Engagement and Approaching Marriage of Miss Ruth Jones is Announced at a Garden Party

Entertaining for 175 guests Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. John Q. McAdams was the hostess at a garden party to announce the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Ruth Jones, daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. H. O. Jones, to Mr. William Edward Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Little of Corpus Christi.

Guests were greeted at the entrance to the lawn by Mrs. A. J. McDaniel and receiving with the hostesses and the honoree were Mrs. H. O. Jones, Mrs. C. S. Boone of Woodboro, Mrs. Crawford Babb of Abilene, Mrs. Grover Heldenfels of Beeville and Miss Alleene Jones.

Cut flowers placed about the spacious lawn enhanced the beauty of the natural setting of the outdoor scene where trees and shrubbery with flowers in bloom made a lovely garden setting for the party.

The announcement "Ruth and Eddie, June 24," was revealed in tiny scrolls concealed in sea shells banked around a silver ship on reflector which held a miniature bride and groom. White feverfew gave the floral decorations to the refreshment table where Mrs. Roy C. Maddox presided for the serving of heart-shaped sandwiches in pastel shades, sand tarts and heart-shaped mints. She was assisted by Misses Anita Maddox, Joyce Henslee and Mary Sue Babb.

During the first hour, Mrs. Roy Mack and Mrs. C. S. Jackson ladeled punch and for the second hour, Mrs. Morey Miller and Mrs. Mildred Spill presided at the punch bowl. Miss Loye Korney was at the registry where guests registered in a lovely bride's book.

Others assisting in receiving the guests were Miss Bendena Spill, Mrs. Carl Carr of San Angelo, and Mrs. A. Bourne. Miss Marie Hill and Mrs. Walter Brian received farewell greetings from departing guests.

Besides the guests from Winters, out-of-town invited guests were Mrs. Carl Carr, Mrs. R. L. Holland, Mrs. Chas. B. Metcalfe, Mrs. Clyde Pratt, Mrs. O. C. Fisher, Mrs. W. D. Twichell and Miss Alice Twichell all of San Angelo; Mrs. A. K. Doss, Mrs. E. R. Middleton, Mrs. Dallas Murphy, Mrs. W. P. Babb, Mrs. Crawford Babb, Miss Mary Sue Babb, all of Abilene; Mrs. Wallace Jones, Mrs. George Kirk, Mrs. H. W. Lynn, Mrs. Marvin

I. N. Wilkinson went to Dallas Saturday to visit the Centennial Exposition and came back by Temple to accompany Mrs. Wilkinson home Monday from Scott & White sanitarium. Mrs. Wilkinson is convalescing nicely and if her condition continues to improve will receive visitors next week.

Auburn Neely of Southern Methodist University spent the past week-end visiting in the home of his father, J. S. Neely.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Rosson were visitors in Lubbock Sunday.

WINTERS MUSICIAN IS PIANIST FOR PROGRAM IN DALLAS

ACCOMPANIST FOR THE WACO ORATORIO SOCIETY.

Miss Anna Lee Cobb, senior student of Baylor University, was one of the two piano accompanists for the presentation of the oratorio, "The New Earth" when it was given last Sunday at the Chrysler Garden Band Shell in the Centennial grounds at Dallas.

The oratorio by Henry Hadley, was given by the Waco Oratorio Society and was under the direction of Robert Hopkins, Professor of Voice at Baylor University. Approximately 100 members took part.

Miss Cobb is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hickman of this city, who accompanied her to Dallas last week-end. She is an accomplished musician and will receive her B. M. degree from Baylor University next spring.

Miss Nell Shepperd of Ballinger and Miss Cobb went to Waco Thursday where Miss Cobb accompanied for the same program when it was presented at Waco Hall at "Twilight Hour."

H. B. MARKS BREAKS HIP IN FALL SUNDAY

H. B. Marks, aged 68, who resides 4 miles east of Winters, had the misfortune to fall and break his hip Sunday afternoon. The accident happened as Marshall Lee Marks stepped on the starter of the car causing it to lurch forward suddenly, throwing Mr. Marks to the ground. Mr. Marks was standing with his foot on the running board.

Mr. Marks had been in ill health for a number of months and was convalescing from his long illness. An x-ray was taken Sunday night shortly after the accident.

Although his condition is considered quite serious it was reported late yesterday that he is getting along as well as could be expected.

Miss Maxine Perry of Abilene spent the past week visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gattis Neely.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Duncan and Mrs. Lillie Lackey spent Sunday visiting with friends in Abilene.

D. M. West of Ballinger was a visitor here Wednesday in the interest of his campaign for representative.

FUNERAL RITES FOR PIONEER RESIDENT HELD HERE SUNDAY

J. I. GUFFEY, 84, DIED AT FAMILY HOME SATURDAY.

J. I. Guffey, 84, pioneer resident of Winters, died Saturday evening at the family home here at 6:30. He had been in ill health for several years and seriously ill for the past month.

Funeral rites were held Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from the Spill Brothers Funeral home with the Rev. J. W. Sharbutt, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Interment was made in Main Street Cemetery.

Native of Texas, Mr. Guffey was born April 18, 1852. He moved to Runnels county from Waco in 1904 and located on a farm 2-1/2 miles north of Winters, where he lived two years. He bought his present home in Winters thirty years ago and had resided here since. He was a member of the First Methodist church and for many years served as janitor of the church. For 14 years, Mr. Guffey was keeper of the Winters cemeteries, and took great pride in caring for them.

Surviving besides his wife are five of the eight children born to a former union. The children are A. R. Guffey of Winters; H. G. Guffey of Big Spring; Mrs. Helen Harrell of Mullin; Mrs. Lillie Garrison and Mrs. Howie Lowe of Elm Mott.

Pallbearers were H. L. Chapman, A. O. Strother, Mr. Bales, D. M. Moore, Jno. Sanford Brown, J. M. Skaggs, M. Luther Owens, and W. M. Hobbs.

REP. HORACE B. SESSIONS WILL GREET ROOSEVELT

Representative Horace B. Sessions received an invitation the first of the week in the form of a telegram which entitles him to a seat on the speakers platform during the broadcast of the address of the president of the United States which will be given at the Centennial Exposition at Dallas this (Friday) morning at 10:30 o'clock.

President Roosevelt will speak in the Cotton Bowl stadium within the Texas Centennial Exposition grounds.

Rep. Sessions left Thursday for Dallas and plans to return to his home in Ballinger this afternoon.

Eleanor Wilkerson of Blanket is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Gardner.

FIRST CASUALTY AT EXPOSITION

Helen Stamps, Texas Centennial Exposition Rangerette, flew 10,000 feet to Washington for President Roosevelt's party to wear to Dallas June 12. Opening day she wired Exposition officials she had been hired as a New York model.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT WILL VISIT IN THIS STATE TODAY

WILL VISIT HISTORIC PLACES IN SEVERAL TOWNS.

Leaving Washington by special train Tuesday morning, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, will take part in historic celebrations in Arkansas, Texas, and Indiana, according to press reports.

After launching Arkansas' Centenary Wednesday, at Little Rock, he went to Houston for a visit to the San Jacinto battlefield and the Alamo at San Antonio Thursday and made a rear platform appearance at Austin Thursday night. He will speak today in Dallas at the Texas Centennial central exposition and leave for Fort Worth, stopping next in Vincennes, Indiana, Sunday, June 14, and return to the nation's capital Monday, June 15.

The president is accompanied by Senator Caraway of Arkansas; Carl A. Crowley, solicitor for the post office department; Charles A. Jones, general manager of the HOLC; Brook Hayes, Democratic national committee man from Arkansas; military and naval aides, newsmen and members of the White House secretariat. Mrs. Roosevelt was to join the president somewhere in Tennessee.

WILKERSON FAMILY HOLDS REUNION AT ABILENE STATE PARK

GROUP GATHERED FOR FIRST TIME IN 9 YEARS.

Children and other members of the family of Mrs. D. S. Wilkerson gathered at Abilene State Park Tuesday night for a two-day family reunion. It had been nine years since the entire family had been together and the occasion was a happy one for Mrs. Wilkerson as well as her children and grandchildren. She is 74 years old.

The children who were present were Rev. and Mrs. Chester Wilkerson and children of Blanket; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wilkerson of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wilkerson of Crews; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hickson, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Gardner of Winters; D. C. Wilkerson of Coleman; Lloyd Wilkerson of Winters; L. R. Wilkerson of Bangs; and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Iden of Big Spring and the mother, Mrs. D. S. Wilkerson.

LECTURES WILL BE HELD TODAY AND TOMORROW, 2 TO 4

Opening session of The Enterprise free cooking school was attended Thursday by four hundred women eager to hear Miss Jessie Hogue, nationally known expert on foods and home economics. The school is being held in the Meeks building on Main street today (Friday) afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock and again Saturday afternoon at the same hour.

Those who attended the first day were deeply interested in the lecture given by Miss Hogue who in the course of two hour session gave many helpful household hints to the housewife. She demonstrated the method of cooking beef tenders, asparagus tips (Hungarian style), buttermilk pie, jam cake, pastry and tray of salads.

At the school this afternoon Miss Hogue will cook an Italian spaghetti dinner, garlic bread, beans cooked German style, a white cake and a pie. Each day of the school she will make a tray of salads and cook three vegetables.

Miss Hogue was delighted with the large attendance at the first day of the school and her sentiment was echoed by the hundreds of women and the few men that attended.

In the next two days of the school will be featured not only some of Miss Hogue's most wanted recipes but answers to many questions asked by those who attend and a number of usable household hints.

In addition to the merchants' displays on the stage attractive booths are featured by other merchants also cooperating with the school. Cecil Irene Reed of Sterling City, Frances Lyle, Mary Maddox and Mandylee Smith modeled attractive wash dresses for Joseph Dry goods.

VETERANS' BONDS WILL ARRIVE HERE TUESDAY, JUNE 16

POSTMASTER OUTLINES THE METHOD OF DELIVERY.

Veterans bonus bonds will arrive at the local post office Tuesday, June 16, according to Postmaster H. O. Jones. One full day will be required by the postmaster to prepare them for delivery.

Delivery of the registered letters will start at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 17. Registered letters will also go out on the routes that same day and all veterans living on the routes should be at home and be prepared to sign for the registered letter as it will be for addressee only.

After the bonds are delivered if the veterans want to cash them the postmaster will begin certifying on the morning of June 18th in the directors room of the Winters State Bank.

Veterans are requested to notice on registered letter, a number. The bonds will be certified according to the number on the letter. As it will be impossible to deliver all in one day veterans should be guided by the number on his envelope about the time his bonds could be certified.

It has been estimated that bonds can be delivered to thirty veterans per day and if each veteran will notice the number on his envelope and come accordingly he will not be required to wait for certifying bonds.

There are approximately 200 veterans who will receive bonus bonds through the Winters post-office.

Mrs. M. M. Ransom, Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Heldenfels and Richard Heldenfels, all of Beeville and Miss Mary Sue Babb of Abilene are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Q. McAdams.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Washington, June 10.—Nothing that is going on in Washington is as interesting to 90 percent of the officials of the Administration and the members of Congress as what is going to happen in Cleveland, Ohio, and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

In Cleveland the Republican Party is nominating its candidates and adopting its platform for the presidential campaign. In Philadelphia there is no question as to who the candidate will be, but there has arisen a sudden and violent discussion as to the platform, precipitated by the latest ruling of the Supreme Court of the United States, to the effect that not even a state government has power under the Constitution to fix minimum wages. Following on a series of Supreme Court decisions that the Federal Government could not regulate hours and wages of labor, this latest decision has precipitated the issue of Constitutionalism into the discussions of party leaders if not actually into the presidential campaign.

The Supreme Court's decision was in the case of the New York State law fixing minimum wages for women employed in laundries and hotels. The Court, by a five-to-four decision, held that this was an infringement of the rights of individuals to sell their labor at whatever price they were willing to accept. Chief Justice Hughes in this instance voted with the so-called "liberal" minority of Justices Stone, Brandeis and Cardozo, holding that it was the right of a state to protect women from exploitation.

Women Who Have Pains Try CARDUI Next Time!

On account of poor nourishment many women suffer functional pains at certain times, and it is for these that Cardui is offered on the record of the safe relief it has brought and the good it has done in helping to overcome the cause of womanly discomfort. Mrs. Cole Young, of Leesville, La., writes: "I was suffering with irregular . . . I had quite a lot a pain which made me nervous. I took Cardui and found it helped me in every way, making me regular and stopping the pain. This quieted my nerves, making my health much better." . . . If Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Since one of the principal avowed purposes of the New Deal is to insure a living wage to everybody, it is considered here entirely possible that the Democratic platform may include, if not a proposal for a specific amendment to the Constitution, at least a critical reference to the Supreme Court and a promise to work for a modification of the Court's power.

GOP Coalition

At Cleveland the possibility again begins to loom strongly that the Republicans may produce a genuine coalition ticket and platform. The proposal that the vice-presidential nominee should be an outstanding Democrat of the calibre of former Gov. Ely of Massachusetts, Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia or Lewis W. Douglas of Arizona, former Director of the Budget, has been discussed more or less academically for some months. It was brought to the front as a live issue by the New York Herald Tribune in a front-page editorial, which crystallized the party sentiment in favor of a coalition of Republicans and anti-New Deal Democrats, which had been voiced a few days earlier by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan.

Six weeks ago it was Washington's fixed belief that it would not make much difference what happened in Cleveland. The Democrats were sure, or professed to be, that Mr. Roosevelt would be re-elected regardless of anything the Republicans might do. That point of view, however, has shifted radically since the first of May. Instead of apparent violent dissension in the Republican ranks, the situation has developed into one more nearly resembling party harmony than has been noticeable at presidential conventions for a good many years. It is now taken for granted that the head of the ticket to oppose Mr. Roosevelt's reelection will be Gov. Landon of Kansas, and the confident feeling that Mr. Landon will be easy to beat is now not expressed with any positiveness.

Opinion Changes

Unlike any of the other gentlemen who had ambitions to become the Republican nominee, Mr. Landon is totally unknown in Washington. The prevailing attitude among Washington political observers up to a few weeks ago was that expressed by Postmaster General Farley in his Chicago speech in which he spoke of Mr. Roosevelt's prospective opponent as being "just a governor of a prairie state." That attitude has changed because of the reports which have been brought back to Washington by the hundreds of scouts who have been sent out to Kansas to size up its governor.

There is more sound political judgment and accurate political information under the hats of the veteran Washington newspaper correspondents than can be found anywhere else in Washington. That has always been true, no matter which party was in control. It is business of the Washington correspondents to know a great deal more than they can ever print about the personalities, the characters and the abilities of every man whose head appears above the national political horizon. They naturally form their judgments, in most cases, by observing how the man has conducted himself in Washington. In this case they had no such gauge to go by, so by two's and three's and half dozens they have been making trips to Topeka and getting acquainted with Gov. Landon.

Landon Rates Well

The reports which they have brought back have somewhat impaired the self-satisfaction of the Democratic leaders. Gov. Landon not only made a good impression personally upon these shrewd and experienced political observers, but their observation led most of them to believe that he

CAR REGISTRATIONS SLUMP DURING MAY

Registrations of new automobiles in Runnels county during May was rather slow, according to the records of County Tax Assessor-Collector W. A. Forgy.

Last month's registrations were as follows:

- Chevrolets
Patrick Chevrolet Co., Ballinger, 6 passenger, 2 commercial.
Jones Chevrolet Co., Winters, 10 passenger, 1 commercial.
  - Fords
Nance-Brown Motor Co., Winters, 2 passenger.
  - Pontiacs
Barnet Auto Co., Ballinger, 1 passenger.
  - Plymouths
Sykes Motor Co., Ballinger, 2 passenger.
Bourne Motor Co., Winters, 1 passenger.
  - Dodges
Sykes Motor Co., Ballinger, 2 passenger, 3 commercial.
Bourne Motor Co., Winters, 1 passenger, 1 commercial.
  - GMC Trucks
James Truck Co., Ballinger, 1 commercial.
- This is a total of 25 passenger and 8 commercial cars sold in May.

One reason why women can't keep secrets is because they tell them to their husbands.

would prove an opponent to be reckoned with seriously if, as seemed clear as this was being written, he has a united and well-organized party behind him.

Whether the vice-presidential nominee will be a Democrat or a life-long Republican remains to be seen. But for the first time in recent political history much attention is being given before the convention to the selection of the man for second place on the ticket.

18 COUPLES SECURE MARRIAGE LICENSES DURING PAST MONTH

During May eighteen couples were issued marriage licenses from the office of County Clerk W. W. Chastain. This was an increase of only one over the preceding month and was exactly the same number who secured licenses during May, 1935.

Those applying for and obtaining licenses last month were as follows:

- Claude Spann and Bessie Gene Brewer.
- Eldon Huckaby and Jewell Eason.
- Kenneth Garms and Norene Merrell.
- Will Jones and Zinnie Holland.
- D. L. Dorner and Margaret Hampton.
- Tom Frison, Jr., and Nina Barnes.
- Forrest B. Pohler and Rosa Huebner.
- Q. B. Agnew and Oriene Adams.
- Phillip H. Davidson and Edgar Parten.
- R. N. Dodson and Mary Alyce Duke.
- Lee N. Setser and Lettie Murphy.
- Fred Sturm and Olga Kruppa.
- F. Falton Pettit and Gladys Thompson.
- Raymond White and Jewel Fulton.
- J. F. Chandler and Linda Stehler.
- Ross E. Douglas and Lenora Maberry.

Two couples requested that their names not be published. Sheer material, as chiffon, will not pucker when it is stitched on the machine if strips of paper are placed underneath it and the stitching is done through both fabric and paper.

"RUNAWAY" BRINGS OUT CHEERING CROWDS AT SAN ANGELO RECENTLY

San Angelo, June 5.—Several hundred San Angeloans, including the mayor, "stood on the sidelines and cheered" when the first honest-to-goodness horse run-away in years was witnessed in down-town San Angelo this week. Old Sorrell, dragging a careening little garbage wagon behind him, raced down Irving Street, through a red light, over stop signs and up to the city hall.

C. T. Mahler, traffic captain, hauled in the runaway at the city hall. He had been apprised by telephone that a horse was heading toward the city hall. Police advised N. Barnes, the owner, to "keep a tighter check-rein" on his steed hereafter.

BRUCE BARTON Says:

NO JOBS GOOD BY THEMSELVES

We had a couple of college girls to dinner the other night, and one of them said: "The college offers a vocational course to us seniors, consisting of lecturers from prominent alumnae. I started to attend but stopped because it was too discouraging. Each speaker spent her time telling us that her chosen work is peculiarly hard and unremunerative, and advising us by all means to try something else."

Your heart probably will warm to this young lady because you can recall how the family doctor said: "For heavens' sake do not try medicine"; the family lawyer counseled: "Only one lawyer in a thousand makes a decent living"; and newspaper men pleaded: "Stay away. It means living a dog's life, working at night and always broke." We were all advised that all the jobs are bad jobs, and all overcrowded. Yet somehow we managed to get a toe-hold and push our way up a little, and we are still alive and eating.

For myself, I never discouraged young people about my business, which is advertising. I tell them it is a very interesting business and that I feel lucky to be in it. I can't tell them how to get in because almost every man and woman I know seems to have got in a different way. Few grow rich in it, but hardly any one wants to leave. Another business which I almost entered still has its appeal, and that is college teaching. I have also a lingering love for the life of a locomotive engineer.

I sometimes suspect that the importance of the fateful "choice of a life work" is probably over-rated. All jobs are exciting, and all are dull; all consist pretty much in doing the same thing over and over, but all have their high points, too. With a little imagination and good health, it seems to me one could be reasonably amused in the foundry business, or hides and leather, or hay, grain and cement.

SHOES PINCH ONLY WEARER

Two women were applying the verbal lash to one of their sisters who had obtained a divorce and was about to become a bride again. They had nothing but praise for the cast-off husband and nothing but condemnation for the wife. He was successful in business, handsome, and, if the women who were concerning themselves in the collapse of his matrimonial venture were right, a noble character in all respects. Any woman must have been crazy to discard such a man.

Plutarch, whose writings seem to cover the whole range of human experience, says in one of his moral essays: "The Roman who was taken to task by his friends for repudiating his chaste, wealthy and handsome wife, showed them his shoe, and said: 'Although this is new and handsome, none of you know where it pinches me.'"

People waste more words and do more profitless guessing in connection with the martial misadventures of their fellow human beings than on any other subject. For starting the tongues to wagging nothing equals a divorce. Wives are despised for leaving men who seem to be blameless, and husbands denounced for turning from wives who are presumed to possess all the virtues. But what can the critics really know?

The same sort of meddlesome officiousness goes on in the lesser affairs of life. If Brown's wife decides to go to Europe, her friends wonder how she can afford it, and pity Brown who is a hard working man and looks as if he, instead of his wife, should be having a vacation. Let Williamson make changes in his office force, and plenty of people discover motives that probably are miles away from the facts.

In one sense there is no unemployment in this country. You and I and a few more are busy tending to our own affairs, while tens of millions are equally busy tending to each other's affairs. Just a grand lot of volunteer shoe-surveys, knowing all about every shoe except where it pinches.

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers Are Coming Sunday to Queen Theatre in Musical Comedy 'Follow the Fleet'

GEORGE O'BRIEN DARES DANGER FOR ROMANCE IN "WHISPERING SMITH SPEAKS," FEATURE FILM SHOWING TODAY AND SAT'DAY.

The thrill of seeing Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers swing through striking new routines to tunes by Irving Berlin is supplemented for film goers by plenty of action and thrills in the co-stars' new nautical musical, "Follow the Fleet," to be the featured attraction at the Queen Theatre Saturday at the midnight prevue, also Sunday and Monday. "Whispering Smith Speaks," starring George O'Brien is showing today and tomorrow. Once more teamed with Leslie Howard, Bette Davis, the screen's most "Danceable" woman, holds him in "Bondage" again, and gives what critics declare to be the finest portrayal of her entire career, in "Petrified Forest" the Warner Bros. hit showing Tuesday and Wednesday. One of the happiest scapriest, family pictures of the year, "Every Saturday Night," will be shown Thursday only.

"Follow the Fleet" Things get off to a turbulent start when a bunch of marines find Fred Astaire teaching a gang of tough sailors to dance and make the mistake of talking about "sissies." The rough-and-tumble that ensues aboard one of Uncle Sam's dreadnaughts is the first of a series of action highlights that include a scrap between Astaire and Randolph Scott and some fancy high diving by the dancing star when he's forced to escape from guard duty on the battleship. Astaire as a sailor on shore leave and Ginger Rogers as a dance hall entertainer, step and whirl their way to a clean cut decision to the rhythm of Irving Berlin's songs.

It is the story of the adventures of a rail-road magnate's son when he undertakes to become a rail man himself. In the course of his adventurous wandering O'Brien chances across a dilapidated oil railroad which has a beautiful girl, played by Irene Ware, for a general manager. Fascinated by this unusual situation, O'Brien decides to stay although he is only a lowly track-walker. In time, however he gets his chance to outsmart his father, Frank Sheridan. The old rail mogul is negotiating secretly to obtain control of the old road on which O'Brien works because he knows that Miss

GRASSHOPPERS ARE MAKING APPEARANCE IN MANY LOCALITIES

POISON MIXTURE IS EFFECTIVE IN DESTROYING HOPPERS.

Grasshoppers can be controlled and prevented from destroying crops, stated county agent Barton, when the proper control measures are applied at the right time.

The following mixture if applied late in afternoon, and scattered thinly like sowing oats broadcast, along fence lines, old ditches, grain borders and other places where hoppers are beginning to eat cotton or feed. If poison bran mash is put out as stated above can even be placed in pasture where stock graze with no danger to livestock, but if this poison is placed in piles it is not only dangerous but expensive.

The following mixture has been found good:
25 pounds of coarse flaked bran, 1 to 1 1/2 pounds of white arsenic, 2 quarts of cane, sorghum or blackstrap molasses, 1/2 ounce of Anise Oil or 6 lemons (ground) and about 2 to 3 gallons of water or enough water to wet the bran so that when crushed in hand will fall apart when hand is opened. This 25 pounds will cover about 5 acres if thinly sowed.

Remember, best results are obtained when the fight starts on the hoppers as they first enter the cotton or feed area.

What makes Father's hair turn gray is the habit of his neighbors; always buying new automobiles when his bank account is low.

Ware's farm contains valuable deposits of minerals.

"Petrified Forest"

The story is set in the picturesque and colorful background of the Arizona desert, the scenes taking place in and about a wayside gas station and eating house a few miles from the real petrified forest. In this strange locale are gathered a group of the world's misfits, held there by a band of killers who are hiding from a posse searching for them, awaiting their chance to escape over the border to Mexico. At this strange gathering, Leslie Howard in the role of an unsuccessful author, disillusioned with life awakens to the fact that he can become of some use in the world by dying to give the girl he has suddenly fallen in love with, a chance to realize her thwarted desires. Bette Davis is the erotic, discontented girl who longs for a fling at life, which her misfit father and her crabbed miserly grandfather deny her. Dick Foran will be seen as a college boy, who has been unable to adjust himself to life, but who has an overwhelming passion for the girl.

"Every Saturday Night"

The picture details the affairs of a happy, scrappy family composed of husband and wife, their three sons and two daughters, and a grandmother. Plenty of talent was available in Hollywood but the difficulty was to select players who actually looked like they belonged to the same family. After selecting June Lang to portray the role of the eldest daughter and then using her features as a basis, the other members of the family were carefully selected.

Recipes And Menus

Denton, June 9. — Although canned foods constitute an important part of the diet and the highest quality is available, perhaps we would have a better appreciation of them later if at this time of the year we look to the fresh foods more in planning our meals.

MENUS
Breakfast: Blackberries, cream, plain muffins, bacon, milk.
Lunch: Chipped beef on toast, fresh spinach, Waldorf salad, cherries and cream, cookies.

Dinner: Stuffed pork chops, escalloped potatoes, cucumber lettuce salad, orange charlotte.

Breakfast: Fresh pineapple, bran waffle, coffee.

Lunch: Sandwich (Cream cheese, olives, bacon, toast), potato chips, ginger ale salad, cookies, tea.

Dinner: Broiled steak, baked potatoes, creamed onions, fresh pea-celery salad, peach shortcake.

RECIPES

Stuffed Pork Chops: Slit thick pork chops and fill with bread dressing. Put edges together with toothpick. Place in baking dish, and bake in oven. Baste with waste or seasoned meat juice.

Orange Charlotte: 1 1-3 T gelatin, 1-3 c cold water, 1-3 c boiling water, 1 c sugar, 2 T lemon juice, 1 c orange juice, whites 3 eggs, 1-2 pt. cream. Soak gelatin in cold water, dissolve in boiling water, strain, and add sugar, lemon juice, orange juice, chill in pan of ice water, when quite thick, beat with wire spoon until frothy. Then add whites of eggs beaten stiff and fold in whipped cream. Line a mold with sections of oranges, turn moisture, smooth evenly and chill.

Cream Cheese Sandwich: Spread evenly on toasted or plain bread cream cheese that has been worked to a smooth consistency (milk may be added) add chopped olives and crisp bacon.

Short Cake: 1-4 c butter, 1-2 c sugar, 1 egg, 1-4 c milk, 1 c flour, 1-4 t salt, 2 t baking powder. Cream butter, add sugar gradually and egg well beaten. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and salt, adding alternately with milk to first mixture. Beat thoroughly, and bake in buttered round tin. Cool, spreading thickly with sweetened peaches. Cover with whipped cream if desired.

On Texas Farms

College Station -- J. F. Rosborough, Extension horticulturist, recently gave some garden hints for the early June season.

In regard to Irish potatoes, he said, "In harvesting Irish potatoes, place them in a shady place as soon as dug where they can 'dry off' for 24 to 48 hours before storing."

He explained that when onion tops have fallen over, pull up the onions and pile them in a shady place and the second day clip the tops back to one-half to one-fourth of an inch in length. Onions of the Bermuda type can be stored for a short while. The sweet Spanish or globe type of onions are preferable for long storage.

Rosborough went on to say that, "Should the lower leaves on the tomato plants have small brown or black areas and the general lower foliage of the plant begin to turn yellow, it is a sign that leaf spot is starting, and the plants should be sprayed with one pound of bluestone, two pounds of hydrated lime to 12 gallons of water."

"At this time of the year, the orchard should be kept under close observation. The thin early varieties of peaches are subject to brown rot and to protect them, spraying should be done," Rosborough stated.

The Extension horticulturist said that the spray should consist of four pounds of hydrated lime, four pounds of sulphur mixed together with five gallons of boiling water. Heat until dissolved and add enough water to make 25 gallons of spray.

"Give the trees a good spraying now and at intervals of three to four weeks apart until the fruit is harvested," he said.

Some of the suggestions he gave on care of berry vines were to cut old berry vines now and as soon as all of this year's crop of berries are picked, cut the old vine off at the ground level, and leave the new sucker growth on which next year's crop will be borne.

"Young grape vines should be tied to the wire of the trellis in order to build a framework for next year's crop. The old vines making extra growth may be pruned at this time by pinching out the ends. This will prevent the vines from trailing on the ground, making cultivation and spraying less difficult," Rosborough concluded.

College Station--The State Agricultural Conservation Committee for 1936, consisting of seven members, has been appointed, it was recently announced by H. H. Williamson, Director of the Texas Extension Service.

The committee members, who will work out problems of the Agricultural Conservation Program during the year, are as follows: A. H. Montgomery, Darrouzett, Texas; J. H. Watson, New Castle; V. L. Cade, Slaton; H. A. Terry, Clarksville; George Chance, Bryan; L. C. Trousdale, Houston; and George Slaughter from Wharton.

Members of the temporary State Agricultural Conservation Committee, which has been acting during the last few weeks, consisted of L. C. Trousdale of 1935 Rice Board; George Slaughter of 1935 Corn-Hog Board; A. H. Montgomery of 1935 Wheat Board and George Chance of the 1935 Cotton Board.

Childress-- Mrs. Clyde Dennis, yard demonstrator in the Community Center Home Demonstration Club of Childress county has a windbreak planting for her yard improvement work.

On the north and west, 900 small Chinese elms, osage oranges, desert willows, and tamarix have been arranged in the best manner for checking wind currents. The inside row next to the house is of Chinese elms, the tallest of the trees, then a row of osage oranges, a row of desert willows, and last a row of tamarix, a shrub which grows close to the ground.

The windbreak will thus have the contour of an earth dam and will not be easily penetrated by wind. The orchard is planted inside the windbreak for protection.

"Windbreaks are a farm asset in more ways than one," says Mrs. Dennis. "They tend to protect the soil from mechanical injury by wind, and a belt of trees by the farm buildings protects them from extreme winter cold and summer heat and makes the home a more pleasant place in which to live."

San Antonio--Erwin Ripps, 4-H club boy from the Buena Vista community in Bexar county, recently sold two pigs for $31.25 which made him a clear profit of $15.15, according to a report of H. F. Schlemmer, assistant county agent.

The pigs cost Erwin $8.60. He fed them $7.50 worth of feed. The cost per pound of gain was approximately 4.5 cents.

One of the pigs, a Duroc-Jersey, gained approximately 2.40 pounds per day during the entire feeding period.

"The pigs were sold on the market at $7.75 per hundred pounds on a day when the market supply was high and prices low," the assistant county agent said. "This 4-H club boy's demonstration, however, showed that proper handling of livestock brings a profit in spite of low prices."

BECOMING HOUSE FROCK

Pattern 8626: Home makers do not mind the work of making an extra house frock or two when the patterns are so simple to cut and easy to make as the style sketched.

Besides being delightfully simple to put together this frock is very becoming, slenderizing and practical.

The square neckline, not too high—not too low with its shaped band is flattering to the face and cool in hot kitchens.

Short sleeves are trimmed with a similar band. You can see by the diagram how the sash is drawn through bound openings in the front and tied in the back, thus fitting the dress to the figure. This frock would be nice in a gay printed batiste or percale, with white pique trim.

For pattern, send 15 cents in coin (for each pattern desired), your name, address, style number and size to Patricia Dow, The Winters Enterprise Pattern Department, 115 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

PAYS PARKING FINE, ADDS METER NICKEL

Dallas, June 10.—Dallas traffic fines Bureau clerks, accustomed to listening to traffic violators rant about the unfairness of their fines, were astonished when a woman appeared to pay her parking penalty for failure to put a nickel in a meter. Told her fine was $1, the woman promptly handed the clerk $1.05.

"You don't have to pay an extra nickel," the clerk said. "It's only a dollar even."

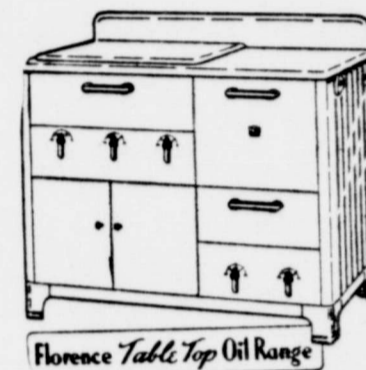

"Oh, that's all right," she replied, "I'd feel like I was cheating the city if I didn't pay the nickel."

The clerk said he would probably take the remainder of the week off to recover from shock.

HILL ANNOUNCES AS CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY ATTNEY

To the Voters Especially, and Citizens Generally, of Runnels County:

After mature deliberation, and careful consideration of the matter, I am offering myself as a candidate for the office of County Attorney of this county. I will state frankly and candidly, that I have previously to the past few weeks had no intention of again entering politics, but I have always applied the rule of service before self, both in private and public life.

I served this county in the capacity of County Attorney from 1928 to 1934. I have at all times during my tenure of office, tried to carry out the duties of said office, in a fair and impartial manner, without fear or favor to anyone, to the end that the Sovereign Will of the people, might be observed and respected. Evidently my earnest and sincere effort in this respect, must have left a favorable impression in the sands of time, which has to a very great extent moulded considerable public opinion and expression of favor to my policy and methods of administration.

As I take it, my faith to public trust, and my earnest desire to see justice prevail, equally and uniformly to all alike, has prompted numerous citizens, from various walks of endeavor in our County, to solicit me to make the race again for this office. I have declined the offer up to the present time, but feeling that perhaps my services, if elected could better serve the public and the several and separate interests of our citizenship as such officer, rather than my personal interests and ambition in private life, has prompted me to seek this important and responsible position.

I have nothing special in platform promises to make, other than I will give my entire time and effort to the carrying out the many and varied duties imposed by law on this office, and I assure you that I will add, as occasion requires, as many new planks as may be necessary to meet any emergency that may arise. I expect to make punishment for law violators, speedy, sure, and certain, and to conduct our courts and investigations, with a minimum of expense to the taxpayers of our county.

Should I make any distinction, or departure from general law enforcement, it will be applied to the specific offense of driving automobiles while intoxicated on our public highways, and strict enforcement of prohibition laws. The County Attorney has but very little to do with the enforcement of laws as applied to drunken driving, other than carry their cases before the Grand Jury, but under the present law, he is charged solely with the enforcement of our prohibition law, or at least, with the prosecution of all liquor cases, instead of the District Attorney as heretofore.

In conclusion, I have no criticism of Mr. Sessions in his work. He has been very nice to me, and I leave the matter of his administration to the people. If his services have not been satisfactory, then I believe that my twenty years of active practice of law, thirteen of which has been devoted to criminal law, and enforcement, will enable me to better serve you, and I will certainly use all of my experience and ability, in an honest effort to fulfill the needs of our citizenship in this respect.

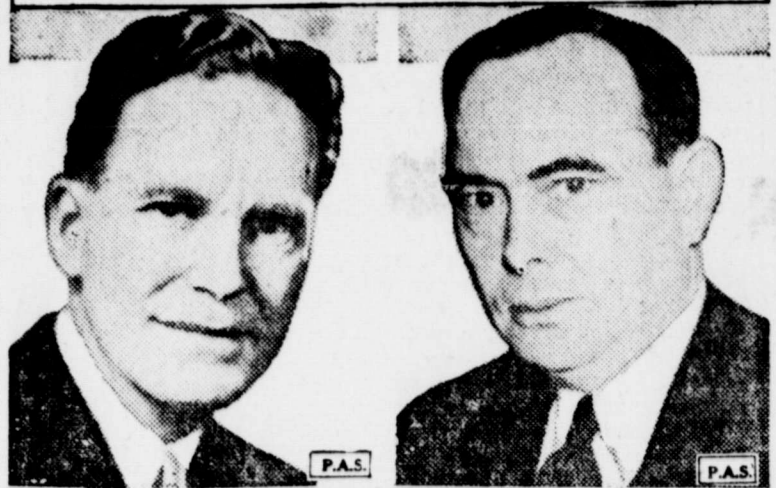

I was prevented in my last campaign, from sickness, in my family, and other unavoidable misfortunes, in seeing all of you in person. The time is of course even now limited, but I expect to see you before the campaign is over, and I will appreciate not only your vote, but your solicitation and influence in my behalf.—Very truly yours, ROY L. HILL.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER EXECUTION

The State of Texas, County of Runnels. By virtue of an execution issued out of the Justice Court, Precinct No. 5, Runnels county, Texas, on a judgment rendered in said court on the 28th day of April, 1928, in favor of Nance-Brown Motor Company, a private corporation, against T. M. Lewis, in the case of Nance-Brown Motor Company, a private corporation V. T. M. Lewis, No. 1204 on the docket of said court, I did on the 11th day of June A. D. 1936, levy upon the following described tracts and parcels of land situated in Runnels county, Texas, as the property of T. M. Lewis, and being an undivided interest of the said T. M. Lewis in such property:

250 acres of land, out of the Elisha Mather Survey No. 525, Abstract No. 368, and the Wm. J. Smith Survey No. 60 1-2, Abstract No. 1135, described by metes and bounds as follows: Beginning at a stake set in the East line of the most Easterly of the North and South road projected through said Mather Survey 436 varas North of the intersection of said East line with the original South line of said Mather Survey for the Southwest corner of this tract; Thence North 492 varas to the Southwest corner of a four acre tract set aside for a public school ground; Thence East 150 varas; Thence North 150 varas; Thence East at 1826 varas cross the East line of said Mather Survey which is also the west line of said Smith survey; at 1998 varas to stone mound in the East line of said Smith Survey; Thence South 15 degrees East with East line 665 varas to corner; Thence West at 172 varas across line between said two surveys, and continuing at 2320 varas to the place of beginning and being the same land described in a deed executed by J. H. Parramore to T. A. Lewis, now of record in Volume 44, Page 187 of the Deed Records of Runnels County, Texas.

And on the 7th day of July, A. D. 1936, the same being the first Tuesday in said month, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m., on said day, at the courthouse door of said county, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction, for cash, all of the right, title and interest of the said T. M. Lewis, in and to said property to satisfy said judgment in the sum of Sixty-Eight and 19/100 Dollars, with costs, and 10 percent interest per annum from April 28, 1928, and after said sale will execute a deed to the purchaser and place said purchaser in possession and apply the proceeds thereof to the payment and satisfaction of said judgment.

Witness my hand this the 11th day of June, A. D., 1936. E. E. Jeffreys, Constable, Precinct No. 5 Runnels County, Texas. 7-3-c

D. M. West

Candidate for REPRESENTATIVE, 92nd District

Your Vote and Aid Will Be Appreciated.

Subject to Democratic Primaries.

Who Told the Truth?

In the campaign last year I charged that Hon. Horace Sessions was not qualified under the Constitution of Texas to hold the office of Representative. His reply was that I was falsely representing him, and made affidavit, August 3, 1935, in his application for a place on the ticket at the special election, as follows:

"I have been a resident and citizen of the State of Texas, for a period of twelve years, and a resident and citizen of Runnels county, Texas, for a period of more than two years next preceding date hereof."

In a news item in the San Angelo Standard-Times, Sunday morning, June 7, giving an account of the appearance of Hon. Sessions and myself at Crews, Friday night, June 5, the item outlined what Hon. Sessions said in reply to my charge against him to the effect that the legislature made an investigation and exonerated him and also that there had been two sessions of the grand jury since he had made the above sworn statement and there had been no indictment for false swearing.

In its "Open Mind Column," of its issue, Wednesday morning, June 10, The Standard carried the item below from me:

If you properly quoted your informant relative to what occurred at the speaking at Crews, Friday night of last week, between Hon. Horace Sessions and myself with reference to our campaign for representative from this district, your informant certainly had a very faulty memory; in the quotation accredited to Hon. Sessions, as follows: "I will be glad to co-operate with the county attorney if he desires to take any such steps."

You make the above quotation following the statement made by Hon. Sessions to the effect that my charges against him had been investigated by the legislature and that the legislature had exonerated him; and also his statement that two grand juries had met since he had sworn he was qualified to fill the office and that no indictment had ever been returned against him for false swearing.

Personally, I am very glad indeed to hear that Hon. Sessions is willing to cooperate with the county attorney in the matter of a grand jury investigation. Since everybody in Runnels county is aware of course that the county attorney of Runnels county is Hon. C. C. Sessions and is a brother of Hon. Horace Sessions it might be a little embarrassing on the county attorney to start out voluntarily to find evidence on which to base an indictment against his own brother. I want to state that I too, "will be glad to cooperate with the county attorney if he desires to take any such steps." And to show my sincerity in the matter I "will be glad" to turn over to the county attorney the documentary evidence I have acquired from the proper officials at Altus, Oklahoma, under proper guarantee that the documents will be properly preserved and returned to me when the investigation is over. And it may be that some of the officials at Altus can be persuaded to come to Ballinger and bring the original documents should the county attorney or some other proper official so request.

Since you quote Hon. Sessions as to what the legislature did relative to the charge I sought to file against him, and he says the legislature made an investigation and exonerated him, I give the following from the House Journal of the First Called Session of the Fourth-Fourth Legislature, page 189:

"Hon. J. Franklin Spears, Bexar County . . . raised the following point of order: 'Mr. Speaker, this purported contest is not properly before this body, and no cognizance should be taken of the same, for the reason that Mr. West as an individual citizen who is not a member of this body, has no right, power or authority to question or challenge the qualifications of a member of this body.'"

"The Speaker sustained the point of order." And Hon. Sessions declared Friday night, as given in your columns, that there had been an investigation and he had been exonerated. The fact, of course, as disclosed above, is that there was no investigation and neither was there an exoneration. It also shows that Hon. Sessions, though he was charged with the lack of constitutional qualifications to fill the office, was willing to hide behind a technical ruling of the Speaker and thus avoid the facts being brought out on him. I offered Friday night, and the offer is still open, that if the documents I hold do not establish that the charges I made against him are true and correct in every particular as regards his residence in Texas, I will quit the race.

With reference to the "mud slinging" about which you quote Hon. Sessions, it seems he forgot about "mud slinging" last year when he went about over the district and asserted that I was making false accusation against him as to his not being constitutionally qualified to fill the office. It seems "the worm has turned." There must be something in what a lady voter was heard to remark about the matter the other day. She said, "No, Hon. Sessions will not 'sling mud' now, for he is going to be so busy trying to keep away from the mud he has already made, he will not have time to do any slinging."

My friends and I, Mr. Editor, will appreciate your printing this statement of the facts as to what occurred the other night at Crews, so far as the writer heard or knows about the matter. If Hon. Sessions has proposed to cooperate with the county attorney and other proper officials relative to what he terms "false swearing," I assure you that I am likewise willing and anxious to cooperate—for, I recognize that I have brought a serious charge against him and if it is not true, then, I should be exposed to the humiliation of making a false charge of such serious import against him and he should be exonerated.—D. M. WEST.

I SUBMIT THE FOLLOWING:
1st. If I made a false accusation against Hon. Sessions, serious as the above, then, I do not deserve a single vote from the citizenship of the 92nd District—hence, if I cannot prove by the documents I hold that my charges in every particular are wholly true, I will withdraw from the race.

2nd. If I prove I truthfully charged Hon. Sessions, in that event—well, I will leave it to the voters of the 92nd district to say whether or not he should be elected again.

Note—Hon. Sessions has turned "cry baby" and says that he is not going to "sling mud." I am not going to "sling mud" either. To "sling mud" means to circulate false statements about the one of whom you are speaking. I am only concerned about getting the facts before the people that they may know that I am not guilty as Hon. Sessions has charged, namely, circulating false statements about him—for, until I can clear my own name of his imputations I am not fit to ask the people for their confidence and public trust. When I shall have given the facts in the documents I hold which fully exonerated me and prove that I told only the truth on Hon. Sessions, then, I will be ready to go to the people with my platform and appeal in my own behalf, with reference to their electing me to represent them in the legislature.

Gold Bricks, at $14,000 Each, Become Chief Output of Mints

Washington, D. C.—Mass production of nicely polished gold bricks has become one of the chief occupations of the mints.

The gold coins, once popular as Christmas and birthday gifts, are being turned into bars with the regularity of automobiles running off an assembly line. Each, about the size of an ordinary building brick, Miss Mary M. O'Reilly, assistant director of the Bureau of the Mint, said Thursday, contains 400 ounces of gold valued at $14,000.

The coins were outlawed two years ago. In accordance with new deal monetary policy, Congress enacted legislation empowering President Roosevelt to revalue the dollar and forbidding the future circulation of gold as currency. With that, the mints began smelting gold coins as rapidly as capacity would permit.

The coins are cleaned, and James H. H. Low, Ray Powers, Lora Hinds, A. T. Lindley and Peggy Jean, L. T. Smith, V. A. White, J. W. Dixon, M. W. Carlisle, W. H. Brown, A. D. Smith, S. H. Davidson, D. B. Thornton, and C. L. Cooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Adams and son, Gilbert, attended the wedding of Elo Michaelis and Miss LeBelle at San Angelo Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Young and baby left last Sunday for Dodd City where they are visiting with relatives.

FIRST INSTALLMENT

For two days now a most continuous stream of traffic had flowed back and forth along the road. The weather was dry, and dust thrown up by passing vehicles had settled upon grass and shrubbery. It penetrated Mrs. Holmes' house and covered its scanty furnishings with a thin, gray coating; it hung in the air and choked her. Dust was nothing new to her—in fact, dust, grime, disorder were nearly always present in her house—but now its taste was irritating and it caused her to revile the sight-seers who had turned this back road into a busy thoroughfare.

All were morbid curiosity-seekers; they were bound to or from the scene of the Ethridge murder. Mary Holmes had heard the news of the crime while she was feeding her geese two mornings before, and had hurried up the road as fast as she could go. She had been one of the first to reach the scene of the tragedy, arriving nearly an hour ahead of the policemen and the newspaper reporters. Inasmuch as she had known Amos Ethridge quite well and was his nearest neighbor, naturally she had come in for a good deal of questioning. She had little to tell, nevertheless it had been an exciting experience; it had reminded her of old times to answer and to pry quick, searching questions, while reportorial pencils flew to keep pace with her words. The reporters had started at her curiously and had wanted to know who she was—all about her, in fact—but she had been sly enough to give them no satisfaction.

She had remained there all day, mingling with the ever-growing crowd, discussing the case with townspeople whom she knew only by sight, rubbing shoulders and talking with utter strangers; she had walked home at dusk with a new feeling of consequence, with her head higher than usual, and with her heart pounding. As she prepared her supper she had even ventured cautiously to sing a few notes—the first in more than a year.

Anticipation of seeing her name in print once again had affected her so queerly that she slept little during the night and was up and waiting agitatedly for the rural deliveryman. But when she had read the morning papers, when she had seen herself through the eyes of those reporters, she had been stunned, stupefied.

"The person living nearest to the scene of the tragedy is Mary Holmes, a middle-aged, slatternly creature who occupies a wretched hovel and runs a small chicken ranch at the rear of the Ethridge estate," the first account ran. Mrs. Holmes had read on dizzily. "She is reputed to be a drunken, irresponsible character of violent temper and eccentric habits, nevertheless she shows surprising intelligence and unmistakable signs of education. She was positive in her statement—" etc.

The other paper had been equally uncomplimentary. It referred to her as "the goose woman" and it described her as "a queer, bedraggled, old hag with the stride of an Amazon and the airs of a queen."

Mary Holmes had torn the papers to bits, and later, when representatives of the afternoon papers came to interview her, she had refused to talk to them. But the Ethridge case had grown in importance; the Chicago papers had rushed men to Westland by the first train and these newcomers were even more inquisitive than the local newspapermen. This morning, in self-defense, Mary Holmes had wired up her gate and nailed a sign to it which read:

Keep off. Reporters trespassing on this place will be shot. She sat now inside the open window of her front room where she could watch the automobiles coming and going and hear what the occupants said when they stopped to stare at her premises or to read her sign. Evidently the term "goose woman" had stuck, for she heard it over and over again. The manner in which it was used, the laughter and the comment evoked by her warning sign, were so offensive that she turned for comfort to her gin bottle.

As to the crime itself, it had created a genuine sensation. The murder of a man as prominent as Amos Ethridge was bound to prove front-page news, for he was more than a figure of local importance. To begin with, he was, or had been, a man of immense wealth—the richest man in the whole state—a political power, and in all probability the next Governor. Moreover, the manner of his slaying, the circumstances surrounding it and the evident ferocity of his assassin, had rendered the crime peculiarly shocking. He had been shot to death, riddled with seven bullets, while returning to his home late Thursday night. His body had not been discovered until the following morning; then it was found lying in a lane which connected a back road with the rear of his handsome estate and upon its breast was laid a cross made of two dead twigs which had been hurriedly tied together. Neither the body nor its immediate surroundings revealed any clue to the identity of the slayer; nothing indicated any reason whatever for the crime unless a letter found in one of Ethridge's pockets was an indication. This letter, which, by the way, was delicately scented, had come through the mail and bore the local Westland postmark; the writing upon the envelope was in a woman's hand, and inside was a sheet of plain notepaper containing the one word, "Thursday." There was no signature.

Why, in the first place, a bachelor who could come and go at his will should make use of a narrow, unlighted back road instead of the broad, macadam thoroughfare which passed his massive front gates was puzzling—why that cross had been laid upon the body; why, in fact, anyone should wish to kill Amos Ethridge—all were matters of pure conjecture. Questions like these lent mystery to the affair, and that laconic, perfumed note which might have been either a warning or an assignation spiced it with a suggestion of scandal just sufficient to intensify general interest.

Mary Holmes dozed in her rocking chair. She was aroused by the glare of an automobile horn and by the sound of voices. A car in which were several men had stopped before her house; one member of the party had stepped down and was trying to disengage the wire fastenings of the gate; another, with a press camera over his shoulder, was getting out. The man at the gate started to climb the fence, but he was halted midway by a challenge from the house, and looked up to discover that a tall woman in a faded gingham dress had emerged upon the porch and was facing him threateningly. She was a vigorous woman, long-limbed and erect, and she carried her chin high. In spite of her ill-fitting garments, her flat, shapeless shoes, and her untidy hair, there was an air of command about her and an appearance of some consequence. That which caused the fence climber to freeze into immobility however, was the sight of a shotgun in her hands.

"I take it," he began cheerily. "Get off that fence!"

"Tell her who you are," one of the fellows in the car directed. The photographer hurriedly opened the clasps of his camera case.

"We're newspaper men from Chicago. We've been sent down here on the Ethridge case and we—"

"If you are reporters, you can probably read," Mrs. Holmes told him. "What does that sign say?"

"Now see here, this is a big story and it's getting bigger every hour. You can't shoot us for trying to get the facts and—"

"Can't I?"

"You knew Amos Ethridge, didn't you?"

"Perhaps."

"You heard the shots, Thursday night?"

"Did I?"

"That's what you told the local reporters. Come on, talk to us. We want to get your picture, too."

"I've been talking to you and you heard what I said."

"But, Mrs. Holmes—"

"You want a picture, do you? Bah! You're all alike. Vultures! Jackals!" The woman's voice rose in sudden anger. "You read what these Westland papers said about me, didn't you? Well, get out!"

"Mr. Ethridge used this road a good deal. I understand. At night, I mean? You probably saw or heard his car that night? All we want is a brief statement from you." Unobtrusively, the speaker shifted his weight, lifted himself further over the fence. "We city men have an altogether different theory from these—"

The woman on the porch cocked her shotgun and raised it, saying, grimly:

"I shall count three."

"Oh, come now! Don't be foolish!"

"One! Two!"

"Go ahead, Jim!" urged the camera man. "She can't pull anything like that. If she shoots you it'll make a corking picture."

The trespasser now had one leg over the top strand of barbed wire and he steadied himself upon a post—neither a graceful position nor one of great stability. He was about to let himself down inside the yard when Mrs. Holmes cried:

"Three!"

Simultaneously she fired. The dry grass and weeds beneath the teetering figure exploded into a dusty cloud as the charge of bird shot mowed a path through it. With a yell, the man flung himself backward, leaving a fragment of his trousers leg upon the fence. He picked himself up and shook a fist at the woman, shouting:

"You damned old harpy! I'll have you arrested for that! What d'you mean, anyhow—?"

He paused as he heard the ominous click of the second barrel, and hurriedly backed closer to the car. The photographer made haste to follow him.

"Don't let me catch you climbing my fence again. I keep this gun for hawks, but it will do as well for buzzards!" Mrs. Holmes' voice was harsh and strident; she appeared to tower higher as her rage mounted. "Poke fun at me, will you? Well, you've got something nasty to write now, so be as nasty as you can. You want to know who killed Amos Ethridge do you? Rats! You don't care who killed him. All you want is to choke your filthy papers with scandal and lies and dirt. It's all you can write, all you can think about. Lies! Dirt!" She had quite lost control of herself now and broke into an incoherent torrent of invective. She checked it only when the objects of her wrath had slammed the car door and the machine had rolled away.

When she was alone she strode back into her house and stood the fowling-piece in its corner, then tramped about the living room, her head high, her back straight, her deep bosom heaving. So! They'd get a story out of her, would they? Publish her picture! Use her for a bit of local color, ridicule her, abuse her! Well, she could give them back as good as they could send in the line of personal abuse. The scum! The blackguards! She was sorry they had fled so swiftly—while her mouth was still so full and her tongue so bitter.

For once in their lives they had heard something which they could remember. They knew now that she was no common country lout, no mere "goose woman."

As she reflected more calmly upon the encounter she left some pride in the way she had carried it off. It had been her scene; she had held the center of the stage and she had played it well—as well as anybody could play a scene upon short notice. After all, only an artist can rise to dramatic heights; none but the finished actor can portray sincere emotion. She, "a

Stock Exhibitors Offered Premiums Totaling $75,000 at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial Show in Oct.

Fort Worth, June 11.—Premiums totaling $75,000 are being offered to exhibitors of livestock at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial livestock show, October 3-11. This is the largest amount of premium money ever offered at a livestock show in the Southwest, and most of the classes are open to nationwide competition.

This premium money will be distributed among owners of registered Herefords, Shorthorn and Aberdeen-Angus breeding cattle, carloads of fat steers and carloads of feeder cattle, sheep and Angora goats, dairy cattle, three breeds, Percheons and Belgian draft horses, jacks, mules, swine, poultry, pigeons, rabbits and grain and hay.

Since this is to be the official livestock show for the celebration commemorating the founding of Texas 100 years ago, General Manager John B. Davis and livestock manager D. G. Talbot, were able to induce the breed organizations for the three major beef breeds of cattle, Herefords, Shorthorns and Aberdeen-Angus, to hold their national shows for 1936 as part of the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial.

The liberal premium money classifications and the added honors of winning at the official livestock show for the Centennial celebration, is certain to bring the best individuals from the most important breeding establishments throughout the United States to participate in this show when it opens October 3.

This part of the show will be housed in new buildings and a separate unit from the Ft. Worth Frontier Centennial celebration, scheduled to open July 1, which will include the horse show in October and the World Championship rodeo, also in October.

The auction sales will be an added attraction. Present plans call for the sale of most classes of cattle through the auction ring and the sale of at least 50 carload lots of feeders selected from the best herds in the Southwest. The feeder cattle sale coming at a time when Corn Belt buyers are putting in supplies for the winter feeding should prove attractive to ranchmen and feeders alike.

Premium lists may be had by addressing the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial or D. G. Talbot, livestock manager. The premium list gives full information about the classifications, entries, etc.

Daughter of Mrs. Ella Ritch Sings Over KGNC

Mrs. Mack West, daughter of Mrs. Ella Ritch, and well-known former resident of Winters, was a featured soloist of the Historical society of Amarillo in a broadcast over KGNC at 9 o'clock last Friday morning. Judge Gough of Amarillo made a short talk on the program.

Mrs. West sang "Dim Trails," the official song of the T Anchor Cow Boys ranch. She has been requested to sing this song eleven times in the last three months. The composer of the words and music resides in Amarillo.

Recently the song was chosen to be printed in the Texas Centennial book with twenty-five of Texas composers' songs.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

GET OUT IN THE SUNSHINE

In these bright spring and summer days, few people stop to think what wonderful values are for us in the warmth and light of the sunrays. Science has it that possibly radium makes up a part of the sun's luminous body. Were it not for this great solar dynamo, humanity would fade from the earth like flowers cut from their stems.

Various "rays" have been isolated, resulting from an analysis of light in nature. The ultraviolet, an element of sunlight, is concentrated in apparatus used by the specialist. Perhaps the "infra-red" is the most valuable of the reproduced heat rays and it is within reach of the ordinary family. A red-hot iron liberates infra-red rays, valuable in treating all deep, inflammatory conditions.

Light heat is more beneficial in most conditions than dark heat, such as hot-packs, poultices, and hot-water bags. Light and heat together set the microscopic particles of tissue into rapid vibration. This serves to "scatter" violently congested areas, which may be painful to the point of agony. The infra-red ray is used almost daily in my office—and with satisfactory results.

Then there is a difference in dry heat, as in lamp treatments—and in moist heat, as in hot water bottles applied to the body. Light reaches deeper, and with more lasting effects. There is very little, even temporary, relief in hot wet packs. But all these methods are worth study in the family. They afford a means of relief outside of the realm of drugs.

TO CHEWERS OF TOBACCO

Strange as it may seem, the disgusting habit of masticating "the weed" (tobacco) is more seductive, more tenacious in its hold on the chewer, and, in some ways, less harmful to him than the more elegant habit of smoking, to which society is more tolerant. In this article I shall try to illustrate, not the effects of the nicotine, but the perversion of human saliva from its normal function—more deleterious than the tobacco alkaloid involved. This is the chief trouble from chewing tobacco.

The saliva is a natural fluid, secreted by the glands for a definite purpose—to balance the acid gastric juice. The chewer wastes it by his successive expectorations. If he chews before breakfast, so much the worse—he is sure of excess of acid for the digestion of this highly important meal. Prolonged state of this normally alkaline saliva being thrown away, causes the victim to become dyspeptic with a chronically acid stomach. Sourness, gas eructations, inability to digest fatty foods, and even burning pain are evidences of the trouble. It is not the nicotine, but the lost saliva that produces the condition; chewing any other thing and spitting out the saliva would doubtless cause much the same trouble.

The victim seldom lays his trouble to the tobacco. Excess of acids will in time corrode the wall of the stomach and produce ulcers. A patient of mine once relieved all his stomach distress by stopping short on the chew within the hour before and after meals. I once saw a man

New Air-Cooled ELECTROLUX
THE SERVEL Gas Refrigerator

There's literally a wealth of new and improved features in the beautiful new 1936 Electrolux... the biggest refrigerator value ever offered the American family. It's more convenient, smarter, more economical to own and operate.

Here are just a few of the things you get: Handy trigger releases on ice trays and grid... a flexible rubber grid that turns out as many ice cubes as you want, quickly, easily. Food storage, too, is easier, more conveniently arranged in the Electrolux—with its vegetable freshener, egg rack and fruit basket... its adjustable shelves, tall bottle storage, and automatic dome light.

These are things you can see with your own eyes. But there are still more important advantages which you cannot see... advantages which you will appreciate from the very first day you have your Electrolux.

Thanks to its basically different method of operation—no machinery at all—Electrolux insures continued low running cost... permanent silence... no moving parts to wear... and fullest food protection 24 hours a day. Owners find that Electrolux actually saves enough on food bills and running cost to pay for itself.

See the new models on display at our showroom. American women themselves helped create the modern Electrolux design. Ask us about our liberal payment plan. Come in!

Thanks to the utterly different way it operates—without machinery, without noise—only Electrolux can bring you all these big, long-life advantages:

- No moving parts to wear
- Fullest food protection
- Lasting efficiency
- Savings that pay for it
- Continued low operating cost

BRUCE BARTON Says

NEWS NOT ALWAYS BAD

My favorite newspaper is the Foxboro Reporter, Foxboro, Mass., the town where I have my farm. In its columns I read the reports of the annual Town Meeting where my fellow citizens meet, debate, and settle their governmental problems with intelligence and dispatch.

I read of good fortune that has come to some of my neighbors; I mark the courage of youth in continuing the ancient customs of marriage and child-bearing, careless of the disturbed condition of the earth. And I am pleased to see by the obituary notices to what ripe old age the average man may extend his days if he is wise enough to turn his back on the turmoil of the city and dwell in a country town.

This spring, however, when the Reporter brought a disturbing paragraph. It said that the water in my lake had risen so high it had overflowed the dam and caused serious damage in the garden which is the pride of my wife's heart. At the first opportunity I travelled up to Foxboro, expecting to find a vast devastation.

Imagine my delight when all seemed to be in order. The farmer pointed to a new ditch which he had dug, and said that by diverting the water just a little he had kept everything under control. Even the cellar was not flooded.

It reminded me of the taxicab strike in New York, of which my wife and I received our first news from screaming headlines in the newspapers of Hongkong, China. We sent cablegrams back to our family. They replied that being busy, they hadn't read the papers and didn't know there was a strike.

I am a great admirer of newspapers, but the years have taught me a certain calmness. Very often I have discovered that things are not always so bad as they are printed.

SOME MONEY TABOO

A friend says he was fortunate in his first employer, who was a wise and upright man. Because his enterprises had a habit of turning into profit, all sorts of opportunities were laid on his desk. He could pick and choose. Whenever a proposal was made which touched the ethical border-line, he never hesitated. He would say firmly: "There are some kinds of money you're not supposed to make."

My friend, who is something of a philosopher, says that this remark has saved him much loss and trouble, and he offers three suggestions as to money you and I are "not supposed to make."

1. You're not supposed to make money on your home. It is possible, of course, to buy or build your home at a time when real estate values are favorable. But the chances for enhanced values should not be the important factor in the plan for a home. It is your home it's not a money making proposition.

2. You're not supposed to make money by borrowing on your life insurance. Occasionally a man has been able to finance a profitable undertaking by a temporary loan on his policies, but if the history of all life insurance loans were written it would be a tragic narrative.

3. You're not supposed to make money without work. The men who suffered worse in the stock market crash were not investing; they were grabbing. They were not trying to lay up a reasonable surplus for their declining years. They were trying to make a clean-up so they "would not have to work."

Do you agree with these three comments. Do you think it would

MANN

Farmers of this community are busy in the fields since the good rains.

The adults rendered a wonderful B. T. U. program Sunday night. "Sunshine and Rain" was the topic for the program.

Mrs. W. R. Hamner and son, John, spent the day Sunday in the home of Rev. J. T. Casey at Wingate.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hardeste visited in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Millard Smallwood Sunday.

The singing was enjoyed by those present and we urge everyone to come on every first and third Sunday of each month.

Virginia Smith, Patsy Fay Hensley, and Mary Ruth Bowen spent Sunday afternoon with little Miss Evelyn Taft. Ice cream was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Smallwood entertained a group with a birthday dinner Sunday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Powers, Misses Leta Lewis, Luddell Williams, Maxine Smallwood.

A. O. Fowler visited in the home of his parents Sunday.

There will be a pie supper at the school house Friday night, June 19th. Everyone is invited.

A. S. Hartley spent Saturday night with his daughter, Mrs. Bill Fowler.

Miss Mary Strother returned home the first of the week from Denton where she had been a student in C. I. A. She will spend the summer vacation with her parents, Judge and Mrs. A. O. Strother.

AT THE COOKING SCHOOL

Mrs. Tucker's Shortening GOES FARTHER for ECONOMY

Nancy Hart's HOME NEWS

Make-ups for sports and beach wear are tending toward the natural this summer. Cosmeticians tell us they are going lightly on powder and rouge, depending on the lips for color treatment. Eye make-up will be saved for evening; for sports, the lashes and upper lids will be touched with cream to give a moist, dewy look. Faces will be lightly tanned and powder will be a lighter shade than last year's suntan.

The red tone of the lips will highlight the face. And the latest decree for reds is "Use them burnished." The newest shade of lipstick is especially designed to give the perfect accent to a suntanned skin. It is a soft, sun-browned red with burnished undertones that are grand with creamy skins, and give a soft, warm glow to skins that aren't.

Take care that your hair doesn't get sunburned these warm summer days. Hair burns just as intensely as skins. Only instead of turning boiled lobster color, it gets parched and streaky and dead-looking. Oil is the natural protective. And an answer to the problem of keeping your hair soft and lustrous in the face of sun and summer breezes is to use one of the new oil conditioners that can be applied just like ordinary shampoo and let the lubricants do their protective work.

One of the leading stylists warns that various shades of nail polish tend to change the apparent shape of the hands just as make-up apparently alters the features. The light and medium shades of polish are especially good for long, thin hands and should be worn on hands that are attractive and well-shaped. Care should also be taken to have the nail polish harmonize with the complexion. For instance, a pink, or rosy cast polish is recommended for the fair-skinned. For the olive-skinned, nail polish with an orange tone is preferable. New shades such as rust or robin red have been created for women who remain tanned from outdoor sports the year around.

A new material to put under small rugs keeps them from sliding. It's a sort of mesh, and it clings to the floor so that the rugs go over it smoothly and can be vacuumed as usual. Good for houses where there are children.

Draperies that match the wall will make a room look more spacious. One of the most interesting ways of giving ivory walls a "difference" is by using draperies of just the same shade of ivory. A rather formal but stunning effect can be achieved with deep beige walls and deep beige draperies hung straight. The new vogue for grey can also be handled this way, but be sure you have plenty of clean contrasting colors in the room so that the effect won't be gloomy. Grey is smart and cheerful if it is used with fresh, bright colors.

Special beauty gloves for street wear are the latest whimsy of fashion. They are smartly made of kid with the inside treated with almond-oil and glycerine to give your hands a continuous beauty treatment while you shop or walk.

Gold seems quite the note for simple daytime frocks, particularly black dresses. Bracelets of gold composition, gold bands to give a finishing note to simple sleeves in place of cuffs, gold monogram pins or fobs with cutout initials hanging from pins are worn at neckline or waist.

bedraggled old hag!" Old, at forty-five! "A drunken, irresponsible character of violent temper!" She wished now that she had shot that reporter in the legs.

The next day, not only the local Westland papers, but also the big Chicago dailies, carried amusing and highly colored accounts of that shotgun encounter, and Mrs. Holmes derived a grim enjoyment from reading them. Again she flared into fury at the uncomplimentary things they said about her; but indignation is a fire that quickly burns itself out and it gave her some satisfaction to read of her victory. This satisfaction increased as she reread the stories. After a while she experienced an actual thrill at realizing she had become a figure of importance in the biggest news sensation of the day and the people from Maine to California were reading about her. They saw the name "Mary Holmes." And after twenty years! She wondered if any of them would remember having seen it before.

INSECTS ATTACK PECAN AND WALNUT TREES IN COUNTY
COUNTY AGENT GIVES FORMULA FOR THEIR CONTROL.

Pecan and walnut trees are at this time being attacked by a leaf eating worm that if not checked will seriously injure the trees, stated county agent Barton. These worms are very easily killed by the application of a water and Arsenate of Lead mixture, sprayed on the trees.

The following mixture is a three and one formula that should be used in a number of cases. This 3-1 mixture has for its purpose the controlling of the Pecan Case Borer, the Rosette (a disease of the leaves) and killing of the worms.

Now this formula can be used for all three or for each individual disease or insect.

This three for one spray is as follows:

50 gallons of water
3 pounds of Arsenate of lead (white, powdered)
1 1/2 pounds of zinc sulphate
5 pounds of lime, slaked in water and strained thru cloth into spray mixture.

Success in the use of the above mixture is in thorough covering the foliage on trees. For this purpose a power spray is needed, but on small trees a bucket spray or hand spray can be used.

If one is to spray only for worms, 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of arsenate is all that is required.

Trying to give away a hard luck story is indiscretion, trying to sell it is infamy.

Lying tries to cover the naked truth with hypocrisy.

You can figure out for yourself what kind of place Winters would be if every citizen was just like you.

Mrs. Don Leachman of Mineral Wells is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Shafer.

The burden of the world rests upon the shoulders of the average man regardless of the talk that you hear of leaders and supermen.

Hint to Young Men: If you are above the average in intelligence and ability somebody will find it out without you talking about it all the time.

The man who has an inflated idea of his own importance usually finds that the community has him sized up as he would look after deflation.

There are people in Winters who would be charming companions and become firm friends if they took time off to get acquainted with each other.

RODEO IS CHIEF ATTRACTION FOR COWBOY REUNION

SEVENTH ANNUAL REUNION TO OPEN AT STAMFORD.

Stamford, June 11.—Although there will be many worthwhile attractions on the program of the seventh annual Texas Cowboy Reunion to be held in Stamford July 2, 3 and 4, the chief entertainment feature of the Reunion will be the rodeo, featuring the cowhands from the ranches.

Word has been received from numerous contestants and visitors of former years that they will be on hand this year when the gates swing open on July 2. In addition many Centennial visitors to Texas are expected to visit Stamford during the Reunion to witness a rodeo that has been classified as "an authentic survival of a typically Western institution." Former years have seen crowds of 50,000 and 55,000 visitors here during the three days. This year conservative estimates place the attendance at an even greater figure.

Seven rodeo events are on the program and that night "Tradition."

We invite the general public to attend these services.

card for this year's show. Three rodeo performances will be held each day during the Reunion—morning, afternoon and night. Cash prizes in the rodeo events total $1600. Prize saddles, boots, spurs, hats and other premiums will swell the total prize list to approximately $2500.

Cash prizes will be given in bronc-busting, calf-roping, steer-riding and wild-cow-milking each day. A special junior steer-riding contest will be staged at night performances on July 3 and 4, and the winners will receive cash prizes. Cowboys over 55 years of age will compete for honors on July 2 and 3 in a special calf-roping contest, the winner to receive a hand-made saddle.

In addition to these attractions, a cutting horse contest will be held on the morning of July 3.

¼ cup butter
14 marshmallows
Cook sugar, milk to soft ball stage in cold water. Add but-

- 8. Navy Beans (Holy City Style)
2 cups cooked navy beans (drained) mash and add 1 cup peanut butter, 1 cup sweet milk and 1 tablespoon onion cut in small pieces. Bake 25 minutes.
- 9. French Fried Carrots.
Cook carrots until tender, drain and cut in quarters lengthwise. Beat together.
1 well beaten egg
½ cup milk
¼ teaspoon K C baking powder
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
Dip carrots in batter one at a time and fry until brown in shortening. Drain.
- 10. Corn Sauté.
Corn
¾ teaspoon salt
One-eighth teaspoon pepper
1 green pepper
2 pimientos
Large lump butter
cayenne pepper
½ teaspoon paprika
Put large lump butter into skillet, add corn and other ingredients. Add just enough milk to keep from burning. Cook slow 20 minutes.
- 11. Succotash in Turnip Cups.
Wash turnips and cook in boiling salt water until tender but quite firm. Cut a portion from center of each with a potato ball cutter. Notch edges with fruit decorator and fill each with a portion of the following mixture:

 Beans
 Corn
 1 tablespoon quick cooking tapioca
 One-eighth teaspoon chili powder
 ¼ teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
 Bake about 30 minutes at 400 degrees and serve hot.

- 12. Orange French Toast.
Make French toast and put a slice of orange on top of each with whipped cream on top of orange slice.
- 13. Orange Salad With Banana Dressing.
Pare six oranges to remove outer yellow peel and with it the inner white membrane. Remove each section of orange pulp whole. Mix orange sections with sections removed from 1 large grapefruit, 1 pint sliced peaches drained from juice and contents of a small bottle of green maraschino cherries. Arrange in bowl lined with crisp lettuce. From bowl, the hostess may serve each person and pour over the individual serving, a portion of banana dressing prepared as follows:
 Press 6 thoroughly ripe bananas through a sieve, add ¼ cup lemon juice, one-eighth teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon paprika. Mix well and put into salad dressing bowl.

- 14. Stuffed Date and Prune Salad.
Stone dates and prunes, stuff with soft cheese and chopped pecans and roll in coconut. Serve 3 each on crisp lettuce leaf.
- 15. Grapefruit Salad.
1 Pkg. lime jello
1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons sugar
2 grapefruit sections free from membrane and cut in pieces
1 cup grapefruit juice
Cold water
Dissolve jello in boiling water. Sprinkle sugar over grapefruit and drain thoroughly. Add grapefruit juice and water to jello. Turn into shallow pan, chill until firm and cut into cubes. Combine cubes and grapefruit on crisp lettuce and serve with fruit salad dressing.

- 16. Snowflake Salad.
Wash rice thoroughly and cook in boiling water salted, then rinse well in cold water. Drain, cover with pineapple juice and chill in refrigerator. Mix together with a fork, ½ cup rice, ½ cup tender raisins 1 cup drained chopped pineapple, 1 chopped green pepper, ¼ cup chopped ripe olives and ¼ cup diced cheese, with enough salad dressing to moisten mixture. Arrange on plates and cover completely with mayonnaise, delicately tinted green. Decorate with pineapple wedges and sprinkle snowflakes over top, using cooked rice. Drain from pineapple juice.
- 17. Apple Vegetable Salad.
Sprinkle 2 cups unpeeled cubed or green apples with 2 tablespoons cider vinegar. Add 1 cup shredded raw carrots, 3 stalks celery, chopped, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar.
Mix well. Slightly moisten with mayonnaise and arrange in nest of lettuce and garnish with additional mayonnaise. The combination of hollow carrots and red or green skin of the apples makes a pleasing combination of color.

- 18. Baked Ham.
Soak ham overnight. Put in steamer, cover with water and cook at low temperature for 4 to 5 hours. Leave in kettle overnight. Then, place in roasting pan, cover with spices and brown sugar, 1 can of tomato soup, ring of pineapple. Bake in slow oven 1 hour.
- 19. Veal Parapline.
At market have a slice of veal cutlet cut about 1 inch thick. Lay meat on a cutting board, sprinkle generously with grated Parmesan cheese and pound it with dull edge of large knife. Continue pounding first on one side then on the other until meat is about ½ its original thickness. Work in as much cheese as possible. Season meat with salt and pepper, dip in egg slightly beaten and fine bread crumbs. Sauté slowly in butter until meat is tender and well browned on both sides.

- 20. Orange French Toast.
Make French toast and put a slice of orange on top of each with whipped cream on top of orange slice.

Have Your Clothes Cleaned the New, Modern

MIRASOL WAY

And Really Enjoy the Hot Summer Months!

People who really want to enjoy summer to the fullest always take one precaution about their clothes . . . they have them cleaned and pressed at the Carl Davis Tailor Shop the new Mirasol Way. They say, they're not afraid of hot weather, because their perfectly cleaned clothes will help them stay cool. Then, too, they need never offend anyone with the perspiration odors of unclean or imperfectly cleaned clothes.

Today's Fabrics Require New Methods of Dry Cleaning. Mirasol is the Research Chemist's Answer to this problem. The Mirasol Process involves the use of a continuous flow of crystal clear solvent with a scientifically prepared cleaning aid which restores the original brightness and freshness to all modern fabrics. This NEW METHOD of Cleaning really makes white clothes whiter. May we call for your clothes soon?

Texas Centennial Exposition Gates Opened On Schedule Time Saturday As Gov. Allred Turns Jeweled Key

Texas Centennial Exposition gates were opened Saturday to thousands of visitors who began to pour into Dallas Friday and were joined by many thousands of Dallasites to form the largest crowd that was ever recorded in the history of the city.

The opening day parade featuring "An Empire on Parade," reached the gates at high noon for the opening ceremonies. Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper, representative of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, spoke briefly and Governor Allred turned the $75,000 key that opened the gates.

The program which was international in scope, brought stirring words from each of the sovereignties whose flags have flown over Texas and spectators and auditors were held spellbound in sixty minutes of patriotic fervor. Secretary Roper concluded the program on behalf of the United States with a salute to Old Glory.

The count of paid admissions for the opening day was 117,625 which was only a few hundred short of the 118,000 who paid to see the first day of Chicago's Century of Progress. Advance sale of tickets totaled 2,000,000 and it is predicted that 10,000,000 paid admissions will be recorded before the close of Texas' one hundredth anniversary celebration.

The exposition main entrance is on the site of the Parry avenue gates to the old State Fair of Texas where more than twenty million persons have gone over this same ground during the half century that the State Fair has been held. Millions more will tread the ground when the State Fair is resumed in 1937.

Lawrence, Marie and Robert Gaston are visiting relatives in Farmersville. Mrs. Gaston and Geraldine plan to leave soon to spend the summer months in Farmersville and other East Texas points.

Mrs. Jewett Smith of Tulsa, Oklahoma is visiting with friends and relatives here.

Cross Section of Gigantic Oak Tree is Scientific Exhibit at the Centennial

Dallas, June 11.—The History of Texas from the cession of Louisiana by Spain in 1762 to and including the world war is recorded in a cross-section of the gigantic oak tree which is part of the scientific exhibit in the federal building at the Texas Centennial Exposition.

The exhibit is labeled, "The Tree that Records History" and the tree, known as the General Gordon Oak grew on the estate of Mrs. Bettie K. Grieg, the old Governor Hamilton farm, near Austin. The tree was the result of the natural grafting of five trunks together and the cross-section of the trunk is roughly six feet in diameter. The trunk shows three "rings" for each year and scientists have determined its growth began in 1756.

Groups of incandescent lights are arranged across the trunk in pairs with an arrow pointing from each light to its corresponding light. A row of electric buttons set into a specially made device and over each button is labeled some salient incident in Texas history. If the visitor pushes the button labeled "Texas Revolution, 1835" two lights will become illuminated showing the diameter of the tree's trunk at that time.

The great tree has a branch spread of 40 feet and convenient limbs were frequently demanded in the hard days of Texas. There is a legend that on one occasion 21 men were hanged from the General Gordon Oak together. The tree died in 1937. The exhibit was prepared by Dr. E. M. Jones, professor of biology at Baylor University.

The entire scientific exhibit is a co-operative effort involving the Smithsonian Institute, U. S. Public Health Service, five Texas Colleges, University of Texas, Texas A. M. College, Baylor University, and Rice Institute.

Centennial Briefs

The company of Marines which will be stationed in Dallas for the Texas Centennial Exposition which opened June 6 is known unofficially as the "Warm Springs company." It is the outfit which habitually is stationed at the Georgia resort when President Roosevelt rests there.

Ticket-takers at the $25,000,000 Texas Centennial Exposition which opened in Dallas June 6, must know facts, names, dates and places on the grounds as well as how to make change. Nearly 200 were trained for two weeks.

To properly house visitors to the Centennial, the most complete housing organization ever attempted has been effected. Its services are free. Accommodations for more than 100,000 people daily have already been arranged.

The Dallas city ordinance which formerly closed dance establishments at 2 a. m. has been amended to permit night clubs to operate through 5 a. m. at the Texas Centennial Exposition.

A huge electric motorgraph, or traveling sign, 75 feet long and 10 feet high, will be erected over the General Motors building.

MODERN WOMEN

CHARL ORMOND WILLIAMS, President of National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

Women of the western hemisphere are concerned about their representation at the Inter-American Peace Conference to be held in July in Buenos Aires. They are especially interested in the possibility of the adoption or revision of treaties framed at The Hague Conference nearly thirty years ago. Feminist leaders are requesting that women delegates be sent to the South American gathering. Their point is, that unless women sit in at the July convention, only one-half of the American population will be represented.

Two Japanese high school girls have written letters to pupils in the United States with the hope of establishing friendship with their sisters here, and to give them a better understanding of Japan's ideas and ideals. The letters, selected from 250 written by students in the 900 high schools in Japan, are a part of the work for peace undertaken by the Women's Peace Association of Japan with Mrs. Tsune Gauntlett as president. Mrs. Gauntlett believes that the hope of peace lies with the youth of the world.

Women's clubs are an important factor in keeping motion pictures clean. Mary Knight told recently of the nine women's organizations in Hollywood which sit in judgment on new screen offerings. The nine represent a variety of interests and religious beliefs. Their unofficial representative in the film city is Mrs. Nathalie Bucknell.

A Women's Chamber of Commerce has been organized in Talladega, Alabama. This is probably the first of its kind. The president, Mrs. J. W. Elliot, will start a campaign for civic improvement.

YOUNG DEMOCRAT RESENTS PICTURE ABOUT PANHANDLE

Austin, June 9.—Eugene Worley of Shamrock, youthful delegate to the Democratic National Convention, Tuesday demanded that the party take steps to prevent display of the Resettlement Administration's "Dust Bowl," moving picture.

Worley, a state legislator, said he would offer a resolution at the national convention asking Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell to withdraw the film from distribution and to destroy it.

"If he doesn't withdraw it," exclaimed Worley, "I'm liable to punch him in the nose. That picture is a libel on the great Texas Panhandle."

Worley said the picture, "The Plow that Broke the Plains," was grossly unfair to the so-called Miss Lillian D. Wald, president and founder of the Henry Street Settlement and the nursing service of that name, in New York, has been awarded the Lincoln Medal which is bestowed annually to the citizen who has rendered the greatest service to the City of New York.

A speaker at Pratt Institute, New York, announced recently that women control 90 per cent of the total spending power of the country, that eleven million women are wage-earners, women own a little over half of the nation's wealth, and that eighty billions of insurance is in women's names. Women's position in American life has changed more in the last twenty years than in the preceding century and a half.

Mrs. Floyd Smith and little daughter, Virginia Clare, are visiting relatives and friends in Athens. They expect to be away for several weeks and plan to visit in Silsbee and Bryan before returning home.

Dr. Allen Ritch and family of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Scott of San Angelo, Mrs. Lora Hinds and Joe V. Hinds and Mrs. Ella Ritch of this city left Sunday morning for Ruidosa, New Mexico, where they will join other members of their family for a few days outing.

Austin, June 9.—The Department of Public Safety today designated three members to serve as bodyguard and honor escort for President Roosevelt on his Texas tour.

TODAY and TOMORROW

FRANK PARKER STOCKBRIDGE

QUEEN arrives

I saw the biggest ship ever built come into New York Harbor on her first voyage, the other day. I have seen all of the other big ships of the past forty years and traveled on some of them, but the "Queen Mary" is the biggest and the fastest of them all.

A great deal has been said and printed to the effect that big ships in the thousand-foot class are uneconomical. They cost a lot to build, of course. The "Queen Mary" cost about $50,000,000. But shipping experts tell me that with full loads of cargo and passengers, these big ships are more profitable to operate than smaller ones.

I would like to see our own country build a ship as big as the "Queen Mary."

PORTS channel

There are very few seaports in the world into which ships of the size of the "Queen Mary," the "Normandie" and the great German and Italian liners can enter. From the ocean up to her dock, the "Queen Mary" had only five feet of water under her keel, most of the way. She would not have had that much—would not have been able to enter New York at all—if it had not been for the foresight of a New York merchant named Ambrose, to whose memory a monument was unveiled at the Battery the day the "Queen Mary" arrived.

Mr. Ambrose devoted much of his life urging the dredging of a deep, straight channel from the sea into New York Bay. Following the old bed of the Hudson River, the Ambrose Channel, 40 feet deep at low tide, is all that has kept New York from yielding its supremacy as a seaport to Boston.

The Erie Canal, which gave a easy and safe water-route between the Hudson River and the newly opened regions of the West, more than 100 years ago, started New York on its way to becoming the nation's largest city. Up to then Philadelphia and Boston were both larger. The Ambrose Channel has enabled New York to hold first place.

SCRAPPING of ships

Some day they will scrap the "Queen Mary." The great "Mauretania" has just been junked, and the giant "Majestic" is on her way to the ship-breakers. In the past 20 years a dozen giants of the ocean have been broken up, because it no longer paid to run them.

Our own "Leviathan," which was the German-built "Vaterland" before the war, a sister-ship of the "Berenzaria" is due for the scrap yards before long. The "Leviathan," however, has earned her keep since the United States Government took her over as a prize of war in 1917. She carried more than 5,000 American soldiers every voyage to France during the war, and the boys of the Rainbow Division still have an affection for the old "Leviathan," as they nicknamed her.

SIZE 1858 miracle

The biggest ship afloat before the "Queen Mary" was the German built "Majestic" 915 feet long. The "Queen Mary" is 103 feet longer than that. But 77 years ago, in 1858, British ship builders in one jump launched a ship that was nearly twice as long as the biggest then afloat. The jump from the "Persia," 360 feet, to the "Great Eastern," 688 feet, was as much of a miracle then as it would have been today had the "Queen Mary" been 1,800 feet long.

The "Great Eastern" was regarded as the Eighth Wonder of the World, but she was too awkward and too slow to be profitable. After a few voyages between Liverpool and Boston, and a brief experience in laying the first trans-Atlantic cable, she wound up her career ingloriously, for many years as a floating hotel anchored off an English coast resort, and then as a coal hulk in the harbor of Gibraltar, and finally was scrapped for old metal.

TRAVEL investment

There never was a time when it was so easy to travel swiftly and at so little cost to move around the world, as it is now. Speed and luxury have to be paid for, of course. But there are a couple of dozen safe and comfortable ships that will take you to Europe and back for around $150.

You can fly across the Atlantic on the "Hindenberg" for $300. Airplanes will take you anywhere in the United States in an incredibly short time. The regular planes of the Pan-American Airways will land you in Buenos Aires in five days. The Trans-Pacific Clippers will be in regular service before long. You can ride the railroads anywhere in the United States now for two cents a mile.

I don't know of anything more

The Washington Whirlpool

BY FRASER EDWARDS

Washington, June 10. — No Republican candidate for President has rendered such yeoman service to Democracy as that contributed this year by Senator William Borah of Idaho, since Theodore Roosevelt's Bull Moose gored the G. O. P. almost to death in 1912 after the Old Guard steam-rollered him out of the nomination at Chicago.

Although President Roosevelt and Democratic chieftains have not publicly acknowledged the debt, they are under heavy obligations to the aged "Lion of Idaho" for demonstrating so conclusively the truth of his own charge that the G. O. P. still is a boss-ridden outfit, serving selfish interests.

And despite the futile and rather pathetic campaign waged by Borah to purge his party, it has served to dramatize most effectively the disgust of a sizable share of the Republican rank and file with the Old Guard control, particularly in the populace states, and to give an inkling of how they will vote in November.

After "Big Bill" fails in the Herculean task of cleaning the Aegean stables and the sour smells left by the Republican convention at Cleveland are wafted across the country on the justly famed breezes of Lake Erie, the Democrats reason for gratitude to Borah may be multiplied ten-fold. For Borah is expected to aid the lake breezes in carrying the message to the people by a mighty blast and maybe a bolt.

All that is necessary for the Democrats to wage a winning campaign will be to take up where Brother Borah left off. For he has devoted far more time to denouncing the Republican bosses, who made a mockery of the G. O. P. preferential primaries, than he has to criticizing the New Deal.

Borah always has been an unpredictable soul, and it is impossible to foretell whether he will bolt the nominee of the convention and support Roosevelt along with such Progressives as Senator Hiram Johnson of California, Senator George Norris of Nebraska, and the LaFollettes of Wisconsin—Senator Bob and Governor Phil—or content himself with merely "taking a walk."

Simply because Borah never has jumped the party fence—not even in 1912—the Republicans are banking on him to stay within the party fold this year. But that jibe has been shot at the Idaho statesman so often by the Old Guard that it has got under his skin and it may be just the spur to make him take the leap this time.

It is a cinch bet that Borah won't support Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, whose managers now claim 400 delegates will vote for him on the first ballot and far more than the necessary 501 votes on the second ballot. Nor is he likely to lend any aid to Senator Fred Steiwer of Oregon or Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, the only real "dark horses" if the Old Guard is successful in ditching Landon and nominating either one in a smoke-filled room at midnight.

Borah is just as bitter at Landon, whose managers have been playing ball with the bosses as he is at the Old Guardsmen, who have thwarted his life-long ambition to lift Republican principles and policies above materialism. He has no illusions about Landon's too vehemently protested claims of being an "independent oil man." And anybody the Old Guard is for, Borah is against.

Hence, Borah, who has been twitted for years with being "the best Democrat in the Republican party" may become just a Man Without a Party. He can return to Idaho and run for renomination to the Senate as an Independent Republican next August. And he might make the grade, because the people out there care little for party labels, despite the fact that the state is strong for the New Deal and the popular Governor Ben Ross will be his Democratic opponent.

And then again, the Nestor of the Senate might be retired after 30 years service in the Upper House for his independence and his services to the Democratic party. In that event, there would be many a dry eye among the Old Guard of the G. O. P.

Ohio Democrats have a facul-useful and profitable than to get around and see as much of our own country and the rest of the world as possible. To spend a year's savings on a month of travel is not extravagance but a profitable investment.

New Goodrich Silvertown Gives BLOW-OUT PROTECTION at Today's High Speeds

• Maybe you've never had a blow-out. We hope you haven't. But if you want to know how serious blow-outs can be, just ask a man who's had one. And because blow-outs are so dangerous, the Life-Saver Golden Ply has been developed by Goodrich engineers to prevent them before they start. This amazing invention resists internal heat—the terrific heat inside the tire that is the great unseen cause of high-speed blow-outs.

Anti-skid Tread

Why not equip your car with a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns Ply? You and your family will be three times safer from these blow-outs. And you'll be protected from dangerous "tail-spin" skids, too.

Just press your hand on the deep-grooved, extra-thick Safety Silvertown tread. You'll feel the big, husky cleats grip and easily understand why these tires give maximum protection against skidding.

And the Safety Silvertown tread is so rugged that you get months more mileage at no extra cost.

ty of raising Cain with each other during a primary fight, but the chances of a Democratic victory in the Buckeye State look very good this year. Almost complete returns from the Ohio primaries gave the Democratic party its first majority in a generation.

President Roosevelt polled more than 500,000 votes to about 30,000 for Col. Henry Breckenridge, anti-New Deal candidate.

The Republican high command, as usual, tried to make much of the Roosevelt "protest vote" for the gallant colonel. They seemed to overlook the "protest vote" polled by Borah. It was a protest against Boss Walter Brown and his crowd. And it is safe to say that a fairly large percentage of this vote will go to Roosevelt in November. For Borah admits that the vote that he would attract is largely for the New Deal.

Father Coughlin's Union for Social Justice did business in a big way in the Ohio primaries. The organization bagged 13 nominees for the House of Representatives. Inflation was the chief issue of the Coughlinites.

Running true to form, President Roosevelt polled a three-to-one vote over Senator Borah in the West Virginia primaries. And Borah, as usual, won another moral victory. Although he was the only Republican candidate entered and of course carried the state, most of the delegates to the Cleveland convention calmly announced they intended to thumb their noses at the instructions and vote for Alf Landon.

JOBS AND MACHINES

One of the chief obstacles in the way of intelligent discussion of the unemployment problem is the absence of trustworthy facts and figures, and the lack of accurate information as to the causes of unemployment.

It is encouraging news that the Works Progress Administration at Washington has set on foot a program of research, in which many fact-finding organizations, public and private, are cooperating, for the purpose of learning how many persons in America are actually unemployed, why they are unemployed, and what the outlook is for their reemployment.

Those are facts which the nation ought to know. We have listened to countless theories and a wide variety of guesses, but facts to which one could pin one's faith have been very hard to get.

Early in the depression there was a great deal of talk about "technological unemployment." Men were being replaced by machines, and soon there would be no more work for men to do, we were told. That sort of talk has subsided, as men have come to realize that the machine, tho it may and usually does cause a shifting of workers from one kind of industry to another, in the long run creates many more jobs than it displaces. As Cornington Gill, assistant WPA administrator, recently stated it:

"We have only to look about us to realize the tremendous multiplication of labor opportunities within the vast new industries created by the machine."

It is hazardous always to prophesy, but it seems reasonable to believe that the truth

YOUTH AND OPPORTUNITY

Out of the nation's universities, colleges and high schools some hundreds of thousands of boys and girls are pouring this month, to seek their places in the world of reality. Their formal education is finished. Their real education is just beginning. They have, if they have been diligent and receptive students, learned a great deal about most of the fundamental principles of life. Now they are about to try their hands at the practical application of those principles to the problems of life itself.

The first thing that these young men and young women are going to learn is that there is no easy or safe road to success in life. Many of them may have got the impression that the world owes them a living. They are due to discover very soon that the obligation is the other way around. They have to prove themselves useful members of society before they can claim consideration for themselves.

There is a school of thought which holds that it is the duty of the social order to provide opportunities for all of these eager young folk. Those who hold that view are prone to declare that America is no longer the Land of Opportunity, that there are no such chances in our capitalistic industrial scheme of things as there were under a more primitive and dominantly agricultural civilization.

The plain truth, which these young graduates will learn soon enough, is that there is no ready-made opportunity for anybody. There never has been, under any scheme of social organization. But for men and women of initiative, courage, industry, and character, there are more and greater opportunities in America than there ever were before. Each, however, must find his own opportunity for himself.

If the schools and colleges have not developed those qualities of industry, courage, initiative and character, then there is about unemployment, once it is fully disclosed will be that nowhere nearly as many persons who ever were workers are now unable to get work as is popularly supposed, and that very few of them, if any, are out of work because a machine has taken their jobs away.

Corridor Gossip in the Capital

BY JERRY TAYLOR

Washington, D. C.—For three days last week Washington was the hottest place in the nation. The hotter-than-normal weather was intensified by a brand of heat up on Capitol Hill where the redoubtable statesmen in the House had to deal with and dispose of the Frazier-Lemke bill. This bill, it will be remembered, was to refinance farm mortgage indebtedness on 1-1/2 percent interest and 1-1/2 percent amortization. Bonds to the extent of three billion dollars were to be issued, and if the money changers would not buy them, then the government was to issue currency with the mortgages as security. Also, some $300,000,000 of at present idle gold was to be used as added base, so as to rather completely forestall the arguments of the opponents of the measure being a rank uncontrolled inflation.

This is the second time in the past decade that Congress has been put squarely up against a test on farm legislation which the farmers wanted. Back in the old McNary-Haugen days Congress did not want to pass the bill, but did, and put it up to the President to veto. On this Frazier-Lemke bill, Congress really wanted to pass the bill, but was not permitted to do so, and had to take the rap for its defeat instead of putting it up to the President. Orders came down to kill the measure on the floor of the House, and orders were obeyed, but it may prove at a very great cost to many of the Congressmen who have heavy farm constituencies.

One achievement, however, is noteworthy. The persistent Lemke, by getting signers to a petition to take the bill away from the committee and compel a vote on it, brought the issue squarely out into the open. Speaker Byrnes fought to prevent the Representatives from signing the petition. Then he used influence to have many who had signed remove their names. Finally the heat from back home got so intensive that the necessary number of signatures was secured.

For the one and only time since the reign of Taz Jimmy Byrnes as Speaker of the House during the last three years did the iron control weaken enough to permit anything but ordered legislation get to the front. A boast of Lemke is that "For three days the House of Representatives was turned back to the people." However, that is all the satisfaction Lemke could get out of it for the bill was defeated. But in its defeat the bitter aftermath of a recorded roll call will rise to hit some of the statesmen. The farmers thought that Labor was for the measure, but President Greene of the A. F. of L. dispelled this idea when he wrote a letter, read on the floor, denouncing the measure. The railroad brotherhoods stood pat, however. It is charged now that Greene was called onto the carpet and instructed to write this letter, or organized labor would pay the penalty of lessened favors under the Administration.

Now North Dakota's militant Lemke has already started his campaign for the bill in the next congress. He is getting ready to carry his fight into farm districts against Congressmen who promised to vote favorably and then backed down. It is interesting to note that his fight will not be just alone against Democrats, for the Republican members did not do themselves much credit in many instances. In fact, they failed rather miserably to do anything to impress the farming vote that the GOP, as far as what few of the brand is in Congress, was anything more than order-takers from the big boys up Wall Street way.

The Tax bill in the Senate is variously flitted between the administration program and some new ideas which the elder statesmen seem to think will make the tax boost less painful, and therefore less damaging as to vote-getting possibilities when the field day of general election comes around. And while this something wrong with the schools. But even the worst of schools cannot stifle the ambition or kill the spirit of adventurous youth. It is to the ambitious and the adventurous that the world has always offered its greatest opportunities. And the world of today offers even greater ones to those who are ready to take their courage in their hands and go forth to seek them.

tax bill is being debated and discussed, as well as frequently cussed, Secretary Morgenthau is having to figure out how to do some refinancing of something better than a billion dollars of Uncle Sam's I. O. U.'s which fall due June 15.

It is quite a chore the statesmen have on their hands to figure out where and how to get the money they have appropriated. The President is more or less composed over the matter, but offers no suggestions to Congress other than the approved tax bill which is being weighed in the Senate as objectionable. Congress must find the money and do it all by itself, as well as take the responsibility for what happens over the way they find it.

While such trifling things as billion dollar appropriations go on here, politics go on apace out in the hustings. We are very nearly to the end of state primary elections and conventions. Governor Landon has not suffered so much in these late affairs as others, especially Borah. Ohio rather put a crimp in the Idaho statesman and just once again demonstrated to him the difficulties of bucking a well organized and efficiently working political machine.

Here is What Miss Hogue

Home economics expert who has had much experience with all kinds of refrigerators has to say about the . . .

SUPERFEX REFRIGERATOR

It is an OIL burning refrigerator; has no moving parts to wear out or annoy you with noise; is absolutely safe at all times; does not give off poisonous fumes that will cause headaches or contaminate foods; maintains an ever low temperature; makes plenty of ice; freezes quickly and costs only a few cents per month to operate.

That the Superfex is the perfect oil-burning refrigerator has been proven by actual use, for the past eight years, in thousands of modern homes. Be sure to see and learn how it operates at . . .
