Zone Group Senior B.Y.P.U. Picnic Is Enjoyed Tuesday

Thirty-seven members of the Senior B. Y. P. U. Zone No. 2, met at the First Baptist church in Winters Tuesday evening and went in a group by truck to the flat rock crossing for an outing and picnic supper.

The group was divided into two sides for after-supper games. Names and captains were chosen for each side with Captain Lewis Irvin and the "Model T's" winning by 1 point in a hot contest over Captain Truett Bryan and the "Green Lizzards." The closing number of the contest was a very amusing debate between the two captains and their partners using as their subject "I Had Rather Be a Centipede with a Corn on Each Toe Than a Giraffe With a Sore Throat."

Young people in attendance were from Harmony, Hatchel and Winters.

Friends will be glad to learn that Vernon B. Campbell, who has been home from a San Angelo sanitarium for two weeks, was reported yesterday to be slowly recovering. Vernon B. will be glad to have friends visit him at his home.

Star Gazers See Good Times and No Drouth '37

Chicago, Sept. 2. — The star gazers foresee good times and no drouth in 1937.

At least that was the pronouncement today of the leader of the All-American astrological convention, D. M. Davidson of Chicago, as the consensus of the 500 astrologers meeting here.

Although he said the purpose of the convention was to discourage indiscriminate predicting and put astrology on scientific standards, Davidson consented to disclose the astrologers saw in the heavens; that:

The general economic outlook for America during the next year is good.

The average citizen is going to fare well.

There will be a boom in real estate.

There will be no recurrence of this year's disastrous drouth which star-augurs believe was caused by an excess of ultra-violet radiation from the sun.

There will be no general European war for at least a year.

Japan will not advance on China until 1940.

"We want to put astrology where it belongs—on a scientific basis," Davidson said. "We are meeting to discuss ways by which astrologers all over the country can get together. If we obtain facts and data and record them properly, they will stand scientific tests."

Mrs. Max Heindel, Oceanside, Cal., addressed the convention on how crime might be reduced by the use of horoscope. She cited the horoscope of a well known criminal, who, she said, might have changed his life if he had been subjected to the proper training suggested thru astrology.

The convention was described as the first general meeting of American astrologers in three years, the last gathering having been in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Sims Saylor and daughter, Ellen Anne of San Angelo were brief visitors here Sunday enroute to Abilene to visit Mr. Saylor's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Bedford and children returned to their home Tuesday, after attending the funeral of a niece of Mrs. Bedford and visiting with relatives and friends in Oklahoma.

LABOR DAY

Once again, throughout the nation, a day is set aside to honor labor. To a sound bank such a day is of necessity an important one. It is a day that causes us to reflect on the close relationship between labor and the banks that serve it. Without the credit of our banking system there could be no industrial organization as we know it today, no transportation comparable with that we enjoy today, no warehousing facilities which make possible modern methods of production and distribution.

EUROPE, A LESSON

The greatest tragedy which could befall America would be the development in this country of such national class and racial hatreds as have converted Europe into an armed camp and set the people of Spain to killing each other in a merciless and bloody civil war.

America is not without its preachers of hate. Lately there have been public utterances by men whose position and responsibility should have restrained their tongues, calculated to inflame the minds of the thoughtless to hatreds of groups of their fellow-citizens. To stir up hatred against those who differ in their religious creeds, their political beliefs or in their place is to start America on the road to civil strife which might well lead us as, it has led Europe, into warfare.

The real danger to American liberties is not from without but from within. The preachers of class hatred are more dangerous enemies of the Republic than is any foreign nation. It has been this country's greatest source of pride that no citizen belongs to any fixed class. Every man can, as millions have done, raise himself from the lowest state of life to the highest. Nobody will try to stop him. Rather, if he has the ability to make something better of himself he will find encouragement and helping hands all along his upward climb.

To teach that all employers are the enemies of their employees is vicious and un-American. It is not true, as every intelligent person knows. To teach that the followers of any particular religion are enemies of those whose beliefs are different, is equally vicious and un-American. Our nation was founded on tolerance, on freedom of thought and of religious belief. To attempt to destroy that tolerance and substitute hatred for it is to blast at the foundations of the Republic.

There is no power, and there should be no power except public opinion, to prevent any American from saying whatever he believes to be true. But good citizens should weigh the possible consequences of their utterances, and refrain from arousing needless and blind antagonisms between group and group.

MARINES WANT 25 MEN

The officer in charge, United States Marines Corps Recruiting Office, Dallas, Texas, is pleased to announce that 25 men may be enlisted during the month of September for duty on the West Coast. All men between the ages of 18 and 25 who may be interested in enlisting will receive literature outlining the duties and opportunities of a Marine by applying to the United States Marine Corps Recruiting Office, Room No. 822 Allen Building, 1700 Commerce Street, Dallas, Texas. Due to the limited number of men to be enlisted only the very best type physically, mentally, and morally will be enlisted.

It always pays to pay what you owe.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Sept. 2.—This is distinctly the political off season in Washington, for most of the best political prophets and soothsayers are hanging around the Presidential candidates or following their trail through the country. But there are still some who foregather at the National Press Club and some of these have lately been putting in their spare time figuring out the Cabinet changes which are due after the next presidential election.

If Mr. Roosevelt is reelected it is the general belief in Washington that on of the first of his Cabinet members to be changed will be Harold W. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior. Mr. Ickes probably will be moved upstairs by being appointed Controller General of the United States, the post which has been vacant since July 1, when the term of John McCarl expired.

Another Cabinet member who may be shifted to some other post is Dan Roper, Secretary of Commerce. Mr. Roper is personally well advanced in years and is inclined to take the ultra-conservative view of problems in his department. He has a strong political following in the South.

Other Cabinet Posts

It is also believed to be on the cards that Mrs. Paul Wilson, officially known by her maiden name of Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, will be shifted. Madam Secretary Perkins has been on the spot for a year or more. To some observers it seems as if she had done a good job and preserved a sane middle course in the management of her department. But a sane middle course is not pleasing either to organized labor or to organized employers. She does not go the whole distance with either group.

Claude A. Swanson, Secretary of the Navy, is also expected to retire, for no other reason than that of greatly impaired health and advancing years.

Nobody has suggested for a minute the possible retirement of Henry A. Wallace, as Secretary of Agriculture. He is regarded as trailing very close to the President in his outlook upon the farm problem and probably will be continued if the President retains his office.

Some dopsters surmise that strong pressure will be put upon Mr. Roosevelt, if victorious, to get rid of the Secretary of State, the venerable Cordell Hull, of Tennessee. There seems to be no reason to anticipate any change in the Attorney Generalship. Also, Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., stands very high in presidential favor, partly because of his conduct in his office and partly because of a long and warm personal friendship.

And one of the present Cabinet members who is certain to be continued in office, as the gossips here see it, will be his campaign manager, James A. Farley, Postmaster General.

The Landon Choices

Of course the field for speculation as to Mr. Landon's probable Cabinet if he should be elected is wide open for anybody to guess in. The only thing that seems certain at this stage is that if Mr. Landon comes to the White House, John D. M. Hamilton, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, will come into the Cabinet in some capacity. If tradition is followed, he will be Postmaster General.

Speculators along these lines are in quite general agreement that the man for Secretary of Agriculture is Senator Lester J. Dickinson of Iowa.

If Mr. Landon, assuming he becomes President, follows the precedent set by Mr. Roosevelt of naming a woman to a Cabinet post, the best bet at this time would seem to be Miss Natalie Couch, of New York, probably the nearest to being national leader of organized Republican women. And she might as well go to the Department of Labor as anywhere else.

For Secretary of the Treasury, these Washington gossips believe, that John H. McCarl, of Nebraska, former Controller General, would do.

For Secretary of State the suggestion is offered that the Republican best qualified for the job and most likely to be eager to get it is Senator Borah of Idaho. Foreign relations are his specialty and have been for many years. For Secretary of War this group the other night hit upon Col. Henry Breckenridge, who was Assistant Secretary of War in President Wilson's Cabinet. Likewise, talk naturally centers upon Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., a former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, for the Navy portfolio.

Other Outside Guesses

The gossips also suggest that

Army Vacancies Will Be Filled Within Next Month

Between September 5 and 15, 1936, seventy-five young men from this district will not only have the opportunity of being assigned to one of the most desirable posts in the army, namely, Fort Bliss, Texas, but also of becoming a very important part of mobilization plans for reserve officers at that post, according to Major Sidney J. Cutler, in charge of the Dallas Recruiting District with headquarters at 462 Federal Building, Dallas, Texas.

Fort Bliss is located approximately six miles from the center of El Paso, Texas, at the foot of the majestic and historic old Mount Franklin range. Just across the Rio Grande from El Paso is the city of Juarez, Mexico. Every convenience obtains here, both as to the post proper and regards travel between the post and the city. A line of the city trolley company runs to the main gate of the post at regular intervals. Due to the fact that this is considered one of the greatest all year round climates in the world sports abound throughout the year such as baseball, tennis, track, football and basketball. A first class gymnasium and swimming pool is also available for members of the post. The post is equipped with a post theatre which has pictures nightly. Dances and other entertainments are held at frequent intervals.

According to Major Cutler the efforts of the army recruiting some outstanding young business man with a wide grasp of national affairs should head the Department of Commerce and here the name of Lewis H. Brown, President of the Johns-Manville Corporation, is oftener heard. Among other Cabinet suggestions emanating from the same circle are those of Henry J. Allen of Kansas for Secretary of the Interior and Charles P. Taft for Attorney General.

It is nothing but an amusing game, but it serves to pass the time on hot Washington evenings.

service to convince the public of the unusual opportunities open to enlisted men of the army are invariably met by this erroneous conception, "Why, I did not know an enlisted man could become an officer." That the above is untrue, states Major Cutler, a recent issue of a letter from the Adjutant General of the army shows that only 25 percent of the officers are graduated from West Point, 8 per cent promoted from the ranks, and, we infer, that 67 percent are young heroes of the world war.

Also, we observe from the list of distinguished officers promoted from the ranks, that the opportunities for advancement of an enlisted man is only limited by his own demerits and lack of perseverance and initiative. Under existing regulations, says Major Cutler, the regular army is allocated each year approximately 90 vacancies at West Point—cadetships, they are tremed. These vacancies are filled competitively by men who have served faithfully and honorably for at least one year and who at time of entrance are less than 22 years of age. This, states Major Cutler, is an opportunity that should appeal to any young man with red blood in his veins. Recruiting stations, in addition to the main station at Dallas, are located at Fort Worth, Waco,

It always pays to pay what you owe.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Sept. 2.—This is distinctly the political off season in Washington, for most of the best political prophets and soothsayers are hanging around the Presidential candidates or following their trail through the country. But there are still some who foregather at the National Press Club and some of these have lately been putting in their spare time figuring out the Cabinet changes which are due after the next presidential election.

If Mr. Roosevelt is reelected it is the general belief in Washington that one of the first of his Cabinet members to be changed will be Harold W. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior. Mr. Ickes probably will be moved upstairs by being appointed Controller General of the United States, the post which has been vacant since July 1, when the term of John McCarl expired.

Another Cabinet member who may be shifted to some other post is Dan Roper, Secretary of Commerce. Mr. Roper is personally well advanced in years and is inclined to take the ultra-conservative view of problems in his department. He has a strong political following in the South.

Other Cabinet Posts
It is also believed to be on the cards that Mrs. Paul Wilson, officially known by her maiden name of Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, will be shifted. Madam Secretary Perkins has been on the spot for a year or more. To some observers it seems as if she had done a good job and preserved a sane middle course in the management of her department. But a sane middle course is not pleasing either to organized labor or to organized employers. She does not go the whole distance with either group.

Claude A. Swanson, Secretary of the Navy, is also expected to retire, for no other reason than that of greatly impaired health and advancing years. Nobody has suggested for a minute the possible retirement of Henry A. Wallace, as Secretary of Agriculture. He is regarded as trailing very close to the President in his outlook upon the farm problem and probably will be continued if the President retains his office.

Some dopsters surmise that strong pressure will be put upon Mr. Roosevelt, if victorious, to get rid of the Secretary of State, the venerable Cordell Hull, of Tennessee. There seems to be no reason to anticipate any change in the Attorney Generalship. Also, Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., stands very high in presidential favor, partly because of his conduct in his office and partly because of a long and warm personal friendship.

And one of the present Cabinet members who is certain to be continued in office, as the gossips here see it, will be his campaign manager, James A. Farley, Postmaster General.

Army Vacancies Will Be Filled Within Next Month

Between September 5 and 15, 1936, seventy-five young men from this district will not only have the opportunity of being assigned to one of the most desirable posts in the army, namely, Fort Bliss, Texas, but also of becoming a very important part of mobilization plans for reserve officers at that post, according to Major Sidney J. Cutler, in charge of the Dallas Recruiting District with headquarters at 462 Federal Building, Dallas, Texas.

Fort Bliss is located approximately six miles from the center of El Paso, Texas, at the foot of the majestic and historic old Mount Franklin range. Just across the Rio Grande from El Paso is the city of Juarez, Mexico. Every convenience obtains here, both as to the post proper and regards travel between the post and the city. A line of the city trolley company runs to the main gate of the post at regular intervals. Due to the fact that this is considered one of the greatest all year round climates in the world sports abound throughout the year such as baseball, tennis, track, football and basketball. A first class gymnasium and swimming pool is also available for members of the post. The post is equipped with a post theatre which has pictures nightly. Dances and other entertainments are held at frequent intervals.

According to Major Cutler the efforts of the army recruiting some outstanding young business man with a wide grasp of national affairs should head the Department of Commerce and here the name of Lewis H. Brown, President of the Johns-Manville Corporation is often heard. Among other Cabinet suggestions emanating from the same circle are those of Henry J. Allen of Kansas for Secretary of the Interior and Charles P. Taft for Attorney General.

It is nothing but an amusing game, but it serves to pass the time on hot Washington evenings.

For Secretary of State the suggestion is offered that the Republican best qualified for the job and most likely to be eager to get it is Senator Borah of Idaho. Foreign relations are his specialty and have been for many years. For Secretary of War this group the other night hit upon Col. Henry Breckenridge, who was Assistant Secretary of War in President Wilson's Cabinet. Upon Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Likewise, talk naturally centers Jr., a former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, for the Navy portfolio.

Other Outside Guesses
The gossips also suggest that

service to convince the public of the unusual opportunities open to enlisted men of the army are invariably met by this erroneous conception, "Why, I did not know an enlisted man could become an officer." That the above is untrue, states Major Cutler, a recent issue of a letter from the Adjutant General of the army shows that only 25 percent of the officers are graduated from West Point, 8 per cent promoted from the ranks, and, we infer, that 67 percent are young heroes of the world war.

Also, we observe from the list of distinguished officers promoted from the ranks, that the opportunities for advancement of an enlisted man is only limited by his own demerits and lack of perseverance and initiative. Under existing regulations, says Major Cutler, the regular army is allocated each year approximately 90 vacancies at West Point—cadetships, they are termed. These vacancies are filled competitively by men who have served faithfully and honorably for at least one year and who at time of entrance are less than 22 years of age. This, states Major Cutler, is an opportunity that should appeal to any young man with red blood in his veins.

Recruiting stations, in addition to the main station at Dallas, are located at Fort Worth, Waco,
