Tom Warren Receives Cotton Support Check

Number of checks are being mailed to producers. All farmers are urged to report their measured acres of crops as soon as possible. However, they must be sure that their reported acres are correct. OVERSTATING OR UNDERSTATING the acreages could cost farmers part or all of the payments.

Mr. Warren's payment was the first of approximately two million, five hundred thousand dollars ($2,550,000.00) of cotton price support payments to be made to Yoakum County farmers this year.

Feed Grain and Wheat payments will be some less and will be approximately three hundred fifty thousand dollars ($350,000.00). The action farmers take to earn payments help to stabilize the marketing of commodities and contribute to the conservation of our soil and water resources.

Most of the money from farm program payments tends to remain in the community and to benefit local business operations. As a result the payments received by producers should be of interest to farm and city people as well.

The local ASC Office will be closed on Friday, July 3rd for the Holiday of July 4th.

Tom Warren, local Yoakum County farmer received on July 1st, the first 1970 Cotton Price Support payment check in the county. This payment representing a $16,800 payment per hundred times the approved yield times 65 per cent of the effective allotment on the farm.

Mr. Warren had reported the measured acres of cotton on the farm on June 17th. July 1st being the first date any of the commodity checks could be paid and is the first time final payments have been made this early.

Glenda Miller Girls State Citizen

Recently I attended the 1970 session of Bluebonnet Girls State. It was held at Texas Lutheran College in Seguin, Texas and lasted 10 days. In this short span of time the 457 girls present studied and set up their own mythical city, county, and state governments.

The teaching methods used enabled us to learn not only through observation, but also through the much more interesting method of participation.

The 457 girls were divided into 10 cities and 5 counties. Two cities made up one county and all of us made up the state. We were each assigned to one of the two mythical political parties-- the Nationalists and the Federalists.

Each girl who decided to run for a city, county, or state office began an active campaign. Not only did she have to knock on doors asking for votes, and make up catchy slogans and campaign signs; she had to learn the duties and responsibilities of the office she was seeking so that she would be a worthy candidate. The duties of each of the elected officials were explained for us in the Bluebonnet Girls State manual. All of the citizens at Girls State learned about the duties of all the city, county, and state officials by listening to the campaign speeches which were given before each election.

Before we were eligible to vote we had to fill out a voter registration application and then receive a voter registration certificate. We voted for city and county officials at our local courthouse. A primary was held for county and state elections. Through this means, as in the actual government process, a candidate from each party was selected to run for the various offices in the general election. The winners of the primary elections gave speeches telling us of their qualifications and asking for our support in the general election. We voted for these candidates at our respective voting precincts.

While at Girls State we had the privilege of hearing several government officials and can-

Rodeo Time Draws Near

The time for the Plains Rodeo is drawing nigh. The Rodeo and the Old Settlers Reunion and bar-be-que is one of greater activities of this community. It is looked forward to with great anticipation by many, both young and old.

The dates for the rodeo this year are July 30, 31 and August 1. Plans for a splendid rodeo have been made. Many improvements have been made in the stock pens and the arena is in good condition. Also new and additional bleachers have been added for the comfort of the spectators.

The five "Rodeo Queen" contestants have been working diligently for several weeks selling tickets for the saddle drawing and advertising the rodeo event. Though no figures have been given on the number of tickets that have been sold it is reported that sales have been good.

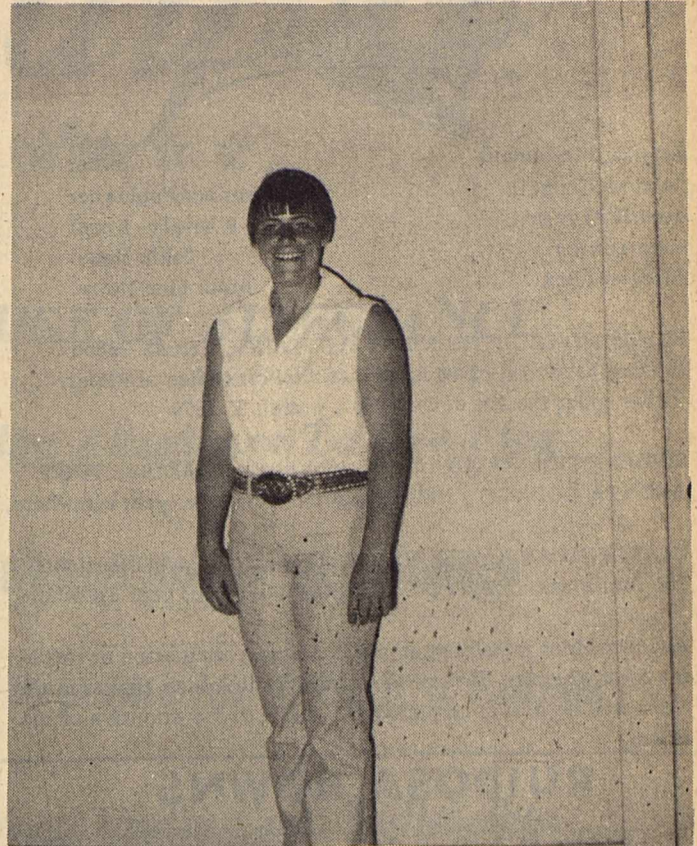

Two phases that relate closely to the success of the rodeo are the floats for the parade and the meat for the bar-be-que. The parade is an important part of this event. The more floats and parade entries the more colorful the parade.

It is time to commence plans and construction for these floats now. The four weeks remaining before the show will pass quickly.

The Old Settlers Reunion is of great interest to many folks. This being the only time of the year that many folks have the opportunity to visit each other. Without plenty of meat for the barbeque, it could be a disappointment to some that have come from afar for the occasion. Each year beef for the barbeque is donated by various people of the community. Any one wishing to donate beef should notify Dick McGinty or Gene Bennett. These donations will be greatly appreciated. With everyone pulling together the success of this fine event is guaranteed.

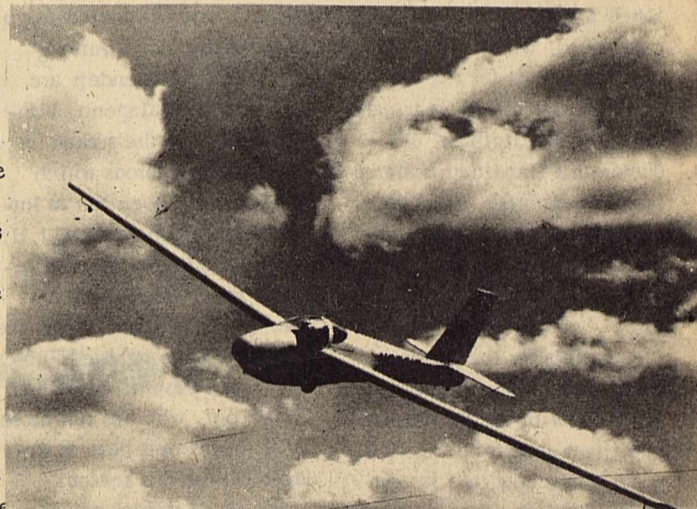

Community Action Center Opens

The Yoakum County Community Action Center is now open in Plains in the building formerly used by the Christian Church. This center is under the direction of The RODEO QUEEN CANDIDATE; Kathleen McGinty, 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick McGinty, is a candidate for the 1970-71 Rodeo Queen Contest. Kathleen is sponsored by the Plains Roping Club.

Kathleen is currently a Sophomore in Plains High School and has participated in many activities. Among these are band, volleyball, District U.I.L. Events, 4-H, and she is a member of the Plains Rough Riders. She has participated in District and local horse shows and is an active participant in the 4-H playdays. Her main interests are centered around horseback riding, swimming, and volleyball.

Hobbs Soaring Society, Inc.

The following may be of interest to your readers as well as a help to the participants of the 1-26 North American Championships to be held in Hobbs July 7-13. The help part is true. We would like to inform your readers that these ships may go down in pastures and alongside highways and may need assistance in getting to a phone or holding the plane in a high wind or whatever the case may be. The title could be somewhere along the order of "Glider Pilots May Need Help" followed by "Glider pilots competing in the 1-26 North American Championships being held in Hobbs July 7-13 will be trying to complete each days tasks. These tasks will take them over this area and in most cases they will endeavor to return to Hobbs, their starting point. There are many times when conditions are such that the glider pilot cannot continue any further whether it is a pleasure flight or a contest, and by necessity he must set the sailplane down in a safe area and manner. The public is asked to assist any sailplane pilots they may see.

The assistance may take the form of making a telephone call for the pilot or helping him secure the ship in a high wind or removing the ship from an area of obstruction. A pilot is always grateful for these kindnesses and in this contest they are also required to have a person sign their landing card verifying that they landed at that particular spot.

This contest is one of a type where all pilots are flying the same ship having the same performance so that it is strictly a contest of pilot skill and ability. There will be some 30 ships competing each day. The start of each contest will be about 11 each morning from the old Hobbs Municipal Airbase which is now renamed Crossroads Intercontinental. The plane will be towed aloft by a power plane and released. They will then fly the task and your area is one of the turn points in this contest. For the most part gliders fly quite high and being noiseless they are hard to see but look skyward and you may see some 1-26's trying to make a good contest task."

V.B.S.A Big Success

The Hillside Church of Christ completed a week of Vacation Bible School, with an average attendance of 83. Brother Roar of Brownfield and Brother Roach of Wellman helped conduct the school.

A picnic in the park Friday was enjoyed by the children attending. A big "Thank You" to all who helped in making this Vacation Bible School such a success.

RUIDOSA DOWNS

RUIDOSA DOWNS, N. M. -- This coming weekend's schedule will be highlighted by the running of both the "Ruidoso Governor's Handicap" and the "Rainbow Quarter-Horse Derby". The Rainbow Derby will have its running on Sunday, July 5; while the "Governor's Handicap" will be conducted Saturday, July 4th.

The Rainbow Derby is fashioned for three-year-old quarter horses, who have made their payments for the Rainbow Futurity of last year, and still remain eligible. The Governor's Handicap is slated for thoroughbreds, three-year old and up, to be contested over six and one-half furlong. The Derby will run at 400 yards.

The trials for the Derby were conducted last Saturday, June 27, with the ten fastest qualifiers getting in the final. Also, the second ten fastest qualifiers will run in the Derby Consolation on Saturday, July 4th.

The ten fastest qualifiers for the "Rainbow Derby" are Harriett Peckham's Go Together; My Talent, owned by Aubrey Stokes; Royal Doulton, representing Mr. Lou Tuck; Gentry Bros. 'Velo Bar'; Walter Merrick's Easy Jet; Mr. Eskimo, owned by Austin Millsbaugh; R. C. Jones' Je Roan; Go Setty Go, from the J. M. Frost stables; Huston Munson's Rock N Eagle; and Go Moon, owned by Clary and Thelma Spencer.

Entries for the "Governor's Handicap" close Tuesday, June 30, with about fifteen horses expected to go in the entry box. Among the leading contenders are J. R. Adam's Jalapeno, Winner of both of the stakes for older thoroughbreds which have already been run at Ruidoso Downs this season; J. H. Rose's The Reprobate, an invader for California, who won last year's running of the "Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity"; and Sammie Vaughan's Jim's Fool, who has run close in all of his outs here at Ruidoso Downs this season.

Many new stables are expected into the stable area within the next few days; therefore, there may be many new additions to the stakes races, which are already scheduled. Horses have been pouring in daily from all over the country.

Friendly Chats with Faye McConnell

"Our fathers' God to Thee, author of liberty, to Thee we sing; Long may our land be bright with Freedom's holy light; Protect us by Thy might, Great God, our King!"

IN CONGRESS, July 4, 1776, the unanimous Declaration of the Thirteen United STATES OF AMERICA was signed, exactly 194 years ago this Saturday, July 4th, 1970.

The greatest responsibility that ever came to a nation - and with it the greatest opportunity - has come to our great country, which, with other democracies, is making a united effort to preserve those values which are dear to all freedom-loving people throughout the world. And as we arm for this conflict, we may have the inward assurance that right is on our side. And we should clear our minds of all confusion about this; for there is not and never has been, any political or economic system that can equal democracy.

And it is democracy we are fighting for - democracy which alone can give freedom to the world and make possible of realization the great hope of humanity. In this effort, we all should unite. There is no sacrifice too great to make for it; and, indeed such sacrifices as we on the home front are called on to make should not be considered sacrifice at all, but rather as an opportunity that is placed before us to join in this great aspiration for human freedom.

But freedom is something that is won with difficulty and kept only through eternal vigilance. Since time began, and throughout all the ages, freedom has been the hope and the dream of mankind, first finding expression in the Magna Charta - where the right to govern was seized from despotic rulers - and finally coming into full bloom in our Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States of America; the two greatest human documents ever written.

These instruments were conceived in faith; the faith of great and wise and good men with great intellects and great souls. That which they conceived has borne the fruit of human liberty as no other system ever did.

Our forefathers were wise indeed when they worked out a system which bound all together in one common purpose without overlooking the fact that each is an individual, that every state and each political subdivision down to the precinct in which you and I live should be able to preserve its identity and integrity.

This is the system upon which our country has grown and prospered. No doubt there are many defects in it because, after all, we are all human beings. But it is infinitely stronger than weak, and upon its preservation rests the hope of the whole world.

Amidst the present-day confusion, we should not lose sight of another great and wonderful thing that is happening. For the first time in the history of the world, democracies everywhere are uniting against aggression. They are doing their utmost not only to preserve freedom, but to guard it for all time.

Democracy is exactly what Abraham Lincoln said - "of the people, by the people, and for the people" - and you and I are the people. It must be preserved. Therefore, each has an important role to play. A duty is imposed on all of us to take our part, toward the keeping and guarding of that freedom without which life could have no meaning to any of us.

We must be wise by not shutting our eyes to the fact that there is much propaganda against the idea of liberty. After all it is your liberty and my liberty that is to be preserved. It is unthinkable that our boys should be on the front line of sacrifice only to discover that misplaced freedom in the name of liberty is attacking them from the rear. There must be no fifth, sixth, or seventh column in our ranks; liberty must put up a united front. It would be a poor general who, in advancing against the foe, would fail to protect his ranks in the rear.

Our boys at the front have a right to ask that the other 150 million of us at the rear shall protect that for which they are fighting. This is our business, and we must take it seriously.

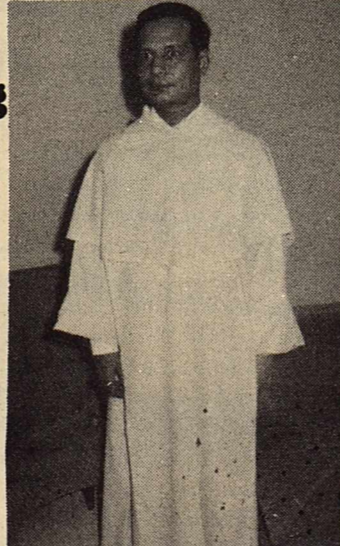

The world is perhaps at the point of the greatest crisis in all human history. Its destiny is at stake. It cannot exist half slave and half free. These are indeed times that try man's souls, so let each in his own way, dedicate his time, his service, his hope and his spiritual conviction to the common cause of liberty and justice for all.

"If I live by half allegiances, I shall leave not a mark, but a blur!"

Rev. Rafael Avalos Serving Plains Catholic Church

Rev. Father Rafael Avalos, O. P. of Leon Guanajuato, Mexico, was in Plains Tuesday evening where he held mass at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Rev. Father Avalos will replace the Rev. James E. D'Wain who has gone to Ireland for the burial of his father and will be gone for about two months. Rev. Avalos will be serving both the Plains and Denver City churches in the absence of Rev. D'Wain.

Rev. Avalos will hold a mission in Plains for one week starting July 19th. Those who have the opportunity of the acquaintance of the Rev. Avalos will find him a very interesting and enlightened individual. He is 43 years old. After receiving his formal education in Mexico, he studied five years in Spain where he was ordained into the Priesthood. He later studied five years in France, and two years in Germany, having command of both languages as well as Spanish, the language of his own country. He speaks some English which he is now making a study. After finishing his studies in Germany, Rev. Avalos returned to his home in Leon Guanajuato, Mexico, where for the past sixteen years, in conjunction with the Priesthood, he has been teaching the subjects of Logic of Mathematics, Modern Philosophy and Ontology, the latter being the study of the Philosophy of Being. Much can be learned from the teaching and acquaintance of this enlightened man.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:
 Please renew our subscription to your paper. We always look forward to Fridays so as to read the news in Plains about our community.
 We enjoyed reading about the Billy Graham Crusade, last week.

Yours truly,

FORT WORTH---The Texas Water Plan, once rejected by voters but scheduled for another ballot try, was questioned as to its practicability by a University of Texas ecologist before the Directors of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association meeting at Greenville, Texas, June 12-13.

Dr. W. Frank Blair took the engineers to task by raising questions about the plan which he said need to be answered before the people of the state will give the needed approval. The quality of the water from the mouth of the Mississippi (which has been called the sewer of North America) is one point which proponents have not seriously considered. He also questioned the power source required to revert the flow from Louisiana to the Texas High Plains. The tremendous financial output might better be invested, he said in such efforts as weather modification, better utilization of rain, and a practical recharge of underground pools.

The meeting of some 120 Directors and guests of the Cattle Raisers Association also heard their President, Frank H. Lewis of Bay City, report that the cattlemen's biggest problem was convincing the urban areas that the present supply-demand system is essential to maintaining a dependable supply of quality beef at economic prices. He also said that pressure was on to increase imports of beef, a situation which would cripple the U.S. cattle industry.

Kerry McCan, of Victoria, head of the newly created committee to study wildlife resources, reported on his group efforts to acquaint themselves with this valuable economic values to landowners at this committee meeting.

Other committees holdings meetings on the first day of the event included the Marketing Committee, the Market Inspection Committee, the Membership Activities Committee, the Tax Committee, the Special Texas Legislative Committee, and the Agricultural Labor Committee.

CHDA ★ Says...

Rice is nice--especially since it's plentiful. But sometimes rice isn't so wonderful, as when eating with chopsticks.

The art of eating rice with chopsticks has long challenged Americans--trying to balance fluffy rice kernels on a pair of slender reeds is an intriguing task.

Most people accept rice as rice, and give little thought to different types and qualities. Actually, the rice family boasts more different types and qualities than do the potato and apple clans together.

United States consumers prefer long-grain, translucent, milled rice. They go for its ability to separate freely after cooking into attractive, individual bits of fluffy goodness.

Japanese, Korean and Chinese consumers, still guided by the food habits of their ancestors, prefer the short-grain glutinous types of rice which stick together after cooking. And herein is revealed the secret to the age-old art of eating rice with chopsticks.

In Oriental countries, the people eat the type of rice which real stick-togetherness, and can easily be balanced, in mass, on a pair of chopsticks. While most Americans, when trying to master the art of "chopstickery," find themselves faced with a chopstick-defying mound of individual rice kernels.

So with fork in hand, enjoy some of these tasty rice-laden dishes.

HOW TO KNOCK YOUR WEIGHT FOR A LOSS

Do you know that eating candy provides you an easy way to reduce?

Listed below are two simple steps that could result in a worthwhile weight loss every week.

STEP 1

About half an hour before each meal eat a piece of candy. This can be a hard candy, chocolate or any type of confection you desire.

It is a known fact that candy raises the blood-sugar level, making it an excellent fatigue fighter. In addition, candy depresses the appetite making it an important reducing aid.

STEP 2

After each meal eat a piece of candy instead of higher calorie dessert. An after dinner mint pattie, for example, could become your regular dessert.

By following this second step you will find that your physiological need for sweets is adequately filled by this simple procedure.

Sound too simple to work? It's just that simple. Try it.

The candy-making people at Luden's Inc., Reading, Pa. who supplied this helpful weight watcher's hint wouldn't think of putting you on, or for that matter, putting "it" on you.

Wedding Vows Exchanged

Miss Neva Carol Gilliam became the bride of Steven E. Sutton June 1 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Gilliam, grandparents of the bride. The home was decorated with candles and baskets of yellow gladiolas for the double ring ceremony. The Rev. Paul Row of Levelland officiated the Monday evening ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. Jack Gilliam of Bledsoe, Mrs. Y. F. Bowley, Jr. of Lipan and Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Sutton of Bledsoe.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length white satin crepe gown designed in an empire waist-line with scalloped lace bodice and sleeves. Her bridal veil of illusion was bought to a beaded bow to match the back of the gown. She carried a cascade of white carnations set with a detachable white orchid on a white Bible.

Traditionally, she carried something old, her great grandmother's handkerchief; something new, her wedding attire; something blue, a lace garter, and her father placed a sixpence in her shoe for good luck.

Her attendants were attired in street length dresses of yellow crepe and scalloped lace sleeves. Each wore a headpiece made of yellow crepe and illusion.

The reception was held in the grandparents' home of the bride. The bride's table was laid with a yellow satin cloth topped with a cotton lace tablecloth. The centerpiece was of yellow roses. The two-tiered cake was served with lime sherbet punch.

For the wedding trip to Galveston, Mrs. Sutton chose a blue street length dress with white accessories.

The bride graduated from Bledsoe High School and attended South Plains College and is presently employed at Dunlap's Executive Office in Lubbock. Her husband, also a graduate of Bledsoe High School, is presently employed at the R. C. Taylor Wholesale Company and will attend Texas Tech in the fall. The couple plan to reside in Lubbock.

Ring Vows Are Read

Miss Nancy Jo Field and Mr. Tyrone Kent Browning were wed on June 19, 1970 at the Sweet Street Baptist Church in Tahoka Texas, with Rev. Lee Jones officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Anita Field of Bronco, and Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Browning of Route 5 Tahoka, Texas.

The couple will be making their home in Washington D. C. where Mr. Browning is employed by Military Publishers Inc.

Fodder for Females

Durable press cottons -- a boon to families -- now may have an added feature. U. S. Department of Agriculture research scientists have developed a process to make abrasion-resistant durable press cotton.

The new process of permanent finishing on sample trouser-cuffs is as much as five times better than that of sample cuffs made from conventional press cotton. The permanent finish does not interfere with the application of durable press chemicals.

Most cotton yarns that make up the warp (lengthwise direction) of a fabric are sized to aid in weaving -- the sizing then is removed. In the new process, the temporary sizing mixture (usually starch) is replaced by a permanent sizing -- one of several different chemical mixtures.

The warp yarn is passed through the mixture, squeezed to remove excess liquid, and dried -- ready for weaving into fabric. The filling (crosswise) yarns can be similarly treated or not depending on how the fabric will be used.

The abrasion resistance sample has tearing strength about 65 per cent greater than conventional durable press fabrics. Breaking strength was also improved.

A good swimsuit is really three garments in one. Whether the swimsuit is for swimming or sunning, it should be a bra, a girdle and an outer garment all in one. This means a good fit is very important.

Swimsuits are designed in four size ranges -- regular or ladies, junior, tall and extra large. Size is based on torso measurement, not on age or weight.

The bust must fit, so purchase the swimsuit by dress or bra size. This is usually stated on the label.

The hip fit will usually adjust due to the nature of the fabrics used in swimsuits.

The two-piece suit may be the most comfortable selection for the long waisted gal. However, one has to be realistic about one's figure to know if the two-piece is for you.

The "cage" blouson style is more flattering to the mature figure than the mio or boyleg.

The cage and blouson are similar in that they have a skirt effect which drops from the bra section.

The mio suit is a one-piece suit without a front skirt piece. The boyleg is like short bermudas.

Musical Drama "TEXAS"

Five miles of flags will line the streets of Canyon, Texas this summer when ever the "Texas" musical drama is playing. They will lead travelers to the door or the box office which is in Canyon, and then will salute them on the drive from the city to the Amphitheatre in the nearby Palo Duro Canyon State Park, there, the great lights reveal the "Texas" musical drama which plays nightly except Sundays from June 26 through August 31.

These flags will herald the fifth season of Paul Green's musical drama "Texas". This is a spectacular blend of music and dance, drama and sound played by a cast of seventy five people. Their stage is at the base of a 600 foot cliff. Their story is the strains and celebrations of the settling of this area and their songs are the calls of the early western days.

Each night the bugle rivets the attention of the audience on the lone rider who bears his flag to the top of the high cliff.

Each night the thunder and lightening of a great storm crackle through the audience. And each night the actors tell of the land and its grip on them until people go away and say "So that's the way it was!"

Accent on Health

In the past, most people have gotten their first impression of the dentist and the need for dental care when a trip to the dentist's office became necessary to treat a disease of the teeth or gums. That first impression may soon be changed for hundreds of children through the utilization of a new service now being planned by the Dental Health Division of the Texas State Department of Health.

Dr. Carlos Lozano hopes to have two state-financed mobile dental health clinic trailers in operation by the beginning of the school year--one designed as a prevention unit for use by the state and the other as a dental care unit for the City of Houston. The trailers are designed to be primarily used for the benefit of children and for indigent patients. Dr. Lozano feels that prevention is increasingly becoming an important function of the dentist, and more effort will have to be generated in that area.

One of the state-financed trailers, now in the planning stage, will go to the City of Houston for work in conjunction with their Model Cities program. The Houston trailer will be a treatment facility to be located in indigent neighborhoods. This trailer, 12 feet wide by 60 feet long, will be fully equipped with the latest and most modern dental health equipment. It will have two regular size dental chairs and one dental hygiene chair for children. This facility will be for the treatment of adults as well as children. It will also include x-ray equipment, a pedodontic chair, private conference and health education rooms, and a small dental laboratory. This mobile facility will require one full-time dentist, seven part-time dentists to assist in the operations of the clinic, one dental hygienist, and three assistants.

The other mobile clinic now on the drawing board will be used primarily as a prevention unit to work with local school districts to demonstrate oral hygiene and self-care methods to the children. This program has been much neglected in the past. Dr. Lozano says that most children are not taught by their parents how to properly take care of the ir teeth, and the proper care techniques have not received adequate attention in the schools. This prevention unit will be used primarily on school grounds. It will be put into service in Region 7 of the State Health Department in East Texas, with headquarters in Tyler.

has been employed as the outreach worker and will be available for consultation at these hours. The center is to be used as a meeting place for the regular board meetings which are held the second Thursday of each month at 8:30 p.m. As the program develops, it is felt that the building provides adequate space for smaller group meetings or classes as the need arises.

The monthly board meetings are open to the public and those interested in helping meet the needs of the people in this community are urged to attend. At present the outreach worker is devoting most of her time making a survey to acquaint her with the families in the community and their most urgent needs. It is her hope that through the interest and cooperation of all concerned that this center can provide real help to those in need whatever the nature of the problem might be.

The intention of the board is to eventually establish another center in Denver City as soon as a location can be est-
