National Education Week Aid Parents In Learning Methods

New developments in the public schools have raised the curiosity of some people and have baffled others.

An investment in education pays the highest dividend of any investment in the world, Neal Dillman, Superintendent, said today.

In fact, entering the first grade is like opening a savings account; the longer the investment is kept going the higher the dividend grows.

Of all investments a person can make, education pays the highest return. On the basis of lifetime earnings, it can pay off as high as 40 to 1.

Dillman explained that this is how the National Education Association demonstrates the value of investing in education in its data for American Education Week, November 8 - 14. This year's theme is "Education Pays Dividends."

The NEA says the hard facts about the worth of education include the following:

- Society has fewer jobs for the uneducated. So, more than ever before, education stands between the man and his job.
- Education is required today to understand the daily newspaper and the complicated processes at work in our society.
- Education is needed to solve today's problems in every community.
- Tomorrow's problems will require flexibility and intelligence, two of the hallmarks of education.

Education pays dividends, the NEA says, in seven ways. Each of these is assigned a day during American Education Week in order that it can be explored extensively by local communities. These are the seven dividends:

— Better Human Relations. — Public schools teach students to get along with their neighbors and to work together to solve mutual problems. In this way public school education enables students to get along with all types of people, from all social classes. This dividend eventually pays off to the community and to the nation in better community and national relations.

— Improved Earning Power. — Education makes the difference between those living in poverty.

Bale Totals Reach 1,886

Until the rains came this week, Bailey County's cotton harvest pace had picked up some this week to a total bale count this Friday morning estimating some 1,886 bales, or about two per cent of the harvest, turned into the county's 23 gin yards so far.

These figures were reported by Jesse Young, manager of Texas Employment Commission, in reporting the TEC's fifth weekly survey of the county gins.

This year's total bale count was down 1,886 from the same time a year ago when some 1,031 bales had been counted. However, it is ahead of the more "average" harvest of the same date in 1962 when a little over 1,000 bales had been ginned.

County Agent, J. K. Adams said that some cotton was defoliated too early, before it was 80 per cent defoliated in 1963. This year farmers in the area are waiting before defoliation until the cotton will be more fully mature. He expects that this will bring about stronger fiber and higher quality cotton in the Bailey county area this year.

Experimental information from Lubbock Research and Extension Service showed that cotton defoliated when only 47 per cent open cost the producer approximately $20 per acre in 1963. This knowledge made the farmers more cautious in 1964 about damaging this year's cotton by early defoliation. Therefore this year's harvest is slower yet more normal than last year's and the peak of the harvest will be reached between now and Christmas time. Anytime weather permits, cotton harvest will be in full swing with the gins busy. If there is a hard freeze, the gins will be extremely busy again, anytime weather permits harvest.

One third or more of the excess 1963 harvest could have been early planted dryland cotton; this year there is very little early dryland cotton.

The ginning activity remains in irrigated cotton fields, with the dryland harvest later than usual. A delayed freeze should improve chances for the latter. According to Adams, north of Maple the cotton is almost up to average, while dryland cotton near and especially south of Bu-la has a chance of some harvest.

This year approximately 102,000 acres were planted in cotton, with 105,000 the adjusted county allotment.

The rains this week were more a blessing to the wheat farmer than a curse to the cotton farmer. Only a slight reduction in price can be expected results from the one and a half inch area rains. Adams called it the "biggest winter rain in years."

Carriers assisting with the survey are: Babe Barbour, Route 1; Boyd Landers, Route 2; Paul Scott, Route 3; Jake Roberts, Route 4; and Kenneth Hicks, Route 5.

Facts and figures secured in this survey are the basis for Texas and National pig crop report and inventories of livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year. Stockmen and many others use this information in making business decisions.

Survey results will be widely distributed through Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service releases, newspapers, farm magazines, radio, and television.

Four plays and a 5 yard penalty put the Whitefaces on the Muleshoe 49. From there, Frank Cain passed to Gene Drummond, who went all the way for a touchdown. Cain's kick for a conversion was no good.

Hereford ran 1 play and fumbled the ball. Ronnie Swint recovered on the Muleshoe 33. On fourth down, Scott Oliver received a bad pass from the center and Hereford recovered on the 15. Four plays and a first down put Hereford on the Mule's 2. From there Cain went over. Cain's kick for conversion was no good.

Hereford kicked to the 18 and Carl Calhoun returned to the 27. Muleshoe lost to the 25 and lost the ball on downs. Twelve plays put Hereford on the Mule's 32, where the ball went over on downs. Muleshoe gained to the Hereford 45. From there, Scott Oliver punted to the Hereford 6 inch line.

Hereford ran three plays and Muleshoe covered a fumble on the 28. The Whitefaces held the Mules on 4 downs and gained possession of the ball on their 20. Hereford ran two plays getting to the 35 before the half ended. The score — Hereford - 12; Muleshoe - 0.

Delegates Enjoyed Hawaiian Trip

Three Muleshoe area women have returned from Hawaii where they attended the National Homemakers' Convention at Hawaiian Hilton Village.

They are Mrs. Gordon Murrah, Mrs. Celia Hicks and Mrs. Jack Little.

"Every minute of our trip was most enjoyable, and there just isn't much in Hawaii we didn't see," Mrs. Murrah said, "and once again our small town of Muleshoe has been put on the map."

"Everywhere we went, the mention of our hometown brought laughter and we were amused at how quickly we three were remembered in connection with Muleshoe, from the ship's Captain and crew to the smallest waiter boy . . . from the highest Convention officers to the Hawaiian Village shopkeepers."

The first night of their trip was spent in Los Angeles in the home of former residents, the Burke McGee's. Mrs. McGee was hostess for a dinner for the women at North Wood Inn, a rustic restaurant which represents an authentic bit of the California North Woods in the logging day era.

Tuesday morning, October 20, they went aboard the S. S. Lurline for a five-day luxury trip to the Island.

While aboard, they enjoyed recreation such as bowling, Bingo, ship parties, musical entertainment and numerous other events provided for the pleasure of passengers, plus food of all types, with eight meals per day available for those who really wished to spend their entire time eating, with coffee and tea served in between the meal times. One thing about the events slated on the ship was noted. If the programs said something started at 8 p.m., it started at that exact time, and they soon found that much unlike events scheduled in this area, you could not be five minutes late and expect to get in on the first of the event.

Some 400 Convention-bound women were passengers on the ship and cocktail lounges were the emptiest places on ship. Taking on their normal load of alcoholic beverages, the bar tenders soon became alarmed and began to ask: "Who are all these women and where are they going?"

At one of the ship's musical shows presented by a string band, Mrs. Murrah was determined to be the youngest grand-mother aboard and was presented a record "Ports of Paradise" by the recreation director of the ship.

On Sunday morning, breakfast was served buffet style so that passengers could go out on deck and see land as they came in sight.

The gracious ship hostess and a Hawaiian aid gave each of the Convention delegates an orchid tea just before the ship docked, which they later found was their transportation ticket to the Hilton Hawaiian Hotel where they stayed. Other colors of tea were given to people going to other events and each group was recognized by the colors of their

WOMEN CHANGE LOOKS
The gathering of 2,000 women from the Mainland and an additional 1,000 from neighbor islands "changed the looks of the island" according to a Hawaiian newspaper.

The paper stated "Hilton Homemaker's Village would be a more apt name this week for the hotel that Henry J. Kaiser built, as 3,000 women sport replicas of state flowers and fruits . . . even a Maine lobster, converged for the convention."

"It is not always easy to tell the kamaainas from the mainlanders at the convention. Many of the latter are attired in muumuu, and everyone wears comfortable shoes or slippers. The newcomers, however, clutch anthuriums and birds of paradise close to their chests and wear kukui nut pendants that their hostesses have provided.

"Several huge tents have been stretched to shelter the general sessions of the convention, and these add to the informal holiday air that permeates the area."

Another unusual sight for Hawaii during this time has been the delegates filing in for luncheon several deep at the Dome. Others waited to get into the Tapa Room and the Gold Leaf Restaurant. . . these restaurants have probably never seated as many as were able to get in at noontime.

CONVENTION
Having met the highest official of the convention on the S. S. Lurline, Mrs. Lillie, Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. Murrah, said they felt closer to the convention activities than some.

Homemaking advancements, achievement and new ideas were presented in sessions throughout the convention.

Every phase of homemaking, the effects of efficient homemakers on the progress of a nation was discussed from the viewpoint of each state and country represented and some accomplishments set forth for future development stressed.

Three years of planning had gone into the convention which was termed "a great success."

"The Hawaiian Homemaker's were wonderful hostesses," Mrs. Murrah said, and the fact that much work had gone into the event was evident.

ty and those living in plenty. The majority of people earning less than $3,000 for a family of four have less than an eighth-grade education. The majority of the unemployed are illiterate or have no marketable skills. Also, most teenagers out of work are school dropouts. The difference between the average annual earnings of a man with less than an eighth-grade education and a man with a college degree was $6,655 in 1958. The college graduate earned over $3,500 per year more than the high school graduate. Education is the main means of combating poverty, the NEA says.

Each session will begin promptly at the hour listed above and will last one hour. The chairman of each group will open the meeting and introduce Ralph Duncan, manager of the Community Services Department of West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who will be heard in a short statement of the factors in community development and an explanation of how a chamber of commerce functions. Cards will then be passed to all persons present for use in listing projects to benefit the area. Cards collected, the balance of the meeting will be used in open discussion of some of the projects.

classroom and provide the opportunity to fulfill the promise in each child. Also, education leads to personal development by teaching for the student's future occupation.

—Good Citizenship. — Education helps provide the citizen in a democracy with the ability to govern himself. This is done by teaching history, involving students in democratic government, making students aware of the machinery of government, helping students see the United States as one of the nations of the world, and leading students to participate in community activities. This ability to govern oneself, the NEA says, is one of the major dividends of education.

—National Economic Growth. — Education is important for economic growth. Nations with illiterate populations have higher per capita incomes than illiterate nations. The natural resources of a country do not determine its economic status. Those countries which make the highest effective use of education attain a high economic status.

—Better Communities. — The direct result of education is an improved community, the NEA says. The community prospers first: the results are high property values, better community services, a lower crime rate, better leadership, and holding power for the educated and forward-looking people.

—International Relations. — Perhaps the best way to resolve the problems of the world peacefully is through education. The basic tools for understanding other countries are obtained in school through learning geography, history, literature, social studies, and languages. "Education produces reasonable men, those able to use their intelligence to solve problems. Reasonable men may be expected to reach reasonable solutions," the NEA says. America's role as one of the world leaders would be impossible without an educated populace.

Try 'Berti-Burger' At Dari Delite

BERTI-BURGERS — Dari-Delite is the place to go for good, tasty hamburgers, malt, shakes, and all types of drinks and food.

When you want a good, tasty hamburger and a cold malt or shake the place to go is Dari-Delite drive in located at 210 North 1st St., in Muleshoe. Here you can find all types of sandwiches and fountain drinks made to taste good and satisfy your appetite.

"Berti-Burger" is the featured item at this drive-in. It is a DeLux Hamburger with all the trimmings and is named for the owner, Mrs. Bertie Purcell. She originated the burger which has become very popular in Muleshoe.

Mrs. Purcell is an expert cook and knows how to fix appetizing food. Since opening this business in August 1961 she has built a thriving trade and has made many friends and customers.

This business is closed on Mondays but is open all other days from 10 a.m. to 12 midnight. Mrs. Purcell has two efficient employees who assist her in preparing the food and customers are assured of fast service on their orders.

There is no curb service but you can place your order from your car over the inter-com system and ride by the window and get it a few minutes later.

More and more people are patronizing drive-in restaurants because they can buy a quick snack without getting out of their car. Often they do not have time to go into a restaurant and order a meal and they do not have to be well dressed either.

Since our society is built around the automobile today, the drive-in restaurants, succeed for that reason. People can buy and eat food "on the run" so to speak and save both time and money. They can drive and eat at the same time.

Teenagers especially, like the drive-ins and they are among the best customers. Their youthful appetites require a lot of food and they all like hamburgers and cokes. Their limited budgets also require them to save as much money as possible on food and the drive-in is the answer to the problem.

When you feel in need of a good, tasty-snack, go to the Dari-Delite and order a "berti-burger" — it will hit the spot and you will come back for more of the same.

If you want a sackful of sandwiches or hamburgers for a picnic lunch — just call 4829 and drive by later and pick them up.

Reading Awards Presented at School Programs

In National Children's Book Week this past week special effort was made to stimulate and encourage reading and continued use of the Muleshoe library facilities.

Texas State Library Reading Club Certificates were awarded 33 youths at special Wednesday morning assembly programs at Richland Hills and Mary DeShazo Schools. Special art displays and an essay and poetry contest, climaxed by a children's open house program Saturday afternoon were directed by Ann Camp, librarian, at the Muleshoe Area Public Library.

The special Honor Roll Reading Club certificates were presented by American Association of University Women to youths who satisfactorily completed the vacation reading requirements of last summer's program.

At identical assembly programs at the schools, with the cooperation of school principals Milton Oyler and W. O. Coltrane, Mrs. C. E. Moore, A. A. U. W. president, gave the welcome with Mrs. Neal Dillman giving the invocation.

Speaker for the programs was Rev. J. Frank Peery, chairman of the Muleshoe Library Board of Trustees, who reminded the youths of Thomas Carlyle who said "The most wonderful thing in the world is a book." He congratulated the awardees on their summer reading and urged continued use of books for enjoyment and education through reading both ancient and new books in the library. Peery noted the work done by the AAUW in the reading program, the Friends of the Library, and other organizations who have promoted library growth for the area.

Presenting certificates were Mrs. Ed Joinson, reading program chairman, and Mrs. L. B. Hall. At Richland Hills awardees were: Ken Bales, Kim Bryant, Carol Camp, Judy Dearing, John Gunter, Lawren Hall Tom Ladd III, Cynthia Puckett, Murray, Robert David Stovall, Gary White, second graders; Sandra Haley, Brenda Weeks, third graders; Lynn Dearing, Perrin Hall, Narda Pierce, Earl Ladd III, Cynthia Puckett, fourth graders; Brenda McGuire, Patty Murray, Twani Pierce, Lance Tucker, fifth graders.

At DeShazo honorees were Barbara Haire, Mark Edwards sixth graders, and Sandra Stallings, second graders. Certificates were given to Judy and Ricky Hudson, Larry Puckett at Muleshoe Junior High School.
