Little Dribblers Organize Girls' Season, Concession

Plains Little Dribblers' mothers have been organized to help make a more successful program for the little girls basketball season. Because the concession stand is a vital part of such success, mothers of all girls must participate. Any mother not bringing food on the night designated by the schedule, will be expected to contribute $10 to the Little Dribblers Fund.

Food items should be brought promptly at 5:30 p.m. Suggested items include Rice Krispies treats (cut and wrapped), brownies (cut and wrapped), and lemons with peppermint sticks. Only one mother each game night will be asked to bring eight sandwiches; others will bring cooked hamburger meat for the concessions' number one seller - nachos.

Extensionist Explains Care Of Self-Cleaning Ovens

Self-cleaning ovens are just that --they do the job by themselves.

Yet customer service representatives from major appliance companies say that they often get questions about using oven cleaners in a self-cleaning oven. Often the customer is concerned that use of a commercial cleaner has destroyed the oven's finish.

Fortunately, this is not the case. The finish in a self-cleaning oven is not damaged by commercial cleaners. The warning in the oven instructions against using cleaners is to prevent the generation of fumes and smoke that can be toxic, says Mary Dale Williams, Yoakum County Extension Agent, Home Economics.

To remove oven cleaner from a self-cleaning oven follow these steps: *Using a sponge, apply full strength white vinegar to oven walls covering all surfaces to which you applied the cleaner. Vinegar helps neutralize and dilute the highly alkaline oven cleaner. *Rinse oven walls thoroughly with warm water. *Follow oven instructions for a two-hour self-clean cycle. Be sure the room is well ventilated. Stay out of the area to avoid breathing fumes or smoke. *After the oven cools, rinse walls again with warm water.

The oven should not be turned on, and foods should not be cooked in it until the oven cleaner has been removed by this procedure.

Plains Independent School District

From The Superintendent's Desk

DEAN ANDREWS

It is time once again to begin preparing for our annual trustee election. The election is April 4, 1987, and absentee voting begins on March 17th. The trustee election is one of the most important events on our school calendar. Although we do not endorse any candidate, we do urge you to cast your ballot for the candidate of your choice.

Plains Independent School District Board of Trustees has the responsibility of governing our school district. They keep informed of state education requirements and practices through various seminars, publications and meetings, and also stay in touch with the needs and concerns of our students and community. The school board is instrumental in much of our policy-making. School board members give unselfishly of their time to ensure that Plains Schools are in compliance with rules and regulations as mandated by the State and within this structure, that our schools operate in a way that will most benefit our students and community. The monthly board meeting where routine business is conducted is just a small part of the service our board members provide. They are not only representatives of the students and parents of our community but are also on call for such routine duties as check signing for the school business office. Our board members are appreciated for their willingness to serve.

Two positions are to be filled on April 4th - Place VI, and Place VII. Those seeking the positions are:

Place VI:

Stanley Ashburn, farmer, is a graduate of Plains Schools. He and his wife, Sheila, are the parents of two sons, Brad, a sixth grade student, and Jeff, a sophomore at Plains High School. Mr. Ashburn has lived in the community for twenty-six years.

Terry Davis, teacher/farmer, is employed by Seminole I.S.D. and also farms in Yoakum County. He and his wife, Wadonna are the parents of two sons, Johnnie Don, a third grader and Trey, a recent graduate of Plains Schools. Mr. Davis has lived in the district for eleven years and has served on Plains I.S.D. Board of Trustees for six years 1981-87. He is currently secretary of the board.

Enrique Ramoz, lead foreman, Rainbo Bakery, is a graduate of Plains Schools and has served in the U.S. Army for five years, being honorably discharged in 1985. He now serves in the U.S. Army Reserve. He and his wife, Delia, are the parents of three children, Monica, a kindergarten student at Plains Schools, Adrienne, 4 years old, and Manuel, 2 years old. Mr. Ramoz has been a resident of the district for twenty-five years.

Place VII:

Jack Palmer, farmer, is a graduate of Plains Schools. He and his wife, Martha, are the parents of two sons, Brad and Brent, who are also graduates of Plains High School. Mr. Palmer has lived in the district for thirty-three years and has served on Plains I.S.D. Board of Trustees for twelve years. Mr. Palmer presently serves as President of the Board and has also served as secretary and vice-president.

Please support these worthy candidates and vote on election day, April 4, 1987. If you expect to be out of town on that date then be reminded that our school business office is open for absentee voting from 8:00-12:00 and from 12:30-4:00 p.m. daily, March 17-31, 1987.

Appraisal Ratios Show Improvement

In 1986, property in Texas was appraised for local tax purposes at an average of 91.3 percent of its market value, as determined by the State Property Tax Board (SPTB). In 158 counties, the median 1986 ratio was 90 percent or higher. In contrast, only 100 counties reached that level in 1985.

This reflects continued improvement in appraisal practices. Nevertheless, averages ranged as low as 55 percent of market value in Nacogdoches County, and below 70 percent in Coleman, Kimble, LaSalle, McMullen and Starr counties.

Yoakum County was among eight counties in Texas to have a preliminary appraisal ratio of 100 percent.

The Remarkable True Story Of Saint Patrick And The Greenie

Everybody knows that Saint Patrick drove the snakes from Ireland, but what is considerably less well known is how he himself created the very first—and some say the best—example of that delicacy that we have come to know today as the brownie, but which he originally christened "the Greenie."

It is told how one spring day, Saint Patrick received a challenge from the infamous Druid high-priest and baker, Shameless McAroon, to determine who could bake the best dessert in all of Ireland.

The two rivals put on their crisp white aprons and starched toques, rolled up their sleeves and set to work. All eyes were on St. Patrick as he mixed and measured for all to see. First he took the sweetest butter and mixed it with rich, dark chocolate. He added eggs and some salt, some sugar and vanilla, and flour as white as the finest Irish linen. Wanting something green, Saint Patrick took out a small bag filled with a rare delicacy brought back from Arabia by a wandering knight of his acquaintance. Reverently, he added to his mix the mysterious green nuts called "Pistachios."

It was then that disaster struck. As Saint Patrick reached for his trusty double action baking powder, his hand grasped only Irish air. The cry went up in the crowd: "Patrick has lost his baking powder!" "McAroon is the winner." Suspicious laughter was distinctly heard from the McAroon camp.

Patrick, distraught and close to throwing in the potholder, suddenly felt a tug on his robe. He looked down and saw a tiny man. Saint Patrick thought to himself, "Can this be a leprechaun?" Aloud he said, "What do you want of me, little man? Can't you see I am disconsolate because McAroon has stolen my double action baking powder?" The little man only smiled and said, "Sure, Pat, do yourself a favor and shove it in th' oven loik it is."

Patrick tried to object that the cake would not rise but the leprechaun only winked, touched the side of his nose and disappeared. So, not knowing what else to do, he put it in the oven.

The rest is culinary history. Patrick's remarkable and delicious concoction, the "Greenie," won the day easily over McAroon's potato meringue pie with sheep suet frosting, definitely an acquired taste.

Through dint of an energetic study of ancient records, we are pleased to offer Saint Patrick's very own original recipe for "Greenies."

GREENIES

1 cup butter
4 squares (4 ounces)
unsweetened chocolate

1/3 cup Baileys Original Irish Cream

5 large eggs
2 cups granulated sugar
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup (6 ounces) chopped,
shelled pistachio nuts

Heat oven to 325°; grease and flour one 9x13-inch pan. Melt butter, chocolate and Baileys Original Irish Cream in small saucepan over low heat until smooth; cool to room temperature. In large bowl, beat eggs on high speed of electric mixer until thick and light yellow; gradually beat in sugar. Reduce mixer to low speed and beat in chocolate mixture. Stir in flour and salt. Reserve 2 tablespoons nuts; fold in remaining nuts; sprinkle with the 2 tablespoons nuts. Bake until crust forms, about 25 to 30 minutes. Cool in pan 10 minutes, then cut into 2 inch squares. Makes 24 Greenies.
