Sen. Tower Warns Against Crisis

Senator John G. Tower

All of us have been deeply and sadly shocked by the rioting raging through scores of American cities. This mushrooming rate of crime demands of us prompt improvement of our law enforcement facilities and forces upon us painful reassessment of the recent history which has led our nation into unparalleled domestic crisis.

Under no circumstances can riots, arson, looting and murder be tolerated. The basic right of every American is the right to be secure in his home and his person under protection of his laws. Those laws must be enforced against outlaws.

Likewise, every American has the basic responsibility to obey the laws. Nobody has a right to hurt another American or to damage another's property. Rioting in the streets is not an American solution to any problem of whatever magnitude. Americans need not rob and assault, for there are open to Americans ever improving opportunities to achieve success through cooperation with their fellow men, through study, and through work. And we will continue to improve those opportunities for all our citizens.

Americans need not riot for rights, for there is open to all Americans the massive weight of the law which prescribes and encourages orderly, effective redress of grievances.

Those few who call for anarchy, incite violence and advocate bisection of our Union into 'two Americas' neither understand democratic society nor heed the tribulations and lessons of history which have established this indivisible Union. Some who thus agitate for the downfall of the United States can be nothing less than traitors bearing allegiance to foreign powers and ideologies.

It is tragic that some political spokesmen have by their public statements contributed to creation of an atmosphere in which breaking the law is tolerated. More thoughtful Americans must now combine to save our nation from the whirlwind fanned by thoughtless comment and utopian political promises.

Nearly a year ago I proposed to the Senate an anti-riot bill providing federal punishment of agitators who cross state lines to incite disorder. Such a bill has been approved by the House of Representatives and should be passed by the Senate very soon.

In addition, a Congressional investigation of the riots must be undertaken since the Executive Branch of our government has not chosen or been able to cope with the lawlessness. Emphasis must be placed on obedience to the law.

Rep. George Mahon Tells of Riots

Rep. George Mahon

'Rioting and looting are threatening the very foundation of our government. Unless effective action is taken, pockets of anarchy will continue to develop and get out of hand. The rampaging criminal minority which is responsible for the frightful events which are bringing our Nation into shame and disgrace must be halted. This minority can be stopped through firm action by law enforcement officials if enforcement officials are given firm support and encouragement by officials at all levels of government and citizens generally. To get results, law enforcement officials must not be hobbled in pursuing proper courses of action. Appeasement of a criminal minority is not the answer.

The great majority of our citizens of whatever race are law abiding. It is the small criminal minority which is resorting to violence and retarding progress. Law and order cannot be bought with money. The more the Federal government has expended to promote education, job opportunity, and progress generally, the more lawless a small criminal element has become. This does not mean we should abandon our

CAYCE'S CORNER

This has indeed been a hectic week for the scribe of the corner. As usual, I pitched in and started to help on the rodeo and all was going well until I became a statistic. I've read somewhere recently that when an American businessman becomes 35 and is married and has an average family and pays an average amount of taxes, and has the usual easy pay as you go payments to make each month that chances are he will become a victim of a somewhat miserable thing called ulcers.

Good wife Ann lead the scribe into the car and we rushed to our family physician, Dr. John Gillette, who is an old college friend of mine.

Dr. John sent me to Hobbs to the hospital, and after drinking about a pony keg of something like chalk water and having a complete staff of sober faced apothecaries look at me through machines of all orders they informed me to follow the green line back to the dressing room and remove my gown (it looked more like a dress and was even a ghastly apricot color) and put on my clothes and return to Dr. John's office, but to be sure to pay the check on the way out. It reminded me of a waiter tilling me me of a waiter telling me to pick up the tab with the cashier.

I returned to hear the verdict which was something like this...drink milk often...and then have another glass of milk...No more french fries or chicken fried steak...have another glass of milk, but don't eat beans, turnips, or blackeyed peas...have another glass of milk, but under no circumstance should you drink coffee...this to an editor is like hearing the sentence of 99 years on the old rock pile. No cokes, no salad dressing, but of course have another glass of milk.

I said, now John, you know I have a farm, but I now, I have a farm, but I don't have any cows or goats, and there is another story, I don't intend to buy any. He was helpful...John said, well, buy half and half it would be better than plain milk. And to think, I had always thought I was weaned when I was a baby, but you know how it goes, when a fellow becomes a statistic at the age of 35 he needs to put out the fire with milk. So I am now on the wagon...the milk wagon, and can't get off for some time to come. If you are

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Harry Cayce
Editor
The Plains Record
Plains, Texas

Dear Harry:

It was good to talk to you a couple of days ago. I share your sense of outrage over the pockets of anarchy which are developing in our country. They could spread like wild fire. It is outrageous, and I shall continue to do everything in my power to help stem the tide. We need firm and decisive and unrelenting action on all levels of government, local, state and national. We especially need a firm hand on the national level. In Congress I voted last year for the anti-riot bill. The House passed it, but the Senate failed to do so. Last week we passed the legislation again in the House. I hope the Senate will do likewise.

This is not the complete solution, but it could prove quite helpful. I am afraid many of these outlaws have begun to think that they can get by with looting, murder, robbery and other offenses without paying the price of their crimes.

Yesterday at noon when the House met there was an outpouring of resentment on the part of many Members of the House. At the time of the meeting in the House, I was at another meeting and did not arrive in the House of Representatives until about 11:15, at the time we began action on an appropriation bill which is handled by the Committee which I headed. I think you will be interested in looking over some of the speeches which were made on the House Floor yesterday.

It was good to hear from you and Roy McGehee. With respect to the FHA matter, I shall do my very best and keep you and Roy advised.

We spoke about the riots being a part of a conspiracy. I think they are a part of a conspiracy though, of course, there are, no doubt, exceptions. I am not sure the attached story referring to J. Edgar Hoover is authentic. I am of the opinion that Mr. Hoover would believe that some of these riots are part of a national conspiracy.

Harry, on Saturday I mailed to you the attached statement for the press. After my conversation with you, I decided that it would be well to send a statement to all the papers in our District and I did so. I am sending some additional material under separate cover.

Cordially,
George Mahon

According to the regulations excess grain sorghum must be destroyed by some method other than shredding. Therefore, all operators who intend to comply are urged to have their farm in compliance and reported by the August 15th final date. According to the office manager it is expected that all farmers will comply with the cotton program but due to the good rains and the cross compliance regulations some farmers that signed feed grain intentions may not comply. Those that do not report their measured acre by August 15th will be ordered out of the program. It is expected that farmers will begin receiving their final payments when 50 percent of the operators have certified to their program acre.

IRRIGATED AND DRY LAND FARMS:
According to the ASCS office records 405 Yoakum County farms have 1967 cotton acreage allotments; 297 of the 405 farms have one or more irrigation wells, 108 are being operated as dry land farms. ASCS COUNTY COMMITTEE MEETING DATE:
Due to the desire to have final cotton, wheat-feed grain program payments made at the earliest possible date the regular county committee meeting date has been changed from the second Monday night to the first Monday night in August (for August only).

MRS. RONALD NAYLOR

Naylor-Warren Vows Read

Miss Jana Gyen Warren became the bride of Ronald Lance Naylor at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Plains First Methodist Church. Rev. James Futch, pastor, read the double ring ceremony.

An arrangement of gladiola and carnations accented the altar. Yellow carnations and gladiolas, two candle trees and one pyramid candelabra complimented the scene. Candles also accented each pew.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James W. Warren of Plains, Mrs. Patricia Naylor of El Paso and James Naylor of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length sheath gown of peau de soie with a peau d'ange lace cage. The dress featured a jewel neckline and long petal point sleeves. The flowing lines of the skirt swept into a chapel length train, edged with scalloped lace. Her matching shoulder length veil was held by a jeweled crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of an eymbidium orchid and feathered carnation.

Dottie McKinley, El Paso, served the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Joyce and Joetta Warren, sisters of the bride; Marilyn Brown of Dallas and Nancy Tippitt, Plains. Mrs. Larry Lehberg of Mason was brides Matron.

The bridal attendants wore identical formal length gowns of yellow crepe. They featured empire waists, bateau necklines and lace panels in back. Each carried a bouquet of yellow gladiolas and feathered carnations.

Craige Naylor of El Paso served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Andrew Bowen, David Leitch, John Green, Jim Paul, all of El Paso, and Doyle Shivers of Bay City.

Duet numbers of "Whither Thos Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer" were presented by Mrs. Jesse Hale of Seminole and Mrs. Gene Young of Lubbock. They were accompanied at the organ by Gene Young of Lubbock.

As the bride came down the aisle she presented her mother with a long stemmed white rose. As the couple left the bride presented the groom's mother with a long stemmed white rose. The candle lighters lit two candles symbolizing the two individuals before the service. At the completion of the ceremony the pair put out the two candles and lit a center candle, symbolizing the unity of the couple as one.

A reception following the wedding honored the couple at the Tsa Mo Ga Clubhouse. Parents of the couple and bridal attendants assisted them in the receiving line.

The serving table featured a lace cloth over yellow. A three-tiered cake and an arrangement of yellow carnations accented the table. Crystal appointments completed the setting.

For traveling on a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nevada, the bride chose a yellow linen suit. Yellow and white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet complimented her fashion.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Plains High School and attended Texas Tech two years.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Ysleta High School

TRADE AT HOME

Plant the Seed

where you expect to Reap

It's what you might call a commonly recognized agricultural principle that if you want to do your harvesting on a particular piece of ground, that's the place to sow your seed.

Using the same general type of reasoning, it is obvious that if you want to harvest a nice crop of prosperity . . . in the form of better business, a better job, a better community in which to live . . . it's advisable to plant your trade dollars where they will produce growth for you, rather than for somebody else.

The homes we live in . . . the jobs and businesses which support us . . . the schools and churches that teach our children and enrich our lives . . . the convenient stores and service establishments that supply our everyday and emergency needs . . . none of these were built, nor are they supported by the dollars that are spent in some other community or city.

Cover for Conservation

By C. Murrell Thompson

The good rains are doing just the right thing to the grass plantings of last year and this. There is a continued interest in using grass for a cover on diverted acres and as a cropland. Grass has many uses, it is an excellent covercrop, it is a needed part of any livestock program, it is a cash crop when used as hay or seed producing crop and it is one of the best soil builders or soil conditioners we have. With possibilities like this no wonder more and more acres are being planted and used for grass.

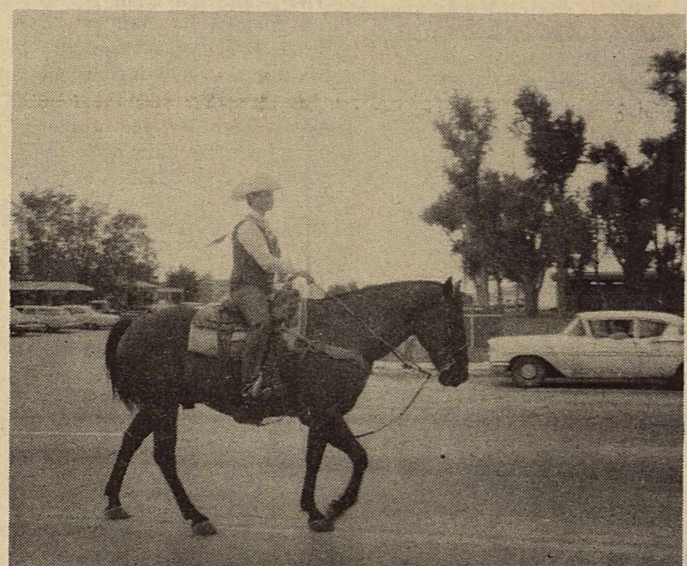

Some of the local land owners and operators that are using grass are W. L. Clanahan, O. H. Clark, Jerry Worsham of Odessa, Lela B. Woolsey, Clarence Hester, Dale Brown, Bob Long, Wayne and Albert Williams, Alby J. Cockrel, James F. Williams and Truitt Jones just to name a few. There have been over 2600 acres of grass planted this year alone.

Last week on Thursday the local Conservation Needs Committee composed of a representative from the ASCS, W. M. Overton, FHA Homer P. Cole, SCS, C. M. Thompson and County agent Leo White met and were assisted by Soil Scientist Nat Conner of Midland in updating the figures for Yoakum County. The final figures arrived at by the committee were cropland 253,189 acres, Pasture 7,726 acres, Rangeland 249,656 acres. Of the total cropland 59,111 is irrigated cropland. These figures are to be used by all agencies and will of course be changed from time to time as the needs and conditions change. With more land being broken out each year and more pasture being planted and new crops brought in we must continue to take a good look at the conservation needs of our land.

Our cropland is being cropped to the following crops and amounts, grain sorghum 142,942 acres; cotton 40,130 acres, castor beans 800 acres, cucumbers 900 acres, sugar beets 200 acres, peanuts 60 acres and water melons 500 acres, and alfalfa for hay 3,884 acres.

ws, not disobedience. As your United States Senator, I pledge myself to this task with all of the energies at my command.

For the past four summers the trend toward lawlessness has been growing in our major cities. Chaos has come in the form of rioting, destruction of property, and killing of innocent citizens. We have witnessed establishment of a pattern which deeply concerns me, and, I know, all Texans. We have noted that certain persons no longer content to acknowledge the rule of law have taken the law into their own hands. They are using the United States mail, roads and highways to help them mastermind organized outbreaks of collective lawlessness.

Beyond doubt, a pattern is recognizable. It consists of professional agitators whose task is to organize local outbreaks of lawlessness, exploit local troubles and undermine law enforcement. The ring-leaders of these incidents travel from state to state. For years we have dealt with interstate lawbreakers through the use of such federal statutes as those on kidnapping, rape and transportation of strikebreakers.

We must place the same penalties on interstate riot agitators. We must insist that the justice Department actively prosecute those responsible for the current disorders. And, Congress must provide initiative toward the investigations identifying such agitators, since the justice Department has thus far neglected to pursue such investigations.

Our democracy stands at a crossroads. We must ask ourselves a simple question: Can a disorderly society survive? Throughout history none has. Every lawless nation has decayed in disobedience of its laws. Anarchy ends liberty. American liberty is built on cooperation, trust and respect of democratically enacted laws.

If we are to preserve America, we must insist upon legality and justice. We must quit making excuses for lawlessness. We must devote ourselves to the hard tasks of education and employment. We must neither expect nor promise miracles.

Americans must stand and do battle for the standards of common decency, honesty, courage, self-control, truth and justice upon which our nation was founded and has prospered.

The choice of lawlessness or liberty is squarely up to us.

Oma McCargo Wins Rodeo Saddle

Oma McCargo won the official Rodeo Saddle Saturday night when her name was drawn at the last performance of the rodeo. Oma was at home asleep when her husband Doc brought the saddle home and awakened her.

Oma said she surely was surprised to win the saddle and that it is one of the prettiest that she has ever seen. She also said she wishes that she could use it, but since she is getting up in years (she is like any other woman and won't tell her age) she has decided to sell the saddle. If anybody is interested in purchasing the saddle they can call Oma or Doc about it.

The McCargos are among the best known people in Yukon County. For years they owned their own business here. The Plains American Legion Post is named for their son, the late Forrest W. McCargo.

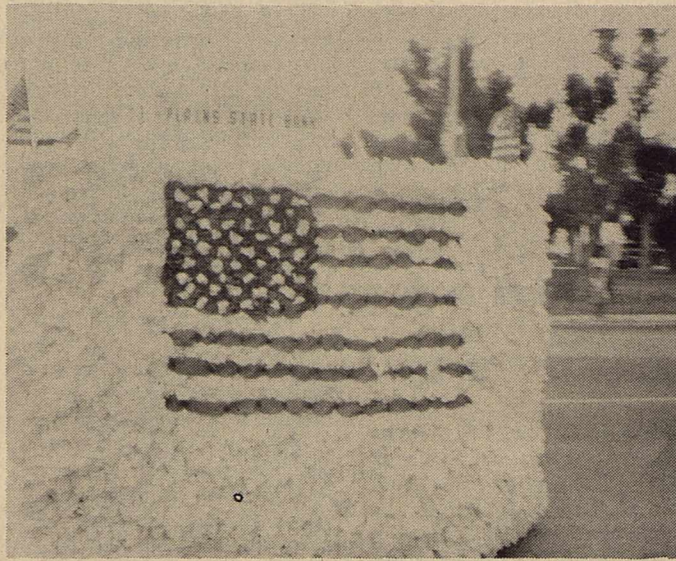

Doc is semi-retired but still keeps active by doing some carpenter work, and Oma works part time at Moore and Oden Department Store.

Oma said she has won several other items at drawings but never anything big like the 1967 rodeo saddle.

When asked if Oma was excited, she said sure, I got up when Doc called me and there was that saddle in the middle of the floor. It was a big surprise to me.

efforts or scuttle worthwhile programs. They should be improved, but the problem is not one of dollars but of discipline. According to the President's January Budget, it is estimated that Federal benefits and services which aid the poor will be provided this year in the sum of about 25 billion dollars.

I want to emphasize my strong personal opinion that riots and looting, accompanied by mass destruction, murder and violence generally, should not be used as a basis for a big splurge in Federal spending. It is not money that we need but the moral courage and determination to do our duty as a Nation in halting anarchy and reestablishing law and order.
