Baptist Revival Starts Here Sunday

Winters Wins County Meet 78 Points; Ballinger Second 70

Meeting to Start With Easter Service And Continue Two Weeks; Rev. T. L. Holcomb, Sherman Minister. Charge

The attention of readers of this paper is directed to a full page advertisement elsewhere in this issue announcing the starting of the revival meeting at the First Baptist church of this city next (Easter) Sunday morning with the 11 o'clock service. The pastor, Rev. H. H. Stephens, who has just returned from the State Sunday School convention, will occupy the pulpit at both the morning and evening hours, while the announcement is made that Rev. T. L. Holcomb, pastor of the First Baptist church of Sherman, Texas, who is to conduct the meeting, will arrive for the service Monday morning at 10 a. m. Pastor Holcomb is widely known among Baptists of the state, and the people of the county should not fail to take advantage of this opportunity to hear him.

The singing will be directed by Joe Trussell, director of music at Howard Payne college, Brownwood, and will be assisted by a 10-piece orchestra. The announcement is made that Mr. Trussell's gospel solo messages will be a feature of each service.

The meeting is to continue for two weeks, with two services daily, 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend each service; Baptists are expected.

Comedy Play At New Auditorium

The Flapper Grandmother, a musical comedy with a cast of over 50, will be presented at the new high school auditorium Friday night, April 15. There will be choruses of flappers, jelly beans, matrons, rag dolls and door knobs.

The Literary and Service club has been working hard on this proposition and are bringing to Winters one of the best musical comedies ever staged in the South. We are fortunate in securing the services of Miss Mary Ella Jurney of Wayne P. Sewell Lyceum Production company of Atlanta, Ga.

This play made people laugh who hadn't laughed for years.

The flapper chorus girls are one of the big hits of the show in their snappy songs and dances and beautiful costumes.

The jelly beans "use some clever schemes in making love to the flapper grandmother. Come and see Winters' jelly beans.

See Miss Wilson as Lena Spriggins, the wild child. Now Lena was so wild and saying so is putting it mild, see her wreck a new car, and break bashful Bobbie's heart.

See Mrs. J. E. Childers as Belindy Spriggins. Belindy becomes ducedly clever while in "Parree" so gay, but before she went her limbs were so bent she had very little to say.

See Mr. Garrett as Andrew Spriggins. Andrew did not fly high, no automobile would he buy, by Matt, his wife, created strife and made (the hot place) of his life.

Specialties between acts. All the characters are good and you'll enjoy every minute of this clever musical comedy.

Tickets may be purchased at the City Drug company, or from any member of the Literary and Service club.

LIONS CLUB COMMITTEE
The committee appointed at the last meeting of the local Lions club luncheon to prepare the program for Tuesday's meeting is composed of H. W. Lynn, chairman; Bert E. Lowe and John Q. McAdams.

Initial Sermon Will Be Delivered By Student Pastor

We are requested to announce that J. C. Wood, teacher in the Winters Public schools, will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the Queen theatre.

Mr. Wood is a young man who is preparing himself for the ministry and will be ordained by this church in the near future and as this is his initial appearance in the pulpit everyone is cordially invited to come out and hear him while all members of the church are expected.

Real Talent Is Displayed At Local Attraction

Last Tuesday evening when the curtain rolled up on the first act of "Kempy," staged by the local Little Theatre group, practically all the seats were taken in the spacious new high school auditorium, despite the threatening weather.

Besides having an opportunity of going through the new high school building those attending were agreeably surprised by the high class entertainment furnished, for despite the fact that the lines of the play were not calculated to win the approval of the average audience, the good acting of the players held the attention of the large audience throughout the entire performance. Every player said his or her lines well, C. R. Robertson and Coach Smith drawing quite a bit of applause when they returned home late at night "stewed", but especially good were Carl Henslee and John Norman, while Misses Modestine, Wilson and Mrs. H. O. Jones drew much favorable comment.

The orchestra under the direction of E. M. Sheppard was an especially enjoyable feature, as was also two solos by Marie Hill and three quartet numbers by Messrs. R. E. Bacon, Clarence Gambill, David Bruton and Fred Bedford.

Quite a tidy sum of money was cleared which will be used in paying for equipment for the new school auditorium.

C. S. Jackson Buys Lankford Bakery

C. S. Jackson bought Landford's bakery, taking charge the first of this week. Mr. Jackson is an excellent business man and Winters people are pleased at his re-entry into the business circles of the city. He at one time was a member of the Jackson & Holcomb drug firm which was sold to Floyd Smith some months ago. Mr. Jackson says it will be his constant aim to produce only quality products, clean and wholesome and the patronage of the public is solicited upon this basis. Mr. Nordyke will remain with the institution as head baker.

Mrs. Lankford will join her husband in San Angelo where they have developed one of the best bakeries in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Sims C. Saylor of Snyder made a short visit with relatives here last Sunday.

Band Members To Go To Wichita Falls Meeting

Only four more weeks until the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention and the time for the State Band Contest, and many of our people are planning to attend the annual affair yet complete arrangements for carrying the band have not been made.

Mr. Sheppard would like to know immediately how many people from Winters plan to go to Wichita Falls May 16 and 17, and how many would be willing to take a few band members. There are just 55 of them and some one has to make an effort if they are all taken up there. Any person who is planning to go at that date will be doing the band a great favor if you will tell E. M. Sheppard or C. R. Robertson how many you can carry. It does not matter whether you can carry more than one or two, that will be a great help. Went you please communicate with one of those men in the next few days. Plans are to rent a large tourist park for the two days and keep as many as do not have relatives and friends in the city.

Please attend to this matter at once and make your plans to attend the biggest regional meeting of its kind in the United States. On to Wichita Falls.

Many Lives Lost Rocksprings Disaster Tuesday

Rocksprings was the scene of indescribable horror following a tornado which swept the quiet mountain town Tuesday night taking a toll of 62 lives and injuring more than 150, many of whom are likely to be fatal.

For many hours after the storm no direct communication could be established with the stricken area, until a telephone operator drove a mile and a half in the rain with a line man to the nearest unbroken point on the line.

Cavalry men from Fort Clark, airplanes from Kelly field, Red Cross nurses and volunteers were pouring in from all directions long before the extent of the catastrophe was known.

Among the list of dead are Mrs. Sallie Willis and son, Emory, sister-in-law of A. W. Jordan, Clara Willis, daughter of Emory Willis, is missing and relatives here are unable to learn of her whereabouts. Mrs. A. W. Jordan and son left Thursday to attend the funeral which will be held at Brookhaven in Bell county.

No Fishing City Lake This Year

There will be no fishing in City Lake this season. The general public is also warned to not loiter or lounge around City Lake or its premises at any time. No camping on City Lake property. All parties found on these premises after dark will be fined. Now this is meant for the good of everybody. This water, as we all know, is for human consumption and we cannot be too cautious. Our city officers are watching this, so be careful.

By order of Mayor and City Council, City of Winters, Texas. Fred Tinkle, city health officer.

P. S. Parents, watch your children when in town, especially on busy days. We all agree that it is best to be careful and prevent accidents rather than let one happen and then try and repair same. It is bad to be crippled for life and of course it is worse when the accident is fatal. Then there is no time for repair. It is too late.

To the business men of Winters: Hot weather and fly time is coming on. Please be as careful as you can with the refuse from the stores, hotels, restaurants, etc., and get same out to dump ground as soon as possible. We urgently request all of our people, when you hear of typhoid fever or any of the contagious diseases, report same to some one of our physicians so that immediate steps may be taken to check or prevent spreading. All of the doctors in Winters are always ready to cooperate when it comes to preventative medicine and better sanitation.

Lets make Winters the cleanest and healthiest little city in Texas.

Very respectfully,
FRED TINKLE.

Educational Ads Started by Banks On Service Charge

At a recent meeting of the bankers of Rannels county held in this city, it was decided to run in the Winters Enterprise and the Ballinger Ledger a series of 13 ads dealing with the "Service Charge" question, and if the campaign bears the desired fruit, they believe the necessity of inaugurating a service charge may be eliminated. If not, the charge will probably be placed upon all accounts which are unprofitable to the bank.

We are sure you would like to learn the banker's side of this question and we believe the advertisements referred to will prove interesting reading. Elsewhere in this issue will be found the first of this series. Read them each week.

Shipment Black Bass to Stock Streams Here

Dr. Fred Tinkle has been notified that he will, in the near future, receive a large shipment of black bass from the U. S. Fish hatchery. He made application for this shipment some time ago and when it arrives a part of the first will be put in Bluff Creek at the Country club while the remainder will go in Elm Creek at the doctor's farm.

Contestants In Interscholastic Events Forge Ahead of Rivals By Slight Edge ---Miles Wins Class B Championship

The results of the County Track meet were entirely satisfactory to the citizens of Winters who have followed the achievements of the local students for the past three years. Three years ago the authorities put up three loving cups for Class A schools, one cup in each of the debates and a cup for the All Round championship. During that time the cups have been the property of the Winters schools. This year the competition was stronger than ever before and only a small margin existed when the final count of points was made. In the track meet the mile relay was the deciding factor and Brevard Bedford made sure that Winters would win by giving Singleton an enormous lead which was held for the remainder of the race.

Winters Assured Natural Gas In Near Future

A great deal of interest is being attached to the natural gas situation in Winters. In the past week representatives of four companies have visited the town with the idea of securing a franchise. Most of the companies have an exceptional rating and seem anxious to get into Winters but so far the mayor and city council have made no further grants, inasmuch as the present owners of the franchise are making plans to begin laying their pipe.

In a conversation with Mayor Roberts a few days ago Barney Carter said that the pipe had been purchased from the Continental Supply company of St. Louis, and that work would begin in the near future. In case the Carter-Boyd interests should default in their agreement there is little doubt that Winters could secure natural gas from many other sources. Reports have been circulated to the effect that the owners of the franchise were not in a position financially to put the proposition through but that rumor has been proven entirely false as well as the rumor that the option on the Morris Gas wells had lapsed.

Urge Use Tinkle Recreation Park

Notice given last week to non-members of the Country club that cards would be asked for from those using the grounds, etc., and that those who were not entitled to the privileges of the club would be asked to stay out, calls to mind the fact that Winters has one of the best little parks in this section and that those who cannot become members of the Country club should feel perfectly free to use the park for parties, picnics, etc., at any time. In talking with Dr. Tinkle, who donated this park to the use of the citizenship of Winters, the Doctor stated that he would be glad to see it used more freely by the people as a place of entertainment, both by the grown-ups and children.

Business Men Pay Fine for Stranger

A collection was taken up last week to pay the fine of a stranger who was arrested here last week for violating traffic regulations by leaving his engine idling while he left his car and went into a drug store. Those donating money to pay the fine were: Rev. Hal F. Smith, Miss Laura Kittrel, B. F. Huntsman, R. E. Bacon, J. M. Johnson, Carl Henslee, Faris Callan, H. W. Robertson, W. F. Hartzog, G. C. Davis, W. M. Hope, Harold Norman, Carl Davis, O. C. Davis and G. C. Hill.

From the standpoint of the number of schools entering the various contests the meet was very successful as more rural schools entered than ever before. The rural championship cup changed hands and became the property of Mazeland for one year. The class B championship cup became the permanent property of Miles, while Winters won the Class A championship cup and both debate cups permanently. Three new cups were entered in spelling by J. M. Skaggs Dry Goods company, Nance-Brown Motor company and the West Texas Utilities company and were won by Ballinger, Miles and Winters respectively.

The following is a complete list of the winners of the various schools in the county:

- Girls volley ball: Miles, first; Ballinger, second.

It Can't Be Done

YOU CAN'T STOP A HAIL STORM

On top of crop disappointments of last year we are now wondering what the 1927 harvest will be.

Sprinklings of hail storms over the country remind us that the Winters section is not immune from disasters of this kind.

The most successful men of the country hedge against such losses. Then why should anyone take a chance on a lean year for the relatively small sum that it takes to buy hail insurance.

WHAT WILL YOU DO ABOUT IT?

EASTER

Next Sunday, April 17, commemorates the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

It typifies the transition from the old into the new—from the mortal to the immortal.

It is an occasion therefore of feasting, of budding of spring, the glorification of new and more beautiful life.

It is a day of rejoicing that a Redeemer who died for the salvation of the world has arisen to bid welcome to new hopes, new ambitions, new resolves, and to a better and more consecrated people.

The Easter season is one of glad acclaim, but is sanctified by all of the sacred traditions of a faultless life, and by the promises of a Divine word. It must be so celebrated.

Faith in the risen Christ has withstood the fiercest assaults through a score of centuries, and is today stronger than ever before. The gentle Jew, born in the lowly manger of Bethlehem, this kindly philosopher of the valleys and plains of Judea, this minister of love and service, crucified on Calvary's cross and buried in a borrowed tomb—this risen Christ, before whom millions bow today in humble adoration—lives in the hearts of mankind.

The world knows no finer, gentler more helpful occasion than its annually recurring Easter celebration. It is an event that has been celebrated in some manner by many people of all ages.

More people think of religion and larger congregations attend church on Easter Sunday than on any other. Prepare to start Easter Sunday right by going to church. The glad hand of welcome will greet you at any of the Winters churches Sunday.

SUMMER FURS

More than 100,000,000 rabbit skins are now being annually used in this country. Most of them are made up into sealskin coats to keep our loved ones warm during the trying days of July and August.

R. F. D. BENEFITS

Our system of rural free mail delivery was recently lauded by a prominent farm federation worker who spoke of the benefits the system has conferred.

Few people realize that one of the greatest steps in the progress of rural districts has been the rural free delivery and that it has brought immeasurable advantages to the farm home. Once isolated localities are now in constant touch with all local and national affairs and daily contact is provided through the medium of the mails.

Rural free delivery has now come to be one of the indispensable things of farm life. Certainly it is valuable in that it provides a bit of variety and diversion.

PINE PLACE TO LIVE

Winters wants people to come here to live. Winters not only wants people but the right kind of people. We would not, for instance, want the crowd that is now congregating at Wispah, Nevada, or Berger, Texas. We do not want speculators and fly-by-nights who are here today and gone tomorrow. We want people who will come here to make homes, and who will invest their money here and who will take root and become part of us and help by their presence and efforts to make Winters a still better and more attractive town.

PITY MAN ON CORNER

The spring of the year always adds a few gray hairs to the head of the man who lives in a corner house. Particularly so if he prides himself in his home surroundings. With the frost coming out of the ground it does not take many pairs of feet to make a pathway that might remain an eyesore during the whole summer. Corner cutters can perform a kindly act every day by just walking a few steps farther. Let's show our neighborliness and good citizenship this year by sticking to the sidewalks. We've got to pay for them anyhow.

Colleen Sparkles As London Dancer

Colleen Moore has a new type of role and a new, fascinating personality in her latest starring vehicle, "Twinkletoes," coming to the Queen theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

Colleen is minus her Dutch bob, with a mass of golden curls instead—against a background of London's Limehouse!

The story, which was adapted from Thomas Burke's famous book, was directed by Charles Brabin. It deals with the love of the little heroine, "Twink" Minasi, and Chuck, a pugilist—a delicate bit of sweetness and ideal romance in the midst of the sinister London slums.

"Twinkletoes" is seeking to emulate the fame of her dead mother as a dancer, and her struggle is bringing the forces of Limehouse in a somber cloud about her ready to crush the one bright, happy and innocent creature in its dingy hive.

To aid her father—whom she believes perfect—adds burglary to his profession of sign painting. Her love affair brings upon her head the jealousy and hate of a dangerous Limehouse woman, while her innocent sweetness attracts Roseleaf, the chorus manager. How the various forces clash and which one wins is interestingly unfolded.

The picture is interspersed with comedy as well as tense suspense and drama.

There are indications that the radio public is to have a run for its money under the new Federal commission.

Every politician knows its better to look over something than to overlook it.

At present missionaries in China are not able even to "report progress."

What a Rexall One Cent Sale Is

It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Klenzo Dental Creme is 50c, you buy a tube at this price and by paying one cent more, or 51c, you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at the regular price. This sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full sized package of high standard merchandise for one cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profit is justified, knowing the goods will please you.

Sunday School Class Enjoys Social Hour

Mrs. Hal P. Smith was hostess to the members and invited guests of the Friendly class on April 4, when they met in their regular monthly business and social meeting.

The meeting was opened by the song "Others" followed by responsive reading and prayer by Mrs. Gannaway.

During a short business session it was decided to send a box of useful things to a needy family where the father has been ill for some time.

A special feature during the social hour was the exchange of gifts from the class "Pals" and revealing of the "Pals".

A surprise shower of love gifts was given to their teacher, Mrs. Smith and names were drawn for new "Pals" for the next month.

In an interesting Bible contest the winners were presented a prize carrying out class colors, blue and white. The meeting was closed with the "Mizpah".

Refreshments of lemonade, cake and congealed salad were served to the members, Mesdames W. H. Clift, J. A. Davidson, Jno. Dry, W. R. Gannaway, R. L. Labenske, C. T. Rives, Jno. Swatschue, R. T. Thornton, V. Vanzandt, L. F. Wilson and Miss Haynes and the guests, Miss Mollie Waskey and Mrs. Kate Vancil.

Mrs. Faris Callan returned home the latter part of the past week from Temple, where she had been under the treatment of a specialist.

Sister of Mrs. J. M. Skaggs Passes Away

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Skaggs were called to Lampasas last Thursday by the serious illness of Mrs. Mary E. Martin, who passed away Sunday.

Mrs. Martin was a sister of Mrs. Skaggs and had visited here a number of times and on each visit she won new friends by her kind and sweet manner of greeting each one. Her going leaves a sad vacancy in the hearts of many friends here and wherever she was known, for to know her was to love her.

The following account is taken from the Lampasas exchange:

The death of Mrs. Mary E. Martin occurred at her home here Sunday morning, April 10, at 5.20 o'clock, after an illness extending over several weeks. She had been in bad health for the past two or three years and underwent an operation three years ago in Fort Worth and had never regained her health. Last November, Mrs. Martin went to Fort Worth to visit her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Escaville, and while there was taken seriously ill and brought home Wednesday, April 16. It was her desire to be brought home where she would be near her friends and the church she dearly loved, and pass away in the same room her husband passed away in, February 1901.

Mrs. Martin was born November 25, 1860, and when a small child went to the Senterfitt ranch near Lometa to make her home. The Senterfitt community was named in honor of the family. She was married February 6, 1878 to J. W. Martin, and had lived in Lampasas over 35 years, where her friends were numbered by her acquaintances. She united with the Baptist church early in life and lived a true Christian life, always trying to do something for her neighbors and friends in time of need or sorrow. She led an active church life, loved her church and worked constantly for it. There was not a woman in Lampasas who did more for the sick or afflicted than Mrs. Martin and she was always ready to go where there was an opportunity to assist either with words or a smile and helpful work. Mrs. Martin will be greatly missed, not only by her family, but by her church and a host of friends in Lampasas.

She passed away as she lived, in a quiet, easy manner and has gone to her reward in a world not mid by human hands.

The deceased was the mother of three children, two of whom survive her, R. S. Martin of Smackover, Ark., and Mrs. W. L. Escaville of Fort Worth. She is also survived by one brother and five sisters, R. F. Senterfitt of Lampasas, Mrs. P. C. Jackson of Lometa, Mrs. Mae Singletary of Lampasas, Mrs. A. L. Higdon of Lampasas, Mrs. J. M. Skaggs of Winters and Mrs. Kate Townsen of Phoenix, who was unable to come. P. C. Jackson of Lometa and W. L. Escaville and Misses Elizabeth Escaville and Kathryn Martin of Fort Worth, and J. M. Skaggs of Winters were also here.

The remains were taken to the Baptist church and funeral services conducted Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock by her pastor, Rev. W. A. Corkern, and interment made in Oak Hill cemetery. The active pall bearers were W. B. McGee, J. H. Andrew, J. H. Abney, Lee Clark, Dr. J. E. Willerson, J. N. Howard. Honorary pall bearers were J. F. White, C. D. Stokes, W. B. Abney, J. E. Morgan, A. P. Anderson, L. R. Sparks, H. V. Campbell, W. J. Fox, W. H. Browning, Jerome J. Byrne and W. G. Gabel.

Honoring the memory of the deceased and through respect to the family which is one of the oldest in Lampasas, the business houses of Lampasas closed Monday afternoon during the funeral services.

THE RESURRECTION OF JESUS

"Consider the lilies, how they grow." This vast field of Easter lilies was under cultivation in Germany where some of the world's finest lilies are grown. They will add to the Easter atmosphere in hundreds of churches on Easter Sunday.

The resurrection—Easter is a triumph of faith.

The disciples, who had seen Jesus in the agony of the crucifixion, now found their souls filled with a new zeal and fire, rallied to a new conviction by the fact of the resurrection.

To Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of James was given the honor of bearing the news from the angel's lips: "He is risen!"

Bearing the News

On the way to tell the disciples of the glad news, the two women beheld Jesus. He told them to summon his disciples to Galilee and "there they shall see Me."

Faith for many must have tottered at the Crucifixion. What a glorious rebirth in the Christian soul the first Easter Sunday must have brought!

All the great writers agree on the fact that Christ was seen by his disciples after his death on the cross. The historic fact of the resurrection is clear. The real proof of the rising from the dead is to be found, however, in the soul itself. It is for the Christian world to accept these things today on the basis of faith, as other miracles are accepted.

The Easter Spirit

The spirit of the Christian world must be that of the two women who bore the news to Christ's brethren. Piously and expectantly they approached the tomb. The angel's words were like a strong shock to them, but a joyful thrill, too, and they hurried to tell the others of the wonderful experience.

Throughout the uttermost parts of the earth the message is carried today, the message the angel gave to the two Marys—"He is not here, for He is risen!" and "Go quickly and tell His disciples."

The disciples still live in the world's Galilees where they see on this day the risen Christ.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 17: The Resurrection of the Lord Jesus.—Text: Matt. 28:1-10.

In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary, to see the sepulchre.

And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from Heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow: And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men. And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

He is not here; for he is risen, as he said. Come see the place where the Lord lay.

And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: Lo I have told you.

And they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with fear and great joy, and did run to bring his disciples word.

And as they went to tell his disciples, behold Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and held him by the feet, and worshiped him.

Then said Jesus unto him, Be not afraid; go tell my brethren, that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

Bronte, Robert Lee Damaged By Twister Tuesday

While an appalling tornado swept Rock Springs, 100 miles southwest of Winters, portions of West Texas were struck by wind storms causing much damage to property. Heavy rains fell in Runnels county and reports from farms and ranches stated that many barns and in some instances homes were blown from their foundations and trees were uprooted, but no one was injured.

Bronte and Robert Lee in Coke county, west of here, suffered heavy property damage early Wednesday morning in a freak windstorm that took no lives and injured only two persons. A school teacher at the Union school, a community two miles north of Bronte, suffered minor bruises and scratches about the face when the home of H. M. Robertson was destroyed. His Ford, farm implements and other property were twisted and scattered.

In Robert Lee, an elderly woman, living by herself, was found in the brush, suffering from hail, cold and wind. She was alone in her home and sick when the wind demolished the Home Motor company building was blown out.

Four of the five churches in Robert Lee were completely destroyed and new buildings will have to be erected in each instance. The telephone and post office buildings were also destroyed.

The family of A. W. Truett, editor of the Robert Lee Observer, barely escaped death when the top of the First Methodist church, picked up by the wind, was slammed down on the Truett home. The roof of this house was crushed and the bedsteads were all that saved the newspaper man's family from being killed. Mr. Truett carried his wife and children from the debris.

The West Texas Telephone company reported about 15 or 20 rural lines out and about 40 local lines out of order. About four miles north of Ballinger half a mile of poles were badly twisted and poles were splintered.

The many friends of Miss Carrie Bell Barton will be pleased to learn that she has finished her course at Tyler Commercial college and has accepted a position with the DuBose Abstract company at Palestine. Carrie Bell made a good record while attending school and the employment department of the school are very high in their praise of her ability.

The many friends of Emmett Huntsman will be glad to know that he is getting along nicely following his second operation. Mr. Huntsman has been in the Marine hospital at New Orleans for the past several weeks and it is thought he will be confined to his bed for several weeks more, although news from his bedside Wednesday was rather encouraging.

Messrs. P. A. Cromer and R. E. Bacon are in Fort Worth this week, the former on business while the latter is attending the Lumberman's convention now in session in that place.

Mesdames D. R. Smith and W. F. Smith of Ballinger and Mesdames Harris Mullins and Hart Phillips were visitors in Abilene Tuesday.

A. E. Nobles of Temple was transacting business in the city the first of the week.

Messrs. Earl Edwards and C. Korney were in Dallas last week where they attended the convention of the Texas State Ginners' association.

The Church The Rock of Ages

All the evidence of Centuries support the Church.

All the men and women of these centuries whose names we revere, have supported the Church.

All of the effort of all the influences to the contrary have not destroyed the Church.

No man nor woman who will be honest with themselves, who will obey their innermost conscience, will deny the Church.

The Church should not have to seek you—rather you should seek the Church. The Church has far more to give you than you possibly can give to it.

The Anchor of Civilization THE CHURCH

Give this though serious consideration. For over Nineteen Centuries the one thing that has endured is the Church.

Dynastys, nations, governments, have come and gone, but the church has endured. The thinking men and women, the keenest minds of every age, have acknowledged the Church.

The weight of evidence supports the Church.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
PAULINE MALLINGATE has been strangely absent from her home in London for 18 months. Her mother and sister, Lorna, have communicated with her through a forwarding address in Paris.

HENRY EMERSON, wealthy stepfather of the two girls, has now vanished mysteriously from a summer resort where he was staying with Lorna and her mother.

DR. JULIAN EMERSON, claiming to be related to the missing man, persuades Lorna and her mother to leave the resort with him, after telling Lorna that her stepfather had no right to marry her mother. Lorna, however, has told her mother that her husband was taken to London because of a sudden illness. Dr. Emerson has broken faith with the two women by taking them to a strange house in the country instead of to London as agreed. They are being held virtually prisoners in a strange country house near the metropolis.

GERALD CRAVEN, Lorna's lover, has joined forces with Mrs. Bertha Northwood, a mutual friend, in attempting to find some trace of the missing family.

Through revelations made to her by ELLEN STOREY, a maid at "The Moat," situated not far from the Northwood country house, they have become convinced that Mrs. Creswold, mistress of that place, is Pauline Mallingate. Ellen has told them that Mrs. Creswold went to a nearby village to send a telegram. They have hurried to the place and found pencil impressions of the wire left on the pad. Mrs. Northwood has handed the top sheet to Gerald, who has carefully pocketed it.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
And then Mrs. Northwood wrote a telegram to her dressmaker.

"Please see that the operator sends this early in the morning, won't you?" she said, "I suppose she is not kept very busy?"

"It all depends," the man answered. "Sometimes there's quite a lot of telegrams; but today there hasn't been but two; one first thing this morning, sent by Dr. Barlow, and one sent by a lady this afternoon. I did hear as she lives at The Moat. She's been in here once or twice buying stamps and sending telegrams."

As they got in the car and drove homeward, Gerald Craven scanned the telegraph form eagerly.

"Wait until we get back," Mrs. Northwood advised. "You cannot see very clearly."

"I think I can make out something if you pull up for a minute or two."

He scrutinized the paper very carefully, and then he looked up and his face was full of eagerness.

"I can make out some of the initials, and the name of the street. You look; see what you can make of it."

Mrs. Northwood scanned the form

"I know you won't be cross with me if I tell you I want to go back to London right away."

very carefully.

"Some of the words are quite clear," she said, "and others are missing, but I think I can make out the address. Yes, its 'Carter,' then comes '2F,' wait a bit Jerry, I think its 'Burleigh' the next word. Look here my dear, Mrs. Northwood added quickly, 'let's go home, and then we can study it more carefully. You had better let me drive—you are in such a state of nerves I think we shall have an accident; besides I know the way better.'"

It seemed an eternity to Gerald Craven before they reached the house again, and he was white faced and trembling when they were once more in Mrs. Northwood's room.

The evening was closing in, and so she lit the electric lamp on the writing table and then sat down to study the from.

She held it up against the light, but that was not very helpful, since there was no pencil, only the mark made by the pencil.

"It is 'Carter' certainly," she said. "And '2F' but 'Burleigh' is not so clear. And then I make out 'Mansions,' and underneath it looks like 'Old Kent road.' You look Jerry."

Craven obeyed, and then he said, "Yes I think you are right. Well, that's something to go on. Can you make out what the message is?"

"The first word is 'Please.' The next two or three words are not very legible. Then comes a name—is that a 'P'?"

"I think so," said Craven. "And I think that's an 'x,' and then I believe it is 'ton.' Might be 'Paxton.' Now—this is very clear, something's wrong with wire." Then there's something missing here, and then 'tell him he must come down tomorrow.' That's clear, isn't it?"

"Very clear," said Craven. "I make out those words 'am much worried,' and that word is clear enough signed 'Pauline.'"

Mrs. Northwood sat back in her chair and looked at Craven.

"Well now, what do you suggest?" Lorna's lover looked at her and he smiled.

"I know you won't be cross with me if I tell you I want to go back to London right away."

"I'm not cross with you of course not, my dear," Bertha Northwood said, "but I would like you to have some rest, and you must have some food."

Gerald Craven laughed. "Rest?" he said. "Why, I feel strung up to do anything."

After leaving Julian Emerson in the garden, Lorna went upstairs.

She found her mother awake and fairly cheerful. She told Lorna that she had had a delicious cup of tea and that she felt so refreshed.

The girl sat beside her and fondled her hand, and Mrs. Emerson bent forward and kissed her daughter.

"You know, Lorna," she said, "I really must get up, but the funny part of it is that though I am no longer sleepy, I feel so tired, so weak."

"It is the shock darling," Lorna said. "You know you have had a great shock."

Mrs. Emerson's lips trembled and tears started to her eyes.

"Yes, I have had a terrible shock. Though I know Henry did it for the best, I must confess I do feel, as I have already said to you, darling, that he really ought to have spoken to me before he went away so suddenly! It was very strange, wasn't it?"

She began to cry now, and Lorna had great difficulty in consoling her, and bringing her back to a more cheerful frame of mind.

She hit on the idea of suggesting that her mother should write a letter to her husband, and this at once encouraged Mrs. Emerson to put aside her anxiety.

"Of course, he will be expecting a letter from me," she said. "Give me a pencil, and I suppose you can find some writing paper. Where are we, Lorna? This seems a very nice house, but I don't know whether we ought to have come here, my dear. Don't you think—I mean, wouldn't it have been better if we had gone to London, and been somewhere near Henry?"

"Well, you see, darling, we are working in with stepfather's wishes. He wants us to do everything that Dr. Emerson considers best for us, and as he is"—Lorna caught her breath a little sharply here—"as he is stepfather's nephew."

"Henry's nephew!" repeated Mrs. Emerson, and her pretty eyes opened a little widely. She was silent awhile, and then she said: "I—I did—"

The Age of Electricity is Here

Electrical appliances are here to assist you in your household duties, whether it be cooking, cleaning, washing, ironing or heating. Electrical irons, percolators, toasters, tablestoves and grills, waffle moulds, curling irons, warming pads, vacuum cleaners and numerous other indispensable electrical servants are far superior to the old time methods, in efficiency, dependability, convenience and economy, as is the electric light to the old time kerosene lamp.

Thomas A. Edison has said that electricity is life. Thousands are now being relieved of their physical ills by electricity. The Alpine Sun Lamp, Violet Ray, or Quartz light is universally used in the treatment of tuberculosis, rickets, chronic leg ulcers, eczema and numerous other diseases.

The West Texas Utilities company will be only too glad to tell you of the many conveniences that electrical servants afford.

n't know that Henry had any relatives left. I am quite sure when we were talking together only a little while ago he was saying how wonderful it was to have you—a young creature—now belonging to him, because all his life he had been so lonely! And then I said to him, Lorna—Mrs. Emerson was sitting up in bed now, and she was speaking quite excitedly—"and I said to him, Lorna, what I often thought when he was lodging with us—that it was a strange thing that he had never married."

Lorna sat down and took her mother's delicate hand in hers; it was trembling and very hot.
"Now don't get excited, darling heart."

But Mrs. Emerson shook her head. "I am not excited, Lorna. I am going to tell you something Henry said to me soon after I was his wife. He said years ago that he did marry! And then he said: 'I am not going to talk about those old days to you, Mary, because I want to forget everything that was very sad and troubled; only realize, my dear, that my marriage was a great mistake, and believe that I never knew how wonderful, how happy a man could be until I met you and made you my wife!'"
Lorna was now trembling herself and the hand that held her mother's shook a little.

The mother looked then at her girl and some anxiety came into her expression.

"Lorna," she said, "I am afraid you are worrying too much—you look so pale, my darling, and your eyes have such dark marks around them! Won't you go and rest a little while. I have plenty of books to read, and it will take me some little time to write to Henry, because my hand is so shaky. I am quite all right, Lorna dear! $110,000 New High School Building Completed

About three years ago those who were responsible for the management of the public schools realized that they were fast reaching a crowded condition, even though an eight room class building had been completed only two years before.

With the opening of school in the fall of 1924 the rooms were filled to capacity and it was fully realized that as the enrollment increased during the year that relief must be had. The matter was studied seriously by the board of trustees. It was not considered an opportune time to ask the people for a bond issue just then and furthermore relief had to be had before a building program could be carried out. Accordingly a four-room temporary structure was erected. This gave relief from the crowded condition but little or no opportunity for enlarging the high school curriculum.

All the while those charged with the conduct of school affairs were studying conditions and awaiting what seemed the proper time.

As we launched into the school year of 1925-26 we were again badly crowded, with about 150 little tots housed in the wooden structure referred to above, itself a veritable fire trap. Our high school curriculum was limited because we did not have room for teaching any of the modern subjects. As school went along through out the fall season the board of trustees realized that further delay was sacrifice. Also they believed the boys and girls of Winters deserved as good advantages as those of other towns. Accordingly it was resolved to launch a building program.

Much careful planning was necessary incident to such a program. The first step was the tentative employment of an architect. To him was submitted all the available data on the schools and the town. He in turn submitted a tentative plan for a building and an estimate on the cost thereof. Next a financial expert was called in who carefully investigated the condition of the finances of the school district and recommended a plan for financing a building.

With the above mentioned data in hand and as soon as the necessary legal steps could be complied with an election was ordered to be held on February 15, 1927, for the purpose of authorizing bonds in the amount of $110,000. The results of this election were most gratifying and proved beyond a doubt that Winters' people want the best for their boys and girls. There were cast in this election 428 votes, 353 being in favor of the building program. The additional legal steps incident to a bond issue were disposed of as fast as possible and the bonds issued. They were immediately sold at a premium of $2000 net plus accrued interest.

The lots on which the building now stands were purchased from the various owners. The board of trustees was then ready to set to work in earnest toward building a house. Visits were made to a number of towns for the purpose of studying and inspecting their school plants. The tentative plan formerly submitted, with some modifications, was adopted. The architect was instructed to prepare definite plans and specifications.

As soon as this could be done contractors were invited to figure on the job. Bids were opened April 16 and the following contracts were awarded: F. A. Mote, general construction, $88,500; C. E. Wallace, plumbing and heating, $10,500 and the Moody Electric company, wiring $2610. Construction was started in the early part of June 1926. The following items will give the reader some idea of the enormity of the completed structure. In the construction there has been used 160,000 pounds of steel, 1400 cubic yards of sand and gravel, 650,000 pounds of cement, 140,000 pounds of plaster, 98,000 face brick, two carloads of cut stone, 190,000 common brick, 5000 tile, 25,000 square feet of pine lumber, 26,000 square feet of metal lath, 10,870 pounds of window weights, 3000 pounds of nails, 3750 square feet of glass, 750 gallons of paint, 19,000 feet of pipe, and many other smaller items.

The building is equipped with a modern steam heating system second to none, and the latest thing in the way of sanitary plumbing is used. There is approximately 33,000 square feet of floor space in the entire structure. There are 24 rooms, exclusive of offices, toilets and closets. Modern home economics, manual training, science and commercial departments are provided for as well as the regular literary work.

As the completed structure stands it is a monument to the progressive citizenship of Winters and may it ever be a beacon light to the boys and girls of Winters and this section that they may strive to better fit themselves to fill the places in life designed for them by the Master Builder.

APPRECIATED GIFTS

As you sit in the auditorium and look upon the beautiful velvet curtain across the front of the stage please be reminded that it is a gift of the Literary and Service club. This organization recognizes the progressive step the community is making and on this as well as all other occasions has found a way to have a part in the good work. For their efforts and kindly feeling the school and community is indeed thankful.

Each day every high school student spends one or more periods in the study hall. As they glance from their work to the front of the room they look upon a beautiful picture of our national capitol. This building is a beautiful structure and should inspire patriotism and love of country in the heart of every boy and girl. This picture is a gift of the Diversity club. This organization will ever be remembered kindly by those who see this beautiful picture.

In the home economics department will be found a refrigerator of the latest design. This is furnished by the Winters Ice and Fuel company. They hope that their effort will add to the efficiency of this department. Thanks!

In addition to the above mentioned items it is impossible to enumerate all the courtesies that have been extended by our local business houses by supplying various items at great discounts. For all we are grateful.—A. H. Smith, Supt.

Winters Public Schools Show Rapid Progress Under Direction of Supt. A. H. Smith and Corps of Teachers

During the past four years Winters has enjoyed a marvelous growth not so much from the standpoint of population as from the improvement of her civic and business institutions. Churches have built new buildings, streets and other municipal interests have been bettered and our school system has kept pace with the demands of the times.

In 1923 the Board of Trustees found that the school was in need of being improved and began to cast around for an able man to make order out of chaos. After much consideration they selected A. H. Smith, who was at that time superintendent of schools at Toyah. Mr. Smith had had 12 years of experience prior to his coming to Winters and since he has been with the local schools has given a good account of himself. At the time that he took charge of the schools the tax rate was only 50 cents but in the spring of 1924 an election was called and the rate was raised to $1 and from that time the progress of the schools has been rapid. The following year more teachers were employed, additional equipment was installed, and the building arranged to meet the requirements of the State Department of Education.

At the time Mr. Smith was employed there was no affiliation but within three years the school has secured 21 credits of affiliation which within itself speaks well for the system and more for the corps of teachers that have worked here. Several additional credits will be granted by the state department this year we are sure.

The matter of buildings has much to do with the efficiency of a school system. If the buildings are too small, or inadequate in structure, they materially handicap the work of the system. From time to time the Board of Trustees had made additions that seemed to suffice for a long period of time, only to find in a few years the conditions were such as to cause the buildings to be inadequate. In 1911 the main building was erected with the view of housing for several years the increase. In 1922 the new building was erected for the purpose of taking care of the grammar grades. Within less than two years this building was overflowing. In the winter of 1924 a temporary building was erected to house the primary grades. This was an emergency measure since they were looking forward to a modern high school building. Up to that time Winters had invested in school buildings about $40,000 while other towns of equal size had three times that amount invested in their plants. Such facts proved that we must meet the need. A bond issue carried by a vote of approximately four to one for the erection of a $110,000 building.

Thus the system has grown under the leadership of A. H. Smith from a small, poorly organized, institution to a real school system that we no longer have to apologize for. When we speak of our schools we may feel as proud as we are when we speak of our churches, our banks, the fertility of our soil, or the people who make up the warp and woof of our community. Smith has rendered to the city a noble service that has been given by him as well as the corps of teachers and trustees who have worked with him at the task.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Edwards of Albany spent the past weekend with the parents of the latter, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Adams.

Mrs. Roxie Floyd returned home Sunday from several days visit in Lubbock. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Al G. Jennings.

Girls if you want to be popular see the flapper grandmother at new high school auditorium Friday night. She teaches the part of popularity. Etc.

Board of Trustees

Below is a list of the trustees of the Winters Schools. They are the ones charged with its future. They are men who have achieved success for themselves and in whose hands the future of Winters schools is safe. They are among the best and most substantial citizens. They stand for every public enterprise. They have had and will have a part in all those things intended for the upbuilding of our town and county. We thank them and their predecessors for the work already accomplished in erecting here one of the best high school buildings in West Texas as well as a great school and we pledge them, here and now, the active assistance of this paper for the future wherever the welfare of the school is concerned. We place no limit on this cooperation and our sentiment, we believe is the sentiment of our entire people.

Semi-Weekly Calisthenics Class of the Winters Schools

State Officials Praise School System Winters

The writer has read the official reports from the State Department of Education, as are on file in the office of the superintendent and the following information is taken therefrom:

The supervisor who visited the school in 1923 pointed out many serious defects. The people were complimented for the liberal donations that had been raised from time to time to supplement the school fund but were told that the donation plan would never build a permanent high school, owing to its uncertainty. The ramshackled condition of the furniture and the glaring lack of equipment were clearly pointed out. The class room work was reported as good as could be expected under the conditions, though the lack of school spirit and the low morale among the student body was very outstanding. The school board was advised that if immediate steps were not taken to remedy existing conditions by providing adequate equipment and a stronger teaching force provided, that the school would lose its classification. It had no affiliation at that time, but the school board had no funds with which to do anything.

Accordingly a move was started to increase the maintenance tax rate from 50 cents to one dollar. An election was held in March at which time the rate was increased by a vote of four to one. A minimum amount of class room equipment was immediately purchased and installed.

At the close of the year material from the high school classes was submitted to the accrediting committee and ten and one half units of affiliation were secured. True, it was a small beginning, but it seemed almost like bringing order out of chaos.

The following summer a physics laboratory was equipped, some additional class room equipment was provided, and the teaching force added to and strengthened. That year the supervisor found much less to criticize and much more to commend.

Again at the close of the year material was submitted to the accrediting committee and five and one half additional units of affiliation were secured, bringing the total to 16, which is the minimum college entrance requirement.

The following year chemistry, commercial work and home economics were added to the curriculum. This time the supervisor commended the efforts being put forth but criticized the crowded condition under which work was being done. At the close of the year (last year) five additional units of affiliation were gained, bringing the total to 21.

Everyone is familiar with the efforts put forth to relieve the crowded condition and the building program that has been under way. The report of the supervisor this year follows:

"It was indeed a pleasure to visit Winters and to see the keen interest displayed by pupils, teachers and citizens in the building program and good as could be expected under the conditions, though the lack of school spirit and the low morale among the student body was very outstanding. The school board was advised that if immediate steps were not taken to remedy existing conditions by providing adequate equipment and a stronger teaching force provided, that the school would lose its classification. It had no affiliation at that time, but the school board had no funds with which to do anything. The high school building under construction is being erected and equipped at a cost of $110,000.

"It is recommended: 1. That the Winters schools be commended for the following items of material progress: (a) The voting of a bond issue of $110,000 for a new high school building, now nearing completion; (b) The spending of $425 for library additions, of this amount $125 was spent for the grade; (c) The supplying of $70 worth of books for the vocational agriculture course, which is being given attention this year for the first time; 2. That the following items receive attention: (a) Modern history charts should be provided to supplement those on hand; (b) Maps, globes and charts in the elementary grades should be supplemented with additions to meet the demands of the grades;

(c) A yearly appropriation be allowed in the annual budget for replacements and additions to library. This is important since adequate instruction depends largely upon adequate library facilities.

3. That material for accrediting be submitted in the subjects for which applications have already been filed. Bulletin No. 207 may be consulted for instructions.

4. That the superintendent and teachers be commended for the desire and determination to improve the efficiency of the school work, and that the boys and girls be commended for the good attitude to their work and their loyalty to their school.

5. The supervisor wishes to express his personal appreciation as well as that of the department for the many courtesies extended to him by Superintendent Smith, the teachers, and members of board while visiting the schools in an official capacity."

Prospects are good that several additional units of affiliation will be granted this year.

Let the progress continue until Winters is known far and wide for having the best public school system in the land.

WHAT'S DOING In West Texas

Spur—An additional 12,000 egg capacity incubator is to be installed here in the near future. Custom hatching has grown to large proportions in this section, with Dickens and Kent county farmers stocking their farms with chickens furnished by the Spur Poultry ranch. The ranch was recently sold to C. O. Davis of Rule.

Hereford—An additional position has been installed here at the central office of the Southwestern Telephone company for the purpose of handling the rural and toll lines. Hereford now has five positions on the board which will be ample to take care of increased business.

Sweetwater—Another important industry has been added to Sweetwater's list with the announcement that A. A. Koch for the past year manager of the San Angelo Foundry and Machine company, has purchased land near here and will begin immediately erection of a foundry and steel company. The new industry is to be known as the Star Foundry, Steel and Machine company.

Balmorhea—The name of Madera Valley has superseded the title "Toyah Valley" following a unanimous vote of the local chamber of commerce. The change was made due to a confusion of the valley with the town of Toyah and Foyahville.

Anson—Graveling on all intersections and grading of streets preparatory to putting gravel on is under way here. The city is paying for the street work.

Kress—Contract has been let here for three brick business houses, and work will start at once on these.

Wichita Falls—The choral contest sponsored annually in connection with the big yearly convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has been expanded this year to include four classes of organization. Choral clubs, college and high school glee clubs and choirs are eligible to compete this year. One hundred dollars as first prize and fifty dollars as second award are to be given in each class of the contest.

Childress—The fourth West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention of the year will be held in this city May 5, when representatives from the Green Belt and Lower Panhandle district gather here. More than thirty towns are expected to send delegates.

Stanton—Work has begun on a 10-cottage tourist camp on the west edge of Stanton on the Bankhead highway. The cabins are drive-in type and are equipped with heater, running water and conveniences for cooking and other comforts.

Megargel—A successful clean-up campaign has been completed here under the sponsorship of the Current Literature club of Megargel. Substantial prizes were offered for the largest piles of trash, the cleanest premises, and such.

The Greatest Asset Winters Has THE WINTERS PUBLIC SCHOOLS

We owe our town and its material prosperity to the Winters Public Schools. We owe our ever-increasing population of ambitious and progressive people to the reputation that our schools so justly bear. We owe our business prosperity in a large measure to the trade of our student population and their parents who, if they do not live here, come and trade with us more often for having their children in our schools. We owe the friendly feeling that now exists between surrounding communities adjacent to Winters largely to the influence of the boys and girls who attend our schools from every community in this section. Their association creates friendships that no community jealousy nor sectional envy will ever affect, and will do more to drive those evils from our midst.

During the past several years there has been a gradual but steady improvement in the standard of life in Winters. This fact we attribute to the influence of the constantly growing graduating classes from the Winters High School, which enter our citizenship every year full of enthusiasm for high ideals and trained to respect law and order and opposed to everything that would lower our standards.

We believe the Winters Public Schools are responsible, in a large measure for the fact that we have a clean town, and that we have no criminal class and are free from vice, immorality and law-breaking to a degree that we have a just right to be proud of.

The Winters Public Schools do not belong to the people of Winters alone. They are the heritage of this entire section. The boy and girl from the country form a large part of the student body; they win many of the honors every term and without them the greatest good the school is doing would be greatly lessened. These boys and girls from the country have done much to make our schools; through them its fame is going abroad in the land and their advertising is worth more than any other because of its sincerity and unselfishness.

And with the completion of the beautiful and modern new High School Building and the addition of much new equipment we are thoroughly convinced that you could not find a better place in West Texas to put your boy or girl through high school than in Winters. Yes, we're proud of the reputation our schools bear in this section and ask that you give Winters serious consideration when selecting a place to educate your boys and girls. Come to Winters!

Higginbotham Bros. & Co.

Whoopee!

Where in all Texas can a more complete High School building be found? Where in all the state is there a school which has experienced a more marvelous growth than ours?

Such evidences of progressiveness are the things which attract the best people to the Winters territory. On the merits of our present school system we invite investigation and comparison with anybody's school. The gate is wide open. We are proud of the new high school building and want the world to know it.

No better physical equipment is to be had anywhere—not even in the colleges and universities. We pronounce the new building indeed a thing of beauty and

Appreciation of Coaches and Contestants in Track and Literary Meet

Every student has cooperated with enthusiasm and pep in making the past interscholastic meet in both track and literary events, a success. All have endeavored to make Winters high supreme and worthy of their remarkable success.

The following are among the participants and coaches who, without doubt, deserve consideration and honor for their work for the Blue and White:

A. H. Smith

Although Superintendent Smith has not coached any particular event, it is largely through his interest and cooperation that W. H. S. today enjoys four beautiful trophy cups of her own as well as several others which are in our possession and will probably be ours after we have won them for two years more.

Every one knows what Mr. Smith has meant to the Blue and White and appreciates his work.

Joe Childers

Mr. Childers, W. H. S. principal, is not the coach of one particular event. He was coach of extemporaneous speaking, and succeeded in making Winters win, he supervised essay writing, and they won; and in fact Mr. Childers is a great believer in winning. For this reason we won.

Since coming to Winters this year for the second time, many other things worthy of honor and consideration have been accomplished through his continual interest.

Coach Smith

It is difficult to record the work of C. R. Smith, coach, without using the words of an athlete and taking a volume to record his work. Coach Smith has succeeded in training the track men so as to "Beat Ballinger", and probably the state, "if he says so."

Besides the many athletic events which he has supervised and coached are the literary events, which he has continually encouraged. The student body appreciate his work.

Gladys Joseph

Many things which are necessary in the development of our school have been accomplished since Miss Joseph came to Winters. She has succeeded in organizing one of the best debate teams in the state, both boys and girls. Through her continual work, both teams have won first place in the county meet, and will probably win at San Angelo, then "On through Austin."

Miss Joseph is also faculty advisor of the "Gale" and has aided in the supervision of the essay writers. It is hoped that she will be with us next year, for the students of Winters high appreciate her work and personality.

Miss Veda Wells

Last year the Winters tennis teams failed to receive very much consideration. This year two teams have worked hard and through the supervision of Miss Wells, have succeeded in winning girls' singles, and second place in the remaining tennis events. This fact has been realized through Miss Wells coaching.

Miss Wells is also faculty advisor of the "Glacier" and has accomplished many things for W. H. S. of which we are indeed proud.

Although Mr. Patterson, Miss Bond and Miss White and not directly connected with the events in the recent track and literary meet which was held in Winters the eighth and ninth, they have encouraged them and have meant much in "Keeping the Win in Winters."

Mr. Wood

About four months ago a spelling class was organized under the supervision of Mr. Wood. Since that time they have worked hard for W. H. S. for the county meet. Although they did not win first place in the recent meet, their work and that of Mr.

Wood is appreciated and has meant much to the school.

Mr. Wood is the commercial instructor and has meant much to that department as well as to the other divisions of instruction.

The Debators

Both teams of the debators deserve both consideration and honor for work for W. H. S. They were organized the third week of school and have worked hard since then for the purpose of making the Blue and White wave above all colors of the county, district and state. These teams are, boys, Auburn Neely and Perry Barber; girls, Marie Hill and Marie Griffis.

Extemporaneous Speaking

It was not until this year that Winters received much attention in extemporaneous speaking. This year, however, Winters high has a 'real' speaker, Parham Witt, and succeeded in winning county championship.

Parham will go to the district and we hope to the state meet.

Declamation

As usual, Christine Barnett won first place in senior girl declamation. The student body is proud of Christine who shows remarkable talent in expression as well as in many other events and activities of the school.

Truett Barber who was the senior boy declaimer, won second place. He is also an excellent speaker, although he did not win the county championship.

The junior girl, Geraldine Gaston, also won first place in the county. She is a remarkable reader.

Track

Winters won the track events by only a few points, but all proved to be splendid track men and they will in all probability win many of the events in the district meet in San Angelo.

Where can I buy a cap for my knee,

Or a key for a lock of my hair?
Can my eyes be called an academy,

Because I have pupils there?
In the crown of my head what gems are found,

And who travels the bridge of my nose?

Can I use for shingling the roof of my mouth,

The nails on the end of my toes?

Can I sit in the shade of the palm of my hand,

Or beat the drums of my ears?

Does the calf of my leg eat the corn

on my toe,
Can the crook of my elbow be straightened by tears?

How can my shoulder blades be sharpened anew?

I'll be darned if I know, do you?—

Selected.

Moving Into New Building

At last! Can it be true that we have moved into our new high school building? Monday morning the student body assembled in the old building to receive instructions about moving into the new building. Everyone was already happy about our victory in the county meet and the thought of moving made the scene quite a happy one.

The first period of the day was devoted to moving. This was done very smoothly and rapidly. Everything was done well and with little confusion. One of the teachers remarked: "That was the quickest and best moving I have ever witnessed." That expression indicates that the students appreciate their new home.

LITERARY EFFORTS

Looking back over the splendid work that Winters High school has done in the Interscholastic League literary events for the last three consecutive years, we find a record of which even a much larger town might well be proud. Continued success in any event indicates effort and work. Especially is this true in the literary events, where natural excellence on the part of the contestants must be backed by study and practice before victory becomes possible. Victory in declamation represents weeks of constant practice on the part of the participant. The winner in essay writing has to work carefully for months on composition and themes before he can hope to win. The same is true of spelling, debate and extemporaneous speaking.

And we find that Winters is gradually and consistently increasing her number of first places. This can only indicate general excellency and consistent work on the part of the high school in general. During the past three years, Winters high school has won 21 first places in the county and district, in literary events alone.

Below is the record of the contest for 1926-27. It is hoped that the district meet will find us with several more first places to our credit.

Oversize Tires For More Miles Says Local Dealer

The use of oversize tires will enable many motorists to get much greater mileage and satisfaction out of their tires, according to Mr. Brown, of Nance-Brown Motor company, Firestone dealers in Winters. Motor cars are equipped with tires that are ample for any ordinary use provided they are inflated to correct pressure. However many motorists abuse their tires by overloading them and through failure to keep them 'pumped up.'

Oversizing allows a much greater margin of safety, and in the long run justifies the extra expense. There are many advantages to using oversize tires, including more comfortable riding, better braking with less tendency to skid, and less tire trouble. The larger tire is not so easily cut or bruised and the tread wears much longer.

Last but not least the oversize tire will average far greater mileage which means economy. In tires as everything else, it pays to buy dependable, quality merchandise and Firestones have a long established reputation for being the leader in that field.

Experience is a good teacher—and a well paid one, too.

Football Summary Shows Winters To be Formidable Foe; Blizzards Have Won Pro Rata of Games Played

The history of athletics in Winters High school begins with the school year of 1923-24. Of course there had been some athletics on the smaller scale many years before, but never before had the popular sport of football been seen on the Winters athletic field.

Coach A. S. McAcomb started the football history in Winters in September, 1923, by calling on the athletes of the High school to come out and help to place the Blue and White upon the gridiron fields of West Texas. A squad of fourteen young aspirants of the pig skin answered the call, and loyal business men of Winters equipped them with the best to be had.

After several weeks of hard practice the season was opened on the local gridiron against an experienced team from Merkel. This game proved almost disastrous for the local boys, but they had received a taste of the thrill that comes in the favorite sport of high school, and nothing could stop the ever growing interest among the lovers of the game. This game was the first game that most of the boys had ever played in.

The Winters High team, later named the Blizzards, played Ballinger twice that year. The first game ended in a tie, 6-6. Incidentally the six points scored by the Blizzards in that game was counted by the first touchdown that a Winters eleven had ever made. The pig skin was carried across the Ballinger goal line by Jim Fields after a beautiful 56 yard run.

In the second game of the season, which was played at the Runnels County fair, Charlie White ran 90 yards for a touchdown. The score was 7-6 in favor of Ballinger. However, it was later ruled that the touch back that the Blizzards had made was a safety and the score was really 8-7 in favor of Winters. It was the first victory for a Winters football team.

The basket ball season of that year was fairly successful. The Blizzards being runners up in the county, dropping the final game to Miles by one point.

The track meet was held at Winters that spring and the Winters High school was victorious. Athletics received a firm foothold in the high school during the year of 1923-

Coach J. E. Childers from Baylor university, an experienced coach, was secured for the year of 1924-25. At the beginning of the season the Lions club donated $300 for new equipment. Winters built its first bath house for the athletes.

When Coach Childers issued his first call for the lovers of football to come out and join in and help make a successful season for Winters High school, 20 red-blooded young boys answered the summons.

The first games of the season were a series of disappointments, but the honor was sure to come to those who labored and waited. It came on November 7, 1924, when the Winters eleven ran rough-shod over Ballinger by the score of 33-13. The stars of this game were J. D. Rob-

The season closed with Winters having scored on practically every team they met during the season, but had made only 114 points to her opponents 253.
The basket ball season of that year was the most successful season that Winters had ever known. Such victories as the following tell of the success.

Winters 16, San Angelo 5;
Winters 34, Ballinger 7;
Winters 32, San Angelo 7.
The seasons score was Winters 312 and opponents 169. Captain Clifford Rhoden was the star of the season.
The track meet, which was held at Ballinger, was again a success. Winters winning 79 to 62 over Ballinger. That spring Winters sent Auburn Neely, Jim Fields, Fannin Lowe, and Gerald Knight to the state meet at Austin.

The athletic season of 1924-25 was closed by the Winters High school baseball team trimming the Ballinger Bear Cats in two games by the score of 10-4 and 6-2.
Coach C. R. Smith, of Simmons university, began his coach duties at Winters High school in the fall of 1925. The business men of Winters provided finances to hold the first football training camp that the Winters athletes had ever had.
Twenty-five lovers of the pig skin attended that camp. Among the gridiron men who attended were some players of two years experience and many new recruits. The men, who were to carry the colors of the dear 'ole high school through the season of 1925 received their first training in the real fundamentals of football.

The season was the most successful one that a Winters eleven had ever known. All games played were close. As the season's results show Winters 48, opponents 44.
The season was closed by a 0-0 tie against Ballinger on the latter's field.
The basket ball season was likewise successful, however the County Championship was won by Drasco. Winters did not meet Drasco in the county race, but met them in a post season game and were victorious, 20-8.
Winters invaded Ballinger in the spring and won the track meet by 12 points. The entire track team qualified to go to the district meet.
At the district meet the Winters cinder path men finished second. This being the best record that a Winters track team had ever made at a district meet. The following men qualified for the annual trip to the capitol city: Auburn Neely, Jim Fields and J. D. Robertson.

The year of 1926-27 was an eventful year for the Winters athletes. The high school had acquired before the beginning of the year a large athletic field. The bath house was enlarged to meet the demands of the growing football squad. $400 worth of new equipment was purchased, the Blizzards were given their first field blankets and much progress was shown.
The season was overwhelmingly successful. The Blizzard eleven was victorious in 9 out of 10 games. The Winters eleven was runner-up to Brownwood for the Class B championship of this district, which includes approximately 30 counties. The season's final score was Winters 363, opponents 41.

At the end of the football season of 1924 fourteen letter men were awarded sweaters, at the end of the of 1924 fourteen letter men were awarded, and 5 second string men, by the end of the 1926 season this number was increased to 27, who received sweaters and trophies of various kinds.
The basket ball season was a great success, Winters defeated Ballinger in two games by the score of 9-8 and 19-16. However, the county championship was lost to Drasco in the third of a three game series. Drasco went into the final at the district meet where 15 counties participated.

The track season of 1927 is proving to be the best that Winters has ever known. The Winters cinder path men took the track meet from Ballinger April 9, by a score of 78-70. Winters has the following track men eligible for the district meet: Captain Mac Dedmon, George Newby, Alton Roberts, Auburn Neely, Gaylord Singleton, Bennie McAdams, Brevard Bedford, Bill Phillips, Alfred Bishop, Fannin Lowe, R. V. Hardegree, Albert Kiefer and John G. Key.
More thinly clad men will bear the Winters colors to Austin this track season than ever before. There are many reasons to believe that Winters will win much honor at the district and state meets this year.
There is an ever increasing feeling of enthusiasm in the Winters High School and among the supporters of the "Blue and White" as each year brings about a rapid advancement in the field of High School athletics.

Let us, the lovers of Winters High School and the loyal supporters of the "Blue and White," get behind the student body and faculty of Winters High School and do our part to see that every athlete who chooses to cast his lot in our midst shall have every opportunity to blossom forth and receive every honor that a deserving athlete should receive.

Another Step Forward

With the completion and occupancy of the magnificent new high school building Winters has taken another step forward of which her citizenship is justly proud.
Winters can justly boast of the best citizenship in Texas to support their school. There is here more school spirit and serviceable unity than is to be found in most Texas schools and with a sympathetic united progressive school board directing its destiny its future growth and development is insured.

Athletics Important Factor to Be Considered in Public Schools of Today; Winters Ranks At Top of List

Along with the development of a modern high school there must be many things taught besides the proverbial Three R's. The days of the puncheon seats and Blue Back spellers are gone and new and better methods have taken the day. Physical training, clubs, dramatics and an endless round of organizations that make the school the place of development for almost any talent that a boy or girl may have.

The branch of athletics in a modern high school has its definite place despite the malignant opposition that has been given it. Organized play is as essential as organized business. Competition is the fundamental principle upon which the twentieth century business operates.

Athletics had their awakening in Winters only a few short years back and have been given the systematic organization by our present coach, C. R. Smith. When any sport will cause boys who have been out of school two or more years to get back into the harness and finish their high school education then that thing is worth keeping in our school. For instance compare the number of boys graduating now to that three or four years ago. See how many athletes to those who do not participate.

Since Coach Smith took the reins of athletics in the fall of 1925 there has been a decided improvement in both the brand of athletics and in the number of boys participating. In 1924 the largest number to report for football was 17, last year the largest number was 31. The county basket ball tournament in 1925 was played with seven eligible men, in 1927 there were 14 on the squad who were eligible. About 10 boys were eligible to attend the state track meet at Austin last year and we expect almost as large a number this year.

In addition to being a splendid coach of athletics Mr. Smith is a good teacher and is the head of the department of mathematics. He teaches five classes each day and holds a study hall. In other words he has one off period. He spends almost all his day light time around the school and is ready and willing to help at night in any way he can.

He assists in production of plays, helps plan for a bigger and better school, or anything that will make Winters boys and girls what they should be.

Other towns may have higher priced coaches, they may win a few more games but that is not always the ultimate test of whether he is a success or not. The end in view is making better men and if a coach does not do that he has failed even if he should win every game on his schedule. We believe that Coach Smith is a man from the ground up and that he spends as much time trying to make better boys better men as he does trying to coach them how to defeat the opponent. He does not stop with five days a week but teaches a Sunday School class each Sunday.

We congratulate the school board on being fortunate enough to get a man like C. R. Smith.

Social Science. Ancient History, one year, Modern History, one year, American History, one year, English History, one half year, Civics, one year, Commercial Law one half year and Economics one half year.

Fine Arts

Although the school does not employ any Fine Arts teachers the town is very fortunate in that we have a number of excellent teachers for the various forms of music, art, and expression.

All pupils who want to avail themselves of this form of instruction will see the different teachers and make arrangements with them.

The Public School faculty will work in co-operation with the Fine Arts teachers in arranging schedules for all pupils.

Vocational Agriculture.

The object of this course is to better fit the farm boys for farming and to raise the standard of farm life. One year is given to this work and it will be increased to two as soon as the demand justifies it.

From the foregoing course of study the following are the requirements for graduation:

The completion of 16 Literary credits and two extra curricular credits, provided that only one extra curricular credit will be required of students who attend Winters High School only one year.

The following credits are prescribed: English 3 credits; Mathematics, 3 credits; History, 3 credits; one Foreign Language, 2 credits; and Science, 2 credits. The other three are optional and may be made up from any high school course offered. The Extra Curricular credits may be made up from any of the student organizations that have the approval of the faculty.

Extra Curricular Work

A number of organizations such as Glee Clubs, Public Speaking Clubs, Athletic Associations and the like will be maintained under faculty supervision and all students are urged to take active part in some organization. Credit will be given for all work faithfully performed on the basis of one-half credit for one hundred hours work. This is designated as Extra Curricular Credit and is referred to again under "Requirements for Graduation."

Athletics

Athletics, when properly controlled, have been conceded to be a valuable asset to any school, from the standpoint of discipline, good sportmanship, and self control, to say nothing of the physical training derived from participation. The true position of Athletics is subordinate to school work.

Winters High School expects to hold a high standard of sportsmanship which will counteract the "win at any price" idea. The student who plays cleanest develops qualities for later problems of life. FAIR PLAY is the first essential of success in any enterprise.

The Interscholastic League requirements will be adhered to strictly in all athletic contests.

A. H. SMITH, Superintendent.
