

Chamber of Commerce Starts New Year With An Elaborate Banquet

New Officers Elected and About $1,500 Secured On Budget—Committees Will Finish Budget Drive

PURPOSE OF A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

To promote the interest of the city, and surrounding country in general. To represent the citizens, to attain advantages which might be beyond the reach of individual enterprises.

To boost the town in which it is located.

To bring together the business professional and farmer man in order to foster a spirit of co-operation. To co-ordinate into an effective body the various, civic and commercial organizations to increase their efficiency and extend their usefulness.

Its membership includes all those who contribute to its upkeep without distinction of any sort—a democratic institution in the best sense of the word.

Its method of dealing is open and free on all public questions large or small which arise in the town.

In brief, the Chamber of Commerce is an organization working for all.

Extolling the virtues of a Chamber of Commerce, exultant over the marked and rapid progress of Winters and the accomplishments attained by the Winters Chamber of Commerce during the past year, about 100 aggressive and public spirited citizens gathered in their annual banquet in the basement of the First Methodist church on last Friday evening.

Preceding the gathering the Winters Chamber of Commerce band paraded the streets, and gave several out-door selections.

John Q. McAdams, of the Winters State Bank was toastmaster for the occasion, and he delved right into the business of the evening without making a speech.

A. H. Clark of the Church of Christ spoke on "The Accomplishments of the Past Year." Mr. Clark said, "I have been in Winters two years. He reviewed the accomplishments of the Winters Chamber of Commerce during the past year, and enumerated the many improvements that have been made that were caused by the efforts of the Winters Chamber of Commerce.

In referring to and complimenting the Winters band, Mr. Clark said, that a town without a band is like a Ford without a starter and that a band puts pep and life into a town more than anything else. Several of the things that he mentioned were Tinkle Park, and the securing of seats for this park, telegraph office, and that Winters was rated as one of the best towns in West Texas.

He mentioned the activity that is evident in the fall of the year when the seven gins are running day and night, the progress of our financial institutions, and improvements of the roads leading in all directions from our town.

Mr. Bert E. Low, of the First National Bank spoke on "Our Band." Mr. Low said, that the band can speak for themselves here at home, and that they did speak for themselves at the Mineral Wells convention. If the Chamber of Commerce had not accomplished nothing else but the band it is money well expended, and I hope the city will lend its support and assistance to its maintenance. I am for the band first, last and all the time.

J. Frank Paxton of the City Drug Store spoke on the "Necessity of a Chamber of Commerce." Mr. Paxton said, "that the necessity of a Chamber of Commerce is seen on almost every hand, and any town that expects to grow must have such an organization for the business is no greater than the man that is behind it, and the purpose of a Chamber of Commerce is to put over projects that individuals cannot. And again, the Chamber of Commerce affords the opportunity for the citizens of a town to meet and discuss matters that effect the growth of the city in which they live. Every live city has Chamber of Commerce, and I want to see the Winters Chamber of Commerce better than it has ever been."

H. O. Jones of the Farmers Mercantile Company spoke on the "Outlook" and said, "I have a visionary subject, and must act as a prophet. I have heard what has been done, but there are many things to accomplish yet. Here are the accomplishments I see in the future. I see natural gas. I see a sufficient water supply which is a great need. I see more residences, more business firms, a greater expansion of our trade territory. Enthusiasm or 'the business itch' put into a proposition will succeed. If we get enthusiasm we can go on over. One of the big things that Winters needs is co-operation, for co-operation is the main spring of success. We have some big men in Winters. When we all co-operate we are going to do bigger and better things for our city."

Mr. Jones complimented the retiring president, E. A. Shepperd on the big things that he has done for the town while president of the Chamber of Commerce. He said that Mr. Shepperd was broad-minded, liberal in his views, and that the co-operation given him by the city has aided him, and that each and every individual has the greatest respect for him.

Mayor Coombes, of Abilene gave an address that was thoroughly enjoyed by every one present. He said that he was delighted to be present at this banquet, and had noticed the splendid improvement that had taken place in Winters, and that he was glad to see so much interest taken in the Chamber of Commerce by the business men of Winters and said that such activity spoke well of the town and the business men.

Following the Mayor's address the election of officers were made as follows:

H. O. Jones—President.

Directors—E. Clements, Rager Adams, B. G. Owens, H. W. Lynn, C. S. Jackson and Geo. Seagler.

Associate Directors—Lanham Brown, Lawrence Roberts, Geo. Hill, J. A. Huffhines, J. W. Tanner, J. M. Skaggs, Carl Hensley, S. S. Hunt, Fred Bedford and J. Frank Paxton.

A delightful luncheon was served by the Worker's class of the Methodist church.

A synopsis of the secretary's report was given in a pamphlet placed at the plate of each one present, and showed a tremendous development increase in the growth of the town during the present year. A full account of the year's work amplified was published in the issue of the Enterprise of June 5, which gave in detail the many improvements.

Floral House Is Developing Rapidly

J. W. Pierce, The Florist, a title well earned and deserving by the man whose name precedes it, and an institution for Winters that every citizen ought to be interested in. Mr. Pierce contrived the idea of a floral house for Winters sometime ago, and by degrees he built and worked hard and faithful, until today, he has things just on the eve of developing into a veritable flower garden, and now you may express your love, your sympathy and your felicitation with homegrown blossoms from a Winters flower garden.

Miss Jewel Harris has gone to her home in Santa Anna, where she was called to be at the bedside of her mother, who was operated on last Saturday.

Local Merchants Turn Down Freight Hauled Here By Trucks

Last Tuesday afternoon about 2 o'clock a truck load of groceries from an Abilene wholesale house consigned to Winters merchants arrived in the city and from what we are able to learn met with a somewhat cold reception.

Two local merchants who had goods in the consignment accepted the freight from the truck, but told the driver never to bring any more of their goods into town that way, as they preferred to have it come in over the railroad. The third merchant flatly turned down his part of the truck load, telling the driver to take it back from whence it came and inform the wholesaler that his goods must come in over the railroad.

Winters people and merchants, as long as they are treated half way fair, can be depended upon to stay with their agreement to have their freight handled by the railroad.

Former Citizens See Wonderful Progress In Winters Country

Mr. and Mrs. A. Maddox of Waco are spending the week in Winters, guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Meeks. They are pioneer citizens of Runnels county, having come to this county on the first train that came into Ballinger and made their home at old Runnels. It has been twenty-five years since they left here and can hardly realize such a marvelous change in the country.

A WORD FROM NEW PRESIDENT OF C. OF C.

In accepting the presidency of the Chamber of Commerce, I want to first thank the members for the honor they have bestowed on me in electing me to this important position. I also want them to know I keenly feel the responsibility of the service they expect of me, and I expect to do all I can for the betterment of the town in a civic, financial and educational way that is possible to do.

I know I can't do these things without the co-operation of the town, and neither do I expect to undertake them without first consulting with the board of directors. I only expect to advocate the same constructive things that the out-going president and board of directors stood for, and try to bring to a successful consummation the things they have started. The greatest things I expect to advocate is to bring the farmer and the town people closer together and have them realize that what is good for one is good for the other, and the one depends on the other for success. In other words co-operation between them. To do so, I expect to advocate spending more of our time and money in making better roads so the people can have better transportation facility for their products.

I appreciate the great good the out-going administration has done and don't expect to improve on it, but expect the same policy to continue, so some of the things they have started will be finished.

The water problem is the greatest undertaking we will have during the next two or three years, and it must, and will be solved, if we only stand together and say we will solve it. No town is greater than its citizenship, and the citizens are just as big as their visions will allow them to see. Let's enlarge our visions, and see ahead what there is confronting us in the way of water.

In conclusion, I want to say if we all have that love for our fellowman and want to be of service to him, we will always be ready to do anything that will be for his betterment.

It's a long pull and a hard pull, and all pulling together that makes success. Very truly yours,
—H. O. Jones.

Abilene & Southern Will Continue Motor Service

As forecast by rumors in the last issue of this paper, the Abilene & Southern, after a conference with the committee from the local Chamber of Commerce, has definitely decided to cancel their application for a hearing before the State Railroad Commission for permission to discontinue the motor car.

The committee from the Chamber of Commerce to visit the railroad officials at Abilene was composed of Messrs. H. O. Jones, Bert E. Low and Mayor A. F. Roberts, and from the turn of events since their conference all will be pleased to admit that the Chamber of Commerce made no mistake in the selection of this committee.

Yesterday local agent, S. E. Hunt of the Abilene & Southern informed us of the following change in the motor car schedule effective next Sunday:

The motor will arrive in Winters each morning at 8:06 and returning from Ballinger will arrive in Winters at 9:36 a. m. There will be no change in the schedule of the mixed train. All trains will handle mail.

Lions Hold Interesting Meeting Tuesday

Last Tuesday at the regular semi-monthly luncheon of the Lions Club several questions came up for discussion, among them being the problem of taking care of the trash which accumulates around in the business district. Several suggestions were offered, but from what we are able to gather there is but one way in which this problem can be handled and that is for each business institution to pay its part in it to the city so that the council will have sufficient funds to pay the trash hauler and keep him on the job. We have a city ordinance (and we understand from the mayor it will be enforced) which forbids the burning of trash within the city fire limits. With a rigid enforcement of this ordinance and each business house taxed with the hauling of its individual trash, we believe the people will find it much more convenient and cheaper to continue the present system.

The Lions also went on record again favoring a one hundred per cent co-operation with the Abilene & Southern in the matter of freight hauling and will endeavor to discourage the patronage of trucks.

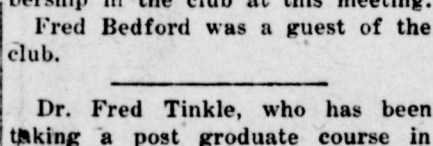

Two new members, R. E. Bacon, local manager of Wm. Cameron & Co., Inc., and Mr. Williams, the popular manager of the Winters Ice & Fuel Co., were elected to membership in the club at this meeting. Fred Bedford was a guest of the club.

Dr. Fred Tinkle, who has been taking a post graduate course in Chicago, returned home last Sunday to the delight of his many friends. The doctor says he had a good trip and a good course.

E. R. Kilpatrick, local Chevrolet dealer, was a business visitor in San Angelo last Tuesday.

THE PRESBYTERIAN REVIVAL IS STEADILY GROWING IN INTEREST

The revival at the Presbyterian church is growing in both crowds and in interest. The day crowds are unusually large. There was one conversion and one reclamation at the service last night. Dr. Logan preached this morning on "The Blessedness of the Christians Life."

Tonight he will preach on "The Lost and the Found."

The following will be subjects of the sermons until Sunday night: Friday morning—"Blessedness of Christians in His Glorification." Friday evening—"David and Mephibosheth." No service Saturday morning. Saturday evening—"Self Laceration by Sin." Sunday Morning—"Regeneration." Sunday evening—"Bartering Away the Soul."

Mr. Talley, the singer, is proving himself a most efficient leader and singer and his leading and singing are striking features of the meeting. The sermons are strong, plain presentations of the gospel.

The public is cordially invited to attend all services.

RELATIVES FEAR FOR THE SAFETY OF WINTERS LADY

Friends and relatives of Miss Laura Coupland, who is a missionary in China, are quite uneasy for her safety since the outbreak of the internal war in that county. Her father, J. W. Coupland, has sought the aid of the State Department at Washington in an effort to secure some news regarding her safety.

Miss Coupland was supposed to sail for the United States just as the war broke out, and according to relatives here she was doing missionary work right between the lines of the opposing forces.

Later: Mr. Coupland received a telegram from Hon. Morris Shepperd of Washington Wednesday afternoon containing the following advice:

"American council at Hong Kong advises State Department that Miss Laura Coupland sailed from that port to San Francisco on June 6." Miss Coupland is expected to arrive in Winters about July 10.

Young Lady Praises First National's Interest in Schools

The following letter is self explanatory and, personally, we take pride in it, for the loyal interest of institutions like the First National Bank in our schools is responsible for the growth and development of the Winters Schools into the best in the west: Here's the letter:

"Bronte, Texas, June 6, 1915—The First National Bank, Winters, Texas. Dear friend: You have indeed live up to your slogan, "a friend to your schools."

"I am sure I could speak for the whole school, when I say, we all appreciate the interest you have taken in us. You not only have invested your interests in us, but your money as well.

"I am indeed grateful to you for offering and awarding the prize for the best essay on "The First Thanksgiving." I do not know how many tried in this contest, but I am sure you intended for several to try and to profit by their efforts.

"I love Winters and her schools more than I am able to say, and you have helped to make it so. That school with the splendid faculty—of whose efforts of teaching, will reap fruits in years to come. I love it.

"I again wish to thank you for the prize I was fortunate enough to win. Possibly the reason others did not win it was because they didn't try.

"Gratefully yours,
"Viola Tutt"

The Winters State Adds More Book-keeping Equipment

The Winters State Bank, which is known far and wide as one of the largest and best equipped banks in West Texas today, is still growing and in keeping pace with the development of this section is continually adding equipment to facilitate the handling of its enormous business, the latest addition being another Burroughs posting machine, which makes a total of five of these machines being used by this institution.

We doubt seriously whether there is another bank in this entire section using as much bookkeeping equipment as the Winters State Bank, and when we tell you that the combined cost of these electrically driven posting machines exceeds $5000.00 you can readily see what strenuous efforts this institution is using in keeping abreast of the times.

Ballinger, Tex., June 8.—Fowler, the 8-year-old son of John Simmons, residing six miles west of Ballinger, burned to death when fire destroyed the Simmons home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Simmons was reading on his front porch when the fire began and did not notice the house was on fire until the high wind whipped the blaze around the front of the house. His son, who was playing around his father's feet a few minutes before, had gone to his room to take a nap, but from the position of the body, evidently was making an effort to get out of the burning building when he was overcome.

His father said he heard him call two or three times as he was attempting a rescue.

The door had become locked or a heavy timber had fallen against the exit to prevent it being opened wider than six inches, and as Mr. Simmons was trying to get in the door he was struck in the face by the blaze, causing serious burns on his face, hands and arms.

The Ballinger fire company answered the call, but the fire had practically destroyed the home before the alarm was turned in. The fire is thought to have been caused by an oil stove explosion. Other children of Mr. Simmons, a widow, were at church when the fire occurred.

John W. Young of San Angelo, district agent for Delco products, spent several days in Winters the past week.

LET'S HAVE MORE BANQUETS

We believe in Chamber of Commerce banquets. As suggested at the banquet last Friday night, one should be held at least once each month from now until fall, and invite the farmers of the Winters section to the banquets. Friday evening we had several farmer friends present, and among them we want to say that Mr. Heck of Wilmett, made the star address of the evening. We suggest that each merchant select any number of his customers, and bring them along.

We have three good subscribers all ready lined up. What do you say?

FLAG DAY

Next Sunday is Flag Day. June 14, 1777, a resolution was adopted by the continental congress accepting the design made by Betty Ross for the national colors. And this day has been designated as a day to honor the American flag, a day when the emblem shall be publicly displayed and its significance contemplated.

The flag is a symbol of your homeland, your home state, your home town, your home itself, and of all the privileges, the safety, the happiness, the well being you have therein or have the wit and right to gain.

Flag Day, June 14—best of all days for all of us to enter a house of God and on bended knees thank the Giver of all good that it is our good fortune to live and love and prosper under such a flag.

Let us unfurl the Stars and Stripes to the breezes June 14, but every day we must keep its image in our hearts.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING?

What are you doing for this town?

What are you doing to justify your citizenship in this town?

You can not sit down, criticize, let others do the work that makes a town or community, and still call yourself a good citizen.

The good citizen never thinks only of self. He must necessarily think of self or he would not survive, but good citizenship requires more than that—much more.

It requires that you keep in mind that there are others who have rights and are entitled to have those rights respected by others—by you. On the same basis you are entitled to have your rights equally respected by them.

That is good citizenship, partially. In addition, the good citizen remembers that his town is entitled to his best efforts in its behalf, to the end that the interests of the community may be advanced by all legitimate means.

This means, too, that in advancing the interests you are advancing your own, which is the ultimate aim of the human race.

What, then, are you going to constitute yourself as a good citizen?

RIPE OLD AGE

Newspaper readers can hardly fail to notice the striking number of deaths of people who have lived to be past 80 or even to 90. One of New York's active business men today is aged 101, and the other day in an eastern city a well known citizen died at 98. Mrs. Mary Paige of Joliet, Ill., is 107 and very active. She says "people are kinder today than they used to be and the world is getting better all the time." Her husband died at the age of 105.

Most people who pass 80 could live longer if they desired, but their friends have all gone, and they feel like joining them. It is only the most exceptional man like Chauncey M. Depew who can form new attachments at 91.

AN HOUR'S WORK

An hour's work in almost any instance will suffice to turn a back yard from an imitation of movie set of junk yard to a thing of beauty and a joy forever. A pile of tin cans by the back gate is as unbecoming as a mole on a flapper's nose and far easier remedied. An hour's work in tidying up the yard will limber the shoulder muscles, as well as going a long way in making Winters a more attractive place in which to live.

Reaches the Half Million Mark In Production of Fordsons

The Ford Motor Company reached the half-million mark in the production of Fordson tractors late Thursday afternoon, May 21st when Fordson No. 500,000 came off the assembly line at the River Rouge plant. The half-millionth tractor was completed at 4:23 o'clock, just a few minutes before the close of the day's work. It is planned to exhibit it at a number of state fairs during the coming summer and fall.

Manufacture of Fordson tractors today presents a striking contrast between the methods employed eight years ago when production began at the old plant at Dearborn. At the start only three or four Fordsons were produced each day and it took two weeks to machine some parts. Today at the River Rouge plant, where all tractors are now manufactured and assembled, output is on a schedule calling for 400 Fordsons a day and the production cycle shows that 31 hours and 8 minutes after iron ore has arrived at the River Rouge docks it is converted into Fordson motor blocks and the blocks assembled into complete tractors.

Since its introduction eight years ago the Fordson tractor has come into world-wide use and has brought a new efficiency into agriculture and the business of farming in nearly every country on the globe. It is estimated that a large majority of all tractors in use today are Fordsons and the Fordson is said to be the only tractor ever placed on the market without subsequent change in basic design.

It is also a singular fact that long before the dream of manufacturing motor cars, Henry Ford was experimenting with engines in an effort to find some means or ferret that that find some means or relieving farm drudgery. Born on a farm, his first glimpse of life was in the daily round or arduous farm duties and in his early boyhood he developed a strong feeling against prevailing agricultural methods.

His first experiments were with steam engines through which he hoped to find the power necessary to relieve the farm of some of his burdens. That was back in his boyhood when steam was virtually the only power of the time.

His first tractor, built when he was 20 years old and operated by steam, ran only forty feet and then stopped. But he was satisfied for it had actually run. This was a dozen years before any tractor had reached the market. However, other experiments with steam engines convinced Ford that steam was not practicable and in 1885 his interest turned to gas engines and seven years later he had built his first motor car.

It was during these years that he decided that the world was more ready to accept a motor vehicle for travel than for agricultural work and he set about developing the automobile as a necessary preliminary in the evolution of the farm tractor.

Not once through all the years that he was building his great motor car business did Ford forget the tractor or the drudgery of the farm. On October 1, 1915, Ford sent for several of his officials and announced that he was ready to produce a tractor and plans were at once started for the building of a plant at Dearborn. Experiments were carried on with many models of tractors and they were given all sorts of tests both on Ford's own farm and at demonstrations held throughout the country. Production began in 1917 when, after many tests and changes, the present Fordson design was perfected.

The Fordsons almost immediately became a factor in the war, for England, lacking enough horses to plow ground necessary for food, turned to mechanical power and the first 5,000 Fordsons manufactured were purchased by the Ministry of Munitions for farm work in the United Kingdom. Because of this it was not until 1918 that the Fordson tractor began to reach the American farmers, and then to go out to farmers in other parts of the world.

Economies effected on the farms by the use of the Fordson have in late years attracted other users of power. The result has been that the Fordson has invaded one field after another until at the present time more than twenty per cent of those sold are for use in industrial lines where power is a factor.

SIXTEEN YEARS OF STEADY ADVERTISING

The attainment of success has been the quest of all ages. Thousands of men today attribute their success in selling goods of the better quality, and the Owens Drug Co., has for the last 16 years been giving the people of Winters and surrounding country service until today they have earned their well deserved and most fitting slogan, "What You Want When You Want It."

This well known firm started in Winters in the year 1909 as the Winters Drug Company, but as the Owens boys owned and operated it, the people called it the Owens Drug Co., hence the change in name.

The Owens Drug Co., is serving the people with the most complete line of drugs and druggist sundries to be found in this section of Texas. A fact which has been commented upon by all who have had business with them, for they handle only the purest and best line of drugs that both science and money can produce. They also have registered pharmacists who are ready to fill your prescription.

But that is not all. The Owens Drug Co., has not missed having an ad in this paper since they opened for business one beautiful June day 16 years ago. This attributes largely to their success—coupled with service. This is a record held by few stores, considering the size of space used. This shows their progressiveness and is a monument to regular and consistent advertising as a means of developing a business into a strong and sturdy institution.

JURY ACQUITS FRED CROWDER

After deliberating only a few minutes, the jury in the chiropractor case tried here Monday which Dr. Fred Crowder was charged with illegally practicing medicine, returned a verdict of not guilty. The friends or those in sympathy with the defendant who were in the courtroom when the jury reported, applauded when the verdict was announced. This was the second case of five complaints filed here against chiropractors in this county the first having been tried a week ago when Dr. A. S. Anderson was acquitted on a similar charge. The Crowder case went to trial at 10:00 o'clock Monday morning, and was completed with the returning of the verdict late Monday afternoon. The state used only one witness, a patient of the defendant, to prove that the chiropractor has practiced his profession for pay.

Three other cases remain on the docket. The cases of Drs. Nettie Montgomery and J. A. Craig have been set for August 17th, and the case of Dr. C. L. Andrus, of Miles will be taken up by agreement of attorneys at some date the last of June.—Ballinger Daily Ledger.

Wisdom Of Farm Aid Is Recognized By Investors Who Have Advanced Millions To Soil Tillers Of Nation

BREAKING CANADIAN PRAIRIE

(c) Underwood & Underwood

The wisdom of affording every financial aid within reason to farmers and farming communities has been repeatedly emphasized by Edward I. Duffield, president of the Prudential Insurance Company, particularly in a recent address dealing with farm mortgage loans as investments for life insurance funds, made before the Bond Club of New Jersey.

Life insurance companies have more than doubled the amount of their loans on farms in this country during the last five years in addition to responding to housing needs in congested urban communities. In the last five years the Prudential lent $205,699,180.20 on farm mortgages. During 1924 a smaller amount of Prudential farm loans indicated a progress towards prosperity in agricultural districts.

Referring particularly to farm loans, Mr. Duffield said: "Then, too, another form of investment is this question of farm loans. Of course, it is useless to adopt any of these other methods of aiding the country if you are not going to aid the man who produces that which we eat, upon whom we are absolutely dependent, and so these companies are largely in the field of investment in farm loans, aiding the farmer to harvest and develop his crop, enabling him to bring in land for development purposes which otherwise he might not have been able to do, aiding him in so conducting in a scientific way these farm operations that as a result thereof the food of everyone in the United States has been made cheaper and easier to obtain than it otherwise would have been."

In 1924 the Prudential loaned $17,957,402.97 on farm properties in the United States. They have also relieved the housing situation by extensive loans on small dwellings.

Question of Who Owns North Pole Is Raised

Ottawa, Ont., June 10.—The question of who owns the North Pole was raised in the house of commons today while Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, was outlining Canada's claim for the northern archipelago.

W. C. McQuerrie drew Mr. Stewart's attention to claims of the United States as reported in news dispatches. "I see they claim the North Pole," he said. "Are we going to let them have it?"

Mr. Stewart said he had no remark to make about claims of the United States. He said that Canada claimed the islands north of the Canadian coast between longitude 60 and 142.

Judge J. C. Shipman and family of Hamilton, Texas, passed through the city late yesterday evening on their way to Wingate for a week's visit with Mrs. Shipman's parents and other relatives. Judge Shipman was elected by an overwhelming majority district attorney of the 52nd Judicial District at the last election, the district being composed of Coryell, Hamilton and Comanche counties. He stated that his district was in pretty hard shape from an agricultural standpoint as they lacked considerably having enough moisture. He seemed to be carried away with the Winters country and her bright prospects for a bountiful yield and said he couldn't find it in his heart to blame the writer from locating in Winters.

Rural Children Exempt From Tuition In Cities

Austin, Tex., June 10.—Parents living near cities and towns may send their children to public schools in town without paying tuition, the third court of civil appeals ruled today in the case of Philip R. Huck against the public free schools of Austin. The court reversed the Travis county district court decision which ruled that Travis county residents could not send their children to school in Austin without paying a tuition fee.

The many friends of Mrs. P. L. Crews of San Antonio will be glad to know she is reported to be improving and on her way back to health.

Poisoning Cities By Airplane Bombs Is Declared Utter Rot

Washington, June 10.—Statements that airplanes can drop gas bombs that poison cities were declared to be "utter rot" by Rear Admiral Albert Fleaves, retired, in a Rotary club address here today.

"When the air radical makes such a statement" he said "he ignores mathematical authority that it would require 20,000 tons of such gas to poison, for instance, the inhabitants of District Columbia."

—As we see it we should without fail make possible the continuance of the present service given by the Abilene & Southern, in shipping by freight and where at all convenient in riding the motor car. For our convenience and as the railroad people say, to keep our good will the motor car is being continued with a change in schedule.

—Who ever heard of a real, live, progressive, growing, honest-to-goodness town without a railroad? In our opinion Col. Ballinger Guardsmen To Parade Here

The Ballinger National Guard company will leave here on July 2 for Camp Mabry where it will train for two weeks. Camp Mabry is the best army camp in the State, the best drill grounds, barracks, rifle range within 1-4 mile of camp, the largest canteen in the State and close enough to Austin where the men can visit and see the many interesting things every evening if they desire.

New uniforms, including hats, shirts, leggings, breeches and shoes are on their way here to dress the men up for this occasion. The organization and equipment is bigger and better than ever, and is now going into its fourth year. We are looking forward to one of the most delightful, as well as instructive trips, we have ever had.

For these annual encampments the men are paid for their work from the day they leave Ballinger until they return, and in addition they receive all meals, lodging and clothing free of charge, thereby giving a man a two weeks vacation on full pay with all expenses thrown in. Men between the ages of 18 and 45 years are eligible for this service. We carried 35 men to camp last year and we would like to make it 75 this year. Therefore, if you want to render a small service for your country, improve your own physical and mental condition, and at the same time have an enjoyable outing for two weeks, see the Company Clerk in Winters next Thursday night the 18th inst and arrange for an enlistment. The company will be on parade in Winters on said date and the commanding officer will be delighted to explain any feature of the proposition. You can come to Ballinger and enlist, which should be done in order to get as much training as possible before going to camp. We shall be delighted to have several of the young men of Winters and surrounding country with us. Direct all inquiries to the undersigned. —Wm. C. McCarver, Capt. Comdg. Co. C. 142nd Inf., Ballinger Texas.

Nobody Would Do Without the Telephone Now-a-days

—The telephone is one absolute necessity in modern business. It is necessary in modern society. No community can get along without a telephone service.

—So the telephone is a real vital public utility. It is so effected with a public interest that experience has shown that what is best for the community in the way of telephone service is best for the telephone company.

—If the best service possible is not provided the community can not get along as well as it might. If the community does not make such service possible the telephone can not do as well as it deserves to do.

—There is not and can not be any difference at all between the interests of this industry and the interests of the people who depend upon telephone service.

—Whenever difference arises they are due to lack of understanding.

—This company seeks the fullest co-operation of the community to the end that its service may be the best possible service.

Collier Trial Was Expensive for Both State and County

Haskell, Texas.—The trial of Mrs. Frank Collier, held here during the past week, was an expensive one to the state and county. Miss Estelle Tennyson, district clerk, issued more than 55 witness scripts, amounting to slightly more than $600. This included the $1 per day allowed witnesses while attending court, and the remainder represented travel pay. The state allows three cents per mile for witnesses, which is less than the actual fare, and the $1 per day is less than necessary expenses. As a result, all the witnesses for the state and defense were forced to expend money in addition to their fees because of having been summoned as witnesses. The majority of the witnesses who remained in attendance on the court for three or four days complained of the small allowance given. The witnesses from Wichita Falls were allowed $6 travel pay, while the railroad fare was $7.00. The jury alone cost the county of Haskell $180, which does not include the $1 paid to each special venireman who was summoned and who resided outside the city limits of Haskell. Motion Picture of The Collins Tragedy

A complete film of the Floyd Collins tragedy will be at the Mission this Friday, one day. During the eighteen days that the world waited and read the newspaper reports cameramen were working day and night, many times at the risk of life, to get a true and complete moving picture record of the events from the very beginning of the rescue work up to and including the funeral services of the young explorer.

S. S. Classes Make Start to New York

Four classes of the First Methodist church will start on a trip to New York Sunday, figuratively speaking. There classes will enter into a contest, and will be given points or miles for attendance, new members, etc. The progress of these four classes will be announced each Sunday and the actual number of miles to New York must be traveled before the contest closes. This contest is expected to create quite a bit of enthusiasm and will grow to be very interesting, and prove profitable.

Mr. Farris Callan returned home Sunday from Fort Worth and Temple where he and Mrs. Callan visited friends and relatives. Mrs. Callan will remain in Temple for a few days and expects to return in time to open her summer class in piano about June 15.

Mrs. Dr. Jennings and her mother, Mrs. Patterson are visiting in Midland. The porch season is at hand, when you know most everything that is going on at the neighbors. In June Cupid is a sharpshooter.

BILIOUSNESS

Retired Minister Tells How He Keeps in Good Form With the Assistance of Black-Draught.

West Graham, Va.—The Rev. Lewis Evans, a well-known retired minister, now past 80, living here, has a high opinion of Black-Draught, which he says he has taken when needed, for 25 years. "For years I had been suffering with my liver," he says. "Sometimes the pain would be very intense and my back would hurt all the time. Black-Draught was the first thing I found that would give me any relief. "My liver has always been sluggish. Sometimes it gives me a lot of trouble. I have suffered a lot with it—pains in my side and back, and bad headache, caused from extreme biliousness. "After I found Black-Draught, I would begin to take it as soon as I felt a spell coming on and it relieved the cause at once. I can recommend it to anybody suffering from liver trouble. A dose or two now and then keeps me in good form."

Made from selected medicinal roots and herbs, and containing no dangerous mineral drugs, Black-Draught is nature's own remedy for a tired, lazy liver. NC-166

Chevrolet Under Continuous Test

In an unremitting search for possibilities of further improvement, Chevrolet cars are being driven constantly around the four-mile "speed loop" of the General Motors Corporation proving ground near Milford, Mich.

The driving test, which is routine in the Chevrolet policy of continuous effort at refinement, is being made night and day, winter and summer, regardless of weather conditions.

At present seven Chevrolet cars are piling up a total of 75,000 miles monthly. The tireless whirl provides unusual driving strains in the quest of Chevrolet engineers for further opportunities to improve the sturdy chassis under conditions to which the cars ordinarily would not be subject by the average owner. All models are included in the test group.

Two shifts of drivers maintain a space of between 35 and 40 miles per hour, stopping only for gasoline, oil and inspection. The day shift drives from 7:30 p. m. until 5:30 p. m. with a half hour for lunch, while the night shift drives from 7 p. m. until 5:30 a. m. with a midnight lunch period.

The "speed loop" includes three miles of gravel track, banked high at the turns and one mile of level concrete straight-away. There are no speed restrictions. One portion of the road leading from the "speed loop" to the inspection shop has a grade of 11.6 per cent.

Each noon and night the cars are inspected and filled with gasoline and oil. At every 1,000-mile mark the machine are washed, driven into the shop and given a thorough inspection, the results of which are listed in a report form. It is only during these inspections that the cars are under cover. At all other times they are out of doors.

Chevrolet trucks also are under continuous tests, being driven on "Bump Boulevard," an old farm road which crosses the 1,146-acre proving ground. The defects and irregularities of this road purposely have been left intact. The test cars and trucks use about 4,500 gallons of gasoline monthly.

After being driven 40,000 miles or more, each car is taken into the shop and torn down for precision inspection by the engineers. They may find nothing of interest. Possibly the test may reveal an opportunity for some minor refinement. If it does, no detail is too small or insignificant for consideration in the general policy of continuous improvement.

WINTERS

Winters has a proposition from oil and gas people of Cross Cut whereby they can get natural gas for fuel and commercial purposes at about the same prices paid at Abilene. The Winters Enterprise says that the town should fall over itself signing the proper papers to get the gas. Likewise would the Western-Enterprise advise if reliable people would make the same proposition to Anson. — Western-Enterprise (Anson.)

The proposition whereby Winters is to get natural gas has been practically closed up; if indeed, by this time, the deal has not been finally ratified. Natural gas will aid in the growth of Winters greatly. That city is already one of the largest cotton marts in the entire State and with the addition of natural gas, Winters' growth will be nothing short of phenomenal.—Abilene Reporter.

Oscar W. Underwood Makes Address Before Ala., Tax Clubs

Montgomery, Ala., June 12.—Hon. Oscar W. Underwood, addressing a meeting of the Alabama Tax Clubs in session here, declared that the present tax measure carrying a maximum surtax of forty per cent is confiscatory and should be rewritten along the lines of the law of 1916 when the highest bracket of the surtax was thirteen per cent.

"Since the very dawn of civilization, taxes and government have been almost synonymous terms and government did not exist where tribute was not exacted from the governed," Senator Underwood stated. "Long ago the most cruel, grasping and avaricious of rulers had learned that through the power of tax, he held the power to destroy the future productive capacity of his people and that the laying on of undue burdens of taxation inevitably lead to revolution or death.

"There is a school of philosophy extant in America today that would destroy if they could the private ownership of all property and mass it all in the hands of the State. Though the avowed advocates of these political heresies are comparatively few in numbers, their satellites and partial imitators, who deny the faith, but who would destroy those they envy, are approaching numbers that may in the near future jeopardize the life of the State.

"The very dawning of civilized life was the recognition of the home unit, father, wife and children, their sustenance and their protection. The accumulation of sufficient property (food and clothing) to carry on and provide for the future was necessary that the family unit might persist. The destruction of this property by whatever method has always meant the destruction of the home life and the fabric that rests upon it. For untold centuries the ownership or protection of this property, the resultant accumulation of the family effort, has remained with the family and not with the State primarily. The philosophers of the new school would take it away from the family and give it to the State. In a State where there is no Constitutional inhibition, it may be done by direct legislation. Not so with us. It must be borne in mind that although there is a constitutional prohibition in the government of the United States against taking private property without just compensation, there is no limited space on the power of taxation as to amount in the Federal government, and the private ownership of property can be destroyed through the power of tax.

"During the great war, in the higher brackets of the revenue bill, taxes were collected as high as 65 per cent of the revenue derived from the citizens state, and even now, seven years after the conflict is over, our taxes against some men and women are as much as 46 per cent of their entire taxable income. The question naturally arises, is this taxation or it is confiscation? In war time the government may take the life of the citizen and I doubt not his property, if need be, to preserve the life of the Nation, but not so in time of peace. The very fabric of our institution cries out against it. Have we forgotten the immortal tea party in Boston Harbor or the speech of Patrick Henry or the ride of Paul Revere that we should become so callous of other men's rights? Yet, if you would follow the school of the Anarchist, why dally with the situation? The power of tax is just as potent a factor to use in the destruction of private property, as the red flag or the lighted torch.

"I am not prepared yet to say that the men possessing the power of government are conscious of a desire to destroy the property of the rich, but I am willing to say that some of our tax gatherers have become very callous of the rights of those who have amassed great fortunes, overlooking the fact that where you unjustly throw the top stone from the monument of our business life one by one the others will inevitably follow until the very foundation is reached.

"So it is impossible to consider the task of the reduction of taxation with out bearing in mind the motives that may lay behind the cause that produces the levy and to always remember that there are some who first of all desire high taxation that it may destroy private property, then the home life and then the very fabric of our natural existence.

"So much for one angle of the situation that confronts us. Another angle is the answer to the question, does it pay to tax until it destroys or even until it hurts? Let us pause for a minute to adjust our fundamental principles. It is a fundamental canon of taxation that all taxes are paid in the end from the accumulated wealth of the people taxed. Some have said from rent, profit and wages, but in the end all wealth is the accumulation of the asset that grows out of the work of the heads and hands of men and women. So that at the end of the decade or the century the extraordinary burden laid on the body politic must come from the men who toil and the women who reap or there must be a diminution of the accumulated wealth of the country that existed when the burden was laid. The question before us is whether the nation is stronger, safer and more productive with a great store of accumulated wealth or without it. Russia dissipated her wealth for a theory of some years ago. We amassed ours.

Russia has a larger territory, a larger population and greater natural resources than we have. Were you outside both countries and choosing a home, which would you move to?

"The genius of our great development has come through the massing of our dollars or some great enterprise and buying the brains and the labor to put it through. This takes idle money looking for investment and you will not find it at the appointed hour if you tax it to death.

"During the Great War the American people accepted excessive rates of taxation with patience and without complaint, and are entitled to great credit for the sacrifices they made in order that our armies might win in the war. They had the right to believe that after the war was over they could be relieved in large part from the excessive burdens they had borne without complaint.

"Many of the war tax burdens have been repealed by the Congress including the so-called excess profits tax and the small taxes on transfers, sales and the like that produces more annoyance than they did revenue. The general trend of tax legislation has been downward but nevertheless the burden resting on the larger accumulation of capital has remained in the confiscatory class. The problem we have to solve is whether it is wise from the standpoint of the whole people to allow the conditions to continue. What I have just said applies to the inheritance tax as well as to the income tax."

A LETTER FROM CALIF.

Upland, Calif., June 4, 1925.—
Enterprise and friends: Four-thirty sitting at the foot of Mt. Baldy. Can you imagine this, sitting on the front porch of our little cottage, roses on the left, carnations and shasta daisies on the right, and in the view of the mountains just across the canyon or valley, there has been a big snow this afternoon. The sun is now shining and the atmosphere is perfectly clear. It is a wonderful view and all more because Mr. Eason and I drove into the mountains this morning, returning at 3 o'clock. We drove as far as Camp Baldy, and a mile further to "Ice House Camp," well of course we drove on, up and up and stopped at the camp. Such a wonderful mountain camp in San Antonio canyon, a clear stream rippling through. We were served with sandwiches and hot coffee, in the big room with a huge fire place. The rafters were big pine logs, the mantle was a pine sawed half. On the walls, limbs of pines on which was growing green moss was the decoration scheme. The thermometer registered 42. On the return trip, which covered only 14 miles, we were caught in a heavy rain storm, at least they call it rain storms out here, as we passed on the road where the convicts were at work two tried to swing onto the car, but Mr. Eason stepped on the gas. Of course they only wanted to ride into camp out of the rain, but you never can tell, so safety first. We drove on and enjoyed the mountain scenery. So many different trees along the route from beautiful Euclid Blvd. of which I have already written to the stately pines, firs, elms, cotton wood and some that I don't know about. Drenched with rain, they were fresh and fragrant, and we were both in a mood to let the Studebaker, glide slowly on the return trip, amid such wonderful surroundings.

Coming out into the valley we found a heavy rain had fallen making the orange and lemon groves much fresher.

Why should we not wish to linger in California in such surroundings? As I look back over the years of toil and worry, perhaps I might have been more patient had I known they would have brought us to this and knowing that its only for a short time that we will have to enjoy our vacation, the time speeds swiftly. After the rest and inspiration, I wish that somewhere, we might find a place to begin anew to labor, to help build to love and to cherish the highest ideals of life.

Perhaps if we are counted worthy our lives will be directed into that channel where we may accomplish some good.

But enough of this at this time. So far no Shriner has halted his caravan at our door. We had a glimpse Saturday and Sunday of the gorgeous decorations in the city, and especially on Broadway. The Shriners arrived and then to the chagrin of the natives it rained and rained. Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio are the only Texas cities so far that have pulled stunts to attract attention. A San Antonio Shriner went fishing on Broadway got his picture in the papers. Two from Ft. Worth donned bathing suits and paraded during the rain in the heart of the city.

At the Biltmore, La's. leading hotel during the rain Wednesday, the Shriners emptied 500 feather pillows on the streets, so you see they pulled a few stunts.

Yesterday they invaded this section in cars. Am sure its a great relief to hear the weather cleared up before the convention adjourned.

We are now at Upland, only three miles north of Ontario, drive right up Euclid and out E. 10 St., 1174, hope we will be at home. Am sure we will if you drop us a card.

Congratulations to Winters on her prospects for gas.

Sincerely.—Mrs. Eason.

Ballinger Man Killed During Hale Storm

Ballinger, Texas, June 10.—John Campbell, gravel hauler, was killed by lightning late yesterday. The casualty occurred during a terrific hail rain and electric storm and just after Campbell had left the gravel pit one mile west of Ballinger.

Telephone poles and trees were broken in and near town but no damage is expected to crops as the storm was confined to the section immediately surrounding Ballinger. About two inches of rain fell in one hour and the streets were flooded to the sidewalks.

It was generally reported in Winters that Mr. Campbell died from heart trouble, caused by undue excitement during the electric storm which was raging when his death occurred.
