Penney Company To Offer Charge Accounts Oct. 3

The J. C. Penney Company store in Cisco will offer charge accounts to customers for the first time on Monday, Oct. 3, according to an announcement by Manager Nolan Ivens.

The store will begin taking applications for charge accounts next Monday. Two plans will be offered — a 30-day charge account, which makes it possible for a customer to pay an account in full within 30 days without a service charge, and a time payment account, which is designed for higher priced merchandise.

The Penney company first started credit operations in 1958 in some 24 stores after 56 years of operations on a cash-and-carry basis. By 1963, all of the company's nearly 1,700 stores will offer charge accounts, Mr. Ivens said.

Wolverines Defeat Brooksmith In Close Game

The Carbon Wolverines won their second football game by defeating Brooksmith 12-7 in a well played, hard fought game here last Thursday night. Carbon scored both their touchdowns in the first half and Brooksmith scored in the third quarter.

Eddie Frasier scored a TD from the three-yard line. Jackson scored the second TD on a 25-yard sprint down the side line, with the help of Frasier, Cates and Arnold doing the blocking. Our team played well on defense as Brooksmith had a hard charging ball club. The final score was anybody's guess up until the final play, but with the determination to win and hard tackling, the Wolverines came out on the long end of the score.

We regret to report that Weldon Cook sustained a broken collar bone in the game and will be lost to the team for the remainder of the season.

We play Pottsville there Thursday night, Sept. 29.

Hunters Should Respect Farm And Ranch Property

Have you asked, and been refused, permission to hunt on someone's farm or ranch? If you have, you probably could not understand why the landowner refused your request. Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist at Texas A & M College, says that you were probably the victim of some earlier hunter's courteous or irresponsible actions. You have a chance to prevent this same thing from happening to some other hunter, continues Cooper.

Landowner-sportsman relations need improving, and the next few months — the hunting seasons — are the best time to accomplish this. Cooper offers a few tips on hunting courtesy that will help you and the landowner become friends:

Ask permission to hunt on any land or water.

Respect property. Obey the laws on bag limits, shooting seasons and shooting hours.

Inform the landowner when and where you will be hunting. Do not invite friends to hunt with you unless the landowner has given permission.

Handle firearms in a safe manner at all times. Make certain that you do not fire toward people, buildings or livestock.

Offer to pay for any damages done to the property of the landowner.

Offer to pay for the privilege of hunting.

Make sure that all gates are closed behind you.

Be courteous and friendly.

Cooper concludes by saying that the hunter should remember that the farm or ranch is a place of business for the owner. He will appreciate your respect and interest in treating his property as a means of livelihood.

Eastland County farmers, eligible for the Federal gas tax refund on gasoline used on their farms or ranches, are advised that they have until Sept. 30th to file claims for this refund, according to word from the County Agent's office in Eastland.

The claim must be on file with the District Director of Internal Revenue at Dallas by the last day of this month, it was said.

Tenants as well as owners and operators are eligible for this refund that amounts to three cents a gallon on gasoline purchased between July 1, 1959, and October 1, 1959, and four cents per gallon from October 1, 1959, and June 30, 1960.

This is a different refund of gas tax from the state.

Most of those eligible over the county have already filed but there are some who never have filed the proper form.

Those needing the forms may secure one by writing or calling at the County Agents office on the second floor of the courthouse and asking for form No. 2240.

Fristion Costly

trict manager.

Last week was in general a typical week for those claims representatives, in that they forwarded some one hundred and fifty claims for payment of retirement, survivor, or disability benefits under the Social Security Act. Also typical were these five examples of fiction costing some of those claimants various sums of money, he added.

Mr. A, aged 68, had been unable to find a job for the past three years. He believed the fiction that he had to be in actual, proved need in order to get his retirement benefits. His checks will start with March of 1959, because if all conditions are met for previous months, checks can start as far back as a year before formal application is filed. But, that fiction cost him 12 checks for 1958 and 2 checks for 1959, or better than $800.

Mr. B, aged 74, still making $3000 per year, thought he had to quit work entirely in order to collect his retirement benefits. Another fiction. Actually, he could have started collecting in the month he reached age 72. This fiction cost him just under $1000.

Mrs. C, whose husband died five years ago, filed her claim at age 65. She thought she had to be that old to collect. That fiction cost her two years' payments, some $1500; widows can begin receiving such payments, with no reduction, at age 62.

Mr. D, aged 67, also thought he had to quit work entirely before he could collect his social security. His annual earnings for the past two years have been only $1500 per year. He could have collected eight checks each year. This fiction cost him 8 checks, totalling some $500.

Miss E, aged 67, with some $3,000 per year income from rents, just got around to filing her claim, based on some ten years of creditable work in the late thirties and early forties. She thought non-earned income would keep her from getting her social security. That piece of fiction cost her either one year's benefits at $600 per year, or nearly three years benefits at a slightly reduced rate as she could have filed in November 1956, when the age for women was reduced to 62.

To help reduce such fictions, Tuley suggests that every family should have a free copy of booklet number 35, "Your Social Security," and get the facts. Write or telephone his office, and a copy will be sent out promptly. He points out that there are now four times for contacting a social security office about benefits — at retirement age, at age 72, whenever severely disabled, or whenever anyone with a social security account number card dies. Not everyone, of course, qualifies for social security benefits, but many who do have been tardy in finding out their rights, and he feels that many are missing out completely because they haven't yet inquired.

Election Plans Are Announced By Democratic Party

Plans to carry Eastland County for the Democrats in the November general election were announced at a recent meeting of the Eastland County Democrats. The executive committee decided to use similar campaign strategy to that being used by the state committee.

All Democratic office-holders of state-wide offices have accepted places on the state steering committee. The Eastland County Democrats have decided to invite all county-wide Democratic office-holders to serve on the county steering committee. They are: Judge Turner Collier, Judge John Hart, County Attorney Earl Conner, District Clerk Roy Lane, County School Supt. H. R. Garrett, County Clerk Johnson Smith, Sheriff J. B. Williams, Sheriff-Elect Lee Horn, County Treasurer Eiten Justice, and County Tax Collector J. C. Allison.

Further plans will be released as the campaign unfolds. Anyone wishing to contribute to the Eastland County Campaign Fund may do so by contacting J. M. Flournoy of Cisco.
