Blue Sage 4-H Club Has Bicycle Rodeo

The Blue Sage 4-H Club had a bicycle rodeo in the park following their monthly meeting on May 27th. Marvin Dearing gave a demonstration on the care of tires. Laurie Cheatham told the group how to clean and wax their bicycles. Melvin Dearing told the group about the different safety signals and the different parts of a bicycle. Brad Redwine told the importance of keeping tires in good condition and how to patch tubes. Donna Jo Cheatham told about the different kinds of bicycles that are available. Diane Redwine told how to care for the chrome on the bicycles. Following a picnic lunch, the boys and girls participated in a bicycle rodeo that stressed the use of skill and safety. The club enjoyed a picnic lunch in the park and the refreshments that followed the rodeo. The Blue Sage 4-H Club wishes to thank Johnnie Fitzgerald for his help in making the park safe for our rodeo.

D'Lynn McGinty Selected District Agent -At-Large

Miss D'Lynn McGinty who has served as Lubbock County's assistant home demonstration agent since June, 1967, will assume the position of home demonstration agent-at-large in District 7 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service June 1.

Miss McGinty will be available to serve in Kimble, Mason, Real, Irion and Sterling counties, announces Miss Vera E. Adams, district home demonstration agent. She will be headquartered in San Angelo at the district office and will be available to work primarily with 4-H Club and other youth and adult leaders in the five counties in the Edwards Plateau region.

The agent is a native of Yoakum County in the southern portion of the South Plains and grew up on a ranch near Plains. She is the daughter of Alma Lynn McGinty and the late Rusty McGinty and has been active in 4-H Club work and ranching activities since her youth. She was an active feeder from the time she was eligible until she finished high school.

Miss McGinty received a B. S. degree in home economics education from Texas Tech University in June, 1967. While at the university, she was a member of the Rodeo Club, National Student Teachers

"3.76 in '76"

by
Leo L. White
County Agent

Agricultural income in Yoakum County is scheduled to increase by $3,402,000, 00 during the next six years. This increase is an estimate made by local agricultural committees in cooperation with a state wide program designed to increase the income from agricultural products in Texas by one billion dollars by 1976.

The 1968 income for the entire state was 2.76 billion dollars. If the long-range goal is met, the State of Texas will have a sale of 3.76 billion dollars in agricultural products in 1976. Dr. John E. Hutchinson, Director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, initiated this program early in 1970 and it is now known as the "3.76 in '76" program. Using 1968 cash receipts, the agricultural income in Yoakum County was $7,905,000. This figure was used to determine the projected increase needed to reach the goal. Yoakum County's share of the one billion dollar increase is $2,303,000, 00. Local committees have determined that we could exceed that amount by over a million dollars.

Grain sorghum alone can meet the county share of the state goal but other crops are expected to increase and increased livestock production is expected to increase, especially swine production.

Grain sorghum is expected to reach a volume of $5,520,000, 00 by 1976. This is an increase of $2,400,000, over the 1968-69 average. Cotton and cottonseed are to be responsible for $805,000, of the increase. Swine production is expected to more than double during the next six years by jumping from $90,000, 00 to $190,000. Alfalfa hay furnishes $80,000, of the increase by going from $370,000 to $450,000. Sheep and wool are expected to increase; beef cattle are expected to increase; vegetables, especially watermelons, will increase; Castor beans, peanuts and wheat are expected to remain constant while a decrease is expected in soybeans.

When livestock feeding is used as a means of increasing gross receipts, the total sales of livestock cannot be used. Only the gain the animals make over the value of the feed is included as agricultural income. The grain sorghum the animals ate is credited to the grower and cannot be counted twice.

To meet increased production goals, our producers will use more fertilizer, make use of more chemicals for weed control on cropland and range land, and these two changes will result more livestock production and more human and animal food being produced. It will result in an increase in the labor force needed to reach production goals.

Thanks to everyone who participated in the show and to each of you who attended.

Rodeo Queen Candidates 1970-71

A breakfast was served Tuesday morning at the Cowboy Grill for the five contestants for Queen of the Plains Rodeo Association for 1970-71. The present reigning Queen is Paula Blount, who will reign in the Rodeo to be held July 30, 31 and August 1. The Queen will be the girl selling the most tickets for the drawing on the saddle given each year.

The five girls and their sponsors are:

Denise Newsom, Lions Club; Kathleen McGinty, Rodeo Association; Pat Milstead, Chamber of Commerce; Sue Cleveland, Tsa Mo Ga Club; and Renee Houck, Plains Garden Club. Present at the breakfast were the five contestants and their mothers. Judge Bennett expressed sincere appreciation on behalf of the Roping Club for the interest of the contestants and their assistance in promoting a good show. He stated that the gate receipts alone could not provide the funds needed to finance a show in as small a place as Plains.

Mrs. Jimmy Blount was chosen as adult manager and overseer for the five young ladies. Judge Bennett, secretary for the Association, issued the tickets to the 5 prospective queens and the contest was on.

Tornado Season Is Here

The sky grows dark and threatening, and off in the distance a dull roar can be heard as a funnel cloud dips from the sky.

A tornado has formed and threatens damage to life and property.

That sort of scene, according to the Texas Safety Association, occurred 127 times in Texas during 1969. The statewide safety group points out that the tornado continues to be Texas' top weather worry.

According to the safety association, tornadoes can occur at anytime of the year, but they occur most frequently in Texas between March and October. During May of last year 65 tornadoes were reported in the state.

The damage from the 1969 storms amounted to $2,341,750 and there were three deaths in Texas.

The Texas Safety Association says the U. S. Weather Bureau, State Civil Defense and Disaster Relief, and the Texas Department of Public Safety have prepared a list of rules to follow in case of a tornado disaster.

The safety association points out that to know these rules may mean the difference between life and death.

Here are the tornado safety rules:

1. The safest place to be during a tornado is in a cave or a storm cellar. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave, or underground excavation which should be kept fit for use, meaning free from water, gas or debris, and preferably equipped with a pick and shovel.
2. If you are in open country, move at right angles to the tornado's path. Remember that tornadoes move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour as a general rule. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine to avoid injury from objects being hurled through the air.

3. If you are in a city or town, seek inside shelter, preferably along the inside walls on the lower floors of a steel reinforced building. Stay away from windows.

If you are at home in a frame house, the southwest corner of the lowest floor (preferably a basement) offers greater safety. People living in brick or stone houses should find other shelter, such as a storm cellar or the southwest basement corner of a frame house.

If time permits before a storm strikes, turn off the gas and electricity. Windows and doors on the north and east sides of the house may be opened to help reduce damage to the building from outdoor pressure differences.

4. If you are in a school and the building is of reinforced steel construction, stay inside, keep the children away from windows and remain near inside walls on a lower floor when possible.

Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums under all circumstances. In any rural schools that do not have reinforced construction, children should seek shelter in a ravine or a ditch when storm cellars are not available and a tornado has been reported or seen.

5. In factories or industrial plants, a lookout should be posted immediately upon receiving a tornado warning, and he should keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant.

Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

6. Above all, keep calm. Persons have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, the chances of a tornadoes cover such a small area that relatively a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should be familiar with the safety precautions, however, in case a tornado does approach.

7. Keep tuned to your radio or television station for the latest information when tornado warnings have been issued. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your call may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports, or to relay messages to radio stations for broadcast to thousands in the critical area.

The Texas Safety Association also says there is sometimes confusion over terms used in the reporting of tornadoes by the weather bureau. The association issues Tornado Forecasts for a relatively large area in which weather condition will be favorable for one more tornadoes to develop. A tornado alert occurs when one or more weather stations locate an area of turbulence or cloud formations which indicate the probability of a tornado.

Daughter & Grandsons visit

The Charlie Copelands

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Copeland had as their guests this weekend, her daughter, Mrs. Jack Gilbert, and grandsons, EN3 Thomas Jeffrey Gilbert of the Navy, Larry Gilbert and Jackie Gilbert of the home.

EN3 Thomas Gilbert approved and complimented our President, Mr. Nixon, for the stand he had taken in Cambodia. EN3 Thomas had just returned from his second year in Viet Nam and he stated that he was in one of the raids into Cambodia and helped to capture many guns and supplies. He also stated that had President Nixon gone through Congress as so many are complaining because he didn't, that the Viet Cong would have had time to remove all the supplies and leave nothing but bobbers for traps for the American soldiers to walk into. Therefore, it had to be as much of a surprise as possible. Even as secret as it was, the Viet Cong had obtained word early enough to remove most of the soldiers.

EN3 Gilbert stated that one cannot imagine how frustrating it was to fight an enemy when the enemy could hit and then run to a safe place where they could not be followed. That President Nixon's move into Cambodia should have been done a number of years ago

Why fight an enemy if you can't fight back? The cessation of bombing into North Viet Nam only gave them time to rebuild roads, bridges and bring up fresh supplies to be used against our boys.

EN3 Thomas Gilbert was an engineer on the River Patrol Boats while in Viet Nam.

Doc McCargo giving a new look to the Plains Review office during Paint-Up, Clean-Up Week.

Good Results For Clean-Up Week

Clean-up week was quite inspirational in Plains last week and resulted in the disposal of much trash and rubbish that had accumulated through the year, partly due to lack of transportation facilities and partly due to lack of inspiration. It is difficult to find someone in Plains to haul off trash when needed. The garbage disposal equipment is not sufficient for this type of service. The assistance of the County Commissioners and the county equipment and men of precinct nos. 3 and 4, in such a campaign is highly appreciated by everyone.

The interest of the various civic clubs is quite inspiring. Without their interest such campaigns could hardly take place. The inclusion of the paint-up in the campaign resulted in the spread of much paint. We are very proud of the mayor and the efforts of our old friend, Doc McCargo. Doc threatened us with severe sabotage if we printed his picture in the paper, but we were so proud of the job that we couldn't avoid taking the risk. This campaign was only a kick-off for a movement that we feel the "Pride of Plains" will continue. Old sulphur draw, which is maintained by the city and Precincts 3 and 4, has never looked better. It resembles a park for the complete distance that it transverses the city. The city shredder is available at a nominal cost to anyone wishing to mow vacant lots and places to large to mow with lawnmowers. It is hoped that this service will be utilized.

Vaccination Time

It is hoped that everyone owning a dog in the city of Plains has read the notice that was run in the Plains Review by the City of Plains announcing the presence of Dr. A. G. Mabry on June 6th for the purpose of vaccinating dogs. This service not only leads to the health of the community, but also to the safety of your dog. The tags worn by the dog identify it as being healthy and having a definite ownership. It is necessary for the city to dispose of stray dogs or dogs of no evidence of ownership.

Poisonous or Harmless?

Sent in by
P. W. St. Romain

Spring is the beautiful season, the season of poets and song writers, when the bleak death of winter is overcome by fresh green life and brightly colored blooms.

Some of these pleasant-looking green plants contain sickness and death, however, more than 700 species of plants in the United States are poisonous when eaten by man.

The most common plants in backyards and fields can harbor danger for inquisitive children. The well known Jimson weed, also called the thorn apple or stink weed, causes more cases of poisoning than any other plant.

Youngsters can become ill merely from chewing a few seeds or leaves, or from sucking nectar from its flowers. The effects may be mild, but the weed may cause delirium, distorted sight, coma and death.

The most beautiful of plants are often fatal. The leaves of the Oleander bush contain a deadly heart stimulant. People have died from eating steaks that had been speared on Oleander twigs and roasted over a fire.

The unripe berries of the common nightshade bush can also kill. Another common berry that can be fatal in its unripe stage is that of the red sage, or Lantana Camara. In Florida seventeen children ate this berry a few years ago. Four developed severe poisoning and one girl died shortly after eating the ber-

CRUEL WORLD

At Ohio's Bowling Green State University, students recently began a "teach-in" to point up the importance and preserving the environment. Before the affair started, university officials underlined a point that we hope none of the students missed.

The officials shut down the campus power plant, a move that left the shivering students taking cold showers and eating a cold breakfast. The shut down showed the students what they might have to sacrifice if they sought an immediate end to air pollution.

There's no question that the nation has gone dangerously far in damaging the environment. But some of the few environmentalists, like many of the old conservationists, seem to think that the only proper response is to rush toward the forest primeval.

What's needed is less Political oratory and more balance in the approach to the environment. Otherwise the human race may find its world is not only cold but cruel.

AMERICANISM.....defined:

If you want your father to take care of you, that's paternalism... If you want your mother to take care of you, that's maternalism... If you want Uncle Sam to take care of you, that's Socialism... If you want your comrades to take care of you that's Communism... But if you want to take care of yourself, that's AMERICANISM.

(The two above articles were sent to me by Pete St. Romain. Hope you enjoyed them as much as I did.)

Another story about Christy, the loquacious niece of mine, and sister Louise's granddaughter. Christy loves very much to stay with her grandmother and begs to stay at every chance. But one night, her parents were going to a party and Christy's father was taking her in the car to spend the night with her grandmother. While on the way over there, she said; "Daddy, I am sick and tired of you pushing me off onto old women."

American did things in a big way last year--We smoked 550 billion cigarettes, chewed six billion aspirins, used more than one trillion safety pins, ate more than three billion quarts of ice cream, mailed three billion Christmas cards and drove an estimated 800 billion miles in just going places and doing things. You can't say there are any halfway measures in this country.

Real happiness is more of a habit than a goal, more of an attitude than an attainment. It is the companion of cheerfulness, not the creature of circumstances. Happiness is what overtakes us when we forget ourselves, when we learn to open our eyes in optimism and close the door in the face of defeat. We win happiness when we lose ourselves in service to others.

We should look kindly on those people who disagree with us. After all, they're entitled to their own stupid opinions!

-C. McClure

ries.

Parts of some fruit trees contain the most terrible of poisons. The twigs of the cherry release cyanide when eaten. The leaf of the peach tree contains hydrocyanic acid. Even the leaves and foliage of tomato and potato plants have alkaloid poisons.

The most dangerous plant in the vegetable garden, however, is the rhubarb. Its leaf blade contain oxalic acid, which can cause severe kidney damage.

The lesson for children is obvious. The growing plants of spring should be enjoyed through the eyes and nose, but never through the mouth.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

AS HEARD BY HEARD

Hemlines and Breadlines

It's obvious, looking back, that anyone "playing the stock market" a year ago should have seen the handwriting on the wall and cashed in his blue chips.

Obvious, because women's skirts had reached a height at which they could do nothing but fall. The miniskirts which crept up on the American society might have enlightened masculine outlooks, but they foretold gloomy days on Wall Street.

For it is pretty well accepted that the stock market rises and falls with women's hemlines, based mainly on the '29 Crash. The onset of the midskirt and maxi-coat in last Fall's Paris showings should have alarmed investors.

Thorough economic analysis, fiscal policies, balance sheets... all that just muddies up what is clearly apparent when hemlines begin moving.

Congressman Barber Conable of New York says the headline theory opens up new possibilities for government. The logical first step toward avoiding financial skids, he says, would be government nationalization of the women's garment industry. Or, he suggests, if hemline heights could be legislated, what would be the moral consequences of Republicans and Democrats vying against each other at campaign time to improve the nation's prosperity?

Viewed from this angle, the young women in Los Angeles who have organized a campaign against fashion designers dictating an end to the miniskirt should be appointed to the President's Economic Advisory Council. Or given a few million dollars from the War on Poverty.

Economists who persist in deep statistical analysis have been looking pretty bad for some months now. Reportedly, their poor forecast record has reduced job opportunities for this profession.

The nation's small businessmen, scattered in towns and hamlets across the nation, have been skeptical of most of the economists' reassuring statements, based as they are on an over-emphasis on Big Business with too-little concern over conditions along Main Street.

Someone else has come up with a new theory. Noting that baseball players are handsomely paid and often heavy investors, a tongue-in-cheek study indicates that the stock market ups and downs coincide with the number of strikeouts suffered by the Washington Senators.

An even better indicator might be the record of when Congressional Senators strike out on government fiscal responsibility!

Green Bugs Already Here

Greenbugs have been found on small sorghum in Deaf Smith, Parmer, and Castro counties according to Jack King, TGSPB Research Director. Heaviest infestation at present is located in Deaf Smith county and some spraying has already been started. This is the earliest that Greenbugs have been found on sorghum in the Plains since they appeared in 1968. Ethyl parathion is the cheapest insecticide and will give good control. Tax Decrease For Yoakum County

Yoakum County is one of the few counties on the High Plains showing an increase in valuation this past year. According to figures released by the Commissioners' Court the value of the total properties within the county increased in value by $19,976,790. It was decided by the court that the increase was sufficient to justify a reduction of 4 cents in the tax rate payable by the taxpayers of the county.

This means the taxpayers will pay 73 cents on each $100.00 of their assessed taxed valuation instead of the 77 cents paid in 1969. The assessed valuation for Yoakum County is 13% of 100% valuation of the property.

The grand total of all properties within the county is valued at $114,836,190.00+. As will be observed in the following report and comparison chart the increased valuation is due to the increase in oil production and industrial expansion in the oil industry.

Presidential Proclamation

Harry C. Meyers, Director of the Dallas Field Office for the U. S. Department of Commerce today released a copy of a telegram received from President Richard Nixon, designating the week beginning May 17th as World Trade Week. The telegram from the White House stated: "World Trade is a major stimulus to international understanding and to economic growth -- in our nation and in other nations of the world. Both the peace and the prosperity of our planet will be considerably enhanced in the 1970's by a continuing expansion of international trade.

"The United States can contribute to that expansion in several ways. We must be sure that our industries and businesses are ready and able to compete in international markets. We must continue CHDA ★ Says...

You use milk and other dairy products daily, but how often do you use buttermilk? Buttermilk, in the past, was the milk left after churning cream into butter. Today, far from its rustic beginnings, this smooth, mildly acid drink is cultured--literally, that is. To obtain uniformly textured buttermilk, modern producers introduce a bacteria culture into skim milk to get the desired results.

Now's the time to try some recipes with creamy-delicious buttermilk.

Buttermilk Salad Dressing is a delight to serve. Goes great with giant chef salads.

1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon dry mustard
Paprika
Onion salt
Salt and ground white pepper
1 cup buttermilk
2 beaten eggs
1/2 cup vinegar
1/4 cup lemon juice
Sugar

For 2 cups of this creamy-smooth, mayonnaise-type dressing: Combine cornstarch, dry mustard, paprika, onion salt, salt and ground white pepper in the top of double boiler. Gradually stir in buttermilk and eggs. Stir constantly while cooking over hot, not boiling, water until buttermilk begins to thicken. Remove from heat. In a separate bowl, combine lemon juice and a little sugar to sweeten. Add gradually to the hot, creamy buttermilk mixture, beating well after each addition. Chill before serving atop salads featuring canned freestone peaches and cottage cheese on salad greens.

Ice cream helps cool the hottest days. Delight your family with a summer dessert treat.

Buttermilk Sherbet:
2 cups fresh buttermilk
3/4 cup of sugar
1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple
Grated rind of 1 lime or lemon
2 to 3 tablespoons lime or lemon juice
Few drops green food coloring
1-1/2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
1 egg white, beaten until stiff

Combine buttermilk, sugar, pineapple and syrup, lime or lemon juice, rind and food coloring. Meanwhile, soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve over boiling water and add to buttermilk mixture. Pour into ice cube tray. Freeze until firm.

Break mixture into small pieces in bowl of electric mixer. Beat until light and fluffy. Fold in egg white. Return to refrigerator tray and freeze until firm.

Garnish with mint leaves. Six generous servings.

In addition to being a tasty drink, buttermilk has many cooking uses, especially in baked products. Waffles, according to experienced cooks, taste better when made with buttermilk.

Buttermilk Waffles:
2-1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
3 eggs
2 cups buttermilk
1/2 cup melted butter
1 teaspoon baking powder

Sift together the dry ingredients. Add beaten yolks, buttermilk, and butter. Fold in egg whites. Add 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, if desired.

Accent on Health

"Caution" is the word to remember when you or a member of your family encounter a poisonous snake. A person's fear of snakes could well be his worst enemy in an actual encounter with any one of the four poisonous snakes found in Texas; the rattlesnake, copperhead, cottonmouth, and coral snakes. The most prevalent in Texas is the rattlesnake.

Should you encounter a rattler, the safest thing to do is to remain perfectly still or edge slowly away. The worst thing you could do is run, or shout, or make a quick motion. You only excite the snake, making it more apt to strike in self defense.

Actually, more people die of insect bites over the past ten years, compared to only 31 deaths from snake bites. But snake bite deaths are most frequent among the young and old.

The wise outdoorsman will avoid places where a snake may make a home. Walking in weedy areas with brush piles or thick undergrowth is asking a snake to lash out. Don't assume that a snake will shake its rattles as a signal of attack, or that it only strikes when coiled.

In applying first aid for snakebite, make the victim lie down as soon as possible and apply a constricting bandage above the bite. The pulse in blood vessels below the bandage should not disappear nor should the bandage produce a throbbing sensation. Loosen the bandage for a few seconds every 15 minutes. If possible, apply ice packs to the bite and get the victim to a physician or hospital.

If there is going to be a lengthy interval until antivenin can be given, make cuts cautiously through the skin into and just above the presumed venom deposit site, avoiding tendons, and apply suction.

Antivenin for coral snake bites is available through the Texas Health Department. The State Health Department laboratory in Austin, and laboratories in local health departments at Dallas, Houston, Corpus Christi, and San Antonio, serve as distribution centers for the antivenin. When a bite by a coral snake occurs, the physician or hospital should immediately request antivenin from the nearest distribution center. Other poison antivenins are available through commercial sources.

Dear friends:

During this campaign I have confined my remarks strictly to my own qualifications and business experience and to the fact that I do need the job, want the job, and can do the job as I depend entirely on myself for my livelihood since the death of my husband, Travis Been, in September of 1967.

I deem the Treasurer's office one of the most important offices in the county and feel that I can render you, the people, the efficient and courteous service you desire. I humbly solicit your vote on June 6th.

Fodder for Females

Read those cotton fabric labels. That's the advice for folks buying the new cottons, according to Mrs. Mary Jo Carlton, county home agent with New Mexico State University's Cooperative Extension Service.

"Cotton fabrics in fashion today range from crochets to canvas and from see-through voiles to knits. This variety in cotton fabrics has made label studying an important prerequisite to buying."

"Look to the labels for more than just a name," the county home agent says. The labels should be considered a source of pre-buying information. They may also make a difference in the way in which the fabric is cleaned."

What do some of these labels terms mean? Here are a few which Mrs. Carlton says cotton shoppers need to know. Yarn-dyed on a label means the yarn is dyed before weaving and should be colorfast.

The pak-nit label on cotton knits means these should be stable to stretching and shrinking. Beware of the term "pre-shrunk" on a label. The percent of residual shrinkage is the information you need.

Carefully check the type of finish added to the fabric. Some

Rosedown Plantation and Garden

St. Francisville, La., --Rare old roses, many of them members of ancient rose families, are in full bloom in the formal gardens of Rosedown Plantation and Gardens in St. Francisville, La. Coming into full bloom are a number of modern rose specimens, including Betty Pryor and China Doll.

The wise outdoorsman will avoid places where a snake may make a home. Walking in weedy areas with brush piles or thick undergrowth is asking a snake to lash out. Don't assume that a snake will shake its rattles as a signal of attack, or that it only strikes when coiled.

In applying first aid for snakebite, make the victim lie down as soon as possible and apply a constricting bandage above the bite. The pulse in blood vessels below the bandage should not disappear nor should the bandage produce a throbbing sensation. Loosen the bandage for a few seconds every 15 minutes. If possible, apply ice packs to the bite and get the victim to a physician or hospital.

If there is going to be a lengthy interval until antivenin can be given, make cuts cautiously through the skin into and just above the presumed venom deposit site, avoiding tendons, and apply suction.

Antivenin for coral snake bites is available through the Texas Health Department. The State Health Department laboratory in Austin, and laboratories in local health departments at Dallas, Houston, Corpus Christi, and San Antonio, serve as distribution centers for the antivenin. When a bite by a coral snake occurs, the physician or hospital should immediately request antivenin from the nearest distribution center. Other poison antivenins are available through commercial sources.

setting for these rare old roses. Martha Barrow Turnbull, first mistress of Rosedown, kept a diary of her garden work. Her first entry indicates that her first plantings in 1835 were roses. She added many varieties, some of them with names unknown to modern gardeners which she procured from nurseries in Philadelphia and Vicksburg or from friends or relatives who grew varieties she liked. This love of roses continued in restoration days of Rosedown. The late Catherine Fondren Underwood, who purchased the showplace in 1956 for restoration as an eternal museum of the South, propagated roses from original bushes found on the grounds. She also paved the way to making Rosedown a preserve for ancient rose families which have been threatened by extinction.

Of special interest to Rosedown visitors is the burr rose which was part of the propagation propagation program initiated in 1956. This rose is used as a hedge at Rosedown. Other old roses flourishing today on the grounds of Rosedown include Louis Philippe, a China rose dating from 1834; Alfred de Dalmas, a compact rose whose date is 1855; Koenigin von Daenemarck, an

Preston Smith

REPORT FROM YOUR GOVERNOR

Governor of Texas

Generally, this column is devoted to a "Report From Your Governor" to the people of Texas. However, I believe a recent announcement by the First Lady of Texas, my wife Ima, deserves special attention. Her statement follows:

Preston and I are so very proud of the Governor's Mansion that one of my first thoughts upon moving into this historic and beautiful landmark was to share it fully with the citizens of Texas. They are, in fact, our "landlords."

I was distressed, however, to discover that there was really very little information available to the general public concerning the Mansion. Of course, it was available to the scholars and researchers, but I am speaking of the average Texan or of the tourist, who may only come our way once.

With these people in mind, I began compiling facts and data to put into a new publication, The Governor's Mansion Brochure. Naturally, I had the help of Preston and members of his staff.

The Brochure contains 18 pages of narrative and pictures. And we believe some of the material has never appeared in print—at least not where it was available to the general public.

We put the project out for bids, as required by law, and National Business Forms of Dallas was the low bidder. The contract calls for printing 50,000 brochures at a cost of approximately $5,000.

Most of the art work, glorious color photographs of the Mansion and its 114 years of memorabilia, was done by the Governor's Office staff photographers or by other state agency personnel.

Sam Houston, which will be added to the Mansion collection.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Moore presented us with this valuable historical item, which also bears the signature of Dr. Thomas Rusk. Rusk and Houston were the first two U.S. Senators from the new State of Texas, when we joined the Union in 1846. We are not exactly certain of all the facts behind the

I attempted to keep the narrative in a historic vein and tried not to be too wordy. I closed the narrative with these words:

"I can't help but feel a kinship to all the people who have ever lived here. Though we live here in different times, we share many of the same burdens, sorrows and joys common to any Governor and his family in this growing state. I suppose it was partly this sense of intimacy with the past that made me think of Sam Houston so vividly the other night while Preston and I watched television in the family living room.

"The program we were watching made me wish that if Sam Houston still occasionally paced this old Mansion at night, he could wander in to look over my shoulder and marvel at the sight Preston and I watched on television... two young men, from the city honoring his name, were cavorting like happy boys, on the moon."

Hopefully, we can put one of these Brochures in each school library in the state. And Mansion visitors may obtain copies.

I am highly pleased with this project. After all, Texas has perhaps the most colorful history of any state in our Union, and the more we learn and come to understand our heritage, the better we can understand and deal with more contemporary problems.

Perhaps the most outstanding and historically important person to occupy the Mansion as Governor was Sam Houston—the commander of Texas's revolutionary armies, the hero of San Jacinto, twice President of the Republic, and U.S. Senator.

Houston, and his lovely wife Margaret, lived in the Mansion in 1860-61. Recently, through the generosity of a Lubbock friend, we acquired an original signature of General signatures but will continue to seek to document them. This item will probably be displayed in the Sam Houston Bedroom at the Mansion.

Gifts of historical interest such as this, as well as the informative new Mansion Brochure, help to perpetuate the history of the Governor's Mansion for the people of Texas.

Green Thumb Tips

Gardeners whose space for planting is extremely limited or new gardeners who don't know one flower from another might profitably buy seeds of a cut flower mixture.

This will contain a number of easily-grown, free-flowering annuals and will produce a variety of flowers for cutting from early summer until frost.

With all the furore about the long-time effects of DDT and related chemicals, many a gardener wishes he knew of a safe insecticide.

Pyrethrum is probably the safest of them all. It is the powdered flowers of a plant by the same name.

There are two different types of lobelias—an upright and a trailing.

Use the upright form for bordering beds and for pot plants. But, if you wish to plant a hanging basket, be sure to use the trailing form.

Some good annuals for semi-shaded places are flowering tobacco, salvia, balsam, lobelia, alyssum, snapdragon and forget-me-not.

Add to the list of flowers that may be dried for winter bouquets as well as used fresh in summer the African paint brush.

Bloom colors are golden or scarlet and flower form is like an upside-down paint brush.

Black plastic sheeting used as a mulch is particularly effective in growing watermelons and muskmelons.

Not only does the plastic smother weeds while it holds warmth and moisture in the soil but it also reduces rotting of fruits.

The easy way to train such plants as sweet peas and morning glories is on specially treated string netting. It can be hung wherever you want the vines to climb.

Want material for delightful sachets? Grow lavender, a perennial, and use its flowers.

Chill the seeds before you plant them for this makes them sprout more surely.

For bigger and better Brussels sprouts pinch out the top of the plant when the sprouts at the bottom are full-grown.

The smaller, upper sprouts are thus encouraged to grow much larger than they otherwise would.

If seeds of wall flowers are planted as soon as the soil can be worked, the plants will bloom this year.

As they are perennials, they ordinarily do not flower until the second year.

Start your tan this year with short exposures and lengthen as your skin becomes sun-conditioned. Select a suntan product that is best suited for your skin type. Each one contains a different blend of sunscreen to block out the burning rays of the sun and moisturizers like Lanolin, Cocoa Butter or Coconut Oil that keep your skin soft and silky. So important today because fashion is showing off more of your skin than ever before.

As your tan gets deeper you may want to change your suntan formula to one that has more or less sunscreen. This season, you own the sun.

For a wild, exotic tan try the new Tanning Butter with cocoa butter and coconut oil. The tub of butter is fun to rub on and the aerosol spray is like frosty velvet. A whole new dimension for getting a deep rich tan.

Q--I am divorced and I am supporting two children who are in the custody of my former wife. Can my former wife get any information from Selective Service records?

A--Not without your written consent, dated and signed by you.

Q--I am teaching in South Texas. My local board in New York has reclassified me from II-A to I-A. Can I appeal this classification to the appeal board for South Texas?

A--Yes, because an appeal of an occupational deferment may be made to the appeal board having jurisdiction over the area where you are employed?

Drug Abuse

A new book on drug abuse "has the answers" to most questions regarding abused drugs. "DRUG ABUSE; TEENAGE HANGUP" by Donald J. Merki, Ph.D., has a question and answer format, and covers background of the drugs to treatment, including the multitude of slang terms.

The new book, published by TANE Press Division of Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education, Inc. (TANE), is designed for the "express purpose of providing the individual, whether he or she be a teacher, student, parent, law official, a clergyman, or any private citizen with accurate information about drugs in a clear, concise manner."

It starts with the background of abused drugs, then deals with each individually, asking and answering the questions. "Treatment and Rehabilitation--The Road Back," is followed by drug laws, a glossary of terms, and slang.

Past "cures" for drug addiction have been worse than the disease, according to Dr. Merki. "Codeine was first used in medicine for addicts as a substitute for opium, but it also proved to be addicting. Later morphine was thought to relieve people addicted to codeine and found it to be even worse, and later at the turn of the century, heroin was synthesized in the hopes of relieving morphine addiction only to be found that it was more severely addicting."

In 1900 there were some 26-4,000 narcotics addicts in the United States. In 1965 it was estimated there were 60,000. New areas of drug abuse have arisen in the forms of amphetamines (pep pills and speed), barbiturates (sleeping pills, goofballs), hallucinogens (such as LSD), and marijuana.

Dr. Merki reports an estimate of 300 million marijuana users in the world. It is estimated that 2 million U.S. high school and college students have experience with marijuana.

Drug abuse is an international problem, he said. An example is the increase of Canadian marijuana cases from 54 in 1964 to 3000 in 1968. Narcotics addicts jumped from 1729 to 2782 in one year in the United Kingdom.

UNCLE SAM'S SELECTIVE SERVICE QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q--My son was killed in Viet Nam. I have heard that, if my other son is drafted, he will never leave the U. S. A. Is this true?

A--If your living son is your sole surviving son, he is entitled to deferment from service in class IV-A if the information is given to his draft board. If you have more than one living son, this would not be true. Whether he would be subject to serving outside the U. S. would be a determination of the service in which he was serving.

Q--When I reach my 18th birthday I will be in college some distance from my home. Must I go home to register?

A--No, you can register at any of the more than 4,000 local boards throughout the country. Consult the telephone directory of the city where you will be living to determine the address of the local board nearest you. The board that registers you will send your registration card to your own local board.

Q--My draft board is in Missouri, I now live in Texas. My local board recently reclassified me, and now I wish a personal appearance. Must I return to my board in Missouri, or can I appear before a board here in Texas?

The meeting will be conducted by John Sloan, Administrative Officer of the Lubbock Internal Revenue Service Office, and Arlen Ruthart, Administrative Officer of the Plainview Office. Mr. Sloan is coordinating the disaster tax information program throughout the ten county area. Mr. Ruthart is an Internal Revenue Agent Instructor for the Dallas District, in addition to his duties in Plainview. The purpose of the clinic is to inform taxpayers on what steps to take to claim tax deductions for property damage and losses and how to claim immediate tax benefits for tornado and storm damage.

A second meeting will be held in Silverton on June 11, at 8:00 p.m., at the Silverton State Bank. The public is invited to these and other meetings to be scheduled in other areas.

alba rose circa 1809; and Deuil De Paul Fontaine, 1873.

The second great summer show in the gardens of Rosedown beginning in late May will be the brilliant bloom of rich blue hydrangeas along the paths of the cathedral-like oak avenue and other areas of the gardens. Propagated from an old hydrangea near the original garden tool shed.

An early summer show includes the full bloom of thousands of gardenias and cape jasmies, many of which were propagated from original shrubs. Visitors, walking in a cloud of fragrance, find them in every area of the 30-acre garden.

A rare gardenia found in few gardens today is the "hip" gardenia. These blossoms with one dimension petals are not available on the market. The popular name for them is "lantern" gardenias, as their seed pods in fall and winter are bright orange and are shaped like a glowing lantern.

Other varieties of gardenias thriving on the grounds of Rosedown are Cape Jasmine and Dwarf Gardenia.

Rosedown is open the year around. Off the press soon will be a color book entitled "Reflections of Rosedown"; which will highlight life as it existed at Rosedown in the golden years before the Civil War as well as the restoration years which made the plantation one of America's most distinguished showplaces.
