OUR 35TH YEAR THURSDAY, JUNE 2, 1966 NUMBER 21

4-H Play Day

In the Senior Boys where only two were entered, Jackie McDonnell won three blue ribbons and received 4 points. Morris Rushing won two firsts and a second and got 3 points. Rheanell Strickland is leading the Senior Girls with 9 points. Sue Cooke received 7 points and Linda Blasingame received 5. Tim Bowers and Mark Parrott are tied with 9 points each in the Pee Wee Boys. Brady Phillips is the third contestant in this group with three points. Amanda Phillips was the only Pee Wee girl and she has a total of 2 points.

The first 4-H Play Day of the 1966 season, held Saturday afternoon in the Plains Rodeo Arena, was enjoyed by twenty four contestants and a good number of leaders and fans. There were two senior boys, three senior girls, five junior boys, four junior girls, three pee wee boys, one pee wee girl and six novice riders. The new point system is going to work out real well in determining the winners in each group.

Jimmy Gray collected four blue ribbons for a total of 16 points and the holder of the title of high point individual after the first round. Other point winners in the Junior Boys division were: Clark Parrott, 11; John Gray, 9; Lester Kerrick, 5; and Mike Blount, 4.

Debra Addison was in the novice class where six were competing and she won a first, a second and two thirds to make her a total of 15 points. Other point winners were: Susan Simpson, 11; Matt Lindsay, 6; LaWane Badgett, 5; Donna Jo Cheatham, 3; and Paris Cayce, 1.

Kathleen McGinty and Denise Newsom are tied for the lead in the Junior Girls Group with 12 points each. In competition with these girls are Peggy Rushing with 10 points and Paula Blount with 5.

Cotton Farmers Vote Defeated

By a fraction of one per cent vote, Yoakum County cotton farmers beat down a proposal that they be allowed to transfer upland cotton allotments by lease or sale to other counties of the state during 1967, 1968 and 1969.

In a referendum vote on the issue, 278 cotton producers voted in favor of being allowed to transfer their allotments and 142 voted against the transfer, reported W.M. Overton, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service manager.

Under federal law, a two-thirds majority of cotton producers voters must approve the transfer program. In Yoakum county's referendum, 66.2 per cent voted in favor. The 'yes' vote lost by a fraction of one per cent. Ballots were canvassed Thursday.

Although Yoakum County cotton men, as a result of the vote, may not sell or lease their allotments for transfer to other Texas counties, eligible cotton farmers may purchase or lease allotments to be transferred to Yoakum County from other cotton counties which okayed the transfer program.

'The result of the Yoakum referendum does not rule out the selling or leasing allotments to others eligible producers within the county,' explained Overton. 'Allotments also may be transferred across a county line by eligible ownership.'

Under the 1966 sale-lease-transfer program, Yoakum county cotton producers transferred some 12,000 acres of down-state allotments into Yoakum County to give the county approximately 5,300 additional allotted acres based upon projected yield.

After the first four round robin games of the Little League schedule the Cubs have bombed their way into first place with two wins over the Indians and one each over the Yankees and Giants. The Yankees managed to hold on to second place with a 2-2 record and the Indians and Giants are in the cellar with 1-3 records.

In Friday nights games the Cubs came from behind to belt the Yankees and end their early lead by the score of 23-6. In the second game, the Giants got into the winning column and edged the Indians in a seasaw battle. In the action Tuesday night the Cubs came from behind and swated the Indians 12-3. In the second game the Yankees commanded the entire game and fought off a late Giant rally to come into second place by the score of 16-10.

The slate for tomorrow night will have the Yankees meeting the Cubs with thoughts of closing the distance in the pennant race. In the other game the Giants and the Indians will meet in what will be a struggle to nail down third place.

Heavy Yoakum County Vote Forecast In Close Races

Voters will go to the polls Saturday to finish the job that they started last month in the primary elections. Yoakum County has the longest ballot of any county in the South Plains area and besides voting for state candidates they will elect a County Judge, County Clerk, County Commissioner of Precinct four, and the District Clerk of Yoakum County.

The judges race has drawn wide spread interest and the voters will elect either incumbent Stanley Duvall or Gene Bennett, well known rancher. Bennett lead on the first ballot, with judge Duvall running second in a field of four. Plains lawyer Cleatus Phelan and Dr. Bruce Boyd failed to receive enough votes for the run off election. The campaign has been a controversial one and judge Duvall carried all of the Denver City boxes but one and Phelan carried the overall vote in Plains, but Bennett by running a strong second in Denver City and Plains lead the ticket with a greater amount of votes.

Since the primary election Phelan has publicly endorsed Bennett for the office and judge Duvall has stepped up his campaign both in urban and rural locals. The campaign has been a heated one with the re-districting of the precincts and the county park being some of the main issues. Judge Duvall is seeking re-election on a platform of having a record of success in dealing with the juveniles and defending his vote to re-district the precinct lines as one of economy. Bennett has campaigned on a platform of economy in government spending and keeping the public informed, while representing the county as a whole.

In the race for county clerk, Mrs. Ruby Heald faces Mrs. Marguerite Barron. Both have conducted a campaign based on qualifications. In the first primary election Mrs. Heald led the field while Mrs. Barron finished in second place. J. W. O. Alldredge will return as county clerk this year and did not seek re-election. Bufford Dulin and Wanda McCrary were defeated in the primary election.

In precinct four Mrs. Paul Loe is fighting for re-election and faces Johnnie L. Fitzgerald in the election Saturday. Fitzgerald is president of the school board and lead the ticket in the first round of voting. T. J. Bearden and Allan Wagley were in the primary race prior to losing.

Mrs. Blanche Dyer, incumbent District Clerk faces a run off election with Ray Trent of Denver City. Mrs. Dyer led the ticket in the first primary while Trent finished second. J. E. Cooke and Art York were eliminated in the first vote.

The races all have the appearance of close contests, and a fair vote is predicted in the election Saturday.

Cotton Meet

Cotton industry leaders throughout the High Plains are being invited to meet at the KoKo Palace here June 9 to discuss the Cotton Research and Promotion Act. The meeting will begin at 12:00 noon.

The invitation is being issued by Roy Forkner, Lubbock chairman of the state unit of the National Cotton Council, and Howard Alford, Lubbock, a member of the executive committee for the Cotton Producers Institute trustees.

Announcement that acreage is being cut more than 30 percent points up the critical nature of the cotton situation, the letter of invitation states.

'This one-third cut in cotton acres not only means less farm income, but it means a big loss of business activity in our entire area, fewer bales to gin, fewer tons of seed to crush, less fertilizer to sell, smaller bank loans, and less retail sales,' the letter explains.

It notes the heavy inroads of man-made fibers and record cotton surplus, and points out that the Cotton Research and Promotion act is the 'only positive practical proposal that anyone has made for attacking this drastic economic loss to our area.'

The program will consider these questions:

1. Does cotton need additional research and promotion funds, and how much?
2. Do research and promotion pay dividends for cotton?
3. Can farmers operate and administer the Research and Promotion Act effectively?
4. What is the next step?

MEMORIAL DAY

Members of The American Legion in Plains presented Memorial Day services at the cemetery Monday with full military honors with a firing squad and a color guard.

A red, white and blue wreath was placed at the base of the flag pole at the top of the hill in the cemetery by Mrs. Doc McCargo in honor of all of the dead from each war that the nation has been engaged in since the Revolutionary War. Mrs. McCargo was escorted to the flag pole from the military honor guard by her husband. The McCargos are gold star parents. The Forrest W. McCargo Post 585 in Plains is named in honor of the late son of Mr. and Mrs. Doc McCargo.

Harry Cayce, editor of the Record, spoke to the gathering after the presentation of the wreath. The local newspaper said that he was ashamed of the indifference of the public with their failure to observe Memorial Day even in Plains. He stated that only a few people cared enough to attend the services, but yet the many veterans who gave their lives in order that all Americans could be free did it with a spirit of appreciation for our constitution and the American way of life. The editor scored county and public offices which did not observe Memorial Day in Plains, and he voiced his regret that so many local places of business did not at least close for the service.

Wilson Duke, Legion Commander called the services to order and introduced the people on the program. Commander Duke was in charge of the program.

Rusty Kennedy son of Mr. and Mrs. Billie Ray Kennedy, and Alton Earl McGinty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick McGinty played taps and the echo at the services.

The ceremonies lasted only a few minutes and the air was filled with the lonely tones of taps and the burst of the firing squad with three volleys fired into the air. The firing squad and honor guard then marched from the cemetery and left the national emblem flying at half mast in honor of the silent army of the Supreme Commander of all men.

Baptist School

Twenty-three students from the Vacation Bible School of The First Baptist Church in Plains visited The Plains Record Tuesday morning. The group had been studying how Bibles were printed in the middle ages with the first form of type such as was used by Gutenberg, and wanted to see how modern type is set.

The group was accompanied by their class teachers and sponsors. The Vacation Bible School is an annual class and all children of the community are invited to attend the morning classes.

Rodeo Set In Andrews

The 15th Annual A.J.R.A. Junior Rodeo gets underway Thursday June 9, 1966 in Andrews, Texas opening with a downtown parade at 4:00 p.m. The rodeo is slated to run through June 11th.

Events include barrel racing, pole bending, flag racing, breakaway roping, tie down calf roping, ribbon roping, steer riding, bare back bronc riding, and bull riding with livestock furnished by Mutt Black of the Black Rodeo Producers from Marfa, Texas.

The annual event is being sponsored by the Andrews County Sheriff's Posse.

Baptist Vacation Bible School Students visit the Plains Record.

FFA Boys

The Plains FFA Chapter enjoyed their four day stay at Lake Brownwood last week. The seventeen boys got plenty of boating and skiing and a good bit of fishing too.

Adults going along to help the boys included Garland Swann, 'Snake' Smith, Amos and Olan Smith, Ray and Travis Jones, Fred Lowrey, Carl Rains, A. J. Crutcher, Claude Montgomery and Vo. Ag teacher Bo Stephens.

The boys want to thank Johnnie Fitzgerald, S & W Machine Shop, Yoakum County Co-op Gin, Lat's Humble Station, Pic & Pay Grocery, Cowboy Grill, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Parrott Mr. and Mrs. Leon Simpson, Newsom Gin Co., Moore & Oden Dry Goods, White Auto Store, Carry Drug, Wood Butane, Warren Oil Company, Hawkins Food and any others especially Tokio Co-op, for helping make this trip possible.

Newly elected officers of Plains Future Farmers for 1966-67 are M. C. McCrary, president; Carlton Wilkins, treasurer; John P. Robertson, secretary; Gary Joe Smith, reporter; Reg Trout, Sentinel; Alton McGinty, chaplain.

Lions Club Plans Meal

Members of the Plains Lions Club and their wives will assemble in Stanford Park tonight at 8:00 p.m. for a covered dish supper and for installation of officers. The famous Lions Club Clown unit will be on hand to install the officers.

Robert Graham will be installed as president of the Lions club tonight and outgoing president Murrell Thompson will be in charge of the program.

Thompson urged all Lions and Lionesses to be present and enjoy the fellowship of the annual Ladies Night program. Thompson said in case of inclement weather that the supper and program will be in the scout hut.

Car Wreck Kills Man

Mr. S. S. Hays, father of James L. (Sled) Livesay was killed in a head on collision near Globe, Arizona Memorial Day.

Mr. Hays was a resident of Canute, Oklahoma, at the time of the accident he was on his way to visit his mother who is ill in Arizona.

Urge Tax Reform

The seventy-member Texas Farmers Union Board of Directors, meeting at Mineral Wells recently, approved a letter to President Johnson urging him to favor income tax law reforms 'that will discourage non-farm and hobby interests from speculating in agricultural land where such speculation is destructive of family farm agriculture.'

Citing a recent study by two Texas A & M University professors, the letter points out that 'land prices continue to rise in spite of the fact that net farm income has declined during the period 1947-1949 and 1963, which was the period covered in the study.' This, according to the letter, has created an 'unhealthy' situation in which 'family farmers are no longer able to compete for land ownership.'

'Inflated land prices are a detriment rather than an asset to the operating farmer who must consider a return on his land a part of his operating expense. This is particularly true of the young farmer who must rent land. High land prices and speculation by hobby farmers make it difficult for the tenant farmer to rent land at a price he can afford to pay at present farm price levels.'

In regard to the recently announced 15 percent increase in wheat allotment, the letter points out that 'additional acreage for sale at world market prices would only reduce net grower income. Farmers have hailed the increase as beneficial, but they are assuming that additional certificates will assure them that their net income will be maintained at present levels.'

'It is further hoped that price support and payment levels on other commodities which are provided with additional acreage to meet foreign commitments will reflect parity income to the farmer, as is the case regarding labor and industry when industrial goods are produced for export.'

A Vote for Progress

 Editorial ***

Residents of Yoakum County will go to the polls Saturday to vote on four major county offices and for the office of Attorney General of Texas.

We urge the electorate of our county to go to the polls in vast numbers Saturday and cast educated and informed votes for the candidates of their choice. In our county races the people should have acquainted themselves with the qualifications and background of each candidate.

If we have done our home work on the political scene in Yoakum County, then we need no further advice concerning the candidates. If we have neglected to do our work, then let us proceed to become informed concerning the candidates, because as voters, we owe it to ourselves to cast a ballot for progress and not for ignorance.

We urge the voters in Plains and in Denver City to vote qualifications instead of being first rate bigots and voting for a candidate on simple grounds that Joe Blow is from our end of the county.

Let us proceed to flock to the polls in record numbers and cast our votes with the thought in mind that our county is as good as we want to make it. If we do this, we will never regret it.

All of the candidates have devoted many days of campaigning and have spent a great amount of money in order that their programs and ideas can be known by the voters. They have done their civic duty well and Saturday morning will have rested their case. We are the jury. Let us be fair and impartial and bring in a just and impartial verdict.

CAYCE'S CORNER

Saturday marks the end of the long count down for the politicians in Yoakum County. Some of these politicians seem to have the record stuck on the same old tunes and can't quite seem to blast off into orbit, but they shouldn't worry, because the voters will take care of the launching for them Saturday. Just for kicks, I wonder how many promises have been made in the different races. There is nothing quite like an election promise either. Election promises are in the same category with New Years resolutions, particularly when it comes to standing behind them. We wouldn't want our politicians to get out of shape and out of practice before the next election year, so perhaps we should suggest they start spinning tall tales at the old timers liars convention, and keep in shape for the next election.

Speaking of politicians, I wonder how often they get dog bit in this campaign. Nobody has reported a dog biting any of the candidates, but there is a good report about a baby biting one of the politicians. That at baby just didn't want to get kissed by the politician.

It sure will be good when Saturday has passed. Afellow can relax and kick off his shoes and settle back into the easy chair and watch Batman without fear of the door bell ringing and having cards thrust into his hand. All he will have to worry about is the Avon lady calling and the Fuller Brush salesman.

For some of the candidates on Saturday it will be 'Every Cloud Has A Silver Lining', but for those who didn't make it the tune will be 'In Every Life A Little Rain Must Fall,' and they can't help knowing how long it usually takes to rain in Yoakum County.

Laying all kidding aside, most of the candidates have run intelligent fair races. We are really glad that did take time to drop in and ask for our vote. It will be a little dull when the campaign ends.

UNCLE ZEB

CARL C. WOOD

Progress and Profit come from the same root. . . We try for progress in our farming because we want to make a profit. . . We save for the future because we hope to profit from our thrift. . . Profit has been the incentive that has led people to invent new and better ways of doing things. . . It has been the chief factor in making our country the greatest and richest in the world. This could have a sad ending if we are not careful in how far we go in letting central government plan both our present and our future. If we should ever destroy the desire of the individual to progress then we could so very easily become like the peoples of the many countries that we so often try to help.

Some folks are a success overnight based on their own personal inventory.

One of my favorite "sleeping through the sermon" stories had to do with the old deacon who snored away from beginning to end each service. Finally the preacher talked with him about the habit. . . "Don't think nothing about it Brother Pastor. When you first came to this church I stayed awake for several times. Then, I decided you were doing alright so I just relaxed and left it with you."

Along the same line someone handed me the following:

I never see my preacher's eyes Though they with light might shine— For when he prays he closes his, And when he preaches—mine.

Paying cash for what we want is a good way to break the habit of wanting so much.

Uncle Jay Bob says that the main thing that he would like to save for his old age is himself.

Looking Into Your Luggage

Scene: the customs office at any point of entry into the United States. In plain sight of whoever cares to look, a customs inspector opens a suitcase and suspiciously fingers the personal belongings it contains. The couple who own the suitcase, coming home from a trip abroad, silently seethe.

It is no wonder that many people resent such treatment. Prying into private effects, like rummaging through private homes, is surely not the usual prerogative of our government.

In fact the Constitution itself, in the Fourth Amendment, forbids any "unreasonable search and seizure."

But examining your luggage at the border is an exception—and for a good reason. Bringing merchandise into the country is not your inherent right, but only a privilege, granted on terms the government may choose to impose. "The necessity of enforcing the customs laws," explained a federal court, "has always restricted the rights of privacy of those engaged in crossing the international boundary."

Furthermore, to make sure it isn't cheated, the government may be firm indeed in enforcing its rules and regulations.

For instance: One woman complained of having to disrobe (in the presence of a female official) as part of a customs search. She argued that this was improper, in the absence of any "probable cause" to believe she was hiding something.

But the court upheld the procedure, saying: "This was a border search; and while it is, as well as any other, must be lawfully conducted, different rules are applicable to search at the border and search anywhere else."

Isn't this hard on tourists? Perhaps it is. Yet, consider the practical problems of law enforcement faced by the government. Once a person gets past customs, the Fourth Amendment takes over—and the chance of catching a smuggler may be lost forever.

In one case, customs agents stopped a suspected smuggler of narcotics after he was 70 miles inside the border. Sure enough, they found heroin in his pocket. But this damning evidence was rejected in court, because the agents had searched the man without the required "probable cause."

How much better to catch such people at the border, said a federal judge, than to play hide-and-seek with them afterward.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

For several months now, the U.S. State Department has been quite upset. It seems among the officials an anti-communist was found, and since this most unwelcome discovery, every effort has been exerted to remove this blot on the escutcheon.

In fact, by the time this is printed, it is possible that Miss Francis G. Knight may no longer be the State Department head of the passport division. At last reports she has been stripped of some authority in this area. Miss Knight has been accused of very unorthodox beliefs. She just does not believe that an American passport should be issued to a known communist.

Her refusal on occasions to do so, even despite a Supreme Court ruling to the contrary, has made her quite unpopular with many of her superiors.

Now of course, her refusal on occasions to issue a passport to a known communist has caused some to say she is a reactionary. Apparently she is an American, and perhaps the nation has now reached a stage where the appellations of American and reactionary are synonymous, especially if the American also happens to be anti-communist.

This whole weak kneed attitude of the State Department is perplexing to most citizens.

Printed on any American passport issued is the information that the document is no good for travel into several communist areas, including Red China, the communist controlled portions of Vietnam and Korea, Cuba and Albania. Incidentally, this fetish the State Dept. has about tiny Albania is a curious one.

In addition, it is clearly stated that if an American does go into these areas he will be prosecuted.

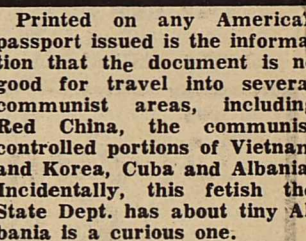

So college students have flocked to Cuba with the expenses picked up by the Castro government. Three men, one of them a Yale professor, in the past few months, went in to North Vietnam, and according to all reports even made anti-American speeches over radio Hanoi.

Now, of course, on their return, it could have perhaps been expected that a U.S. marshal or two would be down at the port to greet them.

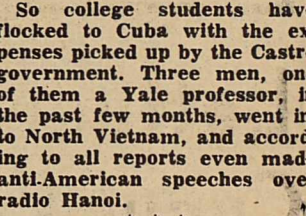

But at the last report, they are still walking around free as birds, and presumably echoing the communist line as they learned it in Hanoi.

It perhaps should be in order at this point to comment extensively on these most peculiar situations.

On the other hand, further discussion is perhaps redundant, although it might be asked if the State Dept. is so sensitive to the feelings of communists, why are American boys dying in Vietnam?

C. W. Harder reports she has been stripped of some authority in this area.

Just when it seems there are no more really different and ingenious ideas for home decorating, along comes something bright as a new penny, using plastic webbing, best known for its use on garden chairs, to make window curtains. Vertical strips of white plastic webbing make a distinctive window treatment for a boy's bedroom, den, family room, basement recreation room, or any room in a summer cottage, in short, anywhere that an informal motif is desired. Plastic webbing, available by the yard in a choice of colors, is simple for even an inexperienced seamstress to work with, because little actual sewing is involved. Here's how it's done: cut several strips of webbing the length of the window, and sew a loop of any fabric to the top and bottom edges of each strip. You will need two round cafe curtain rods for each window, one for the top and one for the bottom. Then simply insert a rod through the fabric loops at each end, leaving one-inch spaces in between the strips.

Place the rods in brackets at the top and bottom of the window and presto! you have a neat, tailored window treatment that won't be disturbed by the highest wind or stormiest weather. In fair weather, the webbing strips allow plenty of light to come through because of their loosely woven construction and the spacing. You don't always have to take webbing down to keep it clean, a once-over with a sponge dipped into hot soap or detergent suds will remove surface dirt right at the window. However, it should get a real laundering at least once a season. Swish the strips through hot suds, rinse under the faucet, shape off excess water, wipe with a towel, and hang them back in place.

Any teen can make a washable PONCHO.
In Mexico a poncho is a blanket-like cloak with a hole in the middle to slip over the head. That hole is the one point of similarity with a U. S. version popular with the younger set. Fashioned from a wisp of washable fabric, the gayer the better, one type is a brief overall to wear around the house. It may also be made of terrycloth, to wear over a bathingsuit between swims.

RAY TRENT

Seeking the office of District Clerk of Yoakum County has been one of the Greatest experiences of my life. No one likes to lose but if I do I will still be ahead because I have met so many fine people during this campaign.

I would like to thank each of you again who voted for me in the first Primary and ask for your continued support. To those who voted for me To those who voted for Mr. Cooke and Mr. York, I do not blame you and I firmly believe you are supporting me now. To those who voted for my opponent I only ask that you consider the facts before you vote.

I believe my education training and background better qualifies me to serve as District Clerk and if elected I will try my best to uphold the Dignity of that office and serve you in a conscientious christian-like manner.

Thank you,

Dirt Gardeners

The Plains Dirt Gardeners Garden Club met Thursday, May 19th in the Clubroom of the Old Courthouse for the regular monthly meeting. Members answered roll call by telling the group of a miniature planting they planned to plant.

Mrs. C.C. Perkins, program director for the event, brought an inspiring introduction by quoting a message from the State President, Mrs. A.M. Aikin, Jr. of Tyler, that included the immortal words of the poet Shelley, "O, Wind, if Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?", and also the statement that gardening adds richness meaning to your lives and is no more than the soul striving for beauty.

Other's contributing toward the program entitled, Know the Small Wonders in Your Garden, were Mrs. Robert Young, Miniature Plants; and Mrs.

Wilson Duke, Miniature Arrangements.

Mrs. Foy Cogburn, outgoing president, installed the following officers for the 1966-67 club year in a lovely setting of red roses, the club flower that was arranged by MARS, that was arranged by Mrs. Sallie Forrest; Mrs. Leon Lewis, president; Mrs. Jim Brown, vice president; Mrs. Robert Young, recording secretary; Mrs. Slvie Faulkenberry, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Neil Parks, treasurer.

Mrs. Joe Thompson and Mrs. Sallie Forrest served an attractive plate of unusual shaped canapes, cookies and frosted punch from a table adorned with a lovely centerpiece of spring flowers.

Next meeting of the group will be the third Thursday in September.

IF you want Economical and Business-Like Operation of County affairs... then on this basis I ask you to re-elect me your County Judge.

I will appreciate your reading my official announcement in another part of this paper PAID POL. AD

Duvall Seeks Re-Election

Yoakum County Judge Stanley Duvall, basing his re-election campaign on a platform of continued work for the betterment and progress of all Yoakum County, today issued a formal statement on behalf of his candidacy in the Saturday, June 4, Democratic Primary Run-off Election.

STANLEY DUVALL

Duvall, a business man, former hardware merchant, and resident of Yoakum County since 1939, is one of Denver City's pioneer residents, residing in the city continuously since August of that year.

In his statement, Duvall stressed economy in the financial affairs of the county. He said the place to start is in your own office which could use some new fixtures. During his 3 1/2 years in office, Duvall pointed out, he has been budgeted $500 annually for capital outlay. Of the appropriations, he has spent none on his own office. The funds have been used for improvements in other needed areas.

County judge office appropriations went for revamping the old court room in the old courthouse into a beautiful community room for Plains and Yoakum County youngsters and for rehabilitation of the auditorium of the Denver City Community Building.

These funds budgeted for my office use have been used for the benefit of the people instead of myself," said the County judge.

Duvall's interest in the youngsters' community center in Plains is indicative of his interest in the youth of the county. During his tenure as county judge, he has handled numerous juvenile misdemeanor complaints. The judge evolved a probation system for juveniles which has proved successful in curtailing juvenile delinquency and in re-habilitating youthful offenders.

"My work with Boy Scouts of America for some 15 years has given me an insight into youth and has enabled me to handle juvenile problems in a manner of which I am proud," said the judge, himself a father. He is an honorary Ranch hand of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, an honor bestowed for his continuing annual private support of the ranch.

County judge Duvall also based his campaign for a second term upon his intimate knowledge of Yoakum County and of its public affairs.

Duvall, in 1941-42 was a member of the Denver City Council. Then, he was voted into the mayor's post. During his years on the council he helped organize the City of Denver City government and while he was mayor the city purchased its first public water system. Ten years later, Duvall was drafted to become the mayor. During this term of office, Duvall was active in obtaining for Denver City a 40-acre tract of land, now known as Shell Addition, from an oil company for residential use to help end a critical housing shortage in the city. He also was instrumental in promoting new municipal water and sewer services for the city.

"I am seeking my second term as County judge because I feel that I have the experience and background to give the people of Yoakum County the kind of county government they desire," he said. There are many duties of

U.S. Supreme Court Vs County Redistricting

There is much ado about the 'one-man-one-vote' issue in the entire United States. Although this issue started at the Congressional level and dealt with the congressional Districts only at that time, it is clear that much more is involved.

In many cases legislation intended for one specific purpose is not definitely defined to affect that purpose only, consequently many other conditions are entitled to consideration under this particular legislation. Therefore under the above mentioned legislation, the 'one-man-one-vote' is extended to include the Commissioner's precinct level. It is certainly to be hoped that this redistricting can be done on the county and state level without inviting Federal intervention. At the present time, Midland County who redistricted leaving 95% of the population in one precinct, has a case in the State Supreme Court for decision.

The progressive thinking members of the Commissioners' Court of Yoakum County are to be commended for their foresightedness. In 1965 Yoakum County became one of the pioneer counties to redistrict. By redistricting the county, they did more evenly distribute the vote, while contributing greatly to amore equal tax valuation of the various precincts.

A strict 'one-man-one-vote' or redistricting on vote population alone could contribute to gross imbalance in the distribution of tax valuation which in turn could bring about almost unworkable conditions to the functions of county government. Yoakum County, in its effort to more equally redistrict, has certainly shown its desire to cooperate with the Federal intent and has pioneered a pattern wherein the tax valuation must be included in redistricting. Otherwise there would be gross injustices to property owners as well as placing some precincts in the position of having ample votes but insufficient funds to operate the precinct government.

It is notable that these facts were given no consideration at the Federal level. Yoakum County is to be highly commended for the foresightedness in coping with the matter prior to Federal intervention. There is no turning back to the old precinct lines as being advocated by some. This is unthinkable. It would only invite immediate Federal intervention. This intervention would give little if any consideration to local authority or opinion. The foresighted opinion and decision of judge Stanley Duvall in redistricting Yoakum County has shown an effort to comply with the intent of the aforesaid legislation and undoubtedly will delay outside intervention. There is little doubt that further change will be required and it is to be presupposed that the alert Commissioners' Court of Yoakum County will trustfull be progressing and attempting to keep the matter within county government and avoid the inequities which are inevitable in case of Federal intervention. MISS NITA LEWIS

Lewis to Wed Blount

Mrs. Clyde R. Lewis, 10 04 South 6th Street announces the engagement of her daughter, Nita Lewis, to Fred Blount, son of Mr. and Mrs. G.T. Blount, of 105 East 13th Street, Plains.

Miss Lewis is an employee of General Telephone Company. Mr. Blount is an employee of Lee Crabtree Machine Shop. The wedding is planned in July.

McCormick - Jones Vows Read

Following a brief wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Don McCormick will be at home at 633 Amarillo, Abilene, where they both are students at McMurry College.

Mrs. McCormick, the former Marilyn Lorea Jones, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Jones Plains. McCormick is the son of Rev. and Mrs. H. Weldon McCormick of Dimmitt.

The couple was married May 28 in a double ring ceremony in the First Methodist Church of Plains with the groom's father, Rev. Weldon McCormick, officiating. Rev. McCormick also was soloist and sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Miss Linda Jones, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Miss Jones is an English and business teacher at Bronte.

The best man was Mr. Don Fullbright of Abilene. Fullbright is a student at McMurry College and is employed at the Bank of Commerce in Abilene.

The organist was Mr. Buddy Deets, a McMurry College student from Denver City. Ushers were B. Jack Turner of Abilene, and Chris McCormick, the groom's brother, from Dimmitt.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length dress with soft pleats at the sides, made of white peau de soie with a chantilly lace jacket and long petal-point sleeves. She carried two small orchids atop a white Bible.

The bride, a graduate of Plains High School, is a senior at McMurry. She has been editor of the Totem, the school yearbook, for two years she is employed by Advertising Art in Abilene.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Cooper High School in Abilene. A junior at McMurry, he is active in the college choir, the Chanters. He is employed as Publicity Director of the United Fund of Abilene.

We would like to say 'thanks' to each of you who remembered us during our sorrow. For the flowers, cards, prayers, and for every expression of sympathy. May God bless you is our prayer. The Culwells the County judge other than presiding over the commissioners' Court and County Court. He works with juveniles, alcoholics, the mentally retarded, broken marriages, abandoned children, financial problems, probation of wills, guardianship of minors and many other problems of the people.

I have been called hundreds of times to help solve problems of citizens of this county. I have never refused to try to help a person and in most all cases I have been able to help them. When I could not help, I got someone who could.

To be a perfect judge, you should have been a businessman, a preacher, a lawyer, a teacher, a youth worker, and a marriage counselor.

I have not been all of these things, but over the years I have accumulated a lot of good old common sense which has come in handy in carrying out the duties of this office.

I believe that I can be of more effective assistance in developing Yoakum County by being your official representative.

"I want to thank the people for their cooperation and for their support during the past three years, and, if re-elected to my second term, I will continue to conduct the county's business on an economical basis to the best of my ability. I believe that my experience qualifies me for performing a better job during a second term and anytime I can be of assistance to you, please feel free to call upon me.

Your vote on June 4, 1966 will be most sincerely appreciated.

Thank you, Stanley Duvall

"ALL I KNOW IS WHAT I READ IN THE PAPERS"

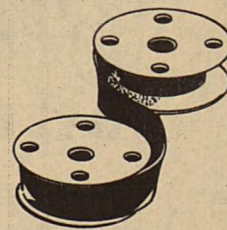

America's best-loved humorist also was one of the best-informed persons in his time. Nothing, it seemed, escaped his notice. His comments on the passing scene were applauded and repeated by millions the world over. "All I know is what I read in the papers" became his trade-mark. Will Rogers recognized that newspapers, more than any other media, are the common source of information of all the people. The simple fact that everyone knew immediately what he was talking about provided an important basis for his fabulous popularity.

On Saturday of this week we go to the Polls to select the County Clerk of our choice I am grateful for the support you gave me in the first primary as I led the vote in this half of the County. Please go to the Polls next Saturday and give me your help in this election.

Most of you remember the years I worked as Deputy in the Yoakum County Clerk's office and my readiness to help you in checking the records, in filing legal papers, issuing marriage licenses or whatever work you needed to have done. I have not changed, I am still eager to be accomodating. To those of you whom I have not had occasion to help, I would like for you to check with the people I have worked with and the employers I have worked for and find out my qualifications.

I believe in running the County Clerk's office with two main purposes: first: To produce and preserve perfect records both for the present and the future good of Yoakum County. Second: To run the office for the good of you, the customer, and the customer is the most important person ever in the office, in person or by mail. To serve you is the purpose of our work and you do us a favor by giving us the opportunity to serve you.

As County Clerk it will be my job and my pleasure to handle your wants profitable to you and to the County.

You and to the County.

Dear Citizens of Yoakum County,

The time is drawing near for the run-off election. Please, do not let it be said that we did not have enough interest in the final outcome of the election to go cast our ballot for the person of our choice.

I have said, and I say again, and again that I am for fair and impartial County wide government.

I am very interested in the citizens, and tax payers being informed on all issues pertaining to County business.

I am for progress for Yoakum County as long as we can be prudent, and conservative to the best interest of the tax paying citizens.

I am for the citizens having full use of, and continued maintenance on all County Public facilities such as the Community Buildings, Ball Parks, Parks, Hospital, Clinic, Libraries, Livestock Barn, Roads and etc. as long as these facilities are used in an orderly fashion and under the regulations and supervisions that are deemed necessary for the most satisfactory operation.

I am not a fanatic in any sense of the word. We can be practical and constructive as we go, and feel better as we undertake the duties and problems that we meet.

I am for County wide cooperation as much as possible.

I realize I will not be able to please all the people all of the time, but I will make every effort to have a satisfactory understanding to the best of my ability.

Your vote will be greatly appreciated on June 4th.

Most important among these reasons are, of course, his children! Nothing means more to him than their health, their education, their opportunities to grow up to be happy, successful men and women.

Basic to this objective are good schools, well-equipped and properly supervised playgrounds, well-organized recreational and youth activity programs. All of which add up to a wholesome, constructive environment for "growing up."

These services and facilities cost money, much of which must come from taxes paid and contributions made by local business. Part of every dollar spent at home helps to provide the funds to make this community an ever-better place for "bringing up children."

That's why the thoughtful father insists that family shopping be done where it will do the family the most good: here at home!

If you will ELECT ME as your NEXT COUNTY CLERK, I will promise one thing, TO WORK FOR YOU and TREAT YOU as I would like you to work for me and treat me. I have always given a full day's work for a day's pay and extended extra courtesy and considerations to my customers.

I NEED YOUR VOTE and WANT YOUR VOTE SATURDAY, June 4, so that I may have the opportunity to WORK for YOU during the next four years as your COUNTY CLERK.

THANK YOU AGAIN, /s/ Ruby Heald Pd.Pol.Ad.

Dear Friends and Fellow Citizens:

First, I wish to THANK YOU for YOUR VOTE and fine support given me during the May Primary, for with out your vote, I could not have led the ticket.

It will be impossible for me to talk with each of you personally before the run-off election, Saturday, June 4, as time will not permit me to completely cover the county, as I have continued to work at my job and have carried on my campaign after office hours and on Saturday. I have done my best to see everyone in the county, but know that inevitably I have missed some of you.

I have worked closely with all the records on file in the County Clerk's office for over seven years and have a thorough knowledge of them. These records are vitally important to all Yoakum County

We wish to express our deepest thanks to all our friends in the loss of our beloved husband and father.

Thank you for the many flowers, cards, and food, your

Mr. G.D. Kennedy Supt. of Schools Plains, Texas

Dear Mr. Kennedy,

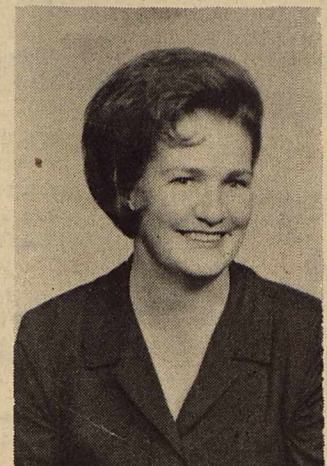

I have had the pleasure of camping near your group of F.F.A. Boys under the direction of several capable adult men, here in Brownwood State Park. I have never seen a more orderly group in the 20 or more years we have been travelling the U.S.A. They were good campers, clean in their habits, perfect gentlemen to older persons, they never at anytime made loud noises and above all were well looked after and supervised.

I know a good group when I see one and they were it. When people do something good they should be told so, so please sometime tell this fine group that they were being observed very closely.

Re-Elect Blanche Dyer

Mrs. Blanche Dyer is asking the voters of Yoakum County to re-elect her as their District Clerk for another term. In her bid for re-election she states that she is experienced and qualified and will serve the voters to the vest of her ability. Mrs. Dyer said in her last announcement before the run-off election Saturday that she urges the people to go to the polls and vote for the candidate of their choice, and she asks that the voters consider her qualifications for the position that she now holds.

BLANCHE DYER

Mrs. Dyer has the experience, education, and ability to perform the duties of the office that she holds and is seeking again, and she also is acquainted with the related offices in the courthouse, having served in the county clerk's office in the county and district clerk's office as deputy for 9 years in Yoakum County and 3 years in Ward

County. One of Mrs. Dyer's policies since being in office is to serve the people as a whole by doing her work efficiently and to the best of her ability. She pledges to continue to serve the county as a whole if re-elected.

Most of all, Blanche Dyer asks the electorate of Yoakum County to examine the qualifications of those people who are running for public office, and to elect the candidate who they believe will serve Yoakum County best.

Mrs. Dyer extends her appreciation to the many people who have supported her in the past and asks them to return her to office again. The District Clerk of Yoakum County also asks those voters who voted for the other candidates in the primary election to examine her qualifications and record before casting their vote Saturday.

Sen. Tower

Reports Legislative Plans

Senator John G. Tower Well, there can be no question about it. The cost of living is rising. And, Texans are concerned about it. In a recent poll of our state, fully 71 percent of those contacted said they regarded the inflation as 'very serious.'

Washington is concerned about it, too. Food, housing, services and other necessities of life are regularly going up in price. The housewife sees it everytime she goes shopping. The worker feels it everytime he takes out his wallet.

Wholesale prices, a harbinger of things to come in retail prices, began to rise again last month after holding steady in March. Wholesale prices now stand 3.7 percent higher than a year ago, and wholesale food prices now stand 3.7 percent higher than a year ago, and wholesale food prices remain more than 8 percent higher than last year.

In April we saw higher wholesale prices for fresh fruits and vegetables, for lumber, copper goods, steel and aluminum goods, many types of machinery and equipment, paper, chemicals, tires and tubes, gasoline, furniture, cigarettes and shoes.

Looking a bit further back, it is no great consolation to discover that since 1959 inflation has, in effect, added a 12 percent 'sales tax' penalty to very American family's buying power.

Today's dollar is worth only 75 cents compared to the 1950 dollar, and only 44 cents compared to the 1940 dollar. It's the cheapest dollar in our nation's history.

There is little question but that the United States is on the threshold of dangerous inflation. Uncertainties in recent days in the stock market have reflected the uneasy situation. Interest rates are up and money for mortgages and loans is getting tight.

The principal cause of this growing inflation is in Washington. It is the monetary and economic policies being pursued by the federal government. Some federal advisors believe that inflation is 'acceptable.' But history has shown that stable prices, not rising prices, are the best foundation for growth and progress. Inflation, when encouraged by government policy, tends to feed on itself and to grow out of control. That is the danger we face now.

Inflation also contains the seeds of recession. The greater the monetary excesses during a period of inflation, the more likely it is to be followed by recession, decreased individual incomes and unemployment.

A number of calls have gone out for housewives to restrain their spending, for farmers and ranchers to cut back, for business and industry to curtail expenses. None of these actions has had much effect, and it's little wonder. Because the chief culprit is the federal government which has insisted on spending money it does not have, sort of 'going now and maybe paying later'.

The fact of the matter is that the federal budget has not been balanced since 1960. Since then deficits have totaled up to $34 billion. The national debt has reached a level of $324 billion, penalizing American taxpayers $22,000 in interest costs every minute.

Unless this federal fiscal irresponsibility is soon corrected inflation will lead to even higher prices, further loss of value for each dollar, loss of jobs and possibly a deterioration in our position of leadership for the free world.

Federal domestic expenditures now are so vast that they could easily be consolidated by eliminating overlapping and duplicating government programs, by restoring the urge to start costly new programs and by pruning wasted money from existing projects.

What we must seek in America is to achieve maximum production and employment, without inflation, without reducing economic freedom, and without creating conditions that will cause recession later on.

And, the policies pursued to reach these goals should be consistent with our free political system, emphasizing dispersion of power among the states and separation of powers in the branches of national government, rather than increasing concentration of power in Washington.
