O. H. Dick Issues Formal Statement

O. H. (Onous) Dick of Olden has pledged himself to use good business principles in the management of the county's affairs if he is elected County Judge of Eastland County in the May 5th Democratic first primary. The pledge was contained in a formal statement issued this week.

"I fully realize that the office of County Judge is important," Mr. Dick said. "Thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money is handled each month through the Commissioners Court of which the judge is chairman, as well as numerous other important matters.

"I considered all of these things at length before reaching the decision to ask the people for this job. If you elect me, you have my solemn pledge to use good business principles in all dealings and to be fair and impartial to one and all."

This is Mr. Dick's first political race, and he said that he is trying to contact every voter personally. "If I miss anyone, it will not be because I haven't tried to see them." he said.

Mr. Dick was born and reared at Olden, and he and Mrs. Dick still live there. They are members of the Baptist Church and have been for 22 years. He is a member of the Eastland Rotary Club. They have one daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Williamson, who lives in Andrews. Mr. Dick lived in Cisco for several years before World War II and was circulation manager there for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Late in 1961, Mr. Dick sold his interest in the Ranger Times and Eastland Telegram. He served as co-publisher for the two papers for some 15

"I feel that my background and experience have qualified me to serve as county judge,'

Ambassadors of Goodwill

Everybody knows that the local service station operator provides an essential service. But not many people realize that he also serves as a town's unofficial ambassador of good will. As a matter of fact, the service station man is responsible for bringing a lot of business into our town. He is also our community's unofficial representative to the country at large.

A service station dealer is, very often the first local man most out-of-town visitors meet and he's the only one many people passing through ever see. He is the person by whom these people form their first judgments of our town, and thanks to him, these impressions are usually good.

Out-of-town visitors look to a service station dealer for information on local stores, hotels, amusements and services. His recommendations send a steady stream of customers to our local businesses. By his hard work, his integrity and above all, the cheerful way he constantly renders service, he has won the respect of all who know him, and the confidence of those who meet him for the first time. Indeed, the men who operate our service stations play a key role in the community life. For residents and visitors alike, they provide a vital ingredient to our way of life. In fact, next to food, clothing and shelter, transportation stands at the top of the daily requirements of the average American family. Service stations, in a real sense are the hubs around which countless cities and communities like ours revolve. And the men who operate them are respected businessmen and responsible citizens, with many of them active in various organizations and deeply interested in our social wel-fare.

'All Too Common' Errors Are Being Made In Returns

DALLAS - Taxpayers in this area are making four "all too common" errors in their tax returns, according to District Director Ellis Campbell, Jr., of Internal Revenue Service, Dallas, These are:

"Failure to print or write legibly, forgetting to sign, not reporting all income, and mistakes in arithmetic."

The Director continues, "Three out of ten taxpayers who make major arithmatic errors pay too much tax, or select the wrong tax from the tax table. "Unreported income often stem from bank-bearing interest; taxpayers with time deposits frequently overlook the bank credits to their account. Also, we find taxpayers forgetting that some of the money received when they cash Series "E" bonds is interest income, if the bond has eached interest-bearing life." Dependency errors, especially hose involving working wifes, are "all too common" on 1961 returns. Wives are never the dependents of their husbands. Some working wives earning less than $600 are filing separate returns to get a refund on their withholding tax. In Texas each spouse has one-half a total income earned by both husband and wife. These couples should file joint returns, and when joint returns are filed, income of both parties must be reported and both must sign the return.
