Well Southeast Town Increases Flow Local Chamber of Commerce Planning Annual Meeting Chief Neill Arrests Three After Auto Race

After barely touching the top of the pay sand at 2,545 feet, the Sillix, et al test, 8 miles southeast of Winters, which blew itself in last Saturday morning about 4 o'clock, has maintained a production of 250 barrels per day, according to Mr. Sillix, who was interviewed at the well late Tuesday afternoon.

Oil began spraying over the derrick last Saturday morning about 4 o'clock and late that afternoon the well had produced more than 200 barrels of oil, which is of high gravity, testing 42 degrees.

The McMillan No. 1 was started two or three years ago by Lou Ladd et al., of Fort Worth. It was ordered plugged at 2,500 feet by Mr. Ladd. However, Mr. Sillix, John Carter, and H. A. McClain of Ballinger and C. R. Dutton of Ranger took over the test, drilled 45 feet deeper—and found commercial production.

The oil is 42 degree gravity and is making heads with plenty of gas to make the well flow when the sand is penetrated further, many operators believe.

"I thought we were on a sand," the driller is quoted as saying. "I ran the tools into the hole, letting them down on the bottom pretty hard. Evidently the force of hitting the sand let 'er come in."

The McMillan is the first in this section since the Russell wells, now the property of the Pure Oil Company, were drilled in 1918. Considerable excitement was caused then when the wells found small production.

Oil men, scouts, and independent operators are in the vicinity of the new well in large numbers seeking acreage and royalty. Scores of farmers who only a few days ago were talking maize, cotton, markets, etc., and planning to meet their bills, supply the family desires and, in some cases, wondering if enough extra cash might be realized this year to buy a new or better automobile, have now changed their subject to oil.

Since the bringing in of the McMillan well leases have jumped to as high as $200 per acre. In some cases outside of the McMillan block leases have been closed at $50. Thousands of people have visited the new well during the past two days. Scores of people are entering the field with cash "burning their pockets", and new contracts for tests are being let. The steel derrick of Kennedy-Farworth, five miles southeast of Winters is completed and from reliable reports received, only a short delay will lapse before arrangements are completed to begin drilling. Other locations are being made to the east of the city. There is a strip of territory extending from the new producer which is eight miles southeast of here to the Seals well, 11 miles northeast of Winters, between which points there is a series of noses, which territory covers about fifteen miles. The Seals well has been seeping oil through the plug for about three years.

Mrs. Robert Easley of Rosebud, is a guest of L. R. Ables and family.

Rev. and Mrs. W. I. Dunn, accompanied by their grandson, R. C. Smith, left Wednesday for Alabama and Florida. They will make the trip in their car and will probably locate permanently at Jacksonville, Fla. We regret very much for this estimable couple to leave Winters, but wish for them the very best of health and happiness wherever they decide to locate and assure them that the "latch strings" are hanging on the outside of Winters with a hearty welcome any time they desire to return.

Where Winters High Graduates Will Attend School

It is interesting to note how many from the graduating class of 1927 from Winters high school will attend college this year.

Winters has always kept a high educational standard and annually many attend school at the various colleges and universities of the state. Among those who plan to enter college this year from the '27 graduating class of Winters High are the following:

Marjorie McAdams, Kidd-Key College and Conservatory, Sherman; J. D. Robertson, Weatherford Junior College, Weatherford; Gladys Giestman, McMurry College, Abilene; Henry Dixon, Simmons University, Abilene; Jack Callan, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth; Dorothy Green, Simmons U.; Evelyn Piercy, John Tarleton, Stephenville; Ena Williams, Simmons U.; Marie Hill, Baylor University, Waco; Nestella Branaman, Howard Payne College, Brownwood; Marie Griffin, Texas Tech., Lubbock; Brooksie Justice, Abilene Christian College, Abilene; Alton Roberts, Texas Tech., Lubbock; A. M. Patterson, Wayland College, Plainview; Richard Seagler, John Tarleton, Stephenville; Lloyd Edwards, John Tarleton.

Open Store on North Main

L. P. and A. B. Ray, from San Angelo, have rented the Jordan building on North Main street, and are preparing to open a dry goods store here next Saturday, under the firm name of Ray Bros.

They stated they will carry a full line of staple dry goods, ladies' ready-to-wear, men's and boys' clothing, etc., and will be pleased to meet and get acquainted with the trade at their new place of business.

Banks to Close Labor Day

Monday, September 5th, Labor Day, the banks of Winters will be closed all day. Those having business with these institutions will please take notice and be governed accordingly.

WINTERS STATE BANK, FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

Lyric to Open Next Monday

The new Lyric theatre on Main street will be opened next Monday with matinee and night shows every week day during the fall season. Mr. Hodge, local manager, states that he has booked first run productions for the Lyric and promises high-class entertainment. The admission at the new Lyric will remain as heretofore, 10 cents and 25 cents, he stated. The Lyric was completed early in the spring and is new throughout and the public's favors will be appreciated.

ANOTHER LOCAL GOLFER JOINS HOLE-IN-ONE CLUB

Ralph Ashburn, local golfer and golfer, says he has played one hole of golf with a score that even Bobby Jones can't beat. The feat happened on the Winters country club links last Friday afternoon. While playing golf with H. O. Jones and C. L. Cooke, Mr. Ashburn took careful aim at the cup on number one green and lifting the ball high in the air, it hit on the green and rolled into the hole, and the feat so upset Ralph that he finished the nine holes with a score of forty, which is a little below his average scores. Par for the nine-hole course is thirty-two.

Winters Firemen Are Entertained

The spacious lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams beautifully decorated with balloons of various colors and masses of ferns made a pretty setting for ten tables of forty-two when they charmingly entertained the active members of the fire department and other guests on last Friday evening.

At the conclusion of the games delicious refreshments of frozen fruit salad and angel food cake were served to Messrs. and Mesdames Carl Davis, J. C. Meredith, Gerald Black, Earl Cook, Harris Mullin, Doye Campbell, John Shipman, M. R. Chapman, R. A. Cramer, W. W. McKissack, P. G. Garrett, E. A. Shepperd, J. H. Mosely, R. E. Bacon, L. Daniels, B. G. Owens, Grover Key, M. E. Miller, H. W. Lynn of Ballinger, Messrs. Gordon Warren, Dick Sullivan, Wm. Carlisle, Misses Loyle Kornegay and Iva Modessette, and Mrs. C. D. Stewart.

Fair Boosters From Ballinger Visit Us

Advertising and boosting the Runnels County Fair, dates of which have been set for October 4th to 8th, some seventy-five business men of Ballinger, accompanied by the Ballinger Band and a young ladies' ukulele chorus, arrived in the city last Thursday morning about 11 o'clock, and after marching up and down the principal streets of the city formed a circle on Main and Dale streets, where a program of band music and songs was rendered.

Judge R. T. Thornton, Jr., welcomed the visitors to the city with a few appropriate words, after which H. W. Lynn, former Winters resident, made a short talk about the Runnels County Fair and asked for the cooperation of all the people of the county in making it the biggest and best in the history of the county.

Notice to High School Students

All high school students should come to the high school building for registration Friday, September 2, or Saturday morning. If you expect to get an even start with your classes this is essential. A. H. Smith, Superintendent. 1tc

The board of directors of the Winters chamber of commerce met at the hall last Monday afternoon with all members present except one, he being out of the city, at which time much business was transacted and plans laid for the annual meeting of the organization, the date for which was set as Thursday evening, September 18th.

By-laws and constitution, which were submitted by a committee, were endorsed by the board. The by-laws provide that there shall be thirteen directors, six elected this year and seven next, with holdover members of the board filling out the required number. A drawing for the holdovers was had and those remaining on the board the coming fiscal year are F. D. Bedford, C. L. Cooke, A. Krauss, G. E. Nicholson, O. C. Williams, S. H. Nance, and J. W. Tanner, leaving six new members to be elected by the membership.

An educational campaign designed to enlighten the public on the work and need of the organization, which was recommended by the budget committee, was endorsed by the board, and is now being worked out and will probably start Monday.

A new committee was authorized by the board and is to be known as the Oil committee and is composed of R. T. Thornton, Jr., S. H. Nance, and G. E. Nicholson, with Judge Thornton as chairman. This committee has already had erected appropriate signs on the roads, directing traffic to the new oil field, and a meeting of the committee was held yesterday, attended by Mr. Lence of Abilene, president of the Abilene & Southern, looking to the safeguarding of Winters' interests in the development which is expected shortly.

The chamber of commerce has already organized its open forum groups in its efforts to enlist the entire citizenship of Winters, and meetings of these groups will be held after the annual meeting in working out the 1928 program.

That the citizenship might better understand the present status of the chamber of commerce work, the following departments and bureaus have already been perfected and are in active operation:

Agricultural and Rural Development—In this department is found very important matter relating to rural trade extension and cooperation with the various communities, which has already been started.

Highways and Roads—This includes important state highway matter and road improvements throughout our territory.

Civic Development and Industry—This department is cooperating with the city officials and will, if the present tentative program is carried out, place Winters in a class which will attract a much greater population during the next twelve months.

Labor Bureau and Community Exchange—This bureau's operations have already benefited several of our communities and as the fall season progresses will be of great service to the entire trade territory. One big item in this connection is the assistance of the bureau in the distribution of cotton pickers.

Oil Bureau—While this part of the work is just being organized, the bureau is making every effort to safeguard Winters' interests in the oil development of this section.

Singers to Meet Here Sunday

The first fall meeting of the Runnels County singers will be held at the First Baptist church Sunday, September 4th. There has been no meetings during July and August, so come out Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and help us get started right.

Five Neely Boys Attend College From Farm Profits

By JOSEPHINE HEAVENHILL

Winters, August 27.—Completion of a four year college course by one son, two years of college work by each of three others, and one year for another, with each boy paying his way through school by funds derived from a 35-acre irrigated truck farm operated on a profit sharing basis by the father and six boys is the record which the sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Neely of Winters have made since the first member of the family entered college a few years ago.

To Sidney, the oldest of the Neely sons, falls the privilege of giving the first complete test to the family idea that the truck farm will enable the boys to put themselves through college in independent fashion. In receiving his bachelor of science degree in the summer session of the Southern Methodist University, Dallas, he has just finished a four-year college career which was financed largely by his part of the proceeds from Lakeview truck farm, as the Neely irrigation project, six miles north of Winters, is known.

Sidney Neely did his first two years of college work in John Tarleton Agricultural and Mechanical College, Stephenville. There he financed himself by the checks which he received regularly for his part of the onions, bell peppers, cabbage, tomatoes and other vegetables marketed from Lakeview truck farm. After going to S. M. U. he paid his expenses by the same means, augmenting his income from time to time by various forms of student employment. Only for the past few months, during which time he has had a student assistantship in mathematics has he found the Lakeview income unnecessary in his financial program.

In McMurry College

Carroll and James, the second and third of the Neely sons, have had two years each in John Tarleton College, and Gattis, the fourth boy, has completed his second year in McMurry College, each of the three having paid his way from the proceeds of the truck farm, supplemented in some instances by funds made in student employment. Benton, who graduated from the Winters high school in 1926, is also trying out the Neely education plan. He put himself through two terms of the freshman course in McMurry College during the past season and expects to complete the first-year work during the spring session of the coming year. Auburn, who is a 1927 high school graduate, plans to work on the farm for a year before entering college.

Lakeview truck farm is cultivated by the family as a firm, the chief purpose of the plan being to enable the boys to pay their way through school. The father, who is owner and general manager of the enterprise, furnishes the land, tools, machinery and seed and bears the expense of hauling, shipping, advertising and the like, while the sons provide the labor. As sales are made the gross receipts are divided on a fifty-fifty basis, one part going to the account of the father, and the other being shared equally by the sons who are members of the association at the time. Each year a treasurer and a bookkeeper are elected from the sons represented in the firm. This year Gattis and Benton

Three young men, driving a stolen Master Buick roadster, and giving their names as Jim Smith, J. L. Hale, and Fee, picked the wrong route when they attempted to pass through Winters Tuesday afternoon, for Chief J. B. Neill had just received a telephone message from Sheriff McWilliams of Ballinger to the effect that the trio were headed this way with a request to arrest them.

Shortly after the message was received the Buick attempted to pass through the town, but the chief, after chasing it to the end of the pavement on North Main street, succeeded in stopping the car and told the occupants to return to town and head in to the curb. The two cars started back to town when the men in the Buick attempted to get away, and a chase down Main street at the rate of fifty miles an hour resulted. One of the men in the Buick was drawing bead on the chief with an automatic pistol when the car hit a rough place in the road at the end of the pavement which caused him to lose his aim. He was again aiming at the chief when the Buick hit the truck of J. B. Neill, Jr., turning the truck over and wrecking the Buick. However, no one was hurt when the collision took place, but the man in the Buick came from under the wreckage of the car with the gun in his hand, but Chief Neill had the trio covered with his gun, and the three, in company with Chief Neill and Deputy Sheriff Clark, made the trip to Ballinger where the prisoners were lodged in the county jail.

One of the men, it is stated, is wanted in Dallas for car theft, and we understand they have admitted the theft of two cars, and there is quite a bit of speculation as to one of them being a participant in the slaying of Sheriff Smith and Deputy Owens of Fisher county. A. W. Roundtree of this city was called to Ballinger Tuesday evening where he took the finger prints of the three men, which will be used for identification purposes.

INTEREST INCREASES IN LITTLE THEATRE PLAY

With interest increasing, both with the cast and the Little Theatre patrons of Winters, each rehearsal is being taken more seriously for "I Want the Moon," to be given by a strong cast at the high school auditorium, Friday night, September 9th.

"I Want the Moon" is Chas. F. Harrison's latest comedy drama. Smiles, tears, drama and romance are tactfully, tastefully, and thoughtfully arranged to give lovers of comedy and drama thrills galore. The play is relieved from start to finish by comedy lines and situations that are really funny, with several emotional scenes that will bring out the handkerchiefs, and two fine love stories all the way through the plot that will make the ladies happy.

The cast includes Misses Leon Campbell, Naomi Hunt, and Ruth Jones; P. G. Garrett, Carl Henslee, Auburn Neely, Jno. W. Norman and Richard Homann.

Some real clever between-act numbers have been arranged, and music will be given by a special orchestra under the direction of Mr. Nordyke.

Lions Club to Meet Tuesday

After a month's vacation during August, the Winters Lions club will resume regular meetings at the Hotel Winters next Tuesday at noon.

A full attendance of the club membership is urged for this meeting. It is quite probable that an out-of-town speaker will be present for the luncheon.

WHAT'S DOING

In West Texas

PAMPA—Pampa won the 1928 district convention of the Panhandle-North Plains region of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, following a close contest at the Wellington meet August 25th. The 1927 gathering was one of the most successful held this year, with more than 421 registered.

HAPPY—Construction is under way on Happy's new high school building. The contract calls for the completion of the structure by the first of January.

MIDLAND—A rodeo that is expected to draw the best riders from three states, and which offers the largest purse since pre-war days, is scheduled to take place in Midland September 5, 6 and 7. West Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico will send a large part of the attendants at the mammoth three-day celebration. Relay races, street dancing, cowboy reunion, and rodeo attractions are a few of the high points of the entertainment.

IOWA PARK—Parties interested in dairying and in improving the present dairy industry of Iowa Park territory have formulated plans for a definite organization to promote these interests. Election of officers, appointment of committees, methods of purchasing additional dairy cows, and sale of dairy products are the first problems that will be considered.

MARFA—A baker shop is to be opened here by two young men from Ozona. The new enterprise is to start work about September 1.

HEREFORD—Operation of Hereford's new $2,800 pumping unit has begun, following installation of new equipment. The pump has a capacity of nearly 1,200 gallons per minute.

RANGER—Ranger has invited officials of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to take part in Ranger's Homecoming Oil Jubilee to be held here October 21 and 22, celebrating the tenth anniversary of the discovery of oil in Eastland county. Prominent oil men of the State and Nation are expected to attend the celebration.

BRADY—Brady is going ahead with preparations for her famous "Turkey Trot" fete. It is expected that the show will be one of the biggest and best yet held, as many visitors from far points will attend due to key exhibition will not be held due to adverse crop conditions.

EL PASO—Manager Homer D. Wade has issued invitations to governors of two states and the governor of Chihuahua, Mexico, as well as to other high officials of Texas and New Mexico, to attend an international highway conference in El Paso on September 24, the occasion of Col. Lindbergh's visit to the Border City. The prime purpose of the proposed meeting is to coordinate better the highways that lead from West Texas and the Republic of Old Mexico, and New Mexico.

SPUR—The Educational Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, headed by Clifford B. Jones of Spur, is broadcasting to territory of the regional organization announcement of a profitable type of agricultural training easily available to its member towns. Under the Federal Smith-Hughes law, local chambers of commerce or local schools can secure services of a Texas A. & M. College graduate to teach vocational agriculture and promote agricultural interests, with half or more of his expenses borne by the government. The amount of the salary paid by the government depends upon the amount of time the teacher devotes to agricultural work. The Smith-Hughes teachers often sponsor fairs, encourage distribution of good seed, terrace, help with insect control, conduct night schools with farmers and boys out of school, and do work of farm nature that is highly beneficial to any section.

It seems to require less intensive training to win a beauty contest than a boxing contest. But, of course, different people enter different contests.

The Methodist revival which was held by the Rev. B. B. Edwinason of Talpa, assisted by the pastor, Rev. E. W. Swearengen, closed Sunday night with six additions to the church.

"Frisco Sally Levy" Sparkling Comedy

"Frisco Sally Levy," a sparkling comedy romance of Irish-Jewish life with Sally O'Neil and Roy D'Arcy, comes to the Lyric Theatre Monday and Tuesday, September 5 and 6. William Beaudine, who directed Mary Pickford in "Little Annie Rooney," directed this new Metro-Goldwyn-and impudent girl courted by two lovers. Roy D'Arcy is the Jewish lover and Charles Delaney the Irish suitor. Tenen Holtz contributes a distinguished bit of character acting to this film as Sally's father, and Kate Price, as her mother, does equally good work.

The story is rich in humor, pathos and heart interest, being so profoundly true to life as to hold the attention from the first reel to the last. Don't miss it!

just one installment after another.

The Boston Public Library has a new get-rich-quick scheme. It charges a penny for filling fountain pens.

Things to look forward to: The Tunney-Dempsey fight in September and the meeting of Congress in December.

Luck is the twin brother of hard work.

Appearance . . . to match its amazing performance

From the standpoint of utility, the NEW Goodyear All-Weather Balloon is the World's Greatest Tire. From carcass to tread it marks a revolutionary advance over other old style balloons.

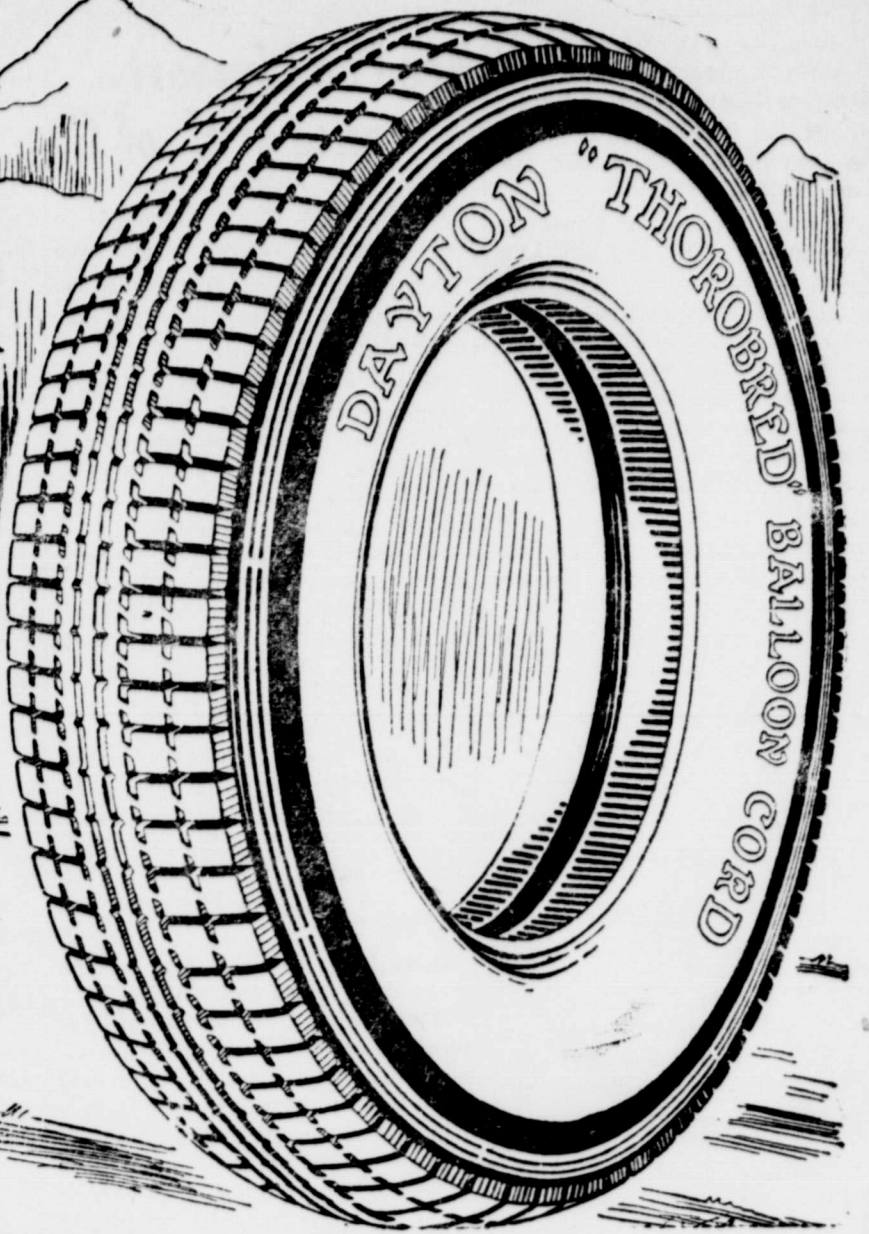

Its carcass is trouble-proof. Its tread has traction, safety, and slow, even wear—and quietness even on the heaviest cars.

Then add to these its appearance. You will name it, without hesitation, the World's Most Beautiful Tire too.

Until you see this tire for yourself—until we can point out its superiorities with the tire before you—we can't expect you to realize that the World's Greatest Tire is here in reality. Let us show you this tire today whether or not you need tires now.

Need and Importance of C. of C.

The following are quotations from men of national reputation and men whose knowledge of community relationship and individual responsibility is without question:

"There has never been a time in the history of America when a chamber of commerce was as necessary as it is today. Whoever cooperates in that direction is a real asset to the nation."—Warren G. Harding.

"The work of the American chamber of commerce opens paths of usefulness limited only by the degree of active interest which is shown in its activities by the community that it serves."—Herbert Hoover.

"The chamber of commerce is a component part of the great peacetime army of citizens of the nation, and its members all have an important part to play in achieving its objective—that of the welfare, prosperity and progress of the country."—Edwin Denby.

"You have in business as well as in politics those smug individuals who are either 'toobusy' or 'too good' to interest themselves in business development, who sit with their hands folded, taking no part in general business affairs, expecting everything to prosper while they share no part of the burden in the effort to make them so. It is passing strange, indeed, that these business men have to be urged to join organizations such as chambers of commerce, boards of trade, etc., which are of such vital concern to their material welfare."—Wm. H. Hays.

"I think it is wise for the business men of an American city to recognize that the roots of city business spread far out into agricultural land. On the other hand, it is well for farmers on the land to realize that their connection with the world of business is made largely through the city. The function of farming, on the one hand, to render a public service in terms of food products, is matched on the other hand by the function of city business, to give public service in terms of manufacture and exchange. When the service of the farm community or of the city community is self-centered, the public suffers. When these two types of public service, however, are performed as functions of society with full cooperation on both sides, the public gains."—Henry Wallace.

"There is today a greater need than ever for a spirit of cooperation not only between capital and labor, but between business and government and between different sections of the country, and it is through organization that this can best be brought about."—Calvin Coolidge.

"Men band themselves together for the sake of association, no doubt, but also for something greater and deeper than that—because they are conscious of common interests lying outside their business occupation, because they are members of the same community and in frequent intercourse find mutual stimulation and a real maximum of vitality and power."—Woodrow Wilson.

"The business man needs constantly to be reminded that he is not only a man, but a citizen; not only one, but one of many. He needs to be drawn away from his isolation; to be directed from the earnestness of his pursuits. He needs to be taught the advantage which lies in mutual confidence, and in concurrent action. This is precisely what the Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce is calculated to do. Its whole effect is to socialize, to liberalize, to harmonize. It softens the asperities of competition, it reconciles apparently conflicting interests, and it demonstrates that the common welfare is the best basis for individual prosperity."—From a statement published in 1869 on commercial organizations by Hamilton A. Hill, Secretary of the old Boston Board of Trade.

"The man who, expending his energies wholly on private matters, refuses to take part in public affairs, plunging himself on his wisdom in minding his own business, is blind to the fact that his own business is made possible only by the prosperity of all."—Herbert Spencer.

Ferguson Tells of Coming Race for Senate: 3 Toms

Austin, Texas, Aug. 29.—Another cycle of "Toms" is due when the barrier is sprung on the 1928 United States senate steeplechase, former governor James E. Ferguson stated Monday in commenting on the coming senatorial race.

Recalling that a decade ago three "Toms"—Tom Ball, Tom Jones, and Tom Campbell—made the race for the U. S. senate, Ferguson said that in all likelihood there would be three "Toms" in the 1928 race—Tom Love, Tom Blanton and Tom Connally.

"All of these 'Toms' want to go to the United States senate," Ferguson declared, "and to gain that goal all three are busy as a one-eyed man at a three-ringed circus.

"Tom Connally has the best war record and will get a majority of the American Legion votes.

"Tom Blanton is the most energetic man in congress. If he runs for the senate, the fur will fly and the campaign won't be 60 days old before it will assume a tom-cat aspect," Ferguson said.

The former governor predicted that Love would have 'three-fourths' of the Wilson strength in Texas.

"If Moody does not run for the senate," he continued, "Love will be in the run-off."

Ferguson wound up his session or gazing into the future political crystal by saying that he would not support any candidate that favored the League of Nations, the world court or national disarmament.

ECONOMY—EFFICIENT, CONVENIENT METHODS ARE ALWAYS CHEAPER IN THE END.

Foods cost more than fuel. Electric cookery eliminates the excessive shrinkage of meats always present with other methods. The perfect control of cooking time and temperature prevents the frequent waste of foods from under-cooking or burning.

Cooks With Stored Heat.

The use of stored heat, both in the surface units and in the insulated oven makes it necessary to use electric current during only a part of the actual cooking time.

Safety—Always a Vital Consideration

Just think for a moment how much it would mean to you to be forever free from the constant, ageing fear of fire from an over-heated kitchen range or from live coals or hot ashes, from matches, from an unexpected flame; to be free from worry over the ever-present possibility of escaping gas, or of an oven explosion—particularly if you have small children.

The Hotpoint Electric Range lifts all these fears—it is perfectly safe.

Return from School

The Neelys never have claimed that the truck farm will put the boys through four consecutive years of college work. From the beginning they have found it necessary to discontinue their studies at intervals to work on the farm, just as Benton found it advantageous during the past spring to come home from McMurry to help with the planting and plant setting. But they do figure that by giving their summers and occasionally other seasons to the farm, they will be able in the long run to make their way through college or pave the way to other jobs which will afford them an independent financial program in their future educational undertakings.

At present Carroll is a district cashier for the West Texas Utilities Company, his headquarters being at Munday, and James is manager of the Mid-West Poultry Association at Winters, each having had special preparation for his line of work in John Tarleton College.

It was back in 1918 when the present Lakeview site was part of a cotton patch, that Mr. and Mrs. Neely took stock of the situation and decided that they could not make enough on a 125-acre dry land farm to send the six boys and a younger daughter, Lucille, to college when the time should come for them to go.

Concentrate Efforts

The thing to do, they agreed, was to conserve the rainfall and concentrate their efforts on a smaller acreage, renting, or letting the rest of their land on the halves. To this end they ditched their hillsides so that the water would be carried into a lake, which they made by constructing an earthen dam across a section of their valley land. The dam, built on a 75-foot base, is 666 feet long and fourteen feet and eight inches high, and the lake covers approximately 10 acres, with a maximum depth of 17 feet.

In an unusually wet year the Neelys have found that they can conserve enough rainfall to irrigate 35 acres, but one year with another, they count on irrigating only about 20 acres intensively. Usually they plant part of the field in feed stuff and cotton, with the expectation of giving it one thorough wetting, and concentrate the rest of their efforts and water on 15 or 20 acres of vegetables.

Three Crops Per Year

Bell peppers and hot peppers, tomatoes, onions and cabbage constitute the principal crops, but if the water supply is adequate, beans, black-eyed peas, turnips and the like are grown at Lakeview. Three crops of black-eyed peas are sometimes produced in one year and two cabbage crops are often made, one being marketed in June and the other in January.

As the spring drouth cut the water supply short this year the Lakeview farmers have featured only the four main crops, cabbage, onions, tomatoes and peppers, with three to four acres devoted to each. Bell peppers are considered the star crop, with tomatoes a close rival. If frost stays off well into the autumn a pepper crop nets around $500 an acre, it is estimated.

Part of the Lakeview farm produce is placed on the local market through the merchants, but a large quantity is trucked and shipped to wholesale dealers in other cities.

Systematic Planting

Everything about Lakeview farm bears the stamp of systematic and economical planning. A 24-inch concrete block extends through the base of the dam and back into the lake 10 feet. Through this extension is a hole 10 inches in diameter, governed by an eight-inch gate valve, manipulation of which determines the size of the stream of water to be used. The hillside ditches have a fall of five inches to the 100 feet, that being the maximum rate of descent possible without washing the land. Irrigation ditches and crop rows have a fall of two and one-half inches, the decline which experiment proved best for the Lakeview site. Two five-foot wide hot beds, 240 feet in length, slope at the rate of one-quarter inch to 16 feet, thus allowing the water turned in at the base of the beds to seep through gradually, wetting the entire length of the beds from beneath. A half mile of road leading from the house out to highway 30 has been gravelled, so that Lakeview delivery trucks may lose no time in wet weather.

Surrounded as it is by dry-land farms, Lakeview truck farm is still considered by outsiders as a rather novel experiment in the Winters country, but the Neelys no longer regard it as an experiment. They are agreed that the irrigation project, operated as a family organization, has fulfilled its purpose satisfactorily so far, and they have confidence that it will continue to provide means whereby the younger members of the firm may put themselves through college.

Mr. and Mrs. Neely expect their son, Sidney, to arrive from Dallas about September 1 for a visit at Lakeview farm.

VELVET OR SATIN FOR FALL

FEMININE APPAREL SHOWS TREND AWAY FROM MASCULINE LINES AND STRAIGHT-FORM SILHOUETTES

BY HARRIET

FALL frocks, if they aspire to smartness, just must have a touch of satin or velvet about them. If they are afternoon frocks, they really should be fashioned entirely from one of these two slinky, luxurious fabrics.

For the whole trend of feminine apparel away from stern, masculine, straight-form silhouettes has encouraged the development of exquisitely lovely, clinging-vine quality materials.

The loveliest of these are the new transparent velvets and the rich, gleaming satins. These two fabrics are outstanding in the new modes for afternoon.

Cut Changes, Too

With the change of fashion from materials of crisp quality, such as taffetas, to the clinging sort, the entire style of outline and cut of frocks change too.

It will be soft folds instead of floating panels this winter. It will be svelte, flowing lines instead of pert, tiered effects.

The two frocks shown today are exponents of the new materials and the new modes. Both illustrate the grace new styles aspire to and both show the new touches achieved by clinging materials.

The first embodies two smart rules for fall—for it combines velvet and satin in its fabrics and it uses the chic color combinations—black and white.

White Atop Black

White mousseline tops black transparent velvet in this frock. Graceful folds in the skirt are held swathed at the hipline by a tight girdle that fastens with a jeweled circle on the hip.

The black velvet in interesting points, with hand-stitching in gleaming white overcoming any strangeness the two materials might experience at the meeting. The neckline, in Vionnet style, and the flared cuffs ending the tight, tailored sleeves, are both bound by bias-bits of the mousseline, finished by hand, of course.

Other colors might easily fashion this costume—two shades of green, for instance, or beige with one of the new soft purples. But the mode for contrasting materials is always successfully executed if one sticks to black and white. For this is a combination that becomes almost everyone.

Crepe Satin

The other frock uses the new beige-blond crepe satin that lends itself as beautifully to draping as any material ever fashioned. Its bodice is a delightful compromise between the eton jacket and the jabot frock.

From the left shoulder, front, and the right shoulder, back, there is a flared jabot effect that hangs over the belt and sways gracefully when milady walks. The skirt is semi-circular, with a pleated inset at the right for fullness.

This frock has a naïveté about its rounded neck and its tight sleeves buttoned into a tight wrist line only to flare into a mitt cuff that suggests an appealing modesty.

The belt, with its ornamental jewel encrusted gold buckle, is the exponent of two new ideas in women's modes—first the tailored belt with formal and semi-formal feminine modes—and second, the new belt-line which approximates the regulation waist-line.

NO PARTICULAR ALARM

We feel no particular alarm for Christianity because some 500,000 communicants have disappeared from the rolls of the Protestant churches during the last few years. Sometimes an army grows in strength by elimination; again, one is not necessarily lost to the cause of Christianity by the mere fact that his name has been removed from some one of our many denominational church registers. Big churches are not always great churches, and great churches are not necessarily large in membership.

KINDNESS PAYS

A 12-year-old boy stopped on his way to school in a small town to remove a tin can from a dog's tail. No, his playmates did not come to him and pat him on the back; that is, not immediately. A year later, while this same boy and a number of others were swimming, he became strangled in deep water and would have drowned had it not been for the dog, which belongs to one of the boys, jumping into the water and dragging the drowning lad to safety. Kindness pays.

THE FIRST AD

Somebody has found that the first advertisement ever printed in ink was in a pamphlet printed in London in 1695. It was a call for male help at that. Since that eventful day a vast volume of publicity has gone over the falls and to some minds advertising has become the most important factor in the business world. The printed page is ever its greatest and most vital manifestation.

A COON'S AGE

You mustn't say a "coon's age" any longer when meaning to describe a great length of time, because a coon lives only ten years. Didn't he live longer in former times, before he began to supply the college boys with coats.

GREAT HAZARDS

If Henry Ford begins backing motion picture enterprises he may yet have to walk home.

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

"There is still a fertile field for the small town newspaper," says the Memphis Commercial Appeal. "As a rule, it wields a great influence, and with few exceptions that influence is for good."

The great news gathering agencies keep the people informed through the daily papers on matters of general interest, but the country paper remains the only source of detailed information on purely local affairs. Men seldom become so great or grow so old or wander so far that they lose all sentiment for youthful associations. Reading the personals and other items in the old home town paper is in the nature of living over again the days of boyhood. For these reasons the home town paper is a welcome visitor in the office of a big and busy city man.

EVERY BOY A SWIMMER

Oscar Durant of North Carolina may be awarded a Carnegie medal for saving the life of another child. Oscar is an excellent swimmer and capitalized his knowledge of the art to save the other boy. Every parent should see to it that their children are good swimmers. Than the joy of splashing about in lake or river, there is no thrill closer to the boyish heart. Unfortunately, a lack of swimming ability each year takes an appreciable toll of life. With proper training, many of these fatalities could be averted.

LANDING FIELDS

While motor cars are causing railroad much uneasiness, the wave of popular enthusiasm over aviation threatens another danger that may seriously affect the long distance rail passenger haul. It is not impossible that within another decade the air will be full of flying machines. Every wide-awake city is preparing landing places, and it requires the exercise of but little vision to picture the not far distant day when the city out of touch with air traffic will be like a town cut off from railroad service.

Outside of working sixteen hours a day on their papers, country editors sleep and fish.

WELL-BALANCED MEAT-LESS MENUS

(Editor's Note: Paste this article in your cook book. It's one of the series by six famous cooks running exclusively in this paper.)

It's really a good thing to leave meat out of our diet once in a while. Cheese and eggs are very good substitutes for meats, and can be used in many enticing ways.

A very attractive menu is given today by Miss Margaret Allen Hall, nutrition specialist at the Battle Creek College of Home Economics. This entire meal can be cooked at the same time in the oven, too.

MARGARET ALLEN HALL

A Good Menu

- Macaroni and cheese
- Baked onions
- Stuffed tomatoes
- Strawberry shortcake

You may serve any beverage with this meal. Perhaps the family would prefer iced tea, served with slices of lemon, or lemonade.

Macaroni and Cheese

- 1 1/2 cups macaroni
- 1 1/2 cups grated cheese
- 1 cup buttered crumbs
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 teaspoon flour
- 2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon salt

Cook the macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and pour over it a dash of cold water. Make a white sauce of the last four ingredients and mix with the macaroni. Stir the grated cheese into the mixture. Turn into a baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until nicely browned.

Stuffed Tomatoes

Stuffed tomatoes are a real addition to almost any menu. 6 large tomatoes 2 cups stale bread crumbs 2 tablespoons butter 2 teaspoons salt 2 tablespoons finely chopped onions

Cut off the blossom end of firm, ripe tomatoes and remove the inside portion. Prepare dressing by placing the butter and onion in a saucepan and cooking until nicely browned. Add salt and bread crumbs, moistened slightly with juice from the inside portion of tomatoes. Fill tomato shells with the dressing. Place in a buttered pan and bake in a moderate oven about one-half hour.

Strawberry Shortcake

This favorite American dessert, strawberry shortcake, is always a treat.

- 2 cups flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 4 tablespoons fat
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup milk

Four Charged in Recent Robbery of Bradshaw Bank

Abilene, Aug. 23.—Charges of robbery in connection with the recent looting of the Bank of Bradshaw by a gang of cracksmen who used an acetylene torch and explosives, have been filed against four young men by Sheriff O'Bar.

Those named in the complaints are Aldon Hallaway, W. F. Colton, Eddie Doyle and F. L. Rector. The last three were taken in Oklahoma by Sheriff O'Bar and Hallaway, the only one who is now in jail here, was brought two days ago from Texas City.

Doyle, Rector and Colton have been removed from the Taylor county jail to a Central Texas town where it is understood they are wanted for investigation in connection with other robberies.

About $100 in small coins was taken in the Bradshaw bank robbery. Efforts to break into the inner vault were unsuccessful, although a charge of explosives was set off in the wall, badly damaging the safe. The loot was taken from the outer vault which was cut open by an acetylene torch. The torch equipment was left in the bank. Oeie Hunt, cashier, discovered the robbery the next morning, Sunday, when he noticed that a rear window was open. The window glass had been removed without being broken and the robbers evidently worked for some time, as a pile of cigarette stubs was found in a corner of the vault, each separately wrapped in a paper drinking cup taken from the bank lobby.

Indications of a fire that had been started within the vault were found and water was apparently carried from a portable drinking fountain to extinguish it. The bank's loss was covered by insurance.

Simmons Prepares For the Largest Number in History

Abilene, August 30.—Room reservations and advance inquiries for information that have been pouring in to the Simmons University office, have already justified the preparations which the school has been putting forward to meet the demand of the largest enrollment in its history this fall. These advance indications point toward a fall registration of over 1,000 and a total for the year exceeding 1,500.

Simmons authorities foresaw this increase before the close of the last spring session and began their plans which would broaden the curriculum, improve the facilities and take care of the largest and most varied demands for university work.

Two new buildings are now nearing completion which will help to relieve the heretofore crowded conditions, a new auditorium which will seat 1,600 people, and a new cafeteria, which will accommodate the whole university. The auditorium is a temporary structure to take care of the situation until the new chapel and administration building, to cost $300,000, is erected in the future, in the center of the campus. The present chapel hall is a good, practical fireproof brick structure, however, which adequately meets the situation.

The cafeteria is also a fire proof structure. An experienced New Orleans cafeteria man has been secured to run the eating house.

Other construction which is going on will be ready for the fall opening in the remodeling of the old auditorium in Abilene Hall into six class rooms and the remodeling of the dining halls and kitchens in the women's dormitories into living quarters.

The teaching force at Simmons has been increased to take care of the new and larger demands. Professional courses have especially been strengthened and expanded. The university plans to meet the growing demands for such work. Business Administration has been reorganized the department of Home Economics has been expanded to cover every possible phase of that work. A department of Journalism has been added to cover every phase of newspaper work, both reportorial and editorial.

Students who desire work done out of residence will have the service of a new department of Correspondence and Extension at Simmons this year. This department will be regulated and all work done in it will be recognized everywhere.

Simmons plans to keep up her record in extra-curricula activity. The athletic situation is bright with a new, reorganized coaching staff in charge. Frank Bridges, famous all over the South is head coach and director. His assistants, Leslie "Fats" Cranfill and Charlie "Potts" Anderson, two of Texas' most promising young mentors will have charge of football this fall, while Bridges stays out a contract in California. Bridges will report in January, maintaining in the meantime a direction over the university athletics.

In all other activities, the famous Cowboy Band, the debating teams, the university publications, Simmons offers the best of opportunities to her students.

But these are not all that Simmons offers. In all her growth, the pioneer school of West Texas has not abandoned its old democratic spirit of fellowship. Simmons is still a school where the instructors and the students are close together, where personal contacts are counted as dear and valuable as the hours in the classroom. Simmons seeks to build on the foundation of religious faith and endeavor, upon which it was established and to turn out the all-round man and woman—mental, physical, and spiritual.

THE BEST THINGS IN LIFE

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for September 4. The Best Things in Life. 1 Kings 3:1-7.

And the king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there; for that was the great high place; a thousand burnt offerings and Solomon offer upon that altar.

In Gibeon the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night; and God said, Ask what I shall give thee.

And Solomon said, Thou hast showed unto thy servant David my father great mercy, according as he walked before thee in truth, and in righteousness, and in uprightness of heart with thee; and thou hast kept for him this great kindness, that thou hast given him a son to sit on his throne, as it is this day.

And now, O Lord my God, thou hast made thy servant king instead of David my father; and I am but a little child. I know not how to go out or come in.

And thy servant is in the midst of thy people which thou hast chosen, a great people, that cannot be numbered nor counted for multitude.

Give therefore thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad; for who is able to judge this thy so great a people?

And the speech pleased the Lord, that Solomon had asked this thing. And God said unto him, Because thou hast asked this thing, and hast not asked for thyself long life, neither hast asked riches for thyself, nor hast asked the life of thine enemies; but hast asked for thyself understanding to discern judgment:

Behold, I have done according to thy words: for I have given thee a wise and an understanding heart, so that there was none like thee before thee, neither after thee shall any arise like unto thee.

And I have also given thee that which thou hast not asked, both riches and honour; so that there shall not be any among the kings like unto thee all thy days.

And if thou wilt walk in my way, to keep my statutes and my commandments, as thy father David did walk, then I will lengthen thy days.

And Solomon awoke, and behold, it was a dream. And he came to Jerusalem, and stood before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and offered up burnt offerings, and offered peace offerings, and made a feast to all his servants.

WHEN a man has the opportunity of choosing what he desires most in life his choice reveals his true character and his whole sense of values.

He may choose thoughtlessly something that is worth little, and as he regrets his choice he may feel that it has not expressed himself, that if he had only had more time to reflect, his true character would have been shown in a different choice.

A man may choose things that seem easy and pleasant, material comforts and satisfactions, and he may stand by his choice not regretting it even when he finds that life has given him all it has to offer with nothing for the future. There have been men and women who have been content to say "a short life and a merry one," and who have said it to the end even without apparent regret. But these have never known the profound satisfaction that comes to those who have made the choice of deep and lasting things.

Solomon's Wisdom

Solomon stands in religious history as traditionally the wisest of men because of this portrayal of his course in the making of his choice for life.

His great prayer was for an understanding heart, for the power to discern between good and evil, that he might be in all things able and righteous judge and ruler over Israel. If Solomon in every moment of his life had lived in the spirit of that prayer he might have been, in fact, and not merely in tradition, the world's wisest man.

A clue to something of his failure is found in verse fifteen of our lesson. "And Solomon awoke, and behold, it was a dream." Unfortunately it is much easier to have dreams than to translate dreams into realities.

Solomon hastened to Jerusalem to offer up burnt offerings and peace offerings and to make a feast to all his servants. If in every moment of his life he had offered to God a lowly and contrite heart, some of the things that mar the otherwise bright and glorious record of a great king and builder might have been obviated.

To Every Man

Does there not to every man come the opportunity of choice that confronted Solomon? It may not come in a dream; it may not come in some specific moment when some power stands before us to offer us whatever we choose; yet in a very deep sense, even humble and lowly men have the capacity of choosing what they most of all desire in life.

A man may have outward longings and ambitions that will never be fulfilled he may be conscious of capacities that his environment and his obligations in life may never allow him to develop, and yet under these very circumstances how many men have become masters of their character and destiny?

They have not allowed life's limitations and disappointments to destroy or mar their character. They have been essentially rulers over their own souls, and "he that conquereth his own soul is greater than he that taketh a seat." This is the way of truth, of triumph, and of wisdom.

Ranked as one of the leading automobile saleswomen in the United States, Mrs. Pearl Bollig, of Sioux Falls, S. D., has just been awarded membership for a second time in the exclusive 72-Car Club, a Chevrolet honorary sales organization. Mrs. Bollig was the first woman ever to achieve this honor, which requires the selling of at least 72 cars yearly.

Selling automobiles, generally regarded as a business restricted exclusively to men, is the latest field to be invaded successfully by a woman, who has even shown her ability to outshine her masculine competitors.

Mrs. Pearl Bollig, of Sioux Falls, S. D., the first saleswoman in the United States to achieve the honor of membership in the Chevrolet Motor Company's 72-Car Club, a star salesman's organization, has just been awarded her second year's membership, marking her as one of the foremost sales experts among the company's 14,000 salesmen. This record means that since August 1, 1926, Mrs. Bollig sold 72 Chevrolet cars, an average of six cars monthly, and has duplicated her sales performance of the year previous, which first gave her a much coveted place in the honor organization of the company.

Occupied with the manifold cares of a housewife, with two growing boys to look after, Mrs. Bollig's career as a Chevrolet saleswoman began with the purchase of a Chevrolet sedan for her personal use, back in 1923.

"I liked the car, and so did my friends," said Mrs. Bollig. "Then I thought I should be able to please others with the car because of my own pleasure in its ownership. I applied for a position with the Sioux Falls Chevrolet dealer and assisted in the Chevrolet booth during the auto show that year. I interested many school teachers, who found it a novel experience probably, to learn how to drive a car from another woman, and many business men bought cars from me. This was the first sales experience I have ever had and my enthusiasm for selling continued.

"Any woman who starts out to sell automobiles will succeed if she so conducts herself as to command the respect and confidence of everyone in her community. It is no job for a woman seeking excitement or a lark. It's hard work.

"I let nothing interfere with my work, although I never neglect my home and children. And I don't wait to let buyers come to me—I hunt them up by going from house to house. When I gain their confidence, closing the sale is not so difficult, once the prospect has overcome his or her doubts about dealing with a saleswoman."

Mrs. Bollig will be an honored guest at a banquet to be tendered members of the Chevrolet 72-Car Club in the district including Sioux Falls.

2.75 Per Cent Beer to Aid Dry Law

Washington, August 22.—Amendment of the Volstead act to permit the sale of 2.75 per cent beer was suggested today by James C. Waddell, retiring supervisor of alcohol and brewery control of the prohibition bureau, as the only way to put dry law enforcement on a fundamentally sound basis.

Attacking the present enforcement conditions as farcical, Mr. Waddell, who leaves office September 2, declared his advocacy of 2.75 per cent beer simply was a "suggestion to those Americans who wish to see prohibition enforced to bring about the prevention of drunkenness."

"It obviously is no wedge to pave the way for the return of the old saloon conditions because beverages of sufficient alcoholic content to become intoxicating are prohibited by the 18th amendment," he said, adding that his views "point to the same goal as those of the temperance organizations."

Assistant secretary Lowman, in charge of prohibition enforcement, declined to comment on the statement.

Senior C. E. Notes

On Thursday, August 25th, at 8:15 the members of the Senior C. E. met in the basement of the Presbyterian church for the regular monthly business meeting.

Reports from all the committees were given orally. The Endeavor plans to undertake and accomplish many new enterprises in the future. Gertrude Morgan, the newly elected president, presided at the meeting.

The three C. E. societies, consisting of the Intermediate, Senior, and Adult, have been holding union meetings during the summer months. It was decided last Sunday that, beginning with the first Sunday in September, the three societies will have separate meetings. The Senior Endeavor will meet in the basement of the Presbyterian church.

The winner of a beauty contest seldom looks very different from the other aspirants.

Colleen Moore Gets New Type of Role

The most fascinating role she has played on the screen is depicted by Colleen Moore in "Orchids and Ermine," coming to the Queen Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

A little telephone switchboard operator in the lobby of a huge New York hotel is the heroine of this humorous and romantic story.

"The telephone operator is one of the most interesting persons in the United States," says Colleen, who spent several hours daily for three weeks in a Los Angeles main exchange, practicing for the part she plays in the picture. "She must be fast thinking and fact acting. She must have the disposition of a saint and unlimited self control. In fact, she must be a very nice and a very unusual person."

A large capacity for trials and thrills is demanded of the operator in "Orchids and Ermine" by the author, Carey Wilson, and Colleen Moore fulfills every demand in her usual effective way. Jack Mulhall heads the supporting cast.

"Orchids and Ermine" will be at the Queen theatre Monday and Tuesday, September 5 and 6.

CLARK JEWEL GAS STOVES

A MESSAGE OF INTEREST TO EVERY WOMAN IN WINTERS

For forty years Clark Jewel Gas Ranges have been famous for their perfect cooking and baking qualities as well as for their many years of satisfactory service. These new Clark Jewel Stoves are better than ever, and a beauty of design and appearance has been added which has never before been equalled.

CLARK GAS RANGES WITH LORAIN

Cook By Time and Temperature

The Lorain oven heat regulator is a thermostat built especially to measure and to regulate, automatically, the heat of a gas range oven. It is operated by the turning of a Red Wheel. On the rim of this wheel are engraved temperatures ranging from 250 to 500 degrees, the entire range of cooking temperatures.

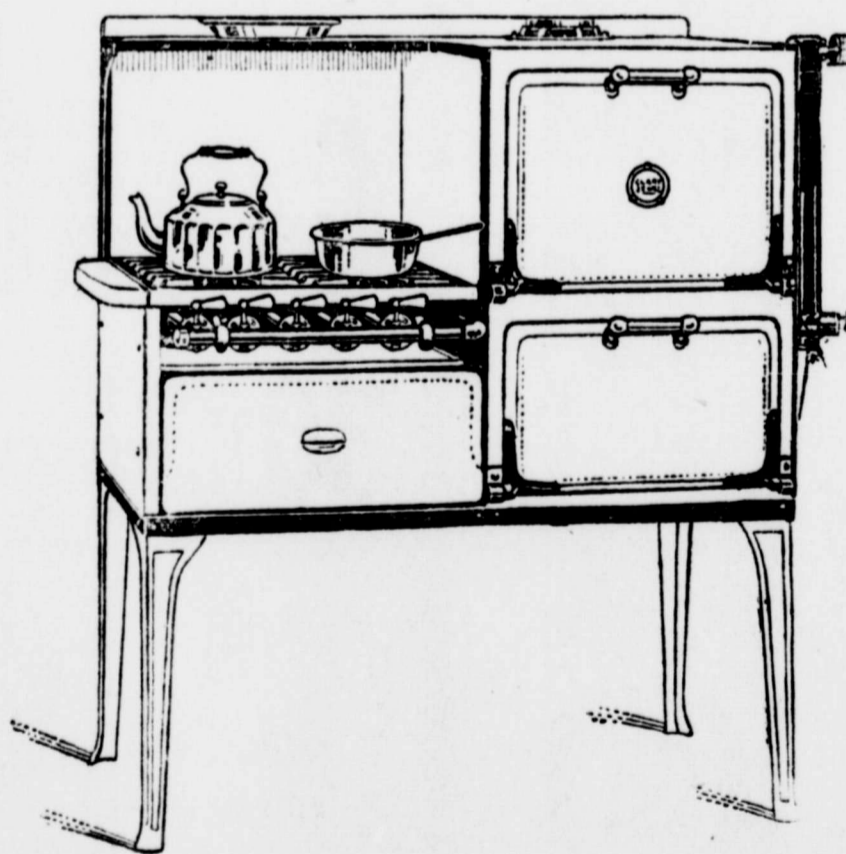

NOTHING TAKES THE PLACE OF AUTOMATIC REGULATION

No "rule-of-thumb" method, no "indicator," no "thermometer," will turn the gas up and down to keep the oven heat uniform. There are only two ways to maintain a given temperature in a gas range oven: Spend your time watching an ordinary thermometer and turning the valve by hand, which is never exact, or let the Lorain Regulator measure the heat accurately and maintain it automatically for you.

GIVE YOUR ORDERS TO THE LORAIN

The Lorain Red Wheel keeps the oven heat regulated at the exact temperature you want. There is nothing to watch. The regulation is automatic. The oven is self-regulating; all you have to do is set the Red Wheel.

Lorain oven heat regulators cannot be attached to any stove.

Do You Know--- CLARK JEWEL

Red Wheel Ranges are built by men with nearly a half-century of stove manufacturing experience. These stoves have always been famous for their durable construction and their dependable baking qualities. New models are more beautiful than ever.
