PLAINS, YOAKUM COUNTY, TEXAS

VOLUME 8, NUMBER 30 WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1992 30¢

Linda Powell Awarded Plate For Efforts In Literacy Program

Linda Powell was awarded a silver plate in recognition of three years volunteer efforts with the literacy program in Plains. The presentation was by La-trell McDonnell, Plains librarian and literacy tutor.

A former Denver City High School teacher of government and economics, Mrs. Powell has taught 25 students in day and night classes during the three years. Only eight were enrolled for nine months or longer, she states.

One of her students, Hope Moreno, recently assisted Mrs. Powell in presentation of a program on literacy to the Delta Kappa Gamma sorority in Denver City.

"It's beneficial for both me and the students," says Mrs. Powell, "because they learn English and I'm learning some Spanish. One student knew German, being multi-lingual would certainly have helped me."

Currently Vickie Delgado is helping as a translator. Helen Carrillo has also worked as a tutor. Mrs. Delgado has a group meeting at the Baptist Church and invites anyone who is interested.

Mrs. McDonnell is working with a class of beginners Wednesday evenings at 8:30 p.m. at the library.

"This time of year cuts attendance because of crop harvesting," says Mrs. Powell. "A person can look at the problems of the world...drought and starvation in Africa, war in Yugoslavia, repression in Cuba and China...and feel very helpless. But if one cares to work on problems here, helping students learn to use English is a rewarding labor of love."

Strong Business Support For Clinton - Gore

An independent nationwide poll of 500 technology industry executives found a clear and unprecedented preference for Governor Bill Clinton and his economic plan.

The poll, conducted by H&M Consulting of Sunnyvale, California, was based on nationwide telephone interviews conducted Oct. 5-6, with 500 executives from the technology industry, including biotechnology, consumer electronics, computers, and telecommunications. Mark Macgillivray, Managing Principal of H&M Consulting, found the results "absolutely stunning and indicative of the depth of business support that Governor Clinton has received nationally."

The poll found that if the election were held today, Bill Clinton would receive the support of 53 percent of the executives surveyed, George Bush would receive 41 percent, and Ross Perot would receive six percent. The poll also found that among executives of small to midsize firms, Clinton held a commanding 58 to 34 percent lead over Bush.

The executives also gave Clinton's plan, "Putting People First," high marks. Fifty-six percent of the executives stated that Clinton offers "the best overall economic plan", while 42 percent preferred the Bush plan, and only two percent favored the Perot plan.

This latest indication of business community support for Governor

Clinton follows closely on the heels of several significant bipartisan endorsements for his candidacy and economic plan. On Sept. 15, 1991, thirty presidents and CEOs of some of the nation's leading hightechnology companies, including longtime Republican CEOs John Sculley of Apple Computer and John Young of Hewlett-Packard, rejected the failed economic policies of the last twelve years and formally endorsed the Clinton-Gore ticket. A week later in Chicago, over 400 CEOs representing major corporations, regional companies and entrepreneurs publicly endorsed Governor Clinton's presidential bid.

The Clinton-Gore plan of "Putting People First" has previously been endorsed by over 550 economists, including nine Nobel Prize winners. The plan calls for $50 billion in new investments over each of the next four years, creates millions of jobs, controls health care costs, and cuts the federal deficit in half.

The Small Business Administration provides assistance to small businesses which have sustained substantial economic or physical injury resulting from natural disasters.

Those counties included are Cochran, Dawson, Gaines, Hockley, Lubbock, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum.

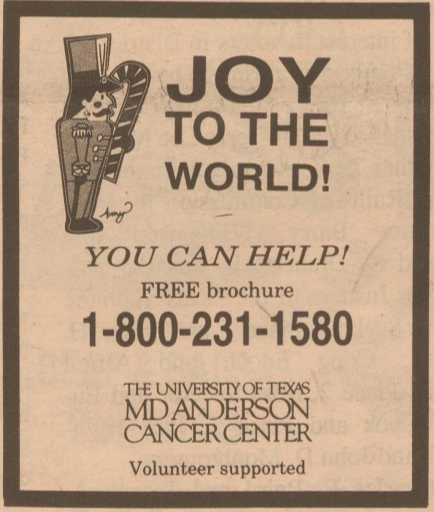

School Board To Accept Bids

They also approved the 1992-93 textbook committee and the 1991-92 Plains ISD audit.

Approval was also given for a flexible benefits plan for school employees and a resolution allowing the school to participate in TexPool Investment Plan with day to day decisions made by Eric Banfield and Pete Simmons.

Routine business was transacted and administrative reports were given.

VARSITY

The Cowboys opened district play in a big way against the Anton Bulldogs a week ago Friday night.

Ken McAdams caused an Anton fumble that Jr. Lira recovered on the forty yard line. On the next play Ace Williams scampered sixty yards for the Cowboys first score. The kick was blocked.

On the Cowboys' next possession, Victor Bernal threw a 12 yard pass to Dan Partin, then carried himself for 11 yards. Jose Ramirez had runs of six and two yards. Bernal connected with Shannon Ward for a 28 yard scoring pass. Ramirez delivered the two point conversion.

Ward intercepted a Bulldog pass on the Cowboys forty and returned it to the Anton 27 yard line. A pass to Brad McMinn was good for 11 yards. The next couple of plays the Cowboys lost ground back to the 32 yard line. On fourth down the Cowboys tried a little razzle dazzle with a forward pass from Bernal to McMinn. McMinn then lateraled to Ward, who ran untouched into the end zone. Bernal's kick was good.

Lira intercepted a pass at the Cowboy forty to give the Cowboys back the ball. He returned it to Anton's 32. A pass to Partin took the team to the 21 where time ran out in the first half. Score was Plains 21, Anton 0.

Stoney Garland caused an Anton fumble on their first play after the kickoff. Williams recovered for Plains at the 29. A penalty moved the ball to the 44. Ramirez rushed for 26 yards, to the 30, where another penalty moved the ball to the eleven. Ramirez carried in the TD from there. Bernal's kick is good.

Jamie Vasquez recovered another Bulldog fumble at the Cowboy 48. Ward caught a five yard pass, then a penalty put the ball at the 32. Lenny Morrow's catch was good for the touchdown from there. Lira's extra point kick was good.

The Bulldogs only score came after they recovered a Cowboy fumble at the Anton 10. The kick was good.

Scotty Rains had an excellent run of 29 yards on a reverse, the next possession, however, Anton's defense stiffened and stopped the Cowboys.

McAdams again recovered a Bulldog fumble. Lira carried for 8 yards, then for a first down to the Cowboy 25. McAdams gained 11 yards. Lira found the end zone on a 14 yard run, then kicked the extra point.

Final score was Plains 49, Anton 7.

Bernal threw for 135 yards. Williams carried for 100 yards. Ramirez was the leading tackler.

JUNIOR HIGH

The Junior High Wranglers took on the Junior High team from Lorenzo recently and came out on top 14 to 6.

The first quarter was a defensive battle for the Wranglers. Early in the second quarter Lorenzo scored. The two point try was no good. The first half score was Plains 0, Lorenzo 6.

The Wranglers received the second half kickoff. They moved the ball down field on several good runs by Steven Bitolas, who scored with 5:54 left in the third quarter. Wayne Willett carried over the two point conversion.

On a broken play in the fourth quarter, Bitolas did some fancy scampering, even escaping a face mask by a Lorenzo player, that almost pulled him to his knees, to find the end zone and a second TD for the Wranglers. The two point try failed. Final score was Plains 14, Lorenzo 6.

Chile Pepper Workshop To Explore Hot New Crop For Plains Farmers

A potentially "hot" alternate crop for High Plains cotton growers, the chile pepper, will be explained in detail during a workshop on Oct. 29 at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Lubbock, according to Terry J. Millican, Yoakum County Extension Agent - AG.

Farmers' heightened interest in growing chiles - or non-bell-peppers is related to the increased demand and higher prices being offered for the crop, explained Dr. Roland E. Roberts, vegetable specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The workshop will be from 8:30 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. The $10 registration fee includes lunch and workshop materials. The center is just north of Lubbock International Airport on FM 1294 at the Shallowater exit of Interstate 27.

"Many cotton farmers are interested in growing chile peppers to diversify, but have never grown peppers," he said. "They want to learn chile management from seed through harvest, processing and marketing as members of a grower-owned, professionally managed cooperative." On Oct. 8, 45 farmers met in Slaton to discuss such a cooperative.

"Our goal with this workshop is to present information on peppers that will equip the farmers to profit from producing and marketing chile peppers," Roberts said.

A multitude of food and commercial uses for different types of chiles has pushed the demand beyond the capacity of traditional growing areas in New Mexico, Roberts said. Cayenne peppers are in strong demand by processors in Louisiana. Jalapenos are used in picante sauce. Parika and red chile are used for red, yellow and orange pigment in food and clothing and in seasoning food.

"As with any alternative crop, the non-bell or chile type pepper may offer a limited opportunity for some people who have irrigation and can adjust their farming methods to this intensively grown crop," the Extension Service vegetable specialist said. "Farmers must study marketing opportunities, too. A cooperative may offer some help in this area."

Workshop topics and speakers will include Variety Performance and Field Grown Transplants, Dr. David Bender, associate professor of vegetable production, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Lubbock; Cultural Practices, Midbed Trench, Dr. Frank Dainello, Extension Service vegetable horticulturalist, College Station; Soil Fertility, Tissue Testing, Dr. Michael Hickey, Extension Service Soil Chemist, Lubbock; Disease Management, Dr. Harold Kaufman, Extension Service Plant Pathologist, Lubbock; Insect Management, Dr. Pat Morrison, Extension Service Entomologist, Lubbock; Cultural Practices, Windbreaks - Roberts; Costs and Returns Budget, Co-op Organization, Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension Service economist and farm management specialist, Lubbock; Pepper Types and Pepper Products, Dr. Al Wagner, Extension Service Food Technologist, College Station; and Texas Virus Resistant Varieties, Keys to Production Success, Dr. Ben Villalon, professor of vegetables, Experiment Station, Weslaco.

A panel will discuss crop management, critical practices, harvest mechanization, markets and co-op management. Panel members will be Kenneth Gray, Lorenzo grower and marketing consultant; Jim McClendon, Tulia, agricultural engineer and equipment designer; L.K. Shepherd, Lubbock, co-op organizer and general manager, and Martin Tune, Hale Center grower.

Winning Statistics

Who's going to win the football game? Nobody knows—but a set of computers can make a pretty good guess.

Computers can predict football games with remarkable accuracy.

Computers programmed to predict sports results can be reached by telephone by those who want to know. One such service, the International Sports Information Exchange, for example, has a 1992 pre-season record of 17-4. It uses the most sophisticated methods of computer trend analysis of any service in the industry. All its programs are written in house by computer experts who have a tremendous amount of knowledge about sports. A full analysis of field and weather conditions is run and injury reports are updated as they occur.

Game simulations are run 100 times for each game. Only those that reach a 70 percent consistency are analyzed further. Then, six handicappers make their selections. If five or more agree, the prediction is released on two 900 sports lines, the Lock Line and the New York-New Jersey Connection.

Each call costs $25. The numbers are: 1-900-370-NYNJ and 1-900-288-ISIE. Football fans agree, those computers really know the score.

AMERICA THE BEAUTIFUL

Anchorage, Alaska: A Great Place to Do Business—A Great Place to Live

Equidistant to the world's major markets, Anchorage, Alaska is not only a beautiful place in which to do business—it's also a beautiful place to live. No wonder so many businesses are setting up operations there. Consider the facts:

A Great Place To Do Business

- Anchorage is a vibrant, modern city with many business opportunities, its economic growth fueled by its strategic location and natural resources. Anchorage lies at the natural crossroads of east/west air and shipping routes, giving it a marvelous proximity to world markets.

- This proximity has made Anchorage International Airport (AIA) the number one cargo airport in the U.S. for the past three years. Both UPS and Federal Express have major international cargo sorting and handling hubs in Anchorage with expansion plans to meet growing demand.

- Anchorage is widely recognized by national logistics consultants as a distribution hub. Studies conducted by Bender Management Consultants found that a Japanese semiconductor manufacturer could save up to 25 percent by warehousing and distributing inventory from Anchorage. Many major U.S. firms including Sony, Digital, IBM, NEC and Hewlett-Packard are considering using Anchorage as a distribution center.

- The latest in communications facilities connect Anchorage to the rest of Alaska and the world. Alaska is now connected to the largest capacity fiber optic system in the Pacific, which can carry over 85,000 calls simultaneously.

Anchorage, Alaska is a modern metropolitan city with a unique blend of business opportunity, technology and an exceptional quality of life.

A Great Place To Live

- A city where the quality of life is good is likely to attract many business operations, and Anchorage is a prime example. Its 238,000 residents are fortunate to live in one of the world's greatest natural playgrounds. Some 120 miles of scenic, surfaced trails run throughout the city—trails that are great for walking, jogging, biking or cross-country ski trekking through the woods or along the coast of Cook Inlet.

- Anchorage residents also enjoy the lowest tax burden in the country. There is no state income tax, no sales tax on retail goods and property taxes remain low compared to cities of similar size. State corporate taxes are well below the national average. The State of Alaska applies the "water's edge" method of corporate taxation on earnings outside the U.S. There are virtually no other business taxes.

- The Anchorage School district spends more per student than most districts in the U.S. and students score well above average on standardized tests. As a result, Anchorage's work force is young, motivated and well-educated.

- Anchorage has the lowest population density of any city in the U.S. and commute times—from a secluded mountain home to a downtown office—are among the lowest. Home prices are low and it's not uncommon to share your backyard with moose and bald eagles!

Many find Anchorage's unique blend of business opportunity, technology and exceptional quality of life a mixture that makes living and doing business in Anchorage a pleasure. For free brochures that can tell you more, write: Anchorage Economic Development Corporation, 550 West 7th Ave., Suite 1130, Anchorage, AK 99501.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor:

Please consider this information for your readers who will be voting in the Presidential election in the near future.

I graduated from West Texas State University with a degree in elementary education and taught for several years in Lovington, NM and Memphis, TX, before taking the time to raise my daughter and son. I have not returned to teaching as of yet, because my son is just three years old. I intend to be a full-time mother until he is of school age.

I subscribed to The Plains Pride, as I did other papers, when I was out job hunting for a teaching position, about seven years ago. I wanted to know about Plains people and their school system. I had every intention of applying at Plains Schools, but accepted an offer to teach special education in Lovington, NM instead. I continued my subscription with the paper because the town seems so enthusiastic and supportive of their children and elderly people and the school always has something to praise the kids about. That's why I think everyone should be concerned about the election - because it will have an effect on our children and our grandparents!

As family members and churchgoers and people who respect the healthy way of life, we should realize that everything we see and hear on television is not necessarily the way it is or should be - whether in reference to families or elections.

Everyone would like to support a "winner", and as the polls go, CLINTON is ahead. I suspect the media is misleading us on this. Being Clinton supporters, they would like for us to think that Clinton is way out in front, when in fact the margin is a lot narrower between the candidates.

It disgusts me to know what this man stands for! (I'll share an advertisement with you which tells what he plans to do for gays and lesbians. If there is a charge, by all means, send me a bill. The check enclosed is for my subscription which will expire soon. You may reduce the size of the advertisement if you want to.)

It's sickening to think that my children might someday think that gays and lesbians are a normal part of our American society and that it is okay to stop the life cycle of an unborn child. Not long ago, we believed homosexuals to be those people who needed help because they were lost and confused in their personal lives...and certainly not acceptable examples for our children; and doctors who performed abortions were considered for what they are - "Murderers". I believe that these people involved in abortions, whether it be the doctor, the patient or the one who puts an okay on it - will be held accountable for the murdering of countless children.

The Bible tells us that homosexuality, murder and adultery are wrong! God's laws never change. Jesus Christ is the same, yesterday, today and forever"...which I think that would apply to present day. People change God's laws. We "bend" the rules and go along. Nowadays we excuse ourselves from guilt by saying, "well, everybody's doing it". I believe just as God destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah for the filth and fornication they were involved in, so will we put ourselves and our country in jeopardy if we support and elect a President such as Clinton. He might be interested in reducing the deficit, but he also encourages a gay and lesbian society and even supports the right for our young daughters to have an abortion without parental consent - which could endanger their lives as well as killing their unborn children.

I realize by what I have learned about the population of Yoakum County, that most voters are dyed-in-the-wool Democrats, but parties have nothing to do with what the individual is made of...there's good and bad in both parties. Assuming that the majority of you are faithful Christians, I only ask that you stop and consider these issues...and vote for the candidates who stand for the principles that this great country was founded, whether Democrats, Republicans or Libertarians...and to put our trust in God to bring this country back to good health.

When you vote - just ask yourself if this leader is going in the direction you want your own children to take someday. I know standing up for what is right is right, because my six year old daughter already pleads her case with the ever so popular adage "Oh, Mom, everybody's doing it!"

Thank you,
Mrs. Cindy Campbell
Memphis, Texas

There has never been one single act as important for gay men and lesbians, for our civil rights, and for our very lives, as that single act when YOU cast your vote this year. You can show GEORGE BUSH what our "family values" are all about. Show him your values by voting.

"We cannot afford to waste the capacities, contributions, the hearts, the souls, the minds of gay and lesbian Americans."

"As President, I will work to guarantee the civil rights of lesbian and gay Americans. My administration will:

- * Repeal the ban on gays and lesbians serving in the armed forces.
- * Issue an executive order banning discrimination based on sexual orientation in federal hiring and contracting.
- * Sign the federal gay and lesbian civil rights bill."

-BILL CLINTON

Bill Clinton and Al Gore also will support full funding of the Ryan White Act for AIDS education and treatment; appoint an AIDS czar to coordinate federal agencies; implement the National AIDS Commission recommendations; fund women's health care issues; and sign the Freedom of Choice Act.

BILL CLINTON & AL GORE
PRESIDENT & VICE PRESIDENT

Dear Editor

God, "He giveth to all life and breath, and all things; and hath made of one blood all nations of men. . ." (Acts 17:25-26)

"At 17 days, the new life has developed its own blood cells; the placenta is part of the new life and not of the mother." This data has been documented and reported in medical journals.

Recently, many of us saw a real-time, ultrasound (movie) of a 10-week-old baby being aborted presented by Dr. Bernard Nathanson at the NRLC Convention in Kansas City. For the first 5 minutes that we were introduced to this tiny little girl, she was sucking her thumb and moving about. The ultrasound was so clear that you could even see her face and everyone marveled.

Then the abortion began.

For about 3 minutes, we watched in horror as the abortionist tried to break the amniotic sac with a metal tube. While he was jabbing and poking, we could see the baby trying to get away. She kept sucking her thumb and moving away from the metal tube. The baby's heartbeat was normal at first (120 beats per minute) but soon raced to 220, then 240.

Then the baby opened her mouth and Dr. Nathanson said he fully believed she was screaming or crying or both.

Finally, that horrid metal tube broke the amniotic sac and in a matter of minutes, the baby's body was dismembered and suctioned out, all but the head, as it was too large to go through the tube. Metal thongs were used to remove it.

Dr. Nathanson told us that the abortionist, once he saw with his own eyes what he was doing, quit. The nurse, who helped with the ultrasound, resigned from her job.

You and I are locked in a struggle vital to the future of this entire country. Everyday 4,000 unborn children are killed in this surgical holocaust; this carnage calls out to you and me to take a stand.

Isaac Colvin

Harrodsburg, KY 40330
(606) 748-5908

(Editor's Note: Mr. Colvin received a letter from a 25-year-old unwed mother of a 5-year-old boy, who pointed out that in a "Friends for Life" ad, it asked which was more valuable - an unborn eagle or an unborn human. The eagle won. Killing an eagle is a $5,000 fine and a year in jail. The penalty for taking an unborn child's life is nothing. People get paid to do it.)

Sticky Treats Spook

Brace-Wearers

Sticky Halloween treats are a tricky problem for anyone who wears braces. So parents planning Halloween parties or purchasing candy for holiday ghouls and goblins should consider the millions of children who are currently undergoing orthodontic treatment, according to the American Association of Orthodontists (AAO).

Candy and foods that are sticky and chewy or hard and crunchy create the biggest problems for children wearing braces or retainers, the AAO says. Sticky foods to avoid include caramel, gum and taffy. Also beware of hard and crunchy foods such as popcorn, peanuts, caramel-coated popcorn, ice and taco chips.

Retainers should always be removed before consuming any "off limit" treats. (Be sure no retainers are tossed out in post-party garbage—this happens more frequently than you might think.)

Consuming candy or other foods not recommended by your orthodontist can lead to some "hair-raising" results—namely, damaged braces, a longer treatment time and additional visits to the orthodontist. Extra office visits for repair or emergency work, in turn, can create additional expense for parents.

If a child does damage his or her braces, the orthodontist should be contacted immediately. Many times, the orthodontist can tell the patient how to correct the problem over the phone. For instance, if a wire becomes loose and is causing discomfort, the child can apply orthodontic wax. Most orthodontists supply wax to their patients, and it's a good idea to have it on hand for emergencies.

Halloween treat alternatives to sticky foods include coins, stickers or holiday pencils. Halloween doesn't have to be completely candyless. Some plain chocolate candy and other types of candy without nuts are acceptable.

A word of final caution to everyone who enjoys Halloween treats: make sure to brush afterwards!

For information about orthodontics or for names of orthodontists in your area call 1-800-222-9969.
