JUNE 10 LAST DAY TO SIGN-UP FARM PROGRAM

County Agent Barton was in the city Wednesday and stated that Tuesday, June 10th, was the last day for signing work sheets to participate in the new farm program.

Mr. Barton is very anxious to have all farmers of Runnels county sign-up for the new program, saying "some of our farmers who have not examined the actual provisions of the new program are already qualified by their farm practices to receive grants but do not know it."

"Even though a farmer may not be planning to follow the soil building and conservation practices stipulated by the new law, he may later wish to do so and if he has not filed a work sheet, he cannot take advantage of the law's provisions."

Here are three very good reasons why farmers should sign a work sheet before the time limit expires:

1. There are several things that can happen to any farmer's crop after it is too late to plant over. If he has filed a work sheet prior to June 10 he can come in later and plant the required number of acres in a soil conserving crop and qualify for a payment. If he does not have a work sheet he cannot do so.

2. If the farmer feels that his base acreages is not fair and should be adjusted the only way it ever can be adjusted is for him to file a work sheet and ask for what he feels he is entitled to.

3. There are some farmers who already are in compliance with the program's provisions and entitled to payment but who do not know this. Unless they have filed work sheets before June 10 they will not be able to collect even if they discover later they have met the actual conditions for grants.

Mr. Barton stated that he was very anxious to enlist a few farmers in each section of the county on pasture demonstration work.

Besides discussing the new farm program, county and local committeemen, in session last Saturday at Ballinger, plan to visit Tom Green county as soon as farm work is caught up with, where they will make a tour of inspection of the soil conservation work being doing in that county. As many farmers of the county as can will be urged to make this trip of inspection.

County and local committeemen also decided to have an exhibit or float at Ballinger on June 29th—Ballinger's Birthday celebration—showing the benefits of the new farm program. On this project, the following committee was selected: Bert Fletcher, Maverick; Ralph Burns, Wilmeth; P. M. Davis, Winters; Roy Pumphrey, Harmony, and Robert Lange, Olfen.

Mrs. A. J. Smith, Jr., and little son, are spending a week or ten days in the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Stephens, at Ranger.

Cooking is Cornerstone of Happiness Says Miss Hogue

"Beauty is the ear-mark that God gives to virtue," is a statement to be found in the literature sent out by Miss Jessie Hogue, lecturer and noted cooking school leader, who will conduct the coming cooking school in this city starting June 11, 12 and 13. The quoted statement above is written in connection with many other things of interest to housewives who are interested in better and more artful cooking. Further on can be found: "We need not power nor splendor; wide hall or lordly dome; good cooking, if modern and tender, is the happiness cornerstone of home."

All through the sessions of The Enterprise Cooking School emphasis is pinned upon simplicity, yet the beautiful; completeness, but every short cut to save time, worry and vexation; good style and fashion, because the old apple pie can be given many new dresses; romantic, in that it offers many a thrilling discovery and many a satisfaction of seeing that the job is done far beyond the ordinary, filled with hints on modern ideas about home-making and house-keeping, yet each one fully explained, in a language that is easy to listen to and to fully understand. Neighborly in its very fashion, and friendly in its every nature.

Miss Hogue claims that "friendly talking is the golden chain that holds the human family closely together," most particularly that part of humanity who manages the home—the housewife. So, in her own words, "The sessions of the coming cooking school will be spirited with neighborliness aplenty, friendliness that will be thoroughly enjoyed by all, and usefulness, in that every problem of the home-life-happy-kitchen experiences will be discussed with a frankness, and post graduate authority that all who visit the school may profit well."

The oft repeated fact that this Cooking School is scot-free to every housewife in this city and surrounding communities, cannot be stressed too much. It is free. You and everyone are invited, and you are doubly welcome. Be sure to attend every session.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL TO OPEN SATURDAY WITH BIG PARADE

FDR AND MANY OTHER DIGNITARIES TO BE PRESENT.

Dallas, June 3.—The Presidents of France and of Spain have been invited to participate in the opening of the Texas Centennial Exposition on June 6.

As President Roosevelt, vice president Garner, governor James V. Allred and other dignitaries arrive at the main entrance exactly at 12 noon at the head of a mammoth parade, words declaring the $25,000,000 Dallas World's Fair open will flash around the world. Nine seconds after jumping to New York, London, Tokyo, San Francisco and back to Dallas, will set up an electric impulse which will throw open the gates.

The world radio audience will be taken on a tour of the grounds while the President and the parade pass down the Esplanade of State, pass the Court of Honor and into the Cotton Bowl. Then the broadcast will shift to Madrid, Spain, where the President of Spain, if he accepts the invitation, will tell of Spain's discovery of Texas in 1519, and the years the flag of Castile and Aragon flew over it.

Thus will begin a dramatization of Texas' history under six flags. Next the broadcast shifts to Paris, where the President of France, if he accepts, will tell of LaSalle's wanderings over Texas, and his death on Texas soil. The broadcast then will shift for a Mexico City program and thence to Houston and Richmond. From Houston, General Andrew Jackson Houston, grandson of Sam Houston, the father of Texas Independence, will speak for the Republic of Texas and the Lone Star flag, and from Richmond, Dr. George Bolling Lee, of New York, a descendant of Gen. Robert E. Lee, will speak for the Confederacy.

The broadcast then will return to Dallas, and President Roosevelt will speak for the United States and the Stars and Stripes, sixth and last flag to fly over Texas.

The parade preceding the opening ceremonies will be like nothing that has ever appeared before in the United States. The only thing which can be compared to it is the Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade on New Year's Day, and where the floats in that are made of flowers the ones in this parade will be of solid construction. This Centennial parade is being produced at a cost of more than $100,000.

More than 750,000 people are expected to view it. Hundreds of National Guardsmen, State Highway Patrol officers and secret service men will help Dallas police handle the traffic. Traffic flow will be directed from airplanes circling above the line of march.

THREE UNCERTAINTIES ARE FACING THE COTTON INDUSTRY

Austin, Texas, June 4.—There are three outstanding uncertainties confronting the cotton industry at present, according to Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the Bureau of Business Research at The University of Texas.

"The most pressing problem of merchants, and especially of spinning mills which have bought cotton on call," he said, "relates to July futures: What will the Cotton Producers' Pool do with its long 300,000 bales of July futures contracts? It is undoubtedly in position to squeeze the people who owe these contracts. It is probable that a large share of these outstanding contracts represent cotton which merchants have sold to mills in this country on call based on July. To the extent that this is the case, mills will suffer as a result of any squeeze operations. The result will be the reduction of consumption to the minimum in the United States until after July is liquidated; that will tend to increase the carryover above what it would otherwise have been and thus injure the cotton growers.

"There are no official figures available to indicate the extent to which cotton growers are co-operating with the Government in its soil conservation program. The first official figure on acreage planted to cotton will be issued by the Crop Reporting Board on July 8. In the meantime, private reports indicate an increase in acreage over last year of between 12 and 15 percent. Probable foreign production of cotton has become of increased importance in recent years, because of the greatly increased percentage this production bears to the world's total production, and to its importance in increasing in cotton acreage abroad, but this does not necessarily mean increased production.

"If world business conditions continue to improve, the market will be able to absorb at least a two-million-bale increase in world production of cotton this year, without a decrease in price."

Nancy Hart's HOME NEWS

The woman who selects the correct shade and quality of face powder may gain little from it if she does not use the proper technique in applying it. How often have we all seen women actually smear their own faces? Others rub it in, grinding it deep into the pores. They would be shocked to know how little they accomplish. And they might as well leave the powder off, for all the good it does.

Powder should be dusted on lightly and generously. Then pat it around with an upward and outward motion. Take your time. You cannot do a good job hurriedly. Wipe off the excess gently and carefully, with a second powder puff, or with a special little soft powder brush, sweeping downward on the face.

Always skip the upper lids when powdering around the eyes, for powder on the eyelids gives an aged look. The neck should match the face, and if you do not wish to use powder on your neck, you must take extra pains to see that your cream or lotion matches your powder closely.

Powder a retreating chin first and a prominent nose last. Or, if you are deft, you can blend a slightly darker shade over the nose, or any other feature you wish to make less noticeable.

Chewing gum as an aid to beauty is one of the newer suggestions of the beauty specialists. Chewing, so they say, is helpful in keeping the mouth and jaw muscles firm. This is especially beneficial for those whose mouths are beginning to droop at the corners. And since chewing gum exercise is good, it naturally follows that proper mastication of food is also a good exercise for mouth muscles as well as teeth. Expression is a most important moulder of mouth beauty. A happy expression will keep mouth and jaw muscles up and prevent wrinkles.

It's a cool combination, dark green and white. And it's cooler still in sheer. One nice dress that would help bolster up a summer wardrobe is of green-sheer with a trim white design. The top of the dress is all green and the printed jacket is taffeta lined as sheer jackets often are these days.

All this vogue for veils has produced gay colored ones to wear with small black dinner hats. Green, violet or red—nothing more than a brief film over the eyes—are being seen on little dark chapeaux in the smart places.

Aluminum sulphate is the stuff to make silk stockings wear like granite, say Uncle Sam's experts at the Bureau of Standards laboratories. They admit it doesn't always work, but if hosiery bills worry you it may be worth a trial. Put the stockings into a hot bath of aluminum sulphate before wearing them, swish them around a bit, dry them, and in the future wash them carefully.

Household Hint: Put your wilted lettuce, romaine or other salad greens in a pan of water to which has been added one cup of vinegar. Let stand for half an hour and then take out greens, all crisply fresh and ready for the salad bowl.

The stubborn little boy grows up. Recently a man arrested for drunkenness was given his choice by the judge of drinking a glass of castor oil, or spending ten days in jail. He chose jail!

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hickman went to Waco Sunday to attend the graduation exercises at Baylor University. They were accompanied home by their niece, Miss Anna Lee Cobb who will spend the summer here.

EXHIBIT TO SHOW FARM FOOD WORK AT CENTENNIAL

Dallas, May 27.—Efforts of Texas farm and ranch families to insure an abundance of food of great variety and high quality for the family table at the end of the first century of the state's independence will be shown in one of the main agricultural exhibits at the Centennial exposition in Dallas this summer.

The exhibit will feature the quantity of canned and cured products necessary to meet the nutritional needs of all members of a typical family. Material for the exhibit is being collected and arranged by representatives of the Texas A. and M. college extension service. It will feature products collected from the storage houses of approximately 75,000 Texas farm homes.

Included in the exhibit will be tomato juice from the Jacksonville section, citrus marmalade from the Rio Grande Valley, cured beef and pork products from the Lubbock area, canned rhubarb, asparagus and cherries from the high plains around Amarillo, onions from the Winters Garden section, sweet potatoes from deep east Texas, strawberries and fig preserves from the coast country. Dallas county will supply pickles and relishes and there will be pears, peaches, grapes and berries, apricots, plums and cherries, carrots, pumpkin and sweet potatoes, lima beans, English peas, greens, squash and okra—all from central and east and west Texas. There also will be home canned sausage, pork tenderloin, chicken, and mince meat and country cured hams and bacon.

Needs of a typical family, as will be shown in the exhibit, require the production from 2422 row feet of vegetables in the garden of 4,785 feet of vegetables in the field, from one acre of fruit trees, from two dairy cows, one beef animal, two hogs, 50 laying hens, and necessary feed crop acreage.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Scott are announcing the arrival of a baby boy who was born on June 1st. He was given the name of Layton Dixon.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

WATCH YOUR STARCHES

Much of our food may be classified as starchy. We could not get along without a certain amount of the carbohydrate. It is only with excess of starch that I attempt to deal here.

Common starches are rice, potatoes, bread and cereals that are marketed under trade names. The admixture of sugar makes the starchy foods more tempting. We eat five or six times as much starch as we really need. Most any well-set dinner table has four or five starches, when one would be abundant. The well-living housewife sets on her table two kinds of bread always potatoes, maybe lima beans, or baked beans, cake, pie with starch crusts, and rice pudding occasionally! If I were permitted to hang a motto above the American dinner-table—one that would do good—I would certainly proclaim, "One starch—not four."

When too much starch is piled into the system, the liver is given more than it can do perfectly—and the liver is the largest gland in the body. It transforms all the starch it can; the overplus is deposited about the body and we become fat, mushy, flabby in muscle and mentality. We are overloaded with ballast. We have all sorts of "liver trouble. To cut down the starch is the only rational way. If we do not—then nature makes us sick—and we are compelled to diet in order to get well—and nine times out of ten, the offender is starch, taken in great excess.

Excess of starch weakens; makes us susceptible to disease. Watch your starches. Use one, not four. We find starches fully as harmful as meats, though highly innocent in appearance.

Gary Cooper and Marlene Dietrich Co-star in "Desire," a Fast-moving Film Coming to the Queen Sunday

FRANK BUCK'S "FANG AND CLAW," BIG JUNGLE
SHOW IS THRILLING FILM OF THE PERILOUS
WILDS, SHOWING TODAY, SATURDAY.

"Desire," the Paramount romantic comedy which will be shown at the Queen Theatre Sunday and Monday brings together that ideal team of screen lovers, Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper. "Fang and Claw," with Frank Buck as the featured attraction showing today and tomorrow. "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," 20th Century's romantic comedy starring Ronald Colman coming Tuesday and Wednesday has an unusual plot. Walter Abel and Gail Patrick are featured together in "Two in the Dark" to be shown Thursday night only.

"Desire" Romance, comedy, adventure—these elements are expertly joined in "Desire" which is highly recommended. The mood of this exciting picture changes constantly. One moment, Marlene Dietrich is suavely consummating the theft, through a ruse, of a costly string of pearls from a leading Parisian jeweler. The next, she is in danger at a border town in Europe, when the customs officials are unexpectedly thorough in their search. The encounter with the American vacationist, played by Gary Cooper begins with comedy and turns to ardent romance. The principals are supported by John Halliday, William Frawley and Ernest Cossart.

"Fang and Claw" The result of a full year of work, danger and hardship has been condensed into the less than two hours that it takes to unroll the film. The noted animal collector, Frank Buck, spent nine months in the jungle of the Malay Peninsula and northern India, and the balance of the year in traveling and cutting and editing the 100,000 feet of film to its exhibition length. This picture, which is said to be a most worthy successor to the noted animal trapper's preceding cinematic records of his jungle exploits. The picture reveals to the public some new secrets of trapping and outwitting the wary birds and animals of almost every known variety, the picturization being spiced with many hairbreadth escapes of Buck and the members of his expedition.

"The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo"

The picture opens in the famous Sporting Club in Monte Carlo, the gambling center of the world. Smartly gowned women and their sophisticated escorts gaze in awe as Ronald Colman, an impoverished Russian prince, runs a few francs into 10,000,000 francs and breaks the bank. The plot takes Colman back to Paris—the Paris of dazzling cabarets, boulevardiers and Opera de Paris. In the meantime, Colman has fallen in love with Joan Bennett, hired by the gambling syndicate to lure him back to Monte Carlo. A merry chase ensues which takes Colman through capital after capital until he and the girl whom he is trying to win land in Interlaken, Switzerland, world-famous for its winter sports.

"Two in the Dark"

Walter Abel, popular New York stage actor, plays the lead and Margot Grahame, lovely English actress, plays the role of a down-and-out show girl who aids Abel in the search for some shred of proof that will

Other prominent players in the cast are Gail Patrick, Eric Blore, Erick Rhodes and Leslie Fenton.

Miss Hogue Will Have Many Tips To Aid Housewife

"Sue saw six, slender, sapplings."
There's hard words to say in them there lines. What if they are hard, they can be said. There is a short sure, certain method by which any line can be mastered.

"So it is with the great master art of cooking," says Miss Jessie Hogue, the noted Southern lecturer and kitchen happiness harmonizer, who will be here to lead in one of the most useful and informative seasons of the Kitchen Chautauqua that has come to this city in many moons starting June 11, 12 and 13. She has many surprises for the housewives. It is all free, not a cent of charge for any of it.

"One of the little things that I teach my housewives who visit the Kitchen Chautauqua is that meals can be made more attractive and the testing laboratory of beauty for a meal is dependent upon, in a great part, a more perfected harmonization of the things that go to make up the meal-parts," says Miss Hogue.

"There are new and easy ways to gather kitchen-and-home-happiness, and I am glad to impart this knowledge to the housewives of your city and those who live in the neighborhoods around."

"Texas will advance very materially during the coming twelve months because of the Centennial spirit that is being studied and recognized by the entire State. Nothing is more important than the centennialization of the greatest of all arts—the master art—cooking. Such periods bring us face to face with giving our dead-level-best to what we are about. It has spurred my efforts to do so and I am happy to serve with it—happy of the opportunity to serve the women of this section of the county.

"The preparation of meals always so adorable, always so palatable, and always so happily-pleasing. That is the goal of my efforts to scatter such information among the housewives of America. It is a pleasant job that I have, I like it, and I am getting the greatest lot of satisfaction from the fact that my visitors, everywhere, like it. I love to please, just as all house-

Lufkin—Mrs. Nelson Cowart, yard demonstrator for the Odell Home Demonstration Club in Angelina county, had no stone from which to make a walk, so she used broken blocks of concrete from an old "dipping vat" which was nearby in making a flagstone walk three and one-half feet wide, from steps to front gate, according to Nellie Ward, home demonstration agent.

Gilmer—Three glass doors that have been stored in the barn left for years have been pulled down and with a few pieces of scrap lumber made possible an adequate storage space for the clothing of Mrs. W. L. Amos, wardrobe cooperater in Upshur county.

"The only cash expenditure for this clothes closet was for paint and nails," Lorene Stevens, home demonstration agent, reported.

Groveton—Fannie Mae Johnson, 4-H club girl of the Sager Club in Trinity county, raised 106 chickens and the flock produced 106 eggs, according to Clara Kettinger, home demonstration agent.

In her poultry work this year, eggs valued at $28.50 were consumed at home while $36.96 was taken in from the sale of eggs. Fannie Mae sold chickens to the value of $16.50 and furnished $12.40 worth for table use.

She also took charge of the churning and found sale for the butter not needed at home. In return for this, she was given one-third of the profit from each pound of butter sold. She made $6 in this manner.

Hempstead—As proof of the value of using fertilizer on semi-prairie land, J. V. Bush, Waller county agricultural agent, cites the case of A. F. Baethe who harvested last year 800 bushels of corn from 20 acres of land to which 2000 pounds of fertilizer had been added. The corn was valued at $400.

The $29.20 worth of fertilizer used by Baethe gave him an increased production on his 20 acres of 440 bushels of corn more than was produced on 20 acres of land of similar character which was not fertilized. Baethe cultivated his corn twice more than the average for his community.

Dumas—John and Dick Roberson, Moore county 4-H club boys who farmed 100 acres of land on the contour as partners, cut 208 bundles of feed per acre as compared to 225 cut by their father from uncountoured land, according to W. K. Cottingham, county agent. The feed was sold for two and one-half cents per bundle, making a gross return of $7.70 per acre from the countoured land as against $5.60 from the uncountoured land.

The land farmed by the boys sloped three ways. The slope averaged three and one-half per cent while that farmed by their father had only one and one-half to two percent slope. There was no run-off water whatever on the countoured land, but on the uncountoured land there was not only run-off water but a wash was started from a heavy rain that fell in August.

George West—A total value of $148 for one-fifth of an acre of tomatoes was received by Pauline Maguglin, Live Oak county 4-H club girl, according to her report to Miss Linda Sears, the home demonstration agent. Tomatoes were used fresh for three months, and 800 quarts were canned. The total cost of producing the tomatoes was $12 for seed and labor, and all tomatoes sold brought $1 per bushel.

Pauline reports that her success was due to wise selection of seeds, thorough cultivation of plants, and keeping the plants free of insects and disease.

Beeville—"I have added a pantry with 50 feet of shelving at a cost of $10 and have provided a home food supply of 539 containers of foods," says Mrs. Charles Sugarek of the Central home demonstration club in Bee county, according to Miss Lorena Yates, home demonstration agent. The cost of the pantry was for lumber to wall in a small porch in which to store the foods she had canned.

Her only other expense was for 100 tin cans, and her pantry is valued at $100. In addition to the 539 containers of canned food, Mrs. Sugarek has stored 115 pounds of nuts, lard and bacon.

Lovely "Sweetheart of Texas"

To millions of people throughout the nation, who have read with interest the Texas Centennial's booklets describing the beauties of Texas, lovely Janice Jarratt was known simply as the "girl on the cover". But in response to a wide public demand Centennial officials revealed her identity as the San Antonio girl who won fame in New York as America's best-loved model and became ranked as one of the world's most beautiful women. Back to Texas she came last week, and in an elaborate ceremony attended by hundreds Governor James V. Allred bestowed upon her the official state commission as "Sweetheart of the Texas Centennial." It will be her duty to reign with charm and gracious distinction over many of the scores of Centennial celebrations being held throughout all Texas.

CANNING FACTORY TO BE RE-OPENED ON NEXT TUESDAY

The canning factory will be reopened here next Tuesday, June 9th, it was learned yesterday. Canning will be done for the public on the same toll basis as last year.

Those who have beans and other vegetables ready for canning, will please contact the factory on Monday, June 8th, at which time they will be told just what day to bring in their vegetables.

People are urged not to bring in their vegetables until they have made arrangements for canning with the person in charge of the factory, as the supply on hand at the time you bring yours in might delay getting to yours in time to keep them from spoiling.

Remember, phone for date before bringing in your vegetables.

STATE AGRICULTURAL COUNCIL ORGANIZED

College Station—A State Agricultural Council was recently organized here composed of representatives of the twelve Extension districts. Each member of this Council came from a county farm demonstration council.

V. C. Marshall, Heidenheimer, Bell county, was elected chairman; L. P. Cooke, Corpus Christi, Nueces county, vice chairman; and J. H. Watson, New Castle, Young county, secretary.

The function of this council is to cooperate with the Texas Extension Service in an advisory capacity, in all of its Extension activities, including the administering of the new Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

During the first organized meeting recently at College Station, the members of the State Agricultural Council unanimously passed a resolution favoring all farmers filling out work sheets in the Soil Conservation program on the grounds that such cooperation does not obligate the farmer in any way, that it is needed to make the program most effective this year, and that it will help in the 1937 program.

Members of the Council who met here with the Extension staff and with the Soil Conservation Committee are: V. C. Marshall, chairman; L. P. Cooke, vice chairman; J. H. Watson, secretary; L. R. Conner, Perryton, Ochiltree county, C. H. Day, Plainview, Hale county; L. F. Johnston, Arlington, Tarrant county; H. A. Terry, Clarksville, Red River county; Terry Elkin, Midland, Midland county; J. Walter Hammond, Tye, Taylor county; T. M. Drew, Onalaska, Polk county; S. A. Burchard, Gonzales, Gonzales county; and Geo. Slaughter, Wharton, of Wharton county.

Aldridge Collins who has been attending Hardin Simmons University is spending the summer holidays in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Collins.

Constructive Banking

The growth of this Bank has been due in a large part to the loyalty of its customers and their interest in bringing friends and business acquaintances here to transact their banking affairs.

On our part, we are interested in them as business men and citizens of this community. Upon their welfare depend our own growth and prosperity. They may always be sure of our cooperation along the established lines of sound banking practice.

To this end, we are always eager to extend credit to our customers on any mutually sound and profitable basis.

HONOR IN PUBLIC OFFICE

The most sensational political event in many years has just occurred in England. A member of the British Cabinet has resigned because his personal honor had been besmirched by the actions of his son.

Somebody "tipped off" a speculator that the New British budget would provide for an increase in taxes. The speculator took out insurance to protect himself in case that were true. The news of his action leaked out, and it developed that the insurance broker had played golf with the son of a Cabinet Minister the day before the speculator had applied for insurance.

Nobody made any charges against J. H. Thomas, the Colonial Secretary, whose son had happened to be a friend of an insurance man. Nobody furnished any proof that the son had even said a word about the budget to his friend. Nobody charged that Mr. Thomas had ever even discussed the budget with his son. But so high is the standard of political honor in England that the incident stirred the nation as nothing else in recent political history has stirred it.

There was no alternative for the Colonial Secretary, under the British code of honor, but to resign his office. "Wherever Britons gathered," wrote one newspaper correspondent, "there was much sadness and some bitterness at the spectacle of a Cabinet Minister becoming involved in a scandal." According to one dispatch, Mr. Thomas is "crushed by the humiliating end that has come to his official career."

We are so used to public officials using the power of their office to enrich themselves and their friends and families that it is difficult for the American mind to appreciate the enormity of this situation in England. True we have on occasion dismissed from office and even sent to prison high officials, even of Cabinet rank. But it takes very flagrant malfeasance in office to stir up any deep resentment in this country. The prevailing attitude is that a man is a sucker if he doesn't take "honest graft" when he has a chance.

In the matter of standards of honor for public officials we can learn a lot from England.

People who believe that prehistoric monsters that once roamed Asia lands were peculiar to that part of the world will find reconstructions of the fossilized bones of huge elephants and saber toothed tigers at the Texas Centennial Exposition which opens in Dallas June 6. A million years ago they roved the Texas plains.

Experience teaches little to him who does nothing.

The more abundant life has certainly decreased unemployment among bill collectors.

Miss Ina Gene Davis has been employed to work in the office of Dr. J. W. Dixon. She assumed her new duties Wednesday.

HOW TO CUT RELIEF COSTS

The state of New Jersey turned the burden of relief back to the state's municipalities a few weeks ago. One of the first results has been to cut down the burden upon the taxpayers, in some instances to a degree that is positively amazing.

In the city of Hoboken, for example, there were 2,145 cases on the relief rolls, representing 7,344 persons, before the city took the relief job from the state. Within a month, this number was reduced to about 90 cases, representing fewer than 360 individuals. And there have been no food riots or public disturbances of any kind as a result.

Harry L. Barck, Hoboken's Overseer of the Poor, reports that all he did was to cut the "chiselers" off the relief rolls, by returning to old and tried principles in making the poor show convincing proof of their inability to get work and their need of aid: "Under the free-handed system," he says, "they didn't have any incentive to get out and scratch for a living."

Of course, there are many folks who think that to limit relief to the actual necessities of those who are really in need is a hard-hearted and inhuman procedure. But Mr. Barck, who has been forty years on his job in Hoboken, takes a different view.

"I'm in favor of giving the old American pioneer spirit a chance to assert itself, and it looks to me as if it were working now," he says. "These people must have gone out and found enough work to keep themselves from starving or they would be back here asking for relief."

F. W. FISCHER OF TYLER RUNNING FOR GOVERNOR

Tyler, Texas, June 2.—F. W. Fischer who is running for governor of Texas on the platform of paying old age pensions in full, is spreading his philosophy of taxing natural resources from one end of the state to the other.

"A new source of revenue means a new deal for Texas," he says. He thinks prosperity can be returned through taking the tax off of land and putting it on oil, gas, sulphur, etc. This new source of revenue would provide means of helping schools, highways, the agricultural interests and the Texas consumers of gasoline who are now having to pay a tax of 4 cents a gallon.

Fischer, an oil attorney who gained fame as a constitutional lawyer in the legal squabbles over the East Texas oil field, dealt the first death blow to NIRA when the United States Supreme Court upheld his contention against Section 9 (c) of the oil provision of the NIRA.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Washington, June 3.—The majority leaders in Congress are trying to speed things up so as to adjourn by June 6. The only two pieces of legislation which are labeled "must" are the new tax bill and the relief appropriation. And not all is clear sailing for either of them.

The outlook now is that the tax measure as it finally gets onto the statute books will amount to a net increase in corporation taxes of from 7 to 10 percent. Not many members of either house will understand clearly just what the affect of the new law will be, and considerable doubt will be expressed as to whether it will raise the necessary additional revenue. However, it will be a stop-gap which may reduce the amount which the Government will have to borrow to carry over the next fiscal year.

Relief and How
The relief appropriation has been complicated by the desire of many influential leaders in both Houses to prescribe how future relief money shall be spent and by whom. Secretary Ickes would like to have the spending of it, and Mr. Ickes has worked himself into a very powerful political position.

Inside the Administration, however, there is forming an anti-Ickes "bloc" and unless Congress prescribes differently, a situation may develop in which neither Mr. Ickes nor his chief rival, Harry Hopkins, Federal Relief Administrator, will have the final say. The talk is that Jesse Jones, Chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has been picked by the President to be the boss of both Mr. Ickes and Mr. Hopkins in all future public works, relief and other emergency spendings.

The cancellation by the Supreme Court of the Guffey Bituminous Coal Act has naturally revived discussion of the question of a constitutional amendment to give the Federal Government powers which it now does not have to regulate business and industry inside of state lines. While constitutional revision sentiment is running high, public expression in favor of it is being softened. The President and his supporters in and out of Congress don't want to complicate the Presidential campaign by bringing the Constitution issue to the fore.

Labor Relations Act
The strongest demand for giving the Federal Government more power now seems to be centered in the ranks of organized labor. Labor leaders feel that the Labor Relations Act will be declared unconstitutional when it reaches the Supreme Court, and the same apprehension seems likely to result in the abandonment by Congress of the 30-hour week bill, the Ellenbogen bill for regulation of wages and hours in the textile industry and the Walsh-Healey bill which would give Washington complete control of hours and wages of all concerns having Government contracts.

That a constitutional amendment may not be necessary to extend federal powers in case Mr. Roosevelt was re-elected is being pointed out by some observers. An alternative that is now being seriously discussed is the suggestion that Congress could readily enact laws extending the rights of trade and industrial associations to cooperate voluntarily for the mutual regulation of such questions as hours and wages of labor, apportionment of production, etc.

An example has been provided in the recent action of the railroads in getting together and reaching an agreement with their employees, in anticipation of the consolidation of all the railroads of the nation into a few great national systems. This consolidation has been the dream of far-seeing railroad men for years, and has been the particular hobby of Joseph C. Eastman, Federal coordinator of railroads.

The Rail Problem
The principal obstacle in the way of the acceptance of Mr. Eastman's plan of railroad consolidations has been the problem of how to take care of the railroad employees who would be dropped from the payrolls, or shifted to other parts of the country.

The plan upon which the railroad companies and the railway labor brotherhoods have agreed provides for pensioning or else continuing for a long time on the payrolls of workers whose services would not be needed and for covering the moving expenses of those retained who would be shifted to points remote from their present homes. No new legislation was needed to arrive at this agreement, so the way now seems to be pretty well cleared toward a complete reorganization of the railways of the nation.

Pre-Convention Talk
The political picture, which still focuses chiefly upon the Republican National Convention which meets at Cleveland next week, appears to be getting clearer. All of the signs point now to the nomination of Gov. Alfred M. Landon by the Republicans on the second or third ballot. Estimates of his strength made by several different experienced political strategists are in substantial agreement. He will have

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. H. Caldwell, of Statesville, N. C. "I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around." Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

World Fair Manager

NEW YORK . . . Here is the man, W. Earle Andrews, who has been named general manager of the New York World Fair, which is scheduled to open in 1939.

348 instructed delegates who will, of course, vote for him on the first ballot. There will be about 150 votes for "favorite sons" on this first ballot, most of whom, as well as a large percentage of the Knox and Borah delegates, are expected to swing to Landon on the second or third ballot.

On the Democratic side the most important event affecting the party's prospects is the declaration of Gov. Lehman of New York that he will not be a candidate for re-election. Mr. Roosevelt can conceivably be re-elected without New York, but his friends are concerned over his prospects in his home state with anyone else than Mr. Lehman running for Governor. Lehman has been the greatest vote-getter the Democrats have ever had in New York. With most voters voting the straight ticket, Gov. Lehman's popularity would help greatly to carry New York for the Administration.

BRUCE BARTON Says

FOUNDATIONS IMPORTANT

Now we are told that hard drinking does not cause sclerosis of the liver and is not, in fact, a direct cause of any of the other physical ailments for which it has so long been blamed. "Some persons" say a John Hopkins authority "can drink enormous quantities of liquor without doing themselves any harm. Others can't get a quarter of a small bottle without upsetting their livers."

That is because of liver conditions which existed before the drinking began. If a man has a good liver it doesn't make much difference how hard a drinker he is." In other words, if the youngster has grown to be sound and tough, nothing much hurts him; if he has a functional defect, everything hurts him.

The same thing is true with the consumption of Communism and other subversive theories. People who have sound reasoning powers are not likely to be much hurt by them. They can imbibe large quantities of cock-eyed economics and continue to walk upright. But give the weak or the very young even a mild dose of Utopianism, and they get giddy.

Says Schopenhauer: "There is no absurdity that cannot be fixed permanently in peoples' minds if it is implanted there when they are young."

All thoughtful men are in favor of the freest sort of free speech for adults, just as they favor allowing each adult to decide for himself whether he wants to drink or not. But it is a crime to put whiskey into nursing bottles. And it's no good trying out all sorts of half-baked theories on minds that are still soft and wet. In school the child ought to be taught those things which human experience has proved to be true. Two of those established truths are that whiskey can be very dangerous, and that Communism is the recourses of failures and fools.

I MUST CONFESS

My wife said to me: "Tomorrow we ought to go to Such and Such Museum to see the murals that are on exhibition. They are famous and are to be shown all over the country. We can stop in before dinner. It's just around the corner, right on Fifty-seventh Street."

But on the morrow there was some reason why I had to be late at the office. And the next day I had to go to Chicago, and one thing after another came up. Finally after a couple of weeks, I said: "Let's go tonight and see those murals." And she said: "It's too late now; they're gone."

That's human nature. For more than five years we lived almost opposite the Metropolitan Museum, which is certainly one of the great show places of the world. I had visited it in other years, but all during the time we looked down on it from our windows I never crossed its threshold. In that period we were in the British Museum and the National Gallery and the Cluny Museum and the Cairo Museum, and goodness knows how many others. In fact, we haven't overlooked much of anything in the way of museums anywhere in the world—except right at home!

When I was a kid I lived in Boston. After we had moved to Chicago we returned to New England one summer, and I promptly made a pilgrimage to Bunker Hill. We had meant to go during our residence, but it was so easy to get there that we never went.

I was looking yesterday at the big ships in the harbor and wishing I could go to Pekin. I think I shall go one of these days, but I doubt if I ever get around to the galleries on Fifty-seventh Street.

FLYING infancy

While Americans are establishing commercial air transportation across the Pacific, and the Germans are running their big dirigibles across the Atlantic, word comes that England is building huge airplanes for trans-Atlantic flights. These new "Empire type" planes of Imperial Airways will be bigger and faster than the "China Clipper" type of Pan-American Airways.

Already England is operating international airplane routes over a large part of the Eastern Hemisphere. The Dutch are a pretty close second, however. I had occasion not long ago to send a letter to a friend in Singapore, and learned from the New York Post Office that the quickest route was to send it by steamship to Amsterdam, whence one of the Dutch planes flying to Java would take it quicker than if I sent it by way of London and the English airmail routes.

Flying is still in its very early infancy. It is getting safer and easier all the time.

WINDMILL slow

The safest flying machine so far developed is the autogiro, which looks like a horizontal windmill. It can rise out of an ordinary backyard and needs no more space than a baseball diamond to land in. It can only fly about 60 miles an hour, however, which is pretty slow for air travel these days.

The newest improvement, now being tried out, in aircraft, is a combination of biplane and autogiro. The upper plane can be shifted from its flying position into a "windmill" of the autogiro type, for rising and landing or in case of emergency while as a biplane a speed of upwards of 125 miles an hour is expected.

SAFETY prizes

The largest organized effort to make motoring safer is the establishment by the Commercial Investment Trust of a fund of $250,000 to be used for educational efforts for better driving and safer roads. The C. I. T. is interested because it is the largest institution engaged in financing time payments on automobiles.

A long list of annual prizes and awards is announced for individuals and organizations doing the best work for the promotion of highway safety. Some brilliant and lucky individual is going to get $5,000 for making the most useful contribution during the year to arouse the public to aid in cutting down traffic accidents.

I hope that the committee in charge of this extremely useful and humanitarian campaign directs some of its attention toward uniform license laws for cars and drivers, uniform traffic signals and rules, and the penalizing of every driver who takes to the road with defective brakes or steering gear. Giving a few thousand drunken drivers long jail terms might help, too.

It's an old saying that no law is any good without a sheriff. We will never have real highway safety until we have more policemen patrolling the highways.

RELIEF church plan

The Mormon Church, which is one of the best organized religious bodies in the world, has set an example which it seems to me that other churches might do well to follow. It has adopted a plan by which every member of the church will contribute one-tenth of his income and in addition, the cost of two of the meals that he does not eat on the monthly fast day, to a fund to provide for every member of the sect who is in need.

That is getting right back to what seems to me the fundamental principles of Christianity. The early church was an actual brotherhood, in which all the members felt it their duty to see that none of the members suffered want or privation. The churches of America could solve the relief problem by themselves if they were willing to put those principles of Christian brotherhood into practical application.

RESPONSIBILITY ours

Dr. Arthur H. Compton, world-famous physicist, declared the other day his belief in a universal God as the original Creator, but added that God, in his belief, passed the responsibility for social evolution on to man with the dawn of social consciousness, some 4,000 years ago.

It seems to me that Dr. Compton's idea is about the best reconciliation of science with religion yet advanced. It implies that all human progress is a part of the Divine plan, which each generation must carry on, to the end of making human life easier and human labor lighter for everybody.

To me the most heartening promise in the Bible has long been that of the earthly millennium. Every new discovery of science, every new machine to lighten human toil and multiply the things that make for human satisfactions is a step toward the realization of that promise.

PROFITS sometimes aim

The motive behind many expositions which call themselves World's Fairs is that of putting on a big show to draw large numbers of visitors to a town or region, so that local business interests can make a profit by selling them food and lodging, gasoline and souvenirs. Staging a fair is a good way to bring money into a town.

Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition, of 1933-34, was a purely commercial enterprise, which paid back all the money that it cost and resulted in a

PENSION LEVEL $20 A MONTH

Austin, June 2.—Old age assistance offices said Tuesday a general average of about $20 would be paid approximately 65,000 persons on the pension rolls beginning July 1.

Based on statutory requirements as to need, payments will range from $9 to the maximum of $30, or $15 from the state and $15 from the Federal Government.

Texas recently was granted $1,181,250 by the Federal Social Security Board to match state funds accruing from liquor taxes.

"Payments will be based on need," a statement said. "It is also true that payments will be $20 a month to those whose needs require it.

"However, the general average will be about $20 to each old person on the pension rolls. This average is in itself $5 a month more to each needy old person than he could get if Texas had a blanket pension program of $15 a month only."

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hall and son, Broyles, of Holliday, were visitors here the first of the week.

MODERN WOMEN
by CHARL ORMOND WILLIAMS
President of National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

Thirty thousand wedding notices is the record of Miss Pattie Boyd during her career as society editor of the Knoxville, Tennessee, Journal, on which Miss Boyd has worked for fifty years doing all the jobs that a well-equipped and experienced newspaper worker does. She says her matrimonial announcements have brought not a single complaint, which certainly must establish another record.

Fashion shows are to be staged at Soviet collective farms so that the women farm workers may learn something about the new clothes and also how to make themselves look well in them, and how to carry themselves. The announcement sounds very much like a metropolitan fashion note. But it goes to show that no matter where women are or what their work is, they have an unquenchable thirst for news about what other women are wearing.

I wonder how many women will be surprised at the results of an investigation by Dr. Harry R. DeSilva of the Harvard University Bureau for Street Traffic Research, who reports that we are consistently lower than men in the physical skill and mental agility needed for driving automobiles. He says that women are harder to teach than men and that the average woman over 25 or 30 finds it almost impossible to learn to drive.

Women's demands for equality have reached the International Labor Organization of the League of Nations. There have been large groups of women vitally interested in this recognition working in Geneva. They are planning a campaign in June at the annual general conference of the International Labor Organization and are trying to have women delegates appointed to the conference.

Few people know that, next to servants, farm labor has consistently figured in the past as the occupation in which the largest number of American women have been at work. Since 1900 they have dropped from first
