to automation to survive. It would seem that by rejecting a common sense approach to the problem of diminishing employment Mr. Brown has cast up shroud.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

He also feels that the Federal Communications Commission should be abolished and the control exercised at present by that agency over the use of the nation's airways by radio and TV stations turned over to his union.

He said that radio and TV would then enjoy the same unfettered status now enjoyed by newspapers. This is probably akin to the same "unfettered" status that tied up American flag shipping on the East Coast for many weeks. And perhaps is the same unfettered status enjoyed by the nation's railroads, or by the nation's trucking lines under that real life expert at unfettering, Jimmy Hoffa.

While much can be said of some of the bureaucratic ham-handedness in the operation of the FTC, it is difficult to understand how the situation would be bettered by turning over control of all avenues of communication in the nation to the labor leaders.

But this is Mr. Brown's solution to the problem of automation that is decreasing employment in printing.

Somehow, another solution seems to escape him entirely. That is the fact that if his union exercised the proper intelligence, it is possible that publishers would not turn to automation to survive. It would seem that by rejecting a common sense approach to the problem of diminishing employment Mr. Brown has cast up shroud.
