1st 1971 Support Payment Received

By W. M Overton, County Director ASCS

Richard Meil Jr., farmer in the southwest part of the county, received the first 1971 Cotton-Feed Grain Price Support Payment

Richard filed his crop and land use certification with the county office on June 17 and the check was received in the county office July 12. It was picked up by Mrs. Richard Meil, Jr.

To comply with the program and to earn the price support payment on cotton and feed grains a set-aside acreage equal to 20 percent of both cotton and feed grain was required to be set-aside and put to an approved conservation use.

Richard complied with this set-aside requirement by planting cotton in a two in and two out pattern. Richard farms a land owned by his father, Richard Meil Sr., who farmed the land for many years. He, gave up farming when he moved to still living there.

Family Fare by Betty Crocker

A reader writes - "I'm cooking for a family of five and suffering fom tired menus. Can you help?" One of the menus we'll share with this friend is printed below. It's a fine meal for a wintry evening. Easy, too. The Ham Loaf can be prepared and refrigerated ahead, then baked at dinnertime. The fruit dumpling dessert is made at the last minute and cooks while the family eats. Other suggestions we like to pass along for family dinners—move to the dining room, bring out your most gay placemats, light the candles. A little showmanship stimulates appetites and conversation. Any more questions, anyone? I'd love to help.

GOD IS IN CHARGE.

F WE are troubled about anything or anyone, let us ask ourselves, "Who is in charge?" If we had only our human powers to rely on, if everything depended upon us alone, we would have reason to feel anxious and worried. But who is in charge? God is in charge! Let us remind ourselves of this.

If appearances are distressing, if we are faced with a situation we do not know how to meet or handle, let us say to ourselves, "God is in charge." Let us give thanks that God's Spirit is at work in the situation and in the persons involved and that He can be relied on to bring about right answers and good solutions.

Are we concerned about some member of our family or some persons who seem to us to need much help and direction? What we personally cannot do for another, God is powerful to do. Let us know for others: "God is in charge of your life and affairs. I trust Him to guide you, to bless you, to reveal to you the way of your highest good."

> For he will give his angels charge of you to guard you in all your ways.

So says the VA...

Representatives from North Texas colleges and universities will meet with Waco VA Regional Officials at El Cemtro college in Dallas on August 11, 1971, to review GI Bill veteran enrollment procedures. Jack Coker, VA Regional Director, said that all North Texas schools in the VA region have been invited to the meeting and urged to attend. "We expect an enrollment of 36,000 to 38,000 veterans in the area this fall, " Coker added.

He anticipates 175 people involved in student enrollments at North Texas area colleges will attend this meeting to review VA procedures and requirements for veterans receiving payments under GI Bill entitlements.

Coker noted that the prime purpose of this one-day discussion meeting is to assist the schools in enrolling veterans correctly, thus permitting the WA to make speedy payments to veterans. "This helps everyone with the necessary paper work, but most of all it will help the veteran and afford him the consideration he deserves, " Coker added.

Subjects discussed will include registration procedures, certification of enrollment. payment procedures the VA must follow and a new technique for pre-enrollment being instated this year.

Anyone needing additional information regarding this August 11, meeting should write to VA regional office, 1400 North Valley Mills Drive, Waco, Texas.

Nearly one million reservists, National Guardsmen and ROTC caders had Servicemen's Group Life Insurance (SGLI) protection on June 25, the first anniversary of their coverage under the program. Jack Coker, Waco VA Regional Office Director, in noting the anniversary, reported that payments to beneficiaries of members of these groups who died during the first year total more than $1 million. Coker said SGLI was extended by law last year to insure members of the groups while in training, or traveling to and from training sites. The same law increased individual coverage of servicemen from $10,

000 to $15,000. "This is the first time in the history of Government life insurance that they have been included under the same plan as regular members of the Armed Forces, " Coker pointed

VA supervises SGLI, established in September 1965, to meet the insurance needs of military personnel. It is administered by about 600 private insurance companies.

One recent study shows one can expect as much as an eight per cent yield reduction if weeds aren't controlled until three weeks after planting. After five weeks this jumps as high as 35 per cent!

What's the best way to control weeds? Many crop experts recommend using a herbicide such as Milogard—applied at planting or right after. One application keeps weeds from coming up with the crop and also prevents late germinating weeds from messing up the

The Texas Migrant Project is a federally-funded program that was created to protect the healt h was created to protect the hea-Ith status of the seasonal, migratory farmworkers and their dependents. Some 22 local migrant health projects are now operation in key counties a cross

The objective of local migrant health projects is to provide direct medical, dental, and public health services to the migrant worker and his dependents. This usually is done on a fee-for-service basis with a private physician or dentist, or through a public health clinic.

One of the approaches that health authorities have taken to provide such care is the 'family health clinic'. These clinics take the form of a general medical clinic in which an approach to comprehensive health care is attempted.

The combination of well child, maternity, family planning, immunization, dental services, and family health services into a one door clinic held at a convenient time and place each week has solved many problems for the continuity of medical care. Much more is accomplished than just the treatment of an immediate illness in a migrant family.

Of course, other health services are also necessary. Environmental sanitation is an imposing problem for the migrant family. Insect and rodent infestation, garbage and refuse storage and disposal, and other environmental problems such as sewage, housing, and food handling all pose special problems to the health and well-being of the migrant.

A new state law gives the Texas Health Department authority to formulate and enforce regulations for the licensing of migrant labor camps. This law will give the state a valua ble tool in protecting the health and well-being of the migrant worker in Texas.

Some High Plains farmers, with no real hope for producing anything like a normal cotton crop because of extremely poor stands, are faced with a critical decision between now and August 1 deadline for "certifying" acreage to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conser-

They have two choices. They can apply to county ASCS offices for "failed acreage" credit and plow up the cotton, or they can leave the cotton and harvest whatever crop it may pro-

According to Donnell Echols of Lamesa, President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., there are at least three factors that should be taken into consideration beforethe decision is made, including (1) market price prospects. (2) possible effect on future payment yields and (3) the need for maximum production across the cotton belt to meet market demands.

"And it appears to me that when all three factors are considered the cdds are in favor of leaving the cotton for harvest if there is a chance for even a very low yield," Echols said.

"The supply-demand situation, current spot market prices and the futures market all point to a strong demand for all qualities of 1971-crop cotton," he continued, "and with higher market prices it will be to our advantage to harvest every acre we can. "

As the regulations now read, the effect on future payment yields where sub-normal crops are harvested would be no different from the effect of cotton acreage declared a total failure. In both cases the county ASCS committee is authorized to use up to 80 percent of the farm's 1971 payment yield in calculation payment yields for 1972 and 1973.

However in 1969 farmers who harvested a "piece of a crop" were given the 80 percent adjustment while farmers with failed acreage were allowed to substitute 100 percent of their previous three year average yields. And this is the cause of farmer concern this year.

Echols has investigated the matter and does not believe there is any liklihood this 1969 ruling will be revivid. He quoted ASCS Administrator Kenneth Frick as saying "We can 't give you an ironclad guarantee of anything, but as of now we can see no reason why one situation should be treated any different from the other, and I can assure you 1'll be doing ev- 1st with a 21, 82; and Paula erything I can to see that the man who makes an honest effort to produce a crop gets just as much weather adjustment as anyone else. On the third factor, Echols said "If we are to retain our present markets and have hop- linda Mellsap, 2nd with a 29 es for market expansion we need to produce every bale of cotton possible from the 12.3 million acres planted a cross
