Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Steady changes in the life around us sometimes fail to make themselves noticed, and growing pains of a city the size of Winters often fail to make an impression in the day-by-day cluttered lives of most of us. They are absorbed in our minds and become mixed with the scar tissue of our thinking until the changes are not changes but a part of our conscious which has been present all the time.

Until suddenly we look around us and realize that much change has taken place within a comparative short span of time, and we wonder where we have been while all this has been taking place.

Thus it has been with the steady growth of Winters, and many of us have not noticed that Winters has been literally bursting at the seams, sometimes simmering and sometimes boiling with a metamorphic activity. Look around you and make some comparisons and you'll see what we mean.

We had occasion to inspect some maps of the city the other day, and the amount of growth which has taken place within the past six years leaves no doubt as to the steady progress of Winters.

Postmaster Rankin Pace showed us a map which had been prepared in 1953, showing all the stops which would have been necessary if Winters had gotten city mail delivery at that time. This 1953 map we compared with a recently-completed map, made up to show the necessary stops if and when the city gets house to house mail delivery.

On this 1959 map, all the stops have been marked, with the exception of the downtown business area, and we counted many more such stops than were on the 1953 map. We also noticed considerable change in the overall picture of the city of Winters. For instance, there is a big area on the new map to the north of the town which was not on the 1953 map — Parkview addition, which at the time the new survey was taken listed 21 stops for the proposed city mail delivery system.

It was difficult to count all the stops which have been recommended for city mail delivery, but we believe we came close to the right number. On the 1953 map we counted 1008 stops marked; on the 1959 map, there were 1153, an increase of 145 in a short six years. Of course, our count is not official, and there may be many we missed. But the great growth of the size of Winters is apparent.

There have been other changes, too. Such as the renaming of some of the streets to make a uniform pattern if and when city mail delivery is a reality. On the new map, which we understand to be the official one which will be used by the post office department is setting up the proposed city mail delivery system, the Mulberry Street, in the northeast section of town, running between the high school and the grade school, has been eliminated, and Jones Street has been extended to include the old Mulberry.

Trinity Street, on the east side of town, has been extended to include what has been called Gertrude Street, Fannin Street, also on the east side, has been extended to include Eoff Street, running north and south.

There no longer will be a Pecos Street in the northeast part of town. North Rogers has been extended to include what has been known as Pecos. Also, North Cryer has been extended to include the old Brazos street in the northeast section.

In the Sunlawn Addition, the street which has been called "Rose-lane" by residents is "Rosedale" on the map; the street was listed as "Rosedale" on the 1953 map, also.

The tenacle which stretches north of the city, to become a part of the corporate limits, has added new names to the roster. Started just two or three years ago, the addition known as Parkview Addition, has added Laurel Drive and Park Lane to the street list.

South of town, out of the city limits, however, in the Reeves Addition, we find Reeves Avenue, Bishop Avenue, and a street known as Meeks, if and when the addition is included in the city limits, will line up with the Meeks street within the city.

There may have been many more changes which were not apparent in a quick study of the map. But these are enough to show that Winters is not standing still, but continuing to grow.

Runnels County Farm Bureau Monthly Meeting Held Thursday In Ballinger

Regular monthly meeting of the Runnels County Farm Bureau was held in the office at Ballinger July 16, with 38 directors and members present. This meeting was devoted to working out final plans for the big annual barbecue and queen contest which will be held August 20 at the city park in Ballinger.

Each year the directors have depended on neighbors for the use of tables at this event. At the meeting they voted to build 10 tables which were built Monday.

The directors voted to send five students to the Leadership Training Institute to be held at the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas August 2-5.

The purpose of the Institute is to inform and train leaders who have responsibilities in the county Farm Bureau organizations that they might better serve the membership. Those who will attend the institute are Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Dobbins of Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Multer of Offen and Miss Patti McDaniel of Ballinger.

Plans for the queen contest which will be held in conjunction with the barbecue were also discussed at the meeting. The purpose of the contest is to give recognition to farm and ranch girls. It is anticipated that through the contest more farm and ranch girls as well as other young people may become better acquainted with the principles of the Farm Bureau organization.

Little Studio Wins Blue Ribbon Awards On Two Photos

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Little, local photographers and owners of Little Studio, were honored by their professional contemporaries at the 46th annual convention of the Texas Photographers Association in Houston when their photographs, titled "Desert Born," and "Hundredth Summer," were awarded blue ribbons.

These photographs were selected from more than 600 submitted by professional photographers from all over Texas and neighboring states, to be judged by a panel of outstanding and nationally known photographers, of whom at least three hold the degree of Master of Photography, professional photography's highest distinction.

The Blue Ribbon Award is a highly coveted honor since only a selected few are given at the annual convention and represent best of the show from those prints judged worthy of hanging in the photograph exhibit. The Littles had eight photographs in the exhibit.

Billy Lynn also won the cup for the best roll of film made by a teenager.

Mr. and Mrs. Little and their sons, Harvey Edward and Billy Lynn are on a vacation tour of the Southern States.

Wingate Pirates Win Little League Area Championship

The Wingate Pirates breezed through the schedule of the Winters Area Little League with 15 wins and no defeats. According to Coach Cowan, the fine defense and good all-around hitting of the Pirates is responsible for the undefeated season.

Any member of the starting team, when stepping to the plate, was capable of hitting the ball and starting a rally, Cowan said. At the end of the season, seven of the Pirates were batting above the 300 mark. Six of the Pirates sent balls sailing over the fence for home runs.

Larry Awalt, Jimmy Adams, Johnny Beck and Chester and Richard Puckett of the Pirates were chosen on the All Star team to play in the tournament at Abilene on Thursday night, July 23.

Listed below are the batting averages of all the Wingate Little Leaguers who have appeared at bat 18 or more times:

Soaking rains of the past week have brightened an already prosperous picture for agriculture in North Runnels County, and brought the year's total rainfall to 21.82 inches (unofficial).

Excellent moisture conditions were already present in the area when the rains started falling July 16, and continuing for six days. In that period, July 16 to July 21, a total of 3.4 inches of rain fell, to make a total of 4.8 inches of moisture for the first 21 days of July. Wednesday morning the sun rose unobscured by clouds for the first time in six days.

So far, July has been the second wettest month of 1959 for North Runnels County. June rainfall totaled 9.70 inches. January and March have been the driest months with only unmeasurable amounts of moisture falling in those months. February saw only .22 inch of rain.

With plenty of moisture, crop prospects for North Runnels County are more favorable than in several years, according to many farmers in the area. County Agent C. T. Parker estimated that there will be about 50,000 bales of cotton harvested in Runnels county this year. He also estimated that about 160,000 acres of maize in the county would produce an average of 2,000 pounds per acre.

However, according to Parker, there is the ever-present threat of insects to cut down the yield. Considerable infestation of boll worms in the maize has been found, especially in the south part of Runnels county, Parker said. Biggest threat to cotton farmers in the area has been the cabbage looper. But with proper procedures in eradication, the pests can be eliminated, he said.

The county agent recommended the use of endrine to kill the cabbage looper in heavily infested fields, and endrine or toxophene in the maize to kill the boll worm.

Third Session Fizzled, Governor Daniel Calls Fourth To Try To Get Tax Bills

BY VERN SANFORD
 Texas Press Association

Texas' 56th Legislature fizzled to the end of its third session and 180th day with its main job—providing money to run state government—still undone.

Gov. Price Daniel called a fourth session to begin just hours after the last one ended.

House members repeatedly voted down tax bills presented by joint conference committees of senators and representatives. Seante voted favorably each time.

First House rejection was by a vote of 81-to-64. This was on a bill to tax tobacco, natural gas production, corporation franchises, utilities, motor vehicles, liquor, wine, boats, motors, airplanes, radios, TVs, phonographs, cameras and liquor by the drink in private clubs.

Speaker Waggoner Carr named a House conference group composed of members who had voted against the bill. They met with the same Senate converees that had worked twice before.

Only change in the new report was that the private club tax was cut out and the radio and TV tax slightly increased.

House rejected it again, this time 83-to-66.

More conferences and more votes followed in the final frantic hours. All futile! None made any apparent progress toward compromising the basic bone of contention, whether to tax gas pipelines. House favors this "severance beneficiary" tax by a narrow margin. Senate is flatly against.

Along with his new call, Governor Daniel issued a sober warning. Unless a tax bill is passed and effective (requiring a two-thirds favorable vote) by Aug. 15, there won't be time or money to get Sept. 1 checks to 225,000 old age pensioners.

CARR FOES BACK DOWN

During the tense, short-tempered days in the wind-up of the last session, Speaker Waggoner Carr was, for a time, the target for pent-up frustrations and pressure.

Carr had worked to get the House to accept the Senate-passed tax bill. When the House turned the bill down, Carr said that "obstructionists" had defeated it.

This was a red flag to members already sensitive to public criticism of a "do-nothing" Legislature. For several days they simmered. They accused Carr of trying to thwart the will of a House majority, talked of voting him out of the speakership.

In a dramatic showdown, Carr stepped down from the rostrum and challenged his critics to remove him if they thought it would make things any better.

Nobody accepted his dare. A few minutes later, on motion of Rep. Joe Burkett, the man Carr defeated for the speakership, Carr was escorted back to the speaker's chair.

And the wearying legislative battle began again.

STUDENT FEE BILL OKAYED

A bill to require state college students to pay an activity fee passed both houses by very narrow margin.

Measure would allow the colleges to charge students up to $30 a semester to support health services, book rentals, cultural and athletic events, campus publications, parking, etc.

Any college may exempt from the fee up to 10 percent of its enrollment in cases where the charge would cause "undue financial hardship."

Bill was hard fought. Opponents declared it would make "free public education" available only to the rich. Backers said the colleges had to have more money. It was estimated the bill could bring in as much as an extra $1,000,000 a year.

BEACH BILL PASSES

Both houses passed and sent to the governor a bill guaranteeing public access to state-owned beaches.

It took a conference committee to work out the differences between House and Senate ideas on the bill.

As finally passed, the bill says the public shall have the right to come and go from public beaches. No one, it says, shall erect a fence or barrier to prevent this.

Beaches that cannot be reached by public road or ferry are ex-

MODEL OF NOSTALGIA—Old-timers who exult over the fabulous farm meals and forget the heat, haze and bone-creaking work of the wheat harvest will cherish the thought of this scale model 20-74 Nichols and Sheppard steam engine. Webster Mooney, who once operated one of the machines, poses beside the miniature in Nortonville, Kan. The threshing engine took 4½ years of Mooney's spare time to build, and is built to about quarter-scale. Mooney had boiler and gears made for him; the rest of the work is his own. It can be fired with either wood or coal or will operate on compressed air.

WAIT, YOUNG LOVERS

Governor Daniel's expected signature on a newly passed bill will put the damper on the elopement plans of Texas teen-agers.

It will require boys under 21 and girls under 18 to wait three days after obtaining a license to get married. Also, to get the license, the youngsters must be accompanied by parents or guardians.

Some lawmakers said it would mean more running across the state line to marry. However, Oklahoma recently passed a similar law.

NEED MONEY FIRST

Amid the legislative tax deadlock, the Commission on Higher Education decided to stop studying new money-spending programs until there's money to spend.

Commission's job is to determine needs of the state's colleges and universities and make recommendations to the Legislature. Expanded programs and new degrees are being sought by many schools. But when the Commission met, there was no money in sight even to open the schools next fall, let alone expand them.

Commission resolved to "approve no programs which entail additional expenditures until such time as monies are provided for the programs and offerings already in existence."

OIL QUOTA KEPT DOWN

Texas oil allowable will be held down to nine producing days again for August.

Railroad Commission ordered the same production as for July — 2,700,164 barrels a day on a nine-day schedule.

Major oil purchasing companies and independent producers were virtually agreed that production must be kept low to reduce excessive stocks.

WATCH THAT PAINT

If someone slips on a strip of wet city paint, is the city liable for personal injury damages? State Supreme Court has this issue under consideration in a case that could affect all Texas cities.

City of Austin is being sued for injuries of a person who slipped on fresh paint marking a car parking slot. Lower courts held the city was liable.

Bedford-Young Wedding Vows Exchanged In Twilight Ceremony

At twilight Saturday evening, Jane Bedford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Brevard Bedford, and Mack Dalton Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Young, exchanged wedding vows in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wetzel.

Jim Wilburn, minister of the Winters Church of Christ, officiated for the double ring ceremony before a wrought iron arch decorated with white mums and greenery. Tall baskets of white gladioli were on either side. White satin ribbon entwined the poles of the canopy and patio with baskets of gladioli at either side of the aisle.

Traditional wedding music was furnished by a tape recording of the A Capella Choir of Abilene Christian College. The choir also sang "Because," and "I Love But Thee."

Michael Rodieck of Tyler, cousin of the bride, and Joe Robbins of San Angelo, cousin of the bridegroom, laid the pathway for the bridal party.

Beverly Bedford, cousin of the bride was maid of honor and Pat Vaughan was best man.

Miss Bedford wore a pink embroidered organza dress fashioned with a fitted bodice, full unpressed pleated skirt and satin cummerbund. She wore matching mitts and silk shoes, and carried a colonial bouquet of rose pink feathered carnations with love knots of cascading satin ribbon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess style ballerina length white embroidered organza dress designed with a bateau neckline, short shirred sleeves and cuffed empire waist line. The Watteau back of chiffon was caught at the hemline with French bows. The bride wore matching mitts pointed at the wrist and a single strand of pearls. Her elbow length veil of imported illusion fell from a small crown of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid surrounded with feathered carnations and lilies of the valley with satin streamers of love knots.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held on the patio with parents of the bride serving as hosts. Mrs. Glenn D. Henson of Odessa, sister of the bride, registered guests in a white leather bride's book.

The bride's table laid with hand embroidered linen featured an arrangement of white mums and fern and a three tiered wedding cake. Other appointments were of crystal. Miss Sylvia Young, sister of the groom, ladeled punch from a crystal punch bowl and Mrs. Billy Joe Colburn, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Frances Campbell, aunt of the groom, served cake.

For a wedding trip to Mexico, the bride wore a dark cotton sheath dress with black suede accessories.

The bride, a 1958 graduate of Winters High School, is employed as a secretary at Perry Hunter Hall in Abilene. Mrs. Young was class favorite in 1953-54 and head cheerleader in 1956-57. She was a member of the choir, band, National Honor Society and annual staff and other school activities.

Mr. Young, also a 1958 graduate of WHS, is attending Abilene Christian College. He was class president and treasurer, vice president of the student council and president of the choir. He was a member of the choir sextet and the Blizzard football and basketball teams. He was Junior High Tri-Captain in 1954-55.

The couple will make their home in Abilene.

A rehearsal dinner was held Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Young, parents of the bridegroom. Members of the house party were Mrs. Billy Joe Colburn and Mrs. Frances Campbell.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Liles, Mrs. Charles Gabriel, Mrs. M. A. Rodieck, Marcia Rodieck and Mike Rodieck, all of Tyler; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Liles Jr. and sons, Jack and John of Lake Charles, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zentner, Jim Bill and Mary Elizabeth of San Angelo, David Bedford and Fredda Jean of Abilene.

BRADSHAW NEWS

"The root of all steadfastness is in consecration to God."—Alexander Maclaren.

Funeral rites were held Monday afternoon at the Methodist Church for Mrs. Lee K. Bagwell, 83. The Rev. A. J. Jones of Abilene officiated. Rose Best led the singing with Mrs. Clarence Ledbetter at the piano. Grandsons were pallbearers. Burial was in the cemetery here under the direction of Spill Funeral Home. Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Jeff Turnbow of Abilene, Mrs. Clara Turnbow of Ovalo and Mrs. Eulis Evans of Anaheim, Calif.; two sons, Eldon of the home and W. N. of Wingate; two sisters, Mrs. Wiley Hinds of Winters and Mrs. W. L. Chapman of Irving; two brothers, G. C. Brock of San Antonio and Ellis of Levelland; 39 grandchildren and 65 great-grandchildren and 7 great-great-grandchildren.

Hugh Ray Nall, 49, a former resident of Bradshaw, passed away at Hendrick Hospital Friday night of last week. Rites were held Monday morning at Laughter-North Memorial Chapel and burial at Elmwood Memorial Park. Survivors include one son, Earl D.; one daughter, Mrs. Tommy Meeler and one sister, Ora Nall all of Abilene; two brothers, Jeff and P. H., both of Lubbock and one grandson.

The subject for next Sunday's Sunday School Lesson is: Courage in Crisis. "If ever a church seemed doomed to disaster it was the Cathedral of Chartres. In early years the church burned to the ground four times. Would the people have the ambition and courage to build again? They did. About the year 1200 the fifth cathedral was constructed and is still standing today. In a flood of eager enthusiasm everyone joined in the work. Knights and ladies, serfs and peasants, old men and children toiled together to bring stones from the quarry and to erect the walls. In their ardent faith they built what many travelers consider the loveliest of all cathedrals, especially famed for the glory of its stained-glass and the splendor of its carvings. From out of the flames of disaster Christian faith raised one of the world's noblest masterpieces. It often takes stern hardship to challenge people to fight their way to the heights of greatness. Queen Ester lived in a time when the Jewish people were threatened with complete destruction, but the frightful peril of this crisis brought out her magnificent courage and dauntless faith."

Farming is now a highly organized business in which profit depends much on the soundness of the program for the future. Others can offer helpful suggestions but the best farm plan is the personal plan which each individual makes for himself to fit his own situation.

If you are now planning for the future, we shall welcome any opportunity to be helpful. The reputation of this bank for dependable operation often helps our customers away from home.

Health Letter

A precedent-setting venture in chronic disease management has been launched by the State Department of Health. Immediate beneficiaries are 12,000 patients housed in Texas' 587 licensed nursing and convalescent care homes.

Built around nutritional and nursing needs of oldsters, the program promises to be the biggest boon to their health and comfort since passage of the nursing home licensure law in 1953. It works like this:

On request of county health officers and local health department directors, a nutritionist, a chronic disease nurse and two sanitarians instruct local health department staffs and nursing home operators in proper care of elder citizens, many of them disabled by chronic illness to the point of being bedfast.

A physio-therapist will be added to the team later. Many people are lying helplessly in bed, dependent on others for every need. With help they might learn to feed and bathe themselves—making the difference between optimism and despondency.

The program is purely educational, intended solely to help local communities meet their responsibilities toward aged and infirm citizens.

Half the course is spent in explaining and demonstrating to local health department staff members what their tasks are regarding nursing homes in the county, and in detailing how those tasks can be accomplished.

Standards which homes must meet before being licensed are carefully discussed. Nurses are taught how to handle chronic disease patients. Sanitarians are encouraged to make frequent inspections, and to impress on home operators the importance of scrupulous personal and premise cleanliness and improved nursing care.

The object of such instruction is to help local health department personnel become proficient in assisting and advising nursing home operators in providing higher standards of care.

Operators come in for their share of attention in a section of the course designed to meet daily problems they encounter. Discussion subjects, selected by operators themselves, range from records the law requires to be kept to special diets.

As an adjunct service, the Department provides food purchasing guides showing the amount and type of food needed for aged men and women, and evaluation guides for weekly menus.

Time has dealt harshly with most nursing home residents. The State Health Department is determined to help them hold onto the threads of their old dignity.

SPILL BROS. & CO. WINTERS, TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Another woman has walked into a man's world and copped first place!

This time she is a cute little blonde with a pony tail that waves from shoulder to shoulder every time she tosses a fishing plug.

At Lake Belton on the last day of May she proved conclusively to a man and bass that opening your big mouth can get you into trouble. She hung 39 pounds of bass, on her rod and reel. But more than that, she hung defeat on a bunch of men who'd been fishing Lake Belton for weeks and bragging about how they would take the tournament.

Perhaps there weren't a dozen persons in the tournament who had ever heard of Elaine Vickers. She and her husband Vic operate Lake Point Lodges at Buchanan where "she fishes a little every day."

To say Elaine Vickers was a dark horse and not expected to win isn't exactly true. A couple of months ago Dave Hawk, last year's state champ, and L. A. Wilke, one of my fishing buddies, were riding along the highway talking about possibilities among some of the hot shot fishermen. Then named them over one by one, discussing the strong and weak points of each.

They agreed that any one of three or four, who had been fishing the lake regularly, might cop the honors.

"Then there might be a dark horse," said Wilke.

"Dark horse!" Dave repeated. "Yes, I know a pony tail that can do it." He then said Elaine Vickers in his opinion, possessed all the qualities of a great fisherman.

"She's better than her husband, but together they make a wonderful pair," he said. "Elaine is the best caster, Vic is a good boatman. If they enter the tournament they'll be sure to take the husband-wife trophy, and I had just about as soon bet on her winning first place."

Dave had watched Elaine fish a great deal. In fact, he had done some side-line coaching even before she had thought of entering the tournament.

Dave had met Vic and Elaine rather accidentally. He was talking with Game Warden Flannagan about a good spot to launch his boat one day when we planned a picture taking trip to the lake. The warden sent him to Lake Point Lodges and it was then that he met the woman who was not only to succeed him as top fisherman, but also was to cop the perpetual trophy he gave this year in the State Bass Tournament.

This tournament is sponsored by some Texas lake each year by the Waco Herald-Tribune.

Last year the tournament was held on the Highland Lakes and Hawk was the winner. Elaine was present during the tournament, but wasn't a contestant.

The year before, the tournament was held at Lake Whitney. Ray Creel was the winner.

Those three names—Creel, Hawk and Vickers—now appear on this perpetual trophy, which is nearly four feet high.

Vic and Elaine formerly worked in the composing room of the Abilene Reporter-News. When they were married in 1951, they honeymooned on Lake Buchanan at the very camp they now own.

"I fished with a cane pole and rowed my boat on that trip," she now recounts. Today she tosses her lures with a 5 1-2 foot Ted Williams rod, equipped with a Shakespeare Sports-cast reel. She uses a Silver-trol electric motor to move her boat around the rocky coves of Lake Buchanan.

Incidentally, she says winning the tournament will not affect her fishing habits. She still thinks Buchanan is the best place in Texas to fish.

Elaine is a hard working fisherman. She has good eyes and has developed a strong casting arm. She has good control, so she has no trouble in using a fast reel and light lures.

Her favorite fish is the black bass, although she does like to hit the schools of whites that "infest" Buchanan at times.

She uses a lure to fit the occasion. For the last several months she's been using Extractors, Champs and jigs and plastic eels. Now she has switched over to some Hula poppers and similar top water lures.

The Vickers have a four-year-old son who plays around the lake shore all day, but isn't particularly interested in fishing. He'd rather see a good cowboy movie, or a science fiction piece on the television.

Elaine believes any woman can become a proficient fisherman if she likes fishing. She can't understand why anyone wouldn't like fishing, but she also recognizes that to fish successfully it is best to have an interest in it.

More and more women are coming to the lake every year to fish, she says. This has come about with the family usage of boats.

"The women learn to drive the boat," she says. "With self-starters and good motors they can operate on the lake as easily as they run their cars on the highways. When they once get on the water and get used to it, then they want

Health Letter

A precedent-setting venture in chronic disease management has been launched by the State Department of Health. Immediate beneficiaries are 12,000 patients housed in Texas' 587 licensed nursing and convalescent care homes.

Built around nutritional and nursing needs of oldsters, the program promises to be the biggest boon to their health and comfort since passage of the nursing home licensure law in 1953. It works like this:

On request of county health officers and local health department directors, a nutritionist, a chronic disease nurse and two sanitarians instruct local health department staffs and nursing home operators in proper care of elder citizens, many of them disabled by chronic illness to the point of being bedfast.

A physio-therapist will be added to the team later. Many people are lying helplessly in bed, dependent on others for every need. With help they might learn to feed and bathe themselves—making the difference between optimism and despondency.

The program is purely educational, intended solely to help local communities meet their responsibilities toward aged and infirm citizens.

Half the course is spent in explaining and demonstrating to local health department staff members what their tasks are regarding nursing homes in the county, and in detailing how those tasks can be accomplished.

Standards which homes must meet before being licensed are carefully discussed. Nurses are taught how to handle chronic disease patients. Sanitarians are encouraged to make frequent inspections, and to impress on home operators the importance of scrupulous personal and premise cleanliness and improved nursing care.

The object of such instruction is to help local health department personnel become proficient in assisting and advising nursing home operators in providing higher standards of care.

Operators come in for their share of attention in a section of the course designed to meet daily problems they encounter. Discussion subjects, selected by operators themselves, range from records the law requires to be kept to special diets.

As an adjunct service, the Department provides food purchasing guides showing the amount and type of food needed for aged men and women, and evaluation guides for weekly menus.

Time has dealt harshly with most nursing home residents. The State Health Department is determined to help them hold onto the threads of their old dignity.

BY VERN SANFORD

Another woman has walked into a man's world and copped first place!

This time she is a cute little blonde with a pony tail that waves from shoulder to shoulder every time she tosses a fishing plug.

At Lake Belton on the last day of May she proved conclusively to man and bass that opening your big mouth can get you into trouble.

She hung 39 pounds of bass, on her rod and reel. But more than that, she hung defeat on a bunch of men who'd been fishing Lake Belton for weeks and bragging about how they would take the tournament.

Perhaps there weren't a dozen persons in the tournament who had ever heard of Elaine Vickers. She and her husband Vic operate Lake Point Lodges at Buchanan where "she fishes a little every day."

To say Elaine Vickers was a dark horse and not expected to win isn't exactly true. A couple of months ago Dave Hawk, last year's state champ, and L. A. Wilke, one of my fishing buddies, were riding along the highway talking about possibilities among some of the hot shot fishermen. Then named them over one by one, discussing the strong and weak points of each.

They agreed that any one of three or four, who had been fishing the lake regularly, might cop the honors.

"Then there might be a dark horse," said Wilke.

"Dark horse!" Dave repeated. "Yes, I know a pony tail that can do it." He then said Elaine Vickers in his opinion, possessed all the qualities of a great fisherman.

"She's better than her husband, but together they make a wonderful pair," he said. "Elaine is the best caster, Vic is a good boatman. If they enter the tournament they'll be sure to take the husband-wife trophy, and I had just about as soon bet on her winning first place."

Dave had watched Elaine fish a great deal. In fact, he had done some side-line coaching even before she had thought of entering the tournament.

Dave had met Vic and Elaine rather accidentally. He was talking with Game Warden Flannagan about a good spot to launch his boat one day when we planned a picture taking trip to the lake. The warden sent him to Lake Point Lodges and it was then that he met the woman who was not only to succeed him as top fisherman, but also was to cop the perpetual trophy he gave this year in the State Bass Tournament.

This tournament is sponsored by some Texas lake each year by the Waco Herald-Tribune.

Last year the tournament was held on the Highland Lakes and Hawk was the winner. Elaine was present during the tournament, but wasn't a contestant.

The year before, the tournament was held at Lake Whitney. Ray Creel was the winner.

Those three names—Creel, Hawk and Vickers—now appear on this perpetual trophy, which is nearly four feet high.

Vic and Elaine formerly worked in the composing room of the Abilene Reporter-News. When they were married in 1951, they honeymooned on Lake Buchanan at the very camp they now own.

"I fished with a cane pole and rowed my boat on that trip," she now recounts. Today she tosses her lures with a 5 1/2 foot Ted Williams rod, equipped with a Shakespeare Sportscast reel. She uses a Silvertrul electric motor to move her boat around the rocky coves of Lake Buchanan.

Incidentally, she says winning the tournament will not affect her fishing habits. She still thinks Buchanan is the best place in Texas to fish.

Elaine is a hard working fisherman. She has good eyes and has developed a strong casting arm. She has good control, so she has no trouble in using a fast reel and light lures.

Her favorite fish is the black bass, although she does like to hit the schools of whites that "infest" Buchanan at times.

She uses a lure to fit the occasion. For the last several months she's been using Extractors, Champs and jigs and plastic eels. Now she has switched over to some Hula poppers and similar top water lures.

The Vickers have a four-year-old son who plays around the lake shore all day, but isn't particularly interested in fishing. He'd rather see a good cowboy movie, or a science fiction piece on the television.

Elaine believes any woman can become a proficient fisherman if she likes fishing. She can't understand why anyone wouldn't like fishing, but she also recognizes that to fish successfully it is best to have an interest in it.

More and more women are coming to the lake every year to fish, she says. This has come about with the family usage of boats. "The women learn to drive the boat," she says. "With self-starters and good motors they can operate on the lake as easily as they run their cars on the highways. When they once get on the water and get used to it, then they want to fish. We have some dandies now on Lake Buchanan." The Vickers live at Lake Point Lodges, just west of Buchanan Dam. They can literally fish out of their back door.

Texas' New Water Safety Act Is Explained

(This is one of a series of three articles concerning Texas' new Water Safety Act. It is being published in the interest of safety for sportsmen and others whose recreation interests include boating, swimming and skiing.)

The Water Safety Act, which goes into effect August 11, 1959, will affect literally hundreds of thousands of Texans because it places specific responsibilities on boat owners, operators, skiers, law enforcement officers and courts.

Furthermore, inquiries received in the Texas Safety Association's headquarters office, Austin, indicate that only a few Texans have any real knowledge of what the Act is about or how it will influence their lives. Thus, this series of articles will attempt to highlight the principal provisions of the Act to an extent that will help water sport enthusiasts avoid running afoul of the new law.

The Highway Department will administer the Act. Enforcement will be made by all duly authorized peace officers.

CLASSIFICATIONS
Motorboats subject to the provisions of the Act have been divided into four classes:

Class A. Less than 16 feet in length.
Class 1. 16 feet or over and less than 26 feet in length.

Class 2. 26 feet or over and less than 40 feet in length.
Class 3. 40 feet and over.

LIGHTING

Any kind of self-propelled boat, when underway between sunset and sunrise, must use at least one bright light and exhibit it so as to avoid a collision.

Motorboats of Class 1 must use two lights: A white light aft to show all around the horizon and a combined lantern in the front (lower than the aft light) that will show a green light to the starboard (right) and a red light to the port (left).

Classes 2 and 3 must carry a bright white light in the front of the boat, as near the stem as practicable, that will show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 20 points of the compass and fixed to throw the light 10 points on each side of the vessel. Also, a bright white light aft to show all around the horizon (higher than the forward white light). Port and starboard lights must be fitted with an inboard screen that will prevent these lights from being seen across the bow.

Motorboats of Classes A and 1, when propelled by sail alone, must carry the combined lantern, but not the white light aft. Motorboats of Classes 2 and 3, when propelled by sail alone, must carry colored side lights, but not the white lights. Motorboats of all classes must carry a lantern or flashlight showing a white light that can be used in sufficient time to avert collision.

LIFE PRESERVERS

Every motorboat or vessel must have aboard one Coast Guard approved life preserver, buoyant vest, ring buoy or buoyant cushion, in good condition, for each person on board.

No person shall operate, or give permission to operate, a motorboat that is not equipped to meet the demands of this requirement.

SMALL MOTORS

All motorboats of 10 horsepower or less are required to have one approved life preserver for each person aboard and a white light to exhibit between the hours of sunset and sunrise.

BOAT LIVERIES

Boat livery owners will be required to keep a record of the name and address of persons hiring boats covered in this Act. The record will also include time and date of departure and expected time of return; such records to be kept for a 6 month period.

SKIS AND AQUAPLANES

Water skiing, aquaplaning and similar sports will not be permitted from the period of one hour after sunset to one hour prior to sunrise, except in tournaments, exhibitions and such events covered by special exemptions.

At all times, motorboats towing a person on water skis, etc., shall operate in a careful and prudent manner at a reasonable distance from persons and property so as not to endanger life or property.

Sept. 30 Important Date For Many

September 30 is an important date to many people, according to Floyd B. Ellington, manager of the San Angelo social security office. This is the last day that many people can apply for social security benefits for adopted children without loss of some benefits.

The 1958 amendments to the Social Security Act liberalized the rules regarding benefits for adopted children. Under these amendments, children can receive benefits immediately upon adoption by a retired or disabled worker. Also, if the child was living with and being supported by a worker who died, the child may get social security benefits if he is adopted by the widow within two years after the worker's death. If the worker died before August 1958, the child can qualify if adopted by the widow before September 1960. In some cases, mother's benefits may be paid to the widow who adopted the child after the worker's death.

According to Ellington, many people who were believed eligible under this change have not inquired at the social security office. Inquiry should be made before September 30, to prevent any loss of benefits.

CARNEGIE MEDAL FOR HEROINE—Shirley O'Neill, left, counselor with a San Francisco children's youth organization, will receive the Carnegie silver medal for heroism. Her feat: pulling a companion, mortally wounded by a shark off the San Francisco coast, to shore. With the medal goes a $750 cash award.

Good Conditions Provide Fast Range Plant Growth

Favorable conditions in the Runnels Soil Conservation District have caused fast growth of range plants, says H. Giesecke Jr., chairman of the board. These conditions provide excellent opportunity for proper use and improvement of our rangeland throughout the district.

Cooperators who have carried out proper use as part of their conservation plans are Kirby Robinson, Route 3, Winters; M. L. Dobbins, Rt. 4, Winters; Joe Ash, Star Rt., Bronte, and Bill Harmon, Route 4, Winters.

James Glynn, local Soil Conservation Service Technician, says proper use of rangeland consists of adjusting livestock grazing so as to leave a good strong plant factory (leaves). Plants used in this manner will grow more forage and provide enough cover to make effective use of rainfall. A safe rule to follow is to graze half and leave half of each year's growth of good forage plants. The remaining forage will promote vigorous growth and will not be dependent on reserve food stored in the roots.

The amount of grazing that plants can tolerate will vary from season to season depending on the amount of rainfall, the time of use and other factors. Therefore, it is important to study the conditions of the rangeland and stock at a rate which will maintain and improve the valuable forage plants.

The half that can be harvested grows larger and larger. The root

Roger Babson Discusses:

Four Ways of Investing Money, Based On Many Years of Experience

Babson Park, Mass.—Before explaining these four programs, let me impress upon readers the importance of not mixing the programs. Each has its advantages and disadvantages. Hence, you should select one and stick to it. This advice is based on over 54 years of experience in the "school of hard knocks and hard work."

1. INVESTING BY THE CYCLE. Program No. 1 calls for selling at a time like this and depositing the money received in a bank, waiting for the next big break which will come some day surely. Then you will again buy the most active good stocks and hold them until another bull market comes; then follow the same plan over again. This is the most profitable program for those with courage and patience.

2. THE LONG-GROWTH COMMON STOCK PROGRAM. No. 2 provides that investors pay no attention to stock market prices but purchase a little "long-growth" stock every few months as they have the money, keeping these stocks for a long time. This is satisfactory if the advisor makes sound selections. When, however, companies are young, it is difficult to know what they will be when they "grow up."

As an illustration, I am listing the names of some stocks which were bought, in accordance with Program No. 2, by an intelligent Boston stock broker for his children and grandchildren. These stocks are now valueless. Amalgamated Gold Dredging Co.; Black Diamond Anthracite Coal; Boston Mining & Exploration; California Fortune Oil; Deadwood Standard Gold Mining & Milling; Dorothy Gold Mining; Eastern Kentucky Oil; Goldfield Mutual Prospecting & Developing; Hidden Fortune Mining Co.; Invincible Gold Mining; Mount Glines Gold & Silver Mining Co.; Old Mexico Mining &

Milling; Santa Ana Tin Mining and Spearfish Gold Mining & Reduction Co.

3. BUYING GOOD STOCKS AND CUMULATIVE PREFERRED FOR INCOME ONLY. With Program No. 3 you would not sell your stocks in a high market, but would wait for a lower market before buying others. This Program is very suitable for older people.

4. THE FOURFOLD SYSTEM. Program No. 4 is the one I like best, combining profit, income and security. Such an investor today would have one third of his money in good common stocks as an inflation hedge; one third of his funds in bonds or good cumulative preferred stocks for income; and one third in cash, waiting for a break in the market. Thus, whatever happens, he would be able to take advantage of any future market situation. Although I am not strong for Program No. 1, I feel that Program No. 2 is dangerous and that it is wrong to ignore the "ups and downs" of the stock market.

CONCLUSION: During the more than 54 years that I have been studying the stock market, I have seen it go through three wars, four panics, and five booms. Although I admire young men for their courage and initiative, I think that investors should always consult both young men and old men. The younger men think that we are continually entering "new eras" and that panics can never occur again. Then they are bearish too long when the country is in a depression.

Older men, however, know that ever since there have been any reliable records, wars, business, investments, and even nations have moved in cycles. Periods of prosperity have encouraged carelessness, dishonesty, and an unreasonable increase in government, corporation, and personal debt. This has finally resulted in a decline and depression. A depression tends to make people industrious and more anxious to pay up their debts. This results in a period of improvement and another era of prosperity.

Although those who follow Program No. 1 may be unable to pick out the exact high spot of a bull market and the low spot of a bear market, yet they are performing a very important social service. Those who sell when the market is abnormally high tend to make the prosperity area less dangerous; while those who buy during a depression help make that depression less terrible. In other words, those who are wise enough (and there are not too many of these) to successfully follow Program No. 1 tend to level out business, investment, and employment conditions to the benefit of all.

Some smiles, especially those of the female, are so much in contrast to the appraising eyes, that the beholder gets the feeling he is being scowled at.

Chance for Good Labor Bill Remains Unimproved

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

Chances for an effective labor bill at this session of Congress were not increased by a bill tentatively approved last week by the House Labor Committee. The Senate previously passed one, but it is considered weak and innocuous.

The House bill avoids any prohibition of secondary boycotts and organizational picketing. It is even weaker than the Senate version. But a House fight will attempt to put some teeth into the measure that would protect union members and the general public against Hoffa-type abuse of power.

While the outlook is admittedly discouraging, a determined fight will be made and there is a chance that the bill will be improved, thanks to an aroused public interest in the subject.

Suspension of U. S. lamb grading, being urged by sheepmen all over the country, remains in doubt with the final decision due to be made probably in September. It is up to Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

The trouble is that the arbitrary grading system requires lambs to be over-fat before the lamb carcass will get the stamp of "Choice" by a government. This means less money for the grower, and that is especially true of the Texas-grown lambs which have trouble competing with the mutton-type western lambs. And it means less desirable meat cuts for the shopper. Western lambs can qualify for the government specifications easier than can Texas lambs.

Many Congressmen from the sheep country have joined the grower organizations in an effort to convince the Secretary that the grading system is all wrong and should be stopped.

When you have related what you think is an amusing anecdote to an inattentive and uncomprehending woman and she blankly says, "Really?" you feel like reaching for your pistol.

The girls I know, from four to eighty-four years of age, kick off their shoes every chance they get.

BEST ENGINES!
One of 7 Big Bests Chevy gives you over any car in its field

Open invitation to excitement, the Impala Convertible . . . and America's only authentic sports car, the Corvette.

You've got more to go on than our say-so: Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard passenger car and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED says it this way: ". . . surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." And if you want the thrift of a six, you still get the best of it in a Chevy.

BEST ECONOMY No doubt about this: a pair of Chevy sixes with Powerglide came in first and second in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—getting the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.38 miles per gallon.

BEST BRAKES Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR*-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST RIDE A few minutes behind the wheel will leave no doubt about this. MOTOR TREND magazine sums it up this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

BEST TRADE-IN Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.* Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST ROOM Official dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make it clear. Chevy's front seat hip room, for example, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

BEST STYLE It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

GRIM REMINDER—Two empty shoes are grim reminders of an accident that killed 81-year-old Joseph Paganetto on the steps of his San Francisco home. Brakes of a neighbor's auto failed, and driver turned into curb to avoid school children at a crossing. As he struck the brick steps at left, Paganetto stepped into the car's path.

TREETOP MOON—Awesome close-up of the moon, above, was taken through lenses of a home-built eight-inch reflector telescope by Howard D. Potter, of Schenectady, N.Y. White specks in sky are star trails, made by movement of earth during the three-second exposure. Camera was of the type used by news photographers.

SPACE PLAY—It's "all out for Mars" at a modernistic playground in Hannover, West Germany, where children play on an out-of-this-world rocket slide.

SOUND IDEA—Blind since birth, Bill Stegner of Independence, Mo., is an accomplished "ham" radio operator. Bill uses a noise-producing instrument he built to replace the usual visual equipment that shows when a set is ready to transmit. Stegner, who says "There's no limit to the things a handicapped person can do with electronics," is trying to interest other handicapped persons in radio, including a muscular dystrophy victim who cannot use his hands.

Any girl who has reached the age of 16 by September 1, 1959, and is not over 22 by September 1, 1959, is eligible if she is the daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member who is actively engaged in agricultural production.

The girls will be judged on grace, poise, charm, vivaciousness and all the other qualities that go to make up winsome Texas future homemakers. The winner of the contest will go to district where she will compete against queens from other counties in District VII. The girl who wins the district will be awarded an expense-paid trip to the State Convention which will be held in San Antonio this year.

There will be 13 girls, one from each district, who will compete at the State contest during the convention and the winner of the state will be awarded $500.00 to be applied to her expenses and that of her matron escort in attending the American Farm Bureau Federation convention which will be held in Chicago in December.

Several girls have entered the contest and members who wish to enter may get entry information from the county secretary, Patti McDaniel at Ballinger, or any member of the queen contest committee, including Mrs. M. L. Dobbins of Winters of Mrs. Ben Frerich, Rowena.

CATTLE MARKING STILL LAW

The practice of branding livestock was brought to America by the Spaniards over 400 years ago.

The Spanish government granted and recorded brands which guaranteed the exclusive ownership to certain individuals. This system was adopted in Texas by the early settlers, and brand records were kept in the courthouses as they are today under present State laws.

The purpose for branding livestock is to establish proof of ownership. Tattoos and ear marks have been used alone and with brands, but brands have proved to be the most effective means of identification.

Brands and marks were designed to discourage theft of livestock by providing a ready method of identification. Today Texas brand inspectors have estimated that only 25 percent of all cattle now going to market are branded.

As early as 1848, Texas cattlemen realized that a brand inspector was needed to cover movement and marketing operations to prevent theft of cattle. The state enacted legislation which authorized such an inspector to operate in each county. The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association and other livestock associations hired their own brand inspectors to protect the herds of their members. These men today do most of the brand inspecting, since the number of county inspectors has declined.

In 1943, a statute was enacted to bring about a current record of all legally used brands and marks. Therefore, at the present, all marks and brands recorded since the first day of October 1943 are the only legally used brands and marks in the state.

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association provides field inspection for livestock belonging to their members before departure from farms, ranches or shipping points. The field inspectors carry special commissions as Texas Rangers, which gives them full authority for law enforcement. They search for strayed or stolen animals, check shipping points and try to locate thieves when theft is reported. They are present at the loading of cattle moving out of their areas. And they inspect the brands to determine whether the shipper has title to all cattle offered for shipment.

In order for the country dealer or trader to legally take possession of the livestock he has bought, he must have a written transfer or bill of sale. The bill of sale requires that the brands and marks be listed and recorded in the county clerk's office. The seller and the country dealer or trader must inspect the animals exchanged to obtain all the marks of identification for this required record.

Although some of the brand laws in Texas are obsolete and the enforcement machinery in most cases is inadequate, the wise stock raiser would do well to brand or mark his stock to prevent any future question of doubt as to ownership.
