Cowgirls Austin Bound With Eyes On Lone Star Crown

The high flying Plains Cowgirls bombed their way to another Regional Championship Saturday, and will travel to the capitol city next week to play for the State Class A Championship. The Cowgirl volleyballers have already amazed sports fans in the state by winning an unprecedented five straight class A regional state championships in a row. This will be the first year for the girls to go to Austin to play for all of the marbles in the ring. They will be serious contenders to sweep the honors at the tournament.

The state tournament is set for April 28-29 at Gregory Gym at the University of Texas. The Cowgirls will attempt to gun down their first opponents at the Longhorn campus on Friday afternoon. If they succeed, they will play for the championship on Saturday at 2:45 p.m. Consolation will be played on Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m.

Coach Shirley Gross's Cowgirls downed Irian 15-2 and 14-7, and shut out Lorenzo 15-0, and won the second game 15-9 to capture the regional honors.

Fans are urged to make arrangements to see the home team play for the state crown next week. It has been pointed out that it is a great honor for our city and school to play for a state championship and every effort is being made to support the volleyball girls in their bid to bring the trophy home for keeps.

Members of the best team in West Texas include: Jo Ann Kerrick, soph.; Sharon Tarkington, jr.; Debbie Thompson, jr.; Louella Turner, fr.; Linda Blair, jr.; Janie Hamm, jr.; Kethy Anderson, jr.; Suzahn St. Romain, jr.; Marilyn Goehry, jr.; Carolyn Crutcher, sen.; Diane Fitzgerald, fr.; and Charlene Gayle, soph.

Meet Set

Yoakum County Farmers Union will hold their monthly meeting on Monday, April 24 at 8:00 p.m. in the clubroom of the old courthouse.

H. W. Taunton and Rowe Stephens will give their report of their fly in trip to Washington, D. C.

Sen. Tower View On Draft Laws

This has been a very busy week in the Senate. Legislation is beginning to move through our committees, and action on the Senate floor has been spurred by a couple of unexpected developments.

The Armed Services Committee, on which I serve, began hearings this week on our Draft Laws. It is necessary that Congress extend the Selective Service System this year, and the demands of Vietnam have caused more than usual attention to this need.

It will be the Armed Services Committee which perfects the new Draft Bill for consideration by the full Senate. While it is still early in the hearings, I believe the trend of Senate opinion is toward retention of the local Draft Board system in about its present status.

And, I think it likely the Senate will recommend retention of undergraduate, college draft-deferments perhaps coupled with a shift of prime, draft-age vulnerability to a somewhat younger group of men.

Throughout our work on the Draft, I hope we can all remember we are dealing with a matter of national defense. It is not the responsibility of the Draft to improve youthful morality, to increase education, to upgrade physical capabilities or to guarantee that everybody serves equally. On the contrary, it is the responsibility of the Draft to select, in orderly fashion, the best young men available when their country needs them.

The Senate also was confronted this week by the need to take action of the threatened Railroad strike. Because of the emergency situation which found the President out of the country in South America, COONT ON PAGE 4

G.I. Bill Runs Out

Less than five months remain for thousands of veterans of World War II to use their privileges for a GI loan to purchase a home, farm or for business purposes. This warning came from William J. Driver, head of the Veterans Administration.

Present laws provide that the absolute cutoff date for World War II veterans will be on July 25, 1967. This deadline is the result of Congressional action which has delayed the final date of eligibility several times.

The cutoff will not affect veterans of the Korean Conflict or veterans who have served since January 31, 1955. Driver pointed out, as these veterans are covered by different legislation.

Almost seven million loans have been guaranteed by the Veterans Administration to veterans since the beginning of the program following World War II. One out of every five homes constructed in the United States following World War II was with VA guarantee. Driver urged veterans planning to purchase a home to make their selection as soon as possible, avoiding the last minute rush for certification.

Chamber Plans Annual Banquet

Final plans have been completed for the annual Chamber of Commerce awards banquet set for Friday night, April 28, in the cafeteria at Plains Elementary School, said Doyle Newsom, Chamber president.

The program will feature Dr. Leon Hill, Amarillo minister and humorist. Dr. Hill is considered one of the more popular after dinner speakers in the area, reported Newsom.

Tickets are now on sale and those who plan to attend are urged to buy their tickets early in order to make it easier to evaluate the size of the crowd.

The program will get under way with an invocation, which is scheduled to be given by the Rev. Mr. James Futch, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Plains.

D. N. Taylor will introduce

Gets New Books Yoakum County Library

Some of the books in our library are 'The Truth About Cancer' by Cameron, 'Five Smooth Stones' by Fairbairn, 'The Detective' by Thorp, 'All in the Family' by O'Connor, 'The Centurion' by Wibberley, 'Five Women I love' by Bob Hope, 'The Boston Strangler' by Frank, 'The Death of a President' by Manchester,

'Four Came Home' by Glines, and 'Lyndon B. Johnson: The Exercise of Power' by Evans. These are just a few of the books that are considered the best by readers everywhere, said Latrell McDonnell, librarian.

A library meeting was held in Lubbock this week. Lubbock has given libraries in our area the okay to borrow books and material from them for special requests, said Mrs. McDonnell. If there is material you need and cannot get through your local library they can order it from Lubbock Library and if it can be spared from their shelves they will send it to you for a period of 28 days. You must go through your local library to borrow from them, Mrs. McDonnell said. There will be no charge for the use of their books.

Lubbock has received a grant of $50,000.00 from the Government to expand their libraries and book collections. They will be able to order much needed material from this grant.

PLAINS COWGIRLS

Plains Wins 5A Track Title

In capturing the 1967 District 5 A cinder title, Coach Rip Sewell's team gave the one two punch where it was needed to edge O'Donnell and Tahoka. Plains finished first with 127 1/2 points followed by O'Donnell with 122, and by Tahoka with 120 points.

Having six Cowboys to come in for sixth place in different events garnered six valuable points to put the title on ice by 5 1/2 points.

The Cowboys also struck hard to register their other 121 1/2 points, but would have been out of the contest without the big six points which clinched the meet.

In the 440 relay Plains gained second place honors for eight points.

In the 120 High Hurdles, Ronnie Cowart scored fourth to net four points for the Pokes.

It was a Cowboy first in the 100 yard dash, when Alton Raines got a big 10 points for a first and Joe Pierce garnered a fifth for five points. In the 440 dash Plains salvaged a fourth and fifth place through the efforts of Dan Field and Billy Taylor.

Plains gained a third place and sixth spot in the 330 hurdles with John Lowe and Gary Liles winning a total of seven points. Alton Raines and Gregg Jones gave it the one two finish in the 220 dash with good times of 22.2 and 22.3 respectively for 18 giant points.

Plains miler Jim Pinkston came in strong to clinch second place and win eight points for the black and gold.

Injured Calvin Smith managed to finish third in the pole vault and John Lowe got a sixth spot for a total of seven points.

Calvin Smith garnered a coveted first place in the high jump for the Stockmen and John Lowe a second for 18big ones, and Billie Taylor tied for sixth to get 1/2 point.

In the broadjump Calvin Smith held tightly on to second place to add eight more on to the team total.

In the shot put it was N. C. Clanan who captured four points with a fourth place throw.

Dan Field and Billie Taylor helped put the meet in the bank with a third and fourth place in the discus to finish strong in the field events with a total of 10 points. All first and second place winners will go to regional in Lubbock this week-end.

Rough Riders Meet

All members of the Rough Riders are urged to be at the Plains Rodeo arena tonight at 7:30 p.m. for an important organizational meeting, said Wayne Badgett, president.

Rough Riders are urged to bring their horses, because after the business meeting the group plans to ride, said Badgett.

Junior officers in the Rough Riders include David Box, president; Clark Parrott, Wagon Boss and Parade Marshal; and John Preston Robertson, reporter.

Anyone interested in joining the Rough Riders can contact Wayne Badgett for details or can see on of the junior officers of the club.

Badgett expects the Rough Riders to have an active year, and urged young people with horses to make inquiries about becoming a member of the club.

Twister Strikes Newtex Causing Light Damage

A small twister struck at New Tex on the state line southwest of Plains last Thursday afternoon at about 2:10 p.m., said Gail Craft, owner of the New Tex Gin. The twister did about $800.00 damage to the Craft home which is located a few yards west of the gin. It crossed the highway east of the Dyer store and did damage to a farm building south of the highway.

The concrete block fence of the Craft home was completely destroyed on the west side of the home. A large television tower was also torn down. Large cottonwood trees in the yard were shredded. Air conditioner pads were taken from the air conditioner at the home located next to the Crafts.

Mrs. Craft was in her house at the time it struck. She reported that she was ironing and was not near a window, but that she heard the loud noise that the twister made. A similar twister danced on the state line recently when it struck the Tom Box farm and destroyed Mrs. Houghs' trailer house.

Craft and his employees were at the gin office and did not see the twister. Its path was clearly recognizable through the debris and cotton wood limbs marking its path.

Mrs. Craft reported that she felt their stone home give to the twister and that she thought it was going to collapse. The home itself withstood the fringe area of the twister.

The farm building which was upturned was located about a mile south east of the New Tex Gin. Dick McGinty reported this damage to the paper after seeing the extent of the damage sustained by the building on his school bus route Thursday afternoon.

Washington, D.C. A flying delegation of 90 cotton producers representing Texas and Oklahoma presented here this week to the Congress and the United States Department of Agriculture a program for administrative and legislative action to substantially increase income to cotton producers and which recognizes the urgency of a cotton-stamp program to expand consumption among the Nation's needy families just as the food-stamp plan operates to expand food consumption.

Two Plains Men Fly to Capitol

President Jay Naman of the Texas Farmers Union had a major part in organizing the effort.

Cotton producers from Yoakum county, Texas, participating in the Fly-In program of National Farmers Union were as follows: H. W. Taunton of Plains, and Rowe Stephens of Tokio, Texas.

The delegation met with Under Secretary of Agriculture John Schmittner and a panel of USDA staff responsible for cotton policy made up of the following: Reuben Johnson, National Farmers Union, Moderator; Frank Lowenstein, Staff Economist Group; Charles Barbour, Foreign Agricultural Service; Joseph Moss, Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service; A. C. Robison, Consumer & Marketing Service; and Ralph Raper, Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service.

In calls to U. S. Department of Agriculture and on Capitol Hill, the cotton producers urged support for (1) a cotton stamp program; (2) within the authority of the Secretary of Agriculture; (3) continued strong support for the price support loan program for farmers and their cooperatives and continuation of the Form G loan program; (4) CCC sales policy that will permit the current cotton crop to move more directly into cotton marketing channels; (5) realistic price differentials based on market values for those quantities of cotton shorter than 1 inch; (6) elimination of skip row penalties, and (7) a USDA study of cotton imports to determine whether increased imports of cotton yarn is detrimental to market prices and immediate action to curb such imports if they are found to adversely effect producer income.

Lock-up Week Set Here April 24-30

Operation Lock-Up Week will be the week of April 24 through the 30th here in Plains. Nationally, accidental poisoning figures for children under 5 years of age show that there were 454 recorded deaths in this age bracket in 1964. The main stated purpose for Operation Lock-Up in our local area is to make sure that no fatal accidents of this nature will be recorded this year . . . or any other year!

Operation Lock-Up is being sponsored locally by the Yoakum County Home Demonstration Clubs. Mrs. Carl Lowrey, Safety Chairman had some special pointers for homemakers about keeping dangerous products in their original containers, and why this is so important where children are involved.

Unlabeled products can be deadly, and this includes pesticides and many, many other products that you have in and around your home. An unwise habit that some people have is pouring dangerous products into old milk bottles, pop bottles, measuring cups, pails, pots and pans. Whatever the product, the container was and is designed to safely hold that product until you are ready to use it...or until it is opened by you or someone else. The first step to take is to lock any potentially dangerous products away from children and pets until you are ready to use them.

Why is it so important to keep pesticides in their original containers? When children are involved, and this includes the neighbors' children as well as your own... or your grandchildren, you are immediately faced with a situation of association. You have taught the children to associate cups, pop bottles, fruit or jelly jars, bowls, and other cooking utensils with food and drink. They have seen you washing the car and clothes with a household pail. Remember that the very young children have not developed their sense of taste and smell and (they'll taste anything). It should come as no great surprise then, that they think anything in a pop bottle is pop...and they will drink. They are only trying out what you have taught them to do, so don't cross-them-up by substituting some dangerous material in a common food-type container.

There is one other good reason to use only the original container. It has the important label information that you will need each time you use the product. If you ever find a container without a label, or with part of the label missing, the best thing you can do is to get rid of it. Safe storage, at your house, is your personal way of joining in Operation Lock-Up.

Oh Brother! What Kind of Nut is He?

By du Casse

In these times of expertly qualified opinions and ideas on problems reaching from international intrigue to local insect control programs, it was refreshing to me recently to hear a local radio interview of a citizens' panel conducted in a nearby state. The topic was current events and the moderator directed his questions to an individual who I will refer to as Professor W.

'Professor, keeping in mind the complicated political undertones involved, and equating them with the military objectives involved, tell us please exactly what you think about Vietnam.'

The Professor cleared his throat. 'Yes. It is my carefully considered opinion after researching the question that Vietnam is probably located somewhere in South East Asia.'

The silence following the answer was rather prolonged.

'Ah, well, Professor, could you perhaps add just a little to your opening remarks?'

'More than happy to, Sir. I further predict that sometime before the turn of the century that soy beans have a fair chance to become a part of the total national output of the Vietnam nation.'

'Turning to questions more indigenous to our own country, Professor, do you feel that any of the speculations arising from the current books by Mr. Manchester or Mr. Lane materially affect the Warren Commission Report on the death of the late President Kennedy?'

'I am aware that the books were published. The late President is definitely deceased, and at last check, Mr. Warren is still the Chief Justice of the High Court.'

'But Professor; back to my question - would you tell us whether or not you feel that...'

'Would you mind repeating the question, please?'

'Perhaps we had best move on to the final question, Sir. time is running short. Do you feel that any moral repercussions are inherent in the adoption of the miniskirt by the younger members of our society?'

'If you look at the issue strictly from the standpoint of cause and effect, then it is my opinion that possibly the same grades of good and cheap materials are used for the construction of miniskirts as are used in the construction of standard garments; on the other hand, black wool or black synthetics are probably still more popular for the construction of judicial robes or priests vestments.'

'Thank you Professor for your enlightening comments. It is regrettable that you will not be able to appear on our program next week.'

'Oh? But my schedule is free. I shall be happy to...'

'We now pause for station identification.'

We are delighted to hear that 'Barber' Kirby has gotten the green light from his physician to use the scissors again. Kirby was in an auto accident last August and could not use his arm and hand for a number of months, but he told me he is able to open his soap again this week. Not has Kirby's customers missed him with his reliable clippers, but the Legion boys also felt a vacuum in the local post when Kirby was hurt in the wreck. He is one of the best membership getters that the American Legion has anywhere around.

It was reported to the Corner by one of the most reliable sources that at least five of the people who stopped by the post office Monday were presented with presents from the Texas Highway Patrol. Monday was not just another day for those owning vehicles. The new stickers had to be on the cars by then, and the helpful agents from the State Police reminded local people with something called citations (not for driving beyond the call of duty either) for having old stickers on their ears. Most of the offenders were not women drivers either. I'm sure glad I walked to the post office Monday.

I was reminded of Loyd Allsup's slogan the other day, which goes like this: 'Your tractor shouldn't be caught dead.'

We borrowed Red Graham's ancient Case and used it for spreading pipe in the field. Did you ever run out of fuel in a dust bowl? Oh how I wished for the 'Long Green Line' that day, until somebody said you have to be smarter than the machine. Any nut knows when the butane tank is dry.

Last week-end my older brother and yours truly teamed up against Baby Brother and eldest son Mike for a golf match. Out strategy had to be a quick strike on the first several holes and then try to hang on for a lead. Unfortunately age told its sad old story. Not only was Baby Brother and the Ed unable to get off to an early lead, but we were faced with the problems of giving out on the last few holes. The next time that we take on the youngsters, I will insist on new ground rules being laid. First my team will borrow Marcene Phillips power vehicle

Judge Bennett proclaims Lock-Up Week.

Proclamation

Whereas a great many of the products now in use within our homes, for our modern modes of living and our enjoyment of life, are also capable of ending life through accidental poisoning; and

Whereas the greatest number of victims of such accidental poisoning are young children under five years of age, who are too young to read labels on dangerous products or understand the warning statements on these labels; and

Whereas the protection of these younger children from these hazardous products becomes the responsibility of all adults and older children within the family and community; and

Whereas such protection against accidental poisoning can be accomplished on a large scale only through the concentrated efforts of all citizens of Yoakum County working together on a project of poison prevention;

Now, Therefore, I, Mrs. Carl Lowrey, Safety Leader of Home Demonstration Clubs of Yoakum County, Texas, in recognition of the desire of each citizen to protect the life of every child, do hereby proclaim the week of April 24-30 as Operation Lock-Up Week in the City of Yoakum.

Done at the County Courthouse on the 18th day of 1967.

Yoakum County judge

pulsory settlement of labor-management disputes. I'm hopeful the railroads and their employees can reach a settlement in joint negotiations without a prolonged work stoppage which could result in federal interference in the collective bargaining process.

Also this week the Senate worked on legislation to restore the 7-percent investment tax-credit. You may remember that just six months ago a major Administration campaign was mounted in the pre-offed at such September worries and pressured its plan through Congress.

Now, just six months later, we see the Administration hastily backing down from its erroneous position and reversing its field. We were asked in the Senate this week to put things back the way they were six months ago.

I had voted against elimination of the investment tax-credit last year, and I was pleased to support its prompt reinstatement this week. I only regret that our economy was forced for six unnecessary months to undergo the disruptions and uncertainties caused by last year's unwise action.

As I pointed out last year, the Administration argument that it could control inflation by doing away with this tax credit was untenable. Inflation of prices and costs has continued to be with us throughout the last six months. And, that inflation has been worsened by the lack of tax incentives for business and industry to keep busy creating new jobs and improving operations so that cost-reductions could be made possible in consumer products.

It has now been categorically proved that not industry, but the federal government itself, is the primary cause of cost-price inflation through-outinuing, uncontrolled, federal deficit expenditures.

Elimination of the investment tax-credit was a bucket of cold water thrown on the business and employment expansion potential of our state and all other states which enjoy an expanding, growth economy. Our relatively new industrial state suffered far more from curtailed industrial expansion than did the Northeastern states in which new industry is a lesser economic factor.

Thousands of Texans held jobs in the particular industry's hardest hit be the tax-credit elimination--chemicals, oil, food-processing, publishing, railroads and airlines to mention a few.

Now, after six mistaken months we have moved to restore this incentive to better business and more jobs. I hope the Administration has learned its lesson. I would like to think we are going to have to go through this sort of thing every six months.

El Paso Natural Gas Company Reports:

We're setting new records serving a growing west

Last year, El Paso Natural Gas Company delivered a record 1.51 trillion cubic feet of gas to 11 fast-growing western states.

That's the energy equivalent of more than 250 million barrels of crude oil.

And major new expansion projects, now pending before the Federal Power Commission, will increase our certificated deliveries to customers by another 186 billion cubic feet per year--or about 12 per cent.

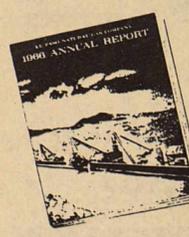

To keep these vast supplies of low-cost energy flowing in ample quantity, we are continually adding to our gas reserves--which stood at an all-time high of 40.4 trillion cubic feet at year's end.

Among other highlights in our 1966 Annual Report:

- Sales and profits at record levels in 1966. Operating revenues reached $572,827,000, with net earnings of $43,256,000.
- Continued expansion into diversified fields of service, including petrochemicals, agricultural chemicals, plastics, textiles, mining, and oil and gas production. Contributions of non-regulated activities were at new highs in 1966.

More details about our natural gas operations in 11 western states, our other diversified operations, and our plans for the future are contained in the 1966 Annual Report. We'd like to send you a copy.

Operation Lock-up Week Proclaimed

By Sudie M. Thompson

The Home Demonstration Clubs in Yoakum County are working hard to remind the public that poison prevention education is a year-round responsibility, which cannot be regulated to a single day or week, although the last week in April is proclaimed as 'Operation Lock-Up Week' in Yoakum County.

Many people know the dangers of insecticides and drain clearing crystals, but lemon scented furniture polish, sky-blue window cleaner, chocolate laxative, and the common aspirin are all potential killers. The home is equipped with a variety of products which are designed to make life more pleasant and healthful. However, just like many other modern conveniences, these household products must be used only for the purpose which it was designed and then only in the proper way because each group of accessories creates its own peculiar hazards. Far to many people have adapted themselves to these conveniences without learning to live safely in the new environment created by them.

Each year, some 500,000 young children accidentally swallow medicines and common household products, many of which result in hospitalization, or at least require treatment for poisoning. As a matter of fact, most authorities have indicated that this figure is low; that many more children are exposed to poisoning situations than are reported. In any event, 90% of all such cases reported to the Public Health Service are children under the age of 5 years.

The stage is set for a poisoning accident when household products and medicines are in sight and reach of children. The storage areas for these products should be changed as the child grows older and becomes more mobile. Preferably, such substances should be locked in a cabinet or closet. If this kind of storage is not available, one must be devised. Maybe a suitcase which can be locked, or a crate which can be fitted with a padlock. Never leave the container, when in use—not for a minute if a child is in the room.

The American Medical Association once estimated that about 250,000 products are commercially available in the United States. Many of these products have a potential to poison; some—by their very nature—are poisonous—such as bug sprays, rodent killers, disinfectants, etc. Read the directions and follow them.

846 Medium Maturity Winner

from the Rio Grande to North Texas

"Versatile" describes hybrid 846; it's the top-ranked medium maturity hybrid for dryland or irrigated conditions in all parts of Texas and other southwestern states.

A high degree of hybrid vigor enables 846 to outperform most earlier hybrids under stress conditions . . . and outyield many later maturity hybrids under good growing conditions.

For example, 846 was compared with other hybrids in County Agent-supervised tests on seven Uvalde county farms in 1966. The winning yields ranged from 3,290 pounds to 7,743 pounds per acre—and 846 ranked first for yield on 3 farms, second at 3 others—first or second in 6 out of 7 tests!

Hybrid 846 also ranked first in 1966 in County Agent tests in Bee county (2 locations), Milam county (2 locations), Victoria county, Wilson county, and at 3 of 5 tests in Live Oak county. The previous year, in official Texas A & M yield tests, 846 ranked first at three locations and second at three more.

From 1962 to 1965, Pioneer hybrid 846 was compared with 17 other top-rated competitive hybrids of similar maturity more than 460 times in Texas A & M tests. Hybrid 846 topped these other 17 hybrids in better than 3 out of 4 comparisons—and averaged a cool 354 pounds more grain per acre than these leading competitive entries.

Short, Uniform, Excellent Roots.

Relatively short and uniform in head height, 846 boasts strong, deep-anchored roots that make for good standability. Semi-compact heads thresh out well, yielding light red colored grain. Ample head exertion smooths out the harvesting job. Good resistance to charcoal rot and head smut puts extra dependability into 846.

Under good growing conditions, you can expect 846 to bloom from 60 to 70 days* after planting, and be ready for harvest in 100 to 115 days. Regardless of where you farm in the Sorghum Belt . . . whether you have ample water, limited irrigation, or dryland conditions . . . there's extra profit for you in planting hybrid 846.

*This range in blooming and maturity dates covers most situations. Unusual conditions or planting dates may decrease or increase the time requirements.
