HOME TOWN

Talk

Because everyone got excited and busy with other matters after the hailstorm last week, the Paint-Up, Fix-Up, Clean-Up campaign sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce suffered. The campaign was extended for another week, but had lost momentum, and is almost at a dead halt.

There is still much to be done in making Winters presentable, and we hope enough interest was stimulated during the interrupted campaign to cause everyone to continue the work. To KEEP the town clean would raise our prestige in the eyes of everyone who comes our way.

Several people have suggested that the street sweeper make a few passes on North Main Street—the dirt is ankle-deep in places up there. Main Street is the principal highway through Winters, and strangers get their impression of the whole town by what they see as they pass through.

Many people have the idea that when school is out each year, the doors are locked, and the buildings closed until classes resume in September.

Far from it. Summer is the time for all major maintenance work at the school plant, and there is about as much activity up there as there is during the regular school year. The furniture has to be moved from the rooms, floors scrubbed, waxed, and polished. Old books have to be counted, and some of them shipped back to Austin. New books received, and put away.

At the football field, Bandmaster Bob Gans and Elementary Principal Bob Christian have been painting the portable bleachers, and workmen are busy on construction of the new band hall.

In talking with Supt. Jim Nevins after he had been at work sorting, counting, and crating books the other day, we got the impression that he longed for the thundering of students in the halls, and the busy hubbub of classrooms.

The business of running a public school is a twelve-month job.

T. A. Smith says he finally has discovered the right time to mow the lawn: about 15 seconds after Mrs. Smith tells him to.

All of us at the Enterprise office received a little boost last Saturday when it was announced at the Press Convention in Dallas that the paper had won a couple of awards. The Enterprise entered a few of the contests sponsored by the Texas Press Association, and was awarded, in the division entered, fifth place in the "News Pictures" contest and fifth place in the "Column Writing" contest. Our representative brought home two ribbons to hang on the wall.

We are glad to share the honor received in the "News Pictures" contest with those who have played a major part in helping us to print good pictures week after week. We could not have been so honored without the assistance of the local photographers who furnish most of our pictures.

Most of the pictures we print in the Enterprise are taken by Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Little, Billy Lynn Little, O. R. Parker, and S. C. Strickland, and the award is a testimony of the excellence of their work.

These photographers have been faithful over the years in furnishing pictures to be reproduced in the columns of the Enterprise. They are always more than glad to drop everything and take pictures for us. And their ability to use their "nose for news" to seek out picture possibilities has helped us many times.

We've wondered about the fate of Diamondfield Jack.

The Lincoln County Journal, published at Shoshone, Idaho, where we paused for several months some years back, runs a regular "Do You Remember?" column. In an issue a few weeks ago, in a reproduced paragraph dated "1897," the old-time editor wrote, "We are ready to offer odds that Diamondfield Jack doesn't hang at Albion on June 4."

We don't know what Jack did to deserve such a fate, but it must have been a dreadful crime like horse-stealing to cause the wrath of Idahoans to fall upon his head. We've watched each subsequent issue to find out what happened to him, but the June 4 anniversary of (Continued on last page)

About 90 percent of the small grain has been harvested in this area, according to most sources. If the weather stays dry and hot, this week will see the completion of the harvest.

J. C. Jarrell, Winters agent for Abilene & Southern Railroad, said Thursday morning that 174 cars of grain have been shipped from Winters since the beginning of the harvest season.

Production has been above normal, in spite of the destructive hail of the first of last week. It has been estimated that 30 percent of the total crop in this part of the county was destroyed by hail and winds.

Many farmers were able to salvage oats which had been knocked down, one source said next year's volunteer oat crop would be "terrific."

According to some sources, it will be several days, repairing the damage caused by the hail. Most damage involved roofs, however, there have been some paint and screen damage claims filed. Several electric signs in the business section were damaged or destroyed, and have been replaced.

The first president of the organization was J. S. Bourn, under whose leadership the association began its twelve-year history of prosperity.

D. O. Gray was president of the organization for one year.

John W. Norman, local insurance man and attorney, has been president of the Round-Up Association for six years. Under his presidency, the Annual Rodeo has become noted as one of the best open-show rodeos in this part of West Texas.

Rodeo secretary since the birth of the organization has been Mrs. Max Lewis.

Publicity Group For Rodeo Will Travel Monday

A barnstorming motorcade will leave Winters next Tuesday for a swing around the country publicizing the Winters Rodeo, to be held here next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Ralph Lloyd, chairman of the committee completing details for the calvacade, said the group will leave Winters at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, and will visit eight towns and communities during the day. He urged everyone interested in helping to promote the rodeo to be on hand, either furnishing cars or going in cars already scheduled. A big turnout is needed, he said.

The group will take a loudspeaker system, and stop in all towns on the route to drum up publicity for the rodeo.

Towns to be visited include Tuscola, Lawn, Novice, Coleman, Talpa, Ballinger, Miles, and Bronte.

Three rip-roaring days of wild west activity will get underway Thursday, June 26, when the gates will open on Winters' Twelfth Annual Rodeo. The show is scheduled to run Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

A parade Thursday afternoon will be the starting signal for what promoters hope to be the largest rodeo ever held in Winters. Floyd Grant is chairman of the parade committee, and has announced that several prizes will be given for entries in the parade.

Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, the chutes at the rodeo corrals on the school football field will open for the first of three nights of rodeo competition. Mrs. Max Lewis, rodeo secretary, expects entries to start coming in from contestants the last of this week, and the first of next.

Five competitive events will be held each evening of the show, in addition to the grand entry and other special acts. As added color to the show, Tinker Clift of College Station, will appear with his trained Brahma bull. He will also be a rodeo clown.

Another special act booked for the rodeo will be the exhibition of several Border Collie sheep dogs. These dogs are known throughout the country for their intelligence in working with sheep. They will be brought here by the National Sheep Dog Exhibitors of Kerrville, and will be in the arena each night of the rodeo.

Wild stock for the rodeo will be furnished by Lloyd Woodley of Lampasas, who has provided stock for rodeos here in former years.

Rex Felker, well-known rodeo announcer, will call the time for each event, and will do the general announcing. He is from Quanah, and has worked as a rodeo announcer for 25 years. He has served as announcer for the Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford for the past seven years.

One of the most interesting features of the rodeo this year will be a boys' calf scramble. Several calves will be released in the arena, and boys will attempt to catch them single-handed and without ropes and drag them across a goal line. The first four boys over the finish line will receive as prizes lambs which they will feed out. Four lambs will be given nightly and a different contest will be held each night. The calf scramble is open to boys from 12 to 16 years of age.

Lambs to be given as prizes in the calf scramble contest are being donated by Davidson Gin.

A. W. Libbe, chairman of the committee arranging the calf scramble, pointed out that parents of boys who wish to participate in the contest must sign "minors' releases" before the boys will be permitted to compete.

Entrance fees for participants in the rodeo have been set by Round-Up, Inc., sponsors and producers of the rodeo. Fees are bareback bronc riding, $15.00; Jackpot calf roping, $30.00; wild bronc riding, no fee set; bull riding, $15.00. Deadline for entries has been set for noon, June 26.

Also to appear the first night of the rodeo will be the Baird Sheriff's Posse. These riders, riding well-trained mounts, will "dance" a quadrille in the arena Thursday night.

Parades will be held downtown Thursday, June 26, and Saturday, June 28. Three prizes will be given to entries in the Churches and Clubs division: first place, $40; second place, $25; third place, $10. In the commercial division, first place will be $15; second place, $10.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

A North Dakota economist figures that for every farm which consolidates with a neighbor, industry and labor will lose some two and a half million dollars over a 100-year period.

Mr. E. N. Dornacker of Mayville, N.D., has this theory, the present trend of combining two or more farms into one large one means more land farmed with less equipment, fewer materials and fewer farm hands. "Each time a farmer is forced to leave the farm, industry loses a customer and labor gains a competitor for a job", says Dornacker. "And the neighbors who buy the land will destroy the buildings and operate it from their own farm", he adds.

Here is a partial list of the business which industry will lose in the next 100 years from each farm, he says: The sale of 10 tractors, 10 drills, 15 harrows, 10 combines, 10 discs, 5 plows, 10 cultivators, 5 corn planters, 12 fertilizer attachments, 10 trucks or pickups, 5 weed sprayers, 200 batteries, 40 tractor and 60 truck tires, 5 manure spreaders, 15 hog feeders, 20 water tanks, $50,000 in parts, $5,000 in tools, 1,000 gallons of paint, 1,000 pounds nails, $15,000 in lumber, 600,000 gallons fuel oil, etc.

The total of these and other items would amount to two and a half million over the 100-year period, Dornacker claims.

Of course, his argument has a few holes in it. Actually, two small farms combined into one large one would eventually call for additional machinery over what the buyer owned at the time of consolidation. And the more hours a machine is run to handle a larger acreage, the quicker it will wear out. In addition, larger farms call for more farm buildings—but not as many as two separate farms.

Even so, underneath all the smoke of Dornacker's theory smolders some fire of truth. It can be more economical to maintain one large farm as opposed to two smaller ones from the farmer's standpoint—resulting in a corresponding loss to industry.

Experience makes cowards of us all.

Personal interest plays some part in our decision—usually about 99 percent.

County Agent C. T. Parker Gives Cause Of Fish Die-Offs in Farm Ponds

County Agent C. T. Parker has received many requests for information on farm pond fish dying for no apparent reason. He states there are some fairly common causes for such die-offs, including the following: drift of insecticides from nearby field crops being sprayed; agricultural chemicals washing off sprayed livestock wading in the pond; agricultural chemicals washing into ponds from sprayed fields, cow lots, etc.; oxygen depletion in the water. Normal precautions and careful planning will remedy the first three causes of fish die-offs. Oxygen depletion is fairly common during spring and summer months especially on hot cloudy days. To remedy this situation, aerate the water by running an outboard motor in the pond until fish no longer show signs of distress.

Eddie Little's Work Wins State Photo Honors

Eddie Little, Winters photographer, received word from Austin this week that his entry of a photograph of Carolyn Granam of Trut had been the runner-up in the Miss Photoener of Texas contest sponsored by the Texas Photographers Association.

Miss Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Graham, will be a duchess in the court of Miss Photoener at the state convention in Austin, July 3-6. She will be awarded a 16 by 20 portrait by the studio and will be presented at the annual awards banquet of the association at the Driskill Hotel on Saturday night, July 5. In addition to these honors she will be presented to TV and Radio audiences and at the annual Fourth of July celebration in Austin.

A sophomore in Trent High School, Miss Graham is a major-ette and takes an active part in girls athletics.

Little also received word that two other entries from the studio were in close competition for honors and received honorable mention. Marc Knox, Winters High School senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Knox, and Kay Spieler of Clifton, high school senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Spieler, were rated high by judges. However, a studio was allowed only one duchess, and the one with the highest rating automatically becomes the studio duchess. Miss Graham, by being runner-up, became the representative from the local studio.

This is the second successive year a Little Studio entry has won in the contest.

Miss Spieler was a duchess last summer.

A large number of entries of photographs from all over the state were judged, and only three studies in West and Central Texas succeeded in having duchesses named. Other West Texas photographers, in addition to Little, with winners were John Blackstock of Stamford and Frank Dunlap of Midland.

Miss Leen Meinke of Bay City won the title of Miss Photoener. Her photograph was entered by Lew Stewart, Master Photographer, of that city. Stewart is a nationally known photographer, who last year achieved the unusual honor of having four of his pictures accepted for the national loan collection, which is made up of top photographs in the entire United States.

Other towns from which duchesses came are San Antonio, Temple, Orange, Texas City, McAllen, Henderson, and Woodville.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

Practically everything we buy—from the main course of Sunday dinner to the cross-town ride in a taxicab—is bought in terms of measure or weight. And the accuracy of devices which function to give us and those we patronize correct weight or measure is a matter of great importance.

In Texas, the responsibility for seeing that such accuracy is the rule is a little-known but highly significant function of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Through vigorous enforcement of our Texas Weights & Measures Law by regular investigation and frequent spot-checking, savings amounting to many thousands of dollars annually are effected for Texas citizens.

Such protection is not accidental in its accomplishment. Since 1951, when I first took office, frequency of weights and measurer violations have decreased in some instances by as much as 300 percent.

For example, in 1951, about seven out of ten pre-packaged food items such as meat, poultry and cheese were incorrectly marked as to weight; during 1957, an average of only three out of ten were found incorrectly marked, and two of these were very apt to be in the buyer's favor.

In another area of major consumer expense where measure is of great importance—gasoline purchasing—accuracy improvement of over 100 percent has been effected since 1951.

Seven years ago, the state average for faulty gasoline pumps was one out of every 4.5 inspections.

In 1957, a total of 43,203 Texas Pumps were checked and only 4,623 were condemned for repairs—averaging 1 for every 9.1 pumps. To have achieved such results has not been without effort. Last year, we pushed our record to a total of 574,081 inspections of weight and measuring devices—ranging from tiny, intricate pharmaceutical scales to ton-unit hopper scales. This is almost twice as many inspections as the 299,201 made in 1951.

With this increase in services has come the resultant increase in protection. And added experience, increased legislative support and encouragement from all Texans has made this possible.

In the few years since 1941, Texas has moved from seventh to first place among 12 southern states in the amount and enforcement of protective farm legislation.

Our state is no longer regarded as an agricultural dumping ground. Today, Texas has come into its own both as a producer and consumer of high-quality farm products.

We have asked for and received from the Texas Legislature the necessary weapons to clean up many of our farm problems. Ten years ago, we were a convenient, inviting garbage pail for the nation, serving as a wide-open disposal point for bad seed, unhealthy nursery plants, poor quality eggs and a host of other inferior products.

Until the necessary laws were passed and put into effect, the old saying was "If you can't sell it here, send it to Texas." Now this picture has changed. We can put more trust in our own production and know, too, that farm goods shipped into the state must meet certain standards of quality.

The clean-up of the grain scandals through the Texas Grain Warehouse Law is a case in point. Texas was one of the first states to strengthen grain legislation after the national scandals of 1952, and no major outbreak of public defraudment has occurred since that time.

Through the Texas Seed Act, seed buyers have learned that testing and inspection protects them from defraud and deceit which earlier ran rampant.

Our nursery industry was offered greater protection by the revamping of the Texas Nursery Law in 1953. Strict inspections and impartial enforcement have prevented any major outbreaks of plant diseases and have protected unknowing home-owners from being defrauded by misrepresented stock.

The Texas Legislature five years ago approved a modernization plan which gave the Texas Department of Agriculture its first major overhaul in 47 years. As a result, many departmental programs offer greater services and yet are on a self-supporting basis, bringing in the need for tax money to a bare minimum.

We are now leaders in the South. But we must look to the day when Texas will find its rightful place at the top of all the ored Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Zentner, the former Billie Wetzel Skipper, in their home Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Wetzel greeted the guests and introduced the honorees and the bridegrooms mother, Mrs. A. J. Zentner of San Angelo, Mrs. Tony Zentner of Rowena, sister-in-law of the bridegroom presided at the register.

The refreshment table was laid with white net over satin with a bouquet of white gladiolus and ribbon attached at each corner of the net. Crystal candelabras holding white tapers centered the table. Other appointments were of silver.

Mrs. James Hughes of Sherman, sister of the bride, ladeled frosted punch from an antique cut glass punch bowl and Miss Karen Zentner of San Angelo, sister of the bridegroom, served the five tiered wedding cake decorated with pink rose buds.

An arrangement of white gladiolus with lighted hurricane lamps at either side decorated the buffet. Shasta daisies and gladiolus were used as decorations throughout the house.

Mrs. Linwood Stevens of Stephenville showed the gifts and Mrs. J. S. Bourn said goodbyes. Other members of the house party were Mrs. Bo McMillian of Abilene and Mrs. B. B. Bedford.

Runnels County Wheat Farmers To Vote Today

Runnels County wheat farmers will help make an important decision when they vote Friday, June 20, on the national wheat marketing quota referendum.

In the north part of Runnels County, ballot boxes will be at the City Hall in Winters; Security Bank at Wingate; Hurley-Hilliard Station at Norton; City Hall at Miles; and at the courthouse in Ballinger.

If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote in the referendum approve quotas for the 1959 crop, the 1959 wheat program will include acreage allotments, marketing quotas (with penalties on "excess" wheat) and price supports at a minimum national average of $1.81 per bushel, or 75 percent of parity.

If the quotas are not approved by at least two-thirds of those voting, there will be no marketing quotas or penalties, but allotments will remain in effect as a means of determining eligibility for price support. The price - support rate would be about $1.20 per bushel, or 50 percent of parity, as provided by law.

Officials pointed out that wheat marketing quotas and acreage allotments operate only in commercial wheat states—those with allotments of more than 25,000 acres. Texas has an allotment of 4,099,094 acres for the 1959 wheat crop.

Growers eligible to vote in the referendum are those who will be affected by the wheat quotas if they become effective. Thus, farmers who will have 15 acres or less of wheat for harvest as grain in 1959 and those who are taking part in the 1958 feed wheat program are not eligible to cast ballots in the 1959 wheat quota referendum on June 20.

Guests were David and Sally Lang, Tawnya Smith, Kei Bedford, Merf Merrifield, Sherri Loyd, Ruth Alcorn, Brenda Byans, Murry Gans, Brenda Griffin, Melinda Wilson, Susie Easterly, Kay Graham, Jimmy Benson, Jerry Powers, Bimbo and Diana Kay Warlick, Linda Lloyd, and Chip Yantis. Also attending were Debbie's uncle from San Antonio, Mr. Jimmy Yantis, and an aunt, Mrs. Ralph Lloyd.

Miss Curry is a 1958 graduate of Ballinger High School and Marks is a graduate of Winters High School, and is employed in the office at the Winters Cotton Warehouse.

Ben Ramsey Seeks Re-Election As Lt. Governor

Eleven daily newspapers representing all sections of the state already have announced support of Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, for re-election as Lieutenant Governor, Ramsey's headquarters reports.

"The soft-spoken East Texan has drawn strong backing from Texarkana to El Paso, and Ft. Worth to Victoria," says the announcement.

"Often, the electorate pays but little attention to the important office of Lieutenant Governor, often not considering the candidate as a potential governor," the Marshall News-Messenger commented. "In the case of Ben Ramsey there will be no fears. He is capable, efficient and his long, solid record has been built on honest, diligent and intelligent efforts. The Lieutenant Governor should encounter no difficulties in returning to high office. He is one person in public life whose strong record has made him a favorite of the people."

Other newspapers supporting Ramsey include the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Texarkana Gazette, Dallas Morning News, Victoria Advocate, Houston Chronicle, Nacogdoches Daily Sentinel, Kilgore News Herald, El Paso Times, Lufkin Daily News, and the Houston Post.

The Texas Mohair Weekly commented that Ramsey's "economic approach to state government is vital to Texans."

The best and most important advice I ever gave a salesman was to expose himself to his prospects.

Fishing, for the sport of it, is fun. However, in addition to the fun of fishing, most of us like to bring home a good string of edible fish.

If you really want fish to eat, right now is the time to take an off-shore excursion and bring back a tub full of red snapper. It is the real pan fish of the Gulf of Mexico.

However, fishing for red snapper is more work than sport. The first half-dozen give you a thrill. Thereafter it becomes a chore, especially if you are on a good boat over a hot spot. It is nothing unusual to catch a hundred pounds or more of red snapper, if your strength holds out that long.

Red snapper fishing is one of the favorites of the party boat. These boats operate out of most of the coastal cities of Texas. They take excursions out to the snapper banks in the Gulf. Most of the banks are at least 35 miles out. Some are more than one hundred miles into the Gulf.

Actually, there is but one secret in getting all the snapper fishing you want, and that is getting with a good party boat operator. If he has good equipment, which is more than just having a good boat, you are pretty sure to get all the fish you want, providing the weather is right. And a good operator won't take you out unless the weather is right.

A good party boat has to be one large enough to withstand about the roughest water that can be thrown at you in the Gulf of Mexico. Generally one of these boats won't get caught in bad weather, but sometimes they do.

Most important of all, the boat must have a good captain. He must know the Gulf and how to read the electronic instruments that tell when he is sitting over a reef.

Red snapper inhabit coral reefs on the bottom of the Gulf. These reefs have been built up through millions of years, and afford a fine breeding and hiding place for snapper, as well as groupers and some of the other large fish of the briny deep.

There are a few of these reefs at around 10 to 12 fathoms. (A fathom is approximately six feet.) Most of them are at 25 or 30 fathoms, some at from 30 to 50 fathoms.

You fish for red snapper with heavy equipment, such as a large Ocean City reel on a heavy rod with about 300 yards of good line of from 75 to 125 pound test. For a terminal equip it with a good Weller bottom rig leader, a couple of No. 6 hooks and a 16 ounce sinker.

Bait this terminal with squid, cut bait or frozen bait and let it to the bottom as fast as you can. And we do mean fast. Otherwise, on the way down some smaller fish may take it and you'll lose your bait before it ever reaches bottom.

When your rig is on the bottom, fish it something like fishing for crappie. When a snapper gets on, it's up to you to crank him up as fast as you can. Occasionally if it is a small snapper, a big old amberjack or ling may come by and decide it's hungry. If that happens, then you have a real fight on your hands.

Incidentally, you don't have to buy your own red snapper fishing equipment. It can be rented from any party boat operator. Also he'll show you how to use it. He wants you to make a good catch. If you do you'll tell your friends and his business stays good.

Party boats usually are pretty well dated up. It is a good idea to select one you want to use, early, and make a definite date. The boat usually leaves the docks at 2 a.m. and returns about 6 p.m. with a load of fish and some pretty tired but happy fishermen.

These boats carry beverage boxes and most of them have lunches for sale. Some of them are equipped with ship-to-shore telephones, radio and other modern conveniences.

The trip will cost from $10 to $15 for your fare, plus your drinks, and a per-day rent on equipment. You'd better figure on spending about $20 for the day, but if it's a good day you'll get more than your money's worth.

If you are interested in such a trip, write the Chamber of Commerce in the area where you'd like to embark from. They'll be glad to send you folders and the names and addresses of the party boat operators. Satisfy yourself you are getting the best one possible. He's the cheapest in the long run.

"Best doggoned improvement in fishing since the invention of fish!" That's what Walco Products says of its new Stubcaster. The Chicago manufacturer has produced a 21-inch rod (yes — 21-inch) that's a novelty to say the least.

But it's more than a novelty. It makes a practical little rig. Secret of Stubcaster's live action is its coil spring, which makes it ideal for the new closed-faced spinning reels. Another advantage — it brings your fish right up to the net.

Stubcaster is not designed to replace the conventional rod. Only to supplement. It breaks down to 14-inches, so you can carry it in your traveling bag or brief case — and most tackle boxes. Casts overhand, underhand or sidearm.

It is ideal for crowded boats.... and in areas overhung with trees.

Fishing With Mice

Ever try a mouse for fish bait? As a kid we used to use baby mice. Sometimes we'd take them while they were still young and red. When we wanted to catch a really big fish we'd wait until the mice got big enough to give plenty of action.

For a good many years various tackle manufacturers have been making artificial mice in some form. Most of them really looked like mice. Last year Weber came out with a Dylite mouse for fly fishing. It was pretty good. This year Weber has a new Dylite mouse. It's for spin fishing, and right now it is as hot as a fire-cracker.

You don't just toss one of these lures out on the water and leave it there.

You pull it slowly over a lily pad, then retrieve it fast until you can get it onto the next lily pad.

Or you can toss it on a log and pull it off.

We've found it works best where it is retrieved through an area where it is likely a mouse might fall into the water. A big old bass can stand only so much temptation. So be ready when he hits.

True to Life

Weber also has come out with what they call their Lifelike worms. And they look it. They are true to life, complete with natural egg sac. Made of special plastic, they are soft and resilient, yet tough and durable. They come in assorted colors from white to grey, tan, orange, red and black....and in a variety of sizes. Also available is a 2-hook, Worm Rig, complete with spinner, No. 8 hooks and beads. For larger sizes they have the Red Worm and Eel Rig which is ideal for spinning, and has No. 2 size hooks.

Best Fishing Days

A study of some old fishing calendars indicates that the best fishing days, year-around, are the first 10-days in each month. Last half of the month seems to be the least desirable. Don't know how this compares with your successes, but it might be interesting to think back and see if maybe there isn't something to it after all.

Remember
first
adventure?

With full heart and watchful eyes you helped him enjoy his very first taste of independence.

And how proud you were when he achieved his goal, all by himself, and then, laughing, ran to your waiting arms to share his triumph with you!

Nothing you can give your child is half so precious as this wonderful opportunity to be himself. All through life you want him to be free to choose his way.

That's why it's so important to be on the watch for ideas or ideologies that could set limits to his independence. The idea, for instance, that government should own and run more and more businesses, services, institutions. Don't forget that when government runs more and more things, the individual has less and less freedom and independence!

Think of your son's first "independence day" when you hear talk like that. Point out that in countries where government does control almost everything, the individual is controlled, also. And the loss of anybody's independence is a threat to everybody's freedom.

Very much aware of this danger are the independent electric light and power companies, because government already runs part of the electric business. And powerful people are pressing to take over more.

ROGER BABSON SAYS:

'Don't Lower Standards With Universal College'

BABSON PARK, Mass. — A great hullabaloo is being raised about the need for space in our colleges to take care of all our young people of college age. To insist that college education become universal would be to lower our educational standards to the level of mediocrity. In the present world struggle of the survival of the fittest, we need to turn out from our colleges something considerably better than mediocre teachers, scientists, and businessmen. The colleges need something to work with in the first place; the large numbers of purposeless, immature high school graduates who find their way into our colleges have no business there!

Educators Must Set Their Own Houses In Order

What I am about to say will stir considerable controversy. Frequently I am asked if I do not think the large numbers who flunk out of college do not constitute a great national waste of manpower. The real waste is for colleges to continue to use funds for more buildings to house more and more incompetents who are bound to flunk out; or who, if they don't flunk, will drag down the level of performance. The problem which confronts us is one of intellectual honesty. It begins with secondary school headmasters who, with tongue in cheek, recommend for admission to college individuals whom they must know are not qualified for college.

Many college directors of admissions will tell you, in confidence, that the supply of fitted students is far from abundant. I could give cases in which principals have made parents, pupils, and college officials believe the young people were something they really were not. They got them into college with obviously astruse recommendations; then left them for the college authorities to flunk out and send home. I am told that a certain prep school guarantees your son's admission to the college of his choice, or your money back. What that school does not guarantee is to keep the son in college!

Parents Must Become Masters In Their Houses

A college education for sons and daughters is eagerly sought today by many parents more as a mark of social accomplishment than for the learning the degree should represent. One college dean has said this about the attitude of parents whose children flunk: "The amazing reaction many times is: 'But my son just can't flunk; what will the neighbors think?'"

Inferior educational preparation for college, or in college, cannot be cured just by raising teachers' salaries and building new buildings. First, there must be a rekindling of the will to learn — something parents have a lot more to do with than they will admit. Second, colleges must make of education a privilege, not a right. Perhaps Sputnik No. 1 will prove to have been our great educational Pearl Harbor, a jolt into the realization that for self-defense we had better become intellectually honest with one another.

Young People Must Set Up Sound Value Goals

I wish thoughtful young people had more of an opportunity to speak out without fear of incriminating themselves with their teachers. One young man recently wrote a plaintive letter to the editor of a large city newspaper. In it he made a plea to the school committee of that city to stop wasting the time of talented students. He said that good teachers spend too much time with children who do not want to learn. His plea was to throw out the non-learners, to group homogeneously the bright children who want to learn, and to discipline severely those who would make a joke out of school.

Our young people must become very familiar with the fact that the "cold war" is a struggle of intellect. They must know why our schools must raise their standards, from the elementary grades up. Our colleges and universities should hold their admissions standards high, barring those who cannot qualify and flunking those who are looking for a four-year loaf on father. More selective admissions policies and a tightening of standards would find many colleges with much less of a teacher and building shortage problem than they now appear to have. It is not necessarily more money that our schools need.

Compared with the writing business, a visit to the dentist is a pleasure.

A lack of small change is just about as embarrassing as having no money at all on your person.

If lonely, why not cash in your pocket and take a walk?

A good day's work by all hands will cure what's wrong with this country.

Not one person in ten can mention a current or former pain without pointing to the location.

Why, despite protestations that they ignore radio and television, do these very same people innocently reveal that their weekend has been spent in listening to and viewing same?

"HOME-OWNED FOR HOME OWNERS"

ROGER BABSON SAYS:

People Should Know About Civil Defense

Do you know the name and address of the Director of Civil Defense for your State? If not, write your State Governor today. After getting the Director's name, write him to send you his literature on (1) What to do to prepare for an enemy's dropping a bomb near where you live; (2) How to protect against the fallout. Also write your nearest Weather Bureau.

Washington and News Releases
Every department in Washington is showering newspaper editors with "releases" about Russia to make people "war-minded." But you will find very little instruction as to what to do in case Russia should decide tonight to strike us. Presumably, the reason is that preparation for war temporarily boosts business and employment; while the only sales the Civil Defense people can help are those of the manufacturers of shovels and a few needed dugout and hospital supplies.

I am a fairly intelligent man, but I did not know until yesterday that when the radar at our national border signals an "alert," all radio broadcasting stations except two must shut down. This alert means that Russian planes are coming and can reach you in 15 minutes. The two operating stations are 640 and 1240 kilocycles on your radio dial. Mark these two numbers on the wall near your radio—all newspapers should carry them on their radio page until every man, woman and child know them by heart.

Evacuation Vs. Shelters
I don't place much confidence in Evacuation Plans. The theory is that on sharp short blows of whistles, horns, etc., lasting 3 minutes, the city should evacuate. Those in automobiles may be able to do it; but I am too dumb to imagine a city of 50,000 or upwards being able to do so. Besides, where would the people go? How could the near suburbs house or feed them? What is the Federal or State Civil Defense organization doing to provide sufficient shelter? If I should be caught without an automobile in any city when the "alert" was sounded, I would not try to get out. I would go to the nearest building or home and ask to go to the basement. Every basement should be a limited "shelter," but I understand that to have one bomb-proof and fallout-proof, it should be built into the cellar or yard with concrete blocks and covered with 3 feet of dirt. Shelters against fallout should be kept stocked with drinking water, canned food, old clothing, toilet conveniences and a battery radio. For particulars write to the Federal Civil Defense at Washington, D. C. for their free booklet on "Home Shelters for Family Protection in an Atomic Attack, TM-5-5." Let me add the sad fact that less than one per cent of American homes have sent for this booklet.

The force of an atomic bomb is many thousand times that of the largest TNT bomb ever made. It not only has a terrific powerful explosion, but it creates a heat of 5,000 degrees. It crushes; it burns; and often injures for life. Most sensible people would rather be killed outright by such a bomb than left alive but injured. The bomb, however, directly affects only a small area of, say, five miles. With the fallout, the situation is very different. This is the dispersal of the mushroom cloud made by the explosion of the bomb. This may travel 20 to 50 miles according to the winds and weather. The Civil Defense has not yet succeeded in waking us up to the need for escaping from this deadly dangerous fallout in the air. Before closing this column, let me publicly render thanks to Mrs. Bell Land, Director Civil Defense, Crystal River, West Fla., who awakened me to the situation.

Many Spent on Backyard Shelters Should Be Tax-Deductible
Congress is wise in spending billions for missiles, submarines, and radar systems; but with all this protection, one or two Russian bombers could sneak through. This is no reason for us to get faint hearted and compromise with Communism, but it is reason for us to spend much more money on shelters and on educating families to make their own shelters. The newspapers should encourage this. Furthermore, money spent on such shelters should be deductible for income-tax purposes. This would cost the government nothing. And a great mass movement to build shelters would increase employment all over the nation, and not only in those cities where missile, automobile and airplane plants are located. Let us teach our children self-survival.

Million Reunion Held Sunday At Abilene State Park
Fred Million was honored at a family reunion held Sunday at Abilene State Park. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Teten, Jan and Lance, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Million, all of Winters; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Million, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Million and Mike of Helena, Montana; T/Sgt. and Mrs. Bab McClelland and Debbie of Bryan.

Wisdom is the art of balancing the long-range viewpoint against the short-range advantage. Husbands who think they can run a home better than their wives should swap jobs with their wives. We get something for nothing and then complain because we don't get any dividends.

BEAT GENERATION—These tigers are really dragging on arrival in Dallas, Tex., from the Brookfield Zoo in Chicago. The Siberian animals, worth $4,000, turned out to be both males—much to the disappointment of Dallas zoo officials—and seem destined to spend bachelor lives in their new home.

TOO MANY STARS—Though these flags look as though somebody miscounted, they deliberately have too many stars. They were proposed by the flag-making Annin and Co., of Verona, N.J., as new formations if Alaska and/or Hawaii are admitted to the Union. Caroline Borthwick, left, holds one with 49 stars while Gladys Eide has one with 50.

"SNIFFER" TRACTOR—Endurance tests are necessary for future space travelers but they're needlessly fatiguing for tractor test drivers. This electronically guided "sniffer tractor" is used at a Ford Motor Co. test site in Birmingham, Mich. The antenna at the front picks an electrical signal from a buried wire. The tractor follows this wire around the test track and jarring obstacle course.

Martha SS Class Meeting Held In Jackson Home

Visitation was discussed and members asked to visit the sick and shut-ins. The business session was closed with prayer by Mrs. J. S. Bourn and the social hour was conducted by Miss Mattie Cooke. She conducted two Biblical quizzes. Refreshments were served to Mesdames J. S. Bourn, Sam Cooke, D. C. Robertson, C. O. Rodgers, C. G. Meeks and Miss Mattie Cooke.

These dogs are famous all over the country for their intelligence in working with sheep. The breed is imported from Scotland, where they have been developed for centuries to work with livestock. The act will be presented by the National Sheep Dog Exhibitors of Kerrville. Mayor George Poe is chairman of the special act committee for the rodeo.

Those interested must have a physical examination and cards for the doctors and parents to sign may be obtained at the swimming pool. These cards must be filled out and returned to the pool by June 26. Children must have their parents permission to take swimming lessons, according to Roberts.

There will be no age limit and lessons will be free with the exception of regular admission fee to the pool.

Annual Range Camp Is Announced

A week of educational and recreational activities await the 30 4-H and FFA boys who will be selected to attend the Fourth Annual Texas Section Range Camp, August 11-16 at the Texas A & M Adjunct, Junction, Texas.

The purpose of the camp is to recognize, develop leadership and give advanced training to boys interested in practical range and ranch management, according to G. O. Hoffman and Bobby Ragsdale, extension range specialists who are in charge of the camp.

Only one boy per county is eligible to attend unless the quota is not filled. Local committees should study the records of outstanding work done, interest and projects with range management to determine the winning individual and alternate.

Application to attend the camp may be made by the county agent or vocational agriculture teacher. These applications must be in by June 15. Enrollment will be considered on a first come, first served basis. Boys selected to attend the Range Camp and their county agents or teachers will be notified shortly after June 15. Funds to cover each boy's meals and lodging expenses must then be submitted by July 1. Transportation expenses to and from the camp are not included.

The week's activities will include field trips to ranches, plant, animal and wildlife study, brush control methods, judging range condition and making range condition demonstrations. There will be lots of recreation, including swimming, boating, team sports, fishing and movies. All activities will be supervised by qualified personnel of the Texas Section, American Society of Range Management, 4-H Club and FFA state offices.

Applications should be sent to G. O. Hoffman, Extension Range Specialist, College Station, Texas.

Hot Weather Hard On Hatching Eggs

High summer temperatures can drastically reduce fertility and hatchability of hatching eggs and result in less money for the egg producer.

The first six hours after laying are the most crucial for maintaining hatchability and high egg quality. So, eggs should be gathered four or five times daily and immediately placed in a cooler with a temperature of 50 to 55 degrees, advises Joe Wakefield of the Poultry Science Department, Texas A & M College. When gathering the eggs, he adds, fill the basket only one-half to three-fourths full to cut down on the number of cracked eggs.

Dirty eggs also will reduce hatchability, points out Wakefield. Soiled eggs may be the result of handling with dirty or greasy hands, broken eggs in the nest, dirty nesting material, or poor nests. Much of the damage from this factor can be eliminated by providing at least one nest for every five hens with plenty of clean nesting material. If eggs do get dirty, they may be cleaned with sandpaper or steel wool after cooling overnight. They should be put in cases after cleaning.

The producer should be careful in handling and packaging eggs to keep breakage as low as possible, cautions Wakefield. It is no secret that broken eggs will not hatch.

The condition of the cooler is very important in maintaining high egg quality and hatchability, he emphasizes. Along with the proper temperature, a relative humidity of 75 to 80 percent should be maintained in the cooler. Keep it free from all odors and dust to eliminate contamination of the egg. Never store fruits, vegetables, paints, or kerosene in the cooler along with eggs.

Failure to observe these precautions can reduce hatching percentage, and result in less profit to the producer, he concludes.

Exodus From Farm To City To Be Slower

A Texas A & M agricultural economist has predicted that Texas exodus from the farm to the city will be slower in the future.

Dr. Robert R. Skrabanek says that it is highly probable that the farm population will continue to decline but at a much slower rate than the 26.6 percent—about 369,000—who have moved to the city from 1950-57.

In the survey made by Texas A & M, in cooperation with the USDA, Dr. Skrabanek said also that the farm population declined more slowly in Texas than in nearby Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana where the loss was 30.2 percent during the same period. However, compared with the nationwide farm to city movement, Texas' 26.6 percent has been much higher than the national average of 18.6 percent.

The Texas farm population—1,018,000—made up 11.1 percent of the state's population in 1957, with five out of every 100 farm residents in the U. S. residing in Tex.

There was much migration to and from farms during the 1950-57 survey period, Dr. Skrabanek added. An estimated 815,000 moved from Texas farms during that period, but at the same time 314,000 moved to farms.

There were an estimated 199,000 births among farm population during the period and an estimated 67,000 deaths.

The migration from farms was heavier in areas of prolonged drought than in areas where the drought was less serious.

Governor Daniel Heads Traffic Safety "Posse"

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

If a fire-breathing dragon were loose on the Texas countryside—smashing cars and their occupants, slapping down pedestrians—there'd be no question about the need to get rid of the monster. An aroused public would demand that SOMEBODY DO SOMETHING!

In actuality, innocent people ARE being maimed or killed every day as they go about their business. Thousands are lost every year.

But somebody IS doing something. Right now, officials and private citizens are forming a massive "posse." They're going after the killer—the monstrous indifference, carelessness and other difficulties that bring death on Texas streets and highways.

Leaders are members of the Texas Traffic Safety Council created by the Legislature just a year ago. Gov. Price Daniel is chairman; Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, vice-chairman. Heads of numerous other state agencies are members.

Formation of the Council was the starting point for a campaign which, for the first time, brought the official power and prestige of state government to bear on a growing problem. For some years Texas vehicles and their drivers had been outgrowing highway facilities and outdistancing law enforcement agencies by sheer weight of numbers. In 1956 Texas had an appalling all-time high of 2,611 motoricides.

Governor Daniel called it a public emergency.

With only a skeleton organization, the Council hammered away through 1957 at tightening enforcement, organizing holiday safety campaigns. By the end of the year the toll had dropped by 72.

In February of this year the governor appointed the state's first full-time traffic safety director. He is Brad H. Smith, veteran South Texas newspaper, radio and television man and past president of the Texas Press Association, who has for many years been a volunteer worker in traffic safety.

First move was to acquaint Texans with the enormity of the problem. In this Smith says he's had unstinting help from mass news media and volunteer assistance from every type of civic group.

In April Governor Daniel climaxed publicity efforts with a statewide broadcast calling for a "crack down" on two major traffic evils—speeding and driving while intoxicated. Simultaneously, local traffic safety councils were formed in 190 counties. An estimated 5,000 people participated.

Meanwhile, the battle is being pushed on other fronts. A survey of traffic-controlling resources resulted in recommendation of a 7-point program to bring Texas up to par:

1. A statewide program to bring greater public cooperation.
2. More rigid enforcement of present laws.
3. Adoption of the Uniform Driver's License Law.
4. A law to permit police to use chemical tests and other scientific aids to detect drunken drivers.
5. Development of strong, fair, effective traffic courts.
6. A State Highway Patrol double its present size.
7. Universal driver education in public schools supported by state aid.

Besides the state agencies working cooperatively through the new Council, other groups are part of the crusade. A major source of help is the 20-year-old Texas Safety Association, a pioneer group which finances its efforts on a voluntary basis.

Texas Legislative Council is studying traffic problems and will report to the 56th Legislature.

Bringing new weight is the Governor's Highway Safety Commission. Scores of prominent Texans answered Governor Daniel's call to give citizen support to official efforts. First Commission meeting is set tentatively for fall.

Results thus far are encouraging. For the first 23 weeks of this year the toll was down by 101 persons, about 11 per cent, from last year. There were 163 fewer deaths, down about 17 per cent, from '56.

Goal for 1958 is a year-long 10 per cent drop or 254 lives saved—a real stab at the dragon.

JULY SNOW STORM

Next summer's Democratic precinct conventions will be like an extra after-hours election. There'll be rival "platforms" and rival candidates, but only one key issue—how to control the party.

Battle lines were drawn when the State Democratic Executive Committee held its June meeting in Austin. Governor Daniel, as head of the party in Texas, called on his moderate-conservative cohorts to "snow under" the liberal-labor Democrats of Texas at the conventions. He accused DOT of trying to usurp the party name for a "splinter group."

SDEC is recommending electing precinct delegates to county conventions by primary ballot and moving primaries up to May and June. It also suggests a search for means to prevent party line crossing at primary time.

DOT is pushing for its "code of ethics" for conducting conventions and a party registration law to keep out Republicans.

Relative merits of the two "platforms" may be as confusing to some voters as a snowstorm in July. What's clear is that if the moderate-conservatives win out, Goverception and open house attended by more than one hundred guests. Rev. Boyd served as pastor of the Winters First Baptist Church from 1913 to 1914.

nor Daniel will continue at the helm of party affairs in Texas. If the DOT prevails, Mrs. Frankie Randolph, national committeewoman and DOT chairman, will take the wheel.

SHORT SNORTS

Governor Daniel has asked the State Board of Water Engineers to have ready by Dec. 1 a survey of Texas water needs that is to be presented to the next Legislature. Study is to be projected to the years 1975 and 2000.

For the fourth straight week the Texas Employment Commission reported a drop in unemployment payments. Jobless persons receiving benefits totaled 78,965 in the last report. During the spring the total soared above 91,000.

Jay Dean Howell, Jr., of Waco will join Atty. Gen. Will Wilson's staff June 23 in the state and county affairs division. Howell is a former assistant U. S. district attorney.

Albert H. Pollard, State Highway Department engineer, has been cited and given a $500 cash award by the Western Assn. of State Highway Officials for achievements in the use of gamma ray cameras to inspect bridge work.

San Antonio will be host city for the state's big political shindig this year—the State Democratic Convention Sept. 9. A 10 per cent hike in motor bus fares within the state of Texas has been granted by the Railroad Commission, effective June 20. Interstate

Russia Says They Will Soon Produce More Meat Than US

Last summer, Nikita Khrushchev told Americans via a television interview that Communism would eventually win its contest with Capitalism.

The Russian leader was not threatening a hot war. Instead, he based his prediction on the claim that the Soviet Union would in five years outstrip the United States in the per-capita production of meat, milk and butter plus other agricultural products.

In a word, he was reminding us that a nation is only as strong as its agriculture. But while Russia still appears to have an edge in "Sputniks," that nation is far behind us in farming methods—yet is determined to catch up.

Fortunately, we are not lagging in our scientific achievements in agriculture. The Russians will have quite a way to go if they catch us because our own progress in farming has been phenomenal.

First thing a blind man must learn is to trust his seeing-eye dog; here is a lesson for women with new husbands.

MOST DIABOLICAL EYES—Parisian model Luce Bona shows off "the world's most diabolical eyes." The "Committee of the Black Hand," an association of French mystery writers, gave the comely lass the devilish title.

IKE, AUTOMATICALLY—Edson O. Sessions, deputy postmaster of the Washington, D.C., post office, removes mail bound for President Eisenhower from the coop to which it has been sorted by machine. Girl operators at keyboards punch instructions into an intricate, Belgian-made device which then takes over actual sorting of the mail bound for various post offices.

Health Letter

New bread standards go into effect July 1, to assure that you get the kind of bread you pay for.

After that date, if you buy a loaf of cinnamon-raisin bread and it doesn't have raisins in it, the baker is subject to action.

The standards will require all bread and rolls to be properly labeled so as to truthfully reflect their ingredients and nutritious qualities.

Patterned after federal food standards, they will be administered by the State Health Department's Food and Drug Division. A majority of the baking industry fully supports the standards.

Labeling means much more than a colorful wrapping around a loaf of bread. It includes, among other things, the advertising claims made by the baker for his product. A food is misbranded when its labeling is false or misleading in any particular, if it is offered for sale under the name of another food, or if it is an imitation of another food (unless its label bears in prominent type the word "imitation" and immediately thereafter the name of the food imitated).

Bread is also mislabeled if it purports to be or is represented as a food for which a "standard of identity" has been described and it fails to conform to that standard.

Standards not only protect consumers in the marketplace; they also protect honest manufacturers by assuring fair competition. The consumer may select and serve standardized foods with complete confidence in their composition and integrity.

The law's basic requirements for clean handling, informative labeling and no adulteration gives consumers an insight into the purity, wholesomeness and nutritious quality of the product.

Bread labels must show net weight or numerical count of the product, such as "net weight, one pound," or "one dozen dough nuts," and the name of the product such as "Smith's Enriched Bread," or "Jones Raisin Bread."

While there is no specific requirements as to type size, the standards do provide that the label shall be considered false if the information is not prominently displayed in such a manner that it can be easily read.

You, as a consumer of bread and rolls, can help make the new standards work by carefully reading the label on the bread you buy.

A morsel of gossip prolongs lives of elderly females that would otherwise be useless, so why not contribute your bit, old man?

What you endured to make a couple of bucks is inexplicable to some relatives because they think they should share in the ill-gotten wealth although they took no risk.

Fat Calves and Stockers Sell On Strong Basis

By TED GOULDY
Cattle trade opened this week with very strong demand for choice fat calves and prices were strong to 25 to 50 cents higher. Lightweight stockers, with quality, also sold on a stronger basis. Canner and cutter cows were firm, but fat cows were 25 to 50 cents lower. Fed steers closed weak to 50 cents lower, however, earlier sales were fully steady.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings drew $24 to $27, white plain and medium sorts sold from $17 to $23. Fat cows drew $17 to $20, and canners and cutters cashed at $12 to $17. Bulls sold from $17 to $21.50.

Good and choice slaughter calves cleared at $24 to $28.25, and common and medium sorts sold from $18 to $23, with culls from $14 to $17. Stocker calves cashed at $32.50 down, and stocker yearlings drew $27.50 down. Feeder steers sold from $26 downward.

Sheep and Lambs Steady To Strong, Quality Off

The offering of sheep and lambs at Fort Worth Monday was predominantly medium and lower grades. Strictly choice grades were practically lacking in the receipts. Medium to good slaughter lambs sold from $20 to $22.50, and cull to medium sorts sold from $14 to $20. Feeders sold from $19 downward.

Good yearling wethers sold from $16.50 to $18, and cull to medium sorts sold from $13 to $15. Slaughter ewes sold around $6.50 to $7.50. Aged wethers cashed at $10 to $12. Two's sold at $14.

Hogs Open Strong, Top $23.25 To $25.50, Sows $20.50

Runs continued light at Fort Worth and other major market centers of the nation Monday, and prices strengthened. Choice hogs topped at $23.25 and $23.50 at Fort Worth, with other good butchers from $22 to $23. Mediums sold around $21 to $22, and sows sold from $18 to $20.50. Stags drew $11 to $14.

Congress Probably Won't Help Oil Industry At Present

Any hope for our hard-pressed Texas oil industry at this session of Congress may have gone down the drain last week when the House voted against an amendment to the reciprocal trade extension bill, then being debated. The amendment, in the form of a substitute bill, while by no means adequate in respect to oil would at least have provided a procedural remedy and a ray of hope for domestic industries plagued by excessive low-cost imports.

With drilling operations down 25 percent and producing wells allowed to operate only 8 days out of each month in Texas, the impact of ever-increasing imports is playing havoc with drilling contractors, independent oil operators, and with our state economy.

The bill which was approved offers little hope of relief to any domestic industry adversely affected by the dumping of competitive products on our markets. The reciprocal trade program, which is sound in theory, has drifted far afield from its proper purposes. The House-approved bill continues the program for five years and delegates to the State Department the right, without Congressional review, to reduce tariffs up to 25 percent on any imported commodity.

Visitors this past week have included Robert Cauthorn and Jack Crosby of Del Rio; Mayor R. E. Windham, Henry Batjer, Jack Shaw, Weldon Jones, M. D. Bryant and R. L. Turner, all of San Angelo; and Wendell Mayes of Brownwood.

Oldtimers of Southwest Texas is the title of a new book by Florence Fenley of Uvalde, a complimentary copy of which has just been sent me by the author. With a preface entitled "A Tribute to Oldtimers" by John Garner, the book contains a valuable and readable history of the stirring events that mark the colorful history of Uvalde County and the immediate area. It was published by the Hornby Press of Uvalde.

A QUEEN IS CROWNED—FINALLY—After striking out twice, judges in the Miss England contest finally came up with a winner. First choice was June Cooper, left, but it turned out that she was too young (17) for the crown. Then pert Wendy Peters, center, was chosen but it was discovered that she was married and so disqualified. So the third choice was crowned Miss England. She's 19-year-old Dorothy Hazeltine, right, neither too young, too old or wed. She's just a nice 26-24-37.

"MON GENERALE"—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, shown in a recent photo, is the man many French affectionately call "Mon Generale." Leader of the Free French after the fall of his country to the Germans in the early stages of World War II, De Gaulle came back to assume leadership over the liberated country. Shortly after he quit in disgust at the bickering splinter parties in the National Assembly. Now, at 67, he's back, ready to take over control of the Republic, "if the people wish, as in the preceding great national crisis." But the man who once referred to himself as a "modern Joan of Arc" had many obstacles to overcome before he could attain this position.

COLORADO CROPS MENACED—Swarms of grasshoppers cling to fence pickets in Kit Carson, Colo., where an invasion of the bugs threatens to destroy what had been expected to be one of the finest area crops in a decade. Federal insect control experts were dispatched to the scene.

PRO-FRENCH DEMONSTRATION—Waving flags and banners, part of a crowd of some 40,000 French and Moslems gather in the main square of Algiers, Algeria, for a pro-French demonstration. The crowd was addressed by members of the "Public Safety Committee," a French military junta which assumed power in the country in a split with Paris government.

Rodeos Bring Back Memories Of The Old West During Frontier Days

The RODEO! No one word in the English language brings into sharper focus such an exciting medley of sounds, smells, and sensations as does RODEO. The blaring of a brass band, the howling of cattle, clouds of dust, and the excitement of anticipated thrills all parade before the senses—brought to life by these five letters.

The Rodeo, Spanish for roundup, as we know it today, has been a long time in its development. Its beginnings stem from the serious of cowboy contests which were part of every big roundup, held when ranges were unfenced and cattle freely intermingled. It was the custom then for men from neighboring ranches to gather at periodic intervals, usually twice a year, to separate and brand their cattle. After a day's work, tall tales and boasting around the campfire each night were part of the procedure. Contests to back up a man's claim about his ability with a rope and a horse naturally followed. From those came our present day rodeos.

Public interest in these cowboy contests began to grow. On July 4, 1883, a big contest, wherein prizes were awarded to the winners, was staged on the flat adjoining the county courthouse at Pecos, Tex. That was the commercial beginning of rodeos as we presently know them.

As time passed, non-cowboy interest continued to grow in these contests, variously called Cowboy Tournaments, Stampedes, Round-ups, and Frontier Days (the term Rodeo didn't come into general use until about 1916). Then someone decided the public would pay to see these events. Thus, five years later to the day after the first public rodeo at Pecos, admission was charged to a Rodeo at Prescott in the Territory of Arizona.

Rodeos begin to be a big business. Every year, more and more persons were paying to see cowboys pit themselves against the bucking bronc, and the wall-eyed steer. In the year of America's entry into World War I, 1917, the first indoor rodeo was held in the Stockyards Coliseum in Fort Worth, Texas. At first these contests were confined to the West, Mid-West, and Canada, but in 1916 the rodeo went East. Brooklyn, of course, was the site chosen. Ten years later, Madison Square Garden held its first Rodeo.

The next stride forward in the development of the Rodeo, as one of America's biggest sporting attractions, was the formation of the Rodeo Association of America in 1929. Headquartered in Salinas, California, purpose of the organization was to further interest in Rodeos, set non-conflicting dates for events, make rules and award authentic titles. Recently, the RAA merged with and became known as the International Rodeo Association. Headquarters are in Pendleton, Oregon.

As determined by the IRA, the five major events at any rodeo are: Saddle bronc riding, bronc riding, calf roping, bareback bronc riding, bulldogging (or steer wrestling), and bull riding.

Events involving riding bucking horses or cattle are judged on a point system. Roping events are rated on a time system.

Titles awarded by International Rodeo Association are determined by the amount of money a contestant has won in a year's time.

'59 Wheat Support Level Depends On Quota Voting

The level of price support for the 1959 wheat crop will be determined by the outcome of the June 20 referendum on marketing quotas for next year's crop, Searcy M. Ferguson, Chairman, State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, declared today.

"Aside from a choice between a marketing quota program and no marketing quotas, the big issue to be decided by the June 20 vote will be the level of price support available for the 1959 wheat crop," the Chairman stated.

"Acreage allotments will remain in effect no matter how the vote goes, as a means of determining eligibility for support."

As announced on May 1, price support for the 1959 wheat crop will be available in the commercial wheat area at a national average of at least $1.81 per bushel, or 75 per cent of parity, if marketing quotas for the 1959-crop of wheat are approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum. This minimum will not be reduced, but may be increased if a combination of the wheat parity price and wheat supply relationships as of July 1, 1959, indicate a higher support price.

If quotas for the 1959 wheat crop are not approved by at least two-thirds of the voters, however, the support level in the commercial wheat producing area will drop to about $1.20 per bushel, or 50 per cent of parity, as directed by law. Compliance with allotments would continue to be a condition of eligibility for the lower price support.

Those farmers who vote in the referendum will be the ones who decide whether or not marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1959 wheat crop, Chairman Ferguson points out. All farmers are eligible to vote if they will share in the 1959 wheat crop from a farm in the commercial wheat area on which the wheat harvested for grain in 1959 will exceed 15 acres and provided they did not take part in the 1958 feed wheat program.

Local county extension agents have copies of the program and can supply detailed information on questions dealing with the conference, or information may be obtained by writing to the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, Texas A & M College System, College Station. The Department sponsors the annual meeting.

Easy Outdoor Cookery

A quick, easy way to prepare the main dish for a picnic or outdoor meal is to cook on skewers. "Shisk-kabobs" are delicious and different.

There are many possibilities, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists. You may have all vegetables or all meat on the skewer, or alternate the meat cubes with a combination of vegetables such as tomato wedges, chunks of carrot, mushrooms, pieces of green pepper, onion, etc.

A basic "shisk-kabob" is made with boneless meat, cut in 1 and one half or 2-inch cubes. Beef, lamb, ham or pork may be used. With lamb or veal, use the shoulder or leg; with beef, use the round, chuck or rump. Allow one half to three-quarters pound per person.

Prepare the meat by brushing with lemon juice and olive oil, or marinate from 2 hours to 2 days in the following mixture: 1 part of lemon juice to 3 parts olive oil seasoned with crushed garlic, salt and pepper, and if you wish, add some thyme, oregano, bay leaf or cummin.

Now string the cubes on your skewers — If you like the meat rare, push the cubes closely together. For all-around crispness, separate the chunks on the skewer.

Broil over coals. It will take from 10 to 16 minutes, depending on how well done you want the food. Serve immediately.

Texans Not Getting Enough Milk in Diet

There is plenty of milk in Texas—and nobody ever outgrows the need for this important food, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists. Yet, figures from the Home Demonstration Study just completed show that Texans—too many of them—are not getting enough milk daily.

According to the study, only 25 percent of the children under 20 drank the full four glasses recommended per day. Fifty percent had two or three glasses, 15 percent only one glass, and 6 percent drank no milk at all.

Men drank more milk than the women interviewed. Fifty-six percent had the two glasses or more recommended for adults, while only 40 percent of the women reported drinking that much. Of even greater concern, is the fact that 28 percent of the women and 23 percent of the men reported drinking no milk at all.

Children need milk to build bones and teeth. Older people, too, need milk for bones. Research has shown that one of the greatest problems after middle age is maintenance of good strong bones. Minerals in milk, especially calcium, help solve this problem. Also rich in high quality protein and vitamins, each calorie in milk is packed with nutrition. It is considered a basic need in diets for losing weight or for gaining weight.

June is National Dairy Month... a good time to take stock of your family's milk consumption habits. Use milk to help balance the budget as well as the diet. No other food gives more food value per dollar.

Weather Calls For Rose Garden Changes

It is time to change rose fungicides for disease control. Sulfur compounds used in cool weather can cause burns in hot weather, says Harlan E. Smith, extension plant pathologist.

For black spot control, he says to change to captan, zineb or maneb, and for powdery mildew control, to Karathane or Miltex. Applications should be made each week especially during rainy weather.

Smith says to avoid wetting the foliage when watering the lawn or roses and that spraying will give better control than dusting. A spreader sticker should be used with the spray for best results.

Black spot is characterized by large, roundish, black spots with irregular or frayed margins. The spots may occur on either or both surfaces of the leaves, and frequently develop unnoticed on the soft twigs and branches, and also on the leaf stems. When severely infected, the leaves may turn yellow and drop off. This weakens the plants and makes them more susceptible to dieback, drought and winter injury. It also results in smaller flowers that are weak in color and fragrance.

Powdery mildew is characterized by a white, powdery coating that occurs on the leaves, buds and young stems. Immature leaves may be curled, distorted and light in color.

Game Commission Picks Rockport For Conference

Members of the Game and Fish Commission will hold their first coastal meeting since the new salt water fishing license became effective in Rockport June 20 according to the Executive Secretary.

"This is an exploratory meeting," the Secretary said. "We've a great deal of work to do on the coast, affecting both commercial and sport fishing." This will be a start in looking over the entire program, which will include a discussion of passes, artificial reefs, pollution and other things affecting all types of fishing.

The Coastal Division is headquartered at the Marine Laboratory located at Rockport, with biologists and wardens now stationed at key points along the entire Texas coast line.

Members of the Commission also will have an opportunity to talk with coastal fishermen about the artificial snapper reef recently installed near Port Aransas. More than 200 old automobile bodies were tied together and dumped from a barge six miles out.

Fishermen already are reporting ling and kings working around the new reef. A check is being made by Howard Lee, Director of the Marine Lab, in an attempt to learn how quickly snapper are caught in the vicinity of the new reef.

White-Winged Dove Banding Crew Now Busy In Mexico

A banding crew of the Game and Fish Commission now is working in Mexico in the white-winged dove nesting areas, it has been announced by the Director of Wildlife Restoration.

Preliminary reconnaissance work done two weeks ago indicated a slight shortage of birds in areas covered last year, according to men working in the area. It was not known whether the doves had moved out of this area into some other area nearby or whether there was an actual shortage. At the time of the preliminary work, serious drought conditions prevailed.

Although there was a good kill of the white-winged dove last September during the three-day open season, it was known that a good seed crop of the birds remained and moved south last winter.

Many doves are now nesting in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas. Some of the area used for nesting last year has been cleaned of its brush, forcing the doves into new areas for nesting.

The Game and Fish Commission recently signed a contract for the purchase of 64 acres of additional brush land near the Brownsville International Airport. This tract belonged to Mrs. Jim Voshell of Brownsville. It is virgin brush and will remain that way under the management control of the Commission biologists.

"When our crews spend a few days in Mexico and the Rio Grande Valley area we will know much better what the potential white-wing crop may be for this fall," the Director said. "We are hopeful that sufficient birds will be present this fall to justify another limited season."

Judge Wilbur B. Hunt Seeking Court Post

The importance of the functions and responsibilities of the state's highest court was emphasized Wednesday by District Judge Wilbur B. Hunt.

Judge Hunt is a third generation Texas lawyer seeking Position One post of Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas to be vacated December 31 by St. John Garwood of Houston who is not running for re-election.

"The impact of decisions of the Supreme Court of Texas now and in the years ahead are of increasing vital concern to Texans in every walk of life," Judge Hunt said.

"It is therefore important that Texas voters weigh carefully the qualifications of those candidates seeking election to this high post," the veteran jurist added.

"During the course of this campaign it is obvious that there will be voters whom I will not personally be able to meet to discuss my own qualifications for the office despite the fact that by election I will have extended my campaign into every part of the state," he continued.

"For the benefit of those I may not meet, I offer the record of my 19 years in the general practice of law and my 11 years service on the district court bench as the basis for my candidacy," the judge said.

The veteran Jurist presides over the 133rd District Court in Houston where he has been re-elected three times since 1948 without opposition.

He was first elected a special district judge in 1946 in a special election held by the Harris County Bar Association to name a temporary successor to the late Judge Roy Campbell who was ill at the time.

In 1947 Judge Hunt was appointed judge of the newly created 133rd District Court by Governor Beauford Jester.

Hunt received his BA degree at Georgetown University in Washington and his LLB degree from the University of Texas Law School.

He is a member of the State Bar of Texas, the American Bar Association and chairman of the legislative committee of the Judiciary section of the State Bar.

He was engaged in the private practice of law for 19 years prior to becoming judge of the 133rd District Court.

AT THE STATE THEATRE

"Return to Warbow"

The fear that grips a town awaiting the vengeance of the West's deadliest outlaws is excitingly depicted in Columbia Pictures' Technicolor outdoor action drama, "Return to Warbow," starring Phil Carey at the State Theatre, starting Saturday. Featured in Carey's support are Catherine McLeod, Andrew Dugan and William Leslie.

Carey plays a stagecoach robber in "Return to Warbow." He breaks out of an Arizona prison with two other convicts and heads for Warbow where, ten years earlier, he had cached $30,000 in loot. Custodian of the money is his wastrel brother. Since he is widely known in town, Carey's initial problem is to make contact with his brother without raising the alarm.

He plans to make use of Duggan, husband of Miss McLeod, the woman Carey almost married years ago. The bandit uses every kind of pressure, including the threat to reveal that Miss McLeod's son really is Carey's and not Duggan's. The film's bullet-hot climax takes place in an abandoned mine.

"Short Cut to Hell"

"Short Cut to Hell," which opens Saturday at the State Theatre, stacks up as a spellbinding drama that should pack the kind of powerful wallop suspense fans eagerly look forward to. The Paramount thriller began its life as a novel by Graham Greene, one of the world's foremost spinners of suspense and action yarns, was put into scenario form by W. R. Burnett of "Little Caesar," "Scarface" and "High Sierra" fame and was scripted finally by the noted team of Ted Berkman and Raphael Blau.

It was that pedigree that first drew screen star James Cagney to it, but the movies' top portrayer of high-tension roles put his acting career aside temporarily and instead chose to make his debut as a director and to turn his unmatched years of experience to putting the shocker on film.

The Vista Vision tale of a twisted young killer and the nightclub singer who unwittingly becomes a vital link in his murderous plans will bring to the screen two exciting new personalities, Robert Ivers and Georgann Johnson. Both were chosen for their roles by Cagney himself in the director's quest for fresh new faces and outstanding talents.

The blond, handsome and intense Ivers will be seen in the demanding part of the paid killer who is double-crossed by a crime syndicate and while tracking down his betrayer, himself becomes the object of a furious manhunt by the police. The lovely Miss Johnson is the girl he forces at gun point to accompany him on his desperate journey.

"The Cyclops" and "Daughter of Dr. Jekyll"

Lovers of the fine and macabre art of horror, terror and suspense on the screen are directed to the Fiesta Drive-In Theatre where the twin-shocker, "Daughter of Dr. Jekyll" and "The Cyclops" opens Friday.

This is a horror bill, two Allied Artists pictures that send the chills and thrills racing up and down the spine, that equals, and in many scenes surpasses, anything of its type ever attempted on the screen.

Both pictures benefit from splendid acting, outstanding production values and taut, exciting direction that keep them moving on a high pitch of horror from start to finish.

"Daughter of Dr. Jekyll," which stars John Agar, Gloria Talbott and Arthur Shields, is the chilling story of a girl whose dead father was reported to be a murderous werewolf. She visits the manor house after her father's death to claim an inheritance and immediately there is a new series of bloody killings.

The girl is suspected of being the werewolf reincarnation of her father and the picture takes such a fascinating, incredible turn that she actually believes she has committed the crimes. She is saved from hanging herself in the surprise climax that reaches the ultimate in suspense.

Pronghorn Story Traces Life Span Of Texas Stock

Texas' pronghorn antelope finds itself the object of history as well as hunters in the May issue of TEXAS GAME AND FISH. Two writers trace the pronghorn from the days of the sabre-toothed tiger to present times of controlled

Bob Slaughter, free lance writer, follows "Mr. Fleetfoot" from his beginning about 30 million years ago along a trail of danger from animals and man. Theron Carroll, Assistant Director of the Information-Education Division of the Commission, picks up the story with the modern approach of protecting the pronghorn by propagating and controlled harvests.

Mr. Slaughter writes that the pronghorn antelope's ancestors were a branch of the same family of mammals from which cattle and bison developed. He brings out that almost 24 million years of adaptation were required to produce a species with traits similar to the pronghorn of today.

After set backs during the "Ice Age" the pronghorn was then hunted by man, whose weapons became more and more effective against the creature's amazing speed and eyesight.

Coming to the present, Carroll paints the picture of the Texas pronghorn with facts and figures taken from years of research and population counts. He points out that since the hunting season was closed in 1903 the pronghorn was given the chance to increase to 4,742 in 1941 and to 7,500 in 1957.

In 1944, however, the hunting season was opened, the State wildlife biologists set up a harvest program to control the numbers of the pronghorn. "Thus" writes Carroll, "Mr. Fleetfoot enjoys the distinction of being the first game species in Texas to be harvested under a method affording complete scientific control."

that travels to the wilds of Mexico to find a lost man. They become lost in a mysterious valley in which strange creatures grow to fabulous size because of radioactivity and are trapped by "The Cyclops."

"The Brothers Karamazov"

One of the biggest and most important pictures to emanate from the M-G-M studios, "The Brothers Karamazov" brings to the screen in color the powerful novel by Fyodor Dostoyevsky.

First published in 1880, this engrossing story, unfolded against a vivid backdrop of Tsarist Russia, has and continues to be read by millions throughout the world. Probing into the universal conflict between good and evil, it is both a passionate love story and a psychological thriller, with all the suspense of a detective shocker and of an ingenious and diabolical crime.

To bring its varied characters to the screen, M-G-M assembled one of the finest casts ever brought together for a motion picture, headed by Yul Brynner in his first film role since his Academy Award-winning portrayal in "The King and I" and his equally lauded role in "Anastasia."

In "The Brothers Karamazov" Dostoyevsky chose as the theme for his study of a father and his three sons the effect of greed and sensuality on a family and on those with whom they came into contact.

The stormy passions and emotional conflicts in which these people find themselves, leading up to the climax of a dreadful murder, make for one of the most powerful dramas ever brought to the screen.

"Bonjour Tristesse"

Francoise Sagan's celebrated romantic best-seller has been brought to the screen in Otto Preminger's "Bonjour Tristesse", a Columbia release starring Deborah Kerr, David Niven, Jean Seberg, Mylene Demongeot and Geoffrey Horne. The Cinema-Scope Technicolor drama was filmed on location in Paris and on the French Riviera.

"Bonjour Tristesse" is the dramatic, sensitive and searching story of a fabulous summer on the Riviera. Producer-director Preminger assembled a truly international cast for the filming of Miss Sagan's international best-seller, teaming Miss Kerr, three-time Academy Award nominee, and Niven, who is more popular than ever as a result of his role in "Around the World in 80 Days." For the key role of the teen-ager, Preminger cast young American actress Jean Seberg who was Preminger's choice over thousands of competitors for the title role of "Saint Joan."

Mylene Demongeot, young blonde French actress, plays Niven's young "amie" who is superseded in his affections by Miss Kerr. Geoffrey Horne plays Miss Seberg's handsome young first love and other important roles are portrayed by Juliette Greco, singing star who sings the hauntingly beautiful title song, and Walter Chiari, leading Italian comedian recently seen in "The Little Hut."

We must admit that the younger generation learns fast, but we are not so sure what.

Those who refuse to support the churches should offer the world something better.
