THE LIVING LIGHTNING ROD

Living trees are lightning rods for electrical trouble. In a system similar to human circulation, water and sap move constantly from root to leaf. The water and the chemicals in the sap are excellent conductors of electricity.

If a tree has grown into contact with a power line, the potential for electrical path to the ground exists. Never attempt to trim a tree that has power lines running through it. Have a tree-trimming professional, preferably one that works with your utility, handle the job.

Even when power lines do not contact a tree, a danger of contact exists. Treehouses and upper limbs may bring children within reach of the adjacent lines. Be sure that children do not climb trees with limbs within 10 feet of any power source; double-check the location of any treehouse before construction.

From The Superintendent's Desk

Dean Andrews

This week I would like to discuss the 1989-90 budget building process. The first item to be considered in building the budget is personnel. We have eighty-nine employees and their salaries and benefits total $2,533,709.44, or approximately 63.35 percent of the proposed budget. An additional $408,343.00 or 10.21 percent of our budget is reserved for instructional supplies: paper, tools for shop classes, computers, typewriters, athletic equipment, band instruments, and uniforms, plus the travel involved in our extra-curricular programs. It is easy to see that 73.56 percent of our budget is directly related to the instruction of students. Maintenance, utilities, and transportation costs are approximately $607,750.00, or 15.20 percent. Our administrative team and Board of Trustees have been working on a proposed budget for the past two months and have tentatively agreed to a budget of $3,999,158.00 for the 1989-90 school year. The amount reflects a budget of $20,455.00 less than the budget approved for the 1988-89 school year.

Our other concern is the value on which our taxes are based. Our school district value in 1982-83 was $1,008,712,850.00, in 1985-86 $948,612,179.00, and in 1987-88 the value was $741,487,975. The projected value for 1989-90 is $670,817,610.00. In the last seven years we have lost $337,895,240.00 in value and during those years the legislature has mandated new programs without providing funds to operate those programs. In 1985 we received $183,979.00 in state revenues and this year it is estimated that we will receive $128,934.00. These factors, and inflation, must be taken into account as we work through the budget building process.

Plains I.S.D. Board of Trustees and administrators continue their endeavor to use your tax dollars in ways that will be most beneficial to our students.

JUNIOR HIGH SUPPLY LIST — The only supplies necessary for junior high school students for the first day of classes are: one loose
