being made at this time for Tri-County Savings and Loan to occupy the building for their offices as soon as possible. The purchase includes the community room and parking facilities.

Tri-County Savings and Loan Association began operation in Muleshoe in February, 1965, and now have assets exceeding $7,000,000.

Construction Planned Near Crossroads

The Board of Directors of the Muleshoe State Bank, indicating their faith in the continued growth and prosperity of the Muleshoe area, announces the purchase of a site for the construction of a new and modern bank building, in order to better serve the people of this area.

The new facility, to be designed by Whitaker & Hall, Architects, of Lubbock, will occupy most of the block between American Blvd. and Avenue B and between First and Second Streets. Clearing of some of the old buildings is expected to begin within the near future, with construction of the new building expected to start around the first of the year, a spokesman for the bank reported. Completion is expected sometime in the fall of 1973. The new facility will be approximately 10,000 or 11,000 square feet.

The bank has been at its present location since 1938 and the new building will be the fourth home of the Muleshoe State Bank and its predecessor, Blackwater Valley State Bank, Starting August 17, 1914, Blackwater Valley State Bank opened in a 16 feet by 24 feet wooden building located approximately where the present bank building is located. On October 10, 1914, the Blackwater Valley State Bank moved to a small red brick building located in the vicinity where White's Cashway Grocery Cont. on Page 3, col. 5

Summer Employment Program Announced

The summer youth employment program has been officially kicked off by the Chamber of Commerce, here and the Texas Employment Commission. Since school was dismissed last Friday, the Muleshoe office of the Texas Employment Commission has been a "beehive" of activity, according to Lonnie Merriott, manager of the local office. It is estimated that nearly all the students who were interested in summer work have registered at the local TEC office. Glen King, manager of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture pointed out that some employers may have misinformation about the type of jobs being sought. Summer job does not mean that the job is to be permanent. On the contrary, a job of any duration will be acceptable. Young persons seeking summer work can be used very effectively by employers in fill-in jobs or temporary jobs, such as temporary clerks, receptionists, and sales clerks during the time a regular employee is on vacation. Merriott of the local TEC office, reports that there is a youth ready to go to work regardless of the type of job. Openings are being sought for such jobs as sales clerks, receptionists, office clerks, service station helpers, restaurant

The tourists of the week will receive a night's free lodging, a meal for the family and servicing of their car.

Each week a Muleshoe family will be selected as a host family. The hosts will take the tourists to the motel, get acquainted

Hoover's Last Message To Law Enforcement Officials

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's last message to the nation is an eloquent epitaph to this fallen patriot. Directed "to all law enforcement officials," and dated May 1, 1972-- just one day before Mr. Hoover's death--the statement reads:

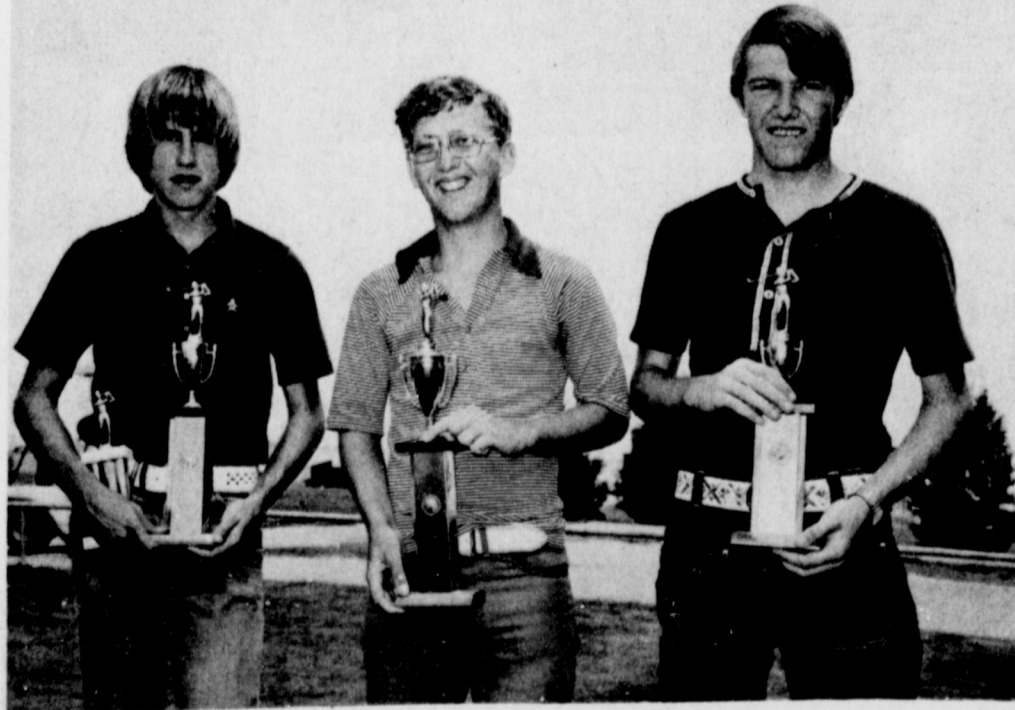

"Extremists of all stripes in our society ceaselessly attempt to discredit the rule of law as being biased and oppressive. They have no conception of--or purposely choose to ignore--its role and history. It is not surprising that these divisive elements concentrate their abuse on the law enforcement officer. Above all, he stands firmly in the path of mindless actions that would reduce our government of laws to mob rule or the whims of lawless men.

"To permit such attempts to damage the reputation of our government by law is, of course, a necessary condition of democracy. While it must tolerate the lawfully expressed views of extremists, its citizens cannot through their own ignorance be entrapped with sympathy for bankrupt doctrines that would lay waste the foundations of their Nation.

"Our greatest democratic heritage is the rule of law. It is the foundation for and the guardian of the rights, liberties, and orderly progress we enjoy. It is also the soil that has nurtured the American dream implicit in the Declaration of Independence pledge to provide 'Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness' for all our citizens.

A career conservationist since 1954, Thomas was as assistant to Graham at the Temple state office until he went to Nashville in January 1971.

"Having the chance to return to Texas as state conservationist exceeds my fondest dreams," Thomas admits matter-of-factly. "My family and I learned to love Tennessee, but it was always second to Texas."

After starting his conservation career at Lubbock in 1954

Thomas worked at Wellington, Wheeler, Jayton, and Morton. Then he became area conservationist at Pecos in 1963. After holding a similar position at Harlingen, he moved to Temple as assistant state conservationist in 1968.

Bula Head Start Students Graduate

Bula's Head Start Program had its last school program of the year and graduation for its participants on Friday evening May 26. The graduation was held in the Bula School Auditorium. Over a hundred interested parents and friends attended.

Hazel House, pastor of the Enochs and Bula Methodist Churches gave the invocation. Then superintendent James Sinclair gave a welcome and said a few words concerning the Head Start program for the year. Mrs. Virginia Davila, teacher, also gave welcome to parents and friends from the Head Start children, herself and her aide, Mrs. Nina Peacock.

Pledge to the flag was led by Israel Belez. This was followed by the children singing "America the Beautiful," "Jesus Loves the Little Children," and "Jesus Loves Me." Then each child came forward introduced himself, and gave his age and little story or rhyme. Then all the children participated in acting play stories "Ba, Ba Black Sheep," "This Little Mouse," and "One, Two Buckle My Shoe." The "Little Miss Muffett" rhyme was characterized by Linda Peacock.

After the children had given their program, each child marched off the stage. Then Mrs. Davila placed graduation cap on each child's head and gave him his diploma from Head Start. Sixteen children participated in the program and received diplomas.

The little girls were dressed in white. The boys wore white shirts with black bow ties and dark trousers.

Rev. Ronnie Green, pastor of the Bula Baptist Church, gave the benediction.

Following the graduation, refreshments of cake and punch were served in the Head Start room. The serving table was centered with a huge cake iced in white and edged in red with "Head Start '72" written in red. This was offset with graduation decals in black, black and red are Bula's school colors.

The cake was a gift of the teacher and her aide. Mothers of the children prepared the punch. This is the second year for Bula to have a nine-month's Head Start program, Bula has

A History Of Bailey County Pioneer Families

Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Coffman

W.J. Coffman came to Bailey County from Wheeler County, Texas in 1925 by car. He established a farming operation north of Muleshoe. The land cost $35 an acre. Coffman decided to move to this area because there was more land available for cultivation here than in Wheeler County.

In 1925 there was a school in the Jesko community north of Muleshoe. But there were hardly any churches.

At that time, there was no rural mail delivery to the Coffman farm. They went into Friona three times a week to pick up their mail.

People in this area in the early days used to get together on Saturday nights for parties. About once a month one of the families would invite all their neighbors in for dinner. The next month another of the families would volunteer to be host.

This is one in a series of historical biographies of Bailey County pioneer families who arrived here prior to 1930.

Food Price Fluctuations

"Price fluctuations in the food market aren't really that puzzling. They result from conditions--supply, demand, advertising and promotion and variable pricing--that rule in the market," Mrs. Robin Taylor, Extension county home demonstration agent, said.

Prices are likely to be most attractive for consumers when supplies are good and less attractive when supplies are low, according to the agent.

Weather is a key factor affecting supply, she added. Unfavorable weather conditions in food-growing areas will probably result in limited supplies, thus boosting the price of a product.

"Decreases or increases in demand can also cause price fluctuation," Mrs. Taylor said. "For example, cooking meat outdoors is very popular during summer months, so markets are likely to jack up the prices of steaks and other cuts suitable for outdoor cookery. But pot roasts, in less demand during summer, general boast attractive prices. In winter the reverse is likely to be true."

Another factor influencing price is store advertising and promotion. "Stores offer price specials to attract your attention and get you into the store," the agent said. Retailers often mark milk, bread, ground meat and chicken as specials.

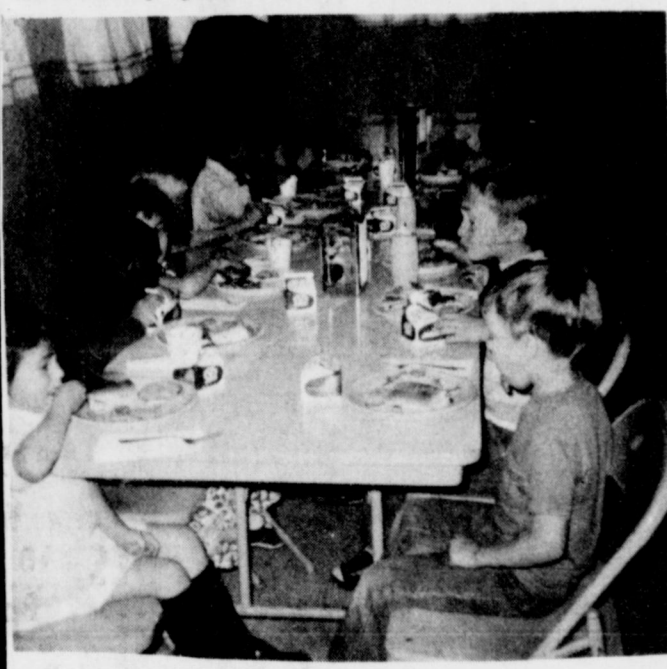

If specials stimulate an increase in the store's sales volume, the store will probably repeat the specials.

According to Mrs. Taylor, another important reason for price fluctuation is the common use of variable pricing.

"This means that the supermarket, with 6,000 to 8,000 different items, must price what it sells so that the store earns a given margin, usually around 18 per cent. The store will also competitively price a number of items it classifies as 'movers' or fast-selling items.

"Because of variable pricing it's difficult to make valid price comparisons on the total mix of products and prices.

"But it is possible," Mrs. Taylor added. "to make price comparisons on items purchased regularly. This can help you decide where to shop."

have more than proven the majesty of the law. Were this not so, our country would not have endured its strife to now stand before the nations of the world as a model of freedom and accomplishment. This is not to say the law has always been right, but that it has been organized to ultimately seek justice. Recognition of its power for good is not merely the experience of our nearly two centuries of democratic government. The struggle to ensure the rights of the individual and his social organizations by written decree has roots which reach far back into antiquity. The authors of our Constitution were mindful of this legacy when they drafted that historic document.

"Nor was the importance of a definitive rule of law lost to the general public of our infant Nation. Worn by the ravages of the Revolutionary War, our expectant forefathers appealed for and got amendments to the Constitution which formed the Bill of Rights--specific guarantees of law that responded to the heart of their grievances. Together, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights gave birth to our rule of law and it is the flesh and blood of our Nation.

"The law is dynamic because it responds to change as it did for those who argued for and received the Bill of Rights. And our Nation's history has been a chronicle of change. But the process of change in a democracy required discipline and responsibility that will not unleash unrestrained forces that would rip the fabric of our freedoms. That fabric derives its strength through the warp and woof of laws that orderly guide the process of change by defining our individual and corporate duties. Change in our society would otherwise simply result from those who could impose their will on others without regard for the validity of their arguments or the rights of those who do not share their views.

"There is an indispensable commitment of a free society: that democracy be dynamic but not self-destructive. If we do not value this commitment by both honoring and obeying the rule of law, the tyranny of extremists may inevitably result."

It is the prayer of the editors and staff of EXCLUSIVE that J. Edgar Hoover will rest in peace... and that the people of our nation will come to learn the wisdom of his last, somber warning.

President Nixon's decision to wait until after the November elections to name J. Edgar Hoover's successor involves some grave risks. Ironically, perhaps it was the Republican minority in the Senate, led by the late Everett Dirksen, which fought vigorously and successfully in 1968 for a measure requiring Senate confirmation of any future FBI Directors. The GOP's fear then was that the Democrats (and particularly Hubert Humphrey, an outspoken critic of J. Edgar Hoover) would regain the White House and might have the opportunity to name a new custodian of millions of secret FBI files.

Project...

Should Mr. Nixon succeed in his bid for re-election in November, he will have four full years to fight for Senate approval of his nominee as FBI Director--even though it seems certain that Senate radicals will fight hard to prevent the appointment of anyone who shares Hoover's strong views against crime and communism. The left on Capitol Hill is also likely to work for new laws weakening the power and longevity of any FBI chief and forcing the agency to take the lids off its secret files.

If, on the other hand, Mr. Nixon is defeated in November, he will have only two months to work for Senate confirmation of his nominee as FBI Director. It would not be difficult for a minority faction of Senate radicals to delay proceedings (much in the way that have postponed consideration of Mr. Nixon's appointment of Richard Kleindienst as Attorney General) until after the new Democrat President was sworn in. In that case, of course, the new President would be able to name Hoover's successor.

White House officials understand these risks but nonetheless chose to wait until after election day to name a new FBI Director. Their rationale was first that Mr. Nixon seems certain to be re-elected in November and secondly that it would be politically wise to keep the FBI out of this year's potentially hot campaign rhetoric.

The Scouts and the communities of Texico and Farwell have worked for two years to make the trip possible. To raise money for the expedition, the Troop cleaned bricks, sold stationery, candy and tickets to District Scouting events; collected empty beer cans for recycling; conducted rummage sales and worked for friends and relatives. The Farwell Youth Commission contributed from the sales of fireworks during June and July.

In 1968 the Troop purchased a 54 passenger school bus which has now been outfitted with bunk beds, new floor and tires, and a stereo tape player which was added for the Alaskan trip. The Troop adopted the slogan, "The Troop That's Going Places," and it has already traveled to Galveston, San Antonio and Houston on week long trips. The Scouts plan a weekend campout in Oklahoma to test their bus and equipment before leaving for Alaska.

The boys will do their own cooking, dishwashing, and clothes washing. They plan to stay with relatives in some areas along the way, including Anchorage. The Troop will use the facilities of the First Methodist Church while in Fairbanks, Alaska. Arrangements have been made for a District meeting to be held at Grand Prairie, Alberta, Canada. The Rotary Club there will furnish the Scouts with two meals and service the bus.

The Scouts hope to meet other Scouts along the way and are taking badges, neckerchiefs and other items to exchange.

The Troop, with membership from both Texico and Farwell, is sponsored by the Farwell Baptist Church.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Bill Boykin

AUSTIN, Tex.--State agencies received a recent warning to renew efforts to recruit minority group and women employees "before they are confronted with ultimatums and deadlines" from Washington and federal courts.

The agencies were reminded by the Governor's Committee on Human Relations staff that jurisdiction of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has been extended to cover local and state governments.

EEOC will be giving "very critical examinations" to state employment practices, Committee on Human Relations Director James R. Ray wrote the agencies and departments.

Federal law goes farther than state statute making it unlawful to discriminate against a person because of race, religion, color or national origin. The U.S. law also bars discrimination on the basis of sex.

Each state agency, advised Ray, will have to submit a detailed action plan to prove non-discrimination.

"In other words, you will not be able to prove non-discrimination without a federally-approved plan for recruitment of minorities and women for all levels of employment in your agency or department," the state units of government were told.

"Historically, the main concern of (EEOC) has been with numbers or quotas, and claims of recruitment difficulties have been summarily rejected as valid excuses," the Human Relations Committee staff maintained.

"Significant steps" were applauded within the state government during recent years to achieve equal employment opportunities.

However, department heads were placed on notice they must be sure each house "list in order and can stand the test (of non-discrimination) in federal court."

AG OPINIONS
County taxing bodies do not have authority to levy a fee on a mixed-beverage late-hours permit and a caterer's permit for the first three years of a permit, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:
*Creation of a salary grievance committee for public employees in each county is constitutional.
*The county tax assessor-collector is generally immune from liability on claims of third parties where title is issued in good faith and within the scope of his official authority under the certificate of title act.

* A Midland County domestic relations court judge is entitled to the same salary as that paid the 142nd district court judge.

COURTS SPEAK
Third Court of Civil Appeals held a full trial is necessary to develop facts for a standard by which Trinity River Authority can set a rate to be charged rice farmers for irrigation water from Devers canal system.

FIFTY-ONE COUNTIES NOW POVERTY AREAS
Fifty-one counties are now designated as poverty areas for Hill-Burton hospital construction aid. Those counties may receive up to 90 per cent of money for constructing hospitals and related facilities from the federal program.

The original 13 counties designated were Starr, Zapata, Kinney, Jim Hogg, LaSalle, Dimmit, Willacy, Presidio, Brooks, Real, San Jacinto, Houston and Duval.

Added to the list under the new interpretation were Maverick, Falls, San Saba, Robertson, Red River, Kenedy, Fayette, Lavaca, Grimes, Hidalgo, Lee, Trinity, Irion, Leon, Edwards, Mason, Goliad, Llano, Shelby, Franklin, Marion, Hamilton, Rains, Cottle, Hudspeth, Burleson, Motley, Camp and Coleman.

SCREW-WORM INFESTATION WORSENS
Texas Farmers Union has warned that a screw-worm fly infestation will get worse rapidly between early summer and the first frost.

TFU says it is imperative that Gov. Preston Smith ask increased state appropriations for the control program at the special legislative session. Congressmen have been asked for more federal aid to increase sterile fly production to the maximum level at the production plant in Mission and for fly drops in outbreak areas.

Ranchers and farmers have been urged to report all suspected cases of screwworm outbreak in their animals to county agents, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association joined in the warning to livestock producers.

APPOINTMENTS
M.M. Vicars of Brownsville was appointed by Governor Smith to the Good Neighbor Commission to succeed the late Jack H. Drake of Westlaco.

Smith picked Arthur Busch of Dallas and Z.T. Craver of Marshall for assignments to the Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

He appointed Chester W. Kyle of Kingsville to the Real Estate Research Advisory Committee.

Charles Kirkham of Dallas was selected chairman of the Legislative Property Tax Committee.

COMPANIES MUST PAY
State Board of Insurance announced it has received complaints that some insurance companies are requiring customers to pay costs of physical examinations before renewing coverage.

"Physical examinations used for automobile insurance underwriting by licensed Texas companies have a similar purpose to that of securing credit reports, and as such must be directly paid for by the insurance company concerned," the Board stated in an official memorandum to companies writing auto insurance.

FLOOD DISASTER ASSESSED
Governor Smith said after a helicopter tour of flood-ravaged Hays, Comal and Guadalupe counties he will press for a federal disaster declaration and all necessary aid for those areas as well as Caldwell and Webb counties.

Smith said he was "shocked and dismayed" by the amount of the damage. He had already stated he would ask that portions of South Central Texas be designated a disaster area, and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen urged the White House Office of Emergency Preparedness to expedite the request.

Preliminary estimates place private property damage in the five counties (where at least 16 died) at $15 million, damage to public facilities at $2.5 million.

per month per recipient, not to exceed 10 a year. Some exceptions are possible.

A $19,410 federal grant has been approved for Summer Head Start children's programs in Laredo and Webb county.

Six Flags Tops Spring Records For Attendance

Arlington, Texas--Six Flags Over Texas begins daily operation this weekend following a record-setting spring season which was more than 400,000 persons visiting the family entertainment center.

A record was also set for a single day's attendance when 36,607 persons passed through the turnstiles on May 13.

Beginning this Saturday, Six Flags will be open daily from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. The summer schedule will continue through August 27.

Six Flags' General Manager Robert W. Freeman commented, "To say the least, we are most happy with the terrific public acceptance of our 'new Look' and the new attractions at the Park this year."

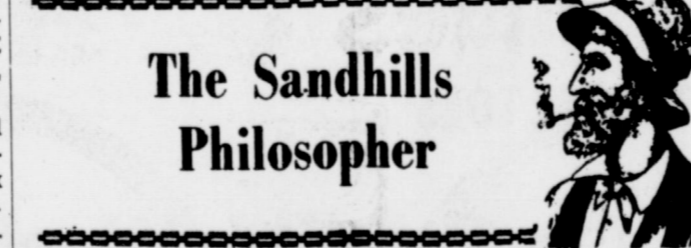

He added, "The surveys we have made on our parking lots during the spring season indicate an unusually high percentage of out-of-state guests. We feel like this points to a very good tourist season for this part of the country."

According to surveys conducted at the Texas Highway Department's tourist information centers, Six Flags Over Texas ranks as the state's top, single tourist attraction.

"Dear Editor," wrote the anxious correspondent, "I am in love with a very noney girl, while a very pretty girl with lots of money wants me to marry her. What shall I do?"

The editor replied: "By all means marry the one you love, and send me the name and address of the other."

The Sandhills Philosopher

There has been a great deal said about the young men who have served in Vietnam, and about their problems on returning to the United States. One of the most pressing of those problems is the assimilation of these young men back into civilian society. It is a problem which we have not pursued as vigorously as we should.

The unemployment rate of these Vietnam veterans is at 8.6 percent of the work force, sharply higher than the average rate of unemployment nationally, almost 6 percent--which itself is much too high.

And that includes the U.S. Government, the State, and private enterprise--simply are not doing enough to insure that the transition back to civilian life and civilian jobs for these young men is smooth.

The Veterans Administration is operating a program that is a good one, but it just isn't broad enough nor aggressive enough. The Vietnam veteran is given certain preference in the Federal Government's public employment sector, but this program is not sufficient to provide employment for all those seeking it.

I read in the newspapers just this week a story about jobless veterans disrupting a Jobs Fair there, demanding jobs now rather than the red tape and processing which is taking up too much time and effort. While I certainly do not condone such activities in any sector, I certainly understand the frustration of a young man who gave of his time and abilities, and offered his life, in Vietnam, who comes home to discover that there is no job for him.

Most of these men want to work--they don't want handouts. It is not good enough to promise them help, we have to deliver.

The Administration's proposals and programs are insufficient in meeting the demand. The Labor Department, for instance, provided only a piddling small program of job rehabilitation for returning Vietnam veterans.
