Her full sheer skirt was enhanced with appliques of lace and bordered with lace. Ripples of wired ruffles encircled the hemline and draped the court train.

A wreath of beaded flowers held her waist length veil of silk illusion, with rouche top scattered delicately with pearls and irridescents. She carried a cascade of peach roses, white stephanotis, baby's breath and lily of the valley.

For "something old", she wore a brooch belonging to her great-grandmother. She wore the blue garter worn by her mother at her own wedding.

A reception was held in fellowship hall. Laid with a white organza cloth, the bride's table was draped and accented with peach ribbon bows and adorned with the bride's bouquet. Silver candelabras with peach candles completed the decor. The four-tiered wedding cake was accented with cascading peach roses. Mints were peach colored hearts and white roses. Cake, mints, nuts and peach punch were served from crystal and silver appointments.

Traci Nance Tells Of Her Memorable Two Week Trip

Traci Nance reports on her recent trip to Washington, D.C. Traci was the recipient of the all-expense paid trip sponsored by Lea County Electric and the National Rural Electric Cooperative. Miss Nance is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nance.

On June 11, I started on a journey to our nation's capital. Before this time, Washington, D.C. had been a place I had read about in history books. I knew the President lived there and that the city hosted a few historical monuments. Besides that I figured it was just another big city. Little did I know that I was in for one of the biggest surprises of my life!

Along with 75 other youth, we began our trip with a celebration of Texas' sesquicentennial. This consisted of a flagpole dedication at the Texas Electric Cooperative in Austin, followed by a tour of the Texas capitol and a visit to the LBJ

One of the unique lessons I learned from this trip was that Texas is a state respected by people all over the nation. Although everyone thought we talked just a little funny, they still admired the fact that we were from Texas. One question we were asked almost everywhere we went was, "How many oil wells do you own?" In answer to the question we explained that Texans are just like everyone else, we don't all own oil wells and we don't use outhouses anymore. With a quick wink from one Texan to the other, we added that we still ride our horses to school.

The road trip to Washington took three days. Although this may seem a tiring way to travel, the days on the bus will be remembered as one of the highlights of the trip. By the time we reached the capital city, I felt like I had known each person

Our official tour of Washington began June 16. During the next five days I saw things that literally took my breath away. My first real look at Washington D.C. was from 550 feet in the air, looking out the window of the Washington Monument. Although I'm not too fond of heights, I closed my eyes, said a prayer, and climbed aboard the elevator that would take us to the top. My queasiness was soon forgotten, for from the windows I could see the White House, Capitol, Lincoln Memorial, Pentagon and many other beautiful sights.

Our trip to the Washington Monument was followed by a tour of the Smithsonian Institute. Even though we spent over six hours there, we saw only a tiny fraction of what the buildings held. I had the opportunity to see the "Spirit of St. Louis," the dresses of our first ladies, the Hope diamond and many other things that play an important part in the history of our country. As I stood before the "Star Spangled Banner", the flag that inspired Francis Scott Key to write the National Anthem, chills crept up and down my spine. Historians tell us that we must look at our past so we do not repeat its mistakes; however, just from looking at that flag, I think we need to study history so we can gain that same courage and bravery our forefathers had so long

The following morning held one of the trip's most memorable experiences. We attended a welcoming ceremony on the White House lawn for the President of Uruguay. Although I've seen President Reagan numerous times on television, I never thought of him as a "real" person. Seeing the President was one of the greatest honors I experienced. Later that afternoon we had the opportunity to visit the capitol and Senator Lloyd Bensen. I then got to talk with Congressman Larry Combest.

Visiting the Arlington National Cemetery was next on our agenda. Row after row of crosses were placed above the graves of soldiers -men and women who had died for our country. At the cemetery I saw the graves of John F. Kennedy and the commander of the Space Shuttle Challenger. We then had the opportunity to see the President of Uruguay again as he laid a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. From there we traveled to Ford's Theatre where President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated. We were told the story of how John Wilks Booth had gotten into the President's booth, shot Mr. Lincoln and escaped. In the basement of the theatre was the gun that Booth used and the actual clothes Mr. Lincoln was wearing when he was killed.

Our last touring day in Washington began with a tour of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Millions of dollars were right before my eyes. One thing that really bothered me was that they burn almost a million dollars a day. I wanted to explain to them that if they wanted to get rid of the money that badly I could surely take some

Our day ended with a tour of the Lincoln, Vietnam and Jefferson Memorials. As I stood before the Vietnam Memorial, tears came to my eyes as I saw the names of the thousands of people who died. Although there is much controversy over the Vietnam War, one thing is for certain -- the men and women who fought in Vietnam are Heroes. They are Heroes because they gave their lives for a country they loved so much.

June 21 we loaded the buses and headed for home. The following day, we had a devotional on Lookout Mountain in Tennessee. From the mile-high view we could see seven states. Someone stated that we were so high up that you could reach up and almost shake hands with God. That statement was incorrect, for the Lord was right there with us just as He had been the entire trip.

I'd like to especially thank Lea County Electric for sponsoring my way on the trip. I will never forget the wonderful experiences and lasting friendships. As I reminisce about the two weeks of the trip, I realize just how fortunate I am to be living in this land of freedom. The Lord has richly blessed the United States of America. I can truly say that "I am proud to be an American".

Football Magazine Picks Cowboys To Finish Second

"The stranger in District 1-3A is the Plains Cowboys and this bunch looks like some mighty tough hombres," reports Top-O-Texas Football magazine.

Picking the Cowboys to finish second in the district, back of Wilson, the magazine also gives the nod to Shane McMinn as a Class A Honor Roll quarterback and Martin Barrientes as linebacker. McMinn is a returning junior; Barrientes, a senior.

Compiling a 5-5 season last year while in class 2A, the Cowboys are expected to be "difficult to keep out of the playoffs this fall," reports the magazine.

Head coach Larry McMinn will have 13 returning lettermen including seven starters on each side of the scrimmage line. Among those veterans are three who racked up impressive statistics a year ago.

'McMinn's son, Shane," reports Top-O-Texas, "was one of the most deadly passing quarterbacks on the South Plains last season as only a sophomore. The 6-0, 160 pound sophomore completed 90 of 226 attempts for 1,242 yards and 17 touchdowns. There's no telling how much a year's experience will help the junior signal-caller."

The magazine goes on to report that the Cowboys' passing game will also benefit from the return of starting junior receivers Scott Lowrey (6-2, 180, tight end) and Doug Green (5-9, 150, split end). Lowrey had 19 receptions for 223 yards last

The Cowboys also appear sound in the line with three starters back.

That trio consists of 6-0, 180-pound senior tackle Jody Harris, 5-10, 170-pound senior guard Billy Spears and 5-8, 150-pound junior guard Brad McWhirter.

Defensively, writes Top-O-Texas, Coach McMinn has a pair of dandy linebackers in seniors Barrientes and Bryan Baldwin. The 5-6, 130-pound Barrientes, who will also start at running back in the Cowboys' veer attack, was named first team alldistrict after making 60 solo tackles, helping out on 55 other stops, causing 10 fumbles and recovering three.

Baldwin was equally effective, making 67 stops, aiding in 73 others, causing four fumbles and scooping up three loose footballs. That effort earned the 5-10, 160-pounder second team all-loop

Other returning defensive starters are linemen Spears, Lowrey and 5-7, 190-pound Ricky Mares and backs Green and 5-5, 120-pound junior Michael Diaz.

Some other top prospects for the Cowboys this fall include senior lineman Mark Parker (6-0, 190), Richard Bradley (5-10, 190), Eddie Ontivares (5-8, 200) and Valentin Luna (5-7, 150); senior ends, Roy Caballero (5-7, 150) and Joe Rivera (5-6, 130); junior linemen Victor Diaz (5-6, 150), Donald Booth (5-10, 160) and Rosendo Bernal (5-9, 150) and sophomore centerdefensive tackle Kevin Lowrey (6-0,

Top-O-Texas cites McMinn, Baldwin and Barrientes as all-state potentials and Spears, Lowrey and Green as players to watch.

From The Superintendent's Desk

As legislators returned to Austin this week for the August 6 special session, the question on the minds of some lawmakers was not if but how much - state spending for public education would be reduced in the goal of slashing the state's massive 3.5 billion deficit.

"There are no sacred cows any more," quipped House Appropriations Committee Chairman Jim Rudd of Brownfield.

Among cuts being considered in education funding are cutbacks or total elimination of the career ladder, pre-kindergarten, summer school and state teacher retirement contributions as well as increasing pupil/teacher ratios in the lower grades. Public education spending represents about 27 percent of the total state budget.

An early review by a House appropriations subcommittee included a summary of education funding that looked at Foundation School Program reductions ranging from $204 million to $1.2 billion.

The two plans affecting education reviewed by the committee were

*Reduce state money for kindergarten programs for Limited English Proficient students, and increase the local share of the school assignment program for funding for public schools from 33.3 percent to 55 percent.

*Reduce state aid to various programs instead of shifting education costs to local districts. In this option, half-day kindergarten programs would be reduced, LEP summer school programs would be eliminated, the career ladded program would be reduced or eliminated, and there would be reductions in the vocational, compensatory education and experienced teacher allotments.

Another proposal calls for temporarily reducing the state's contribution to the teacher retirement system. The committee took no formal action on any of the proposals, but is scheduled to meet August 4 to adopt recommendations to present to the legislature.

Former Coach, Rip Sewell Inducted In Hall Of Honor

Rip Sewell, former Plains coach, was inducted into the Texas High School Coaches Association Hall of Honor, July 31, in Houston at the annual coaching school for high school coaches. The honor is bestowed upon a select few who are exemplary of the high ideals the association stands for, as well as years of service and dedication.

Sewell was nominated for this honor by Jim Warren, a former director of the Texas High School Coaches Association. Warren attended the event honoring Sewell. Other former Plains residents who attended were Jim Williams and Don Todd.

A coach for 31 years, Sewell compiled a 38-13 football record at Plains, that boasted one District Championship and two Co-Championships. His Plains basketball teams won five District Championships, four Bi-District titles, two Regional crowns and finished fourth in State in 1958 and second in

He presently serves as Ozona athletic director and golf coach. He and his wife, Ellen are parents of four children - Karen, David, Kathy and Dan.
